'B' Bulldogs To Play Big Spring Thursday Night At 8:00

Bullpups Vie Friday With Seminole 11

The "B" Bulldogs of Midland High will play a potent team of "B" Steers from Big Spring at 8 p. m. Thursday in the high school stadium.

This encounter promises all the action, thrills and spills of a varsity game. It will be Midland's high school football action of the week, as the first team is idle.

Coach Earl Glassie's "B" Bulldogs are a hustling fighting outfit. True, they have dropped to Odessa and San Angelo, but the gang has never been licked in spirit. They have an uphill fight against Big Spring because "the Dogies" have whipped Odessa twice.

Friday night at 8:30 p. m., the John M. Cowden Junior High Bullpups vie with the Seminole Junior High "Paposes" in the high school stadium here.

All week the little Bulldogs have drilled hard for this one.

Not many nights ago the Bulldog "Ees" snowed under Lamesa by 37 to 0 and kept a large crowd excited to the last whistle. In losing to Odessa and San Angelo, the eleven has kept the score down and the issue was always in question.

Fans are urged to turn out Thursday night and support the "B" Bulldogs with all the vigor they give the varsity.

Dodger Boss Still Is Uncertain On Leo

BROOKLYN—(P)—So you want to know who will manage the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1948? Well, so does Branch Rickey—he says.

The Dodger president returned to the Brooklyn offices and disclosed he had spent three days on a private hunting and fishing expedition with Leo Durocher near Hickey's Winter home in Chestertown, Md.

They hunted birds. They also talked baseball "generally and specifically." And yet the "Brain of Montague Street" said Wednesday "at this time I have no idea who my manager will be."

"I phoned Leo Sunday night and asked him to spend a few days with me," Rickey said. "I told him not

Schoolboy Elevens Enjoy Great Year In Intersectional Play

By The Associated Press
Texas schoolboy football is enjoying its greatest year in intersectional play.

In 23 games against teams from other states, Texas elevens have won 16 while losing four and tying three.

Only four more intersectional tilts remain on the schedule. Thus Texas could lose them all and still boast a fine record. One is this week as El Paso plays Mesa, Ariz., Thursday night.

November 14, Austin of El Paso plays Waite High of Toledo, O., November 20, El Paso High meets Oklahoma City, and November 27, Texarkana engages Texarkana, Ark., to wind up the intersectional schedule.

The El Paso-Mesa contest, which El Paso is expected to lose, is one of 50 games in Texas high school football this week-end. The accent is on conference play with 41 of the games counting in district standings.

Top games are:
Borger at Amarillo, a meeting of undefeated teams in District 1.
Paris at Sherman, a meeting of unbeaten elevens in District 5.
Arlington Heights vs Paschal, a clash of undefeated teams in the Fort Worth District.
Bryan at Lufkin, a game between unbeaten teams in District 12.

Aggies' Hollmig Stands In Way Of Galloping Ponies

COLLEGE STATION—(P)—Between Southern Methodist University's undefeated, united Mustangs and a victory over Texas A&M this week stands one of the greatest kickers the Southwest Conference ever saw.

He's Stan Hollmig of Hondo, and he's the guy who put the "foot" back into football. They call him "the Home Run King" because he kicks strikes.

Hollmig is the fellow who brought Texas A&M a 24-0 upset victory over Baylor because he hit the coffin corner so much the Golden Bears never could get out of their territory long enough to launch an offensive.

Hard On Arkansas
So accurate were his kicks that in his 10 boots for an average of 43.8 yards there was only this "flaw": a 74-yard quick-kick tricked two feet on the wrong side of the red corner marker.

Against Arkansas last week he had what you might call a bad day for him. His first kick went out on the three and his second tipped the flag while going out on the one-foot line. Later one went out on the 19, then the Arkansas safety man caught one on his five, and another boot was blown back in from the sidelines so it went over the goal.

On that kick, the field judge stood behind the flag ready to line it up on the five, then had to move behind the goal line as the wind caught the ball.

Booting into a 12-mile-an-hour wind, his two other kicks were not within range of the flag.

Stan Apologizes
His record at kicking to date is: Against Southwestern, 3 for an average of 48.0; Texas Tech, 4 for 46.7; Oklahoma, 8 for 40.5; Louisiana State, 9 for 47.1; Texas Christian, 11 for 25.3 (had one blocked); Baylor, 10 for 43.8; Arkansas, 10 for 33.0.

Hollmig apologizes for the bad record against Texas Christian, but the wind that day was so strong that on one very solid boot, the ball did only 25 yards from the scrimmage line.

But that exhibition against Baylor was a dilly. Seven of his 10 kicks went out inside the 12-yard line, with three on the 11, one on the seven, one on the six, one on the four and one on the two.

Hollmig credits his coach, T. D. Bridges, with teaching him how to nail that coffin corner.

Andrews Road Taken Into State System
AUSTIN—Farm-to-market Highway 87, extending 19.23 miles from its intersection with State Highway 51 in Andrews to the Andrews-Martin county line, has been taken into the State Highway Department's system of paved roads.

More than 61 per cent of U. S. farms now have electricity.

Midland Gridders, Coaches, Honored

By TANNER LAINE
"Boys, we are proud of you," Hosts Percy Bridgewater and Lloyd Mackey told the Midland Bulldogs at a dinner given in honor of the gridders by the two Midland men at the North Elementary School cafeteria Wednesday evening.

Approximately 75 boys, members of the varsity and "B" and "C" strings, were honored guests, as were members of the coaching staff.

Bridgewater was master of ceremonies at the informal dinner. Invocation was by Frank Monroe. Introduced were Vaughn Maley, Bob Hamilton, Charles Matthews, Gabe Massey, Coach Earl Glassie, Coach Blurton, Coach Barnes Milam, Wes Martin, L. V. Spain, J. M. McDonald and Tanner Laine.

There were no formal speeches, and brief comments only were made by faculty members, coaches, board members, radio and press newsmen present.

Preston Bridgewater, young son of Percy Bridgewater, drew a football picture and diagramed a play on the blackboard.

