If an able-bodied man wants to earn an honest living and isn't afraid of work, he can do it in spite of all the political mouthings in Washington that the government must take care of the "unfortunates" who through "force of circumstances" are at the mercy of the more fortunate ones.

If the birds who from sunrise to sunset gang up in the warm buildings on Maid street here and in every other hamlet and city in the United States, would exercise one-third as much enthusiasm in trying to find honest employment as they do in cussing the people who have accumulated a little money or who have worked themselves up to a decent position in life, the "depression," as far as they are concerned, would soon be over. There are, of course, exceptions to all rules and there are many people who are down and out through no fault of their own, and are entitled to better breaks, but they are far, far in the minority.

Too many of the people who have received subsistence from the federal government the past three years, are now looking to the government as their only means of support. They are convinced the only way they will ever improve their standards of living and their positions in life is for the government to dish them out money faster and in larger quantities. When once they were satisfied with a bare living, now they think they are entitled to automobiles, mechanical refrigerators and radios.—Shamrock Texan.

THE CAPITAL ONLOOKER
By Charles E. Simons

Austin, Texas, April 20.—Leaders in the good roads field have joined hands in recommending to the federal congress the enactment of a bill authorizing emergency appropriations for highway construction. The Texas Highway Commission joined in the movement urging the senate committee on roads and the Texas congressional delegation to pass favorably on the proposition.

Pending in Congress is a bill that would authorize expenditure of $150,000,000 in emergency grants during each of the next two years for highway construction, the authorization to include $25,000,000 each year for rural and farm-to-market roads. The bill would not require states to match the federal appropriation, as in the case of regular federal aid.

Texas interested in the legislation were unanimously of the opinion the bill should carry a strong provision denying its benefits to states that diverted their highway income for other purposes, Chairman Robert Lee Bobbitt of the Highway Commission and others starting it would be unfair to countenance this practice and might lead to abuse unless a close check was maintained. It was feared that some states might divert their own highway income if the emergency appropriation was made available to match regular federal aid as contemplated in the original bill and state funds were released from this obligation.

"We favor and urge passage of bill as an emergency employment measure provided a strong restrictive amendment be inserted to insure that state funds released by this act be not diverted but be used for construction of state highways or other roads under the supervision of the respective highway departments," Chairman Bobbitt, joined by Member John Wood and Chief Engineer Gibb Gilchrist, telegraphed Senator Carl Hayden, committee chairman.

The emergency appropriation would supplement federal aid programs now under way or about to be started by the Texas Commission. Discussions now are in progress looking to selection of projects for inclusion in the state-federal farm-to-market road and grade crossing elimination programs. Under the rural road prospectus the state and federal governments will expend $3,180,000 in each of the next two years to improve farm roads and school bus routes. The pending federal authorization, if voted, would release approximately $2,000,000 more each year for this purpose.

The total funds that would be granted to Texas under the authorization would be approximately $9,500,000. The highway commission pointed out that if Texas was permitted to use a portion of this appropriation to match the regular federal aid, it would release several million dollars in state funds that could be applied to roads that are not eligible for federal aid construction and which can be constructed only from state funds. There are approximately 8,500 miles of roads on the Texas system in this classification and with curtailed funds the state has been financially unable to authorize projects on these highways, although they constitute some of the most important in the state.

Texas, it was pointed out, has been fortunate in being able to match all federal grants made available to the states. This condition, however, is not true with reference to several other states. News reports from Minnesota disclose that state will lack $6,675,000 of having enough state funds to match even 60 per cent of the federal aid available. This means that state, unless it revises its financial support for the highway department, will lose construction totaling approximately twice that amount. Figured in terms of highway construction, of needed roads and jobs for labor of all classifications this reaches a sizeable total.

News reports from Washington state that officials from Georgia, Florida, Tennessee, Kentucky, Arkansas and Alabama urged passage of the emergency bill, stating they could not continue, because of their financial condition, to match regular federal aid. Senator Hayden blamed diversion of state highway revenues for this situation.

Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them! Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to filter the blood stream free of all toxic impurities. The act of filtering is constantly proceeding. When the kidneys must remove the blood if good health is to be maintained, there is no waste that may cause kidney trouble. One may suffer kidney trouble without knowing it. Persistent headache, attacks of getting up nights, swelling, and under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, or out.

Frequent, scanty or burning urinate may be further evidence of kidney trouble. The recognized and proper remedy is a diuretic and proper food. Get rid of excess poisons and get your kidneys back to normal. They have been doing their job for forty years of public approval. Doan's does the country over. Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

Word "Money" Has Been Used Since About 1250

That wealth consists of money or of gold and silver is a popular error which derived from the fact that money is a common medium of exchange and measure of value in trade. The ownership of much money constitutes only one form of wealth, says a writer in Literary Digest.

However, the original meaning of wealth was "well being; a happy state or condition of life; prosperity as opposed to distress," but by degrees this meaning was expanded to embrace material property and all utilities that result from the labor of man and are consumable by him. Later it was applied to a large aggregate of real and personal property, and ultimately came to mean riches.

On the other hand, the word money has been used since 1250 for coin considered in its relation to its purchasing power, and since 1300 in its character as a medium of exchange and measure of value—but in his "Wealth of Nations," Adam Smith held, as long ago as 1776, that "Wealth and money are in common language, considered as in every respect synonymous."

Money used for wealth can be found in Froude's "Caesar" (xviii, 301)—"He already owed half a million of money." We mean wealth, too, when we say of some person, "He'll come into a lot of money some fine day."

Affluence, opulence, riches should be used only of material possessions. With the greater part of rich people, the chief enjoyment of wealth consists in the parade of wealth which is never complete unless it bears the decisive marks of that opulence which nobody can possess but themselves.

Test Ripeness of Cheese by Listening to "Tone"
Experts in the Parmesan cheese warehouses test the ripeness of their product not by smelling it, but by listening to its "tone," according to a correspondent in the Chicago Daily News. The tone is produced by a little silver hammer, and after cheeses have been in the warehouse at least two years the tester goes about tapping them with the hammer, listening for the ring which assures him that they are ready for market.

The actual making of Parmesan cheese is a short process, but its curing long. After the cheese has been formed it is put in a brine bath for fifteen days, next sweetened and then stored away for about eight months. At the end of this time it is painted with special vegetable oils, which give it a glossy black coating, and then stored with hundreds of others to complete its ripening.

Its special flavor is supposed to come from the grass of this region, which is also famous for its violets. Parmesan cheese is popular everywhere in Italy, and American travelers find it sprinkled not only on their spaghetti and macaroni, but also over soups, vegetables and eggs.

"Two Bits"
A Mexican real, a small silver piece, was one of the coins which circulated in this country in colonial days and for a while after the Revolution, Mexico at that time being a Spanish colony. This small coin was also known as a "bit." Because Mexican and Spanish money had a fixed and standard value, which our own money lacked, it was the usual medium of exchange, and was more often seen than British or colonial currency. And because of the familiarity and the convenience of the Spanish dollar and its fractions, we came to use a dollar currency instead of pounds and pence. A real, or "bit," had the face value of one-eighth of a dollar, or 12 1/2 cents; two reals, or "two bits," one-fourth of a dollar, or 25 cents.

Northwest Texas Women Devote Time To Home Improvement

Bedroom improvement work is well under way for 1937 in Northwest Texas, according to reports of county home demonstration agents under whose supervision the work is being done.

Realizing that bedding protectors mean economy in time, labor and money, Mrs. J. M. Wilson of Howard county has started dressing up her beds with all needed protectors. She has made pillow protectors out of household sacks for two pair of pillows. For mattress pads, Mrs. Wilson is cutting down some quilts which are worn at the ends, and is covering them with unbleached domestic.

An adequate amount of ventilation and sunshine is one of the goals of Mrs. R. M. Johnston, Haskell county bedroom demonstrator. She is adding a south window to her bedroom, which gives her windows on three sides of the room. She also plans to add a clothes closet, new window shades, new curtains, and screens.

Seven kitchens have been papered in Mitchell county during the past month. Natural and artificial light in the kitchen was the topic for discussion at seven clubs, and the reflector wall lamp was recommended for use near such work centers as the stove and the sink.

