Dewey Tide Swirls Higher As Balloting Starts At GOP Meet

CONVENTION HALL, PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—The Republican National Convention started its first roll call vote for nomination of a 1948 presidential candidate Thursday at 12:35 p. m. (CST).

By JACK BELL CONVENTION HALL, PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey rode an apparently rising tide of votes Thursday in this hall, crowded with delegates to pick a Republican presidential candidate.

Backers of the New York governor were so confident he had the nomination that they were talking about who should be his vice presidential running mate. Rep. Charles Halleck of Indiana was getting most frequent mention.

Gov. Kim Sigler of Michigan told reporters he would take a poll of his delegates to indicate what they wanted to go if the nomination appeared lost to Vandenberg.

As the time neared for the first call of the states, the New Yorker's forces were ready to pour every available scrap of voting fuel into the contest.

STANDARD OF KANSAS TO DIG WILDCAT IN NE MITCHELL

Standard Oil Company of Kansas, has filed an application with the Railroad Commission of Texas, requesting permission to start making hole at spot on its No. 1 George W. Tackel, at a 7,750-foot wildcat in Northeast Mitchell County.

The prospector will be 600 feet from northwest and southwest lines of section 19, block 25, TP survey. That puts it six miles northeast of Colorado City.

The 7,750-foot destination should take the project into the Ellenburger.

OIL CARRIERS IS STILL DRILLING IN E-C OXFORD

Oil Carriers, Inc., No. 1 Max Pray-State of Texas, East-Central Upton County wildcat, now penetrating into the Ellenburger, had reached 11,784 feet in lime, and was boring ahead.

The venture has not attempted a drillstem test since it developed a little salt water, and slight signs of gas, at 11,600-714 feet.

It is expected that the venture will likely try another test when it reaches about 11,814 feet. The project is 600 feet from south and east lines of the west 120 acres of the south half of section 38, block Y, TCR survey, and three miles west and a little north of the discovery for petroleum production in the Benedum field.

HONOLULU SPOTS ANOTHER PROSPECTOR IN E-C HOCKLEY

Honolulu Oil Corporation, has filed an application with the Railroad Commission of Texas, requesting a permit to start drilling at once on its No. 1-13-B Ellwood, as a possible 4,500-foot wildcat in East-Central Rockley County, about three miles north of Smyer field.

The project is located 600 feet from east and 1,900 feet from south lines of section 13, block A, R. M. Thompson survey.

That puts it one half mile south and three-quarters of a mile east of the same company's No. 1-13 Ellwood, located 600 feet from north and west lines of section 13.

That prospector has discovered commercial production from the Glorieta zone of the middle Permian, between 8,875 feet and the total depth at 6,014 feet.

It is now in course of taking potential test and completing as a new field opener. On preliminary pumping tests the well indicated a possible daily oil yield of between 200 barrels and 250 barrels of oil.

The new discovery is three and one half miles west of the Smyer field, where there are a few wells which get their oil from the Glorieta.

LION TO DRILL STEP-OUT TO MARVIN AREA IN STERLING

Lion Oil Company No. 1 Kenrick-Postler, a new outpost from production in the Marvin area of Southeast Sterling County, about eight miles south of Sterling City, to try to develop production from the Wichita-Albany zone of the lower Permian.

The project is to be 330 feet from north and west lines of the lease in section 18, block 15, H&TCo survey. That puts it about 4,000 feet east and a little south of the Anderson-Fricker and the Corporation and the Vickers Petroleum Co., Inc., No. 2 Marvin Francis Foster, the second well to get oil in the Marvin field.

The Marvin area is becoming rather active. Anderson-Fricker and Vickers are starting No. 3 Foster, and Stanolind Oil & Gas Company, Phillips Petroleum Company and Humble Oil & Refining Company, each are beginning operations on stepouts from the two oil wells already assured in the pool.

TO TRY TO MAKE SHALLOW WELL OF OLD DEEP PROJECT

Lion has filed an application with the Railroad Commission, asking for a permit to go into an old deep wildcat in Southeast Crane County, and try to complete a shallow producer from the Grayburg-Permian pay at about 2,900 feet.

The project is Lion No. 1-OC G. H. Gowden. It is 600 feet from south and west lines of the southwest quarter of section 14, block X, OGD&RNG survey, and six miles southwest of the town of Crane.

This development was originally drilled to a total depth of 10,192 feet, by Humble Oil & Refining Company. It had eight oil shows in several zones. Humble tried to make a well in the Devonian in the venture. That effort was unsuccessful and the well was abandoned and the lease turned back. Since that time Lion has developed production from the Grayburg, in nearby wells, to open the CJB field, and that concern is now going to try to get commercial oil in the shallow zone in the old prospector.

HERRILL, ET AL, COMPLETE TWO WELLS IN NEW FIELD

R. R. Herrill, et al, of Midland, have reported official potential test on two stepouts from the initial producer in the shallow Orient.

Behind The Iron Curtain

Too many women are forced to work in fields, neglecting their families.

Farm family's home in a devastated region, built of salvaged wood and grass thatch.

Dairy woman pours milk, from unsanitary cans, into bottle brought by girl buyer at right.

Wrecked house provides this woman's only stove.

Lumber production for housing must be doubled, says FAO. Some sawmills have so little yard space they can't operate to capacity.

Through FAO missions, western nations still have contact with Communist-dominated peoples behind the Iron Curtain. An FAO (Food and Agriculture Organization of the UN) mission is a group of experts, usually from several countries, which goes to a country to study its food, agriculture, forestry and fisheries problems. It goes only at the request of the country's government. These pictures are from the report just released, of the FAO mission to Poland. Its 10 experts spent two months in Poland last Summer. They traveled some 45,000 miles within the country. They reported: Polish agriculture, food supply and forestry are in a state of emergency. Too many people are tied to farms. Thousands of women, who should be tending their families, serve as field hands. A great dearth of farm machinery. Lack of fertilizer reduces vital crops. Housing is critically inadequate. Farmers are over-taxed, under-paid. Cattle are tubercular and milk distribution unsanitary.

You'll have an advantage over pale-skinned beauties. Even coppery skin, however, needs the flawless grooming supplied by a tinted foundation that evens up tone and a matching powder that adds a beguiling finish.

PROPER SHOES ARE A 'MUST' FOR ADULT

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Many of the minor foot ailments which plague a woman's middle years can be minimized if she will make a choice of more sensible shoes.

Doctors suggest that the lady whose off-heel complaint is "my feet are killing me" wear shoes of proper size with broad, low heels. She is advised to be particularly choosy about finding a last that conforms to the shape of her foot. For solid support, the needs shoes which have both leather uppers and leather soles. Leather soles should be flexible enough to accommodate foot muscles. Soles and uppers should be of a type of leather which prevents over-heating and over-perspiring of feet.

As important to foot comfort as well-fitting shoes are stockings of proper size. To give toes room in which to stretch out, a stocking foot should be one-half inch longer than the longest toe of the foot.

BRIDES SHOULD KNOW DINNERWARE TYPES

The June bride who is shopping for dishes should know the general types and characteristics of dinnerware.

There are four general types: earthenware, semi-vitreous chinaware, china and porcelain.

Earthenware is the least expensive of the four. It is porous because it is not fired to very hard degree, and will break more easily than less porous ware. The glaze on earthenware tends to scratch and flake.

More expensive is semi-vitreous chinaware. It is less porous and, therefore, more resistant to chipping or breaking. The glaze is more impervious to scratching and will not flake as easily as the glaze on earthenware.

Still more expensive but most resistant to chipping are china and porcelain. Both are non-porous or "vitrified." Thin plates are translucent when held up to a light. China has a softer glaze than porcelain but scratches on china are not easily noticeable. So-called "bone" china gets its name from the fact that bone-ash is included in the composition. The name does not signify a type of china that is harder or longer-wearing than ordinary china of comparative value.

In general, the more elaborate the decorations and the more colors used, the more costly the dinnerware will be.

To The Ladies: You Can Take It

By CYNTHIA LOWREY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK—The most horrible words in the English language are "housewife" and "career girl."

Almost all adult women are inevitably one or the other, and to a woman we find ourselves flinching when we're accused of being one or the other. It's the words, not the jobs we do, that bother us.

There are good reasons for these reactions. They are the conditioned reflexes Pavlov encountered when he trained hungry dogs to drool.

Housewives have been the victims of an open season since before the war. Since the end of hostilities—when the emergent need for Rosie the Riveter went glimmering—they've widened the season to include the ladies who toil for a stipend in the market place.

Degraded Pictures

It's gotten so that the mere words evoke pretty dreadful pictures—pictures which have been drawn and redrawn, by radio, the movies, the magazine and—here particularly—psychologists and psychiatrists.

Combine with celery, capers and green pepper. Moisten with mayonnaise and heap on bed of lettuce. Garnish with strips of green pepper or sweet parsley.

The June bride who is shopping for dishes should know the general types and characteristics of dinnerware.

There are four general types: earthenware, semi-vitreous chinaware, china and porcelain.

Earthenware is the least expensive of the four. It is porous because it is not fired to very hard degree, and will break more easily than less porous ware. The glaze on earthenware tends to scratch and flake.

More expensive is semi-vitreous chinaware. It is less porous and, therefore, more resistant to chipping or breaking. The glaze is more impervious to scratching and will not flake as easily as the glaze on earthenware.

Still more expensive but most resistant to chipping are china and porcelain. Both are non-porous or "vitrified." Thin plates are translucent when held up to a light. China has a softer glaze than porcelain but scratches on china are not easily noticeable. So-called "bone" china gets its name from the fact that bone-ash is included in the composition. The name does not signify a type of china that is harder or longer-wearing than ordinary china of comparative value.