Ambition Program
Monroe said the football program in the Midland schools would be stepped up next year. He said 150 junior gridders and 72 elementary school football players would be in uniform next season and would have coaches. There will be nine uniformed football teams in the schools next year, including the Bulldog varsity. "It is an ambitious program but it is a good one for our boys," Monroe stated. Four new coaches will be added.

It was difficult to get a spokesman from the football players at the dinner. However, R. A. (Bull) Whitson said:

"We will be out to win against Big Spring next week, then again against Lamesa, and we will give Odessa a battle."

The dinner was served by the cafeteria staff of North Elementary School.

ENCOURAGEMENT

In some parts of the world the antics of an American cheerleader would be considered "shockingly undignified."

But in our sport-loving land the cheerleader is taken for granted. He is a respected leader, commanding thousands in an organized expression of ENCOURAGEMENT.

Wise parents are the "cheer-leaders of the home." Without acrobatics, but with the same contagious enthusiasm, they provide the encouragement their children need in scores of vital pursuits.

No part of a child's training profits more from parental encouragement than religious education. A youngster's interest in his moral and spiritual growth can be fostered or destroyed by the attitude and example of his Dad and Mother.

In the spiritual training of our children, the Church does an essential task FOR us. But—the Church accomplishes most when it works WITH us. A child's strongest incentive to character-development is the example of church-going, church-supporting parents.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) for the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church on Sunday and read your Bible daily.

Modern Display Room Of Scruggs Motor Company

When remodeling, now in progress, at Scruggs Motor Company in Midland is completed, the concern will have one of the most modern and attractive display rooms for automobiles in West Texas as well as a complete business structure, a credit to the city.

Scruggs Motor Company, growing with Midland, is owned and operated by Bob Scruggs, veteran automobile dealer of the city. The company features exclusive Chrysler sales and service and also handles Plymouth automobiles.

The new Scruggs showroom will be modernistically designed for efficiency and attractiveness. It will contain the new slanted, non-glare glass. Size of the showroom will be 45 by 35 feet, or 1,575 square feet of floor space.

Modern signs of Chrysler, Plymouth and the firm name will be on the exterior.

There's something behind that new face of Scruggs Motor Company at the corner of West Wall and Carrizo Streets. The company has just installed 100 per cent Chrysler service tools and equipment making it one of the best equipped Chrysler service installations in West Texas.

The overall size of Scruggs Motor Company including the service department and new display room will be 90 by 106 feet. It is a brick building business in Midland. He started as a mechanic's helper in 1914 and some years later he owned the business in which he started. He advanced to sales manager, then owner. His first dealership was Cadillac and Nash and then he was Buick dealer. He has had the Chrysler agency since 1933.

A formal opening of the new Scruggs Motor Company's display room will be held in December after the remodeling is completed. Chrysler Corporation officials will come here for the formal opening to see the modern new display and look over a firm, which has grown with the city behind the generalship of a man who knows the field of automobile, Bob Scruggs.

Fashioned after a Turkish harem costume, these formal pajamas are the latest thing in New Look night-wear. Truly Barbara models the novel creation, which is made of bright gold jersey and worn with gold kid belt and sandals.

'Music By Masters' Will Feature VFW Armistice Dance

"Music by Masters," heard on records, broadcasts and at leading hotels, theaters and ballrooms throughout the nation, will be heard in person November 11 at the VFW Hangar at the Midland Air Terminal when the Midland Veterans of Foreign Wars Post stages its big Armistice Day celebration.

Elaborate arrangements for the dance are being made by a committee headed by Irvy Dyer who promises the biggest event of its kind ever staged in West Texas.

Reservations are being handled by a special committee, and each reservation will be held until 10 p. m. on dance night.

Dub Cunningham, manager at the VFW Hangar, said the dance will be even better than the previous one. More than 2,000 persons attended the Russ Morgan dance last month.

"Music by Masters" features both sweet and swing music with a generous sprinkling of entertainment to provide a musical treat for young and old alike.

VFW officials said only 1,000 tickets will be sold in advance, but that sales will continue at the door. Reservations may be made by calling No. 2642 or writing the VFW, P. O. Box 282.

TROUBLES OVER!

This wise motorist doesn't worry any more about quick stops. He had our specialist check his brakes. Now he drives with confidence! Let us make your brakes safe, too! No time like the present. While you're waiting for your new Chrysler, we'll keep your old car in tip-top shape!

Aviation Experiments May Develop Ceramic Engines Burning Metal Fuel

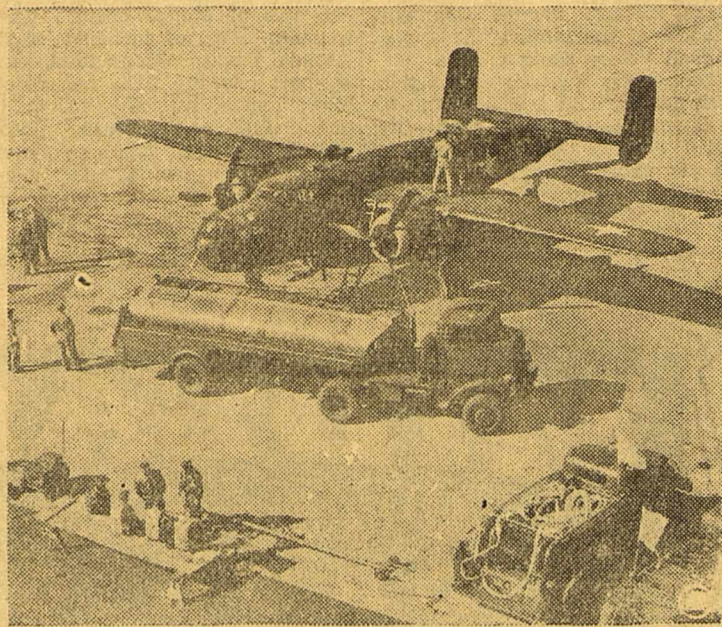

Photo of F-16c Airframe: The Mitchell bomber being tested above already has been outdated by jet planes. Next to go may be the gas truck; in its place may come new machines designed to feed metal fuel into the planes of tomorrow.

