Bullock's Rep. To Be Here Monday

Austin - Comptroller Bob Bullock announced today that a representative from his San Angelo office will be in Ozona Monday, July 5, to answer questions from taxpayers and provide assistance in filing sales tax returns.

Bullock said enforcement officer Eddie Washington will be at the courthouse library Monday from 1 to 4 p.m.

"I hope that local merchants will take this opportunity to get any questions they have about the sales or franchise tax answered," said Bullock, "a little straight information can save us both headaches."

The San Angelo office, headed by Larry Wolter, serves Concho, Coke, Crockett, Irion and surrounding counties.

Firemen Elect Officers

New officers were elected at last week's meeting of the Ozona Volunteer Fire Department.

Methodist Women Enjoy Tour

The United Methodist Women enjoyed a delightful trip to the R. A. Harrell ranch home last week in one of two summer meetings.

Though the pastures were browning along the way out, the beautiful, well-groomed Harrell garden was truly an oasis to enjoy.

The Bicentennial theme was carried out from party invitations throughout the home and table decorations, to the program.

Following a business meeting, presided over by Mrs. Buster Deaton, president, a most delicious covered luncheon was served. After lunch, Mrs. Harrell presented the timely study, "A Nation Under God." Mrs. Ben Bohmfalk closed the meeting with a devotional.

PREPARING FOR THE BICENTENNIAL - Banners, like the one shown will adorn the park during the county fair this weekend. Each banner will have a Crockett County logo entry and other graphic art symbols. Mrs. Jackie Womack won the logo contest, and her design is the official Crockett County Bicentennial logo. However, there were several entries and all by local artists. Shown working on the banners are Mrs. Joel Huff, Mrs. Pleas Childress, III, Mrs. Doyle Easterwood, Mrs. Johnny Jones, Linda Beavers, Mrs. P. L. Childress, Jr. and Mrs. John Parks, sitting. Others working on the project but not pictured are Mrs. Bob Childress, Mrs. Len Humphries, Mrs. Jackie Womack, Elizabeth Clark and Mrs. Jack Probst.

Bicentennial Celebration Kicks Off Here Saturday

Ozonans are tuning up for the two-day Bicentennial celebration, to be held Saturday and Sunday, July 3-4. A full slate of activities will be on tap, most of which will take place in the park in the center of town, to celebrate the 200th anniversary of the nation and the 85th anniversary of Crockett County.

The celebration will begin with the Bicentennial Singers, under the direction of Jan Kenley, opening the county fair in the park. The singers have been performing for various functions during the past six months and are highly professional. Included in the group are: Mrs. Billy Reagor, Mrs. Buddy Russell, Miss Jackie Cave, Mr. and Mrs. James Dunn, Mrs. Ted Dews, Mrs. Gene Hood, Mr. Fleet Coates, Rev. Nelson Lanham, Dr. Gary Vannoy, and Mike Jeffreys.

The choral group will open the fair and will perform again at some time during the afternoon.

All kinds of booths will be available in the park from 10 until 6 in the evening. There will be game booths, children's booths, food booths, arts and crafts, etc., along with popcorn and snow cones, drinks and watermelon.

Beginning at 2 p.m., children's races will be held. There will be three divisions, 12 and under, 13-15, and 16 years of age and up. Races will be of the old fashioned variety, 3-legged, potato, sack races, etc.

Upon entering the fair, participants may pick up a map of the park and find out where the different booths are located at the Chamber of Commerce Booth. They will also be asked to sign an attendance register in the form of a scroll which will be presented to the Museum as a permanent item.

During the celebration, the Museum will be open, as well as the Possum Hollow Nature Trail. The trail, a bicentennial project of the Ozona Garden Club features 69 varieties of native plants, grasses, trees, flowers and shrubs. It is located at the corner of Ave. D and Fairview Drive. Entrance is at the corner and it winds through the canyon and up the hill and back. Identification leaflets will be available.

Most Ozona churches will dismiss at 10 o'clock Sunday morning in order that members may attend and take part in the joint worship services to be held in the park at 11 o'clock.

Following the services, in which all churches will be represented, there will be dinner on the ground. Each family should bring food for themselves and their guests.

Closing the celebration will be the ringing of the bells at 1:00 p.m. Ozona will join with other cities and towns across the nation in this final salute to America's independence.

All proceeds from the county fair projects will go toward permanent Bicentennial projects for the city.

Many groups have made contributions to the celebration throughout the year. All projects were sanctioned by the Bicentennial Steering Committee, headed up by Mrs. R. A. Harrell.

One of the most outstanding projects has been the compiling of a Crockett County History Book, under the direction of Mrs. Pleas Childress. The book will feature family, institutional and business histories of the county, in story form and with pictures. It was scheduled for distribution by July 4, but technical difficulties at the printer's have caused the delivery date to be postponed until September 1. Hopefully, the book will be ready for distribution shortly after that date.