In general, the more elaborate the decorations and the more colors used, the more costly the dinnerware will be.

AMAZING RESULTS WITH MERTOX TONIC

Mrs. Ben Grossman of Houston writes us as follows:

"For a long time I have had occasional bilious spells. My head would hurt and I would feel tired. I would lose my appetite and I just thought I would die. My appetite was gone and I couldn't sleep at night. I was so troubled with my bilious spells that I would be dizzy and I would have a severe headache. My food soured and it just seemed as if everything was wrong with me. To anyone suffering like I was, I recommend MERTOX Tonic.

Visit Tire Manufacturers

C. E. Byrd, vice president and sales manager of the Mercury Equipment Company of Pasadena, Calif., and Bonnie Day of Hollywood, also a representative of the company, brought the machine to Midland. They are on a tour visiting principal tire manufacturers, and users of the nation, demonstrating the machine, which is made of an aluminum alloy.

It eliminates old-fashioned tire tools, it eliminates beating and hammering of tires and protects both tire and tube from abuse.

Weaver, who went to California to become associated with a tire company, started work on the machine two and a half years ago. In 1948 it was placed on the market. Temple Bowen of Fort Worth has been appointed Texas distributor.

At the speedway in Indianapolis a tire was dismounted and mounted in 29 seconds. The record for the machine is 11 seconds.

Major tire manufacturers already have approved the machine, which does its work without damage to tires or tubes.

The tiremaster won a gold cup and a cash award for Weaver at the World Inventors Exposition, Pan-Pacific Auditorium, Los Angeles last Summer.

NEW YORK—The well-dressed woman will look like a portrait from the family album next Fall, if the Guild of New York Designers have their way.

A recent preview of Fall styles presented by some 40 members of the Guild took inspiration from the theme, "Whistler and His Time." Fashions revived the silhouettes and fabrics of the latter years of the painter's life, from 1880 to 1905.

The Guild is a professional association of dress designers representing a cross-section of garment manufacturers in a wide price range. Members worked with original source material at the Brooklyn Museum.

Styles shown included costumes for sports, street, cocktail and evening wear, in addition to wedding gowns and bridesmaid frocks. All were based on paintings, prints and textiles from the Whistler era, and were presented in nine scenes, each based on the artist's work.

Russia's Squeeze Play

Russia is making another attempt to drive the Western Allies out of Berlin. The efforts may seem to take petty and childish forms—the sit-down in the Soviet's British-sector radio station, the flimsy excuses for blocking rail and motor traffic, and so on.

The prize is Germany, and control of Berlin would give the Russians a big advantage. As a city, it hardly seems worth fighting for. But as a symbol, Berlin in Russian hands would probably make a deep impression on the German people.

The Russians' sole occupation of the city might raise the stock of the "unified" Germany that they are trying to sell. Already there seem to be a lot of prospective buyers.

After all, the Germany that voted Hitler to power in a free and honest election wouldn't fear a dictatorship as would a country with democratic traditions—so long as a new dictatorship would let the Germans feel and act important and treat them no more cruelly than the Nazis did.

Since Berlin is surrounded by the Soviet zone, the Russian squeeze play is not hard to work. If it comes to a point of driving the western forces out of the city, the Reds could do it with little trouble.

There are two evident reasons for this. One is the unwillingness to give Russia a clear-cut advantage in her effort to divide and conquer Germany. The joint administration of Berlin has long since become a fiction; in place of four-power control there are two hostile camps.

The other reason is that as long as Allied troops and administrators are in Berlin, the Russian efforts to oust them are daily reminders that Marshal Stalin is trying to repudiate his solemn agreement with the heads of the American and British governments at Potsdam.

Even if the six-power program for a Western German government is carried out, France, Great Britain and the U. S. would probably keep their forces in Berlin. Their presence would continue to serve notice that it was Russia that forced the setting up of a western-zone government.

Physically it is true, as the Russians say, that the four-power setup in Berlin is senseless from the western standpoint. The personnel of the three nations must be supplied from considerable distance and at much expense.

Will Russia resort to force and seize Berlin? It seems unlikely. For such a move would be the signal for another world war, with Russia clearly the aggressor.

Henry Wallace must feel neglected. In spite of all the recent booby-prize nominations, no one has thought to accuse Henry of being the worst third-party candidate the country ever had.

The world is full of a lot of people who can lead the way—but where to?

Sounding The Democratic Campaign Keynote

Without Criticism, Congress' Record Would Be Far Worse

WASHINGTON—The spectacle of Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio—co-author of the Taft-Hartley Labor Relations Law—telling Congress in effect that it ought to go home on strike in protest against President Truman's criticisms, is really one for the book.

Taft accuses Truman of wanting to suppress the democratic process of American government. But wait a minute. Isn't the right to criticize in free speech the very basis of democracy? It is much Taft's right as it is Truman's, and vice versa.

It is regrettable that there is no evidence of teamwork in the mid-sliding match now going on between the President and Congress. But when the scores are added up, it will be interesting to note how much good this brawl may have accomplished.

The President isn't the only one who has been paying Congress. The nation's press and radio newsmen have been laying it on pretty thick, just by giving a factual record of what's been going on in Washington. And they're getting results.

Changes Made If the President had remained silent and if the newspapers and radio had been asleep at the switch, the wreckage of this Congress would be far worse than it's going to be. Continually hammering at Congress in the best traditions of free-speech democracy, a lot of changes are being made in these final weeks of the session.

For instance, a thoughtless resolution to sabotage the present United Nations organization and set up a weak rival might have been approved by Congress if it had not been criticized by the State Department and an alert press, and if more rational substitute measures had not been brought forward by Senate and House Foreign Affairs Committee under Chairman Arthur Vandenberg and Charles Eaton.

The Reciprocal Trade Agreements program might have been completely crippled by the House if the President, the State Department, the press and radio had not aroused the Senate to corrective action. The same forces have been hard at work to modify House slashes in Marshall Plan recovery funds. Even GOP Presidential Candidates Dewey, Stassen and Warren joined this criticism of Congress.

Aid to Fascist Franco Spain might have been included in the European aid program by the House if an aroused public opinion had not protested and if the Senate had not corrected the error. There would have been no aid for displaced persons and other anti-Communist refugees if Congress had not been criticized into legislating.

Manhattan Has Fears Peculiar To That Island Only

By HAL BOYLE. NEW YORK—Fear has a home in you. It has a home in every man.

Fear is a color—yellow. Fear has a taste—and men in war know its acid flavor. Fear is a hand clutching at your throat, or squeezing your vitals.

People who live in big cities have fears all their own. These fears came with the cities, and will pass perhaps only when the cities are gone.

One of the strongest big-city fears is that of being hit by something falling. It is a fear that becomes stronger with many persons the longer they live amid Manhattan's high canyon walls.

There is a long chase here that a person afraid to live can hurtle down in a suicide plunge and kill someone below who is afraid to die. This indeed is a strange meeting of fears. But it has happened more than once in this metropolis where strange things are the rule.

The fear of being lonely here is common, but it has a terrible quality in New York, because it is always worse to be lonely in a crowd. The fear here isn't what your neighbor may think of you, but rather that he'll try to become friendly—and expect something from you.

But the fear of fears in this market place of the world, where every kind of talent seeks a buyer, is the fear of failure—the fear of falling behind the mass that clamors for what you seek. This is the fear that makes the human race—so hard.

Lester C. Boone Withdraws From Race

Lester C. Boone, Midland attorney, announced Wednesday afternoon he was withdrawing his candidacy for state senator, 26th District.

Boone said the press of his law practice made it impossible for him to make a campaign. He explained that several cases in which he actively will participate will be called during the time he would need to be working in his campaign.

Boone urged his supporters to consider the candidacy of Bill D. Hudson of Pecos for the position.

The DOCTOR Says Jaundice Was Common In War; Long Rest Is Best Treatment

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D. Written for NEA Service.

During World War II a disease called epidemic or infectious hepatitis caused a good deal of trouble. This disease has been recognized in occasional outbreaks or individual cases for a long time and was formerly called catarrhal jaundice. It is an infectious disease involving principally the liver. It has occurred in more or less widespread epidemics both in this country and in many theaters of military operation.

In more than four-fifths of the patients there is an early period of the disease lasting a few days, which precedes the characteristic jaundice or yellow coloration of the skin. It is about one out of 10 the jaundice appears at the beginning of the disease. The early stage is usually accompanied by easy fatigability, slight nausea and almost complete loss of appetite.

Some Have High Fever About half of the patients have a fever of up to 105 degrees. The jaundice often gives the victim an intense yellow color of the skin and eyes and other mucous membranes; sometimes the yellow coloration is very slight indeed. Headache is present in a few. After the jaundice has appeared the second stage lasts from one to three weeks. A convalescent stage is recognized too, lasting for one or two months. Usually from six to eight weeks is required for full recovery, though a few patients may not be quite well for several months.

A chronic form has been described. The most important part of treatment is to begin strict bed rest early and to keep it up for a long enough time. A diet containing a high proportion of protein foods is also used and seems to shorten the course of the disease. The cause of this condition is probably a virus which is a tiny living organism too small to see under the ordinary microscope. Although much has already been learned about this disease much more needs to be discovered and on this problem many capable scientists are working.

Ralph Lowe Fined On 'Hot Oil' Charge

FORT WORTH—Federal Judge Joe B. Dooley Wednesday levied fines in two criminal cases which amounted to $2,400. Ralph Lowe of Midland, an independent oil operator, was fined $400 on each of 61 counts on "hot oil" violations, to which he had entered a plea of not guilty.

