Humble Starts Devonian Offset In C-SW Andrews

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 22 J. E. Parker is to be a semi-wildcat to try to develop production from the Devonian in Central-Southwest Andrews County.

It is about 25 miles southwest of the town of Andrews and one-half mile east of the Humble No. 12 Parker. That development was completed several weeks ago as the discovery for flowing production from the Devonian to open the West Parker-Devonian field.

The new prospect is to be 600 feet from south and 1,900 feet from east lines of section 2, block A-54, pal survey. That puts it two miles north of the Three Bar field, which also gets its oil from the Devonian.

Rotary drilling rig is now being moved to the derrick.

Gulf 1-E Bryant Cores, Possibly In Simpson

Gulf Oil Corporation No. 1-E Wilson Bryant, Central Midland County wildcat which developed free oil at the approximate rate of two barrels per hour during a six-hour drillstem test of the Silurian white limestone at 12,645-767 feet, had drilled from 12,767 feet to 12,782 feet.

It cored at 12,782-784 feet, in hard sand, and was coming out of the hole, at last report.

Some geologists think the prospect is in the top of the Simpson section of the middle Ordovician.

The exploration is 14 miles south of Midland, and 600 feet from north and 1,900 feet from west lines of section 36, block 39, TP survey T-3-S.

Mitchell Wildcat Tests Ellenburger; No Shows

H. Hunt No. 1 Ellwood, Southeast Mitchell County wildcat, 20 miles southeast of Colorado City, and 600 feet from north and 1,900 feet from east lines of section 31, J. P. Smith survey, took a one-hour and 15-minute drillstem test in the top of the Ellenburger at 7,187-7,214 feet.

Recovery was 50 feet of drilling mud, with no shows of oil, gas or water.

The venture is making new hole below 7,293 feet in dolomite, with some shale streaks.

Grisham & Davis Extend Tunstall Field In Reeves

A three-quarter mile east extension to the Tunstall field in North Reeves County, had been completed at J. S. Grisham and C. O. Davis No. 1 Grisham-Hunter Corporation.

That development made a 24-hour flowing potential of 105 barrels of 42.7 gravity oil, natural, through a one-quarter inch tubing choke.

The top of the Delaware lime was at 3,258 feet. Top of the pay is at 3,292 feet. Total depth is 3,300 feet. The well is reported to be two feet higher, geologically, than the nearest producer from the Delaware in the Tunstall field. It is 220 feet from the east and 330 feet from the north lines of the southeast quarter of section 2, block 66, TP survey, T-2.

No. 2 Cummins Flows Oil From Ector Ellenburger

Coronet Oil Company No. 2 Cummins, in the Andector-Ellenburger field of Northwest Ector County, drilled to a total depth of 8,970 feet, in the Ellenburger pay.

Casing which had been cemented on bottom was perforated with six shots to the foot at 8,510-60 feet. The swab was pulled five times and the well kicked off and started flowing. In 24 hours it produced 1,820 barrels of natural, through a three-quarter inch tubing choke.

Operator is preparing to complete the new producer and put it on production. It is 600 feet from north and 1,900 feet from east lines of section 12, block 45, TP survey, T-1-N.

Deep Test In E-C Upton Gets Salt Water On DST

Republic Natural Gas Company No. 1-E-A Barnett, deep wildcat in East-Central Upton County, two and three-quarter miles northwest of the initial producer in the Benedictum field, ran a two-hour and 15-minute drillstem test in the Ellenburger at 11,735-814 feet.

There was a blow of air during most of the period. Recovery was the 1,200-foot water blanket and 7,800 feet of salt water.

There were no shows of oil or gas. The venture is making new hole past 11,530 feet, in the Ellenburger. That formation has not shown any indications of petroleum since it was entered.

Scurry Exploration Has Shows Of Gas And Oil

American Republic Corporation No. 1 Koonsman, 15 miles northeast of Snyder, in Northeast Scurry County, and 2 1/2 miles from north and 3,290 feet from east lines of section 240, block 2, H&TC survey, logged a show of gas at 3,588 feet. (Continued on page 7)

Strikes Tie Up East, West Coasts

Secret Four-Power Berlin Conferences Enter Third Round

BERLIN—(AP)—Berlin's anti-Communist city government demanded Thursday a voice in the four-power deliberations here on the German crisis. The appeal faced a virtually certain Russian veto as the four military governors held their third day of talks.

The city government's appeal is understood to have asked the military governors for an end to East-West strife in this Soviet-blockaded city; restoration of a unified city administration under the elected government; guarantees of protection for the City Assembly, and guarantees of restored freedom of travel between Berlin and all four occupation zones.

The four-power working committees on trade and finance continued their negotiations on technical problems, but the other committee, made up of transport experts, did not meet.

An American member of the transport group, which would deal with the lifting of the 71-day-old blockade, refused to say whether the group's work was done.

"We might meet again," he said. "However, as you know, the lifting of the blockade depends only upon the word 'Go' from the Russians. We've got plenty of coal and supply trains lined up at the zonal borders ready to proceed to Berlin when the word comes."

The four governors held their third conference Thursday to consider specific proposals on the blockade, Berlin's currency tangle and inter-zonal trade. The meeting lasted an hour and a half.

There has been no official statement on the progress of the talks. Some quarters saw in this an indication hard bargaining is going on, with the Russians demanding both trade and currency concessions as the price for lifting the blockade.

Some believed the Russians sought permanent controls over travel and trade between Berlin and the Western zones, even after land transport has been restored.

U. S. Gen. Lucius D. Clay looked grimmer than after the previous meetings as he left the meeting of the military governors.

Asked whether he had any statement to make, he said "No."

Russian Marshal Vasily D. Sokolovsky was the first to leave the conference room.

An American official said the military governors would meet again Friday.

Giesler Defends Mitchum

HOLLYWOOD—(AP)—With a heavy stake in three unreleased Robert Mitchum pictures, two studios have rallied to the defense of the 31-year-old film hero, accused of violating narcotics laws.

RKO and Seismick Studios announced that Jerry Giesler, noted Western criminal lawyer who has figured in several cases involving screen stars, would represent Mitchum.

The actor and real estate agent Robin Ford, 31, were arrested with 20-year-old actress Lila Leeds and dancer Vickie Evans, 26, in what police said was a marihuana smoking party in the girls' room.

The actor and his followers, including J. Lewis Henderson, chairman of the Wallace committee in Mississippi, presented qualification papers to Secretary of State Heber Laddner. Laddner took the papers under advisement.

