We finally managed to gather enough concrete information to let the people know what is going on with the Precinct lines here in Ozona and Crockett County. At least we got all the information anyone had, we think. Had to make such a pest of myself that the County Judge asked me, in a nice way, of course, to please get my knife out of his back.

At this point everyone concerned seems to be looking forward to just "getting it over with." After we had to order more ballots for one of the precincts last week, then discovered late that a name and office had been left off three of the precinct ballots and we had to take the ballots back and print it in, we were on the verge of hysteria.

We didn't get sample ballots when our ballots came so I decided I could just write SAMPLE across one from each precinct and use a copying machine. We were looking in the new law book to try to determine if sample ballots indeed had to be printed on yellow paper when I came across a section of the law which I interpreted to mean that only an official could order or be in possession of sample ballots. That did it for me. I've lived too long on the edge of disaster to risk being sent to a federal institution for selling sample ballots.

In spite of the security prison life brings, they always put you to work doing something and I don't want to spend my life putting out the daily Leavenworth news, which is no doubt where I would wind up.

Live television came to Ozona last Sunday, and although it was in black and white and just a little fuzzy, you could tell who all the personalities were and the sound was perfect. We'd say it was quite a success for a premiere and are looking forward to some more live coverage for the city. The Ozona Television System, along with equipment from the Ozona High School Band made the telecast possible.

Davidson completed his junior year at the end of the fall semester and is a pre-law student. He will receive his B. A. at the end of the first term of the summer session this year. He is married to the former Tanya Blanton of Ozona.

Heavy WindStorm, Rain Hits Ozona

A blustery wind-rain-hail storm hit Ozona Thursday afternoon and resulted in .83 of an inch of rain over a 24 hour period, according to the official gauge at the Water District Office. Skies threatened all week, but unusually high winds seemed to blow any chance of rain away until Thursday afternoon.

The moisture seemed to be fairly well distributed over the county, with up to an inch of rain reported in some sections. The Vic Pierce ranch reported .9 of an inch over-all. Some gauges here in Ozona recorded up to 1 inch of rain.

Small hail began to fall during the middle of the storm Thursday afternoon, but soon stopped without causing any damage. The storm raged for a good two hours before abating, beginning at about 3:45. A large volume of dirt in the air caused mud to fall along with the rain, and there are some who declare "it rained mud." The appearance of some vehicles Friday morning seemed to bear this fact out.

Temperatures dropped drastically during the storm, and some loss was reported to newly shorn sheep. Buddy Phillips, in the southeast part of the county, lost 50 head of newly-shorn ewes, but managed to save 14 affected animals. Monday morning he was trying to save several dozen dogie lambs.

The rain was the first of any consequence for Ozona since March bowed out with a .74 of an inch total. With no rain reported for January and February the yearly total amounts to only 1.57. Much more rainfall is necessary to alleviate droughty conditions in the county.

After a nice Easter weekend, the early part of this week was clear and windy with warm afternoons.

Absentee Voting For May 1 Primary Election Is Normal

Absentee voting for the May 1, Democratic Primary, totaled 57 at noon Tuesday which is near normal, according to County Clerk Leta Powell. Most of the absentee votes have been cast in Precinct 1 where a three-way race for commissioner has aroused voters.

When registration closed March 31, there were 2,250 Crockett County voters eligible to vote in the primary. This number was up 182 over the number of eligible voters when the ballots were printed in late March. Eligible voters March 3 by precinct were 573 in Precinct 1, 471 in precinct 2, 516 in precinct 3 and 508 in precinct 4. These figures were based on the agreement made between a lawyer for the court and a lawyer from MALDEF, along with the two commissioners from precinct 4 and precinct 1, Chuey Castro and Jesse Marley. Under the agreement, 35 voters were transferred back to precinct 1. This accounts for the discrepancy in numbers between the two precincts. The present lists have voters in precinct 1 listed as 715, precinct 2, as 508, precinct 3 has 541, and precinct 4 has the smallest number of voters at 489.

The agreement has not yet received approval from the U. S. Attorney General's office. Under the Federal Voting Rights Bill, all changes in precinct lines and voting procedures must be submitted to Washington for approval before they are put into effect. Texas only came under the regulation this year, but any change since 1972 must be submitted and must have approval before it can be legal.

The group headed by Commissioner Castro had a change of mind before the agreement was submitted and he was the only member of the court who refused to sign the required information. This has entailed a long drawn out series of exchanges between the county and the officials in Washington and nothing has been set-

Sunday Theft Is Being Investigated

According to an article in the San Angelo Standard Times, investigation continued here Monday into the reported theft of about $100 in coins from a self-service laundromat.

Reportedly, the theft occurred Sunday and investigators speculated that a key was used to open 11 of 20 machines. Also, a soft drink machine was opened and then locked after an undetermined amount of coins was removed.