Ozona High School students took the project of painting all the fire hydrants in town red, white and blue. Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, the organization sponsoring the fair, donated ornamental iron benches for the city park.

The steering committee was responsible for landscaping the courthouse grounds, and removing shrubs and trees in the park in order to afford a better view of the courthouse from Highway 163. Mrs. Harrell recently managed to get copies of the original specifications and plans for the Courthouse and jail drawn by Oscar Ruffini, architect, in San Angelo after the site for the courthouse was selected. The committee, assisted by the county, is in the process of restoring to the original everything as nearly as possible, including glazing of windows and painting trim

Taxes And Pigs Highlight Called Court Meeting Mon.

The Crockett County Commissioners Court met Monday in called session to hear from representatives of Pritchard and Abbott, the firm charged with assessing taxes for Crockett County and ended with a hassle over a resident raising pigs on county property.

Jim Rapier, Boyce Bolton and Malcolm Jarrell, all representatives of the firm, discussed the new tax roll with the court and assured them the firm was ready for the Board of Equalization meeting to be held July 14-15. The court had originally agreed to sit as a board of equalization in June, but the firm asked for more time to prepare.

It was ordered that notice should be posted in the newspaper, at the courthouse, and letters be mailed to county taxpayers, advising of the July meeting date.

In other business, the court learned that Crockett County Agent Billy Reagor had been chosen as one of the few county agents to receive an award at ceremonies held in Virginia in August. The court voted to pay his expenses for the trip, not to exceed $500.

Commissioner Jess Marley made the motion and Comm. Jack Williams seconded, that the south end of Houston street be officially closed, making the street a dead end. The street is no longer used as a through street, and only the residents on the street travel it. The motion carried. It was also voted that a guard rail be put up on that part of AA Street which is adjacent to the Interstate.

Jack Baggett appeared before the court to rectify a mistake in insurance premiums made over the past two years. After discussion, Comm. Williams moved and Comm. Bill Black seconded that the county should assume the expense. The motion carried unanimously. Baggett also presented the renewal proposal for workman's compensation but no action was taken because it was not on the agenda.

Jess Marley asked the court why pigs, belonging to Felipe Castro, which are penned on county property, have not been moved as requested in the regular June meeting of the court.

Moore Oilers Lead Little League Play

With one game to go in Little League play for the season, Moore Oil is hanging on to a 1-game lead. Crockett Automotive and Ozona Oil are tied for second place and Ozona National is in the cellar, still looking for a win.

Tonight's final game could see a clear cut winner, or a three-way tie.

Last Thursday night Moore Oil beat Crockett Automotive 7-5. Winning pitcher was Blake Simpson and losing pitcher was Rudy Enriquez. Ernie Borrego led the Moore Oil attack with a home run, Enriquez had a home run and a double to lead his team's effort.

In the second game Ozona Oil beat Ozona National 5-2. Diego Leal was the winner and Ken Stokes was the losing pitcher. Hector Leal led the Oilers with a homerun and a single. Kelly Buckner and Al Ramirez had a single each for the Bankers.

Monday night Crockett Automotive downed Ozona Oil 4-3 in a squeaker.

Dale Perry was the winning pitcher and Diego Leal the loser. Hector Leal led the Oilers efforts with a double and Harvey Huereca had a hit for Crockett Automotive.

In the second game Moore Oil routed Ozona National 14-1, with the game being called on the 10-run rule. Winning pitcher was Blake Simpson and losing pitcher was Kelly Buckner. Ernie Borrego had a homer for Moore Oil and Kent Hokit got the only hit for Ozona National.

The all stars will be announced following tonight's games and workouts will commence as soon as a winning team emerges. The first all star game will be played in Sonora this year.

ENOUGH POST OFFICE BOXES TO GO AROUND -- The Post Office lobby was remodeled over the weekend and Monday morning there were 218 new boxes for patrons to rent. Postmaster Floyd Hokit and assistant Charles Schneider show off the new edition. General Delivery had been working overtime since applicants for boxes far outnumbered existing boxes.

ENGINE ON FIRE - This burned out engine, located in the interior of a fur-lined hippie van, sent firemen hurrying to the scene about seven miles west of Ozona on Highway 290 Monday afternoon. However, the fur lining seemed to create more interest than the engine fire, which was extinguished in a matter of minutes.

Merchants To Discuss Hot Checks

All interested Ozona merchants are urged to attend a meeting tonight, July 1, at 7:30 in the District Courtroom to discuss the worthless checking problem in Ozona.

A discussion will be held on setting up a "hot-check notification system" in Ozona, and possibly the system can be put into effect in the near future.

Ozona To Close Mon.

