New Snags Snarl House Draft Bill

Opponents Claim Outside Chance To Defeat Legislation

WASHINGTON—(P)—The House draft bill, already drastically revised, headed into more trouble Thursday.

Opponents said they have "an outside chance" of beating it; supporters predicted it will be passed before the day is over.

In two tentative decisions Wednesday, the House voted to cut the term of draft service from two years to one and to junk plans for a special registration and draft of medical men. Both actions may be subject to later roll call votes.

UN Mediator Slates Parleys With Israelis

By The Associated Press

Count Folke Bernadotte took off for Tel Aviv Thursday to talk with Israeli leaders about permanent peace plans for Palestine.

Bernadotte, mediator for the United Nations, has been talking with Arab leaders here for the last two days.

In Tel Aviv, Bernadotte intends to ask Israeli authorities whether they plan to send consultants to his headquarters at Rhodes. He said the Arabs have promised to send four experts there next Monday.

Abdel Rahman Asman Pasha, secretary of the Arab League, emphasized that the four experts will not represent Arab countries, but merely the expert committee which under the United Nations plan will select the mediator.

Bernadotte pointed out that sending them will be a roundabout recognition by the Arabs of the Jewish state. He said they already have accepted the Jewish state in their own minds, but will send them to the different parties and they will study them.

Bernadotte said.

The foreign government in Tel Aviv, meanwhile, accused Britain of diverting fuel oil to Arab states by shutting off the pipeline from Arab countries to Haifa.

Dutch Sovereignty Over Indonesia Is Accepted By Britain

LONDON—(P)—A Foreign Office spokesman said Thursday Britain has "accepted Dutch sovereignty" over Indonesia.

The Foreign Office has given all British diplomatic missions in the area instructions no longer to honor Indonesian Republic passports, he said.

In official Whitehall circles this was taken to mean that Britain, in effect, had withdrawn her informal recognition of the Indonesian Republic.

The Foreign Office spokesman explained that Britain's attitude towards the republic was based on the terms of an agreement signed aboard the U. S. Navy Transport Renville last January, which sought to end the Dutch-Indonesian dispute.

Divided your hair into sections from a front-to-back center parting, and make two pigtails. Secure each braid a few inches from its curly end with a rubber band. Tie a crisp ribbon bow over the rubber band which holds your braid secure.

That's as far as the kid-stuff goes. Pigtails are now ready to hoist by criss-crossing in the back. That done, anchor the end of each braid above your ear, and make secure with bobble pins.

New Book Clarifies Early Relationship Of Texas And Mexico

The Midland County Library has another interesting and worthwhile item of Texas published recently by the Texas State Historical Association.

It is "Texas and Mexico: A Chapter in Texas-Mexican Relations" by Ohland Morton, professor of history at Eakin Junior College and a recognized student of Texas-Mexican history.

General Mier y Teran was the Mexican colonization commissioner and commandant general and one of the most important Mexicans who had a hand in the administration of Texas prior to 1836.

The book performs a service in clarifying the erroneous ideas of many Americans whose attitude toward Mexico and Mexicans is influenced by the tragic incidents of the Texas revolution.

Contrary to common opinion, almost all Mexican officials and citizens in San Antonio were solicitous for the success and prosperity of the colonies; some from selfish reasons, but most from true friendliness, according to the author.

Texas and Mexico is important to students because it is the only lengthy study in English or Spanish about this distinguished Mexican who influenced Texas history, library attendants said.

College Men Fall Down On Father Job

WASHINGTON (AP)—Western college graduates have more children than graduates of other American colleges—but the real big families are still being reared by people without higher education.

A survey made public recently by the Population Reference Bureau says men from western colleges lead all others in fathering children, nine times out of ten. And Utah State Agricultural College grads are at the very top of the list.

The bureau is a non-profit scientific organization. The survey covered 21,871 persons, who graduated in 1923 from 105 colleges.

Dr. Clarence J. Gamble, director of the survey, says that shrinking families of "thinking people" may in time dangerously deplete America's best "citizen material."

Gamble said slightly more than two children must be born per graduate for a college group to replace itself. But the survey showed that men graduates of 1923 have an average of only 1.76 children, and women graduates only 1.52.

By contrast, he said, an average of 4.3 children were born to women of a corresponding age who have been able to complete only four years or less of schooling.

"The low birth rate consistently found among college graduates in this country seem to stem principally from economic causes, combined with the careful planning and ambitions acquired through the graduates' education," Gamble said.

If you will come to our offices or call, we shall be glad to have a representative help you get this in force. The cost is low: $5.00 a year for one child, and $10.00 a year for two or more children. And a $500.00 accidental death benefit makes this protection more complete.

Faith Better Than Crime, Says Man Acquitted Of Murder

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Julius Petro, freed from 19 months in a prison death row—says religious faith pays off much better than crime. The 24-year-old Clevelander was acquitted of a first degree murder charge Wednesday after a re-trial which, a common pleas jury deliberated 1 1/2 hours. A previous jury condemned him to die in Ohio Penitentiary's electric chair. Petro was convicted June 18, 1946, for the fatal shooting of Theodore Knauer in February, 1946. The Ohio Supreme Court granted him a new trial last November 27 on grounds his conviction June 18, 1946, followed an unfair trial. "All I can do now is thank God I'm here," Petro said after the jury returned its verdict. "I had faith because I knew I was innocent." Petro pledged himself to a law-abiding life in his father's furniture business. "I just wasn't responsible. But now I know that that kind of life doesn't pay. Nineteen months in death row and watching five men walk that last mile—men that I ate their last meal with—taught me that it's no use." He said serving 18 months for a burglary once before had not cured him, but he added "There are no atheists in death row." "Trying to ascertain the time of death causes doubt and so did discrepancies due to frailties of police, such as the loss of some of the evidence," Jury Foreman Hoffman said.

