Baptist Young People Win Honors For Tommy Bryant

Nineteen young people and three counselors from Robert Lee Baptist Church attended Youth Congress Heart of Texas Baptist Encampment that was held at Brownwood last week.

In the sports events, the Robert Lee boys' team won a first place trophy in softball and a second place trophy

It was the group's desire to present the two trophies to their friend, Tommy Bryant, who is in M.D. Anderson Hospital at Houston undergoing treatment. The Rev. and Mrs. Roy Epperson were in Houston Monday and Tuesday to visit Tommy and his family and personally present him with the trophies.

Tommy, 15 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Bryant of Robert Lee, is expected to be in the Houston hospital for several days. Anyone wishing to send cards or letters should address them to Tommy Bryant, Room 719, M.D. Anderson Hospital, 6723 Bertner Ave., Houston, Texas 77030.

Fire Department Gives Info Concerning Fire Siren

The following information comes from the Robert Lee Volunteer Fire Department concerning use of the main fire alert sirens. It is hoped this will answer some questions about the signals used.

The sirens are controlled from West Coke County Hospital by the nurses or other personnel on duty when a fire or emergency is reported by anyone dialing the fire number. The person taking the call sounds the siren, then dials the fire station and waits for a fireman to answer, and relays the report to him.

The fire alarm should be two (2) successive blasts of about a half minute duration each, separated by a break of a few seconds.

Only one other signal is authorized to be used and that is to alert citizens of a major emergency, such as the approach of a tornado or severe storm. This signal should be a continuous blast of at least three minutes duration and may be repeated at intervals.

At times the sirens might be sounded accidentally or by a malfunction of the electrical system. These alarms

'Ole Coke County' a Huge Success; Pageant Association to Meet Friday

OLE COKE COUNTY, Home of the Rabbit Twisters, second annual production by Coke County Pageant Association, Inc., which many people attended the last two weekends in July, was enthusiastically received. Out-of-county viewers as well as local citizens declared the play compared in quality with those of other amphitheatres of long standing and good reputation.

Lucile Bryan, author-director of the play, stated, "We are off to a good start, but we need many more people working in various capacities to keep it alive and improving."

GENERAL MEETING

A general meeting of the association has been called for Friday, Aug. 10, at 8 p.m., in the Lions Club Building in Robert Lee. Business related to closing out the year and making plans for the 1979-1980 season will be on the agenda.

All persons interested in the continuation of the association and pageant are urged to attend. Members are eligible to vote; all are invited to become members; and all are invited to express opinions.

Officials wish to thank all who participated in any way with the pageant, with special appreciation expressed to The Robert Lee Observer and The Bronte Enterprise who gave so generously above and beyond paid ads," Mrs. Bryan said.

might cause undue concern and some confusion, but for the most part are unavoidable.

Assistant Fire Chief J.C. Wallace Jr., who submitted this information to the Observer, said, "The personnel at the hospital are to be commended for their cooperation with the Fire Department in handling fire alerts and other emergencies".

Wallace also urges that anyone calling in a fire report give as accurate information as possible as to location and nature of the fire or emergency, and that everyone should keep the fire number posted in a conspicuous place near the phone. The fire number is 453-2625, if no answer call 453-2511.

Farm Bureau Sends Fireman To Train at A&M

Frank Stewart, volunteer fireman on the Sterling Volunteer Fire Department of Sterling City, Tx., attended the 50th Annual Texas Firemen's Training School July 22-27. The school, attended by nearly 1,820 students representing about 728 cities from more than 32 states, was held on the Texas A&M University campus.

Firemen chose their course at the school from a list including Fire Fighting, Fire Prevention, Fire Department Officer Training, Fire Department Pump Maintenance, Specialized Fire Protection, and Disaster Rescue Training.

Fireman Stewart was sponsored by Coke-Sterling County Farm Bureau and Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies by contributing toward the cost of the school. Since volunteer firemen are interested in attending this school to help do a better job of fire fighting and fire prevention, 100 County Farm Bureaus and the Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies in the statewide program have sponsored 100 firemen at the school.

"The Farm Bureau Insurance Companies believe volunteer fire departments have been very effective in reducing the amount of loss involved by fire in rural areas," said President Carrol G. Chaloupka of Dalhart.

Advice on Watering During Summer

By Sterling Lindsey

We received a lot of calls during the summer, particularly July and August, regarding tree problems. Often, these problems are directly or indirectly connected to the water the plant in question has received.

Dwight Hall, Extension Landscape Horticulturist at Overton, prepared some information on watering plants I think is very fitting. The following is his thinking on watering plants:

Properly watering plants tends to be one of the most misunderstood and confusing gardening chores. Often, ardent gardeners do not realize their inadequate watering methods until it is too late and the plant is badly damaged or dead.

