As soon as Joyce got the divorce they would be married. Sherry was living in New York to be near Tony, meanwhile.

Now he was at the studio, and there was still part of the morning and a long afternoon to be gotten through by herself.

Sherry crossed to a window and looked out. You could see a long distance from the top floor of the important hotel where she was staying, and the park spread before you like a wonderland in white. There were skaters on the lake, their bright-colored caps making cheerful splotches amidst all the whiteness.

Sherry thought it might be fun to go down and practice. Tony was teaching her to ice skate and it would be nice to surprise him her improvement, but then nothing was really fun without Tony. It was nicer to stay indoors and daydream about what their life would be like after they were married; and then too, Kris might come any day now.

Marcia had written that he was in Hollywood, a flying visit on a big picture deal, and that she was in a spot.

"What should I tell him?" she had wanted to know, and Sherry had written back, "The truth! He must stop and see us on his way through New York." And Tony had agreed with her.

TONY'S picture was progressing splendidly. Sherry had read the script over and over and thought up bits of business and nteresting shots, and changed turned back. lines here and there. They said

Loyalty In Government

Truman's order of loyalty investigations in the government's executive department should bring the usual crop of protests. Unless all signs fail, there will be cries of "Red-baiting", "Gestapo", and "loss of democratic reedoms". Most of these will come from persons whose deal government operates through persecution, secret police, and the suppression of individual freedoms.

There also may be some sincere expressions of doubt r disappointment. The tests do present some potential langers, to be sure. A good many persons will be involved in passing judgment on the fitness of more than 2,000,000 government employes. In such a large operaion, human fallibility is bound to result in some examples

But the dangers which this screening promises to relove are greater than those which it may create. The overnment can no longer afford the democratic luxury f considering inviolate the private activities and assonations of those who conduct its business. It cannot blindly embrace those who despise its freedoms and put hem in a position to help destroy those freedoms.

It is convenient to start the early rectangular plot, instead of in one way be planted in its place, providing the soil is sufficiently rich. tites and the family pocketbook are good guides to follow in planning

In a small plot, 30 by 50 feet, such things as corn and squash are space consumers. Corn usually doesn't do well in very small plots from other corn plants. The more corn stalks the better the pollination and the better the "ears."

If wheel tools are to be used, the rows can be worked more conveniently if they run the long way o fthe garden plot.

Here are the recommendations of Dr. Victor Boswell, garden expert of the U.S. Department of Agriculture:

Rows may run either north and south or east and west, but if the ground slopes they should run across the slope and not up and down. This will hold the moisture. The perennial plants—asparagus, rhubarb, etc-may be kept together in one section, so they don't interfere with working the annuals. Corn should be planted in a

Utica, N. Y., has been plagued with deer trouble this Spring. Less than a month ago, a frisky deer who jumped through an open window in a Utica office building finally made his exit through the plate glass door. Here, Robert Freebern, humane officer, carries a deer away from the scene of a traffic jam created while officers and volunteers were trying to corner the animal.

Moscow-Directed World Revolution In Full Swing

By DEWITT MACKENZIE AP Foreign Affairs Analyst Fear of another world war is a very natural public reaction to recent international events, but we shouldn't let that possibility shocking as it is-blind us to an actuality which is of even more immediate importance, and it is this: The Moscow-directed world-rev olution for the spread of Communism, which was born with the es-tablishment of the revolutionary Soviet government in 1917, is at long last in full swing on a truly global basis. It is mobilized to the utmost strength which Russia can muster pending her recovery from the ravages of war.

I return to this subject because I'm encountering people who find it difficult to believe that anything so terrible could be a reality- especially in the United States. Well, it does seem like melodramatic fiction, but we shall be crazy not to recognize its truth Built Soviet Strength

When Stalin came to power in 1925 he temporarily shelved me of the direct-action aspects of this scheme—that is, the use of force pending the development of Russia's industrial and military strength. He thought Communism would be putting the cart before the horse to try to overrun the world while Russia herself was still Stalin's several five-year plans did wonders in building up the Sov-iet Union's strength. The war, which Hitler unleashed as soon as Moscow had signed the non-aggression pact with him, created exactly the sort of chaos upon which Communism thrives, so now we see the Red drive being pushed to the utmost everywhere on order to take full advantage of that chaos.

Naturally the United States, as the most powerful nation of our time—of all time, for that matter and a "Capitalistic" one at that, is the main objective of the Communist drive. We were given plenty of warning in the sensational testimony developed before the congressional committee on UnAmerican Activities, and in the report of the committee to Congress. This report declared that the Communist party in the United States is part of the world-wide revolutionary movement, taking orders direct from Moscow, and that it seeks to overthrow the Washington govern-

Many Rash Events The world is covered with a rash of events which are developments of the world revolution, some re-presenting bloody violence and others tactical political maneuvers. Typical of the latter class are the food demonstrations in the British zone of occupation in Germany.

