Jack Williams Files For Re-Election

Jack Williams, County Commissioner in Precinct 3, has filed for reelection to that post subject to the Democratic Primary in May. Williams, who has served almost two terms in the office, authorized the Stockman to announce his candidacy late last week.

Williams, a native of Crockett County, ranches west of Ozona in Precinct 3. He is seeking re-election on his past record as commissioner. He feels he has served the people of the entire county as well as his constituents in Precinct 3, and has the best interests of the county as his prime interest in acting as commissioner.

Williams spent much time getting county roads back in good condition following heavy rains last year. He feels his experience gained in the almost eight years he has served in the post to be invaluable. Williams has been a "working commissioner," and plans to continue to work for the people of Crockett County if re-elected.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams live in Precinct 3 here in Ozona where they reared their children, Craig, 23, and Suzanne, who is presently a student at the University of Texas in Austin.

Ozona RMA Receives Merit Award

A Certificate of Merit has been awarded to the Retail Merchant's Association, Ozona, by Associated Credit Bureaus, Inc., for service to the individual consumer, the community and the credit industry.

Announcement of the award was made by John L. Spafford, president of Associated Credit Bureaus, Inc., Houston, Texas, which is an international trade association serving more than 2,100 credit bureaus and collection service members in the U.S., Canada and several foreign countries.

"The standards of achievement established for this award exemplify the service provided by the Ozona Retail Merchants Association," Spafford said. "It also reflects an impressive performance in meeting community civic obligations."

Credit reporting and collection service executives who earn the Certificate of Merit Award are eligible to compete for the State Leadership Award, which will be presented by ACB in the spring.

Tree Planting Ceremony Held Tuesday At Care Center

A special tree planting ceremony was held on the grounds of the Crockett County Care Center on Tuesday afternoon, January 27, at 4:00 p.m., sponsored by the Crockett County Bicentennial Steering Committee. The Liberty Tree is a gift to the county of the Texas Forest Service and the Texas Forestry Association as an official American Revolution Bicentennial project. The Liberty Tree is a Texas Pecan, a variety which grows and produces well throughout the state. The pecan is the state tree of Texas.

The Liberty Tree gets its title from the famous elm in Colonial Boston under which the first act of public resistance occurred in 1765--the hanging in effigy of a newly-appointed stamp tax officer.

The tree is a symbol of resistance to British rule and

Stuart Earns B.S. Degree From ASU

Gregory Stuart received his BS degree in Physical Education at the close of the fall semester at Angelo State University. He was notified by the dean that he had completed requirements for the degree which was conferred Dec. 20.

Stuart is a 1971 graduate of Ozona High School and is married to the former Chesta Wilson of Ozona. They are moving back to Ozona with their infant daughter, Shelby D'Anne, this week. Stuart will be associated with his father, B. W. Stuart, at Stuart Motor Co.

Monday Is Filing Deadline

Deadline for filing for county office is Monday midnight, February 2. County offices up for election this year are Commissioners Precinct 1 and Precinct 3, Sheriff-Tax Assessor-Collector and County Attorney.

Also coming up in 1976 are the general elections in November. Locally there will be a school board election and a water board election, besides the May 1, Democratic Primary. The May primary usually decides local office holders as they seldom have a Republican opponent in November.

To be eligible to vote, residents must be registered at least 30 days prior to any election.

McBee Asks Another Term As State Rep.

Rep. Susan Gurley McBee has announced that she has filed in the Democratic Primary for re-election to the position of State Representative District 70.

District 70 includes Brewster, Crockett, Edwards, Kinney, Maverick, Sutton, Terrell, Val Verde, and Zavala Counties.

"It has been a privilege and a pleasure to represent this area during the past year, and I look forward to doing so again," Mrs. McBee stated.

During her first legislative term, Mrs. McBee served on the Agriculture and Livestock Committee, the Elections Committee, and the prestigious Calendars Committee. She also represented the Texas House of Representatives at a meeting of the National Conference of State Legislatures in Washington, D. C.

Presently, in addition to her regular committee assignments, Mrs. McBee serves on the Legislative Council, as Chairman of an Elections Sub-committee studying Election Code changes, and by special appointment by the Speaker of the House as a member of a State Affairs Sub-committee.

"Since assuming office, I have made a concentrated effort to open the lines of communication between my office and my constituents. I think it has proven to be successful, and certainly I will continue not only to keep the citizens of this district informed, but to provide whatever assistance and information that they may require," said Mrs. McBee.

Susan McBee is a lifelong Del Rio resident and is an honors graduate of Texas A&M where she majored in Spanish. She is married to Larry McBee, a Val Verde County rancher, and is the mother of a 9 year old son, J. R. Previous to her successful legislative race in 1974, in which she defeated five opponents, Mrs. McBee taught in the former San Felipe School District and later in the Consolidated School District.

"Throughout my first campaign, I promised fair, honest representation and a strong voice in Austin for the residents of the 70th Legislative District," Mrs. McBee said. "Certainly after having had a year's experience and having gone through the 64th Legislative session, I will be able to provide even more effective representation."

Truck Wreck Fatal To Ariz. Man

A Glendale, Arizona man was killed around 1:00 a.m. Monday when the truck-tractor rig he was driving ran off the road at the bottom of Lancaster Hill on U. S. 290 about 35 miles west of Ozona.

Robert Edward Darby, 35, was thrown from the vehicle after it overturned in a ravine. He was pronounced dead at the scene. Officials feel the rig went out of control going down the steep hill.

Darby's body was taken to James Funeral Home in Ozona and was shipped to Whittier, California Tuesday for burial.

Wells Due Drilling In County Fields

Amoco Production Co. will drill a 9,650-foot gas wildcat in Crockett County, 5/8 mile southeast of Ozona, 5/8 mile southeast of its No. 1-A Margaret F. Alford, active wildcat, 3-7/8 miles southwest of the one-well Angus (Strawn gas) field, and the same distance west-southwest of Canyon production in the Denison multipay field. It is the No. 1 Jake Beasley Trust.

Location is 1,800 feet from the north and 1,420 feet from the east lines of 6-G-GC&SF.