Accompanied by an escort of 20 state highway patrolmen, Wallace drove to Edwards, 28 miles from here, for breakfast at a junior college for negroes.

Before the meal was finished, the gathering became the convention of the state Progressive Party. Nine presidential electors were formally approved. Henderson declined to give their names or say if any were negroes.

A count showed approximately 20 negroes and 40 whites at the convention-breakfast. These included approximately 20 newsmen.

After filing the election papers, Wallace drove back to Edwards to deliver a radio address. He also will speak at Vicksburg.

Wallace cancelled three addresses Wednesday in Alabama when police enforced segregation. At Birmingham the Alabama chairman was assailed by a shower of eggs.

Governor Fielding L. Wright appealed to Mississippians to treat Wallace as courteously as any other visitor.

Jester's Half-Brother Reported Missing From New York Room

NEW YORK—(AP)—Gov. Beauford H. Jester of Texas said Thursday his 75-year-old half-brother, Claude, is missing from his New York room.

The governor said he thought his brother might be out of town on business. He added he had reported the disappearance to police after falling to locate him at the furnished room where Claude Jester formerly lived.

Police said Claude Jester had to leave the room early last month for failure to pay his rent. They said he was dropped from relief rolls last June when he failed to answer questions by welfare officers.

Jester said he was worried about his brother's health.

"I did not know he was on relief," the Governor added. "None of the family knew of it. I still can't believe it is so."

Jester said he planned to remain here until he receives word of his brother's whereabouts.

Air Force Reveals Soviet Attack On U. S. Superfort

WASHINGTON—(AP)—At least 10 United States bombers were seized by the Russians during this country's war with Japan, including one B-29 shot down by Soviet fighter planes.

The Air Force disclosed this Thursday and gave the detailed story in answer to a reporter's questions.

The planes and crews (except for the shot-down B-29) were seized and interned while Russia was a neutral in the Pacific war.

However, the attacked B-29 was downed by Red fighters 20 days after Moscow had declared war against Tokyo. Here is what USAF files show happened to that plane:

On Aug. 29, 1945, B-29 No. Z-28 of the 82nd Bomb Squadron, 500th Bomb Group, took off from Saipan to drop supplies into a prison camp near Kanko, Korea, where Americans were known to be held. Aboard was a crew of 13.

Yak Fighters Appeared

The Superfortress arrived in the general vicinity of the camp and circled to get its bearings. Two Russian Yak fighter planes appeared. At first the Red pilots waved.

Wallace Files Elector Slate In Mississippi

JACKSON, MISS.—(AP)—Henry Wallace formally filed a slate of electors for his Progressive Party Thursday in this citadel of States' Rights Democrats.

Wallace and his followers, including J. Lewis Henderson, chairman of the Wallace committee in Mississippi, presented qualification papers to Secretary of State Heber Laddner. Laddner took the papers under advisement.

Accompanied by an escort of 20 state highway patrolmen, Wallace drove to Edwards, 28 miles from here, for breakfast at a junior college for negroes.

Before the meal was finished, the gathering became the convention of the state Progressive Party. Nine presidential electors were formally approved. Henderson declined to give their names or say if any were negroes.

A count showed approximately 20 negroes and 40 whites at the convention-breakfast. These included approximately 20 newsmen.

Governor Fielding L. Wright appealed to Mississippians to treat Wallace as courteously as any other visitor.

Boyd Transferred To Crane County Jail

CRANE—(AP)—James M. Boyd, Odessa trucking company employe charged with the murder of his estranged wife, Jewell, has been transferred to the Crane County Jail here from the Ector County Jail.

Mrs. Boyd's body, badly beaten about the head, was found near a gravel pit a short distance north of Crane August 27. Boyd was the first person to identify it.

There will be no regular grand jury session here until November and county officers said no special session was expected to be called in Boyd's case.

Entire Nation Will Feel Pinch Should Walkouts Continue

By The Associated Press

Two major work stoppages on the East and West Coasts Thursday threatened to cut off supplies to a large segment of the nation's population.

Freight shipments into New York City and Pacific Coast ports from Seattle to San Diego were halted by rail embargoes as the work stoppages went into effect.

Involved in the New York dispute are some 10,000 AFL truck drivers who quit work Wednesday after rejecting a proposed wage agreement. On the West Coast, 16,000 CIO longshoremen and seafarers stayed away from their jobs and prepared to set up picket lines in a dispute over wages and a hiring hall issue.

In New York, huge cargoes of freight, which normally moved into the metropolis daily by rail, were halted by the rail embargo. It was placed in effect by the railroads to prevent piling up of merchandise in rail yards.

Spokesmen for the International Brotherhood of Teamsters said that if the strike is not settled quickly, some 30,000 members of two other major New York City locals, and nine teamster locals in New Jersey and Westchester County, N. Y., may join the walkout.

Officials Seek Settlement

Most retail outlets still had adequate stocks Thursday but the strike caused some slow-down in the pace of trade and industry. Some firms, cut off from delivery of supplies, closed their doors.

Fearing the strike might grow to the proportions of the 1946 trucking strike which seriously curtailed the city's food and other supplies, city, state and federal officials combined efforts to get a quick settlement.

The longshoremen's strike also resulted in a rail embargo on most freight destined for Pacific Coast ports. The railroads said, however, military freight would continue to move.

Observers said that if the longshoremen's walkout continues it soon will be felt across the nation.

Most CIO marine cooks and stewards, CIO marine engineers, the independent marine firemen and marine radio operators are expected to join the strike. The union had agreed not to sign a contract unless all did.

Approximately 500 ships are involved in the dispute.

Coke Has 362-Vote Majority

By The Associated Press

Coke Stevenson held his hairbreadth lead over Lyndon Johnson Thursday in complete, but largely unofficial, returns from Saturday's Democratic runoff primary for the U. S. Senate nomination. His margin was 362 votes.

Although all counties have been reported complete, minor revisions are made as counties send in certified results.

Bob Johnson, manager of the Texas Election Bureau, said the certified counts were checked against the bureau's results, and when they did not agree the official count replaced the TEB figures.

"The race is so close the winner will not be known until the official canvass of votes September 13," Stevenson expressed confidence at Austin, where he listened to the results, that victory was in the bag. In a few days, he said, he would return to his Kimble County ranch and fish and hunt the rest of the year.

Johnson Claims Victory

Johnson Thursday asked his friends "to remember that we have won the race."