Three More Days Of Clean Up

Three more days of Spring Clean Up remain for Ozona residents to clean up around their premises and have debris hauled off free of charge.

Officials here believe the primary will be held as planned and agreed upon, as the lists have been prepared according to the October agreement and time is running short.

A request for Precinct 1 numbers broken down according to race was complied with and most recently a request for the eligible voter list for precinct 1 was sent to the lawyer in the Attorney General's office. Late Monday afternoon Judge Troy Williams talked to the attorney and he had not received the list, but he assured him a decision would be forthcoming once the list was received. According to the breakdown, there were 345 Mexican-Americans, 335 Anglos, and 35 blacks registered in Precinct 1. This would indicate that voters of Mexican-American descent had a slight edge, with the Anglos having the second most votes and blacks in a distinct minority. If the Attorney General's ruling depends on racial balance, the lines will no doubt stand as they are at present.

Precinct 1 voters will cast ballots at the courthouse with W. E. White as election judge. Precinct 2 voters will vote on the south side of the Civic Center with Elizabeth Applewhite as election judge, and Precinct 3 voters will vote at the north end of the Civic Center with Steve Kenley as election judge. Precinct 4 voters will vote as usual, at the Primary School and Mrs. Matias Gutierrez, Jr. will be the presiding election judge.

Polls will open at 8 a. m. and close at 7 p. m.

FORD AND REAGAN:
THE GREAT DEBATE JOINED

President Ford has charged Governor Ronald Reagan with making "misleading statements" and with "a fabrication and invention" concerning the state of the nation's military power and the views of his Secretary of State. He has accused Reagan, in short, of lying.

It would be more comforting to believe the President, who asserts that it is Reagan who is merely being political and who has his facts all wrong.

It would be comforting, but not realistic. Unfortunately, the evidence speaks powerfully to the contrary.

Mr. Ford, in his rebuttal to Governor Reagan's television address, slid over the fact that Russia now has a huge superiority over the U.S., in numbers of tanks, artillery, planes, ships, and other conventional weapons. He chose instead to insist that the U.S. still has a lead in "strategic nuclear capability," and this only because we still have more nuclear warheads than the Russians. While still true, it ignores the fact that the Soviets have a large lead in delivery vehicles and in the megatonnage of their warheads. And that they are fast catching up with us in numbers of warheads. This is what is creating for them a potential first-strike capability, in which they could conceivably destroy many, or most, of our warheads before they could ever be delivered to their targets. It is thus Mr. Ford who is, sadly, misleading the people in his eagerness for reelection. His own new Secretary of Defense, Donald Rumsfeld, admitted in a recent appearance on TV's "Issues and Answers" that former U.S. superiority has now given way to "rough equivalence," and that, if present trends continue, this will soon become "inferiority."

As for Reagan's alleged "fabrication," this refers to Admiral Elmo Zumwalt's revelation that in conversations with Secretary Kissinger in 1970 and 1972, Kissinger told him that "the day of the U.S. is past and today is the day of the Soviet Union." Zumwalt says Kissinger compared the U.S. and Russia to Athens and Sparta and said that his job as Secretary of State is "to negotiate the most acceptable second-best position available." Kissinger denies this, and Ford backs him up. This boils down to one man's word against another, but Zumwalt's version is made more credible by what many other Kissinger intimates have described as his "Spenglerian view" of the decline of the U.S. and the West.

It seems to us that the Reagan speech and the Ford and State Department rebuttals have now brought to center stage the great issues upon which the 1976 election should properly focus. The American people have the right to become fully informed about, and to render judgment on, the military and foreign policy objectives of their government. Let the debate continue.

"MAJORITY RULE" IN SOUTHERN AFRICA?

Much is heard these days about the principle of "majority rule" in Rhodesia and South Africa. "One man, one vote" is the usual formula espoused for carrying this principle into practice.

If the rest of black Africa is any guide, however, the elimination of white rule will not bring the ballot to the black man of southern Africa. It will merely replace white paternalism with black dictatorship.

Moreover, there may be nothing enlightened or benign about such a dictatorship.

To begin with, the emergence of the dictator is likely to be an extremely bloody affair. Besides the traditional hostility between the Matabele and Mashona tribes in Rhodesia, there is the simmering feud between the various Rhodesian black leaders and factions. Each of them wants power for himself after the white government of Ian Smith is eliminated. Thousands of Rhodesian blacks have already been brutally murdered in factional strife over the years. The Rhodesian whites still enjoy a large degree of black support largely because these peace-loving people know full well the furies that will be unleashed within their country once the restraining white power disappears.

Neither would the political situation in South Africa be easily resolved if white rule were overthrown. The tribal and racial situation there is far more complex than in Rhodesia. The hostility, for example, of the blacks toward the substantial Indian population has been violently demonstrated on more than one occasion.

