

Combination Dishes

Combination dishes like these can slow down the drain on your purse. Four canned chili con carne into a ring of steamers, blanket oven-baked beans, vegetable style, in nippy cheese sauce; sprinkle tangy spaghetti with India relish. Or dress up oven-baked beans with pork and tomato sauce by adding tender, juicy frankfurters. Bake canned macaroni, already smothered in creamy cheese sauce, in green pepper coats.

Princess Elizabeth, Others Named The Women Of The Year, 1947

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Woman's Editor

Because a royal love story for a while overshadowed news of threatened wars and current disasters, editors of Associated Press newspapers have voted Princess Elizabeth of England the woman of the year.

Results of the annual poll were almost unanimous, proving that even in a hard-bitten modern world, scared by catastrophe, the romance of a beautiful princess and her prince tops politics, intrigue and treason in public interest.

Among other women voted outstanding in their respective fields for 1947 are four new personalities who zoomed into the news spotlight for the first time this year.

Dr. Gertrude Thoreson Cori, joint winner with her husband, Dr. Ferdinand Cori, of this year's Nobel prize for medicine was voted outstanding woman in the field of science. Both Doctors Cori are faculty members at Washington University, St. Louis.

Hailed as the singing sensation of the year, Dorothy Shay, the young singer who suddenly found herself famous for her hill-billy song, "Feudin' and Fightin'" won top position among women in radio.

Freda, June Lockhart, 22-year-old daughter of veteran character actors Gene and Kathleen Lockhart, was voted outstanding woman of 1947 in drama after her sensational hit in the play "Love or Meats" which opened late this year.

ALLOW TEEN-AGER TO DRESS LIKE PALS

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Allow your daughter to dress like the other girls in her crowd, and you'll have a happier teenager on your hands.

To insist that she dress more individually is apt to be a mistake. The normal teen-age impulse is to want to merge into the group; not to stand apart from it.

Every mother who prizes her own individuality in dress naturally wants to help shape her daughter's taste. That's as it should be. However, be willing to wait until the time is ripe for fashion training. It will come, but not until the apple of your eye overcomes her self-consciousness which is typical of her age group.

While she is going through the self-conscious period, she wants to look like all the other girls in her crowd. Her reaction to any dress that makes her look "different" will be a feeling of sheer misery.

Mothers who realize this and bow to it when clothes are chosen, will be able to kick neatly aside one of the big stumbling blocks that interferes with a pleasant parent-daughter relationship.

Named this year's queen of beauty was Barbara Jo Walker, of Memphis, who was crowned Miss America 1947 at Atlantic City in September.

Familiar names make up the rest of the list. They are:

Sarah Gibson Blanding, president of Vassar College, named for the second consecutive year the outstanding woman in the field of education.

Ingrid Bergman, two-time winner of the designation No. 1 woman of the moviess.

Babe Didrikson Zaharias, again voted outstanding in the field of sports, after becoming the first American woman to win the British woman's amateur golf championship.

Dorothy Chaver, president of the New York department store, Lord and Taylor, named for the second time outstanding woman in business.

Rebecca West, voted tops in the field of literature because of her recent sensational book, "The Meaning of Treason," expanded from her news stories on the trials of British traitors.

Eleanor Roosevelt, voted outstanding in public service because of her active role in the United Nations.

Reunited Brother And Sister Cannot Speak Same Language

FERGUS FALLS, MINN.—(AP)—A brother and sister who do not speak the same language were among visitors to the National Lutheran Missionary Conference held here recently.

They are Elmer and Alice Kaardahl, son and daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. J. I. Kaardahl, who have spent the last 27 years as missionaries in Central Africa.

Because of the climate in that region, Alice was placed with relatives in Norway and Elmer with relatives in the United States. Alice speaks only Norwegian and Elmer only English.

Both now in their 20's, they met for the first time in St. Paul in

Eye Strain Soon Shows At School; Corrective Glasses Offer Relief

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

School work may aggravate incipient eye defects which become more pronounced when strains are imposed.