"I have made a careful check through my friends throughout the state, and I am absolutely confident that when the official vote is canvassed in the race for United States Senator, I will have a majority," Johnson said in a prepared statement.

"The main thing now is for my friends to assist election officials in making a correct canvass. I do not charge and I have not charged any official with dishonesty. But it is easy to see that honest errors might change the result. The purpose of a canvass is to correct errors made by precinct officials who work under pressure and report their votes at the end of a long, hard day at the polls.

"The trend in my favor in votes counted set in at 10 o'clock Saturday night, after my opponent's big city vote was counted. It will be in my favor in the official returns."

States' Righters To Organize New Party In Texas

HOUSTON—(AP)—A new party to make sure the States' Rights presidential ticket gets on the ballot in Texas is to be formed in Dallas next Wednesday.

A leader said forming the new party will not mean the States' Righters are dropping an earlier plan they were backing out insurance in case it fails.

The previously announced goal is to seize control of the State Democratic Convention in Fort Worth Sept. 14, then to substitute J. Strom Thurmond and Fielding Wright for President Truman and Alben Barkley as the official Democratic nominees.

If the Dixiecrats are defeated at Fort Worth, they can have Thurmond and Wright placed on the ballot as nominees of the new party alongside Truman and Barkley. The Dallas organization convention was called Wednesday by Palmer Bradley of Houston, Texas States' Rights Advisory Committee chairman.

Two-Day Caucus

He addressed the call to "all citizens who believe in individual freedom, local self-government and the other rights guaranteed by the constitution."

Texas Dixiecrat leaders had held a two-day caucus here. Then came Bradley's announcement of the decision to hold the States' Rights convention in Dallas six days before the State Democratic Convention in Fort Worth.

Merritt H. Gibson of Longview, national campaign director for the States' Righters, suggested that one group might organize a new party while another kept up the fight to win control of the Democratic convention.

High State Official Rumored As Dixiecrat Opponent For Jester

HOUSTON—(AP)—The Houston Chronicle said it learned Thursday that States' Rights Democratic leaders met here Wednesday to consider a candidate to run against Beauford Jester for governor in the November 2 general election.

The newspaper said an official now holding high state office is being contacted to make the race against Governor Jester and his name will not be disclosed until the full States' Rights Democratic organization in Texas has been called in for a discussion.

The States' Rights Democrats are angry at Governor Jester for opposing their requests to have the presidential referendum placed on the run-off ballots in Texas last Saturday, so voters could say whether they prefer the Thurmond-Wright States' Right ticket or the Truman-Barkley national Democratic ticket.

Midland School Buildings Are Ready For Opening Of Fall Term Next Week

Buildings of the Midland Independent School District are in top condition for the opening of the 1948-49 term—school trustees found in a rapid-fire inspection tour of all school facilities Wednesday afternoon.

The first scheduled event in connection with the opening of the Fall term. The group of officials and other interested persons gathered at the high school at 4 p. m., making the tour in automobiles. Supt. Frank Monroe led the tour of inspection.

The first stop was at the bus barn and shops, 507 South P Street, where shop facilities and shining school buses were inspected. The group then went to the elementary school at Midland Air Terminal where they were met by Wesley Martin, principal of West Elementary and Air Terminal schools. Martin showed the visitors through the former cadet building, which has been converted into a modern school building to serve students, grades one through five, residing in and near the air terminal which once was the world's largest bombardier training school. Students of advanced grades attend junior high and high school in Midland.

The new West Elementary building, which soon will be in the midst of an enlargement program, was the next facility to be inspected, followed by a visit to the new Memorial Stadium which rapidly is nearing completion.

Inspection stops followed at John M. Cowden Junior High School, Gabe Massey, principal; North Elementary, W. D. Ladd, principal; high school and gymnasium, Charles Mathews, principal; Latin American School, Mrs. Jack Maaburn, principal, and Carver School, E. L. Jordan, principal.

The tour ended at the South Elementary School, where a fried chicken dinner was served in the cafeteria. Mrs. Inez Lane is principal of the school, which also is to be enlarged this year. A business meeting of the trustees followed the dinner.

Tip-Top Shape
At all buildings the trustees found conditions in tip-top shape, with floors shining and walls, windows and furniture cleaned and polished in readiness for a record enrollment of students next week. Needed repairs have been made during the Summer months, and custodians of the various buildings have done a remarkable job in placing facilities in readiness for school opening.

The trustees, pleased with the conditions of the various structures, declared everything in readiness for the "back to school" order.

Those making the tour included Trustees Percy F. Bridgewater, Mrs. W. H. Gilmore, D. W. McDonald, George T. Abell, and R. W. Hamilton, and Monroe, Louis V. Spain, school coordinator, and Bill Collins, Reporter-Telegram editor.

While similar machines are now being installed in post offices throughout the country, the manufacturers predict they eventually will be placed in commercial buildings, too. The Post Office Department is installing the machines to improve stamp service.

The machine was installed in the post office lobby Wednesday afternoon. Nickels and dimes may be used to purchase one-cent, three-cent or air mail stamps. The machine issues five one-cent stamps for a nickel, five three-cent stamps for a nickel and a dime, or two air mail stamps for a dime. Thus, patrons receive full stamp value for coins. The machine is permanently lighted.

Mrs. Ben Grossman of Houston writes as follows:
"For a long time I have had occasional bilious spells. My head would hurt and I would vomit my food. My last spell was very severe and I just thought I would die. My appetite was poor and I couldn't sleep at night. I was so troubled with my limbs aching just before I would have a spell of gas and blood. I would be dizzy and I would have a severe headache. My food soured and it just seemed as if everything was wrong with me. To advise suffering like I was, I recommend MERTOX TONIC."
"This splendid medicine, containing 25 ingredients, works fast to eliminate poisonous matter from your system. Helps to build up, red blood. Relieves constipation within a few hours and helps to create a more rhythmic bowel motion. Get MERTOX Compound today from any Texas druggist at the new REDUCED price."

Farm Price Supports

This is a year of presidential election and a year of prospective bumper crops. These two blessings of democracy and of nature add interest to the speculation on what the various candidates are going to say, and the successful ones are going to do, about farm support prices.

The argument is not about the necessity of support prices, for there can't be a sensible argument on that score. The question rather is what is adequate and safe, and what offers the best protection for everyone, farmer, food handler, and consumer. It is a question that demands intelligent study divorced from politics. But divorces of that sort are hard to get in a year of politicking.