Chinese Students Rap U. S. Aid to Japan

American aid to Japan comes in for sharp criticism in this poster display on the campus of the American Church Mission's St. John's University in Shanghai. Called a "Race Exhibit," the posters attempt to revive anti-Japanese feelings, and urge action against U. S. policy in Japan.

HE HAS EVERYTHING— Father's Day Is Problem When It Comes To Getting The Proper Gift

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP Newswriter Father's Day is a sentimental occasion designed to show the male parent what a great guy he is. This is demonstrated annually on a Sunday in June when Father is showered with gifts from his admiring family. This happy occasion invariably stumps the entire family. So do Father's birthday and Christmas. Because "father" is able to do anything, he is able to do everything. He thinks so, anyway, and it is hard to convince him of anything else. Maybe Papa is a popinjay who enjoys strutting his fine feathers in a workaday world or maybe he's a solid, sober citizen with a leaning toward blue serge and black neckties. It doesn't matter, he's a man of strong opinions and he's going to be stubborn about changing them. Take Neckties, for instance, which have always taken quite a bit of verbal punishment when ladies have selected them. He may please his frau by appearing with a blaze of color under his chin—once—but he'll go back to that tired midnight blue job with the gray spots on it the minute you're not watching. Can't his dressing gown be a wreck. But it's comfortable and an old friend. He won't give that up until it's hanging in shreds. His old wallet that is black and shiny will stay in his hip pocket. That fancy new pigskin with the solid gold corners will remain neatly in its box in the right hand pocket in buying him another sweater—he has five, and he won't wear anything but that disreputable one with the moth-holes that show. Can't his pipe be a pipe? There are a few safe gifts—cigarettes, a carton of his favorite brand can't miss. A pipe smoker will be happy with his own kind of tobacco. But he's likely to be temperamental about just what kind of pipe he'll smoke. A man with a bobby should be easier to handle in the way of gifts. However, he's sure to be fussier about equipment than a mother hen about her chicks. A stamp collector would be happy to have an imperforated stamp from France (he can always swap it for a first day cover from Cape of Good Hope) but don't surprise him with a set of strange golf clubs, an elephant gun or even a power-driven, reversible super-duper buyaway if he specializes in such things. They won't be exactly what he dreamed about. Difficult Hobbyist Fishermen, among all hobbyists are the most difficult. The only way you can give a fisherman anything is to go out and dig him some worms. Every man shaves, but for heaven's sake don't get him a new razor when he already has seven hidden in the attic. If he doesn't like wool socks, steer away from Argyles, even if they do look just peachy with those Scotch-grained brogans you bought last year, which are still unscuffed in the closet. Come to think of it, how about some of those nice, plain white shirts once in a while. But does he like his monogram chaste inscribed over his heart? One thing more: Don't try to start him off on a hobby. Remember how the kitchen looked last year after you gave him that chef's cap and apron?

Scientist Says Atomic Powered Planes Could Circle Globe Non-Stop

NEW YORK—(AP)—Planes powered by atomic energy and capable of circling the globe without a stop are predicted by Dr. Andrew Kalitinsky, an Oak Ridge, Tenn., engineer. He told members of the Metropolitan Section of the Society of Automotive Engineers Wednesday night that the new atomic-powered aircraft would almost certainly attain supersonic speeds during long-range flights. The initial types, he said, probably will be about the same size as the giant B-3 bomber. Although Kalitinsky did not say how soon such atomic-powered planes could be completed, he said such aircraft now could be considered "predominantly engineering problems rather than problems of new scientific discovery." Kalitinsky, who is associated with the Aircraft Division of Fairchild Engine and Airplane Corporation, is chief engineer for a nuclear aircraft research project sponsored by the U. S. Air Force at Oak Ridge. He gave specifications for four prospective atomic warplanes, one of them propeller driven, two powered by jets and the other by rocket propulsion for travel in interplanetary space.

Burma Not To 'Relax Friendship' With U. S., Britain, Says Official

RANGOON, BURMA—(AP)—Burma's Foreign Minister U Tin Tut told newsmen Thursday Burma does not want to "relax friendship" with Britain and the United States, despite professions of leftist unity. In a speech to followers of his United Left Party Sunday, Premier Thakin Nu urged insurgents to declare their belief in leftist unity and join the United Front. "We don't want to relax friendship with Britain and America," Tin Tut declared Thursday. "We want to extend sphere contacts. No question of dropping old friends for new." "Thakin Nu's belief in his program wouldn't interfere with Anglo-Burmese unity," Tut added. Tin Tut said no Communists will be included in the Burmese Cabinet, but added that the government would not object to a profession of Communism. Thakin Nu, oddly enough, is leading government efforts to crush rebelling Communists who took up arms against his government several months ago.

Chinese Deface Ration Cards For U. S. Relief

PEIPING—(AP)—Seventeen students of National Peking University Thursday defaced cards entitling them to rations under the U. S. China Relief Program. They did so, they said, in protest against a recent speech of John M. Cabot, American consul general at Shanghai. Cabot, now in the United States, criticized Chinese students for anti-American agitation. The students tacked their ration cards on a wall with a notice: "Give America back her relief supplies. We would rather die of hunger. Take your supplies back home."

WASHINGTON (NEA)—To get an idea of why New York Republican Congressman John Taber's House Appropriations Committee cut the ECA, or Economic Cooperation Administration's funds by 25 per cent, thereby endangering the whole Marshall Plan program, all you have to do is skim through some 1,500 pages of testimony taken by this committee in a month's closed hearings.

One Good Worry Leads To Another

NEW YORK (AP)—The children have a fair argument against the grownups in America. The kids are compelled by law to go to school to learn what the adults want to teach them. But there is no law to make the grownups go to a school and learn from the children. Yet there is much they could learn from the diaper and knickerbocker set.