Charles A. Bowen, a Dallas grocer, was found guilty on four counts on an indictment charging illicit distribution of sugar ration stamps and was fined $1,000 on each count. Lowe was charged with placing approximately 6,000 barrels of illegally produced oil in interstate commerce from April 1946 to May 1948. The oil leases were in Dawson County. Lowe's attorney said restitution in the amount of $34,000 had been made to royalty holders and the remainder would be paid immediately. He denied there was intent to defraud smaller royalty holders.

Texas League—Cats Make Hay As Rain Washes Out Three Games

By The Associated Press
The elements and a four-hit pitching job by Eddie Chandler gave the Fort Worth Cats a boost in the Texas League race Wednesday night.
Rain prevented leading Tulsa and running-up Houston from playing and Fort Worth made hay by trimming Beaumont 2-0 to advance within a game of second place. It was the only game of the night to go into the standings.
Dallas and Shreveport played four and one-half innings and took out in the face of a downpour with the score tied 3-3.
Houston at Oklahoma City and San Antonio at Tulsa were postponed.

Johnson Lashes Out At AFL Endorsement Of Coke Stevenson

ATHENS, TEXAS (AP)—Lyndon Johnson Thursday called upon every laboring man to write his AFL-endorsed opponent in the Senate race and "ask him to tell you where he stands on the Taft-Hartley Law."
"If my opponent has promised to repeal the law, the people have a right to know. If he has not made such a promise, the people have a right to know," he declared.
Not referring by name to former Gov. Coke Stevenson, who was endorsed by the AFL Convention in Fort Worth Tuesday night, Johnson called the endorsement "an act of desperation promoted by a frightened candidate in an effort to save his faltering campaign."
He added: "I think the laboring men should ask their leaders to tell them openly why they wanted the unions to break a 50-year-old precedent and endorse a faltering candidate who did not have the courage to sign or veto the state's most vicious anti-labor law when he was governor."

DOWN SPORTS LANE

with TANNER LAINE

While the very impressive "Jim Prince Night" ceremonies were underway we wondered where Howard Green, president of the Longhorn League, was.
The biggest event, with the most honor to the league, ever to happen to it, was in progress. And where was Green?
Granted Green might have a petty dislike of some nature for Midland, he still should have been here. Jim Prince's national honor belongs to the league as well as any one installation.
We can't help but remember back when we ran into Green overseas. The Longhorn League was in the train child then. He asked us if Midland might be interested. We said yes. And we sincerely believe Midland is one of his best league cities. We are sure Midland has one of the nicest parks and best-run installations in the entire loop with the best of fans.
It's not that we care, Howard Green, whether you were here or not personally. Your position demanded that you should be. You didn't answer the call of duty or respect to your league.
Where were you?
—SL—

We believe it our duty to baseball as a clean "American" sport to report the sorry spectacle of Tony Traspueto, Big Spring catcher, spitting at fans here.
This COLUMN is going to report the act to the National Association. And we are going to ask if American citizens and baseball fans, have to take such acts which look much like the spitting acts of Nazi prisoners often turned toward Americans.
Any man, be he Midland or Kalamazoo performer, who puts on a professional baseball uniform, should be a sportsman, a gentleman at all times. Regardless of the tirades and taunts of fans, the ball player must take it and perform with skill and abandon to the side of the stands. We would as quickly turn in a Midland ball player, should be spit at the fans.
—SL—

Polly Riley Tangles With 'The Babe' In Golf Quarter-Finals

CHICAGO (AP)—Polly Riley, a current Texan, and Babe Didrikson Zaharias, who belongs to the Lone Star State by remote control, tangled Thursday in the key quarter-final battle of the 19th Women's Western Open golf tourney.
Miss Riley appeared primed to give the 34-year-old former Port Arthur-Beaumont-Dallas athlete a real run for her money.
Miss Riley Wednesday exploded for the most one-sided second round triumph, a 6 and 5 verdict over another Texan, Bettye Mims White of Dallas.
Miss Riley turned the first nine in 38 three strokes better than any of Mrs. Zaharias' three cracks at the 3,082-yard, women's par 37 out nine.
Mrs. Zaharias, registered for Crossings Country Club of Ferrisdale, N. Y., gained the quarter-final round with a comparatively easy 5 and 4 win over Mary McMullin of Green Bay, Wis.

Westinghouse Plans Use Of Stratovision To Extend Television

ZANESVILLE, OHIO (AP)—The Westinghouse Electric Corporation has announced plans to make regular use of its stratovision method of spreading television over wide areas if the Federal Communications Commission gives its approval.
The company has applied for permission to operate a stratovision plane over Pittsburgh to broadcast television to the surrounding area. Westinghouse officials say such a flying television station could reach 250 miles in every direction from Pittsburgh, compared with the normal range of 35 to 50 miles for a ground station.
The company told its plans following the first public demonstration of stratovision here Wednesday night. Ordinary home receivers brought in a telecast of the Republican National Convention in Philadelphia. A stratovision plane flying nearly five miles above Pittsburgh picked up telecasts of the convention by station WMBR-TV in Baltimore and broadcast them. Reception here was from the plane's rebroadcast. Spotty Reception
The reception was spotty at times due to what Westinghouse engineers said was interference that would not be encountered under regular commercial operations. However, much of the telecast was fairly clear although it was originating from a station nearly 300 miles away, far beyond the normal range of a ground station.
The co-developers of stratovision, Westinghouse and the Glenn L. Martin Company, claim it could provide coast-to-coast television much earlier than otherwise would be possible and could extend service into areas that may not have stations for years—if ever.
Neutral experts took a cautious attitude toward stratovision pending further tests of its practical aspects.

Weather Again Threatens Louis-Walcott Title Tilt

NEW YORK (AP)—Joe Louis and Jersey Joe Walcott fidgeted Thursday while the elements pondered a suitable time for them to settle their dispute over the heavyweight boxing championship of the world.

A heavy downpour shortly after noon Wednesday forced postponement of the 15-round engagement at Yankee Stadium—Louis' twenty-fifth title defense and, he says, his last fight.

Indians Climb Back Into Race With 7-2 Win

By The Associated Press
Midland got back into the fight for first place in the Longhorn League Wednesday night by beating the front-running Big Spring Braves 7-2. It moved the Indians within a game of the lead.

Fourth-place Odessa couldn't take advantage of Ballinger's idleness to move into a virtual tie for third. The Oilers lost to Sweetwater 7-4 while Ballinger's game with Vernon was postponed because of rain.

San Angelo licked cellar-dwelling Del Rio 8-1 in the other game of the night.

Nation's Top Pros Tee Off In Inverness Best-Ball Round Robin

TOLEDO, OHIO (AP)—A purse of $10,000 hung at the end of 126 holes of play Thursday as 16 of the nation's top-flight professionals launched the 11th Inverness Best-Ball Round-Robin invitational meet.

The winners get $3,000 of the melon, and practically everyone expected gold's golden boys, Ben Hogan and Jimmy Demaret, to pick that check after Sunday's final round.

Philly Bonus Rookie Starts Pay-Off Drive

By RALPH BODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Robin Roberts, 21-year-old right-hander, is proving the Philadelphia Phillies made a smart move when they gave him $25,000 to sign with their organization.

The lanky speedball pitcher gained his first major league victory Wednesday night, stopping the Cincinnati Reds 3-2 at Philadelphia. Roberts held the Reds to seven hits—two of them homers by Hank Sauer and Danny Litwiler. He fanned nine and walked only three.

The Springfield, Ill., youth, who was brought up from Wilmington of the Inter-State League on June 17, made his first big league start against the Pittsburgh Pirates on June 13 and dropped a 2-0 decision to the veteran Elmer Riddle.

In addition to having a fine fast ball, he possesses good control and an overhand as well as a punting side arm hook.

The game was the only one played in the National League. Others were postponed because of rain. Yankees, As Come Through

In the American League, the second place New York Yankees beat the league-leading Indians 5-1 in 11 innings.

Tommy Henrich broke up the game with a grand-slam homer off Don Black, who went the route for the Tribe.

The Philadelphia Athletics, behind the six-hit pitching of Dick Fowler, swamped the Browns 12-1.

At Detroit, the Washington Senators nosed out the Tigers 2-1. All runs in the game were unearned.

A scheduled Boston Red Sox-White Sox game was postponed because of rain.

New Mexico Clubs Cut Ice In Loop Race

By The Associated Press

The two New Mexico members of the West Texas-New Mexico League are cutting the most ice as the campaign rolls to the half-way mark.

Wednesday night Albuquerque beat Amarillo for the third straight time to shove the Gold Sox further down the ladder and strengthen Albuquerque's hold on second place.

Down in the cellar, the Clovis Pioneers are beginning really to move. They won their sixth consecutive game by edging Borger 9-4. Now they're only two games out of seventh place.

Leading Pampa licked Lamesa, 17-1 behind excellent pitching by 18-year-old rookie Merlin Hubbard and kept their two-game margin over Albuquerque.

Albuquerque strapped Amarillo 11-7 as Frank Shone notched his seventh pitching victory.

Bobby Layne, the former University of Texas star, won his second game on the mound as Lubbock beat Abilene 8-8, but again the Blond Bomber wasn't around at the finish. He went out in the eighth in the middle of a Blue Sox rally.

White-tail deer signal to their kind with their white flag, or tail.

Braves On Warpath

Many believe the Braves are the danger in the National League, and among the reasons are Warren Spahn, left, and Bob Elliott, batting clean-up. Southpaw Spahn is out to duplicate his 31-game season and 2.33 earned-run average of last year. Third baseman Elliott seeks to repeat as the elder circuit's most valuable player.