By RICHARD KLEINER
CLEVELAND, O.—(NEA)—American's airplanes may some day fly with fuel made from metals, instead of with high-octane gasoline.

And the jet engines that fly them may be made partly of china, like your wedding-present Spode.

Those possibilities were revealed during a recent public inspection of the vast Flight Propulsion Research Laboratory of the National Advisory Committee on Aeronautics at Cleveland's Municipal Airport—the first time outsiders were permitted to view the tremendous experimental plant.

Research in flight propulsion is today directed at three objectives—to increase the speed of planes, lengthen the range, and to accomplish the first two with inexpensive and non-strategic materials.

Try To Increase Heat
Increasing the speed of jet-propelled planes is primarily a question of increasing the heat generated by the fuel. The search for greater combustion efficiency has led the NACA to begin experimentation on metals as fuel. They are, theoretically, far superior to the best aviation gas in this respect.

Metals, in the form of dust, can be made to burn very rapidly, even to the degree of an explosion. Metallic compounds of boron, for example, contain many times the energy of aviation gasoline.

Boron occurs in nature as boric acid and borax. There are large deposits in the Western United States, and much in Canada and Peru. Europe has some deposits, notably in Tuscany, in Italy, but if it came to a boron race, the Western Hemisphere could hold its own.

Superior In Density
Besides the heat question, metals are superior to gas from the standpoint of density. Today's planes are limited in range by fuel capacity. They must either make stops or carry wing-tanks, which slow down the speed. Metals, more dense than the liquid gasoline, would consequently increase the range at the same time they increase the speed.

Obviously, then, metals would make an ideal fuel. At present, their use as a fuel is confined to the laboratory. It's possible they will never be an adaptable fuel, or they may have to be confined to emergency use.

The greatly increased combustion temperatures, experimental as they are, pose another problem for the aero-scientist. Will the airplane's combustion chamber stand up under the searing heat of well beyond 1500 degrees Fahrenheit? Or will it melt, or crack, or refuse to function?

Experiment With 'Cerama'
There have been experiments with a method chemically bonding metal with ceramics—china-ware—to produce a synthetic material which they are calling "cerama." Experimentally, these ceramals will retain their shape and properties at temperatures which melt the most heat-resistant of all-metallic superalloys.

That means that if the metallic fuels can be successfully transferred from the test-tube to the runway, and if the ceramals can be adequately fabricated into airplane parts—then, maybe, we can get range far in excess of today's records.

And one last look into the hazy future. While pointing out that some metals are far more effective combustors than the best aviation gas, the NACA adds that nuclear energy would be 50,000,000 times more efficient!

Is there any research being conducted on the use of nuclear energy as an airplane fuel?

Probably, says the NACA, there is some work going on now, at Oak Ridge.

Russian Miners To Build Homes On Soviet 10-Year Plan

MOSCOW—(AP)—Nearly 7,000 private cottages for miners of U.S.S.R.'s Donbas are nearing completion.

An announcement stated twice as many Donbas miners are building private homes this year over last year and that more than 5,000 cottages were finished during the summer.

In addition to the individual cottages—which are being built by the miners themselves with the aid of bank credits and the collaboration of the mining authorities—apartment houses and two-family block buildings are going up.

The Donbas was one of the most devastated areas of the war.

Each miner can obtain a 10,000 rouble credit for a period of 10 years which he begins paying off in equal installments a year after he moves into his house.

Each miner building a home is given—by his local Soviet—a plot of land big enough for the house, a small barn, chicken sheds and a garden or orchard.

The cottages are of individual design but retain the traditions of Ukrainian architecture. They are mostly built of stone and slag blocks and usually have three rooms.

AMAG Buys Tires For Greek Vehicles

ATHENS—(AP)—To augment Greece's transportation system the American Mission for Aid to Greece will purchase 33,000 tires and 20,000 tubes valued at $1,450,000, for trucks and buses from the U. S., Great Britain, France, India, and South Africa.

Importation of an additional $100,000 worth of tires and tubes for passenger cars is expected soon.

There are more than 75 minerals which are regarded as of sufficient commercial importance to be mined extensively.

Bloodhound, Queenie, Still Bats A Thousand

HARRISVILLE, N. H.—(AP)—Queenie, three-year-old bloodhound owned by Sheriff Arthur N. Jennison, still is batting 1,000.

A little less than a month ago, Queenie led a posse through a mile and a half of swamps and woodlands at Fitzwilliam to find three-year-old Louis Dunton, missing since the previous evening, sitting naked in the underbrush.

Queenie—in her second test at tracking a human—led a search party to Anthony Leoni, 28-year-old Boston war veteran, found unharmed after a night in the freezing woods.

Leoni, a patient at Aldworth Manor, a private sanitarium, had disappeared the day before the search.

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—Dr. Vincent Jacobi, a young dentist of suburban Ferguson, is known as a fisherman who likes to land his catch.

Without waiting to shed his coat, Dr. Jacobi said, he plunged into the lake and grabbed his fish before it became aware of its freedom.

McGees Are Famous In White Oak Football

LONGVIEW —(P)— As long as there has been a White Oak School football team, there has been a McGee in the lineup.

The White Oak Roughnecks played their first football game in 1935. Beryl McGee was in the backfield. Since then no White Oak team has been without a McGee in uniform.

Kenneth McGee was second, followed by Coy, who is now a possible All-America halfback at Notre Dame.

The remaining two McGee brothers, Randal and Max are still playing at White Oak. Randal finishes high school next spring, but Max has two more seasons.

White Oak and the McGees are doing all right. The Roughnecks have not been defeated in District 22-A since 1940, and they

The third of the nine turbine and generator sets making up the complete equipment of the more than half-million kilowatt station is now being installed and will shortly be put into operation.

The Dnieper power station is apparently the only place in the Soviet Union at which American engineers are working. Both General Electric and Newport News Drydock and Shipbuilding Company have specialists assisting in installation of equipment.