Those who speak so easily of "majority rule" need to understand that what they are really promoting is merely a different form of racism. The white governments, which have at least kept the peace and brought a relatively high level of prosperity to all, will be replaced by a form of despotism that will have nothing to do with "one man, one vote."

THE WRONG ANSWER

AUSTIN—Comptroller Bob Bullock now figures the 1977 legislature will inherit a $737 million cash surplus when it convenes next January.

Legislators, according to Bullock's latest projection, will have $2.6 billion more to spend during the next biennium than the $8.4 billion available for 1976-77. That is a jump of 31 per cent.

Bullock credited increased consumer spending that boomed sales and motor vehicle taxes, improved tax enforcement and continued increases in oil and gas prices.

The comptroller advised setting some of the surplus aside for a rainy day, tight budgets and careful planning to avoid new taxes for "years to come."

Gov. Dolph Briscoe promptly recommended that $1 billion should be socked away in a rainy day fund or capital reserve account.

Briscoe said the reserve fund would "insure a fiscally-sound state government for the foreseeable future within the existing tax structure."

House Speaker Bill Clayton went the governor one better, and suggested the second $1 billion be rebated to Texas taxpayers through tax reductions. Clayton said $600 million added revenue would take care of necessary inflationary increases.

Wiretaps Urged

Gov. Briscoe will ask legislators to authorize court-ordered and supervised wiretapping to help police organized crime.

Briscoe said the war on crime will be the No. 1 priority item in his legislative program in 1977.

The governor said there is no room for argument as to whether organized crime has penetrated into Texas. The question, he said, centers on the extent of the invasion and how it can be controlled and repelled.

His legislative proposals will include bills to make organized criminal activities a felony, allow electronic surveillance in investigations of organized crime and to permit a defendant to be tried for all organized criminal activities in a single trial.

Shots Available

Older citizens in nursing homes can get flu shots starting about July 1.

The vaccine will be for swine influenza, together with the A-Victorian strain.

Regular swine influenza vaccine will be available about September 1.

Two million Texans are expected to get the shots this summer, according to Dr. Fratis Duff, director of the Texas Department of Health Resources.

Another eight million will be immunized in the fall.

Rates Set

A slight increase in property, fire and homeowners insurance rates for the coming year has approval of the State Insurance Board.

The increases on a statewide average amounts to about four per cent, according to board calculations. The adjustment was less than industry recommendations and less than those presented by the board staff at a February 18 public hearing.

The industry sought a 5.1 per cent increase and the staff 5.4 per cent.

Board Chairman Joe Christie said rates on a $35,000 brick veneer home would increase about $18 in Galveston, $16 in Houston, $12 in Austin and $21 in Lubbock.

Meanwhile, the board set July 15 at 9 a.m. as the tentative date for its public hearing on automobile insurance rates.

Dispute Put Off

A hot dispute over sale of Colorado River water for nuclear power plant cooling has been postponed until June 16.

Texas Water Rights Commission delayed a hearing on whether Lower Colorado River Authority can sell the water to Houston Power and Lighting Company for $1 million. Atty. Gen. John Hill asked for the delay. Hill opposes sale of the water to cool the South Texas Nuclear Project plant.

Courts Speak

The State Supreme Court has turned down a suit for $1.8 million against a Houston physician who allegedly did not disclose that the husband of a Mexico City woman was dying of cancer and encouraged the couple to have children.

The high court agreed to review May 12 a district court injunction against the State Board of Pharmacy's enforcing limits on prescription drug advertising.

Another May 12 review was set in a former Texas Tech football player's suit against the school following a knee injury.

A three-judge federal court upheld a state requirement that voters must sign ballot stubs and deposit them in a box at paper ballot elections.

In other rulings the Supreme Court voided a Beaumont ordinance requiring liquor stores to close at 8 p.m. and overturned insurance companies' $100,000 award to the guardian of a Liberty County woman who shot her husband.

Short Snorts

Former Gov. John Connally was honored here April 19 at an appreciation dinner.

An average of only 2.58 per cent of the 3.7 million Texans covered by the state's unemployment insurance law claimed jobless benefits during the last 13 weeks, indicating an improvement in the economy according to Texas Employment Commission.

Bob Krueger Reports

U.S. Representative 21st District

This week we heard some interesting testimony from a freshman Member of Congress from a midwest state. He came before our Energy and Power Subcommittee to testify that he wished to see the Federal Energy Administration abolished. He pointed out that the oil companies disliked the FEA, Ralph Nader disliked the FEA, he disliked the FEA, and he thought that the country would be well served by abolishing this agency.