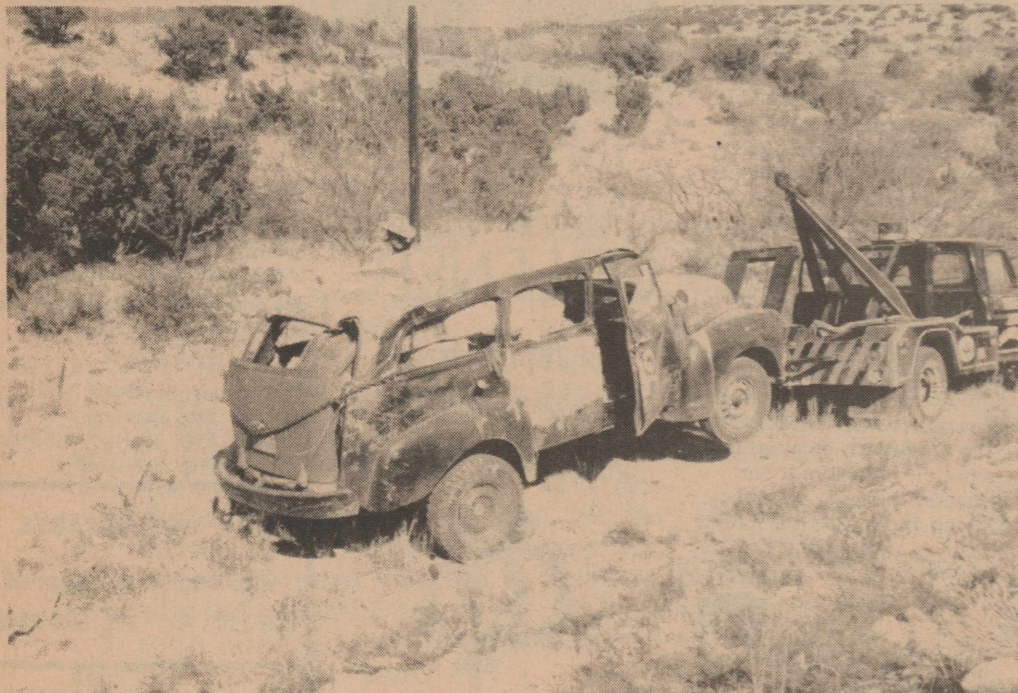

The No. 1-A Alford, in 3-G-GC&SF, was bottomed at 9,100 feet, with 4 1/2-inch casing set at 8,996 feet, and waiting on a completion unit

Dec. 31, 1975. It flowed gas at the rate of 256,000 cubic feet daily when drilling reached 8,704 feet.

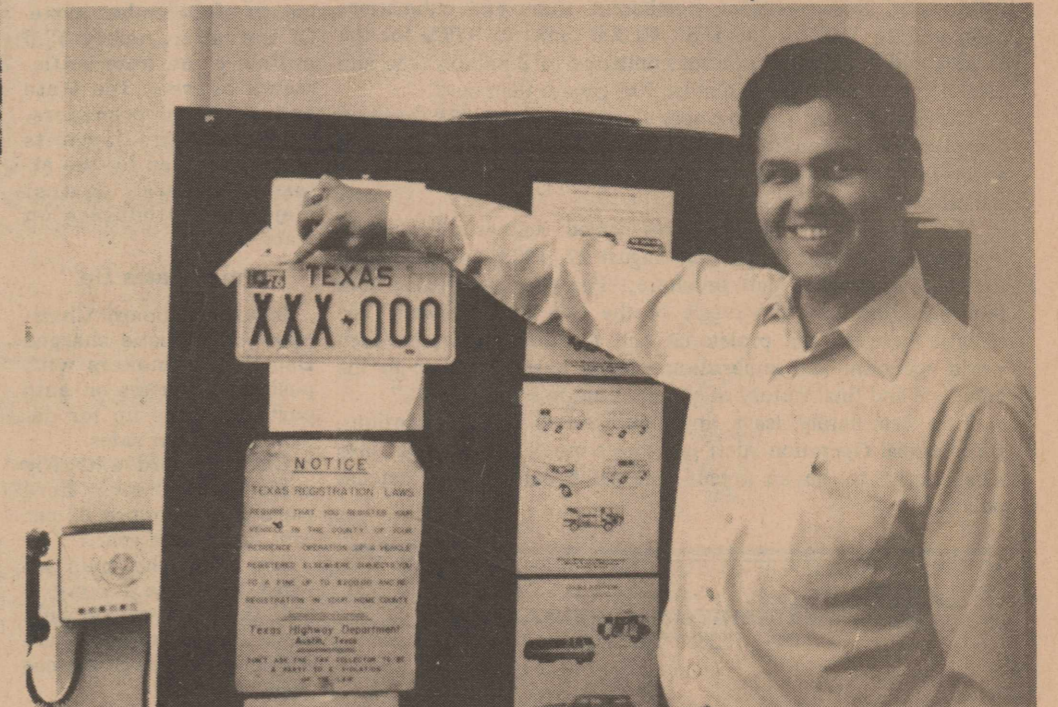

Gulf Oil Corp. will drill the No. 1 J. R. Bailey as a 1/2-mile north and very slightly west outpost to J. Cleo Thompson No. 6-A J. R. Bailey, Ellenburger opener and lone producer from that pay in the Crockett portion of the Ozona, Northeast (Canyon 7520 gas) field and 10 miles northeast of Ozona.

CAR TAGS GO ON SALE MONDAY, no new license plates, but a tag to attach to your old one. The small tag, denoting payment of vehicle license for 1976, goes in the upper left-hand indentation on your present tag. The price will also be the same. Chief Deputy Tax Assessor Tommy Stokes shows how to position the unfamiliar piece of metal. The tag should not be removed from the license plate once it has been attached. However, if the tag should happen to get lost, the owner can get another one for a small fee. Sales begin Monday and the deadline for having then on the vehicle is midnight March 31.

Terrorism: It's Your Problem Too

FBI Director Clarence Kelley's recent warning that terrorists may be among the celebrants at America's Bicentennial should be of serious concern to every innocent citizen. Kelley warns that such groups may be preparing to "blow out the candles" on what otherwise promises to be a memorable and fulfilling epoch in our nation's history.

"We have had utterances from some groups that they are going to disrupt the Bicentennial," said Kelley. "One such group, in their constitution, said they are going to kill me," he added.

Speaking at a Washington luncheon sponsored by the American Security Council, Kelley's main point, however, is that most citizens fail to take seriously enough the threat posed by terrorists to our society. That lack of perception persists, he adds, even as the carnage from terrorist acts in the U.S. mounts. Bombings from terrorist activity doubled in each of the past two years; going from 24 in 1973 to 45 in 1974 to 89 in 1975. Such terrorist acts last year left 11 dead, 72 injured, and $2.7 million worth of property damage.

"Still, I think to most Americans, the terrorist threat is a remote and abstract thing — a problem that commands little, if any, of their attention in their understandable preoccupation with problems more immediate in the every day business of living," says Kelley.

A key problem in educating Americans to the danger, he adds, is the too common public view of the terrorist as a haphazard, bearded bungler — rather than the deadly threat he really is. "Terrorists," says the Director, "are prepared to kill men, women and children to further whatever cause they claim to be pursuing. And the heinousness of these murders is accentuated by the fact that they murder without passion. They murder with cool deliberation and careful planning." Despite this reality, adds Kelley, "Incredibly, some otherwise law-abiding people provide moral and material support to terrorists."

Kelley concedes that the FBI's success in identifying and bringing to justice perpetrators of terrorist acts is mixed at best. One problem is that the agency is not allowed to use electronic assets such as wiretaps to penetrate terrorist groups.