Desserts Made For Children Can Please Entire Family

Dad and Mom enjoy Junior's cocoa blancmange as much as he does.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Desserts made for the youngest members of the family can also please the grown ups. Light, wholesome and flavorful, these all-family desserts are ideal for hot weather.

The Cocoa Blancmange recipe given here features the new quick method developed for and with an unflavored gelatin. All the ingredients, except the vanilla, are combined in a single saucepan and then heated over medium heat, until the gelatin is dissolved. It saves dishwashing because there are fewer dishes used in the process of preparation.

Cocoa Blancmange
(Serves 4)
One envelope speed-up gelatin, 3 tablespoons breakfast cocoa, 1/4 cup sugar, dash of salt, 1 3/4 cups milk, 1/4 cup light cream, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla.

Combine gelatin, cocoa, sugar and salt in saucepan. Add milk and cream and place over medium heat until gelatin is dissolved, stirring constantly—about 2 or 3 minutes. (Do not boil.) Add vanilla. Chill, stirring occasionally. When slightly thickened, turn into sherbet glasses or individual molds. Chill until firm. Serve plain or with cream.

Peach Sherbet
(Serves 2)
One can strained peaches or pears, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 3 tablespoons confectioners' sugar, 1 egg white.

Combine the strained peaches or pears, lemon juice and sugar. Freeze to a mush stage. Fold in stiffly beaten egg white. Complete freezing and serve.

Ice Cream Tricks
Fill refrigerator tray with vanilla ice cream. Cut wavy channels in cream and fill with 2 cans baby fruit. Return to freezer.

Quick Sauce
Combine 1 can strained fruit, 1 teaspoon lemon juice and 1 tablespoon sugar. Heat until sugar is dissolved. Serve over ice cream, puddings.

French Learn Latest Tricks Of Black Market Operators

By JACQUES ARMAND-PREVOST
PARIS —(P)— French customs officers, in their endless struggle with smugglers, have learned the latest tricks figured out by imaginative black market operators in postwar Europe.

There are two categories of smugglers—those who cross the frontiers at night, heavily loaded and cautiously walking a few miles to deliver their stuff in a lonesome cafe near the Belgian frontier; and those who profit from the smugglers' work by utilizing a vast chain of accomplices. Everything from American cigarettes, nylon stockings, to gold and drugs is smuggled.

A pitiful old woman, limping on a wooden leg, slowly leaves a ship docking at Marseilles. Her wrinkled face shows fatigue as she trudges along, carrying a canvas bag that contains her belongings. No one is there to greet her. She is called into a room by a woman customs officer who demands that she undress. The inspector finds one pound of drugs inside her wooden leg.

All Races Of World
In the same sunny Mediterranean port are specimens of all the races of the world. A poker-faced Chinese, greeting with oriental politeness his "most-honored-and-beloved-to-his-third-cousin-twice-removed," helps the visitor carry his luggage from the boat. He bows in a dignified manner when he is handed a gift of bird case because the double bottom contains a store of opium that is worth more than all the birds the smugglers, or the customs agents, ever saw.

With currency regulations, the innocent tourist cannot spend many days in Switzerland. But Switzerland is the mecca for vacationists now because of its supply of food and cloth. So if you want to carry a supply of Swiss francs into Switzerland with you, agents are bringing them out every day in the engines of their automobiles.

Customs officers were tipped that a large supply of cigarettes was hidden aboard a ship at Cherbourg and began searching every nook and cranny. Their efforts were to no avail until they dismantled the ship's radio and found what they were looking for.

'Matia' Use Submarine
Another favorite smuggling item of crews is penicillin. Following a tip officers searched a new arrival from stem to stern. They found some nylon stockings inside an armchair, but no penicillin until they went into the bakery. It was mixed with the flour.

The finishing touches were put on 1947 smuggling technique by a "matia" band that guided the course of a submarine from a Swiss shore of a lake separating Italy and Switzerland to the Italian side. Customs officers stood open mouthed when the loot was found to consist of canned milk, chocolate, currency, gold and drugs.

"And here we thought the Swiss navy was just a joke," they said.

Sewing Tips Teach Teen-Agers How To Spruce Up Old Clothes

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Want to know how to win "best dressed" honors on the campus without scuttling your clothes allowance on expensive togs? Sharpen your sewing skill and exercise your ingenuity in revamping your last year's wardrobe.

Don't resign yourself to wearing outmoded clothes even if your fingers aren't trained to handle needle and thread. Ask your mother, your school home economics or sewing teacher to instruct you; or attend classes at your local sewing center.

Here are a few revamping suggestions to start you off. A black velvet prom dress, for example, gets a new hemline and a fresh lease on fashion with the addition of a petticoat flounce. Splashy plaid gingham or starched white lace makes a phony ruffle which fashion says may show beneath the hemline of a dress. Repeating your flounce in a matching ruffle around the cuffs, a tiny collar or a chin chocking gilet is a fashion-wise touch.

Letting out a hem? You'll do a smoother job if you steam press creases from the fabric as you go along. Use facings—there are ready-made facings available in basic colors—to get the last precious inch out of a hem and to hold turned under edges in line.

If exposed fabric of dress or skirt has faded and the turned under hem is the original color, don't let out the hem. The color demarcation line will be too obvious. Instead, add length to a skirt by inserting a yoke or belt at the waistline. If you can't match fabric of a dress, link skirt and bodice with a broad strip of grosgrain belting or a fabric in a contrasting color. For a dress up frock, you might inset a band of black lace.

Suit skirts can be lengthened by widening the waistband or adding a fabric belt. The suit's jacket will hide the alteration.

Birthday On Wings

Pan American Airways has observed its twentieth birthday. The age of adulthood in this country is 21, but Pan American is international, and surely it would be giggling to question that, at 20, it has come of age.

It was Oct. 28, 1927, that a frail wooden-winged 10-passenger Fokker F-7 was babied across the 90 miles of water separating Key West from Havana, at 85 miles an hour.

This was not the first international passenger service. That was opened in 1920 by the Royal Dutch Line, KLM, between Amsterdam and London.