Ozona will observe the July 4, holiday Monday, July 5. Most stores, offices and other places of business will be closed for the day.

We have received word that all grocery stores will be open. Most service stations and The Ozona Stockman will also be open for business as usual.

The bank and the post office will, of course, be closed.

Nuclear War: A Soviet Option

A recent address, reprinted in the Congressional Records by Senator Garn of Utah, should be brought to the attention of all concerned Americans.
 The speaker was Mr. O. C. Boulieu of the Boeing Corporation. It is his job to "think the unthinkable" - to consider what the disturbing trends now taking place in the Soviet Union may mean for the future.
 And Mr. Boulieu's conclusion is that the most likely use of strategic nuclear power in war will be in strikes against opposing nuclear forces - not an all-out attack on population centers. This, he suggests, is the type of winning strategy that the Soviet Union may be planning. If so, then the best measurement for comparing the relative strength of the U.S. and Russia is to look at the situation likely to prevail after such a strategic counterforce exchange. And by every index, says Boulieu - equivalent warheads, numbers of warheads, counter military potential equivalent megatonnage, and total numbers of bombers and missiles - the Soviets would hold residual superiority.
 Is this meaningful? Secretary of State Kissinger, for one, has suggested that it is not. "What in the name of God is superiority?" he asked. "What could the Soviet Union do with it?"
 But if the Secretary is right, why do the Soviets continue their drive for nuclear superiority? That is the question that bothers Boulieu, and it should bother all of us. The possibility exists that the Soviets might well accept a few million casualties in order to impose their communist system on the world, an objective which to them seems entirely moral. More likely yet, they might assert and make credible such a willingness in order to overawe the U.S. into passivity while their conventional forces overrun Western Europe, the Middle East, or elsewhere.
 One ominous factor supporting such an assumption about Soviet intent is their massive civil defense effort which is geared to get their population out of the cities. Mr. Boulieu, in his talk, gave many details about the mass exercises and the careful organization which supports this effort. The United States has done nothing to match it. Moreover, the Soviets also have worked out extensive plans to protect their industrial equipment against the smaller U.S. warheads which make up our retaliatory forces. Though buildings would be destroyed much of the equipment protected inside would remain intact, according to studies made by U.S. experts, using Soviet data.
 The sum total of all our information about Soviet activities, according to Boulieu, suggests that the Soviets are preparing to survive and win a nuclear exchange. They are acquiring the capability to knock out most of America's strategic forces, while driving equally hard to protect themselves from the consequences of such an attack.
 It has been suggested that the Soviets are "acting out of fear." But their Angolan caper does not suggest a power which is acting out of defensive motives. And we cannot assume that Soviet planners look at rationality in the same way that we do.

The World's Meanest Man

Although we are not quite six months into 1976 so far, if we were to nominate the meanest man of the year, it would be the anonymous "citizens band" radio operator in or near Longmont, Colorado, who, on May 7, deliberately "jammed" a radio emergency call for help.
 In response to a "10-33" - emergency call for help, a heartless and irresponsible individual replied, "Shut up and get off the air." Then, according to other CB operators in the area who tried to help, the offender started "dumping his carrier" - i.e., keying his microphone in such a way as to knock out the emergency signals. Even Channel 9, the nationwide emergency call channel, was jammed by the carrier-thrower.
 As a result, an ambulance with a paramedic and emergency call channel, was jammed by the carrier-thrower. As a result, an ambulance with a paramedic and emergency cardiac equipment arrived half an hour later than normal. By that time the victim, "Lonesome" Cecil Curtis, a retired policeman and himself a CB operator, was dead from a heart attack.
 Citizens Band radio-transmitter-receivers have become enormously popular in the last two years. Thousands of applications for licenses to operate are flooding the office of the FCC. After granting Mrs. Gerald Ford with a "quickie" license to operate, and as a result of protests that all others should be granted similar treatment, the government has been sending out such licenses virtually automatically.
 But the time has come to crack down. Those with criminals records, known psychopaths (as the above individual most certainly have been) and others who mis-use the privilege of Citizens Band airwaves should not be granted or allowed to hold licenses. Not at the cost of even one human life.

 AND Sidelights
 By Lyndell Williams
 TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Texas Good Roads Association wants $500 million a year in additional state highway fund revenues to avert a financial "crisis" in road building.
 The 2,000 - member group, at its meeting here, adopted a resolution calling on Gov. Dolph Briscoe and the legislature to deliver the funds.
 Suggestions: using highway user tax revenues now going to the general fund or tapping other general funds and new sources.
 The resolution also proposed restructuring state highway user tax rates to make them "responsive to inflation."
 Studies indicate a backlog of $11 billion in highway improvement projects and anticipated revenues for construction during the next 20 years of only $1.9 billion, TGRA said.
 "All existing revenue will be needed by 1980 just to maintain the existing state highway system, with no funds available for upgrading obsolete roads and bridges for new construction," the resolution continued.
 TGRA said Texas highway user taxes are now the lowest in the nation.