Dewey— (Continued from page 1) the boiler in the first two tries for the coveted prize. With that steam up, the Dewey strategists counted on coating victory on the third roll call if they don't pull the trick earlier. Against this, Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota and a scattering of favorite sons fought a defensive, delaying game. Dewey leaders claimed they will reach 500 votes—only 48 short of the nomination—by the second ballot. And with that start, they said, nothing can stop him. Taft's heavy-eyed delegates were quickly and vigorously disrupted from the other camps. Near-Dawn Session Amid traditional fanfare and tumult, the Convention early Thursday heard the last of seven names presented to it as candidates for the presidency. Dawn was barely an hour distant when the noisy speech-making session came to a hasty-throated end at 4:02 a. m. Philadelphia time. West's heavy-eyed delegates were told to be back in their places at 2 p. m. (noon GST) to start the serious business of picking the party's 1948 standard bearer. Interspersed by demonstrations ranging from two to 38 minutes, the sales-talk oratory presented the names of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, Gov. Earl Warren of California, Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, Senator Raymond E. Baldwin of Connecticut, and Gen. Douglas MacArthur of Wisconsin. Taft took the prize for the longest demonstration — 38 minutes. Dewey lasted 32, Warren 26, Stassen's 25 and Vandenberg's and Baldwin's about six minutes each. ## Seven Hours Of Yelling Leave Republican Voices Worn Out

By HAL BOYLE
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Convention side-lights: The people's voice, filtered through 4,000 Republican laymen, wore down to a whisper Thursday after nearly seven hours of yelling for their seven "peoples' choices."

The Grand Old Party's grandest bid party began with a stirring exchange of war whoops and boos between people for and against Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

It ended at 3:02 a. m., with a hoarse tired cheer for Gen. Douglas MacArthur in a hall three-fourths empty.

By then the hall looked like it held a semi-nude convention meeting in the wreckage of a hurricane. Confetti, torn streamers, discarded paper cups and sandwich scraps littered the floor. Three fugitive red balloons bobbed against the ceiling, trailing "Win with Taft" pennants. The men delegates long since had discarded their coats, their neckties and ripped open their collars. Many lady delegates had slipped their feet out of their shoes.

Janitors Awoke
As the delegates filed out, the janitors awoke from catnaps and went to work.

Had the dawn come up like thunder Thursday it would have sounded only like a whimper to the weary Republicans dreaming sweet victory dreams—for Tom Dewey, Or Taft, Or Warren, Or Stassen, Or Baldwin, Or Vandenberg, Or MacArthur.

Wednesday night the voices named these seven. Thursday or Thursday night or Friday votes will pick the one survivor—the 1948 nominee.

One elderly marcher, after trading half an hour in the Dewey parade around the hall, sat down next to his wife and said:

"All right, mother, I've knocked myself out."

Another delegate grabbed a friend and tried to get him to march around again:

"Come on, Ed!"

"I'm for him all right," said Ed, "but my feet aren't."

"Let's Go Home"

A wife said to her husband, also a Taft man: "Let's go home."

"Not for money!" yelled her spouse. "This is more exercise than I get on the farm."

As the parade for Gov. Earl Warren of California got underway Paolinan Joe Pisano nailed two characters busy lifting badges from coats left on chairs by two delegates.

"We wanted to see up real close," one of the badge grabbers explained virtuously.

Another Warren supporter moaned: "I've been tuning up for this all night—and now I'm too hoarse to yell."

This happened after the speech nominating Stassen:

First voice: "What did he say?"

Second voice: "I couldn't hear. Yell anyway."

Baby Gets a Shady Deal

Rex Waggoner, age 2 1/2, of Rolla, Mo., enjoys an ice cream stick in the protecting shadow of a sentry from the 138th Infantry, Missouri National Guard, during a recent visit of the Freedom Train. While parents of Rex were viewing the train, they left the soldier to double as sun shade and baby sitter.

$450,000 Bond Issue Need Is Explained By Midland's School Board

When members of the Midland Board of Education voted to call a bond issue election to raise another $450,000 for expansion, construction and improvement of existing school facilities in Midland, they simultaneously invited Midlanders to ask any questions regarding the need for the additional funds.

School board members also passed out a mimeographed brief listing present school facilities, school census, and the effect the bond issue, if approved by voters in the election July 10, would have on taxpayers.

Statistics in the brief show there were 3,237 students in Midland schools at the close of the last term, which found buildings seriously crowded. And it is "conservatively" estimated that membership in schools here will have increased by 307 students when schools open this Fall.

This estimate, the Board of Education notes, excludes guesses as to how many more families and school-age children may move to Midland as a result of completion of the McClintic, Wilkinson, Chapple, and Stanollin Buildings, now under construction.

Need For More Rooms
Even if the total increase in school membership by Fall is only 307, this increase will call for addition of 10 classrooms. The board predicts classes will be held in auditoriums of elementary schools at the opening of the Fall term.

Membership in Midland High School, listed at 596 at the close of the last school term, is expected to total at least 829—an increase of 233 students—by Fall of the 1950-51 school year, according to the brief.

Detailed costs of construction and expansion of schools to take care of immediate needs, plus those needs which school board members foresee in the near future (next year) are listed in the brief.

Plans Are Ready
Plans of the new high school building and additions to other school buildings have been discussed publicly about a year. They already are drawn, ready for use. But building contractors unanimously declined to follow them for the $1,000,000 which Midland citizens voted to spend when they approved a bond issue in an election last May. The lowest bid was $450,000 in excess of the amount of the last bond issue.

Board members obtained a 60-day grace period in which to decide whether to accept this bid and find out whether voters would approve the extra bond issue. If Midlanders approve the issue, their taxes will be raised from $1.25 to $1.40 per $100 valuation.

Face Facts
Whether the July 10 election will find the bond issue approved or rejected will be decided by voters. But members of the Midland Board of Education, school teachers, parents of school children, and the public in general all are faced with the same fact: Midland's population is steadily increasing, and it already has passed the point where present school facilities can adequately accommodate students.

That's what the Midland Board of Education has informed Midland citizens in its mimeographed brief and in discussions with taxpayers.

Creation Of Eastern State Would Kill Hope Of Unified Germany

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
Events appear to be moving rapidly towards a formal division of Germany into two states—one comprising the Soviet Eastern Zone and the other the Western areas occupied by America, Britain and France.

Russia and six satellite countries have been staging a conference in Warsaw aimed at creation of a separate state in Eastern Germany. They also are said to be planning another assault on the Marshall Plan.

Should Moscow create a separate German state it would of course be added to the satellite nations which Russia has overrun.

A most extraordinary and dangerous aspect of this situation is that the once-proud capital city of Berlin lies in the heart of the Russian zone, although it is partitioned among the four Allies for purposes of military occupation. Thus not only would both Eastern and Western Germany be deprived of the capital, but the most important communications center of all Europe would be divided against itself—a badly crippled giant.

Actually such a Russian move would formalize a situation which already exists in effect. The difference would be that hope of a unified Germany would be killed, thereby dealing a heavy blow to general European economic rehabilitation. Germany has been a keystone of continental economy, and the Western Allies have been striving for unity in order to speed the general program of recovery.

The new Soviet project represents another offensive in her cold war against Democracy. It would create a delicate situation, but probably would fall short of actual gunfire.

First Requisite Of Third War Will Be Speed

By JAMES V. STREIBIG
WASHINGTON (AP)—It looks like it as pushbutton air war may have to include pushbuttons to push pushbuttons.

Because it's going to be such a fast war that the bombardier's senses will hardly be quick enough to twist the knobs and things while the plane covers the last mile before bombs-awa.

Speed will bring many changes in aircraft design too. The day of gun-bristling warplanes is about over. Fighting craft will have to tuck their arms for flight at very high altitude and speeds. Guns, rockets and bombs sticking out into 600-m.p.h.-an-hour airstreams create a costly drag. Streamlining will have to go all the way.

Here is a little of what aviation ordnance experts see:

Turrets will be retractable. Guns will be shorter, but they will be heavier caliber, harder hitting and faster firing. Remote control will be the rule rather than the exception. Automatic gun laying or sighting equipment will be reduced in relative size from a melon to a peanut.

Bomb designs either will be changed to conform to the needs of very high speed, or they will be hung in special containers aerodynamically suited for super speeds.

Airborne rockets may be either put inside the wing and popped out on racks for firing or hung on racks which drop off or disappear into the wing after firing.

Gun ports will be covered when not in use to avoid needless drag. Escape ports behind the guns to avoid too high pressures from the combination of ram air and gun gases are likely.

Shells Not Ejected
Used shells will not be ejected into the air as was the World War II custom. They will remain aboard the plane for two reasons: To help maintain proper fore and aft balance and to avoid hitting the firing plane or an accompanying plane.

Furthermore, this will eliminate another port hole and therefore possible drag.

And the experts must make everything work faster and more accurately than ever before, at greater distances and with less time.

Bombing technic is one of the big problems.

The best World War II bombers usually dropped from altitudes around 22,000 feet at speeds of around 340 miles an hour. The newest bombers will fly at about 600 miles an hour and operate at 50,000 feet.

The world war bombardier released his bombs roughly two and one-half miles from the target. If there is a World War III, bombardiers will be making their releases more than 10 miles from the target.

Since the size of the target will be the same, distance will multiply aiming errors.

The high cost of bullets, rockets and bombs for super-speed warplanes, with the relatively small amounts which can be carried by a plane, require great accuracy.

Air force and naval aviation experts are working on automatic means of sighting and firing guns and aiming and releasing bombs. Speed and distance involving very high speed flight will make it impractical to depend entirely on human vision.