It was not the first scheduled American passenger service. The Air Transport Association credits Western Air Express, now Western Air Lines, with that for its 660-mile service between Los Angeles and Salt Lake City, opened April 17, 1926.

But the very pettiness of these beginnings serve to emphasize the courage required by Juan Trippe when he got hold of $300,000 and undertook regular over-water international service of any kind.

During the first six months of 1947, Pan American carried 457,817 paying passengers an average of 1,100 miles each on its Latin American, Atlantic, Pacific and Alaska divisions. That was three out of every four passengers flown by all U. S. international air lines. It was more than half the total of passengers handled by all international lines, domestic and foreign, serving our shores.

During those six months, Pan American's more than 200 planes, most of them four-motored and many capable of carrying more than 50 passengers at a speed of 300 miles an hour, were scheduled for almost 29,000,000 miles of flight. Except for the Alaska division, their performance was above 97 per cent.

Notwithstanding costs and lingering timidities, only four of the 19 domestic airlines reported in American Aviation handled as many passengers as Pan American during the first half of 1947, and only two boasted as many passenger-miles.

American, TWA and United give first-class trans-oceanic service to the far places. Their planes, their services, their charges are comparable to Pan American's. More than 15 foreign flag lines serve this country, mostly with American-built planes, often with American pilots.

But American lines still handle 75 per cent of trans-Atlantic and 90 per cent of trans-Pacific and Caribbean business, and Pan American carries three-fourths of it.

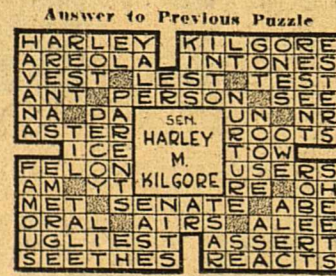

Pan American pioneered, took the big original risks, gambled lives and huge sums of money against unguessable odds—and won. So, a few days late, we are happy to say to Pan American: Happy Birthday. Keep 'em flying. May the shadows of your wings never grow less.

Don't Cheer

Yes, it is good news that meat has become more plentiful at lower prices. But don't let it cheer you up too much. It's just the seasonal lull that experts forecast weeks ago. It happens every Autumn. It's welcome while it lasts. But it means absolutely nothing, one way or the other, about the continuing spiral of inflation which we haven't yet found a way to stop.

Wants to Pay 'Debt' He Owes U. S.

Joshua Brisk, left, 17-year-old Romanian war orphan, had Dr. Robert Ziegler, right, American Legion chaplain in Los Angeles, appointed his guardian so the under-age boy could join the U. S. Army to "pay back the debt I owe this country." During the war, Brisk killed his Nazi schoolteacher and saved the lives of 17 American pilots by blinding their pursuers with a magnesium bomb and leading the airmen to safety. He received a special permit to enter this country last year.

Square Biscuits, Yet!

I see by a neighboring paper, that the round biscuit is on the way out. Yes, sir, home-management specialists have found that the square biscuit lends itself to assembly-line production and easy storage better than those customary ovals.

Well, we're all for progress, but that's one new idea we just don't cotton to. A round biscuit, spread nicely amidst with snappy country cheese, looks like a biscuit! And accompanied by a mellow glass of beer, it's a combination that you can't improve on!

So at the risk of being called old-fashioned, I'm voting for round biscuits, that fit a hungry man's mouth like no square imitation ever will... and for American beer served in the good old-fashioned way, in tall, cool mugs or ordinary glasses, with frosty sides and bubbles winking at the brim!

Think I'll step out to the kitchen for a snack right now!

Atom Makes Boom Town Of Ohio City

MIAMISBURG, OHIO—(NEA)—The atom is making a boom town of this city of 5,500.

Already the population has jumped to nearly 7,000. Men and machines are gouging away at the once-quiet hills outside of town building a $5,000,000 plant for atomic energy research and a $15,000,000 power plant to supply it.

Aggressive Miamisburg residents already are looking for other new industries they can entice into the town now that greater power will be available. Others are not so happy.

Was Serene Town
"This town used to be serene. Now look at it. It's a boom town. Miamisburg is not geared to such activity."

"And atomic research—can you call the atomic bomb progress?" Actually the plant here, operated by Monsanto Chemical Co. for the Atomic Energy Commission will be concerned primarily with peacetime use of the atom. Scientists hope to develop isotopes as new tools for medicine, biology, agriculture and industry.

The Atomic Energy Commission foots the bills; Monsanto's contract is non-profit. Disquieting Factor
But regardless of the future good that may come from the experiments here, the new industrialization of Miamisburg is a disquieting factor in the town's life.

There were no homes for the 2500 construction workers that came to build the atom and power plants.

Building Costs Delay Manila's Rebuilding

MANILA — (AP) — War-wrecked Manila's real reconstruction is just beginning, Edward E. Koster, one of the leading American contractors in the Philippines, reports.
Koster said the high cost of building materials and the slowness of the city planning commission in adopting a permanent layout for the new city has held down permanent building so far.
Real estate transactions in Manila during the first eight months of 1947, however, were nearly double those in the like period of 1946, reaching $23,678,383. Much of this was for purchase of land on which buildings were destroyed.

Building costs have come down from last year, Koster said. In 1946 costs were 450 to 500 per cent above the 1941 level.
The former Heacock department store, which cost $400,000 to build in 1939, was repaired for the U. S. government last year at a cost of $850,000 after it had been gutted during the battle for Manila. At present costs are about 350 per cent of prewar, Koster declared.

The number of U. S. people living on farms decreased from 31,359,000 in 1920 to 30,400,000 in 1940.

Europeans Migrate To Australia By Air

SYDNEY—(AP)—Hundreds of Europeans—chiefly Greeks and Italians—are migrating to Australia in specially chartered airplanes.

Some charter airlines are putting all available planes on the lucrative migrant runs, mainly from Greece, Singapore, and Hong Kong to Sydney.
In two weeks alone, 26 Greeks are scheduled to come to Sydney in a chartered Trans-Oceanic Airways Sunderland flying boat, and 46 more Europeans are due on three Inter-Continental Air Tours aircraft.