If you have to squint to see the blackboard, if words in the textbooks blur, if your eyes ache when you study, consult an oculist. These may be symptoms indicating eye strain and the need for corrective glasses.

If the doctor prescribes eyeglasses, carefully follow his instructions for wearing these aids to better vision. Relieve the strain and you'll feel better and your eyes will look prettier.

Glasses focus attention on your eyes so make sure that eyebrows are smooth and shaped. Tweeze out straggling hairs. If lashes or brows are pale, darken them with mascara. Wear visored or brimmed hats or forward-tilting berets. Such millinery is a good choice because the brim or out-jutting effect helps to minimize light that focuses on lenses.

The human eye changes its focus by changing the curvature of its lens.

Family Tree Grows Right Through Root

BARDWELL, KY.—(AP)—A huge hackberry tree growing through the floor and out of the roof of a Bardwell restaurant has become a landmark. Curious tourists are told this story by 74-year-old Francis W. Turk, restaurateur-tree fancier.

Some years ago while driving through the country, Turk saw a sapling washed out by rains and destined to die. He took the sapling home and set it out in the corner of his front yard. It flourished into a sizable tree by the time Turk decided to build a restaurant on the site.

"I love trees," he said.

A contractor bowed to Turk's feelings and built around the tree. The tree trunk now is 12 inches in diameter. Patrons hang their hats on the hackberry tree's spikes.

HORSESHOE IS UNLUCKY FOR FLORIDA JOCKEY

HALLANDALE, FLA.—(AP)—Apprentice Harold Featherston, Gulfstream Park Winter sensation, warded off a right hook to the chin recently when a horse tossed a loose shoe. The shoe, apparently sucked loose by clinging mud, spun back with the speed of a bullet and young Featherston, game but groggy, completed the race but cancelled his final mount of the day.

FIRST-DANISH BRAILLE BIBLE IS COMPLETED

COPENHAGEN.—(AP)—The first Danish Braille Bible has been completed. It consists of 38 volumes and costs 415 kroner (about $80). England has had Braille Bibles for more than 100 years. In Norway they have been known since 1825 and in Sweden since 1837.

Seattle Man Identifies Mystery Machine

SEATTLE.—(AP)—A "What-Is-It?" electrical gadget placed on sale in a Dallas, Texas, army surplus goods store has been identified by a Seattle man as "a low-voltage machine which has been used for years to exercise muscles where nerve function has been impaired."

V. W. Worden, owner of an electrical equipment company, made the identification from an Associated Press wirephoto and said he was amazed that no one seemed to know the purpose of the machine.

"It appears to be a duplicate of a 'Polystine,' which has been manufactured since 1925 and used primarily by 'anipractic and naturopathic physicians," Worden said.

A dispatch from Dallas said the owner of the store, the army medical corps for which the "gadget" was made, and several physicians had been stumped in trying to figure out what it was.

Truman—

structive and practical course in carrying out our determination to achieve peace," Truman said.

"We are fighting poverty, hunger and suffering.

"This leads to peace—not war.

"We are building toward a world where all nations, large and small alike, may live free from the fear of aggression.

"This leads to peace—not war.

"Above all else, we are striving to achieve a concord among the peoples of the world, based upon the dignity of the individual and the brotherhood of man.

"This leads to peace—not war."

Five Domestic Goals

On the broad domestic front, Truman said the government should aim at five goals "which have the greatest bearing upon the foundations of our Democracy and the happiness of our people." He said it should be possible to accomplish them within the next ten years.

He described "the government's first goal as that of 'securing fully the essential human rights of its citizens.'

He said he will send up a special message later recommending equal opportunities in education, jobs and voting for persons of every race, creed or color along the lines suggested by his committee on civil rights.

On goal number two, development of "human resources," he recommended:

Extension of unemployment compensation, old-age benefits and survivors' benefits "to millions who are not now protected" and an increase in the size of the payments.

A national health program with the ultimate aim of "a comprehensive insurance system to protect all our people equally against security and ill health."

Housing Program

Federal financial aid to the states to equalize educational opportunities.

Establishment of a new executive department for the administration of health, educational and security programs.