Parties Battle
 Democrats and Republicans wound up their state conventions, and Democrats are still fighting. Houston City Controller Leonel Castillo has announced he will oppose Calvin Guest of Bryan for chairmanship of the state Democratic party if he can get backing.
 Castillo already is campaigning with various caucuses within the party.
 Gov. Briscoe served notice at the Houston convention he is determined to keep Guest for a third term as chairman. But Briscoe didn't do so well in electing his choices to Democratic National Committee places at the Houston convention. And the same delegates who served there will be back for the September session at Fort Worth, where state party control is determined.

Industries Locate
 Fourteen new industries which may make Texas $67.2 million a year richer elected to locate in the state during May.
 M.W. Industries Inc. and Optron, Inc. (manufacturing crystal holders and electronic systems) picked Mineral Wells, where they will add 400 jobs and $10 million in payrolls.
 Others are San Antonio Shoe Company; Pinckert Welding Manufacturing Company, Dallas; Sticks and Stones Unlimited, Dallas; Norton Co., Stephenville; Fisher Controls Co., Sherman; Synthetic Materials Corp and Aceco of Texas Inc., Houston; U.S. Steel Corp., Baytown; Activa Products Inc. and Mar-tex Glass Co., Marshall; Diesel Exchange Inc., Longview and Dumas Milling Co., Dumas.
Courts Speak
 Texas Supreme Court agreed with an intermediate court that a city can add fuel adjustment costs to gas and electric bills without city council authority every month of the charge.
 The high court ordered an intermediate court here to consider on its merits a district court decision prohibiting the State Board of Pharmacy from enforcing a limit on prescription drug advertising.
 In two other actions, the Supreme Court:
 — Agreed to hear oral arguments in General Dynamics Corp.'s suit to recover more than $2 million in franchise taxes paid under protest during 1968-1971.
 — Refused to direct Henderson County Clerk Joe Dan Fowler to let an abstract company copy its computer magnetic tapes used as index of property records.

AG Opinions
 Some information in a state fire marshal's investigation reports must be made public, but other portions are exempt from required public disclosure. Atty. Gen. John L. Hill held.
 In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:
 — Personnel file information on terminated police cadets is open to the public.
 — Repeal of a section of the public welfare act does not repeal the child care licensing law.
 — Where it is impossible to administer the Texas Sanitation Act without increasing the certificate renewal fee to more than $10, the State Board of Health is authorized to increase the fee to a reasonable amount above that figure.

Short Snorts
 A computer system is being used to insure accuracy and current status of voter registration lists.
 Frank P. Youngblood has resigned as Railroad Commission director of gas utilities.
 The state plan of governor's committee on aging will be submitted to public hearings July 12-15 in Abilene, Dallas and San Antonio.
 Federal funds are available to pay disaster unemployment assistance to persons who lost jobs as a result of the June 15-16 flood in Harris County.
 A U.S. Supreme Court decision threw out fair labor standards act amendments which would make minimum wage and overtime regulations applicable to state employees.
 The Texas Public Utility Commission has opposed a provision for intervention by the Federal Energy Administration in rate matters pending before state regulatory commissions.

Appointments
 Guy F. Van Cleave of Arvada, Colo., has been appointed the first executive director of the new Texas Commission on Jail Standards.
 W. Douglas Matthews of Houston assumes the office of president-elect of Texas Trial Lawyers Association July 2.

Natural Gas

WASHINGTON—A lot of gas is being generated in Washington, but it is not, alas, the kind that we need to heat our homes and fuel our factories this winter.
 For the last several years, Congress has been wrangling over what to do about the shortage of our safest and cleanest-burning fuel, natural gas.
 This shortage is crippling industry in some parts of the country, and is forcing consumers in all parts of the country to pay more for energy than they ought to have to pay.
 Since 1954, the Federal Power Commission (FPC) has had the authority to set the price at which natural gas sold on the interstate market—gas produced in one state and sold in another—can be sold. The FPC authority is over the wellhead price—the price before transportation and distribution costs are added in—and does not apply to gas produced and sold within the same state.
 The FPC, prodded by politicians and so-called "consumer" groups, has set the wellhead price very low, so low that producers of natural gas have not been able to justify the enormous expense of searching for and developing new deposits of natural gas.

The result has been a serious and increasingly severe shortage of natural gas in the Northeast and Midwest. Consumers in these regions pay an artificially low price for gas, but fewer and fewer are able to obtain gas at any price.
 The situation is much better for consumers in the intrastate market, which is unregulated. They are usually able to obtain the supplies of gas they want, but they pay a higher price for it than they would have to pay if natural gas producers did not have to compensate for break-even or loss operations in the interstate market.