Trip Costs $972 Each
The trip on the Sunderland will cost the migrants $972 a head for both adults and children.
A newly formed Sydney company, European Air Transport Pty., Ltd., is preparing six Lockheed-Hudson airliners for the migrant runs to Greece.

A Hong Kong company, Cathay Pacific Airlines, made two trips from Singapore to Sydney recently, and returned to Singapore for more migrants.

Paris Turns Eyes To New Look—
Fashions Flown From California

Mexican flavor from south of California's border inspired this play suit of rayon shantung which San Francisco showed in Paris. Turquoise corduroy shorts team with circular skirt, bra and cape.

EDITOR'S NOTE: When Paris gets a look at U. S. fashions—right in Paris—that's style news, even in a season made hectic by the battle of the hemline. So Epsie Kinard, NEA Service fashion editor, flew to France with San Francisco's "style ambassadors" for this report on what California showed Parisian designers.

By EPIE KINARD
NEA Staff Correspondent
PARIS — (NEA) — The French have just had a good look at American fashions—and right in Paris, too. It was a look which may have an effect on the ideas of the Parisian experts who design for the U. S. scene.

What the French saw were California fashions, as American as corn on the cob—but a whole lot more stylish. A long sight more wearable and better adapted to the figures of U. S. women than most of the French fashions which have influenced our "new look" were the 75 advance Spring models unveiled before 600 guests.

Gathered at the George V hotel to see this first all-American fashion show were the French couturiers and textile manufacturers, an air-flown American press, leading European fashion writers, and officials of the U. S. and French governments.

Not Competition
The aim of all of this, declared the American fashion "ambassadors," is to establish direct sale of original French material to the San Francisco apparel market. They pointed out that since San Francisco creates mass-produced fashions and Paris designs custom-made originals, there is no basis for competition.

Paris saw South American accent in this California evening gown of Cloquet organza with mantilla-type scarf.

The "American look" showed varied silhouettes and as many 14-inch hemlines as 10-inch, depending upon whether skirts were hobbled, pleated, gored or circular-cut. The fashions showed their loyalty to the shoulder pad. It appeared rounder and softer, but it appeared.

But many dresses, suits and coats exhibited soft curves which gained their rounded lines from cut, not padding or stiffening. Where "derriere emphasis" was used, it was used discreetly and placed to create the illusion of a better feminine figure—not a worse one.

Proof that close-to-home style influences had sparked the imagination of San Francisco designers were the Mexican echoes in playclothes and the Spanish senorita's look in evening gowns. Coats with mandarin collars, firm shoulders and easy but graceful fullness reflected the style influence of the Far East on San Francisco fashions.

Paris saw San Francisco's nod to the Far East in this spring coat of plaid wool with a mandarin look.

U. S. Figure Skaters Given Good Chance To Win Titles In Winter Olympic Games

By JOE KING
NEW YORK (NEA)—Figure skaters representing the United States in the Winter Olympic Games in St. Moritz next February will have a much better chance to win a championship or two than any previous team from this country.

That is the opinion of former Olympic competitor Joseph K. Savage, one of the most respected officials. Savage sized up the squad as five of the nine members cut brackets and counters and whirled through jumps in a special showing at New York's Rockefeller Center pond.

Barbara Ann Scott is the favorite for the women's title, of course. The Ottawa miss won the world crown last year. But Savage believes Gretchen Merrill, 21, of Boston, our national champion, will make it closer than expected.

He points out that 16-year-old Yvonne Sherman's strong school figures would improve her chance above that of last season, spoke highly of Eileen Seigh's spectacular free skating program. These three were present in the Rockefeller Center pond performance.

National champion Dick Button, 18, of Philadelphia and Yale, and Robert Swenning, 22, of New York, who holds the U. S. pairs title with Miss Sherman, also of Manhattan, represented the men.

The absentees, who hail from distant parts, were Karol and

The double of a three no trump contract not only says that you expect to beat the contract, but it also asks your partner to lead the first suit bid by dummy.

This convention works out very well if the dummy had bid your suit, and you have a good suit with a sure entry. But it can be quite disastrous when the opponents' bidding has been strong.

In today's hand South elected to open the bidding with one diamond even though he had a point count sufficient to bid one no trump. North responded with one spade to fill that hole in case his partner wanted to play the hand at no trump.

South's bid of two no trump was an overbid. Nevertheless, it was a powerful bid, and when North went to three no trump, East should not have applied the convention of the double for the spade lead. While this is a useful tool and will help you to defeat many game contracts, this hand will show you that it also can be disastrous.

The queen of spades was played from dummy on the opening lead, East covered and declarer won. Then he cashed the five club tricks, and when he found the king of diamonds on side, he ran off five diamond tricks, making 12 tricks, three over.

I doubt that North and South would have arrived at a slam contract, but after the double there was no need to try for a slam.

Drunk Snake Revives To Strike At Texan

HOUSTON—(P)—Robert A. Vines, director of the Museum of Natural History in Houston, says he believes he narrowly escaped death from a drunken snake.

The "dead" coral snake, inclosed in a liquor bottle, had been donated to the museum. There was a small amount of liquor left in the bottle.

A museum attendant transferred the snake from the bottle into a large envelope which was left on Vines' desk.

Fangs Hit Cuff

The museum director a short time later prepared to put the "dead" snake in a solution to preserve it but when he opened the envelope the reptile, revived from its stupor, struck at Vines' arm. The fangs hit his cuff.

Vines killed the snake with a book.

Vines explained that most persons bitten by a coral snake die shortly afterward since such a snake is a member of the cobra family whose poison affects the nervous system and paralyzes the brain and heart.

Baby Gets A Lift: Vertical Cradle Is Healthful

By KAY SHELDON
NEA Staff Writer
NEW YORK (NEA)—Infants who've been used to lying on their backs and taking things easy are in for a surprise.

Medical science has invented a contraption which is intended to keep little wrigglers on their toes, so to speak. The purpose of hoisting baby is to put him in finer physical fettle and to avert certain infantile diseases.