Major Leagues— Ted Williams Masters Two Big Problems

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

That second 400 mark, the goal that Ted Williams has set for himself, appears to be within striking distance, now that the Splendid Splinter has finally solved two of his biggest problems.

The mighty slugger of the Boston Red Sox, currently leading all major league batsmen with a cool .408, expressed doubt early this spring that he could top 300 because of two things—the "Bordeaux shift" and night baseball.

But the box scores show Ted has hurdled these obstacles this season.

Ted had a perfect day at bat Wednesday, four for four. Two of his hits went to left field. Ope was a double. The other cleared the left field fence for his 13th home run.

The blows came against Bordeaux's league-leading Indians and helped the Red Sox defeat Cleveland and Bob Feller 7-4. It was Feller's seventh loss against five victories.

Athletes Drop Annettes

The Detroit Tigers ran their winning streak to six straight games with a 2-1 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics in 11 innings.

Young Art Houtteman, who has been losing tough games for the Tigers, had a one-hit shutout through the first eight innings.

The victory moved the fourth-place Tigers to within three games of the second place A's. They trail the third-place New York Yankees by two.

The Yankees nipped the White Sox 3-1 in Chicago to even the two-game series. Allie Reynolds won the route for the first time since May 11.

The Pittsburgh Pirates climbed into the lead with the Boston Braves for the National League lead when they thumped the New York Giants 11-5 while the Braves were beaten by the Cubs 8-5 in Boston.

The Brooklyn Dodgers edged the Cincinnati Reds 4-3, and the St. Louis Browns hosed out the Washington Senators 6-5 in night games.

A scheduled St. Louis Cardinal and Phillies game was rained out.

Robinson Is Heavy Favorite To Retain Welterweight Crown

CHICAGO — (AP) — Ray (Sugar) Robinson, the Harlem hurricane, was a 3 to 1 favorite to retain his world welterweight boxing crown Thursday night against his No. 1 contender, Bernard Docusen of New Orleans, in a scheduled 15-round bout in Comiskey Park.

Robinson, seeking his 33rd successive triumph, will be shooting for a quick knockout against the 21-year-old foe who peaked out nowhere to become the top contender.

Docusen has scored 44 victories, fought four draws, and lost two in 50 professional fights. He reversed the two he lost, the last being an exchange of decisions with Gene Burton of Chicago.

The bout will not be broadcast.

Two Track And Field Stars Are Ineligible

MINNEAPOLIS — (AP) — Collegiate track and field athletes poured into Minneapolis from all sides Thursday, each determined to win a place in the final tryouts for the U.S. Olympic Team by scoring in the NCAA championships opening here Friday.

But with two of its stars on the ineligible list and at least three others suffering from one kind of misery or another, the 27th annual meet lost some of its luster even before it commenced.

Ruled ineligible on the eve of the championships were Harrison Dillard of Baldwin Wallace, the world's best hurdler, and Bob Likens of San Jose State, winner of the NCAA javelin throw a year ago.

True airplane speed may be measured accurately by high frequency sound waves. The Mach number, the ratio of plane speed to the velocity of sound, can also be measured by the same means.

DOWN SPORTS LANE

with TANNER LAINE

It gets pretty crowded out at the Midland Country Club at times and so the club has a starting time for the best day.

A youngster usually is the clerk.

The other day, a member addressed the clerk with a request for a foursome starting time for the best day.

"Chay," says the clerk, "let your name and members of the foursome."

The club member dotted down his own name, ET AL.

"Hey mister," yelled the clerk, "that won't get it—ET AL' ain't a member."

"Baseball is cleaner from gambling influences than ever before," says George M. Trautman, president of minor leagues, who is visiting Midland Monday.

"It definitely is getting better and the isolated cases such as the one at Winston-Salem, N. C., in which I banned two men from baseball for life for bribery, gambling and game throwing, should not be held against the sport as a whole," Trautman declared.

"We have 438 towns in 56 leagues with approximately 15,000 players," he pointed out. "That is a good-sized community. Each community has a ball, you know, because there are bound to be miscreants. When it is considered that we have had only two gambling cases in two years throughout the minors—and there are more minor leagues than ever before—I think we can say that baseball is a mighty clean sport."

Trautman said he continually called to the attention of the club owners the danger that exists with regard to professional gamblers. "I send out bulletins telling them they must watch the 'sleeping dogs or they'll bite you,'" he explained.

"Baseball men are quite conscious of the danger and I have received great help from the press."

END SERIES THURSDAY— Tribe Rides Rio Cowboys

DEL RIO—A rested Tribe of Midland Indians re-taliated against the Del Rio Cowboys here Wednesday night winning 15-4 behind eight-hit pitching by Ralph Blair, young righthander.

Texas League— Oilers Climb Past Cats In Loop Standings

By The Associated Press

Tulsa's Oilers are in second place in the Texas League Thursday, clinching a haul that saw the Oklahomans drive from the cellar in a little more than five weeks.

Fort Worth tumbled to third place Wednesday night as Houston stepped the Cats 4-1.

The Oilers beat Shreveport for the fourth straight time, sinking the Sports 3-1.

Dallas fell to sixth before a fearful barrage of 21 base hits that rattled from the bats of the San Antonio Missions. San Antonio crushed Dallas 26-7 in one of the best lop-sided games of the season.

Houston rode with Pete Mazar, tiny left-hander, who gave the Cats just five hits and had them shut out until the ninth when they scored an unearned run.

Schultz Backs N. S.

Oklahoma City whipped Beaumont six to victory for Tulsa as he turned back Shreveport with seven hits. Russ Burns scored two runs and drove in the third.

Dallas used five pitchers trying to stem the San Antonio tide. They were pounded for 30 bases.