The obvious economic solution to the problem is to remove price controls from natural gas. This could, in the space of a few years, end the shortage and lower the overall energy bill to consumers.
 There are gas deposits within the continental limits of the United States large enough to fill our natural gas needs for many years to come. But these deposits are deep underground, and it would cost more to develop them than gas producers could expect to receive under current controlled prices. So the deposits remain untapped.

And because the gas deposits remain untapped, more and more industrial and residential consumers face an expensive conversion of their heating systems to fuel oil and coal, both of which cost more, pollute more, and are less safe than natural gas.
 Deregulation would increase the price of natural gas somewhat, but not by a very large amount because the wellhead price is only about one-fourth of the price to the consumer of natural gas. Transportation and distribution costs account for the great bulk of the price the consumer pays. Even so, the deregulated price would still be substantially below the price of alternative fuels.

What is obvious economically is not always obvious politically, and the odds are against decontrol when the Senate takes up a "compromise" natural gas bill next month.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

It has been said July is the Thunder Moon of the Indians, and summer is really here all over this area.

After twenty-one years of residence in Ozona July first, we hope to have a repetition of that pleasant July and August with showers most every week. We are sorry our county is not in the same beautiful condition as last year for the Bicentennial celebration this weekend.

Though July days are usually hot and dry, don't get too preoccupied with other projects, and forget the watering and care of your garden.

To rejuvenate bedding plants with a little care now, you can keep your annuals attractive right up to frost time. First, cut off dead flowers. This way they won't use their energy to set seeds, but will continue vigorous vegetative growth. Second, cut back and fertilize plants when they become tall and leggy. Most all annuals continue to grow and flower at the tips of their shoots. As a result, plants spread out after awhile and become thin and unattractive. When this starts to happen, take a knife or shears and cut plants back to the small side shoots that occur down low on most stems. You will be surprised how soon you will have new growth and in full bloom again.

Hanging baskets can add beauty and coolness to your summer landscape when planted with appropriate plants. Petunias, bougainvilleas, begonias, moss, geraniums and impatiens offer color. Ferns, different varieties of ivy, hoyas, wandering ivies and many other foliage plants add coolness and a tropical look. Because baskets are exposed to hot, dry air from all sides they do best in partial shade. Also, they require almost daily watering. A slow stream allowing gradual water penetration is best for these. Feed plants weekly or bi-weekly with a complete liquid or water-soluble fertilizer to maintain good growth. And to keep the plants looking their best, keep well groomed now and then to remove dead foliage and faded flowers.

All-American Rose Selections for 1977 are: Double Delight, a hybrid tea with red and white flowers, pleasing fragrance and produce continuously all season.

First Edition, a floribunda has luminous flowers that seem to have a glow that makes them stand out, even in dark, cloudy weather. The blooms are produced in clusters of yellow, orange, and red shades that blend into a distinctive Coral.

Prominent, a grandiflora has flowers of a brilliant hot-orange that is shaded yellow at the base of the petals. They bloom all season.

July Planting Days are: Above ground crops- 4, 5, 6, 7, 10, 26, 31.

Root crops- 11, 15, 16, 20, 21, 24, 25.

MRS. ROBERT MALDONADO
...Nee Diana Castro...

Miss Diana Castro Weds Mr. Maldonado

Miss Diana Castro became the bride of Mr. Robert Maldonado in a formal ceremony at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Catholic Church June 18, at 7:30 p.m. Rev. Bob Bush of Crane officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Jesus F. Castro and Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Maldonado.

The church altar was decorated with baskets of pink and white carnations, gladiolas and baby's breath, accented with cathedral candelabra and white tapers.

Sister Antonia Perez played the traditional wedding march at the organ. Vocal selections were presented by Robert Flores, accompanied on guitars by Amando Ramirez and Ricky DeHoyos.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an A-line designer gown of white silk organza. The high neckline, bodice and full sleeves were encircled with floral lace motifs, dotted with seed pearls. A matching camelot held her chapel length veil of French illusion which was also edged with floral lace motifs. She carried a bouquet of crystal orange blossoms and baby's breath with white lace and pink streamers.

Mrs. Napoleon Vitela was matron of honor. Other honor attendants were Mrs. Joel Martinez, Mrs. Federico Fierro, Mrs. Hector Gutierrez, Mrs. Pete Maldonado, Mrs. Ernest Richarte, Miss Isabel Maldonado, sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. Richard Sanchez, Mrs. Billy Hoover, Mrs. Frank Tillman, Mrs. Sherman Taylor, Mrs. Sidney Millspaugh, Mrs. Sophia Kyle, Mrs. Cuatro Davidson, Mrs. George Bunker, Mrs. Bob Bailey, Mrs. Clay Adams, Mrs. Gene Williams, Mrs. Jack Williams, and Mrs. O. FOUR FREEDOMS

To print the story of a day or the thoughts of a mind... To gather in assembly to express common concerns... To talk to the man across the street or the millions across the land... To worship God according to the dictates of one's own conscience... These four freedoms stand like sentinels of Liberty.