If the popularity of a federal agency rather than the requirements of the laws passed by Congress were to determine whether agencies should exist, his argument might be sound. But the irony is that the Federal Energy Administration was established after the Arab oil embargo in order to administer many of the rules and regulations established by Congress at that time regarding price controls and emergency allocation procedures. Unfortunately, federal agencies, once established, tend to continue and develop a life of their own. I asked the Member of Congress who appeared before us whether he had voted for the Energy Policy and Conservation Act of 1975 (which I opposed). He had. That act required 40 months of complicated price controls on domestically-produced crude oil. It required the FEA to establish strategic petroleum reserves to be filled with 1 billion barrels of oil in case of future embargo. It required the FEA to enforce labeling requirements regarding the energy used by consumer appliances which people might purchase. It required substantial audits of the books of petroleum companies, distributors, even gas stations, the information from which FEA was to analyze and present to Congress. It required the gradual conversion to coal as a boiler fuel for the production of electricity. Along with many other requirements to be administered and regulated by the Federal Energy Administration.

The irony is that the same Member who would vote for establishing this myriad array of controls should now ask to abolish the agency which has to administer those controls. My judgment is that the real reason for which that Member of Congress was objecting to the existence of the FEA was because the FEA employs several people who have worked in energy industries in the past, and because the FEA believes that the only way to increase energy supplies is through less government regulation, not more. The fault is not with the agency, in this case, but with the establishment of regulations to govern ordinary commercial transactions that do not require them.

Mrs. H.L. writes: "My doctor prescribed hormone pills to help me through some of the troublesome symptoms of the 'change of life.' Now I hear that estrogen might be involved with bigger trouble - cancer. Is this true?"

ANSWERline: In two recently-reported statistical studies from Seattle and Los Angeles, estrogen hormones, given to correct the hormonal imbalance of menopause, have been linked with an increased risk of cancer of the uterine lining, which is called endometrial cancer. These reports are being reviewed with great care by the medical profession because therapeutic hormones are also useful and important to many women. If you have doubts, please speak with your physician, whom you should be seeing regularly for checkups. Estrogen users should have a Pap test, breast exam and blood pressure reading every six months. Any bleeding that occurs after the menopause should be brought to the attention of a physician right away - careful checking can be a lifesaver.

A Gary, Indiana housewife writes: "My children are now in high school and I am planning to go to work. But I am afraid that I might have trouble because, although I am healthy, I was treated for cancer four years ago. I have heard that it is difficult for former cancer patients to get hired. Is this true?"

ANSWERline: In some areas, in some industries, there can be problems because of misinformation. For example, an employer might think that a person who has been treated for cancer will need more sick leave than other people. However, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company has been hiring cancer patients since 1957. A study made by the company showed that their "sick leave" records were considered as acceptable as those of employees who had never had the disease. The American Cancer Society Unit in your community is ready to help with any problems of possible job discrimination.

A Detroit grandmother writes: "Lately I have been bothered by occasional bleeding. Is that a leftover from the change of life?"

ANSWERline: Unusual bleeding could be the sign of a harmless condition or it could signal a form of uterine cancer which sometimes occurs in older women. Please have this condition checked as soon as possible for your health and peace of mind.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

Now that Easter is over, gardening can begin in earnest and we can try to overcome the dry weather in our city.

Mums and dahlias should be separated and planted this month.

To grow large dahlia flowers allow only the top bud to develop on each stem. New growth buds occur only at the end of the dahlia tuber connected to the underground stem. When separating, be sure each tuber includes a portion of the underground stem along with a new growth bud. Plant in deep, fertile, well-drained soil in a location that gets full sun for at least 6 hours each day. Carefully cut the tuber apart with a sharp knife. The hole should be about 24 inches wide and 18 inches deep for each plant. Space tubers 3 to 4 feet apart if large flowers are wanted. For smaller types, space 2 feet apart. Plant tubers in a horizontal position about 5 inches deep, with growth bud pointed upward beside a sturdy stake which extends 6 feet above the ground. Cover the tubers with about 2 inches of soil and fill in the remainder of the hole as the plant develops. Each month after planting fertilize with 1/4 cup to each plant. As plants grow larger, increase to 1/2 cup. A good mixture for planting is 2 parts soil, 1 part organic matter and 1/4 cup of complete fertilizer (5-10-5) to fill each hole.

April is the time to plan for a colorful September-October garden, and no plants can rival the many colors and varieties of chrysanthemums. Select modern mums 10 inches to 4 feet high, with flower forms tight as a button or loose as a spray, according to your needs - to edge a shrub or flower bed, accent a flight of steps, to enliven an out-of-bloom shrub planting, bring new life to your late-summer garden of exhausted annuals, or provide a rich abundance of cut flowers for your home or church. Cushion mums are fine low plants with attractive and mound-like growth 18 to 28 inches across. Taller mums up to 3 ft. offer charming flower forms. They are easily transplanted and can be grown in a vegetable garden. The spray types of proven hardiness and ease of culture produce many blooms and need no disbudding. Spoons and spiders, mostly single, bloom early and fine for cutting.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor: Re: additional paving for parking planes authorized by the Commissioners' Court on April 12, 1976. Congratulations! This has been needed for a long time. Perish the thought if I buy an airplane I'll have to park it on caliche as I've had to drive my car for nearly fifteen years! This is really progress! Enough time and money have been spent on this ten miles I drive to pave at least half of it, and the

There will be an informal reception at the Civic Center Saturday April 24, from 7:30 to 10:00 p. m. honoring Dr. and Mrs. Jack Jeanes of Richardson.