Dropping a bomb on something more than 10 miles away is just one phase of the job. The release point arrives in a very short time. At 600 miles an hour, the last mile before point of release is covered in six seconds.

Excommunication Of Hungarian Parliament Reported To Vatican

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Reports reached the Vatican Thursday that Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, primate of Hungary, has excommunicated the members of the Hungarian government and Parliament, who on June 16, nationalized Hungary's Catholic schools.

Announcement of the excommunication, the reports said, came in the form of publication of an article in the code of canon law providing such action. "a priori" against persons "passing laws, decrees or resolutions against the liberty and rights of the Holy Mother Church."

A commentary attached to the article by Cardinal Mindszenty made it clear these rights included educating Catholic children in Catholic schools, the reports added.

Outlook Bright For Nation's Corn Crop

ICAGO (AP)—More than knee high by the Fourth of July appeared to be a certainty Thursday for the nation's all important corn crop.

Traditionally corn should be knee high by July 4 if the country is to have a good harvest. It already is knee high in several midwest areas and growing rapidly as a result of heavy rains in the past 48 hours.

High prices now posted in grocery and meat stores are attributable at least in part to last year's short crop production.

Crop experts cautioned the crop will need timely rains in July and August—what it lacked in last year's drought—to come through to a big harvest as desired. But right now the outlook has seldom, if ever, been better.

Sawmill Worker Held In Roadside Slaying Of Orange Cab Driver

ORANGE, TEXAS (AP)—Authorities Thursday held a young East Texas sawmill worker in an undisclosed jail on a murder charge in the brutal roadside slaying of an Orange cab driver.

He is Lester R. Brown, 20, of Mauriceville, who told Sheriff Chester Holt he killed cab driver J. P. Hopson, 28, because of a four-year-old grudge.

Hopson's body was found in a wooded section early Sunday 14 miles north of here. Three bullet holes were in his body. His head had been battered in. Both arms and a leg were broken.

Sheriff Holt said Brown was arrested at his home Wednesday and that when questioned admitted the slaying.

The sheriff said Brown made his statement after he was confronted by Texas Ranger Dick Middleton.

New Locations In Midland District Jump Up To 86 On Latest List

There were 86 new locations for oil and gas explorations reported to the Midland district office of the oil and gas division of the Railroad Commission of Texas during the latest seven-day period, as compared to 54 last week, according to figures listed in the previous week.

Five of the new projects were wildcat locations—last week there was only one wildcat. Those tests were scattered over five counties, with one each for Crane, Howard, Loving, Pecos, and Sterling.

Heckley County again topped the list for new activity with 21 new drillsites listed. Ector was second, with 13 new ventures. Andrews was credited with 12 new prospectors.

Other counties, and number of new locations in each were: Gaines and Pecos, six; Borden and Crane, four; Howard, Mitchell, Sterling, and Winkler, three; Crockett, Dawson, and Hale, two; and Loving and Ward, one.

South Sea Handicrafts Get Class

HONOLULU—(P)—The sophisticated with sea handicrafts of today are turning out handicrafts that look as if they might have come from Fifth avenue.

"If we want anything primitive we have to make it ourselves," complained one importer. "Pacific natives are up on all the new trends—including the one toward high prices."

One Honolulu trader penetrated the remote Fiji islands not long ago, taking along his own jewelry designs. With the samples to go by, islanders now fashion sleek, modernistic watch bands and brooches of tortoise shell.

Lattice-turned mahogany bowls from the Society Islands are in Waikiki beach shops alongside "antique" wood carvings of pagan gods. Delicate shell necklaces from the Holiday Islands complement the "new look" gowns at resort hotels in Hawaii. Fabric mats and handbags woven from Hawaiian hala tree fibre could appropriately be tagged with "made in California" labels.

DATES SET BY KING FOR GARDEN PARTIES
LONDON—(P)—King George has tentatively chosen two July dates—the 8th and 22nd—for this summer's big garden parties at Buckingham Palace.

A number of the palace staff said between 5,000 and 6,000 invitations would be sent out for each.

The garden parties were revived last year after a long lapse because of the war. Intended by the king and queen to take the place of more formal court functions of pre-war years, they are kept fairly informal, especially for the men, who are permitted to wear ordinary lounge suits.

Honor Among Petrol

Motorists whose cars run dry along the superhighway between Amsterdam and The Hague in Holland can sample a new service—yourself-and-pay-later gas station. The "honor system" filling station has gas ready in cans. The motorist helps himself, signs a ticket, and sends the money later. It has been in operation three months, without a gallon stolen.

CARE FOR STRAW HATS
If your straw hat gets caught in a shower, don't wipe it. Absorb the moisture with a sponge or dry cloth. If it's a sailor, the brim should lie absolutely flat to dry. Panama and other straw styles need different treatment, unnap the brim all around and place on clean shelf to dry, after absorbing moisture. In all cases, turn leather band inside out and let hat rest on upturned band, advise hat researchers.

DETACHABLE BRISTLES
A new hairbrush is designed with detachable rows of bristles so that it can be taken apart for cleaning. The six rows of bristles are separately mounted on separate pieces of Lucite, arranged in a semi-circle on the brush back. The fact that the rows of bristles may be replaced in a different sequence each time they are reassembled makes for more equal wear.

The first lighthouse tower on Cape Hatteras was erected in 1798. After 72 years of pounding, the Atlantic reached the lighthouse base. A second lighthouse was built a mile inland from the original tower. The Atlantic required 66 years to reach this point, which has been abandoned for a third lighthouse, another mile inland, built of steel.

Cook Economy Meat To A Turn

By GAYNOR MADDOX
 NEA Staff Writer

Although beef brisket is an economy cut, with browning in drippings and careful cooking, it can be made delicious.

Beef Brisket With Onion Sauce (Serves 4)
 Two pounds beef brisket, 1 tablespoon drippings, 1 small onion, diced; salt, pepper, 1 carrot, diced; 1 egg, slightly beaten; 1 cup dry bread crumbs.

Brown lean meat, trimmed free of fat, in heated drippings. Cover with boiling water; add the vegetables and seasonings and simmer until meat is almost tender. Strain off broth, mix meat and vegetables with egg and bread crumbs and place in greased baking dish. Sprinkle with crumbs and brown in moderately hot oven (400 degrees F.) for about 20 minutes. Serve with Onion Sauce.

Onion Sauce
 Brown 2 tablespoons sugar in 1 tablespoon fat. Add 2 medium-sized onions, sliced; cook until tender. Add 1 tablespoon flour; brown slightly. Add 1 cup broth in which meat was cooked, and 1 tablespoon vinegar. Cook until smooth. Remainder of broth may be used for soup or gravies.

Here's another economy suggestion. Make a bargain deal with your butcher for the shank end of a picnic ham which he can't sell as a slice.

Escalloped Ham And Noodles (Serves 4)
 One cup noodles, 1 cup ground, cooked ham, 1/4 cup celery, diced; 1 tablespoon parsley, chopped; 1 cup milk, 1 egg, 4 tablespoons bread crumbs.

Cook noodles in boiling salted water until tender. Drain. Put a layer of cooked noodles in a greased baking dish. Cover with ground ham, celery and parsley and the remaining noodles. Combine the milk, egg and seasonings; pour over the noodles and top with bread crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degree F.) for about 40 minutes. Gravy or meat stock may be used in place of part of the milk mixture.

Poor But Dishonest Yellow Kid Makes, Loses 8 Millions

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Joseph (Yellow Kid) Well was a poor but dishonest boy from Chicago who grew up to fleece the American public of $8,000,000.

He began by peddling a phony tapeworm cure at a buck a bottle and reached his peak by bilking an Omaha banker out of $350,000 in a fake stock deal.

"Unrepentant at 70 but now reformed, this master American confidence man for 50 years has just written an autobiography which will make your reading for scores of his victims.

"All the people I swindled had something in common—greed, the desire to acquire money," he said. Illegal On The Face

He says that in most cases his victims were rooked while they were eagerly trying to share in an enterprise which was illegal on the face.

In this way he made suckers out of wealthy men and women anxious to get something for nothing out of supposedly fixed horse races, rigged gambling games, and oil lands, stock issues, and copper mines which they supposedly could buy at bargain prices from unsuspecting owners.

Well relates with some evidence of delight the times he swindled bankers, whose morality in the boom twenties he holds in little esteem. Bankers seem to have been natural fall guys for his "get-rich-quick" bait.

Reproduce Paper Money

With glib assurance he showed one Indianapolis banker a small machine that apparently could reproduce paper money. The banker, the "Yellow Kid" says, promptly suggested that they duplicate a hundred $1,000 bills from his own bank, although obviously this would be counterfeiting. Well got $87,000 from him and left the banker in a hotel room trying to take out new bills from the fake machine.

Aging now but debonair as ever, the "Yellow Kid" once known to the police of two continents, earns a modest living doing telephone soliciting for charitable organizations.

The $8,000,000? Gone—all gone.

Deadliest Kinds Of Warfare—Gas Atoms, Germs—Tried Out On Cancer

While the search for a cancer cure goes on, X-ray with surgery is still one of the best methods of treatment. Here a high-voltage X-ray machine is being used to radiate the jaw of a patient whose cancer was discovered soon enough for successful treatment.

NEW YORK (NEA)—Name the poison—and the chances are it's being tried on cancer.

All over the country, scientists financed by the dimes and dollars collected by the American Cancer Society are trying to find ways of killing cancer.

There are only two standard methods of treatment—surgery and radiation. But dozens of other devices are being tried—some with temporary success—besides cutting cancer out of the body and rubbing it out with death rays.