"How often should I water?" and "How much should I apply?" are, at this time of the year, the most often asked questions from gardeners. Since water is both essential for healthy plant growth and often costly to apply to plants in quantity during the summer, it is important to get it to the plant's roots and keep it there.

The following are several suggestions for easier and more effective watering. These techniques apply to all gardening from shade and fruit trees and vegetable gardens to lawns and house plants.

1. Never water strictly by the calendar. We don't drink water "every ten minutes" or "every hour", so why should plants be watered "every two days" or "once a week"? Instead, learn to recognize dry plants and soil and use these as your tip-off for watering. Too many factors determine how fast a soil dries for us to water on a regular basis

2. When the plants are dry, water thoroughly. Water lawns so that the soil will be wet several inches down, to encourage deep rooting and drought tolerance. One of the worst mistakes people make on their lawns is try to "sprinkle" them each day by using their thumb and the end of a running hose. Most gardeners just don't have the patience to stand in one spot long enough for deep water penetration. Water trees by taking the sprinkler off the end of the hose and letting water run slowly for several hours, being sure that run-off does not occur.

3. Most plants should be watered in the morning. Watering during the day results in some water loss by evaporation and can result in burned leaves where sunlight hits the water droplets on new foliage. Evening watering increases the likelihood of disease invasion, as most diseases develop most rapidly in cool, moist conditions.

4. While watering your lawn, try to keep water off the leaves of trees and shrubs as much as possible. This is especially important for such plants as crape myrtle and roses, which are troubled by leaf diseases which spread rapidly on wet surfaces.

5. Symptoms for plants which have been kept too wet are about the same as for those kept too dry. Roots in waterlogged soils die and do not take up water, so plants wilt and turn yellow. Try not to water a drowning plant!

6. Organic matter, such as peat moss and rotted manure, can reduce water loss by run-off when they are worked into the soil.

To keep moisture in the soil, use a mulch, such as redwood bark or gravel. In addition to reducing evaporation, mulches also keep the soil cooler and make weed pulling much easier

7. Be especially careful to keep newly planted trees and shrubs well watered. Their developing root systems are sensitive to under- and over-watering.

8. Always soak inorganic fertilizers into the soil immediately after applying. These materials are excellent sources of plant foods, but they are salts, and can pull water out of plant tissues, resulting in burn, unless they are watered into the soil.

9. Gardeners often wonder what type of sprinkler is best. Generally speaking, they all do a satisfactory job of making an even application. Convenience of operation and spray patterns applied are two common causes of individual preferences.

Water for plants is essential, as is the method of applying the water if healthy plants are to be maintained during the summer.

Plants Benefit from Fall Deferment.

Plants have yearly cycles just as wildlife and the climate do. They have periods where they grow vigorously and periods when they are dormant. During one part of the growing season the plant will manufacture food mainly for overall plant growth while later in the season the nutrients produced are concentrated on reproducing seed and for storage in the root system. The degree to which we reduce the leaf surface of a plant will determine whether the plant has enough food available to carry out the necessary functions of growth, reproduction, and storage. If grass is grazed too heavily at the wrong times, growth could be stopped for a considerable time and even permanently in the extreme case. This is why deferment and proper grazing use are so vital to the management of our land. Proper grazing helps keep the plant from suffering undue stress which can hinder the quantity and quality of forage available. Deferment allows the plant time to carry out its cycle of growth and revitalize its system so it can grow with more vigor and thereby produce a better quality plant.

Deferment during the fall has some very beneficial results and might need to become an important part of your planned grazing system, if it is not already. First, fall deferment allows the plant to make food which it can trans-locate to the roots for storage to be used in the spring for strong growth when environmental conditions are favorable. Secondly, deferment in the fall results in more cured top growth for grazing during the winter when grazing for livestock is normally scarce. Thirdly, the plant is able to seed out again in order to increase its presence in the plant community. Lastly, critical late winter food supplies are more abundant for wildlife.

Deferment during the fall for cool season grasses has the effect of spring deferment for warm season grasses and would normally run from Sept. 1 to Dec. 30. Fall deferment for warm season grasses usually runs from Aug. 1 to Nov. 15. So whether deferring to manage for warm season or cool season grasses, your range will be greatly improved if deferred on a regularly planned basis. This is just another part of managing the land wisely for consistent, profitable returns.

Kitchen Safety

AVOID SERIOUS BURNS

Why do a slow burn over an accident that might have been prevented? Check the kitchen for possible hazards that could cause serious burns such as the following:

Teach young children that the heating units of a range can be hot and may still be hot even after the units are turned off.

If grease in nonelectrical cookware catches fire, smother the fire with a lid.

Turn cookware handles to the side or back of the range during cooking to reduce the chance of hitting the item and knocking the hot contents over. Use insulated pot holders rather than cloth or paper towels when handling hot cookware and cookware handles.