First of all there is something called the "farm vote." Like all such occupational, class, racial or religious "votes" it is not something that is delivered in a package. Yet our political history proves that the farmers' prosperity or lack of it is reflected in their ballots. A failure to promise and try to deliver is something beyond the most nightmarish dreams of national political planners.

There is also something called the "labor vote." This, as we said, is no package job either. But the spokesmen for union labor are setting up some loud cries about high prices. And these can't be ignored any more than can the sentiments of the farmers.

The farm population of voting age today is somewhere around 28,000,000. Union membership is in the neighborhood of 15,500,000. That is not counting wives and husbands of union members and others in the family of voting age. And of course union membership, though vocal, is only a fraction of the non-farm public also distressed about high prices.

Among the non-farm, non-union public are industrialists and businessmen, large and small, who are anxious to see food prices brought down a few pegs. For food prices are the big item in high prices. They reflect themselves in labor costs, which in turn affect our entire commerce. Many Americans today don't like the thought of their tax dollars being spent to support some super-abundant food items at prices which they can ill-afford to pay. Fewer, probably, realize that support prices are particularly necessary in years of great abundance.

All surplus food can't be stored or shipped, and sometimes there is a shortage of storage and shipping space for that which can be. Without some support for perishables in an overcrowded market a lot of farmers could go from prosperity to something approaching disaster. And low farm incomes make themselves felt through our entire commerce the same as high food costs do.

One Day Of Honor

Many places throughout the country will observe a half minute of silence at 8:59 a. m. September 2 in memory of V-J Day, the formal ending of World War II three years ago. The observance has been sponsored by the Pacific War Memorial, Inc.

This group was organized by veterans of the Pacific War who wished to honor their comrades by something tangible. They are planning a series of field stations throughout the Pacific area for scientific study of this still little-known region, and they hope eventually to be able to offer fellowships to young scientists.

This idea seems as sensible and laudable as it is ambitious. Equally sensible, it seems to us, is the group's announcement that, in the September 2 observance, it is not trying to establish a new national holiday.

A number of such holidays, such as Armistice Day and V-E and V-J Days, tend to make their solemn purpose cheap and casual by repetition. Most states already have a Memorial Day. Why not make that the one memorable and meaningful day of honor to all who fought and died for a common purpose?

Truman Doctrine In Greece Appears To Be Paying Off

WASHINGTON — Approaching end of the Greek army's campaign against the Communist guerrillas provides a good peg on which to hang a round-up of whether it's possible to win this kind of a war, what it costs and what it will take to finish the job through the Marshall Plan.

It was March, 1947—only a year and a half ago—when the President went before Congress to announce what has become known as "the Truman Doctrine" for combating communism in foreign countries that wanted to be free.

The President asked for $400,000,000 as a starter. Military aid for Turkey was to get $100,000,000. Military aid for Greece was to get $150,000,000, with another $150,000,000 for civilian aid.

It was May before Congress finally approved this highly controversial foreign policy. Survey missions went out at once. But it was June and July before any contracts were let. August before the munitions and consumers' goods began to arrive in Greece.

At that time the Communies held or terrorized over half the country. The Greek army was demoralized and the Greek government demoralized. Though the British had succeeded in putting a king on the Greek throne and had poured $288,000,000 into trying to preserve the monarchy, they had failed. The British wanted to pull out and that was where the United States came in.

The prospect was about as hopeless as anything could be. But as of today, one year later, the business begins to look as though it might eventually pay off. Even the most skeptical critic of the Truman doctrine must admit that if it had not been carried through, Greece today probably would be just another satellite in the Soviet orbit.

Ex-Gov. Dwight Griswold of Nebraska, American administrator of the Greek program, is coming home. A start has been made on reorganization of the Greek government, getting a little sense into its tax and fiscal policies. The relief and reconstruction program has not been finished, but what remains to be done is being transferred to the Marshall Plan Economic Co-operation Administration.

The original $150,000,000 earmarked for military aid in the first year wasn't enough. It had to be raised to $172,000,000. The extra money was obtained by cutting back the reconstruction program. Even that wasn't enough. An additional $225,000,000 had to be appropriated by the last Congress to carry operations through June 30, 1949.

Aid to Greece Rebuilds Canal

Biggest single accomplishment of the U. S. Aid to Greece reconstruction program thus far is the $680,000 rebuilding of the Corinth Canal. The waterway, which was badly damaged by German troops, connects Greek east and west coast ports. Bulldozers did their share in the gigantic project.

Fort Worth Man Addresses Child Welfare Group

Lynn Ross of Fort Worth, chief probation officer of Tarrant County, was the speaker Wednesday night at a dinner-meeting sponsored by the Midland County Child Welfare Board in Hotel Scharbauer. The city and county cooperated in staging the session.

Public officials, law enforcement officers, faculty members, representatives of various organizations and members of the Child Welfare Board attended.

Robert I. Dickey, vice chairman of the board, presided, and Chairman Roy McKee welcomed the visitors to the meeting. County Judge Clifford C. Keith introduced the speaker.

Ross traced the history of juvenile courts and probation departments, and explained the new philosophy of the juvenile agencies. He discussed delinquent behavior, the reasons for it, and treatment of juvenile offenders. He outlined the operation of the Tarrant County Probation Department and said it maintains a close working relationship with law enforcement agencies. He cited various cases on which he has worked.

Schools Commended

The speaker commended the Midland public schools for inaugurating a visiting teacher program, and said truancy is one of the first symptoms of juvenile delinquency.

He said Midland also is fortunate in having a Child Welfare Unit with full-time social workers.

Following his address, Ross answered questions from the floor. A round table discussion of Midland's juvenile problems was held.

Mrs. Willie A. Harding, director of the Child Welfare Unit, here told of the unit's program and explained some of the services it offers.

Boyle Favors Cigars, Snuff For Women

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—(AP)—Should women smoke pipes?

One man's opinion is—a loud yes!

A patriotic schoolgirl raised the issue by starting a campaign to get the ladies of her troubled isle to take up pipe smoking in order to help relieve Britain's cigaret shortage.

There is much to recommend this idea in America as well as in Shakespeare's homeland, where a pack of coffin nails now costs about 75 cents.

But why limit gallant womanhood at all? Must freeborn American and British women be restricted merely to a social drag on a fag or a public puff on the pipe that soothes?

Is there no Carrie Chapman Catt to restore to the convention-bound female sex of today the equal rights they once enjoyed with men in the whole wide realm of nicotine?

