They Defy Relentless Hoodoo: 'We'll Manage Somehow'

Shoulder to shoulder, the Lashes face the future amid the charred ruins of their home. Do you think you could "take it" like war vetterans William Lash and his wife, Eileen, of Willoughby, Ohio? Suppose, like him, you were a survivor of the man-killing "death march" on Bataan. And of years in Jap prison camps, where you lost 98 pounds before being rescued near the end of the war. You return to this country, spend months in various hospitals, come out with 80 per cent disability. But with what energy you have, you tour the country, selling War Bonds. You meet a charming WAC, whom you marry. After the war you settle down in a little home near the Chagrin River, Ohio. Then last Winter, the river overflows, wrecks your cottage and you lose all your possessions. All the next Summer, you work to remake a home in nearby Willoughby. Six weeks ago, because you are nearly blind from your war sufferings, you lose your job as a gas station attendant. That makes a pretty tough start for the New Year. Then, the other day, hard luck strikes again. An oil stove explosion burns your house to the ground. You lose everythingfurniture, clothing, stored food. And now you have two daughters, aged 16 months and three months. You and your wife manage to save the children, but are painfully burned on the hands. But you stick your chin out and say "I guess we're all lucky to be alive." And your wife sticks her chin out and says "We'll manage somehow." Those Lashes-they're fighters.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE TEAM MEMBERS and THE PEOPLE OF MIDLAND

"Work your cards."

This is the message voiced by us, the Buffalo Trail Scout Ranch campaign leaders pictured here, to workers and leaders throughout Midland.

As long as there are people in West Texas, the Scout Ranch will be the outdoor appeal which will attract tens of thousands of West Texas boys and men to the ideals of the Scouts.

The extent to which the above statement will be true now is dependent on us and the other men and women whe have accepted responsibility in the $200,000 campaign to finish buying the 6,000-acre Scout Ranch and build necessary facilities.

Willingness to give throughout the 15-county Council already has been proved. Over 95 per cent of the people asked have given. Over $104,500.00 has come in. But more than half of the individuals and firms in the Council have not yet been solicited.

Willingness to give is not our problem. There is now only one determining factor. That is willingness to ask.

Work your cards.

THE COMMITTEE.