Oklahoma City whipped Beaumont 8-1 to advance within two percentage points of the seventh-place Exporters. Preacher Dorsett hurled a six-hitter for Oklahoma City.

Longhorn League— Tribe, Broncs, Oilers, Dusters Win Loop Games

Midland clings to the top spot in the Longhorn League by virtue of a 15-4 win over Del Rio Wednesday night.

The Big Spring Broncs headed back to square their Longhorn baseball league series with the San Angelo Colts at 1 and 1. The Big Springers behind the chunking of Vanders, who limited the Colts to six safe runs, capped the verdict 7 to 6.

Edward Arthur, 16-year-old Odessa righthander, hurled four-hit ball as the Oilers raked three Ballinger pitchers for 14 safeties and got 11 to 1-Longhorn League victory.

Vernon Dusters ran wild and pounded out 34 hits to win a 23 to 1 rout over Sweetwater Sports. Molina, Vernon pitcher allowed only 6 hits during the contest.

Golfers Tee Off In Victory Joust

CHICAGO—(AP)—A field of 76 of gold's leading professionals and amateurs teed off at Midlothian Country Club Thursday as the four-day sixth annual $16,000 "Victory National Tournament" opened.

Ben Hogan, recent winner of the National Open and the PGA tourneys, was not on hand to defend the title he won last year at Chicago's Westward Ho Club. Neither was Jimmy Demaret, runner-up to Hogan in the National Open.

The professionals were slated to play 18 holes a day through Sunday. Top man will pick up $2,000. The pros were paired with amateurs for a 72-hole pro-amateur battle for an additional $2,000.

Johnny Devoto and John Barnum, Evanston, Ill., are defending their pro-amateur crown.

New Orleans Boxers Lead Olympic Bout

SAN ANTONIO—(AP)—Louisiana is holding the "fast pace in the 9th District Olympic boxing championships at Fort Sam Houston here.

When the field was whittled down to four contestants in each division Wednesday night seven beat-boxers from the New Orleans Athletic Club still were in the running for Thursday night's semi-finals.

Behind New Orleans is San Antonio with five. Fort Worth and Dallas each have three hopefuls.

One favorite to fall was Austin's state champion, Valentino Lank, who was taken out of the feather-weight bracket by a decision scored by Arkansas' O. D. Hightower. Texas first favorites who came through include Abilene's light heavy Tom Adams, Ronald Conway of Dallas, Jackie Woodruff of Dallas and Austin's Pete Oll.

Trojans Throttle Baylor

DENVER —(AP)— The Southern California Trojans had a full head of steam up Thursday in their race toward the 1948 NCAA championship.

The Pacific Coast titleholders had everything—sound pitching, a top-notch defense, batting power and expert base running—as they swamped Baylor 8-0 in Wednesday's first round of the Western playoffs.

Their classy performance convinced experts here that the Trojans won't have much trouble winning this tournament and the playoff with the Eastern champion in college baseball's "World Series" June 28-29 at Kalamazoo, Mich.

The Oklahoma A&M College Cowboys whipped Colorado State 11-1 in a ragged contest that launched the Western tournament and will run up against Southern California Thursday afternoon.

In the losers' bracket, Baylor will play Colorado State. Trojans Hit Round-Trippers Wally Hood, a 22-year-old Southern California junior, racked up his nineteenth victory of the season against two defeats as he held Baylor to eight hits. But the Southwest Conference team threatened frequently and Hood needed a couple of sizzling double plays and some spectacular catches by the outfielders to preserve his shutout.

Left fielder Hank Workman bonced a three-run homer off the left field fence in the first inning to send the Trojans ahead 3-0 and knocked another over the right field wall in the seventh.

Gail Henley also knocked one out of the park in the ninth and Hank Cedillo rimmed the versatile Trojans' attack in the same inning when he drew a free pass, took second on a balk, went to third on a passed ball and stole home.

Oklahoma A&M mixed 13 hits with eight opposition errors to defeat Colorado State.

WT-NM League—
The Amarillo Gold Sox crowded Pampa in the battle for first place in the West Texas-New Mexico League Thursday.

The Sox edged Lubbock 5-4 Wednesday night while Pampa was losing to Albuquerque 12-9 and now Amarillo is just three percentage points back of the Oilers.

A homer by Paul Hailer and a single by Jack Peruga gave Amarillo two runs and the victory margin in the eighth.

Albuquerque scored four runs in the seventh and four more in the eighth to lick Pampa.

Borger edged out Lamesa 11-10 as Morley Cato singled home the winning-run in the ninth, and Abilene's victory string was snapped at eight as the Blue Sox fell before Clovis 7-4 in 12 innings.

CJM Stages Remodeling Program

A general remodeling and decorating program now underway at CJM Packing Company on East Highway 80 is designed to make the plant an attractive as well as industrially important part of the city of Midland.

Outside improvements already installed or in process of installation include landscaping of grounds, paving of entrance, and construction of a ranch-style fence around the grounds. A new floodlighted sign is atop a new roof; a new sewer line has been installed, and a new six-inch layer of insulation in the locker plant makes it one of the best-refrigerated plants in Texas.

Increased Demand
Owners of the plant say, by the way, that demand for frozen food lockers has increased decidedly in recent weeks. To meet this growing patronage, they are adding more lockers to the large number already available.

The company recently added a 30-foot semi-trailer truck to its rolling stock; another all-aluminum refrigerated truck body is under construction in San Angelo, and when this is delivered, CJM Packing Company will have a fleet of six modern delivery units serving a great part of the Permian Basin with fine meats properly processed and distributed.

Soaring Food Prices Cause Chinese Riots

NANKING—(AP)—More than 5,000 angry Chinese stormed through Chungking streets for six hours Thursday looting 30 rice shops.

Dispatches from China's wartime capital said gendarmes used bayonets to disperse the mob. The looting started after the price of rice doubled.