Walls have been covered with cardboard boxes tacked to the wall and papered with appropriate wall paper by Thelma Beatty of Foard county as part of her kitchen improvement demonstration. Other plans call for woodwork to be painted, floors to be refinished, storage space for cooking vessels to be provided, and the installation of running water.

TRENCH SILOS PROVE WORTH IN NORTHWEST TEXAS

Farmers in the grain sorghum belt are reporting to their county agricultural agents that the feed they put down last fall in trench silos became more valuable with the passing months and that "their cattle couldn't have done without it."

A 200 ton trench silo filled in September of 1935 was opened during March by Ben J. Teague of the Rivercamp community in Childress county. Approximately 100 farmers gathered at the Teague farm to see the silage which had been stored for 18 months.

In October, 1935, I. S. McMillan, ranchman of Stonewall county, stored 150 tons of red top cane in a trench silo. He opened it in February of 1937 to feed out to 50 heifers which were calving. McMillan says that the heifers immediately began to do better, gave more milk, and that the calf crop is his best in years.

Farmers filled 35 trench silos in Motley county last fall and much of the silage has already been fed. In most cases, the silage is being used to feed out steers or calves or to winter cows. The comment of Fred Bourland, Matador ranchman, "My trench silo will make me more profit than my cotton crop," seems to be the sentiment of most of those who experimented with trench silos during the past year.

Silage from his trench silo resulted in an increase of two quarts of milk per day per cow, according to S. O. Montgomery, dairyman of Ranger, Eastland county. Montgomery also found that his feed cost went down, as he was able to decrease his grain ration.

1937 Ford V-8

● If you think that "all low-price cars cost about the same" — forget it! They don't.

Ford makes a car — a 60-horsepower economy Ford V-8 — that sells from 30 to 60 dollars under the prices asked for any other car of comparable size. The lowest Ford prices in years!

Check delivered prices in your town and see for yourself.

● Of course, first cost doesn't prove "low cost" — you must consider operating cost also.

The "60" has definitely established itself as the most economical car in Ford history. Ford cars have been famous for economy for 34 years, so that means something!

Owners who have driven it thousands of miles report that the Ford "60" averages between 22 and 27 miles on a gallon of gasoline.

You can prove those figures — on the open road — in a car provided by the nearest Ford dealer.

● When you've finished your personal check-up, ask yourself:

"Do I want to save money the day I buy my car and every mile I drive it?"

"Do I want a safe, roomy, comfortable car of advanced design — created from the finest materials to the highest precision standards?"

There's only one answer, of course — the 1937 Ford V-8.

Ford V-8 $529 at Dealers Factory. Prices include transportation charges, State and Federal taxes extra. This price is for the 60-horsepower Coupe equipped with front and rear bumpers, spare tire, horn, windshield wiper, sun visor, glove compartment, and ash tray.
$25 A MONTH, after usual downpayment, buys any Ford V-8 Car, from any Ford dealer, anywhere in the U. S.—through Authorized Ford Finance Plans of Universal Credit Co.

Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation Will Pay Depositors

Within a short time the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation is expected to begin payments to depositors of the Texas State Bank and Trust Company, Corpus Christi, Texas, which closed on April 9th.

The bank held total deposits of approximately $470,000.00 at the time of suspension and it is estimated that almost the entire amount was insured by the Corporation. There were more than 2,300 depositors in the bank.

This was the sixth closing of an insured bank in the state of Texas since the beginning of deposit insurance on January 1, 1934. Up to December 31, 1936, payments had been made available to 88,912 depositors of 75 closed insured banks in all parts of the country.

Lions Club Will Rehearse Model Luncheon In Today's Meeting

The Lions club will rehearse the "Model Luncheon" which they are scheduled to put on one day during the district convention which will be held at Big Spring, May 2, 3, 4. They have not as yet been notified what date they will be asked to appear on the program.

Last Thursday they had twenty eight members present. The program committee was Polk Goen and Dillard Scott. Seven members of the Floydada Orchestra furnished the program.

A big representation of the club is expected to attend the district convention in Big Spring.