Including a long-range housing program, including federal financial help to produce more housing at lower prices and public housing for low income families.

On the third goal of preserving "our national wealth against those who would misuse it for selfish gain," the President urged:

Application of Tennessee Valley flood control and power experience to the development of other great river valleys.

Development of mineral resources and new supplies of critical materials with provision for their stockpiling.

Expansion of the reclamation program to cover additional millions of acres.

Strength Means Peace

As a start toward the fourth goal—to raise the standard of living—the President suggested an increase in the minimum wage from 40 to 75 cents an hour, "modernized" farm prices supports which will afford reasonable protection against fluctuations in production and demand, and expanded crop insurance coverage.

The fifth goal—world peace based on "justice and equality of all nations"—necessitates, he said, a realization that "loss of independence by any nation adds directly to the insecurity of the United States and all free nations."

Until the arrival of the day of decreased armaments, the President concluded, "the United States can be an effective force for world peace only if it is strong."

Grain of Humor

His role in the current congressional investigation of grain speculators was the theme for the initiation of Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson into the famous fun-making Society of Saints and Sinners in New York. Scarecrow on the backdrop is supposed to represent Henry Wallace.

'The Criminal' Will Be Presented At First Methodist Church Here

The widely-heralded "murder trial" entitled "The Criminal," featuring one of the most thrilling pleas ever heard in court, will be presented at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the First Methodist Church, with 24 Midland citizens included in the cast. No admission will be charged, but a collection will be taken.

The play concerns a young man, charged with killing a mother and Hayward H. Johnson her little boy while he was intoxicated, on trial for his life. The prisoner pleading for what he values more than life, the judge torn between pity and duty, the attorneys battling brilliantly for a life at stake, the defendant's sweetheart, the flapper, the police officer and the coroner on the witness stand, the jury spellbound by the unfolding drama are among the gripping incidents of the impressive temperance play.

The drama is presented by the Methodist Board of Temperance and directed by the author, Hayward H. Johnson, who will play the leading role of the "father."

Midlanders in the cast include: William L. Kerr, judge; H. Hilton Kaderli, prosecutor; Hayward H. Johnson, defense attorney; Ed Darnell, sheriff; Ferd Rhodes, clerk; W. Earl Wilson, balliff; Jack Ellington, chief of police; Mary Thompson, flapper; Dortha Reising, sweetheart; Alex Cates, prisoner; Noel G. Oates, coroner; Bill Adams, the absent witness.

"Jurymen" summoned are: M. C. Ulmer, J. Holt Jowell, Roy McKee, Bill Wyche, George Glass, Dr. J. F. Gaines, S. H. Hudkins, J. G. Chauncey, Ily Pratt, George Vannaman, Jack Goddard and Ray Gwyn. The public is invited to attend.

Baby Journeys Far In First 48 Hours

SOUTHAMPTON, ENGLAND — (AP)—Before she was 48 hours old, Olga Anna Hrycaj had already traveled by road, rail, air and sea. Olga was born in Amsterdam when her father, Ivan, former Ukrainian farmer, and her mother, Julia, were traveling across Europe with other displaced persons on their way to start a new life in Canada.

Ivan and Julia, with their 5-year-old son, Bohdan, were coming up from Southern Germany when 26-year-old Mrs. Hrycaj had to be rushed to a hospital in Amsterdam. Two and a half hours after Olga was born, the mother and daughter were driven out to Amsterdam airport to board an ambulance plane chartered by the Dutch Government and the International Red Cross.

Hrycaj and Bohdan traveled in the plane with them to London and then caught the boat train to Southampton from where they sailed on the Aquitania. Ivan said they are on their way to Montreal to live with his sister and her husband.

Bob Wills Playboys At VFW Hangar

BOB WILLS

Bob Wills and his Texas Playboys, America's most versatile band, will play a one-night engagement at the VFW Hangar at Midland Air Terminal Monday night. Never before has there been a place in West Texas big enough to hold the crowds which demand to see and hear the Bob Wills group, but Midland VFW members believe they have the solution in their big hall at the Midland airport. Most of the tables will be removed from the building and there will be no reservations. Citizens of West Texas and New Mexico are invited to come to listen or come to dance to the music of the popular band.