Authoritative sources say this trouble has' been inspired by the Reds, who exploit every situation which is a potential trouble maker. This sort of thing is being carried on intensively by the Communists throughout Germany as they maneuver to gain control of the entire liquidation of the opposition. The United States is now in the softening up stage. The governmental drive to clean house of the Communists is calculated to prevent the development of the direct-action stage in America. It will, too, if the public recognizes present dangers and keeps on the alert.

Loyalty In Government

Truman's order of loyalty investigations in the government's executive department should bring the usual crop of protests. Unless all signs fail, there will be cries of "Red-baiting", "Gestapo", and "loss of democratic freedoms". Most of these will come from persons whose ideal government operates through persecution, secret police, and the suppression of individual freedoms.

There also may be some sincere expressions of doubt or disappointment. The tests do present some potential dangers, to be sure. A good many persons will be involved in passing judgment on the fitness of more than 2.000,000 government employes. In such a large operation, human fallibility is bound to result in some examples of unfairness.

But the dangers which this screening promises to remove are greater than those which it may create. Rows may run either north and south or east and west, but if the ground slopes they should run across the slope and not up and down. This will hold the moisture. The perennial plants—aspara-gus, rhubarb, etc—may be kept together in one section, so they don't interfere with working the annuals. Corn should be planted in a WELL, she was happy now at showing unexpected genius. last. Nothing could ever change these past few months of perfect joy. She had found life now, and life was Tony.

As soon as Joyce got the divorce they would be married. Sherry was living in New York to be near Tony, meanwhile.

Now he was at the studio, and there was still part of the morning and a long afternoon to be gotten through by herself.

Sherry crossed to a window and looked out. You could see a long distance from the top floor of the important hotel where she was staying, and the park spread before you like a wonderland in white. There were skaters on the lake, their bright-colored caps making cheerful splotches amidst all the whiteness.

Sherry thought it might be fun to go down and practice. Tony was teaching her to ice skate and it would be nice to surprise him by her improvement, but then nothing was really fun without Tony. It was nicer to stay indoors and daydream about what their life would be like after they were married; and then too, Kris might come any day now.

Marcia had written that he was in Hollywood, a flying visit on a big picture deal, and that she was in a spot.

"What should I tell him?" she had wanted to know, and Sherry had written back, "The truth! He must stop and see us on his way through New York." And Tony had agreed with her.

Utica, N. Y., has been plagued with deer trouble this Spring. Less than a month ago, a frisky deer who jumped through an open window in a Utlca office building finally made his exit through the plate glass door. Here, Robert Freebern, humane officer, carries a deer away from the scene of a traffic jam created while officers and volunteers were trying to corner the animal.

Moscow-Directed World Revolution In Full Swing

By DEWITT MACKENZIE AP Foreign Affairs Analyst Fear of another world war is a very natural public reaction to reinternational events, but we shouldn't let that possibility—shocking as it is—blind us to an actuality which is of even more immediate importance, and it is this: The Moscow-directed world-rev olution for the spread of Communism, which was born with the establishment of the revolutionary Soviet government in 1917, is at long last in full swing on a truly global basis. It is mobilized to the utmost strength which Russia can muster pending her recovery from the ravages of war.

I return to this subject because I'm encountering people who find it difficult to believe that anything so terrible could be a reality— especially in the United States. Well, it does seem like melodramatic fic-tion, but we shall be crazy not to recognize its truth.

Built Soviet Strength When Stalin came to power in 1925 he temporarily shelved most of the direct-action aspects of this scheme—that is, the use of force pending the development of Rusindustrial and military strength. He thought Communism would be putting the cart before the horse to try to overrun the world while Russia herself was still weak.

Stalin's several five-year plans did wonders in building up the Soviet Union's strength. The war, which Hitler unleashed as soon as Moscow had signed the non-aggression pact with him, created exactly the sort of chaos upon which Com-munism thrives, so now we see the Red drive being pushed to the utmost everywhere on order to take full advantage of that chaos. Naturally the United States, as the most powerful nation of our time—of all time, for that matter—and a "Capitalistic" one at 'that, is the main objective of the Communist drive. We were given plenty of warning in the sensational testi-mony develooed before the congressional committee on UnAmerican Activities, and in the report of the committee to Congress. This report declared that the Communist party in the United States is part of the world-wide revolutionary movement, taking orders direct from Moscow, and that it seeks to overthrow the Washington govern-

Many Rash Events The world is covered with a rash of events which are developments of the world revolution, some representing bloody violence and others tactical political maneuvers. Typical of the latter class are the food demonstrations in the British zone of occupation in Germany. Authoritative sources say trouble has been inspired by the Reds, who exploit every situation which is a potential trouble maker. This sort of thing is being carried on intensively by the Communists throughout Germany as they maneuver to gain control of the entire country.

Such operations are the indirect action which is used as a softening up process before the direct-action is applied. There are plenty of examples of direct-action—governments established by force and the liquidation of the opposition.

The United States is now in the softening up stage. The governmental drive to clean house of the Communists is calculated to prevent the development of the direct-action stage in America. It will, too, if the public recognizes present dangers and keeps on the alert.