One obvious answer in aiding the FBI in our fight against terrorism is for Congress to pass legislation permitting the agency to use electronic surveillance in special circumstances. Beyond that, as the FBI chief emphasizes, individual citizens can help out by promptly reporting information relating to terrorism and by "vigorously supporting the principle of rule by laws that has enabled our nation to flourish these 200 years."

Operation Alert

One of the voices seeking to warn the American public of the seriousness of the nation's deteriorating military situation is that of the independently financed American Security Council. This organization, with offices in Boston, Virginia, and Washington, D.C., has long been in the forefront of those trying to hold back the tide of advancing communism by urging a policy of continued U.S. military superiority, coupled with a more effective foreign policy. This year, the ASC has launched what it calls "Bicentennial Operation Alert" to try and educate the public about the growing Soviet military threat which has now reduced the former U.S. military superiority to one of distinct inferiority.

The charts presented by the ASC in its Operation Alert brochure are indeed chilling. Based on U.S. Defense Department reports, they show that in mid-1975 the Soviets had 3,524 offensive missiles and bombers compared to 2,208 for the U.S.; 546 major Soviet surface combatant ships and submarines compared to 291 for the U.S.; 40,000 tanks to 9,000 for the U.S.; 4 million men under arms compared to 2 million U.S.; and total defense expenditures almost 30% greater than ours.

The figures seem to show very clearly that the USSR does not accept the idea of military parity, but rather is aiming at the kind of overall superiority which will give the necessary teeth to its militant ideology.

That ideology is periodically reaffirmed, such as in the speech by Brezhnev quoted by Pravda, August 22, 1973, and printed in the ASC Operation Alert brochure; "Peaceful coexistence does not mean the end of struggle of the two world powers. The struggle between the proletariat and the bourgeoisie, between world socialism and imperialism will be waged right up to the complete and final victory of communism on a world scale."

That can hardly leave any doubt as to Soviet intentions. Bicentennial Operation Alert provides a much needed input into what ought to be an urgent national debate on our defense policy.

JOB MARKET

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights
by Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — The Texas Veterans Land Program, temporarily shut down December 31, may re-open soon.

A meeting of the Veterans Land Board has been scheduled February 11 to review the bond market for a possible bond sale.

Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong said financial advisors report interest rates are beginning to come down slowly and that favorable rates may be obtainable in March.

Armstrong also claimed the temporary halt in the program may have helped stem inflation of land prices.

"Our chief appraiser tells me that land prices are settling down in every area of the state except in the Houston vicinity," said Armstrong. "This means the delay may actually benefit those veterans who intend to make land purchases under the program in the future."

A total of 1,771 applications for loans were received in the last two weeks of December. Land Office staff members are trying to process more than 4,700 completed applications before the Veterans Land Program is reopened.

$2 Billion Topped

Oil and gas income to the Permanent School and Permanent University Funds now tops $2 billion.

Land Commissioner Armstrong said deposits reached $2,003,638,403 with the aid of $24.7 million in new income from settlements of "in-kind" gas pricing lawsuits.

The suits forced some gas producers to pay the state current market value for gas royalty from production on state lands. Armstrong said the Permanent School Fund totals $1.23 billion and the University Fund $772.3 million. Both funds received $16.3 million in royalty payments for the month of December alone. Of the latter, nearly $2.5 million came from settlements between the state and 18 gas producers. Twenty-seven lawsuits have been filed by the attorney general against major gas producers on state lands.

Parts Rates Up

Insurance Board Chairman Joe Christie charged Detroit automakers with pushing up prices on auto parts to make up for declining new car sales.

Christie told a traffic safety conference here parts prices jumped 32 percent in a single year.

The board chairman advised that safe driving is still the best way to hold down the cost of auto ownership, including insurance premiums.

Crime Program Pledged

Gov. Dolph Briscoe has pledged to offer far-reaching recommendations to the next legislature for curbing crime.

A new report by the Governor's Executive Committee on Criminal Justice Standards and Goals already has proposed ambitious objectives for the Texas criminal justice system.

Briscoe said his program will seek to restrain repeat offenders, including those who commit a crime while on bail. The governor said he thinks there should be a procedure for denial of bail. And he said the death penalty has served as a deterrent to crime.

Courts Speak

Texas Supreme Court took under study a Gonzalez case involving whether so-called "front-end loan fees" on real estate loans are in fact additional interest.

Court of Criminal Appeals reversed the conviction resulting from the third trial of a Bowie County man on a robbery by firearms charge.

The Supreme Court stuck by its finding of last month that the governor overstepped constitutional authority in vetoing more than 130 college building projects in June 1975.

Third Court of Civil Appeals upheld a trial court finding that a mother gave up her parental rights to her nine-year-old son by a divorce agreement.

Court of Criminal Appeals reversed a mother's murder conviction in the fatal death of a two-month-old daughter on grounds of insufficient evidence.

AG Opinions

Payment of one-half of accumulated sick leave on termination of state employment is applicable to higher education institutions, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded: Independent school districts not holding elections for their district trustees on the day set for county school trustee elections (in counties over 500,000) must hold county trustee elections.

A justice of the peace with an unexpired term of more than a year automatically resigns on announcing candidacy for water district director.

Military service should be credited in judicial retirement computation. Physical therapy license applicants must pay prescribed examination fees.

Industries Increase

Twenty-two new industries with an annual economic impact of nearly $16.5 million and payrolls of 383 registered in Texas during December.

The increase was the largest for a single month in more than two years. Jim Harwell, executive director of Texas Industrial Commission, said the industries will generate an additional 291 jobs.

Harwell said the increase had been expected, due to the upswing in the number of inquiries to the commission.

Bob Krueger Reports

U.S. Representative
21st District

As the Members of Congress and the United States Senate assembled in the chamber of the House to hear President Ford deliver his State of the Union address, I was hoping and expecting to hear the President demonstrate some leadership in the program he proposed for the coming year.

I would characterize the response he received from the audience as polite, but not enthusiastic, with neither strong support nor antagonism. The things he proposed were not really surprising, but he may have a difficult time getting some of them passed in the Congress.

There were several points in the President's address that I strongly agreed with, such as his proposals to assure that the United States remain militarily strong, and those to guarantee a decent quality of life for our elderly citizens.

The point the President made which received the strongest support from his audience, and one with which I strongly agree, concerned estate taxes. As a matter of fact, I have co-sponsored a bill with Congressman Burleson which guarantees that when a person dies his estate will be given a fair assessment so that his family does not have to sell the estate in order to pay the taxes on it.

The state of the union is better now than it was at this time last year; yet it is also true that it is still not good enough. President Ford has challenged the Congress to work with him in the coming months to make our Union a better one, and I, for one, am willing to accept that challenge.