Mrs. Jeanes is the former Marjo Pelto, long-time Ozona school teacher and widow of the late high school principal J. A. Pelto. All friends are invited to be present.

Mrs. George Montgomery was honored on her 84th birthday last Wednesday with a birthday party at her home. Family members attended. Those from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Mike Talley and children, Tiffany and Michael, of San Angelo.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ling and family of Evansville, Ind. were visitors in the home of his sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Elledge.

Jam and jelly don't have to be "forbidden fruit" to people on sugar-restricted diets. Just use artificial sweetener instead of sugar when making them.
Diet jams and jellies must be refrigerated or frozen unless they are made by the long boil method. And storing them in the freezer keeps the natural color and flavor of Texas strawberries, peaches or dewberries at peak quality. Leave at least one-half inch head space in the container before freezing.
Fresh strawberry jam can be made to suit special dietary requirements. To prepare fruit for jam, sort and wash fully-ripe fruit. Remove any stems or caps. Crush the fruit.
For jams, the method of combining ingredients varies with the form of pectin used. Powdered pectin is mixed with unheated crushed fruit, and liquid pectin is added to the cooked fruit and sweetener mixture immediately after it is removed from the heat.
Cooking time is one minute at a full boil. Full boil stage is reached when bubbles form over the entire surface of the mixture.
Jams made without added pectin or gelatin require longer cooking than those with added pectin. Cook the mixture to a temperature of 221 degrees F.

If making the jam without pectin or gelatin and a thermometer isn't available, just cook the product until it has thickened slightly. Allow for additional thickening as the product cools. Jams made without sugar tend to be thinner than those made with the addition of sugar. Also, when preparing jams, be sure to prevent scorching the fruit.
STRAWBERRY JAM WITH PECTIN
1 quart clean strawberries
1-3/4 ounce packaged powdered fruit pectin red food coloring as desired
3-4 teaspoons artificial sweetener
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Crush the strawberries in a one and one-half quart sauce pan. Stir in artificial sweetener, food coloring, powdered pectin and lemon juice. Bring to a boil and boil for one minute. Remove from heat. Continue to stir two minutes. Pour into freezer containers, cover and freeze. Thaw before serving. Store in the refrigerator after opening. One tablespoon provides five calories.
Jams made by the long boil method require another procedure. You may follow tested recipes for jams made by a long boil method without the addition of pectin.
Cook the fruit with liquid sweetener until jam is of desired consistency. Substitute two Ambition is strong in some people. They have the unique ability to define their goals in life and they are able to channel their skills and energy in order to realize these ambitions.

Of course, each of us has our own individual goals -- all different in proportion and nature. And, each requires a different amount of energy to be realized. If we fail, we should exert more energy! For this ability to keep trying -- in the face of great odds... can lead eventually to success.
To one degree or another then, all of us are constantly using up our individual energy supplies. To tackle the fresh challenges and problems of each tomorrow, we need a dependable source of unfailing power. Such continuous power is always available to you within the supporting bonds of the Church.

Flower Show One Of Best In Spite Of Stormy Weather

"Flowers in the News," the Eighteenth Annual Ozona Flower Show sponsored by the Ozona Garden Club was one of the most varied and attractive in the show's history. However, the open hours of between 4 and 6 last Thursday when the storm was raging kept attendance down considerably.

Guests were registered in the foyer of the Civic Center, which was decorated with the theme, news item placards standing among potted, flowering plants. A "Spirit of '76" design was reflected in an arrangement presented by Mrs. Max Morris of Maxines Flowers, on the foyer coffee table.

Although attendance was small, the show was judged as one of the best and most attractive ever. More non-members entered both horticulture and artistic classes than ever before.

Judges from Del Rio, Big Lake, San Angelo and McCamey arrived at 12 noon and a covered dish luncheon was held with all members and two guests present. Guests were Mrs. James Lively of San Angelo, a former member and Ozona resident, and Mrs. Ray Barrett of San Angelo, a guest of Mrs. George Bean.

The Scientists Tell Me... Annual Windbreaks Boost Garden And Field Crop Production

By Robert L. Haney
The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station
Strong winds in Texas can ruin tender plants in a field or garden. And in hot dry weather, even full size plants shrivel and stop production.