The first three have sometimes been marred by abuse. The fourth is nullified by neglect. Carry that thought with you - especially on Independence Day during the celebration of our nation's Bicentennial. And then, next Sunday, join all the rest of the millions of our people who are making sound and sacred use of their religious freedom.

Ozona Community Center Hires New Director

The Ozona Community Center's Board of Directors has announced the employment of Miss Sylvia Covarrubias, presently a Director in Training at the Southside Community Center at San Marcos, as the new director for the Ozona Center.

Miss Covarrubias is a native of Corpus Christi, was reared in that city, holds her Bachelor of Arts Degree in Elementary Education and in Spanish from the University of Corpus Christi, and has been working on her Master of Arts Degree in Southwest Texas State University at San Marcos. She is a recreational specialist, and has served as a teacher in the Corpus Christi Independent School District.

The new director has also been an active participant in the life and work of United Methodism in the Coastal Bend Area. She has served as President of the Rio Grande Conference United Methodist Wesleyan Service Guild, and she was a member of the Central Planning Committee of 24, who helped write and create the new organization for women, now known as United Methodist Women. During the quadrennium now ending, she has served as one of the Directors of the Board of Global Ministries of the United Methodist Church.

Ozona's Community Center, to which Miss Covarrubias is coming, was begun about 1925. They worked for several years until it blossomed forth into an actual community center project in 1937-38, when the local Women's Missionary Society of the Church was able to hire two women for a summer program. It continued its service to the community and grew until recently, when it was unable to employ a fully qualified Director.

Its purpose was described in one of the annual reports thus: "... The... Center was dedicated to serve the Latin-American people spiritually, intellectually, physically and socially. Today the center stands as a guide to all those who seek to live a more abundant life through its various activities". Activities have included classes for pre-schoolers, programs for teen-agers, classes in sewing, food preparation, drivers' education, music, English, Scouting, etc. While some of these services have been taken over by other community agencies in Ozona, the Center still has many viable ministries.

Its services are no longer limited to the local Mexican American community, but are available to the entire Ozona community.

Galveston Landmark Refurbished

A historic Galveston landmark, the Stewart Building, is undergoing refurbishing as part of the city's Bicentennial effort to restore and preserve "The Strand," Texas' most colorful business area of the 1880's. The 93-year-old structure is located at the entrance to The Strand, Galveston's nineteenth century commercial center, then known as "Wall Street of the Southwest."

The representative of Stewart Title in Ozona is Crockett County Abstract Company.

Business and civic leaders are joined in a multi-million dollar project that is restoring The Strand as the modern-day center of downtown Galveston's commercial and cultural activity. The area, which has become a major tourist attraction, includes one of the nation's largest concentrations of "iron front" buildings, a form of architecture popular a hundred years ago.

The Stewart Building was the company's turn of the century headquarters and has continuously housed their Galveston title insurance offices.

Debra Says

by Debra Price

Mother Nature put her green thumb on the spring vegetable crop this year and everything is coming up in great quantity. Seven vegetables that you will see in abundance at your local grocers are cabbage, carrots, sweetcorn, cucumbers, lettuce, onions, and green peppers.

Since grower prices have dropped one-third from last year's average prices for these seven vegetables, you can look for a lower price trend at the retail level. According to the U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA), the production of the seven spring vegetables is likely to be 6% over last year's production and 7% over the 3-year average.

With this potential, marketing specialists with USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service say that the large supply will continue through June. The potential crop size is based on acres harvested and the 3 year average yield per acre. Right now these spring vegetables are at their best. They're good buys too, but even good buys can turn into costly mistakes if they are stored in the refrigerator too long. It is best to buy only what you need immediately, for most of these spring vegetables cannot be stored longer than a few days before quality begins to drop.

A good way to get the most nutrients as well as the most flavor and the best taste from spring vegetables is to cook them in the smallest amount of water and in the shortest possible time to bring them to the proper degree of tenderness. The less water used, the more nutrients retained is a good thing to remember when cooking young tender vegetables. Generally a half cup to 1 cup of water is enough for six servings.

Some general rules for boiling vegetables--bring salted water to a boil; add vegetable. Cover, and quickly bring water back to a boil. Reduce heat and cook gently until vegetable is just tender. Serve immediately. Flavor and nutritive value may be lost if vegetables are allowed to stand.

Select your vegetables carefully, prepare properly, and enjoy the fresh taste of fresh vegetables.