I am speaking of snuff taking, cigar smoking, and good old-fashioned plug cut tobacco chewing—all now vanished female arts.

But in the fine heyday of beauty the splendid ladies of Europe's courts were admired by their befrilled dandies for the dainty skill with which they stuffed snuff up their nostrils amid pruffy "ker-choo!"

Freedom of The Pipe

Many a pioneer mother in the settling of the American West forgot her troubles by sucking on a cornucob pipe. And many a debutante today has her family album the picture of a grandmother in old lace who chewed cut plug while she worked over the washboard.

Cigar smoking still is common among the sturdy women of Denmark, which also has a higher rate of literacy than the United States. Some of America's most talented women have enjoyed the fragrance of a Havana cigar—such as "Poker Alice," the frontier's famous faro dealer, and Amy Lowell, poetess and sister of a Harvard president.

Let us start womankind back toward the brave times. Give them first the freedom of the pipe. If stem, it won't show the lipstick marks that give gray hairs of anguish to the man whose wife or sweetheart now borrows his cigarettes.

Once we get the ladies back on pipes, we can lead them—a puff at a time—back to cigars, and perhaps even to chewing tobacco. It's no worse than bubble gum in technicolor.

What do you say, girls? After all, are you women or just wo-mice?

Indian Beauty Queen Arrives For Visit With GI Boy Friend

SAN DIEGO, CALIF.—(AP)—With Cupid's deadline set for six months, Ramona Hussey of Karachi, Pakistan, and Dick Cardwell, her wartime GI boy friend from San Diego, were together again Thursday.

The 19-year-old British-Indian beauty contest winner arrived at Los Angeles Airport Wednesday night on the last leg of her flight from the other side of the globe.

She was embraced briefly by Cardwell, 24, former Army musician, but both said any romance "remains to be seen."

Then they drove to San Diego with Cardwell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank K. Cardwell, who paid for the girl's trip from Karachi and arranged for a six-month visit.

Mrs. Cardwell said she made arrangements because she was so impressed with Miss Hussey's letters to her son since he returned to the United States three years ago after duty in India.

Miss Hussey told newsmen she won't marry Cardwell "unless I fall in love with him."

On one point she was definite: She has no interest in Hollywood despite her beauty contest crown of queen of Karachi for 1947.

New Drug Combats Hay Fever Allergies

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A new drug for treating hay fever and other allergies was described Thursday to the American Chemical Society.

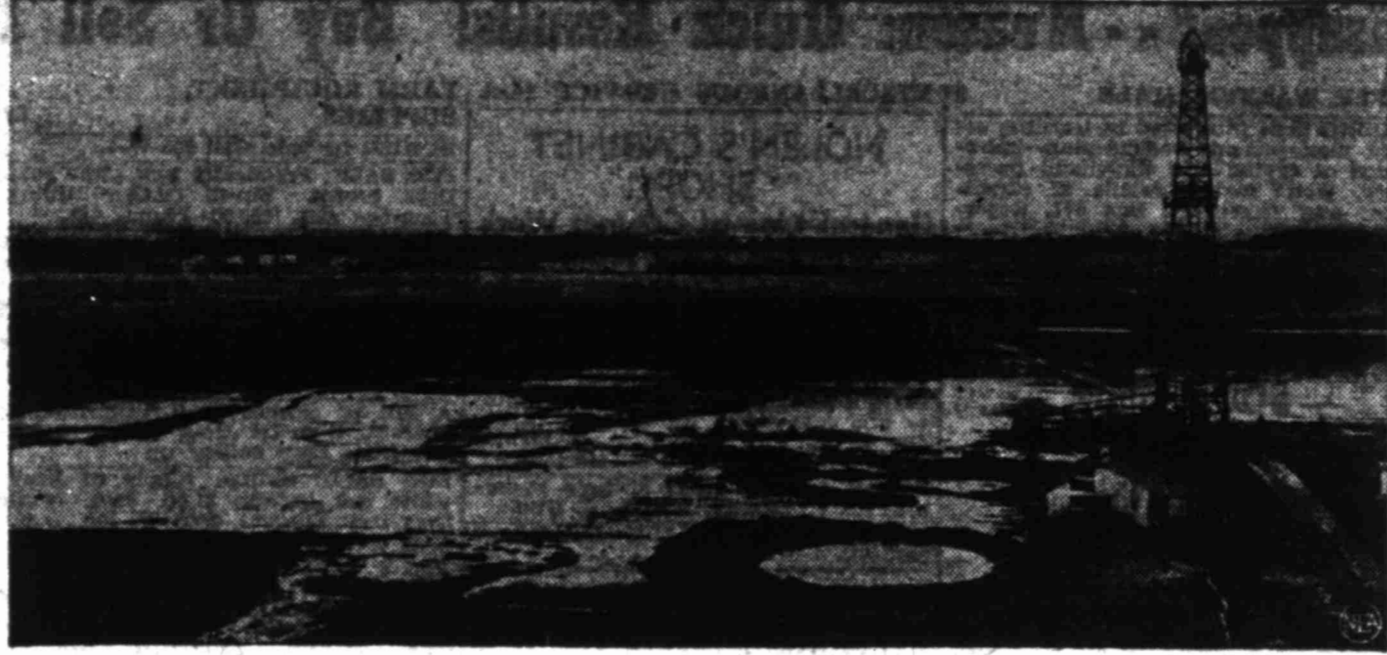

Said to have "marked advantages" over older drugs in that field, the new one is called "Decapryn Succinate". It is a derivative of pyridine—compounds of which can be recovered from coke oven gases of steel mills.

Dr. Robert S. Shelton of the William S. Merrill Company, Cincinnati, said the drug has been placed on the market.

Like Benadryl and pyribenzamine, it is designed to combat "histamine"—the substance which scientists say is released in the body tissues when the sensitive sufferer comes in contact with allergy-inducing material.

Penguins cannot fly, but undoubtedly are descended from birds that could fly.

Black Gold on a Rampage in Canadian Field

Flooding 10 acres of wheat fields in the province of Alberta, Canada, this oil well has been out of control for five months. Daily, 14,000 barrels of precious "black gold" pour from the well and seep through the countryside. It is one of the wells in the new Leduc oil field near Edmonton.

Utility Materials At MAAF Listed For Sale

Steel pipe, hydrants, valves and other connections for water and gas systems as well as a quantity of electrical distribution materials at the former post laundry at Midland Air Terminal (Midland Army Air Field) are being advertised for sale, for removal from the grounds by purchasers, by the War Assets Administration.