Mr. Ford's proposals on defense spending, a modified approach to national health insurance, and an approach to tax reform favoring the middle class are all ideas in which I think reasonable men and women can find some strong areas of agreement. I hope my colleagues in Congress agree with that assessment; I hope that by next year's State of the Union address the Union's condition will have continued to improve and that the Congress too will adopt a "common sense" attitude toward the problems we face; although I expect it will differ from the President's program somewhat, it must direct our country toward a continued strong and prosperous future.

BACKGROUND ON BUSINESS

ATTRACTING CAPITAL
If you wish you had more money, you have a lot of company. The country of Mexico is seeking foreign investment which will accelerate the nation's economic development, bring new technology and increase exports, according to

The Foreign Minister categorically denied that investment regulations adopted in 1973 aimed to exclude foreign investors and said "those who seek to present the government of Mexico as an enemy of foreign investors project a completely false picture."

While some circles expressed concern over laws to regulate and direct foreign investment, the government of President Luis Echeverria has reiterated through official spokesmen that the aim of the laws is not to exclude foreign investment but to direct it toward a more balanced economic and social development and the new regulations provide special incentives to facilitate these goals.

One example of how Mexico encourages foreign capital is the Volkswagen situation. The firm started operations in Mexico 10 years ago with a staff of 500 employees and an assembly line utilizing 75% German-made parts. Today the company employs 10,000 persons and its vehicles are assembled with 70% parts of Mexican origin.

Tips For Gardeners
From the
Ozona Garden Club
by
Mrs. Bailey Post

During these winter months and throughout long, dry cold spells you may not take the time to have water for the many birds in your garden. The fact which bothers most of us is that visits from our favorite birds are too infrequent. Too, without their song and chatter all would be missed.

There are many ways to remedy this, but the greatest single attraction is water. Birds receive moisture from berries, fruit and early morning dew, but this is rather the hard way of getting a drink. Also, they are bathers, so if they must wait for rain to do their bathing, it could be a long time between baths.

Bird baths may be a homemade one, or many different kinds may be purchased. If on the ground level, a large flower pot saucer is a very good choice, and easy to fill and clean. Light weight bird baths are apt to be broken by animals hunting water if on stands. Whatever you choose, it should blend and be part of the garden picture. To be large enough for more than one bird at a time, it should not be less than one foot across and two or more is best. Never place a bath where cats can make sneak attacks. The structure should have a shallow margin with a very gradual slope to the deeper center.

Since January and February are the best months for planting bare-root fruit trees this list may be helpful, but check with your nursery man -

Apples - Golden Delicious, Holland
Figs - Celeste, Texas Everbearing, Brown Turkey
Peaches - Loring, Redglow, Sentinal, Springold
Pears - Kieffer, Seckle, Bartlett, Moonglow
Plums - Bruce (must have a pollinator), Methley, Ozark Premier

Apricot - Chinese Golden, Moorpark
Plant two varieties for cross pollination.

Its time to shape up fruit trees. Proper pruning of fruit trees is essential for an abundant crop of large fruits.

Young fruit trees should be pruned early to establish a good, strong scaffold of system with wide-angled, well spaced branches that will not tend to split. Once the trees are of bearing age, however, similarities in pruning disappear. The rapid-growing species require heavier pruning than the slow-growing ones (apricot, peaches and plums). Slow growers - apples, cherries and pears. On these, pruning consists mainly of cutting out dead and misplaced branches.

One of the most versatile "vegetables"--the mushroom--isn't really a vegetable at all. It's a fungus. Though sold in vegetable sections of stores, the mushroom cannot be called a vegetable because it has no green coloring matter and cannot take carbon dioxide from the air. It is produced from spores under precise conditions of temperature, light and humidity.

For calorie counter, mushrooms are ideal--they have only 66 per pound. Nutritionally, they have a relatively high phosphorus content and contain good amounts of riboflavin, niacin and other B-vitamins. They even contain protein.

Stage mushrooms in the refrigerator uncovered in a tall plastic container. Fresh mushrooms will keep a week, but don't wash before storing. Select white firm, slightly moist mushrooms. Mushrooms are perfectly good when opened or if they have brown spots on them. Size does not affect taste--it's merely a matter of personal preference. It isn't necessary to peel mushrooms. Rinse them quickly in a light stream of cold water, never let them soak. Cook no longer than 10 minutes in a little butter or margarine with salt and pepper to taste.

Centuries ago the Chinese treasured them as a delicacy and a medicine. The Romans prized mushrooms highly as a food for the gods. Cultivated mushrooms were grown in caves and cellars of France in 1749. Today the U. S. is the leading cultivator of mushrooms.

MEXICAN CORN BREAD
1 cup flour
1 cup corn meal
1/4 cup sugar, optional
4 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 teaspoon chili powder
2 eggs
1/2 cup soft butter or margarine
1/4 cup finely diced green pepper
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
1/4 cup finely chopped onion
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup milk

Sift together dry ingredients into large mixing bowl; stir in corn meal. Add eggs, milk, fat, green pepper, onion and pimiento; beat vigorously with electric or hand rotary beater, until ingredients are well mixed, about 1 minute. Turn into greased 8"x8"x2" pan and bake at 425 degrees about 20 minutes. Delicious served with creamed chicken. Makes 6 servings.

Pecos Coffee Honors Miss Cathy Davis

A coffee in the home of Mrs. A. B. Foster of Pecos was held recently in honor of Miss Cathy Dawn Davis, bride-elect of Douglas Kirby Moore of Ozona.

Other hostesses were Mrs. Kenneth Slack and Mrs. Hugh Box, all of Pecos.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Foster, Mrs. Howard Davis, mother of the bride, the honoree, and Mrs. Kirby Moore of Ozona, mother of the groom.

The bride's chosen colors of pink and burgundy were used in decorations throughout the house. Refreshments were served to about one hundred twenty-five guests.

Forum Guest Day Features Book Review

The Ozona Womens Forum held its annual guest day Tuesday at the home of Mrs. James Childress, Assisting hostesses were Mrs. Bill Clegg, Mrs. J. D. Brown and Mrs. Hugh Childress.

The highlight of the meeting was a book review by Mrs. L. B. Cox, III. She reviewed "Weathering the Storm," by Elizabeth Evans. The book concerns women of the Revolution and their life during that time of history. Their trials, tribulations, fears, little or no medical care. Life, in general, was difficult and adding to the difficulties was a war to take its toll of husbands and sons. In keeping with the theme of the club's Bicentennial studies, the book review was rewarding to members and guests alike.

Refreshments were served and a social period followed the book review. There were twenty-six club members and twenty-three guests present.

USING FRAGRANCES: Although the use of aromatics goes back centuries, when the Pilgrims came to America they arrived with the barest necessities--perfumes understandably not among them. In fact, even after settling in, a young woman caught using perfume to entice a man was legally subject to "dunking." How far we've come since then!