At the Institute for Cancer Research in Philadelphia, they are using roots of the May apple (podophyllum) to poison cancer. Unfortunately, it tends to poison the nervous system as well when it is absorbed by the body.

The deadliest kinds of warfare have been waged against cancer—poison gas, atomic radiation and germs.

Nitrogen mustard, Germany's fearsome World War II secret poison gas, has given relief without curing in some tests at universities such as Utah and Chicago.

Products of the atomic bomb are being used against cancer. Radioactivity is being attached to such substances as carbon, arsenic, sulphur, iodine, phosphorus, sodium and cobalt in hope that tumor tissue will take up lethal doses. Some of the substances have shown slight promise on a few types of cancer.

Fitted Against Disease

In Philadelphia, Galveston and other cities the deadly germ, Trypanosoma cruzi (which the Russians call KR), is being pitted against the disease.

At Alabama Polytechnic Institute they are experimenting with diets to frustrate cancer. At the Southern Research Institute industrial researchers are screening thousands of chemicals in hope of finding a few that will kill tumors. Famous chemists at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore are conducting similar tests for other toxic substances.

Drugs, some of them dangerous, are being tried on cancer at the Cornell University Medical School; and at the University of Pennsylvania, colchicine and other powerful poisons are being modified to destroy tumors.

More and more, hormones are being used on some malignant growths—male and female sex hormones on breast cancer, female on prostatic cancer.

Former Minister Of Russia Says People Want Freedom

NEW YORK (AP)—Thirty years ago a Russian disguised as a demobilized Serb officer slipped aboard a small fishing boat at Murmansk and sailed for England. He left convinced he would return soon to Russia where for four fleeting months of "explosive history" he had ruled 150 million people.

Alexander Fedorovitch Kerensky, head of the 1917 provisional government which replaced Czar Nicholas II and was in turn overthrown by the Communists, never saw Russia again, but he still believes he will. The Russian people, he says, still love freedom. The dictatorship will be overthrown.

Ask him how, and he shakes his white, short-cropped head sadly and says, "I don't know. I don't know."

Ask him how soon, and he shakes his head again. "I don't know. Am I right?"

Ask him if his prediction is wishful thinking, and he admits good humoredly, "Perhaps, but the hate the Russians have for their government is a fact, it is proved by the thousands of Russian D. P.'s who tried to disguise their nationality, even tried suicide, rather than return. It is proved by my own sources inside the country from whom I hear indirectly."

At 67, Kerensky looks more like a prosperous merchant than an alumnus of the Russian revolution. He is erect, dapper, charming, his tastes run to tight-fitting suits and tall collars. His accent is still thick and becomes thicker when he gets excited.

His two sons from his first marriage are engineers in London. Since his second wife died two years ago, Kerensky has been living with friends in a comfortable private home on the Upper East Side.

Writing and lecturing about Russia, Kerensky says, bring him his livelihood. He puts forward two principal themes: That the Communist regime was foisted on the Russian people as a double-cross disguised in the name of liberty, and that the world must understand the Russian people are capable of living in democratic freedom.

"The present world situation," he says, "is not the result of Russian imperialism, but of Communist aggression. There is a difference. The Russian people were the first victims and what was before a Russian tragedy alone is now becoming a world tragedy."

Place In History

Briefly, Kerensky's place in history was this: In February, 1917, when three million Russians had been killed by the Germans and the civil population was starving, the czar was ousted by a conspiracy of high officers and nobles who wanted to set up a constitutional monarchy. Kerensky, a lawyer and former member of parliament, wanted to set up a middle-class republic.

In May, 1917, the Liberal Aristocrats were tossed out in a move-

Make peanuts the guest of honor at the dinner table by adding them to such vegetables as cabbage, celery, eggplant or zucchini. Peanuts rate this treatment because they are low cost and will contribute some protein, B vitamins and fat to the family's diet. Food specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture also suggest peanut butter sauce for cooked cabbage or cauliflower. The sauce is made by blending one-fourth cup of peanut butter with two teaspoons of flour, half teaspoon of salt, one cup of milk and one tablespoon of table fat. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly until sauce is thick.

ed on cancer by beacons producing many times the voltage of the most powerful X-ray machine. Michael Reese Hospital in Chicago is among the institutions experimenting with fast electrons.

Hundreds of scientists are treating cancer with such substances as stilbamidine, urethane, folic acids, multiple sugars and other chemicals. A few types of cancer respond for varying periods. But the only standard cures are surgery and radiation; and they must be used before cancer has seeded the system and invaded vital organs.

Early Detection

In an effort to provide means of early and easy detection of cancer, many scientists are trying to establish blood tests.

While research probes for control and cure, a revolutionary home-care plan for advanced cancer patients has been declared successful by the New York committee of the American Cancer Society.

A year's experiment with the plan at Montefiore Hospital has resulted in drastic revision of traditional hospital practice. Hospital ward cancer patients who can do well in their homes if provided with active medical and nursing care, are transferred to home care after careful screening by doctors and social workers.

Full and part-time physicians are assigned to home care, as well as specialists such as surgeons, ophthalmologists and orthopedists. The patients go home with special hospital beds and, where practical, wheelchairs.

The plan has economic benefit to both patient and hospital—home care of cancer patients is about one-fourth of institutional costs, and scarce space is freed for new patients who must have hospitalization.

But the big benefit is the "human value" to patients in whom the desire to live had almost vanished until they were returned home.

Now Is The Time For All To Be Photo Conscious

By IRVING DESFOR AP Photo Art Director

Now is the time for all good amateur photographers to get contest conscious, if they haven't done so already. Many newspapers feature the photo contest in their weekend editions and offer various prizes. The weekly winners then have a further chance to compete in national awards where the prize money is almost large enough to be mistaken for a radio quiz show.

It won't hurt to repeat a few of the basic rules in submitting prints so that your efforts may receive the kindest attention from the swamped editors.

First and foremost, you must have a picture, a good picture. Be a severe judge and make sure your photo is interesting to others (not relatives), tells a worthwhile story or is good to look at. Simplicity in composition is the keynote. Convergence on the point of interest and eliminate all non-essentials.

Skip Volumes

We'll skip the volumes that could be written this point and assume that you do have a picture that fits in one of these four classes: (1.) babies and children; (2.) teen agers and adults; (3.) scenes and still life, and (4.) animal life.

The most acceptable entrant to all editors is an 8 by 10 inch glossy print. Negatives should not be submitted, but must be available later on should your photo prove to be a winner.

Don't send stamped, spotted or cracked prints. Don't dig up old pictures. Do write in ink, on the back of the photo, all the information an editor might want to know—your name and address are most important. Typewriting and pencil markings on the back are likely to show through and mar the glossy surface. Captions attached to the print may get separated from it.

With your lens on a subject, and an eye on a contest, be sure you get the name and address of any person that appears in your photo. You'll need their written consent before you are eligible for any national awards, if you have a winner.

Having come this far, it would be a shame not to mail it properly. That means a good cardboard backing for the print and sufficient postage to ensure first class delivery.

Federal Employees Forbidden By Law To Play Politics

By ROBERT E. GEIGER

WASHINGTON—(AP)—This being a campaign year, the government is warning about 2,000,000 federal and other public employees not to play politics.

Signs posted in government buildings in Washington and throughout the nation are headed by the word "Warning" in big black letters. Underneath this word the signs say: "Political activity of federal employees prohibited by law" and "Political activity of certain employees of a state or local (city) agency prohibited." The United States Civil Service Commission is distributing these warnings and telling officials to post them conspicuously.

In a town like Washington, where politics are the vitamins of social life, this may sound like the pot calling the kettle black. The big shots can play politics but the little people can't. But there are good reasons for the "no politics" rules. They are written into the civil service regulations and are contained in a federal law, the Hatch Act. A proven violator is punishable by dismissal from the federal service.

One reason for the rules is to prevent the building up of a great political "machine" among federal employees and the thousands of other persons employed by state or local authorities on projects sustained in whole or part by federal money. The 2,000,000 federal employees and their families alone represent 7,000,000 or more votes. If each was for the same candidate and persuaded only a friend or two concerning his vote, the total number of votes involved, or "influenced," might be over 10,000,000. This would have been a big chunk of the 48,000,000 votes cast in the 1944 Presidential election.

Forbids Electioneering
The law doesn't forbid employees to discuss elections and candidates privately with their families and friends. But it does forbid outright electioneering, like making a speech.

The danger of creating a formidable federal machine was apparent as long ago as 1801, when a presidential directive by President Thomas Jefferson forbade non-elected federal employees from engaging in politics. The civil service rules have contained a "no politics" clause since the commission was established in 1883. Briefly the rules are:

1. Civil service rules apply to all civil service employees in Washington and other cities. The great majority of federal workers, outside the military, come under them.
2. Most other government employees come under the Hatch Act.
3. Neither the law nor the civil service rules apply to the president, vice president, cabinet officers or other top officials who set government policies. Also exempt are the people of the law-making (congress) and law-interpreting (judges, etc.) branches of government.
4. The Hatch Act also covers employees of state or local agencies, like highway departments, that obtain all or part of their funds from the federal government.
5. In general, an employee can't serve in any official political capacity or make campaign speeches or solicit political funds. He can't run for political office if party politics are involved.
6. The employees are permitted to take part in local elections not run on a party basis. As an instance, one might be a candidate for a school board if none of the candidates was running as a member of a political party, and no party issues were raised.
7. The rules and the law do not forbid individuals from expressing a political opinion at a private gathering such as a bridge party.