Russian Writer Says U. S. In Reign Of Terror

MOSCOW — (AP)—Boris Izakov, writing in Pravda, the Communist Party organ, described present day life in the United States as similar to that in Nazi Germany before the war.

Izakov said the United States was caught in the meshes of the FBI and that a small scale reign of terror gripped the people.

"There have been no mass executions yet in the U. S. A., such as are being carried out in Greece with blessings of American generals and diplomats, but the fate of any American nowadays is in the hands of the notorious Fascist (Rep. John E.) Rankin and any detective in the FBI.

"What are the limits to this little terror?" Izakov asked. "Where is the dividing line when it becomes terror on a large scale?"

Baptist Conference To Attract 2,500 Churchmen To Dallas

DALLAS.—A state-wide Baptist evangelistic conference designed to give inspiration and aid to churches in planning simultaneous revivals will bring an estimated 2,500 pastors, singers, and evangelists to Dallas January 12-14.

Inaugurated by the department of evangelism of the Baptist General Convention of Texas last year, the program of simultaneous evangelistic campaigns has been adopted by all the states of the Southern Baptist Convention, Dr. C. Wade Freeman, Texas evangelism superintendent, said.

The Dallas conference, which will have as speakers leading Baptist ministers and educators from throughout the South, will be in preparation for associational simultaneous campaigns usually held in the Spring. More than 75 campaigns are already scheduled for 1948.

because extra OIL-PLATING actually resists gravity! Won't all drain down, even overnight! And that's why, also, whether you're standing still or running hot... you're extra-protected from metal-eating combustion acids... from "dry" friction... from sludge and carbon due to wear!

The Chiropractor and You

No. 16 in a series of articles published in the public interest to explain and illustrate the practice of Chiropractic.

HEART TROUBLE

is one of the most common diseases of the present day and the one which seems to give the patient the most concern. Of all organs of the body, this one probably does the most actual work. It is the great central pump of the circulatory system which, by its alternate contraction and relaxation, forces blood through the body. The heart must function continually and constantly for the body to enjoy the maximum of health.

CONTROL OF HEART ACTION

Before the muscles of the arm contract to produce movement, we first think the thought and as a result the contraction takes place. The same process is true of the heart, except that here the thought is a subconscious one. This thought or impulse, takes place in the brain. Tiny nerve fibers then transmit it to the heart and contraction results.

There must be no interference with these nerves leading from the brain to the heart else they cannot properly transmit these impulses. If this energy or nerve force is interfered with, even slightly, the function of the heart will become abnormal. The spine is the only place along the course of the nerves where such an interference can exist. If the bony segments of the spine through which the nerves pass get out of position they will produce pressure upon the nerve fibers. This pressure must be removed before impulses from the brain can "get through" to the heart and govern its action.

CORRECTING HEART TROUBLE

Because of his training, the Chiropractor is able to locate the point of pressure in the spine that interferes with the transmission of mental impulse supply; and is able to render Chiropractic Health Service that will adjust the spine at the location of this interference so that normal transmission is restored. There can be only one result—the heart receives its normal supply of mental impulses and is enabled to function properly. To the thousands of sufferers who are now living under a handicap produced by an abnormal heart action, Chiropractic offers a real and logical solution.

The KAISER and the FRAZER need no changes to bring them up-to-date!

You really should investigate what the Kaiser and the Frazer offer you before you buy any car! If you don't, you may let habit lead you into an investment which can soon be greatly depreciated. You might buy a "new" car which is merely a "face-lifted" prewar model. The chances are that such a "new" car will be obsolete when its manufacturer gets around to announcing a really new, postwar automobile! What happens to your investment then?

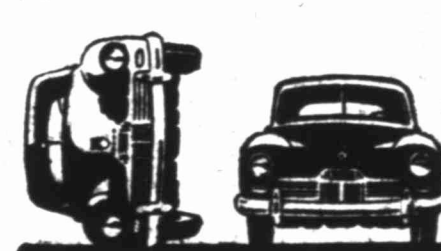

The ride you never forget! K-F's engineers discarded prewar ideas of chassis construction. By redistributing mass and load, and by cradling both seats between the wheels, they created a ride never known before in any car.