Police arrested about 200 rioters. At Shanghai, authorities tried to keep the rice price pegged. They assigned squads of police to patrol rice shop districts.

The price of flour, rice and other commodities jumped to record heights in Tientsin. The city's mayor, Ho Shun-fahn, appealed to Nanking to lift restrictions on food shipments to North China.

In Tientsin, the price of flour has gone up 70 per cent in the last fortnight.

Parties Give Big Promises; Seldom Make Them Good

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Democrats and Republicans are going to promise you, the voter, a lot of things this year. Already Republicans are huddling to manufacture a platform to dangle before the voters at their convention which opens June 21. The Democrats will put in a lot of work on their platform before they unveil it at the Democratic Convention July 12. But if history is any guide to the future, a lot of those promises won't be kept, no matter which party is elected in November. If you doubt this, just look, for instance, at the promises the parties made in their Chicago platforms of 1944.

Right here a Democrat or Republican may jump up and say "look here. Don't blame my party for failure to keep its promises. The other side blocked us." Had Equal Chance. But the point is that both parties, in the four years since 1944, have had an equal chance to make good because— From 1944 until 1946 the Democrats ran Congress. The Republicans have been running it since 1946.

The voters don't often get such a chance to point a finger at both parties equally and say, "Why didn't you deliver?" Some of the 1944 promises were kept. For example: Both parties promised to put this country into a world organization to keep peace. They worked together and put us into the United Nations.

Both parties promised an income tax cut, and taxes were cut. True, it was the Republican-controlled Congress which rammed through a big cut over President Truman's veto. The President argued that he wanted to cut taxes but in a different way. Promised Action. But there were plenty of things both parties promised but didn't do. For example: Civil rights. The Republican platform very specifically promised action on wiping out the poll tax, passing an anti-lynching law, and setting up a Fair Employment Practice Commission.

The 1944 Democratic platform, far more vaguely, suggested doing something about civil rights, meaning more civil rights for negroes. No civil rights law has been passed since 1944. The Democrats very carefully said they "recommended" action to get equal rights for women. This hasn't been done. The Republicans promised to bring under the benefits of social security all those people not now covered. They haven't done it.

Japan Barred From Holding Office

TOKYO — (AP) — The cabinet Thursday barred imperial princes with former military service from heading any public or social organization—not even as honorary president. Subject to the ruling are the Emperor's brothers: Prince Chichibu, honorary president of the Japan Amateur Athletic Association, and Prince Takamatsu, president of the Japan Red Cross Society. Since war's end, all former military personnel have been prohibited from holding public office. The cabinet decided not to except the princes.

Hockley County Gets 23 Of 64 New Locations Spotted In Midland District

Of the 64 new petroleum exploring locations spotted for the Midland district No. 8, of the oil and gas division of the Railroad Commission of Texas, during last week, 23 of them were for Hockley County.

There was one wildcat on the list to be drilled in Gaines County. Two applications, which had been previously reported were amended. Both those projects were in Ward County.

Pecon County, with eight new prospectors, was second on the list. Edgar was third, with six new drillsites. Andrews was credited with five new developments.

Sourby and Winkler received four new locations each, and Garza and Hale were given three. Crane, Gaines, and Howard were listed for two new prospectors, and Cochran and Upson each had one new venture.

The total of new locations in the district for last week was slightly less than that for the preceding seven day period.

Unfortunate, The Cat, Needs Hearing Aid

PORT WORTH—(AP)—There's a big white tom cat here who is riding a homemade wheelchair along the road to recovery.

His name is "Unfortunate." He's why. Eighteen months ago he was hit by a car. It left him toothless, paralyzed and deaf.

Mrs. A. H. Cooper, who found him at the scene of the accident, picked him up, cuddled him under her arms and carried him home.

The diet she fed him is believed responsible for a new set of teeth the cat is cutting.

Massage and coaching enabled him to use his front legs to propel the four-wheeled wheelchair plumb.

Now, says kindly Mrs. Cooper, she's looking for a cat-sits hearing aid for "Unfortunate."

More than 2,000,000 girls have been Campfire girls.

Program Of Teacher Exchange To Get Under Way In Summer

AUSTIN—A teacher exchange program between the University of Cuyo, Argentina, and the University of Texas is getting underway this summer.

Dr. Francisco Curt Lange of Montevideo is a guest professor in the University of Texas music department this summer. Next Fall Dean T. W. Doty of the University of Texas College of Fine Arts will conduct a course in organ during the first inter-American festival of music in Argentina.

"More travel and longer visits will contribute to a better professional understanding between each of the Latin American countries and the United States and enrich the musical life of all," said Doctor Lange.

"Cheese needs only enough heating to melt and blend with the other ingredients in cooking.

A single herd of bison, seen by Col. R. L. Dodge, in May 1871, was estimated to contain at least 5,000,000 animals.

Although the tomato is native to America, it was eaten in Europe long before people in the U. S. used it for food, about 1880.

Convention Fights Must Get Hot To Match Old Times

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Sharp battling is expected at the national political conventions, but the doings will be docile compared with gun-toting powwows of early years.

Back in 1856, when the Republicans held their first nominating convention in Philadelphia, delegates from the far west came east by stage coach, carried long rifles to ward off Indians and mountain lions.

The controversy over extension of slavery was at shooting stage in "Bloody Kansas." Rival factions had captured towns and burned houses.

An abolitionist senator from Massachusetts said: "President Pierce goes to the Democratic convention with the light of the burning dwellings of Kansas flashing upon his brazen brow."

A Democratic newspaper called a rival publication which had assailed presidential possibility James Buchanan: "A know-nothing, lying, black Republican journal."