Keep electrical cords from small appliances out of the reach of children and where someone cannot accidentally trip over them.

Check for low-hanging tablecloths—an invitation to toddlers to pull hot foods down on themselves.

Prevent scalding by lifting the far side of cookware lids first, suggests the Consumer Information Department of Corning Glass Works, so that steam escapes away from face and hands.

If liquids boil over, get out of their way. Turn off the heating unit and let the boiling substance cool before touching the pot.

Avoid wearing loose-fitted clothing or dangly jewelry when cooking. Such items can get caught in appliances or catch fire over heating units of the range.

Do not soothe a burn with butter as that will only cause blisters. Instead, soak the burned area in cold water. It helps to take the sting out and cool the area. If the burn is serious, seek medical attention.

Flowers Are 'Good Medicine' For Patients

Gifts of flowers are "good medicine" for hospital patients, demonstrating that they are loved, according to a survey of nurses. Ninety percent of the nurses polled agreed that flowers provide an incentive to patients and can help speed their recovery.

"Fresh and lovely flowers are a motivation for patients to be healthy—a token of love, hope and beauty," said one nurse. Respondents in the survey, noting that many hospital rooms are impersonal and depressing, said a bright bouquet of flowers livens the room and lifts the spirits of the patient.

FTD florists have created a new floral arrangement especially for hospital patients—the Wish 'N' Well

Bouquet, a cheerful, vibrant array of mixed cut flowers. The floral arrangement comes with a card in the shape of a wishing well bucket in which a penny is inserted. The message on the card is, "Wishing you well and a penny for luck."

The nurses surveyed had some other tips for people sending or bringing flowers to patients: keep flowers and plants on the small side because hospital rooms, tables, sills, etc., are modest in size. And send brightly-colored flowers, rather than muted tones. Flowers should be delivered in the afternoon, said most nurses, because the hospital routine is too busy in the morning for their arrival to be enjoyed properly.

Savings Accounts Not All Alike

BY KATHY JOBE

Are you losing $50 every six months on your savings account? You could be if you don't compare savings accounts five important ways.

Savings accounts are not all "pretty much alike."

In fact, studies show a 171 percent difference between the highest and lowest paying accounts.

To find a savings account that pays the highest interest, compare them on at least five different points--rate of interest, method used to compute interest, compound frequency, grace days and penalties.

RATE OF INTEREST

The higher the annual percentage rate, the more interest the account will earn--all other things being equal. Maximum rate allowed by law for federally chartered banks is 5½ percent, effective July 1, but not all pay the maximum rate.

Federally chartered savings and loans, on the other hand, can pay 5½ percent on pass-book accounts, effective July 1.

Other institutions may advertise rates up to eight percent, but these accounts may not be insured.

METHOD OF COMPUTING INTEREST

Method of computing interest has the most dramatic effect on how much interest a savings account will earn.

Understanding each institution's system, in fact, will help consumers understand how much money their account will not earn in some cases.

There are five ways of computing interest--DIDO, LIFO, FIFO and LOW BALANCE.

DIDO--stands for "Day of Deposit to Day of Withdrawal."

With this method, money earns interest from the day it is deposited until the day it is withdrawn.

LIFO--stands for "Last In, First Out."

When money is withdrawn, the amount withdrawn stops earning interest all the way back to the date the last deposit was made in that particular accounting period.

FIFO--stands for "First In, First Out."

There are two FIFO methods.

With the first method, money withdrawn stops earning interest on the date the first deposit was made in that particular accounting period.

With the second method, money withdrawn never earns any interest during the particular accounting period in which it was withdrawn, even if the money was in the account for most of that particular period.

LOW BALANCE--means that only the lowest balance for the accounting period earns interest.

GRACE DAYS

Grace days affect interest, too.

With one type of grace-days system, some institutions pay interest on deposits made by the tenth of the month or quarter as if they had been made on the first.

With another type of grace-days system, other institutions may allow days of grace by not reducing the interest on withdrawals made a few days before the end of the quarter.

PENALTIES

Some institutions charge a fee for frequent withdrawals--from 25 cents to $1.50 per withdrawal.

FOR SALE

Property with a guaranteed future value of $25,000, available for a down payment of only 2%. Installments are to be made annually at the same rate. Part of each installment will be credited toward principal, so that your equity begins to build almost immediately.

The equity will be yours even if you must make a forced sale, or if you simply want to give up the property.

But if you keep up the payments until retirement time, the deed to the property will be yours. It will be guaranteed to be worth over $30,000 then—and the seller will buy it back at that price if you desire.

Best of all, the seller — who is my company — will deliver the property's full future value immediately, free and clear, if you should die any time after making your down payment... and all payments will be cancelled!

Please call, if you would like to know more.