Moving the rear seat well forward of the rear wheels provides twice as much luggage space as in the highest priced cars on the road! There is ample room for seven large bags in this spacious 27-cubic-foot compartment—in addition to the spare wheel and tire.

You take no such gamble when you buy a Kaiser or a Frazer. These cars are new from the ground up. And their newness is by no means confined to the styling which has been so flatteringly imitated! There is new design, new engineering and new manufacturing technique in virtually every feature of these ultra-modern cars. For proof, examine the Kaiser-Frazer exclusives described below—just a few among scores! Come in and see the others!

Wider than high by 8 1/2 inches! But that's only half the story of the super-safe roadability of the Kaiser and the Frazer. A low center of gravity and effortless steering give you that feeling that car and road were made for each other!

Two hundred miles is hardly half a tankful in a Kaiser or a Frazer! Many owners report phenomenal economy—24 miles to the gallon and more—in these cars equally acclaimed for their sprightliness in traffic and their hill-climbing power on the highways.

You pay the regular price • No trade-in necessary • Highest allowance on your old car • Immediate delivery!

Both cars are serviced with genuine factory parts, wherever you go; by one of the 4 largest automobile dealer organizations in the world.

Exposing The False 'Fronts'

When you turn your money over to an institution in the form of investments, deposits, or dues, you can usually get an accounting of what is done with it. Banks and insurance companies are required to publish financial statements. Corporations with securities listed on stock exchanges have to tell to the SEC. Unions now must reveal their getting and spending.

But this public accounting does not apply to many organizations, political and otherwise, which deal in ideas and special pleading. They can recruit members and money and a segment of public opinion, all of which puts them in position to pull a really dangerous swindle. Yet they are not required to open their purses or disclose their purposes.

Morris Ernst, New York attorney and perennial champion of civil rights, wants to see these groups stripped of their anonymity and made accountable to law. As he puts it, in obvious reference to the Klan, he would make them "take off their nightshirts."

He favors legislation which would compel them to reveal their membership and the source and use of their funds. Such a disclosure, Ernst points out, has not been made by a single one of the organizations which Attorney General Clark has accused of being subversive.

"These are the very groups I want to see out in the open," Ernst says. "Let them say who they are and what they do—then they can operate all they want to. Their power will be gone, for we will know them for what they are."

This would be a frontal attack on the "front outfits, instead of the present feints and skirmishes. A good deal has been accomplished already, but in a limited and rather haphazard way. Several newspapers have done a valuable job of exposing Communist string-pulling behind the scenes of apparently harmless and high-minded organizations. Public-spirited individuals and societies have helped rip the mask from Red-controlled outfits hiding behind phony titles.

But these revelations have had to be made one at a time. And they have not been able to keep many well-meaning innocents from falling for a lot of window dressing, joining up, shelling out their money, and ignorantly patronizing the party line.

A law might remove these false fronts and expose the inner workings. If the operation received the widest national publicity, ignorance would no longer be an excuse. Checks and investigations could then proceed from the general to the particular—from the organization to the individual—with more efficiency and less chance of injustice.

Maybe Ernst's proposition isn't air-tight or fool-proof. But it does seem to be an advance over the present method, even though the Justice Department and the Loyalty Review Board have shown every desire to be fair and reasonable. A legal approach to the fundamental problem would, in the end, put the responsibility squarely up to the individual involved—which is a mature, intelligent, democratic way of doing things.

All-Out Attack

The Japanese Moviemakers' Union has unanimously pledged itself to fight "communism, capitalism, militarism, bureaucracy, and reactionary forces." We hope they will also put up a determined struggle against those devious and dangerous middle-of-the-roaders.

'This One We'll Hotta Drown'

Texans In Department Of The Interior

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Just as in all government agencies, Texans are prominent in the work of the Interior Department, which is charged with the responsibility of managing, conserving and developing the natural resources of the United States.