Must Discharge Him
Federal offenders are dealt with by the Civil Service Commission. If it is proved that an individual violated the civil service rules or the Hatch Act, the commission must discharge him. The commission is given no other choice. The commission also may decide about the guilt. If his boss doesn't fire him, the commission may cause a sum of money, equal to two years' pay for the individual, guilty, to be withheld from the federal money due the state or local agency.

Since the Hatch Act was approved in 1939 there have been 392 complaints against state and local employees and 1,218 against federal workers. There have been 117 federal employees discharged. Nineteen state or local employees have been ordered discharged. One of the stingers that really hurts is a ruling that the law even covers such events as the Jackson Day dinners, the annual Democratic pow-wows held in all parts of the country. One federal employee was prosecuted this year because he was selling tickets to a dinner.

Know A Wick Willy Who Had A Blowout In His Stovepipe?

WASHINGTON—(AP)—So you know a wick willy who had a blowout in his stove pipe?

If you know a jet plane pilot, the chances are you know one whose engine quits while in flight. That is what the question is about, using some of the language developing in the Air Force.

The "airplane driver" of World War II is now a "fireman jockey," "flame flyer," "wick willy," "pipe pilot."

The crate he manages is a "blow torch," "flame thrower," "squirt," "blast furnace" or "stove pipe."

And the engine "blows-out" instead of "coming out."

The inspector now "trims the wick," "tends the burner," "checks the pipe," and if he finds the engine doing okay, it's at a "steady boil" or "cooking." He starts it by "building a fire" or "sparking up."

And the "greatest monkey" is now a "jet monkey" or "jet-roving tender."

Homes of the future may be heated by a new radiant heating panel that heats from the ceiling. The panels are heated by a conductive rubber resistance element.

Nobody Loves Forever

By Margaret Brucker

XXXVIII
 "LUCY will be home the fifteenth," Tom told Jessica one evening. Then he added, "You will be free to leave then."
 Free! How could she be free, she wondered irritably. She wanted so desperately to shake off the burden of anxiety and worry which enveloped this old house. She tried to convince herself that she would be glad—yes, glad when she turned her back forever on Tom Blake and his family.
 One afternoon David invited her to go for a drive. No reason to refuse. Tom had no interest in what she did. His aloofness hurt her. After all, she had tried so hard to help him during his trouble, struggled to keep the house as his mother kept it, worked valiantly learning to cook, and feeling a surge of pride when Tom occasionally praised her. Not love—no, she and Tom no longer loved each other. They shared a home, which was something different, something which lacked the thrill of that mad ecstasy they had shared before Tom brought her to Akron. Something she would never experience again, once she left Tom.
 The thought angered her. When she left she wanted to make a clean cut, have nothing to remind her of Tom.
 But there was Betsy, she remembered.
 She thought of Betsy now as David remarked that since housing conditions were difficult, they might live in a hotel.
 Jessica wanted to say that Betsy would not thrive in a hotel, but there was time enough to discuss that later. Right now she had another plan to which she must win David's consent, a plan that had come to her the night before when she was writing her father, telling him she would soon be home in Kentucky.
 David liked to talk about Kentucky. He was always interested in her descriptions of her home and the big plantation which her grandmother owned. Now she introduced the subject and he listened attentively.

 Jessica was a bit breathless as she broached her plan. "I want to take Lucy with me to Kentucky."
 "Permanently?"
 "I don't know. You see—the change will help her," she pleaded.
 A GLANCE at his set face told her that David was angry. He looked straight ahead as he skillfully threaded the back downtown traffic. He said bluntly, "That plan is out—definitely out. Do you suppose I want to visit you and confront that girl? Have you considered what Linton will think?"
 "Why should I care what Hugh Linton thinks?"
 "Because Hugh Linton has the power to dictate my future."
 An oppressive silence followed. David turned off the busy street and drove on for blocks. Then suddenly the car entered a park entrance, the same park to which Jessica had taken Betsy one bright autumn afternoon when she was heartick and lonely.
 David stopped the car. The sun slanted, blood red, through the snow-clad trees.
 "Do you remember?" he asked softly.
 "Yes." Her voice seemed lost in the silence of the woods.
 David pulled her roughly toward him and kissed her again and again. There was no warmth in her lips. He gave a startled exclamation.
 "I love you, darling," he told her.
 Many, many times he had said that, and always she had thrilled to his voice. Now she pushed him away.
 She said, "I don't love you, David."
 THE silence terrified her. It was dusk. The shadows deepened in the woods and she could not see David's face clearly. After a little while he repeated blankly, "You don't love me?"

 "No, I'm afraid I never loved you."
 David said harshly, "What do I do now? Laugh? Is this some crazy joke? Are you angry because I objected to your scheme to help Blake's sister?"
 "That had nothing to do with it," said Jessica sadly.
 But his lack of understanding about Lucy, about anything which brought worry or anxiety or discomfort, contributed greatly to her realization that she and David possessed nothing upon which to build happiness.
 Their love lacked foundation. No love could exist upon anything so flimsy as caresses and soft living, and desire for pleasure.
 "I'm sorry," she said.
 David said eagerly, "Please, darling." And then, as she pulled her hand away when he tried to take it, "You aren't sorry. Let's be truthful now if we never see again. You aren't sorry. You're more or less relieved. Ever since Tom Blake came home you've been different. Do you want to know what I think, Jessica? I think you're still in love with your husband."
 He stopped and kissed her gently. Then he started the motor. "Don't fret about me, Jessica," he said, "I'll get me another girl."
 When David left her at the house he made no move to touch her other than to hold her hand for an instant. Jessica stood on the porch steps in the darkness and watched him drive away, his hand upflung in a salute, a gallant gesture of farewell to her.
 She entered the house. Tom came down the stairs to meet her, pulling an envelope from his pocket. "I picked up your reservation," he said matter-of-factly. "I stopped and ordered it the other day. I wanted to be sure there would be no uncertainty about your leaving."
 He turned and walked away.
 Jessica stood staring after him. She held the envelope in her hand. She wanted to laugh hysterically. She didn't want David and Tom didn't want her.

At the Ohio State tournament this year I was happy to see Carl Aphonso and Henry Jaeger two former teammates of mine and two really great card players.
 We were discussing the famous Western Reserve team, who won the Ohio State team-of-four title this year. The team consisted of Elmer J. Babin, Sidney Fink, A. S. Goldsmith and O. S. Emrich of Cleveland, and Charles H. Coran of Philadelphia. Today's lesson hand is the result of our discussion. You can see that the declarer has to lose two diamonds and the ace of hearts quickly. He cannot afford to lose any spades. Everybody agreed that he should play the ace of spades at once. Now should he play the jack of spades from dummy, hoping to find the ten and one on the left?

 "Emrich, who played this hand, advanced the theory that the best percentage play is to hang down the ace and king of spades. This protects the declarer against a spade loser if the queen and one are doubtless on the left or the right. The only time he will win by leading the jack on the second round of spades is when the ten and one are on the left.

 This is a neat safety play that can be missed easily, but is never missed by good, careful players.

Meat Patties

Meat patties gain a new flavor from addition of a little mayonnaise.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Chopped beef is always good food. But if served the same way time after time, it becomes monotonous. Try new recipes and there won't be any appetite destroying monotony.

Chief Edward Djura of the Shoreham Hotel, Washington, D. C., has thought up this de luxe meat patty.

Chief Eddie Meat Patties (Makes 6 large patties)
One pound lean ground beef, 1 medium sized onion, chopped fine; few fresh chopped sprigs of parsley, salt and pepper to taste, 1/2 cup canned tomatoes, drained; 1 tablespoon mayonnaise, 4 slices of bacon.

Saute the onions in vegetable oil until golden brown; mix with the meat; season with salt and pepper. Add canned tomatoes, mayonnaise and parsley. Form into patties and wrap each patty in bacon. Place in pan and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 30 minutes. Serve with sliced tomatoes and onions and pepper rings.

For another variation, try this:
To serve four: Roll one pound freshly ground round steak or top sirloin into small balls about 3/4-inch in diameter. Season with salt and pepper and roll lightly in flour. Brown evenly in hot fat, then place in shallow baking dish. Add an 8-ounce can of tomato sauce. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for about 30 minutes. Turn the meat balls occasionally and baste with sauce. Serve with fluffy rice.

Try mixing chili sauce or catsup with chopped round steak, forming into patties, and browning quickly on both sides on very hot grill. Serve with slices of raw onion and toasted bread or rolls.

J. Edgar Hoover Tells Vacationers How To Cut Down Summer Burglaries

By J. EDGAR HOOVER
Director of the FBI
(Written for AP Newscasters)
Last year, 272,450 burglaries occurred in the United States, 39.2 per cent of them involving residences. In other words, more than 148,000 American homes were burglarized.

Animals, Better Passengers Than Important People

NEW YORK (NEA)—It isn't that Capt. Paul Milnar of Elmont, N. Y., distrusts his fellow men. He just thinks animals cause less trouble than diplomats.

During World War II, Milnar was an Air Transport Command pilot. He went from flying mail-mate material to the 863rd "Brass Hat" Squadron. This was an aggregation of crack, specially-trained fliers who flew "Vipers"—very important persons.

Milnar flew the King of Iraq; Gen. Henry Maitland (Jumbo) Wilson, British Mediterranean Commander who was almost an airplane load by himself; General De Gaulle, Harold Ickes, scads of Congressmen—and Molotov.

Now he's a senior captain of a

Pilot Paul Milnar and passenger: Maybe an elephant next.

Seaboard & Western Airlines DC-4, flying diversified cargo between New York, Europe, the Persian Gulf and the Far East. Among the diversifications which have surrounded Milnar in the airplanes are dogs, cats, horses, mice, rams, hares and hunting falcons.