While we know that men do find certain scents alluring, to entice men is not the only reason women wear perfume. Women use fragrance as a bolster to feminine self-confidence. It boosts morale. Scents are used by some women just as routinely as they use lipstick and powder, for they are beauty aids that make us more attractive and appealing to those around us. Fragrances are such a beauty asset, it's a pity to see them used incorrectly or not at all, because some women who lack guidance are afraid to experiment on their own.

It's true that mistakes can be made in choosing and wearing scents, so let's learn how to avoid them and make perfumes a beautifier in our life.

● Don't choose a perfume because it smells so nice on your friend. Each of us has our own "skin chemistry." The reaction of a perfume when it mingles with the oils of your skin creates the ultimate effect. Consequently your friend's scent may not smell as nice on you.

● Your perfume should complement your personality. Find scents you are comfortable with. When choosing, do not simply sniff the fragrance in the bottle. Apply a few drops to your wrist, allowing time for the fragrance and the heat of your body to "blend". Then sniff. Like it? Buy it. If not, test some more. But not more than three at a time. Your nose will lose its ability to tell the difference.

● Apply perfume on pulse spots--inside your wrists, your temples, in the bend in your arm, behind your knees and on the palms of your hands. These areas of body warmth will show off your fragrance to its best advantage. Don't apply scents to fur or fabric. They might stain.

● Dry skin, because it does not retain fragrance as long as oily skin does, will require more generous application.

● Choose lighter scents for warm weather, because fragrance intensifies on hot and humid days. Heavier, more exotic perfumes are more suitable in cooler weather.

Fragrances, like people, have different personalities. Some are sporty and appropriate on the golf course or ski jump. There are scents that stimulate, others that soothe. Certain ones are simply elegant--for instance, Merle Norman's newest fragrance, Chatelaine, which not only offers a sophisticated scent, but is also bottled most elegantly, with a look of carved crystal.

Lovely perfume bottles lead me to one last word of advice. Once opened, perfumes are subject to spoiling or evaporation. It's a mistake to let that pretty bottle do nothing but decorate your dresser top. Use your perfume. Every day is a special occasion if you want to be at your best. And don't we all?

Dear Mrs. Robinson:

What would you recommend for nails that chip and break easily? I've tried to add strength with nail polish.

C.B.

Dear C.B.:

Try a product like Merle Norman's Nail Undercoat. Especially designed for problem nails, it is applied between base coat and color. The nylonized fibers lend strength to the nails and keep them from breaking so easily.

WHERE SOMEONE TRUDGED BEFORE

How deep is the snow? How rough is the terrain that lies beneath it? You can never be sure until there are footprints to follow. It is easier to make one's way through the snow where someone has trudged before.

At the heart of the Christian religion is the belief that God gave his own Son, to be our Savior... and also to be our example. The study of his life is, therefore, an important part of Christian education. Though we cannot aspire to be like Him--we can learn to meet life's challenges and crises with the same resolute courage and commitment.

Why plunge aimlessly on? Someone has shown the Way!

If a killer walked the street with gun in hand, you'd bar your doors and take protective precautions.

But the biggest killer of all lives among us, and will cause half of the predicted 108,000 deaths in Texas during 1976. That killer is cardiovascular disease, ranging from sudden heart attacks to the subtle, silent deaths and disability from hypertension and its many complications.

Major diseases of the cardiovascular system, reports the Texas Department of Health Resources, are hypertension (high blood pressure), atherosclerosis, heart attack, stroke, congestive heart failure, rheumatic heart disease and congenital defects.

The Department of Health Resources reports that an estimated 28,830,000 Americans have some major form of heart and blood vessel disease. According to the American Heart Association, hypertension afflicts more than 23 million persons, coronary heart disease almost four million and rheumatic heart disease and stroke another 3 1/2 million persons.

Accidental and violent deaths may grab the headlines in your home town and throughout Texas, but the biggest individual killer still lies within the human body.

Emphasis in the past few years--from state and national levels--has been placed on hypertension, and for a very good reason. It is a silent, mysterious killer with no characteristic symptoms. More often than not, the cause may remain unknown although hypertension in most cases can be controlled.

Left uncontrolled, hypertension can cause serious cardiovascular complications. It is a leading cause of disease and death in this country. One in every six adults has some elevation of blood pressure.

These facts are being given the public repeatedly, yet surveys of various population groups indicate that only 10 to 20 per cent of hypertensive patients are currently receiving effective treatment.

You could be among the half of those with high blood pressure who don't know they have it--unless you've had your blood pressure checked recently.

Medical science has unraveled many of the mysteries concerning heart ailments. In addition, dramatic advances have been made in repairing congenital and acquired cardiovascular abnormalities. Surgical techniques make possible the repair and replacement of damaged portions of the heart and blood vessels.

A great deal of research is being done today in this field. Some studies with animals indicate that atherosclerosis may be reversed.

Atherosclerosis is a slow, progressive disease that sets the stage for heart attack and stroke. In this disease, which may have its beginnings early in life, the linings of the arteries become thickened and roughened by deposits of fat, fibrin (a clotting material), cellular debris and calcium.

The continuing buildup can cause a clot to form which will block the channel and deprive the heart, brain or other organs of blood.

Autopsies of children killed in accidents, or who have died of other causes, reveal the beginnings of the atherosclerotic process. And, autopsies of servicemen killed during the Korean War revealed that, in some cases, the atherosclerotic process had already reached advanced stages by the early 20's and 30's.

Heart attack usually is thought of as sudden, but in all likelihood coronary disease has been building over the years, helped along by the patient who has ignored the risk factors and failed to heed the early warning signs.

"Prevention" is a word heard often today in medical discussion of heart attacks. There are things that can be done--starting early in life--to help prevent heart attacks in later years. These may be related to exercise, proper diet and proper rest.

Extensive clinical and statistical studies of family medical history, physical conditions and life styles have identified several factors as contributing to an increased risk of heart attack and stroke. Among these factors are heredity, sex, age, race, cigarette smoking, high blood pressure, elevated blood cholesterol, diabetes, electrocardiogram abnormalities, stress and lack of exercise.

Studies have documented the significance of the major risk factors in heart attack and stroke. They also have shown that the danger increases with the number and severity of risk factors--the more risk factors present or the greater the degree of abnormality of any factor, the greater the risk.

There may be no way to prevent all cardiovascular disease, but one can go a long way toward avoiding disability by getting the good health habit, says the Texas Department of Health Resources.

Fire Safety Program Set For 4-Hers

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Ozona Volunteer Fire Department assisted by Ozona firemen will present a fire safety program for 4-H members Monday evening at the fire station.

The program will begin at 7:30 p. m.

Mrs. Stephen Perner is in Shannon Hospital in San Angelo where she is receiving medical treatment. She was moved from the ICU to a private room Monday and continues to show improvement.

Understanding Your Child

How much your child enjoys a new toy depends less on the amount of money you spend and more on how the toy interacts with the child. All too often, adults buy toys that appeal to their own tastes, rather than what is appealing and fun for the child.