Gen. John C. Fremont of California, Mexican War veteran and Indian fighter, was nominated for President by Republican delegates who shouted: "We'll go for Fremont. He grappled with the grizzly bear and he beat the Indians. He can lick the slave drivers."

The 1856 Democratic convention assembled in Cincinnati to the roar of the Empire Club's artillery. The Thomas Benton delegates from Missouri, excluded from the convention hall, knocked down the doorkeepers to gain entrance.

"Bow knives and revolvers were brandished but no great harm was done," a newspaper reported.

By 1860 the nation was on the verge of civil war. Chicago, "young Babylon of the west," was jammed with visitors to the Republican convention—bearded men in tall hats, long coats and black boots.

While the followers of William H. Seward, the leading candidate, staged a fancy parade in Chicago's streets, Abraham Lincoln's supporters packed the big convention hall with rosters for the Rail Splitter.

Every vote for Lincoln brought tremendous cheering. On the first ballot Seward led Lincoln by 71 votes, but Lincoln picked up 18 on the second ballot and Seward gained only 10.

Delegate Carter of Ohio stood on his chair and said: "I rise to announce the change of my votes from Mr. Chase to Abraham Lincoln."

One Hundred Guns
A large charcoal picture of Abe was displayed in the gallery. One hundred guns were fired from the roof of the Fremont house.

The longest contest for a Republican presidential nomination was at the 1880 convention, when dark horse James A. Garfield was chosen on the thirty-sixth ballot.

The second longest Republican contest was at the 1920 convention, when dark horse Warren G. Harding was nominated on the tenth ballot.

The biggest split in the Republican Party came at the 1912 convention. It was a fight over the seating of rival delegates for President William H. Taft and Theodore Roosevelt.

When the balloting started, 344 accredited Roosevelt delegates abstained from voting in protest against the loss of other delegate seats.

Roosevelt followers held a separate convention in a nearby hall that evening and nominated the Rough Rider as the Bull Moose candidate for President.

The split enabled the Democratic candidate, Woodrow Wilson, to win easily.

Mighty Mouse Causes Synthetic Earthquake

MIAMI, FLA.—(AP)—A mouse labored and brought forth an earthquake. At least, that was the Navy's explanation for the 90 violent minutes of earth tremors recorded on its micro-seismograph at the vault in nearby Richmond.

The Navy's physicists had been puzzled by the fact that no other seismograph registered a similar upheaval. Experts said it was possible a mouse invaded Richmond's seismograph vault and shook things up a bit.

Bradley Says U. S. Unprepared For War

DETROIT—(AP)—America's preparedness, in the opinion of two top military men, is badly wanting.

Gen. Omar N. Bradley, Army chief of staff, complained of an "appalling decay" in combat capabilities at a time when the nation has "no present-day choice but to arm."

If there were war today, says Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, the Air Force's combat groups would be made up "primarily of planes that were on the drawing boards prior to Pearl Harbor."

The general spoke at the banquet of the 30th national meeting of the American Ordnance Association, so-called civilian industrial arm of the military.

The industrialists' organization is meeting in conjunction with an Army display of newly-developed aircraft at nearby Selfridge Field, big flying base.

Recent "tail-tale events" in Europe, General Bradley said, have involved the United States in a struggle where power has "once again become the arbiter of decision."

Bradley said he was "dismayed" at developments.

Army Officer Keeps His Head, Pulls Himself, Wife Through Wyncoff Fire

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
Associated Press Staff
Let's put you in a tough spot. You're trapped by flames in your hotel room, a dozen stories from the street.

The hallway outside your door is an inferno—there's no hope of reaching the fire escape.

"Do you have a chance?"

"You do if you keep your head," Mrs. Helen McGibney, Dallas hotel manager, says.

The subject came up during a last week that took four lives. "Panic kills more people than fire," this week that took four lives.

Mrs. McGibney went on. "C. H. Penn, Dallas fire chief, made an investigation of the terrible Wyncoff hotel fire in Atlanta last year that took dozens of lives. He brought back the story of an Army officer who kept his head."

"This is the story the fire chief told Mrs. McGibney, the story of an officer and his wife who found themselves trapped in a high room in a burning hotel—the Wyncoff Hotel in Atlanta.

Other people were leaping to the pavement. The officer's wife cried by fear, wanted to.

He caught her by the arm, threatened to slap her.

"We have a chance," he said, "if you do exactly what I tell you."

"I'll do anything you say!" she replied.

And here is what they did: They opened the water taps all the way in the lavatory and bathtub. The officer threw a shoe in the toilet so that it would stop up and overflow.

He took the blanket off the bed, soaked it in the bathtub, and then gingerly opened the door to the smoke-filled hall and draped the blanket over the outside of the door—this to keep the door from catching fire as long as possible.

Together, the man and his wife hoisted the mattress off the double bed and propped it flat against the inside of the door to the hall. Then they moved the dresser against the mattress to hold it to the door. The top of the mattress still flopped over, so they got a chair and put it on top of the dresser to hold the mattress firm against the door.

The officer got a wastebasket and his wife a pitcher and they carried water from the bathroom, soaking the mattress thoroughly. By this time water from the bathroom was two inches deep on the floor of the bedroom—and still running.

The room was filling with smoke—it was difficult to carry on—but the vital work had been done.

Now, the officer opened the window a little bit at the top and a little bit at the bottom—not enough to cause a fire-drawing draft but just enough for essential ventilation.

Then the two of them made a tent out of a drenched carpet, pulling it over their heads to ward off as much of the lung-burning smoke as possible. They sat by the window, their nostrils at the lower window opening.

They were still at the window, four hours later, when firemen broke into the room. And they were alive.

Nobody Loves Forever

By Margaretta Brucker

XXXII
SHE had angered David by defending Tom. She read it in the tightening of his lips, the sudden darkening of his blue eyes, in his tone which was sharp and cutting, unlike his warm, vibrant tones when he told her that he loved her.