Two of its main functions, administration of the public domain and of Indian affairs, are of little concern to Texas because the state holds its own lands and has only a negligible number of Indians within its boundaries.

But there are other branches of the Interior Department which do have an important bearing on the lives of Texans.

Three Divisions
These divisions include the Geological Survey with its services to the oil industry; the National Park Service, operating such recreational areas as the Big Bend National Park; the Bureau of Mines, rendering service to mining in the El Paso area; the Fish and Wildlife Service, operating game refuges, establishing regulations for hunting of migratory fowl, and restocking of streams with fish; the Oil and Gas Division, administering the Connally Hot Oil Act forbidding interstate shipment of oil produced in violation of state conservation laws; Southwestern Power Administration, operating Denison Dam on the Red River and otherwise promoting expansion of power lines in Texas; and the Reclamation Bureau, which is steadily increasing the scope of its irrigation projects in the Lone Star State.

Like most other so-called old line government departments, the Interior Department is housed in a massive white stone structure along Constitution Avenue and employs thousands of persons.

The ranking Texan among scores from the state working there is Mastin White, the solicitor. He is the chief law officer of the department and the principal advisor on legal questions.

Another high-ranking Texan in the department is Dr. W. E. Wrather of Dallas, who is director of the Geological Survey. A widely recognized oil geologist, he supervises such activities as examination of the geological structure and mineral resources and products of the national domain.

Although Texas has only a trifling amount of coal production, a Texan is the chief of the bituminous section of the solid fuels division. He is Dr. William Harvey Young of Corsicana.

Plan For Meeting
A young man who has gone far in the department is Arthur (Tex) Goldschmidt, newly appointed vice chairman of the Interdepartmental Technical Committee.

Technically still within the Interior Department, having been appointed to his new post by Secretary Krug, Goldschmidt has the job of arranging plans for a meeting next Spring of officials from various nations. Conservation and utilization of the world's natural resources will be the subject.

A resident of Texas for several years and a former regional director of the Reclamation Bureau with headquarters at Amarillo is now the acting commissioner of Reclamation. He is Wesley Nelson.

Other Texans in the Interior Department include:

Virgil P. Wallace, Dallas, supervisor of investigators in the office of Secretary Krug; Francis L. Montgomery, Birdville, in the legislative division of the solicitor's office; Mrs. Mary Williams, Arlington, personnel clerk; Murray L. Crosse, Dallas, in the Bureau of Mines; and Harold J. Duncan, Corsicana, chief of the conservation branch of the geological survey.

Mexico Raises Tariff On Imports From U. S.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Mexico, in a new effort to cope with a dollar shortage, has ordered a tariff revision on imports largely raising rates on shipments from the United States to 1942 levels, the State Department said.

The United States agreed to the action, pending negotiations to revise the 1942 Reciprocal Trade Agreement to "afford a more reasonable measure of protection for Mexican industries."

The department said the new tariff order will change specific duty rates on products imported into Mexico named in schedule one of the trade agreement.

Covers All Imports
Officials said schedule one covers all imports into Mexico. The action followed Mexico's embargo last July on imports of many products, including automobiles and many luxury items.

Automotive products and textile have topped U. S. exports to Mexico, which have been running about twice the imports from Mexico.

Mexico has assured that existing duties will be applied to all shipments actually enroute from the United States now, the announcement said.

Eisenhower May Write Tale Of War

WASHINGTON—(AP)—General Dwight D. Eisenhower has been approached by a number of publishing firms with proposals that he write an account of the war and is now considering the offers, a friend of the general said.

Without specifying amounts, this associate told a reporter some of the offers are "very flattering," but that the retiring chief of staff and former supreme commander of Allied forces in Europe has not made up his mind.

If the general does decide to prepare a book or series of articles, his friends said, Eisenhower will wait until he has left the Army a month or so hence to become president of Columbia University.

Whatever the general writes, his friend said, probably will be an account of the war and the European campaign rather than the autobiography.

Because of British export restrictions rubber prices jumped from 10 cents a pound in 1920 to $1.23 a pound in 1925.