To determine what toys will be enjoyed, child psychologists suggest that parents should watch their children at play and note the individual youngster's skills and interests.

It's also important to select toys based on a child's stage of development. Although age guides suggested by toy manufacturers are helpful, parents should remember that every child progresses at his own pace.

For example, many girls in the pre-teen stage are interested in clothes, hair styles and grown-up glamour. Girls in this age group generally find dressing dolls very appealing and the availability of a wide variety of modern doll clothes is to be applauded.

One such beautiful teenage model doll is Tiffany Taylor. Tiffany has a large and glamorous wardrobe, ranging from trendy sport clothes to her own "mink" coat and "mink" trimmed evening gown. In addition, the doll's hair can be set in rollers for numerous hair-styles, brushed into the streaked look or changed from brunette to blonde with just a flip of the crown. Tiffany Taylor and her wardrobe are designed by Marvin Glass & Associates and manufactured by Ideal.

Once parents understand their child's basic whims and desires, they have a better chance of buying toys that the child will enjoy long after Christmas is over.

USDA Specialist To Speak To TS&GR Meet

Fred M. Lege III, International Livestock Marketing Specialist with the USDA's Foreign Agriculture Service, will be the main speaker at the Winter Tri-Annual meeting of the Texas Sheep & Goat Raisers' Association in Sonora February 7.

Registration will begin at 9:00 a.m., Saturday Feb. 7 at the Sonora High School. Committees will meet at 9:30 a.m., and the noon meal will be hosted by friends of the TS&GRA in Sonora. The general session, during which Mr. Lege will speak, will begin at 1:30 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Current Association officers are Dr. Percy R. Turner,

Walter Valley, president; Bill Pfleger, San Angelo, first vice president; Bill Schneemann, Big Lake, second vice president.

Fred Lege was raised on the Diamond L Ranch near Fort Worth and obtained a B. A. degree in economics from the University of Virginia. He was one of the founders of the Texas Beef Council and was active in livestock organizations throughout the state prior to joining the Foreign Agriculture Service in 1955. From that time to the present he worked as a marketing specialist for the FAS, visiting foreign breeders in some 72 countries and finding markets for U. S. livestock. He served as Agricultural Attaché in the American Embassy in Argentina, Australia and New Guinea, and he is known to be an authority in the field of livestock marketing.

His father, the late Fred M. Lege, Jr., was vice president of Magnolia Petroleum Company of Dallas and owner of the Diamond L Ranch and a 15,000 acre ranch near Kerrville. He was well-known to Texas sheepmen for his high-quality Rambouillet sheep.

Screwworm Cases Not All Reported

The 16,764 confirmed screwworm cases from Texas livestock during 1975 ranked the year third only to 1972's 90,980 cases, and the 49,484 recorded in 1962, year the Screwworm Eradication Program started, says a U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) official.

"We know there were thousands of unreported cases in the range country," says Dr. M. E. (Cotton) Meadows, Jr., director of the program which is administered for USDA by the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS). "Ranchers were so busy treating cases they didn't have time to collect samples and mail them to the laboratory for identification."

Screwworms are a parasite of all warm blooded animals. Female screwworm flies deposit their eggs on the edges of open wounds. The hatching larvae enter the wound to feed on living flesh.

The APHIS program is based on release of sterile male flies. Female flies usually mate only once in their lifetimes. If their only mating is with a sterile male any eggs they produce will not hatch. When enough sterile matings occur eradication is achieved.

Screwworm numbers decline each winter in most areas, they overwinter in parts of Texas and warmer regions of Mexico. Because of this reduced population, the sterile fly technique is most effective during winter months.

"It is essential that samples of worms from every infested wound be submitted at this time of year," says Meadows. "Only by knowing where screwworms exist can an intelligent judgement be made of where to disperse sterile flies," he explains. Pre-addressed, postage paid, sample kits are available from County Agents, livestock inspectors, veterinarians, and by writing to program headquarters at Mission.

Using Canned Foods Calls for Precautions

By now the many Americans who canned vegetables and meats this summer know the canning procedures necessary to prevent the growth of deadly bacteria in foods. But there's another precaution to take. When you open the preserved foods, boil them immediately, before you taste them. Heating usually makes any odor of spoilage more noticeable.

Season At Hand To Apply Dormant Oils

Late winter and early spring is the season to apply dormant oils for controlling some of the hard-to-kill insect pests on trees and shrubs, says Billy Reager, county agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Dormant oils are specially refined petroleum oils that contain emulsifying agents which allow mixing with water. They are effective for controlling pests such as scale insects, mites, pecan phylloxera, insect eggs and hibernating caterpillars. These oils kill the egg as well as immature and adult stages of insects and mites by enveloping them in a continuous film of oil, thereby smothering and ultimately killing them.

Dormant oils have several advantages over most other insecticides, such as being less expensive, giving good covering action, leaving residues on fruit and nut trees that are exempt from tolerance, and being safe to handle. However, oils are toxic to leaves, have low toxicity to some insects, and are relatively unstable in water solutions.

A dormant oil can be used on any trees and shrubs that are in the dormant stage, points out Reager. However, better insect control will be obtained if used in late winter or early spring just before new plant growth begins. Apply the oil when temperatures are between 40 and 65 degrees F. Do not make an application if freezing weather is expected within 48 hours after treatment.

When mixing and applying dormant oils, use only the amounts recommended by the manufacturer. Some trees tolerant to normal application rates of oil may be damaged if excessive amounts are used. Even normal applications of oil have been noted to damage beech, sugar and Japanese maple, walnut, butternut and some spruces. Cover tree trunks and limbs thoroughly with the spray but avoid excessive application of the oils, cautions the agent.

BUDGET FOODS CAN BE BEST FOODS

It's a fact. Many a good cook is at her best when high food prices force her to turn to budget foods. It arouses her creativity, adds variety and spice to meals. It isn't easy, but it can be rewarding. To help good cooks bring out the best in budget foods, the makers of Hellmann's and Best Foods real mayonnaise have produced a pocket size 34 page booklet including 50 budget-stretching recipes. Look for the free, bright yellow booklet in the supermarket or send 20 cents in coin to "Budget Booklet," Box 5026, Hicksville, N.Y. 11802. The recipe given here for Turkey Tetrazzini is from the booklet.

TURKEY TETRAZZINI

- 1/4 cup margarine
- 2 tablespoons corn starch
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- Dash pepper
- 1 1/2 cups chicken broth
- 1/2 cup Hellmann's or Best Foods real mayonnaise
- 2 tablespoons sherry
- 1 package (8 oz.) thin spaghetti broken in thirds, cooked and drained
- 2 1/2 cups cubed cooked turkey or chicken
- 1 cup sliced mushrooms
- 1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese

Melt margarine in saucepan over medium heat. Stir in corn starch, salt and pepper. Remove from heat. Gradually stir in broth. Bring to boil, stirring constantly, and boil 1 minute. Stir in real mayonnaise and sherry. Remove from heat. In 2-quart casserole arrange layers of spaghetti, turkey and mushroom. Cover with part of sauce. Repeat until all is used. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake in 350°F. oven 30 minutes or until bubbly. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

In 1773, Bostonians held their famous tea party and helped convert Americans to a nation of coffee drinkers. The furor caused by that act of rebellion established coffee as a "patriotic beverage."