David said, "You talk like a child, Jessica."
"I'm not a child." She felt an odd resentment. Tom did not consider her a child. Did she appear weak and dependent to David?

He gave her a quick smile and covered her cold hand with his own. "Look," he said coaxingly, "can't you see that all this dependence upon you is a trick? Can't you understand that you've allowed your sympathy for this man to run away with you? Look at it this way. Suppose that something had arisen in my own family? Do you believe that I would make that an excuse to postpone our happiness together?"

"No," she said, and truthfully, for she began to understand that nothing stood in the way of David's wishes or desires; and what she read in his face brought no reassurance. There was something ruthless in his expression as he tried to convince her that she owed nothing to Tom Blake and his family. Nothing whatever!

He spoke fluently and well, presented endless arguments. She had not been nappy, had she? No. She had been miserable and lonely in the house where Tom Blake left her with no thought beyond the fact that she would find shelter with his people. He had shown no consideration for a girl he claimed to love.

"HE'S quite different now," she said, surprising herself by the statement and aware that, until this moment, she had not realized how different this grave man, who gently nursed his mother, was from the brash young man who had hung about the drug store in Kentucky hoping to catch a glimpse of her.

"They're all different," said David unhesitatingly, "and why not? Are you going to allow your feelings to run wild because a man has fought overseas?"

"It isn't that," she felt bewildered, tired, suddenly. She was not what she had expected of this afternoon. She wanted to say: You are different, David. You are not the man who spent the brief times we had together repeating how anxious you were to protect me, care for me. Is this your idea of protection? Persuading me to avoid all obligations, treating me like a child incapable of making a decision?

David said, "This man is clever enough to play upon your sympathy for him. You met and married him in a moment of infatuation. What do you know about him?"

What do I know about you, David? she thought uneasily. Soon she must make a decision. A decision she shrank more and more from making. She would not make it today, she determined. Somehow, first, she must get in touch with Lucy—give Tom someone to keep him company when she left him.

When she made no answer to David's question, he went on, "Blake must carry his own burden. Suppose that he had not married?"

"He would have had Lucy," she said slowly. Yes, if Tom had not married, he would have had Lucy. Her entrance into the Blake family was more or less responsible for Lucy's straying from the path and principles set by her mother. Jessica had tried again and again to persuade Lucy to be different. The girl had lived so long under her mother's dominating influence that, suppose when she tried to escape, she were unable to adjust herself to a different way of living? Suppose she were susceptible...

DAVID said, "Your husband can hire a nurse to take care of his mother. He can insist that his sister return and take a job in Akron." His voice became impatient. "Look, are we going to continue to quarrel over Tom Blake? Do you realize that the afternoon is half gone and we haven't talked about anything but your husband and his family? Is that what you looked forward to today, Jessica?"

She confessed that David was right. She had looked forward eagerly, not to this, but to hours spent as she and David had spent other times, happy, carefree. She forced herself to try to recapture the gay mood in which she had set out after leaving Betsy with Doris. She tried to concentrate upon David's bright plans for the future: the car he would give her as a wedding present, gifts, trips, no responsibility. But her thoughts constantly strayed away, and she thought uneasily of what might have happened in her absence. She must get back, quickly; she became more and more uneasy, and tried to find excuses why she must leave.

In spite of his pleading that he had made plans to take her out to dinner, she shook her head. She wouldn't tell him that she wanted to hurry home to prepare Tom's dinner. She denied, even to herself, that the time spent at the dinner table, with Tom opposite and Betsy in her high chair, was more appealing than the gay evening David promised.

"Why?" she asked herself. Why? "I must get back to Betsy," she told David.

Was his response impatient? Would he resent her love for Betsy and regard Betsy as another man's child? Everything was wrong with this afternoon which had begun so happily.

They parted, David silent and hurt because she was leaving him, annoyed because she refused to let him accompany her to the bus stop, angry that she would not say when she would meet him again.

easily. I do not think that seven spades is too much to bid with his hand. Our lesson has to do with the correct line of play.

A beginner would be inclined to win the opening lead of the queen of clubs with dummy's ace, figuring on cross-ruffing clubs and diamonds. All we have to do is to take 13 tricks, and take a good look at the dummy.

Isn't there a way to set the dummy up? There are only three outstanding trumps, and they can be picked up with dummy's trumps. So let's set up the club suit and pick up the trumps at the same time.

Vacation Advice At No Extra Cost

BY STANLEY FRANK

Oh, it's simmering Summer time, tra la, tra la.

It's prickly heat and perspiration time. June bugs are buzzing. June brides are blushing. Juniors are howling.

And it's vacation time. No doubt you'll soon be leaving the place of torture where you spend 11 1/2 months slaving for a living, and escape to romantic fields afar, there to spend what little you've saved since last vacation time, plus a little more you've borrowed.

You're going to the mountains, where it's cold at night, hot in the daytime, and a log cabin costs so much you wonder how even presidential parents can afford to own one.

Play It Smart

Or you're going to the beach, which is so far away you barely have time to get there from Midland before turning around and heading back across the desert toward home.

Or maybe you've decided to play it smart and visit your wife's people for a week, thereby saving money. "A penny saved is a penny earned," you quip. That's what you think. It'll cost you plenty, because her relatives are going to return the visit as sure as your born. Have you tried entertaining a house full of guests in Midland for a week or two?

Okay, you may say, so what can a guy do? You've got a vacation coming, and the family needs all about it.

You're in a spot, brother, but don't give up. Right here, perhaps for the first time in history, you're going to get the benefit of some really logical thinking about vacations. It will cost you nothing. For the usual nickel you get all this and Alley Oop, too. It just goes to prove the truth of an observation you may have forgotten: "The best things in life are free." See? Vacation Object

First, let's consider the object of a vacation. What do you expect out of it? Well, if it didn't cost so much it would be more enjoyable, wouldn't it? Then, if it made you glad to get back to work, it would have served its purpose, wouldn't it? Quit drooling, now, you're going to get the whole story, but it'll take time.