Author of the idea is a Uruguayan hospital chief-of-staff, Dr. Jose Obes Polleri of Montevideo. His invention—a strap-fastened vertical hammock made of canvas to hold children in a state of vertical suspension for a few hours each day to keep babies from one to five months old in a semi-upright position, this harness is an aid in forestalling lung congestion, Dr. Polleri claims. Its use also helps to avert the possible ear infection from nasal mucus drainage which may result when an infant lies too long in a prone position.

More to be said for vertical suspension is that after feedings it aids in "burping" the baby and prevents food particles from sliding down into the lungs instead of the stomach.

Dr. Polleri backs up his claims with the results of 10 years experience during which cradles have been in active hospital use. Sick babies at the Casa del Nino are propped up in suspension cradles for one or two hours twice daily. His records show that such treatment has reduced the danger of pneumonia and has proved helpful in certain types of vomiting cases.

Although he worked out the design for hospital service, Dr. Polleri says the cradle is equally adaptable to home use for keeping a healthy baby more comfortable.

Dry Ice 'Seeding' May Have Contributed To Strange Hurricane

SAVANNAH, GA. (AP)—The chief forecaster of the Miami Weather Bureau believes that the dry ice experiments conducted by the Navy during the damaging mid-October hurricane might have contributed to the storm's strange behavior.

Grady Norton suggested this possibility in a letter made public recently by Judge James T. Houlihan, chairman of Chatham County commissioners. Judge Houlihan had protested to the weather bureau that the Savannah area, struck by the hurricane, was not warned of the storm's approach in sufficient time to set up the proper precautions.

The hurricane moved several hundred miles into the Atlantic Ocean after traversing the southern tip of Florida, then curved backward and headed toward the North Carolina coast. The South Georgia coastal area was lashed by an apparent off-shoot of the disturbance.

"Seeded" With Dry Ice
While the hurricane was centered over the Atlantic it was "seeded" with dry ice from a plane. The seeding was the first Army-Navy experiment to determine what effect such treatment would have on tropical storms.

Forecaster Norton wrote Judge Houlihan that the results of the experiment are a military secret, but added that "it is entirely possible" that the experiment contributed to the unusual behavior of the storm.

At Schenectady, N. Y., the General Electric scientist who devised the dry-ice seeding method—Vincent Schaefer—said he personally doubts, however, that the seeding caused the storm that lashed the Georgia coast. Schaefer participated in the experiment.

It Comdr. Daniel Rex, operations chief for the joint weather project, said that analysis of the test data had barely started.

It is estimated that North Dakota and Montana each lost 16 per cent of its population between 1930 and 1943.

Peanuts Substitute For Meat

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer
To stabilize your food budget and also to conform with meatless Tuesday, use protein-rich peanuts in the main dinner dish. They have not only a high protein content, but are also rich in B vitamins. When you cut down on meat, high in B vitamins, you should use more of other foods which contain them. They are needed for appetite, nerve health and prevention of fatigue.

Peanut Ring Mold
Two cups steamed rice (leftover rice may be used), 1/2 cup salted peanuts (coarsely ground), 1 cup milk, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon salt, if desired, 1 teaspoon paprika, 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon onion juice.

Mix steamed rice and ground peanuts. Arrange in buttered ring mold. Mix milk, egg, salt, paprika, onion juice and Worcestershire sauce. Pour over rice and peanut mixture. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 30 minutes. Serve with glazed carrots in center. Garnish with parsley and ripe olives.

Cheese and Peanut Loaf
Two tablespoons chopped onion, 1 tablespoon butter, 2 tablespoons water, 1 cup salted peanuts, finely chopped, 1 cup grated cheese, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 cup fine bread crumbs, 1/2 cup milk, salt, if desired, pepper.

Cook chopped onion until tender in butter and water. Mix all other ingredients. Add salt and pepper as desired. Pour into a buttered baking dish and bake for 20 to 30 minutes in a preheated moderate oven (300 to 350 degrees F.).

ULTRAVIOLET LIGHTS HELP CHILD HEALTH, STUDY SHOWS

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter
NEW YORK—A six-year study at St. Luke's Hospital showed a marked decrease in respiratory diseases through use of ultraviolet lights throughout an entire convalescent building for children.

Reporting the study in the New York State Journal of Medicine, Drs. Gertrude M. Hyde and Reginald A. Higsons said they believed it was the first time such a building was covered completely for air sterilization.

Ceiling Lights
The lights, hung from the ceiling, irradiated only the upper half of the rooms with ultraviolet light. It is the ultraviolet in sunlight that tans the skin. Burning night and day, the lights gave every cubic foot of air in the entire building a sterilizing effect equivalent to 100 complete changes of air every hour, they said.

At night the lights gave a faint glow resembling moonlight, but the youngsters had no trouble sleeping. The usual night lights were made unnecessary.

The study covered three years without the lights, and three years with them. The figures "indicate a reduction of 33 per cent in the actual number of children feverish from respiratory diseases for the treated years as against the untreated years."

Disease Checked
The lights also appeared helpful, the physicians said in limiting the spread of outbreaks of contagious diseases.

Some of the adult attendants also had fewer respiratory infections. The odor usually found in children's institutions disappear, the report added.

Ordinary house plants, however, died within a short period of time in the rooms with the "moonlight" light.

The experience showed, Dr. Hyde and Dr. Higson said, that the lights should be used in summer as well as winter. They said maintenance cost about $500 a year to keep 50 lights going, with original installation costing about $2,000.

Teen-Agers Settle For Basic Cosmetics

By AUCIA HART
NEA Staff Writer
The girl who is casing the cosmetic counters for her back-to-school requirements will settle for the basic preparations and see that each is keyed to the needs of her skin.

She, will, that is, if she's smart and wants to stretch her pennies, says a cosmetic-research chemist. The first requirement, he says, is a good cleanser. This can be a bland soap or a soapless liquid which whips up a penetrating lather in hard water. Use this cleanser often—two or three times a day at least, he says—to free pores of anything at all that clogs them.