Today, Americans drink over 140 billion cups of coffee a year, making it our most popular beverage. And, according to the National Coffee Association, coffee costs only about 3 cents per cup when served at home.

New Extension Specialist Hired For West Texas Area

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service has named a resource development specialist to serve the Far West Texas region.

He is Dr. Donald D. Stebbins, who will be responsible for educational programs dealing with the development of both human and natural resources in a 22-county area stretching from El Paso County to Crockett and Howard Counties. The new specialist will be office in the Farm Bureau Building at Ysleta.

"Dr. Stebbins will provide leadership and assistance to county Extension agents and area leaders to develop effective programs in community resource development," said Dr. John E. Hutchison, state Extension Service director, in announcing the appointment. "In addition to serving the Extension District 6 area which has headquarters at Fort Stockton, Stebbins will also serve as advisor to the executive committee of the GAIN (Greater Agricultural Income Now) Program." GAIN is designed to boost agricultural income growth in the four county area of El Paso, Hudspeth and Culberson Counties in Texas and Dona Ana County, New Mexico.

Stebbins, a native of Freeport, Ill. has been teaching economics at New Mexico Highlands University at Las Vegas, New Mex., for the past five years.

The new specialist has B. S. and M. S. degrees in economics from Illinois State University and a Ph. D. degree in regional and urban economics from Iowa State University. As an undergraduate, he was on the Dean's List and was a member of the Social Science Honor Society. Stebbins was an instructor while in graduate school.

He served in the U. S. Army three years. Stebbins holds membership in the American Economics Association, National Education Association, and Rocky Mountain Social Science Association.

His wife, Joyce, taught elementary school at Las Vegas, New Mex.

Annual Judges & Commissioners Get More Mileage Out Of Toy Buys

The 18th annual conference of the County Judges and Commissioners of Texas will deal with specific issues that are today's problems.

Ambulance service, solid waste disposal and law enforcement are key problem areas to which the county officials will address themselves.

The conference is set for February 3-5 at the Ramada Inn in College Station, with registration the first afternoon. The official program kicks off at 10 a. m., February 4.

Dr. James Blakely of Wharton will speak at a banquet that evening.

A discussion on "Agricultural Markets and Policy Today" by Dr. Ronald Knutson, Extension economist in marketing and policy, will kick off the program on February 5.

Also speaking the first day of the program will be Bernard Hillenbrand, director of the National Association of Counties, Washington, D. C., who will discuss national legislation affecting counties, and J. C. Davis, Austin attorney, who will talk about legislative action in county government.

Mileage Out Of Toy Buys

By now the "newness" may have worn off this year's Christmas toys and the children are bored with their playthings.

"Parents often complain that their child has a room full of toys he doesn't play with and he doesn't seem to appreciate all they've done for him."

"Toys are not as appealing if the child sees and uses them everyday. So alternate some of his toys. Send them 'on vacation' for a month or two. When the child's interest in his toys begins to fade, it's time to bring some toys back from 'vacation' and put other toys out of sight for a while," she advised.

Also, if the toys don't stimulate creativity, the child's interest may wane. Select playthings which require imagination and can be used in a variety of ways so the child will find his toys more fun and stimulating, the specialist said.

"For example, cups or boxes that can be nested or stacked appeal to toddlers. The 3- to 6-year-old will enjoy blocks, dolls, puppets, art activities and dress-up clothes.

"School-age children like sports or active games, hobby kits or card and board games which require thought and cooperation with friends," Mrs. Miller said.

She also suggested that good storage and display space makes the toys look more appealing. A joint project of building a low shelf for the child's room provides a good way to display and store his playthings.

"Low shelves are more effective for toy storage than a toy box because the child has better access to his playthings. Shelves allow him to get to his toys easily and to see what he has to play with," she explained.

Crepes Give Leftovers Delicious New Twist

Give leftover turkey a new "twist." Marilyn Haggard, a foods and nutrition specialist, suggests.

"A twist of the wrist can be the beginning of a creamed turkey crepe. Crepe is just a fancy name for a thin pancake filled with just about anything," she said.

Miss Haggard is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

BASIC CREPE RECIPE
2 cups all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
4 large eggs
1 cup cold milk
1 cup cold water
3 tablespoons butter, melted
cooking oil

Combine flour, salt and eggs. Mix well. Blend in milk, water and butter. Refrigerate batter for at least two hours to produce a light product. Brush bottom of crepe pan or heavy skillet (approximately seven inches in diameter) with oil and heat over medium heat until hot, but not smoking. Pour about one-fourth cup of batter in pan, tilting quickly to allow batter to run over the bottom of the pan in a thin film.

Cook for about one minute, lifting edge of crepe to test for doneness. Flip the crepe when it can be shaken loose from the bottom of the pan. Cook for only one-half a minute on the other side. This is the side the filling will be spread on. Prepare crepes in layers of waxed paper. Yield: 20 crepes

TURKEY FILLING
3 tablespoons chopped onion
6 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 cup flour
1 cup turkey broth
1 cup milk
salt to taste
paprika

Follow recipe for Turkey Filling, omitting turkey and cheese and using an additional two-thirds cup of milk or broth. Pour sauce over rolled crepes and bake at 375 degrees F. for 15-20 minutes. Sprinkle with paprika and serve while hot. Sauce and filling are for 14 crepes.

pepper to taste
1 tablespoon dried parsley or 3 tablespoons fresh parsley
1 can (4 oz.) mushrooms, sliced or pieces
1 cup grated cheddar or Monterey Jack cheese
3 cups cooked, diced turkey
Saute onion in butter. Blend in flour. Add milk, cook and stir until mixture thickens. Add salt, pepper, mushrooms and cheese. Mix with turkey. Chill. Spoon the thickened mixture on crepes and roll up. Place rolled crepes in buttered dish and cover with sauce. SAUCE

Follow recipe for Turkey Filling, omitting turkey and cheese and using an additional two-thirds cup of milk or broth. Pour sauce over rolled crepes and bake at 375 degrees F. for 15-20 minutes. Sprinkle with paprika and serve while hot. Sauce and filling are for 14 crepes.

Who'd want to invest in a bunch of revolutionaries?

They didn't exactly look like winners.

But then our revolutionary army beat the British at Saratoga in 1777.

And people recognized Washington's men as an army, rather than a band of renegades.

So faith was won as well as a battle. And investments in our government's securities started picking up.