Here's the way to make an inexpensive, nay, profitable, vacation that will bring you home fairly bursting with good health and eagerness to show the boss you're a vital cog in his machine:

Go to the nearest federal or state employment office, literally, which section of the country most critically needs agricultural laborers.

You'll find they need cotton pickers in the Rio Grande Valley. They're paying big money, and housing accommodations are taken care of for you. The state family can work, and see that they do.

The Golden West

Or perhaps it's the Golden West that lures you. Swell! In the Salt River Valley of Arizona you can find cotton-picking and hay-baling opportunities literally lined with big money. The days are long and hotter than 40 acres of burning stumps, to coin a phrase, but that's part of the deal.

Now, if it's California that calls, you're particularly fortunate. You can pick lettuce in Yuma (Yuma's in Arizona, really, but the desert air is so clear and scorching you can see into California by brushing the sweat out of your eyes). You can learn the fine art of irrigation, and so can the kids, in Fresno or El Centro or Imperial, where the thermometer seldom registers more than 100 degrees.

They want people to pick pears near Portland, probably. Maybe it's grape-picking time in the San Joaquin Valley.

Watermelon Thresher

Did you ever see a watermelon thresher? Now, wait, please. It's no gag. Go to Sacramento, Calif. Look neither to the right nor the left at the air-conditioned bars. Turn West as soon as you can do so without letting some truck driver run over you, and go about 36 miles. You'll come to a place where they raise pedigreed watermelons by the hundreds of acres. You can easily get a job tending the melons into huge machines which crush the things, suck the seeds, and spill the rest of the melons, including juice, on the ground. It's an education within itself.

Glad To Get Home

But enough of this. Surely you see the advantage of such a vacation. It will net you money, or at least keep you from spending what you've managed to save. It will put you in top physical shape. And it will make you glad to get back to Midland and your wife's job here.

What more can the most extravagant traveler folder promise?

The Continental Shelf And Who Owns It Explained By Three Texas Lawyers

By DAVE CHEAVENS
AUSTIN (AP)—What is the continental shelf, who owns it and who cares who owns it? The answers to these questions and some others are given in plain language by two lawyers and a University of Texas government professor in the April issue of Texas Law Review.

The lawyers are Robert E. Hardwick of Fort Worth and Carl Illig of Houston, the professor is C. Perry Patterson of Austin. Who cares who owns this 200,000 square mile chunk of soggy real estate? Hardwick, Illig and Patterson give the tip-off in the first paragraph of their 41-page package, anybody who is interested in oil. They note that the United States Supreme Court's 6-3 decision in the California case gave the federal government full dominion over the resources of a belt of land lying three English miles off the California coast, "including the oil."

Who owns the continental shelf? The question is now before congress. Hardwick, Illig and Patterson son dig into history to trace philosophies and acts of government that created the belief that the states owned the land outward from their coasts for varying distances. They review administrative acts and court decisions by the states and come up saying they believe the states should own the shelf, or the specific parts they claim.

What is the continental shelf? These writers define it as "a comparatively shallow expanse of ocean floor extending under the seas adjacent to the continents, sloping gradually to a depth of approximately 100 fathoms."

Some of the states claim it, like Louisiana and Texas. Others claim varying distances seaward as coming inside their borders. Florida asserts title to three leagues of their shores when they were admitted to the union, the Law Review article notes. (A "league" commonly means three sea miles, and the average is 6,090.90 feet; a statute or English mile is 5,280 feet).

A further indication of who is interested in the ownership of the shelf is the fact that virtually all the states are active in the fight to obtain federal quit-claim legislation to the tidelands.

The ultimate answer to who owns the shelf and the oil that lies under it hangs on the outcome of two bills pending in congress. One would cede title to the states. The administration measure opposing it would give the federal government control over the resources of the seaward area from the shore line to the continental shelf. The secretary of the interior would have control over leasing these resources.

Texas started in 1938 from the Creole Field, Cameron Parish. It produced approximately 2,787,000 barrels through 1947. In 1942, gas condensate was obtained from the Rabbit's Island Field in St. Mary's Parish, La., seven miles out in the Gulf. Oil was found recently in the Ship Shoal Field, Terre Bonne, Parish, La., 12 miles offshore.

In the Caplan Field of Galveston County, Texas, there are several direct coastal oil wells that penetrate a producing formation of the shelf, but none yet on the shelf itself. The state continues active leasing, in the face of the controversy over who owns the land.

In summing up their views of who owns the shelf, or at least as much of it as each state now claims, the Law Review writers had this to say: "In view of our political history and organization, the exercise of control for more than a century by the littoral states, and the investment of millions of dollars under the belief, justified by many decisions by the supreme court, that the state had title and the right of control, the littoral states have substantial grounds for insisting upon a release of federal claims, to three miles."

"Any realistic handling of the total problem therefore favors a complete release to the states of federal claims."

Texas Claims
Texas has its own set of claims. They are based on a series of legislative acts dating back to the Republic's assertion of ownership to three leagues in 1838, and the terms under which this state was admitted to the union.

The legislature in 1941 stretched the Texas claim from three leagues to 27 marine miles. In 1947 it passed an act extending the boundary of the state to the "outer limits of the continental shelf." This brings Texas into direct challenge of the administration act proposed in Congress.

The legislature's act of 1947 was a map-maker's nightmare. It added 18,404,274 acres to 12 coastal counties. It made Jefferson County the biggest county in the state and shaped it like a fan. Chambers county emerged on the map looking like a broken ax with a handle sticking out 140 miles into the Gulf. Nobody kicked about this.