Next, he recommends a greaseless lubricant to keep young skin supple and free from chapping. Young skins, he says, have an abundance of natural oils so that they should not be subjected to smears of heavy waxy creams intended for the older woman's dry or less-active skin. Besides, says our chemist, a greasy cream allowed to remain on the surface of a young skin only attracts dirt which burrows into pores and causes blemishes.

A protective lotion to be used as a powder base is third on the chemist's recommended list. One such lotion which is slightly medicated for breathing skin against germs leaves a complexion looking glamorously smooth when powder is applied.

These cosmetics plus lipstick and, if you insist, such party-occasion glamorizers as eyeshadow, mascara or rouge are all you need to make the most of youthful good looks.

The automobile club of Rhode Island, which boosts the program, boasts that none of the 1,000 pupils who have had high school driving instruction have been held responsible for an accident in the state. Dual control cars are used in the class work and arrangements are such that the school must devote at least 10 hours every week to behind-the-wheel instruction to be eligible for use of the machines. The automobile club, the school system and auto manufacturers cooperate in the program.

New Dishes Designed To Help Mom Feed Baby

Place service has porcelain plate grooved and marked for silver-plated fork and spoon to encourage etiquette in youngsters.

By KAY SHERWOOD
 NEA Staff Writer
 New dishes on baby's dinner table are designed to help mother feed her offspring with less work and fewer bribes to "clean the plate." Aluminum and plastic team up to make a new combination food tray and warming pan which cuts dishwashing and speeds dinner to the high chair. Baby's food is spooned directly from can into four cup-shaped compartments in the food tray. Milk goes into a removable tumbler. The tray—made of plastic unaffected by boiling water—fits into an aluminum pan which is filled with water and put on the stove. When food is heated, the tray lifts out and serves up dinner right away, without risk of burning little fingers because of the low surface heat retained by the plastic.

Another new mother's helper is a plastic device that holds an infant's bottle in correct position for feeding. Bottle slides into a clear plastic sleeve so that milk supply is visible. The sleeve is attached to an adjustable extension arm of chromed metal which clamps to side of crib or high chair.

To train the small fry who feed themselves in the routine of youthful etiquette a new place service boasts a brightly decorated porcelain plate with grooves saucily marked on each side for the spoon and fork. The diminutive plate has a deep, bowl-like center to discourage spills. Silver-plated spoon and fork are scientifically designed for easy manipulation by tiny hands.

Nursery rhyme characters printed in color on cardboard dishes hide under another new dish—this time heavy glass—and coax the reluctant diner to clean up his plate, the reward for which will be a gay picture. So that Junior's interest in the game won't waver, there are six different discs to rotate in the grooved base.

Baby's bottle is held in correct feeding position in this transparent lustron sleeve which is attached to adjustable arm.

Designed to swing the unwilling milk-drinker into line is a drinking cup in the guise of a shabby elephant. Milk—six ounces of it—poured inside this functional toy is imbibed through the hollow trunk.

Anthratube Unit Is Saver Of Vital Coal

NEW YORK—(P)—The Anthracite Institute held a public showing here of a new heating unit, the Anthratube, which the institute said has delivered coal savings of 15 to 38 per cent in home installation tests. Already being produced by several manufacturers, the unit was developed by the institute and has been the subject of three years of research, including year-round operation in 150 homes.

"The Anthratube is a complete boiler-burner unit, based on an entirely new coal-burning principle," Frank W. Earnest, Jr., institute president, said. "It provides completely automatic heat for the home with greater economy, cleanliness and convenience than has ever been considered possible with conventional methods of burning anthracite."

Dr. Raymond C. Johnson, institute vice president, described an induced draft fan that swirls hot flue gases against the heat-transmitting inner surfaces of the boiler. He said that "ordinarily a film of cooler gas lies against these surfaces and interferes with the transfer of heat from the fire to the radiators. The swirling action overcomes this condition."

Chicago Children Will Test Tooth Brushing

CHICAGO—(P)—A two-year test with school children is expected to show just how effective careful brushing of the teeth is in preventing tooth decay.

The study is being launched by the University of Illinois College of Dentistry, and will involve 2,000 sixth and seventh grade youngsters in three downstate communities.

The children will be asked to brush their teeth at their desks each morning and afternoon, and after each evening meal at home and before going to bed. The amount of tooth decay will be compared with that in other children who will continue brushing their teeth according to their usual habits.

The tests also will study the effectiveness of three kinds of dentifrices. One is a new kind, developed at the college and containing ammonium compounds, which in limited tests has shown a sharp reduction in tooth decay.

Rich Pea Soup Offers Essentials
 By GAYNOR MADDOX

 "Peas porridge hot" means a lot these days. Peas are rich in protein, an important fact to remember when we cut down on meat servings.

With pea or bean soup for a main course and gingerbread (rich in iron) for dessert, you provide the chief nutrients of meat (iron and protein). A green or mixed vegetable salad, rolls and beverage will round out the budget meal.

Split Pea Soup
 (Serves 6)
 One pound dried split peas, 2 quarts cold water, 1 medium onion, sliced, ham bone or small shank end, 3 or 4 celery tops, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper.

Wash split peas well. Saute the sliced onion until tender in ham fat cut from the ham bone. Add the ham bone, drained peas, celery tops, salt, pepper and water. Cover, bring to a boil, and then simmer gently for 3 hours. Remove ham bone, rub soup through a coarse sieve and then skim off fat. Reheat.

Gingerbread
 (Yield: 16 portions)
 One-half cup shortening, 2 1/2 cups sifted flour, 1 1/2 teaspoons baking soda, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 1/2 teaspoons ginger, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 1/4 cups molasses, 1 egg, 3/4 cup hot water.

Melt shortening in 3- or 4-quart saucepan over very low fire. Remove from fire; let cool. Mix and sift dry ingredients. Add molasses and unbeaten egg to cooled shortening and mix until well blended. Add dry ingredients alternately with hot water, mixing well after each addition. Bake in well-greased 8x9x2-inch pan in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 40 to 45 minutes or until done.