It took courage to take stock in America back

Mrs. Nicholas Attends Cancer Society National Meeting

By Mrs. M. E. Nicholas

Mrs. M. E. Nicholas represented the 16-County Unit District IV as District Crusade Chairman at the American Cancer Society's National Volunteers' Meeting for Education and Crusade in Houston last week.

This year Texas was the host state and more than one thousand volunteers from every state in the union were in attendance at the Shamrock Hilton Hotel.

The first day of the 2-day event was taken up by various working seminars and very well organized tours over M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute. Mrs. Nicholas took advantage of seeing some of the research facilities.

"Many 'firsts' in the development of research and treatment programs have emanated from these walls," Mrs. Nicholas stated. In 1946 Dr. R. Lee Clark was named the hospital's first full-time director and surgeon-in-chief. Well known to many Ozonans, Dr. Clark, in 1968 was designated Anderson's first president, a post he held until he assumed the presidency of the UT System Cancer Center in 1972. Dr. Clark also serves on the three-member President's Cancer Panel, which is responsible for overseeing implementation of the National Cancer Act of 1971 and is the President-elect of the American Cancer Society at the national level.

Volunteer visitors to the famous hospital viewed parts of the $42,500,000 expansion project currently under way which will more than double the size of the existing Anderson facilities which should be completed this year. Included in the 11-floor extension will be a whole floor of laminar airflow rooms, where patients who may be especially susceptible to infections after treatment, can exist in a totally sterile environment.

A new 12-floor Clinic Building will house outpatient areas capable of accommodating 1,200 persons daily; the present capacity is 500 daily. "While out-of-state visitors were oohing and ahing over these wonderful advances, I was proud to be wearing a name tag with 'Texas' plainly in view," Mrs. Nicholas stated, "and could not help but offer a prayer of thanks for our generous Crockett County people who have donated to special research projects and others who have given generously in dollars which will, in future, be channeled into new fields of research taking place in this great institution."

On the second day, under the heading of "Meet the Press", Mary Jane Schier, Science Writer of the Houston Post interviewed Dr. Clark and Benjamin F. Byrd, Jr. M. D., President of the American Cancer Society. Dr. Byrd stated that encouraging progress on earlier detection and improving treatments for many malignant diseases, especially breast cancer. "But," Dr. Byrd went on to say, "the biggest single need if the cancer death rate is to be lowered significantly will require sacrifices from every citizen.

"Without each person caring enough to quit smoking, avoid overexposure to sunlight and generally do a better job of health management," he stressed, "some of the 'really important' scientific achievements in the widening war against cancer seem negated." In lamenting that the cancer mortality rate is staying about the same - nearly 370,000 Americans are expected to die from malignant diseases this year - Byrd cited the "stupidity" of so many who continue smoking. "Medical experts virtually everywhere agree that at least 80 per cent of all lung cancers are caused by cigarette smoking," he said. The 230 men and women who die each day of lung cancer alone are a "tragic and needless waste" in Byrd's opinion. Dr. Byrd is professor of surgery at Vanderbilt University School of Medicine.

On the brighter side, the on-going achievements in cancer control are the breast detection centers operating in 27 cities, including Houston, where screening of apparently healthy women is picking up very early lesions, according to the ACS president. These programs are jointly funded by the American Cancer Society and the National Cancer Institute.

Looking to the future, Byrd reminded the large group that no single cure will be possible for cancer because it is, in effect, more than 100 different diseases. "But I honestly believe we will be seeing the day when we can prevent cancer. Remember, we didn't cure poliomyelitis, but we found a way to prevent it as well as other one-time killers," he said.

There were many celebrity volunteers speaking during the day including Marvella Bayh (Senator Birch Bayh's wife) who works tirelessly as a "Reach to Recovery" volunteer having herself experienced surgery for removal of a breast; movie and TV star Leif Erickson presented The Gene Littler Story on film. Littler was never expected to play pro-golf again after the removal of shoulder muscles; Susan Clark and Alex Karras stars of "The Babe" spoke on their involvement as workers; Tommy Leonetti the TV and recording star spoke and sang and is a 4 1/2 year survivor of kidney cancer; Theresa Merritt presented Second Lieutenant Robert Johnson, West Point graduate, struck by cancer as a young football player. Ms. Merritt is the star of the TV series "That's My Mama."

"One of the most inspiring talks of the day," Mrs. Nicholas reported, "was given by Bea Johnson, TV Journalist. She is one of the not-so-fortunate cancer victims and one of the most courageous ladies I have ever witnessed." Ms. Johnson has terminal cancer of the uterus, ovaries, stomach, lungs, colon-rectum and liver it was reported to the group. Yet this lovely lady has dedicated every remaining moment of her time to volunteer speaking for the American Cancer Society. She had just come out of the hospital after another series of treatments to hopefully lengthen her life a little longer so that she may carry on this work. "If possibly any of us volunteers had become a little stale or weary with our work for ACS, certainly we were revitalized and spurred on by this magnificent woman. I wish every one of the 2,300,000 volunteers across the country could have been present," Mrs. Nicholas commented.

Flip Wilson, National Crusade Chairman for 1976, was Master of Ceremonies for the final banquet. William Gargan, struck by cancer of the larynx while performing in a Broadway play in 1980, also spoke. He devotes most of his time helping other patients learn to speak again via the esophageal method as an ACS volunteer. The National Commander of the American Legion explained how the Legion has dedicated all funds raised in the U. S. A. this year to the American Cancer Society. They had pledged one million dollars, but already had raised over $700,000 and he felt the sum raised by special events and other means would far exceed the million promised.

Mrs. Nicholas will be in charge of the District Four kick-off and workshop to be held at La Quinta Motor Inn at 4:45 p. m. Thursday the 29th. The guest speaker will be Mrs. Barbara Lewis of Austin, long-time cancer volunteer and well-known Republican Party worker.

IRS Tells Most Common Tax Errors

Officials of the Internal Revenue Service's Dallas District office say that, so far in the 1976 filing season, the most common errors showing up on tax returns are those caused by a misunderstanding of the $30 tax credit for each personal exemption.

"Apparently, many taxpayers are confusing the $30 tax credit with the $750 personal exemption deduction," A. W. McCannless, district director of the IRS for North Texas, said today. "They wind up thinking each personal exemption is worth one deduction of $780."

The two are not related, however, Mr. McCannless said that taxpayers should compute their tax liability in the normal manner before dealing with the $30 tax credit. When the normal tax is computed, the taxpayer is then entitled to subtract $30 from the total tax liability for each personal exemption claimed on the return. For example, a married couple with two children would claim four personal exemptions on a joint return and come up with a certain amount of tax due. They would then subtract $120, or $30 for each exemption, from the tax due.

"A deduction, such as the personal exemption, is a reduction of the income on which tax is figured," the tax official said. "A tax credit, on the other hand, is a dollar for dollar reduction of the actual amount of tax due."

He also pointed out that, while extra exemptions are allowed for blind taxpayers and those over 65, these people do not receive extra tax credits.