The obvious answer to such damage is some form of protection such as a windbreak. Usually when you mention "windbreak" most people picture a planting of trees such as those found throughout Kansas and parts of other Great Plains States.

Experiment Station scientist Dr. Kirk Brown, who has tested "annual windbreaks," says that these are optional on an annual basis and in many instances offer a more practical answer to the problem than trees do. "While tree windbreaks do provide certain advantages, including large distances between the windbreaks and year-round protection, they have major disadvantages," Brown says. "These disadvantages include the high initial investment which will not provide returns for many years to come, the lack of flexibility in field layout and the large amount of land they take out of production. In addition, they provide a place for certain disease and insect pests to live through the winter.

"Annual windbreaks, on the other hand, don't provide year-round protection, but they do have the following advantages: their cost is low, they require a minimum amount of land, they allow maximum flexibility from year to year and they provide immediate protection for the crop to be grown.

"An additional advantage is that most crops that are used as windbreaks can also be harvested," Brown says. How does an annual windbreak work to increase crop yield? Research shows that windbreaks reduce the water stress of crops. Properly designed and spaced windbreaks act by filtering and slowing down the wind above the protected crop.

Slowing of the wind reduces turbulence above the crop. This in turn may result in relative humidity being 20 percent greater above a protected crop.

This higher humidity helps cut evaporation and transpiration losses. So more water remains to encourage continued growth.

Tests show that windbreaks provide the most striking results in areas with hot, dry winds such as we have in much of the state.

What type of crops can be used? Any combination of crops or varieties can be used provided one is tall and the other short. The best possible combinations will depend on compatibility of planting, harvesting and cultural practices. Obviously the ideal situation would be a short and a tall crop which could be planted at the same time with the same equipment, which would require the same fertilizer, pesticides and cultivation and which would be harvested at the same time with the same equipment.

The ingenuity of our researchers and farmers has led to many combinations including: corn to protect sugar beets, corn with soys, sorghum and peanuts, and corn to protect vegetable crops. In some areas sunflowers or sugarcane also may be useful.

How dense should a windbreak be? Brown says it should slow the wind as it passes through but it should not be a solid barrier to the wind. An ideal windbreak should have 50 percent porosity spread evenly from top to bottom.

Research shows that desirable porosities can be achieved by planting two rows of corn or sorghum with the plants spaced about 6 inches in the rows.

Brown finds that windbreaks are most effective planted perpendicular to the prevailing wind direction. But if this can't be done, then windbreaks planted in any direction, even along the contour, provide some protection.

The spacing between windbreaks, according to Brown, depends on the difference in the heights of the mature windbreak and the protected crop. The best results have been with spacings of ten times the height difference. For example, if a 6 foot tall crop is used to protect a 1 1/2 foot tall crop, proper spacing is figured by multiplying 4 1/2 feet (the difference) times 10 to get 45 feet, the desired spacing.

There is little trouble of harmful competition between crops. In fact, Brown says that in most cases yields were increased from 10 to as much as 50 percent. The average of a large number of different crops protected by annual windbreaks showed yield increases of 14 percent over unprotected crops.

So whether you're growing a garden or vast acres of field crops, research shows that annual windbreaks might be of help in protecting your plants and increasing yields.

Converting A Standard Recipe to Metric

The Texas Department of Agriculture home economist offers this recipe for Texas Strawberry Ice Cream as an illustration of how to convert a standard recipe to metric. Some quantities are rounded up or down for convenience.

TEXAS STRAWBERRY ICE CREAM

(standard)	(computations)	(metric)
1/2 cup sugar	.5 x .24 c = .120 l; .120 l x 1,000 = 120 ml (rounded up to 125 ml)	125 ml sugar
1/4 tsp. salt	5 x .25 t = 1.25 ml	1.25 ml salt
3 egg yolks, beaten		3 egg yolks, beaten
2 tsp. vanilla	5 x 2 t = 10 ml	10 ml vanilla
1 pint whipping cream	.47 x 1 pt = .47 l; .47 l x 1,000 = 470 ml (rounded up to 500 ml)	500 ml whipping cream
2 cups strawberries	.24 x 2 c = .48 l; .48 l x 1,000 = 480 ml (rounded up to 500 ml)	500 ml strawberries

Method for crank-type freezer: Mix salt, milk and egg yolks in saucepan and cook over medium heat until bubbles appear around edge of mixture. Be sure to stir constantly. Allow mixture to cool to room temperature. While mixture cools, crush strawberries with sugar. Then add strawberry-sugar mixture, vanilla and cream (unwhipped). Freeze according to freezer directions. Method for refrigerator: Combine sugar, salt, milk and egg yolks in saucepan; cook over medium heat stirring constantly until bubbles appear around edge of mixture. Allow mixture to cool to room temperature. Stir in vanilla. Pour into refrigerator tray and freeze 1/2 to 1 hour, or until mixture is partially frozen. Beat cream until peaks form. Spoon the milk mixture from tray into a chilled bowl; whip until smooth. Fold in whipped cream. Then fold in crushed strawberries. Pour into two refrigerator trays and allow to freeze approximately 3 hours, or until firm. stirring from time to time. Yield: 1 quart or nearly 1 liter.