"They're less trouble," say Milnar, tersely.

He also has flown cobra skins, but the cobras were taken out before he took off.

The dogs and cats were Army of Occupation pets from Germany. It is believed that only an American GI would put up the money to fly a 100-pound dog from Frankfurt to save it getting a cold aboard ship. Some of the dogs were redeployed before their owners, no question of points being involved.

The horses were racing thoroughbreds and breeders from France, Switzerland and Italy, one from the late Benito Mussolini's stable. The rams and hares were also for breeding purposes, and the falcons for people who like to imitate Henry VIII.

Milnar never did find out what the mice were for. But he hasn't time to worry about them. He just overheard the sales department discussing the possibility of flying two small elephants and a rhinoceros from somewhere east of Suez.

Guards Protect Wet Nail Polish

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

The home manicurist whose hands are made helpless by wet nail enamel can remedy matters by sheathing fingertips with polish-guards.

Newly devised to meet this need are guards of plastic which clip over fingertips before polish is applied. After the enamel is brushed on, the guard-cover snaps into place over the nail to shield polish until it dries.

When all 10 fingers are neatly encased in plastic sheaths, hands can be put back into action. Manufacturers claim that sheathed fingertips can dial a telephone, comb hair, slip into a dress or reach for Junior with no risk of smudging or smearing a fresh manure.

This is a rate considerably above 12,000 a month.

Every vacationer might well ask of a thief: "My home one of the 12,000 that will be burglarized while I am away?"

The variations in structure, layout and location of individual homes make it impossible for anyone to lay down ironclad procedures that will guarantee the safety of any unattended residence. Yet there are certain precautions which might minimize the risk that a vacationer takes when he leaves his home deserted during vacation time.

1. Don't let casual, unknown callers at your door or unidentified loiterers in the neighborhood know that you plan to go away.

2. Do not give anyone the impression that you keep in your home such valuables as money or jewelry or other properties that could be converted easily to the use of a thief. Such information can quite innocently leak through neighbors or tradespeople and become a strong temptation to someone who otherwise might never think of burglarizing your home.

3. Be sure that all door delivery services (such as milk and newspapers) are stopped in advance of your departure so that there will not be an accumulation of material at your front door to advertise your absence.

4. Make arrangements to have your mail forwarded or had to avoid an accumulation noticeable to passers-by.

5. Make arrangements with a neighbor to remove daily all circulars or announcements that may be left at your front door.

6. Be sure that a near-by neighbor (who will not be away at the same time you are) knows exactly when you expect to return so that he can report to police any activity he sees around your place during your absence.

7. Let your neighbor know exactly where you are and how you can be reached so that if there is a burglary the police can contact you if they need information to assist them in their investigation.

8. Be sure that all doors, windows and screens are securely fastened (with special locks if necessary). A recent police survey in a large city revealed that over 100 doors to business establishments were left unlocked at night. This kind of carelessness is repeated often in private dwellings.

9. Within the limits of practicality, leave your home looking as normal as possible. Try to avoid drawing your blinds and shades in such a way as to give your home a "shut-up" appearance.

10. If at all possible, arrangements should be made to have any particularly vulnerable areas of your dwelling illuminated at night. It should be noted that more than 40 per cent of the 373,450 burglaries occurring in 1947 were committed at night. If there is a rear door or cellar entrance located on a dark side of your house where burglars can prow undisturbed, a small light might well be kept burning there at night. Few burglars will try to sneak through a lighted doorway or window.

Individual Circumstances
Whether you can arrange to have these vulnerable areas illuminated while you are away will depend on your individual circumstances. In some homes such outside lights are installed with dusk switches—one inside the house and one outside, near the garage door or on the outside facing of a rear door, for example. Under such conditions it might be possible to have a neighbor turn on the lights each night and off each morning.

11. Be sure that all garage doors are closed. Open garage doors indicate your absence.

12. Do not leave notes to let callers know that you are away.

13. Do not leave your key in any of the conventional front-porch hiding places.

14. If you should return from your vacation and discover that your home has been burglarized, do not make an amateurish crime-scene search yourself. Notify the police at once and let them do all the searching inside and outside the house. Let no one touch anything in the house where the burglar may have left fingerprints, and do not walk around in the yard and destroy any footprints that he may have left. Leave everything exactly as the burglar left it and give the police a chance to make an intelligent investigation.

Newspaperman Writes Fiction On Texas Youth

SAN ANTONIO—(AP)—A veteran newspaperman of San Antonio, J. C. Oelin, has ventured into the literary field with publication of his first book.

The book is "Benbenjox," the story of a Texas boy and his problems. It is a fictional account but is told in a manner to give it the appearance of a factual biography.

Oelin is on the editorial staff of the San Antonio Evening News, where he has been employed the last 30 years. Prior to that, he was on the editorial staff of the Galveston Daily News and had served on small country weeklies and dailies. He has spent 46 years in the newspaper profession.

His purpose in writing the book, Oelin said, was to furnish some entertainment and give the world an insight into the American system that can be made to work for the happiness of anyone who makes an effort to enjoy its benefits.

The book tells how the boy meets the difficulties of life, handicapped by impoverishment, and develops a philosophy of faith and contentment and acquires some material success. It is told in simple style.

VARIABILITY NEEDED

Many grass and vegetable crop seeds, such as timothy, bluegrass, carrot and parsnip, give maximum germination only at alternating temperatures ranging from low to high each day.

American Language Gets New Look, New Words During '47

Fashion's new look also lengthened the vocabulary, produced a let-down among hems and husbands.

Bubble Gum on nearly every child's tongue produced other words, not all printable, from the grownups.

Unexplained "flying saucers" produced hallucinations and the inevitable pretty girl montage from Texas.

Baby sitting no longer was a high 'cool girl's monopoly; men got into the pin-money business, too.

CHICAGO—(NEA)—The American language got "the new look" last year.

That phrase, and scores of other new words and new meanings for old ones, have made the nation's vocabulary still longer, according to the 1948 Britannica Book of the Year.

Science provided dozens of the new terms, but economic and political problems also created words to reflect new conditions and new ideas: "Benelux," "Bizonia," "cold war," "Cominform," "crypto-Communist," "Marshall Plan" and "police state," for example.

The Britannica includes the following expressions in its list of more than 100 new words and meanings:

"Baby sit: To sit with a baby while its parents are out.

"Chain reaction: (Figurative) A series of results, one caused by another.

"Diapene: Trade name of a bactericide for diaper rash.

"Dollar crisis: Condition resulting when a country whose exports to the United States fail to balance its imports begins using up its dollars.

"ERP: European Recovery plan; The Marshall Plan.

"Flying saucer: One of a number of mysterious objects, first sighted over Oregon June 24, 1947, and later at other places, flying at great heights and at high speeds. Though the saucers were attributed in part to hallucinations result-

WE WOMEN

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

The older man was talking about his wife, and there was pride in his voice when he said: "In all the years we've been married, she has always quit whatever she was doing when I came in from work."

That seemed to mean much to the older man. It meant that his wife put him first and made his homecoming an occasion—the big occasion of her day.

NOT THE MODERN WAY

That of course isn't the modern way. Today's wife is so scared to death her husband will think she's nothing but a homebody whose day is highlighted by his homecoming that she goes out of her way to make him think otherwise.

She may be off at a neighbor's when her husband gets home, or just rushing in from a bridge party with no preparation made for dinner.

Or even if she is home, she may not even bother to go to the door to meet him. Yet in this attitude isn't the modern wife missing a good bet?

If a woman makes an occasion of her husband's homecoming in the evening, isn't home-going to look like a mighty good idea to him?

And if his homecoming seems to be the highlight of her day, won't it also become the highlight of his day?

The best European white wines—Rhine and Moselle wines—come from the Riesling type grape.

May Egg Production Less Than Last Year

AUSTIN—(AP)—Commercial hatcheries produced 8,920,000 chicks in Texas last month, five per cent less than the 7,900,000 hatched in May a year ago.

Production was 16 per cent below the five-year average for May. Straight run heavy and cross breeds were bringing $13 per 100 on June 1. Light breeds averaged $12.50. Heavy and cross breeds sexed pullets averaged $21 and light breeds were selling for $23. Heavy breed sexed cockerels brought $9.50; cross breeds, $9.10 and light breeds $8.

May egg production was estimated at 235,000. This was four per cent below the year ago figure. The rate of lay was 17.1 eggs per hen about the same as in May, 1947. The state's farm flock averaged 19,000,000 hens compared with 19,852,000 last year.

Oklahoma City Has Trouble With Goats

OKLAHOMA CITY—(AP)—It was goat-getting night in Oklahoma City.

Things were going quietly when all the phones at police headquarters began to ring.

"Officers!" shouted one frantic housewife. "There's a goat eating the washing off my line."

Then the Frisco Railroad called. It had goat trouble, too.

"Say," said the railroad, "those goats have got a switch engine hot-ting up. They're eating the grass between the ties."

It was all too true.

A fence had given way at a packing house and 150 goats were loose in the dark.

India Spends Sixty Million On Refugees

NEW DELHI—(AP)—The Government of India during the first nine months of its independent existence granted nearly $60,000,000 for the evacuation, relief and rehabilitation of about 6,000,000 non-Muslim refugees from riot-ravaged parts of Pakistan. A scheme to build 12 towns in East Punjab has been sanctioned by the government to accommodate refugees. It is expected to cost $7,500,000.

Nearly 2,000,000 refugees have been settled by the government of land and in jobs. Others have settled themselves in business with the money they had brought with them. Only about a million more remain to be rehabilitated.

Sarah Bernhardt earned about $8,000,000 during her international stage career.