The utility sale will be subject to priority claims by federal agencies, state and local governments and non-profit institutions until September 6. Unclaimed materials will be placed on sale to the public on a sealed bid after September 31. A similar sale of materials at Blackland Army Air Field, Waco, also is announced by the WAA.

Almond, walnut, filbert and pecan trees in the U. S. are expected to bear a crop of almost 761,000 tons in 1947.

TEXAS CIO TO CONDUCT ACTIVE TRUMAN CAMPAIGN

DALLAS—(AP)—A "vigorous campaign" in support of the Truman-Barkley presidential ticket in Texas is planned by the CIO's political organization, Robert Oliver, CIO state director, said.

The CIO Executive Board, meeting in Washington earlier this week, endorsed the Democratic nominees by a vote of 38 to 12.

Charlie Chaplin and Errol Flynn in past cases, said there were "many unexplained facts and circumstances surrounding the raid" and that the actor's friends were convinced he would be cleared.

Hollywood Cleanup

Mitchum and the others accused were released on bail of $1,000 each. A hearing on writs of habeas corpus was set for September 8.

Police Detective Sgt. Alva Barr, who headed the investigation, said the raid was "only the beginning of a Hollywood cleanup and we have many other important and prominent Hollywood screen people under surveillance, not only actors and actresses, but others high up in the industry."

"We have been watching Mitchum and Mics Leeds for eight months. Others are facing arrest. We want not only the users of marijuana and other narcotics, but the ring that is supplying the big people in Hollywood."

Reconciliation Hoped Blasted

Barr said officers had watched the party smoking the cigarettes for two and one-half hours, peering through a rear bedroom window.

RKO and Selznick have scheduled for release the Mitchum pictures, "Rachel and the Stranger" and "Blood on the Moon," while Republic has "The Red Pony," made on Mitchum's loan from Selznick Studio.

Police quoted Mitchum as saying his arrest "ends hope of a reconciliation with my wife, Dorothy," who has been in the East for several weeks with their two young sons but was enroute West by automobile.

"I'm afraid," Mitchum was quoted, "the reconciliation, for my wife is a very resolute woman."

Medical Experts Say Food Makes Adjusted Child

By DAVID TAYLOR MARKS

AP Newsfeatures Writer on Education

What makes Jack a dull boy? Experts say eating the wrong foods will do it. Writing in the "Michigan Education Journal," they report recent discoveries that if your child is doing poorly in school, he is not, "of necessity, either stupid or psychologically maladjusted." He may be just plain hungry.

Not that most American children don't get enough to eat. They do. But, according to these experts, they may not get enough of the right kind of food. If your child is in this category, his body tissues are half-starved about half the time, and he becomes listless, indifferent, and fatigued.

Red Cross nutritionists, surveying many communities, found that almost invariably from one-third to one-half of the children have poor eating habits. In many cases, the percentages run higher. "To lead even a reasonably active life and have a fair chance of keeping up with his studies, a growing child needs three meals a day. That seems so elementary that you would suppose it would be universally understood," they say. "Yet many surveys show that 10 per cent or more of the children skip at least one meal a day habitually."

Parents and teachers must halt this trend, they warn. If any child is in doubt about the need or the method of attacking the problem, they are invited to consult their nearest Red Cross chapter.

In the three meals a day, they advise, the average child should consume at least these basic foods: "Fruit, cereal or bread, milk or a milk drink. For dinner: Meat or a meat substitute, potatoes, yellow or green vegetables (or fruit) milk and bread. For lunch (or supper): Protein dish, fruit or vegetable, bread and milk. They should be eaten in the order given."

Four glasses of milk are the daily requirement for growing children, they claim.

Good eating habits depend upon sound teeth, and your child should be taught to look after them carefully. Going to the dentist should be a pleasing experience, says Dr. Eugene J. North of the American Association of Dental Schools. Doctor North pointed out that a child's dentist should have friendliness, ability to inspire confidence and capacity to feel a liking for children and a wish to help them.

Such a dentist should be capable of sizing up a parent, too. He should try to find out if the parent of the child patient is "emotionally stable." "If he isn't," Doctor North said, "there is a great chance that his child will be wiley, jittery, emotionally tense; that in all probability he will encounter a training problem."

Day To Day Life

"The way a child will meet the present and opportunities of living in his future years," says Prof. Roma Gans, Teachers College, Columbia University, "is determined by the day to day life he leads from birth through his sixth year. These are not only the critical years of his childhood—these are the critical years of his whole life. The importance of group experience, the give and take relationship with others of his own age from three years on, is essential in this important period of getting a good start. Furthermore, now as never before, the guidance of parents and teachers is respected as playing a very important part—for the good of the child if the guidance is intelligent, for his own undoing if it isn't."

J. M. Allen Studies Starving Squirrels

INDIANAPOLIS — (AP) — To provide Indiana hunters with more and better squirrels, John M. Allen has been spending nearly all his time for two years studying squirrels.

Concentrating on the squirrels in two test areas of southern Indiana, he has discovered that hunger is the squirrel's worst enemy. Not only does he starve to death in wholesale lots when his food supply runs low but he delays raising a family. Consequently his brood may starve when he is shot by the hunter. The project is backed by the state and federal governments.

Gunn, most seriously injured of the five Crane youths in the car, received cuts and bruises but was reportedly improved Thursday morning. Other occupants of the car received first-aid treatment at Robinson Hospital here. In addition to North, they were Harry Cook, Spike Jones and Myron Holcomb.

The corporation has received more than 1,000 reports both from short wave and from "household" listeners in North, Central and Western Europe, Canada and U. S. A., Iran, Iraq, India and North Africa.

The Danish Pearyland expedition on Greenland, too, sent a cable station the reception is fine, but implored the radio corporation to stop sending certain "terrible" Danish popular songs.

HALIFAX, NOVA SCOTIA—(AP)—The first Atlantic hurricane of the season was expected to strike out to sea Thursday after side-swiping Nova Scotia and Newfoundland.

While there were no immediate reports of damage from Newfoundland, there was extensive damage at Sydney, N. S., on Cape Breton Island, which took a swinge from a fringe of the big wind. Power and communications lines were down, hundreds of trees were ripped up.

Russell Long Ready To Follow Footsteps Of Father In Senate

NEW ORLEANS — (AP) — Russell Long, 29, was ready Thursday to take up where his father, the late Huey P. Long, left off as U. S. senator from Louisiana.