Seven Miles An Hour May Be Speeding

BOSTON—(AP)—Sometimes even a speed of a little more than seven miles an hour is too fast. Joseph M. Marsden, 27, was arrested by Patrolman James F. Wilson, Jr., on a charge of driving his horse and wagon through downtown Boston too fast.

Wilson dug deeply into the law books and found an old city ordinance which limits the speed of horses in the downtown area to seven miles an hour.

McKenney on Bridge

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority

When you ask an expert for a bridge hand he naturally gives one he played well. Not many of them like to have hands written up in which they took the worst of it, but Harry Fishbein of New York not only likes to tell about hands on which he was fixed, but does not mind having them published.

Fishbein is a great story teller, and I wish I could describe this hand as he did after the game. The hand was played in the national mixed pair championship, won by Mrs. E. Ansin of Brookline, Mass., and Charles H. Goren of Philadelphia.

Against the little lady in the North position Fishbein and his partner cashed the first three rounds of clubs, then Fishbein

CROSBY LEADS MASON AS BRITISH FAVORITE

LONDON—(AP)—British motion picture exhibitors have named Bing Crosby as the biggest box office attraction in 1947. The Motion Picture Herald said a poll of exhibitors gave this list in order: Bing Crosby, James Mason, Anna Nagle, Margaret Lockwood, Bette Davis, John Mills, Alan Ladd, Humphrey Bogart, Ingrid Bergman and Bob Hope.

That's What He Said, Officer—'Scram'

MOULTRIE, GA.—(AP)—Two automobiles collided and a police officer met one of the drivers as he stepped out of his car. "What's your name?" the officer asked. "Scram," the car owner replied. "What's that?" the astounded officer exclaimed. "Scram," said the man. "Joe Scram—of Monticello, Fla."

Tot Discards Clothes To Stroll In Snow

WALLACE, IDAHO—(AP)—Bus driver Jay D'Andrea was more than mildly surprised recently when he encountered a small boy in nothing but his birthday suit trudging through two inches of snow along the highway. The boy, 3-year-old David Fiekle Jr., was rushed to a hospital but he was found to be none the worse for the exposure. His parents reported they had been frantically searching for the boy. They said he had apparently discarded his pajamas and left without announcement for a stroll to the city's west limits.

Magnetic Control Protects Train In Fog

LONDON—(AP)—While Britain was covered by the year's worst fog, early morning commuters aboard a train from Shoeburyness, at the mouth of the Thames, reached London on time, without a hitch. Their train was guided by a new magnetic control device.

Impervious to frost, the mechanism stops trains before they arrive at a danger signal by sounding a horn in the engine cab and slowly applying the brakes.

The new safety equipment has been fitted to 183 locomotives on the rail lines from London to the East Coast.

High Winds Add Flood Waters To Ice, Snow

Gas Rationing May Backfire On British 1948 Tourist Trade

LONDON (AP)—Prospects that gasoline rationing may backfire on this dollar-hungry Isle have the British tourist trade worried. Sir Alexander Maxwell, chairman of the British Tourist and Holidays Board, outlined the problem at a recent press conference in these simple terms: "I foresee great difficulty in the coming Summer with the hotels in expecting them to do everything they can when their revenue has been cut in the last few weeks by the cessation of the basic petrol allowance."

"Hotels on the south coast are not going to have funds to keep them going. Their loss has been appalling ever since basic rationing fell."

But Sir Alexander nursed brighter hope—given government co-operation—of other methods of extracting dollars from American tourists in return for goods going now chiefly into the export trade.

Tourists now may buy such goods without ration coupons providing their purchases are sent directly to the ship or plane in which they are returning home.

Sir Alexander believes present precautions are cutting down sales and wants to cut out this red tape. Under his proposal visitors would be able to buy goods from the export quota upon producing their passports or some other identifying document.

All told, he anticipates at least 100,000 tourists will visit here from North America during 1948. And he has a word of advice for those who want to see that tourist trade—and the resulting flow of dollars—grow.

The watchword is "service and a warm welcome."