DILLED GREEN BEANS
3 pounds green beans, about 3 quarts
6 cups vinegar
2 cups water
1 cup salt
6 bunches dill
6 small cloves garlic
6 very small, hot red peppers

Wash beans and remove stem end. Heat vinegar, water and salt to boiling. Place a piece of dill, pod of pepper, and clove of garlic in each jar. Pack beans in jars to within 1 inch of top. Pour boiling liquid over the beans. Close. Process in boiling water bath 20 minutes. Start to count processing time as soon as hot jars are placed into the actively boiling water. Store at least 3 weeks before using.

DILLED OKRA
3 pounds uncut and washed young okra pods celery leaves
6 small hot red peppers cloves of garlic
Large heads of dill and stems or 1/2 teaspoon dill seed per pint
1 quart water
1 pint white vinegar
1/2 cup salt
Pack okra into hot pint jars with a few celery leaves, pod of pepper, clove of garlic and head of dill or dill seed in each jar. Make brine of water, vinegar and salt; heat to boiling. Pour over okra. Close jars. Process in boiling water bath 20 minutes. Start to count processing time as soon as hot jars are placed in actively boiling water. Makes 6 pints.

The Old Timer
"Poise is the power to raise the eyebrows instead of the roof."

Hard work, dedication and long hours are still essential to success in farming or ranching. But they no longer assure it. Today, it takes capital. And good money management with careful attention to cash flow. That's why there are Federal Land Bank loans on so many of America's best-managed farms and ranches. Long-term Land Bank financing is a dependable way to maintain a sound operation.

Ag. Credit Remains Good In State Of Texas

Agricultural producers in need of financing have a fairly good chance of getting a loan.

"There is plenty of money for agricultural loans, and a majority of lenders are actively seeking new farm and ranch loans. Furthermore, interest rates are down," says Dr. Wayne Hayenga, who conducted an agricultural credit survey recently in Texas.

Hayenga, an economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, points out that more than 60 per cent of the 161 agricultural lenders responding to the survey said they are serving the same number of customers and have the same number of loan applicants as they did a year ago. Twenty per cent said they had more customers.

"Most of the people borrowing money are paying it back at about the same rate as last year," Hayenga says. "Twenty-three per cent of the lenders even reported a higher rate of loan repayment."

However, more bankers are requiring good financial records from borrowers before they loan money. Lenders reported that more than 60 per cent of all borrowers furnished cash flow budgets, operating budgets and past income statements when applying for a loan. Last year, only 50 per cent of the borrowers supplied these records.

Most of the banks in Texas have the same collateral requirements as they did a year ago, according to the survey.

"One advantage for people who borrowed money during the past year was the lower interest rates," says the Texas A&M University System specialist.

"Interest rates for feeder cattle loans, real estate loans, and farm and ranch operating loans were all down slightly from 1975."

According to the survey, most lenders said they thought interest rates would stay the same but had more chance of going up than down.

About 60 per cent of the lenders surveyed said they thought agricultural spending would increase in the future, and a majority said they believed ranchers' incomes would go up but farmers' incomes would stay the same, Hayenga notes.

Some 40 per cent of the lenders felt the demand for short-term loans would increase in the future, and 27 per cent believed the demand for long-term loans would also increase.

Hayenga says lenders reported that almost 30 per cent of their borrowers contracted part of their crops, with 58 per cent contracting on a quantity basis and 42 per cent on an acreage basis.

Over half of the lenders said they thought the optimum amount to contract was one-half, adds the economist.

you and the LAW
PRESENTED BY THE STATE BAR OF TEXAS

Q: My common-law husband and I live in the home he owned before we met. He has children by a previous marriage. We have no children. He has a will leaving the house to his mother and sisters living in another state. What chances would I have to continue living in the house in the event of his death?

A: The surviving widow has a right to remain in possession of the homestead during her life. This right would not be affected by the fact that the title to the homestead may be passed to some person other than the widow by the terms of a will.

Q: How do I go about getting both my first and last names changed legally?

A: A district judge in the county of your residence can grant a request for a name change. In deciding whether to grant the request, the judge will determine whether the name change is in the best interests of the person seeking the change and whether the change would result in any damage to anyone else. In the case of a person under the age of 18, both parents must be notified of any name change request and the father must consent unless his parental rights have been terminated by a court.

Q: Can a finance company look to a man for payment of a debt which his ex-wife has agreed to assume in their divorce settlement and for which both parties signed at the time of the loan?

A: When a husband and wife sign a note to a creditor, they are jointly liable to the creditor, regardless of whether they later divorce and the divorce decree assigns all of the partners' community debts to one spouse. If a creditor successfully sues the former spouse assigned the community debts by the divorce decree but is unable to collect the judgment, the creditor can then seek a judgment against the other former spouse.