He claimed victory in Tuesday's Democratic primary, though returns were incomplete and unofficial. His opponent, Judge Robert F. Kennon, was "watching the returns closely" and had no statement. Long, with only 47 of the state's 1,883 precincts unreported, had a lead of 6,216 votes—297,953 to 249,737.

Russell told a radio audience he plans to "follow in my father's footsteps xxx to try to achieve, the things for which he stood xxx old age passions, federal aid to education and state welfare work."

In the other senatorial race, Sen. Allen J. Ellender was conceded nomination by his closest opponent, Rep. James Domengeau.

friendly greetings to the B-29, motioning the Americans to follow them.

The Americans, thinking the Russians were leading them to the camp, followed. However, they came in over a small airfield where two other Yaks joined the Russian formation. One Yak pilot lowered his landing gear and peeled off to indicate the B-29 was to land. The American pilot saw that the runway was only about 3,500 feet long, too short for a B-29 landing. He hesitated.

The Russian, said the USAF report, "got very angry, motioning violently downward," then fired a shot across the nose of the B-29. The American plane captain ordered the B-29 to head for home.

For a time the Russian fighters were left behind, but they caught up with the B-29 off the coast of Korea and opened fire.

The Yaks scored a number of hits and one engine of the Superfortress caught fire.

The American pilot ordered "itching" gunners to withhold return fire, said the report, then instructed the crew to bail out because of the imminent danger of explosion. Six men parachuted, but the others rode the damaged ship down to a landing.

For two days the Russians held the American crew incommunicado. Then a Russian officer, described as Lieutenant General Frebeugonski, apologized for the incident and offered any help possible, including the use of Russian communication facilities.

At the time the B-29 landed the Russians removed all papers and much of the bomber's equipment.

In September, an American repair crew was flown to the field in Korea, but decided to salvage only vital equipment rather than try to fly the damaged plane back to a United States base.

The grave of the Rev. Josiah Henson, the original Uncle Tom of Harriet Beecher Stowe's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is in Dresden, Ont.

Bulldogs Drill In Fundamentals

"Block boys," the Midland High School football coaches urged, the Bulldogs in drills Wednesday.

The Bulldogs got a lot of fundamentals—blocking and tackling. There was plenty of one-on-one and two-on-one blocking both for linemen and backs.

For the backs there was practice in downfield blocking of dummies and side-step drill in the broken field.

For the up-front boys there was lots of body contact.

The reserves had a long session of the same medicine given to the blue-ribbon ball players.

Tomball Couple Dies In Murder-Suicide

TOMBALL, TEXAS. —(AP)— Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Rains were dead Thursday after an early morning pistol fusillade on Main Street here.

Browder said Rains was halted by City Marshall S. W. Hooker as he pursued his wife. Hooker tried to take the pistol away from Rains, the deputy said, but the man jerked loose from the officer and shot his wife three times.

"Then," Browder said, "Rains put the gun to his right ear and killed himself before anyone could stop him."

The Minnesotaan talked to reporters after concluding a conference with Dewey about a speech opening the GOP campaign which Stassen will make in Detroit next Tuesday.

It will be a reply to President Truman's Labor Day address in the same city.

DADDY OF SQUAD

TUCSON, ARIZ. —(AP)— Oldest player on the roster of the Arizona football squad is William Smetana of White Plains, N. Y., who is 28 and a senior. A left half-back, Smetana has earned a letter with the Wildcats, Center Art Converse, also a letter-winner, is 27 and also a senior. Two other players on the roster are 26 years old.

CUT DEATH RATE

Disinfection of water supplies of U. S. cities with chlorine has reduced the annual death rate from typhoid fever from 25 to four for every 100,000 of the population.

SPREAD OUT

If all the outlying possessions of the United States, exclusive of Alaska, could be combined into a single area, they would total less than the area of Montana.

Progressive Study Club Is One Of City's Most Active Groups

Young in years, as club ages are counted, the Progressive Study Club of Midland still has a seven-year history which shows its growth into a vital part of the community's club life.

A varied program with subjects as different as "Legal Rights of Women in Texas" and "Food Around the World" has been outlined for the 1945-46 season. The general theme is "Woman's Part in World Progress."

With 26 active members enrolled, the club will open its eighth season September 8. In addition to its regular study course it has planned to hear two guest speakers, Mrs. A. P. Shirey of the Midland Garden Club for a Fall program on "Flower Arrangement," and Mrs. J. Howard Hodge on the Federation Day program next Spring.

Special Events
A book review with a religious theme is scheduled during the Christmas season, and another review toward the end of the year. Social events will be the opening coffee in Mrs. Sol Bunnell's home with Mrs. W. C. Kimball as co-hostess, and an installation luncheon to end the year.

Mrs. Kimball is president for the year, Mrs. W. E. Cox, vice president; Mrs. John W. Thomas, Jr., recording secretary; Mrs. Bunnell, corresponding secretary; Mrs. James C. Clary, treasurer.

Appointive officers are Mrs. Lindley Latham, Federation counselor; Mrs. Cecil Waldrep, parliamentarian; Mrs. Frank True, historian; and Mrs. E. A. McCullough, reporter.

Members On Committees
Standing committee members are Mrs. Burns McKinney and Mrs. T. M. West, membership; Mrs. W. E. Cox, Mrs. Ralph Hickman, Mrs. James C. Clary, and Mrs. John W. Thomas, Jr., program; Mrs. A. A. Jones, Mrs. L. Otis Baggett, Mrs. John L. Hart, and Mrs. John DeFord, finance; Mrs. Frank True and Mrs. W. H. Pomeroy, Jr., constitution; Mrs. Bunnell, Mrs. Lindley Latham, Mrs. W. B. Yarbrough, and Mrs. Clint Buffington, hospitality; Mrs. Burt Self and Mrs. John V. Norman, Jr., telephone; Mrs. W. C. Mitchell and Mrs. C. W. Ledebur, welfare.

Other club members are Mrs. Kenneth Newton and Mrs. Haden Upchurch, and a leave-of-absence member is Mrs. George J. Byrne and Mrs. Granville Porter.

Each year the club contributes to numerous community and national causes, centering on one major project. Last year's project was aid to Midland Girl Scouts; it included both financial aid and contribution of time by members in working with the Girl Scout Council or troops.

Plan Toward Building
The project proposed for this year is to set aside, after making regular contributions, a fund for a Woman's Club Building.