Metric System Explained

The basic metric units are the meter (length), kilogram (mass), liter (volume) and degree Celsius (temperature). The six basic prefixes for each metric unit are: kilo (1,000), hecto (100), deka (10), deci (0.1), centi (0.01) and milli (0.001).

At this point, most housewives probably wonder how all this information will affect their daily activities. Here are a few examples of how the metric system will affect our lives:

Instead of buying 10 gallons of gasoline, we'll buy 38 liters.

Instead of using one-half pound of ground beef, we'll use either 200 grams or 250 grams (slightly less or more than one-half pound).

Milk and other liquids will be sold by the liter, which is slightly larger than a quart.

To make a skirt, you'll need approximately 1.5 meters of 112.5-centimeter wide fabric, instead of 1 1/2 yards of 45-inch wide fabric.

If it all sounds complicated, remember that metric units already are used to measure many items, including prescription drugs, camera film and light bulbs.

Q: We are planning to sell our home. If we find a buyer who wants to "assume" our mortgage, instead of arranging for a new mortgage, could our mortgage company come back to us for payment of the mortgage if the buyer cannot make the monthly payments?

A: Yes. Any time you sell your home by having someone assume the balance of your mortgage, the mortgage company retains the right to look to you for the monthly payments if the buyer fails to meet them. To protect yourself in a sale of this type, the contract between you and the buyer should be written to include provisions allowing you to have title to the home returned to you in the event the buyer defaults; then, you would resume responsibility for paying off the mortgage. Otherwise, the mortgage company could sell the house and look to you for any balance remaining on the mortgage after proceeds of the sale are applied against the mortgage.

Q: How can I copyright watercolors I have painted?

A: Artists cannot always prevent unauthorized reproduction and distribution of their work. Their rights are controlled by common law copyright and Federal copyright laws. Before art works are publicly displayed, the artist has absolute control. Once art works are publicly displayed, the artist must comply with federal copyright laws which require that a statutory copyright notice be affixed to the art work, and a copyright form be filed with the United States Copyright Office. The result of failure to comply is that the artist loses all control over reproduction and sale of his work.

Q: I inherited several hundred shares of stock from my father. Is my husband's permission required for selling this stock issued in my name?

A: No. Texas law no longer gives the husband full control and management of a married couple's community estate. A wife now has full control and management of her separate property and all community property acquired solely with the wife's earnings.

Q: I have a question as to whether my lawyer did something unethical in representing me in an estate matter. Should I hire another lawyer to investigate?

A: You should bring your complaint before one of the district grievance committees of the State Bar of Texas. If you do not know the name of the chairman of the grievance committee in your area, write to the State Bar in Austin. It will not be necessary for you to have a lawyer to represent you before the grievance committee.

"Baby Makes Three" Sometimes Is Problem

All the long months of waiting have passed and finally the great event occurs—a new baby in the family.

But parents may suddenly find themselves wondering "why did we have this baby in the first place."

Mrs. Irene Miller, a family life education specialist, says this feeling isn't unusual. There are many motives for pregnancy and parenthood which may be rooted in desires not directly related to the baby itself. Some may even be selfish and immature, she added.

"But if a couple learns to view their child as an independent being, rather than an extension of their own egos, and can feel a loving concern for the child, the baby's birth can be a joyous event after all, she said.

Mrs. Miller is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

She pointed out that some women may want a baby to fill an emptiness in their lives or to make them feel more feminine. For other women, pregnancy provides an opportunity for others to take care of them and provide the extra attention they seek.

"Young couples may be pressured into parenthood to fulfill the expectations of the community or to provide grandchildren for their parents. Families and friends assume the couple wants children so it is not long after the wedding before they hear, "When do you plan to start your family?"

The specialist also noted that there may be a certain degree of prestige with parenthood. The baby helps the parents to justify their own lives and prove their virility. Also the family name continues.

"For other couples, the baby may fill an empty marriage or provide a playmate for an only child—or themselves.

"All these immature, selfish reasons for having a baby may result in frustration and dissatisfaction when the couple realizes they alone are responsible for the baby—who is totally dependent on them," she said.

Pregnancy and parenthood are times of crisis—times when old patterns of coping with stress and change are no longer sufficient. Pregnancy and parenthood necessitate role changes as the couple assume new responsibilities for the emotional and physical well-being of their child, the specialist said.

Chili Cook-off Set For San Angelo

San Angelo-- The umpteenth chili cook-off in Texas has been set for Sunday, May 9, in San Angelo, according to Sam Pendergrast, sometime chili judge, full-time childliot, and editor and publisher of the West Texas magazine called "OESTE" that was founded en route to the Terlingua IX contest in November of 1975.