Q: I ordered Christmas cards in December and have not received them. I have asked the lady who sold them to refund my money, but she has not kept her promises to do so. How can I get my money back?

A: Any claim involving a dispute of $150 or less in money can be taken before a small claims court. You may contact your local justice of the peace for information on how to file such a suit. If a suit is properly filed, the court will issue a citation to be served on the defendant. A trial can be held before the justice of the peace or a jury if one is requested. A lawyer is not required to present your case in small claims court.

Savings Bond Sales Reach 18% Of Goal

Lowell Littleton, County Chairman for the Savings Bonds Program in Crockett County, reported sales of Series E and H United States Savings Bonds in the amount of $873 for April 1976.

Sales for the first four months of the year totaled $5,465 which represents 18% of their assigned dollar goal.

Sales in Texas during the month amounted to $21,912,800 while sales for the four-month period totaled $95,165,176 which is 35% of the yearly sales goal of $272.4 million achieved.

Bicentennial—

Most organizations and clubs have spent the past year with Bicentennial projects and studies. All segments of the community have been involved with the celebration, including all ages. Mrs. Walter Spiller's second graders tackled a Bicentennial quilt. Almost all events and programs for the past year have used a Bicentennial theme. All in all, patriotism is alive and well in Crockett County.

Children's Play Time Important

"All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy" isn't just an old folk saying, Dorothy Taylor, a family life education specialist, contends.
She added that researchers have found that the time a child spends at play is not aimless or wasteful--but is an important part of his development into mature adulthood.
Miss Taylor is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.
"Between infancy and age 2, it is play that does the most to bring out a child's natural interest in the world about him. With properly chosen toys as his 'tools,' a child is encouraged to imagine, create and most of all--to have fun," she said.

Toys offer a variety of experiences. They give a child an opportunity to express his very own creativity and ideas. Toys foster imagination and invite a child to pretend.
"When a child dramatizes and imitates an adult, it helps him understand the world about him--it is sort of a trial or instant replay for children.
"But toys need not be costly nor numerous to provide constructive play. Probably the only useless toy is the one a child is no longer interested in or one that is too advanced for his young age. It's important to select toys on the basis of interest and the ability of the child," she explained.
Parents often find it easy to buy toys for older children and grandchildren, but they are sometimes puzzled about buying for the small child of 1-3.
"What kind of toys are suited for the young child? The 1-2 year-old youngster enjoys creative toys such as a lacing boot, simple puzzles, building toys such as a house, a boat or building blocks.
"Toddlers need simple toys to work out problems at very slow speeds. Pull toys help toddlers continue to develop the large muscles in their bodies and develop coordination.
"Toddlers and little children enjoy imitating mother in ironing, washing, dressing a baby, and make-believe household toys that are large enough to handle easily and big baby dolls are favorites of toddlers," she explained.
The infant enjoys a different kind of toy. He is learning everything.

Commissioners—
Judge Troy Williams replied that in checking the restraining order obtained against Castro several years ago, under similar circumstances, pertained to another lot, which has since been sold to Luis Martinez, he had found it was not now valid. He concluded that nothing could be done about Castro's pigs on county property, unless the court passed an ordinance against anyone raising pigs in the city limits.
Marley countered that Castro was the only one whose pigs were on county property, that he had received numerous complaints from homeowners near the property in question, and that he wanted the pigs removed from county property. He also said the fence, which is attached to the county guardrail, should be taken down and the debris cleared away immediately.
He made a motion that all pig pens located on county property, with the exception of the 4H-FFA Swine Barn, must be removed immediately. The motion was seconded by Jack Williams and carried, although Chuey Castro abstained.
A further motion was made by Jack Williams that an ordinance be passed whereby no pig pens be allowed inside the city limits if they are within 200 feet of any residence. Marley seconded the motion and it carried unanimously.

Keynote Speakers For ICA Meet

Keynote speakers at the second annual state convention of the Independent Cattlemen's Association July 15-18 in Austin will include former Gov. Allan Shivers, U.S. Rep. Bob Krueger and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.
Also on the agenda are Norman Moser of DeKalb, chairman of the Texas Animal Health Commission; Sen. Bill Patman of Ganado, chairman of the Senate agriculture subcommittee; Rep. Joe Hubenak of Rosenberg, chairman of the House agriculture committee; and Rep. Susan Gurley McBee of Del Rio.
The program lineup was announced by ICA President T. A. Cunningham of Goliad who said the agenda "is a great program of interesting and informative people whose influence on both state and federal policies have much impact on the cattle producers of Texas."
Cunningham also announced that western music recording star Johnny Bush will be the headline entertainer for this year's convention.
The convention will be held in Austin's Municipal Auditorium.
ICA is less than two years old but already has more than 100,000 members throughout the state and is the largest non-affiliated cattle producer's organization in the nation.