"It's just too long between childlifests," Pendergrast explained in letters inviting known chiliheads to participate in the First Annual "HEMI-DEMI-SEMI-CENTENNIAL" Invitational Chili Cook-off set up to mark the grand opening of Phillip Connell and Sons Portable Building lot on a field opposite San Angelo's Dun-Bar East Motel and near St. John's Hospital in the 1700 block of Pulliam in San Angelo. The name--which refers to a very short period of time--was picked to give aid and comfort to West Texans and furriners who don't want to make a federal case out of bicentennializing, but the emphasis will be on fun and fellowship, Pendergrast said. (Nearly free chili and beer will be served, courtesy of Connell and Sons, with the dime-a-cup prices to go to the American Cancer Society drive.)

Fire sites and mesquite wood will be provided, but all other accoutrements and ingredients are up to the contestants. Prizes will be in the form of plaques and kind words, with small cash awards for children's and family contests.

Judging will be at 3 p.m., with the grounds open to the general public from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m.

A dozen of the most notorious childliot aggregations in Texas have been invited, but others may enter while space lasts by contacting Pendergrast at P. O. Box 2186, San Angelo (Phone 915-653-4116).

A similar cook-off last October attracted more than 1500 participants and visitors despite only three weeks of organizing and promotion. (The "First Annual Sons of the Penatekas" Cook-off sponsored by the San Angelo POW/MIA organization, whose winning team, the San Angelo Jaycees, won the "Humpty-Dumpty Memorial Award" for falling in a hole during the Terlingua IX affair.)

There will be no admission, no entry fees, and damed little organization May 9, Pendergrast promised.

Cotton, Summer's Favorite

Cotton is The Fabric for summer--woven, knitted, in solids and prints, it's popular for sports, casuals and dress up clothes, Marlene Odle, clothing specialist, reports.

She's with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Brights, whites and stripes head the scene for cool comfortable looks in gauze. And cotton knit T-shirts will be worn with skirts and shorts made of poplin broadcloth with napped, lustered and brushed surfaces," she said.

The homespun--peasant cloth, wrinkled cottons, linen looks and burlap-like wovens--will be used for dresses and skirt suits, she continued.

New textures of seersucker and blister fabrics are seen in caftans and jumpsuits.

"The colorful prints--Persian and batiks, florals and borders--are found in blouses and dresses.

"For evening, jersey, silk, rayon and polyester crepe de chines in prints, stripes and abstract designs head the list of favorites.

"And gray tops the color favorites," the specialist reported.

County Gains Discovery

Dan J. Harrison Jr., Houston, completed a discovery and will suggest field designation of Thomason (Strawn lime) for his N. 2 W. A. Thomason, et al, Crockett County gas discovery, 10 miles south of Ozona and 1-1/8 miles south-southeast and 1-5/8 miles west of production in the Hunt-Baggett (Strawn gas) field for a calculated, absolute open flow of 13 million cubic feet of gas daily.

Production was through perforations at 9,226-340 feet, which had been acidized with 4,500 gallons and fractured with 46,000 gallons.

The Strawn was topped at 9,220 feet on ground elevation of 2,297 feet.

Drilled to 9,610 feet, 4 1/2-inch casing was set at 9,469 feet.

Location is 1,780 feet from the south and 660 feet from the east ones of 4-0-TCRR, Abst. 5579.

The Hunt-Baggett field produces from approximately 9,412 feet.

In-Home Nursing Care For Ozonans

Crockett County residents needing in-home nursing care may receive such service from the West Texas Home Health Agency. Mrs. Dennis Dunnam, R.N., residing in Sonora, serves as supervisor for the agency in Crockett, Schleicher, and Sutton Counties. The home health agency is a concept for physician-directed medical, nursing, social and related services to selected patients in their homes.

Home health nurses provide skilled nursing in the patient's home - such as dressing changes, catheterization, draw lab specimens, give injections and breathing treatments as ordered by the patient's physician. Physical therapy, hospital beds, wheelchairs, walkers, breathing machines and oxygen are also provided when needed. These services are especially valuable to those patients who generally must remain in their home. Home care under this program is not a substitute for hospital, extended care facility, or nursing home care but complements these.

Although most of patients in the program are Medicare age 65 years and older, or have been on social security disability, the home health agency also serves private patients.

champus and veterans. In addition, the agency works closely with the State Health and Welfare Department and Senior Citizen Councils offering skilled nursing care to the patients.

The home health services, including necessary equipment, is paid 100 per cent by Medicare to qualifying patients. The home health agency does all the paperwork for the patient and physician. This is a relatively new program for this area with the district office being in Kerrville.

Information may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Dunnam, at 387-2427, or private physician.