Organized in the Fall of 1941 under the leadership of Mrs. J. Howard Hodge with the assistance of Mrs. L. F. Caddell, the club was affiliated with the State and National Federation of Women's Clubs in April, 1942.

It had 10 charter members: Mrs. Bunnell, Mrs. Byrne, Mrs. George B. Ross, Mrs. J. W. Hunt, Mrs. H. E. Berg, Mrs. A. B. Cole, Jr., Mrs. Howard Hooper, Mrs. Kenneth Germond, Mrs. James Wilson, Jr., and Mrs. R. B. Hammond.

Locations Are Listed For 57 New Petroleum Explorations

Locations for new oil explorations in the Midland district of the oil and gas division of the Railroad Commission of Texas dropped slightly during the past week, as compared with the previous week. The number of new locations totaled 57, with nine of them wildcats. Ten amended applications were filed on wells already in progress.

Andrews and Ector Counties headed the list with eight new prospectors each. One of the ventures for Andrews was to be a deep wildcat project.

Gaines County, with two wildcat explorations, and three other new drillsites in Pecos was outside the proven area of any field.

Crocket County received three of the new prospectors, and Cochran and Reeves were listed for two each. The remaining eight went one each to Dawson, Dickens, Glasscock, Howard, Mitchell, Rumpke, Scurry, Sterling and Wichita Counties. The ones in Dickens, Rannels and Sterling Counties were to be wildcat ventures.

The amended applications were for projects in Culberson, Ector, Garza, Hockley, Howard, Sterling and Winkler Counties.

Australians Send Radio Signals To Moon

SYDNEY —(AP)— Australian scientists have sent more radio signals to the moon, and caught them on the rebound. They heard the echoes two-and-one-half seconds after the signals left an experimental radio station at Shepparton, Victoria.

The experiments have been made by men working in the Australian Council for Scientific and Industrial Research. CSIR research officer A. J. Higgs told a reporter signals had been sent to the moon and echoes received at intervals for the past six months. "The tests are part of our general study of the upper atmosphere and beyond," he said. "Lots of things happen there which we do not understand."

Higgs said the experiments are pure research, adding: "I can't say what practical use the information we may gain will have."

WORLD'S OLDEST

The oldest rocks on the earth are in the New World. The Laurentian upland, a great shield-shaped area of rock that surrounds Hudson Bay, is the foundation of the present North American continent, and is estimated to be at least 1,000,000,000 years old.

Apple Cake For Seasonal Treat

Spicy apple cake—a harvest-time "first."

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Harvest time is apple time. That means delicious cakes, pies, sauces, stuffings—all with an apple base—for good eating and good nutrition at budget cost.

Here's a spicy "first of the season" apple cake baked and served in the same dish:

Harvest Apple Cake
(8 servings)
One-third cup shortening, 2/3 cup sugar, 2 eggs, 1 1/2 cups sifted flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 2/3 cup milk, 1 cup shredded coconut, 3 cups apple slices, 1/2 pint whipping cream.

Cream shortening and sugar together until fluffy. Beat in eggs, one at a time. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and cinnamon; stir in sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk. Stir coconut and two cups sliced apples into batter. Pour batter into well-greased heat-resistant glass square cake dish, 8-inch size. Arrange remaining 1 cup apple slices on top of batter. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for about 55 minutes. Serve warm with whipped cream.

Try smoked pork hocks with apple raisin stuffing. These hocks come from the shoulder and cost much less than center cuts.

Smoked Stuffed Pork Hocks
(Serves 4-6)

Have 2 to 3 pounds smoked pork hock skinned and boned. Wipe; lay fat side down and pile stuffing in cavity. Sew edges together. Place the stuffed hock, fat side up, on a rack in open pan. Roast in a very moderate oven (325 degrees F.) for 2 to 2 1/2 hours or until meat is tender.

Apple Raisin Stuffing
One tablespoon onion, chopped, 1 tablespoon parsley, 1 tablespoon fat, 1/2 cup seeded raisins, 3/4 cup apples, chopped, 1 1/4 cups bread crumbs, grated rind of half lemon, 1/4 teaspoon salt.
Cook the onion and parsley in fat. Mix raisins and apples with bread crumbs; stir in the cooked vegetables; add the lemon rind and salt.

Oregon Flood Survivor Thanks Citizens Personally For Gifts

By SUE COLEMAN

While she is visiting here in the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. H. Heap, 802 North Big Spring Street, Mrs. Mattie Kirby of Vancouver, Wash., is taking the opportunity to thank personally a number of Midland friends for recent gifts.

They are friends she never met before, but she considers them friends indeed because they sent her and her family four big boxes of clothing and household articles to help replace belongings swept away in the disastrous Memorial Day flood at Vanport, Ore. Mrs. Kirby had lived at Vanport about five years.

When fellow members with Mrs. Heap in the Boone Bible Class of the First Methodist Church here learned that her mother, two sisters and their families had lost their home in the flood, they started collecting the articles that filled the boxes. Mrs. Kirby says her family could use most of the contents, and what they did not need was given to the Red Cross for distribution to other flood sufferers.

First Received
The boxes from Midland were the first received from outside the flood area, and they enabled Mrs. Kirby and her family to start again without aid from any of the agencies which supplied necessities to Vanport residents.

Mrs. Kirby's family was typical of those who escaped the water; they had nothing but the clothing they wore and an automobile belonging to one of her sons-in-law. She cannot give a first-hand account of the inundation because she was at work at the Alcoa Plant near Vancouver across the Columbia River from Vanport, on the Sunday afternoon when the dyke broke. Her two daughters, also employees of the Alcoa plant were at work too, and their husbands had taken the children for an automobile ride so that the entire family was out of Vanport.

The river had been rising for two weeks, but Mrs. Kirby said the residents of Vanport did not consider themselves in danger because the dykes were patrolled and the people were assured they would be warned of higher water. Her family was amused because a neighbor became nervous and moved out of Vanport on the day of the flood, Sandbag Walls.

She had seen the rising water daily as she crossed it to go to work, and noticed the debris, sometimes large logs, and one day a large quantity of apples, which were washing down from up-river. The plant where she worked had become surrounded with water, and engineers worked constantly reinforcing sandbag walls around it.

When they heard of the flood, one of her daughters started back toward Vanport, but was not permitted to cross the river. The break occurred at 4:30 p. m., and it was not until 10:30 that night that Mrs. Kirby and her daughters learned that others in the family were safe. Her daughters' husbands and children could not join them until the next day, after driving 190 miles to cross a bridge.

The men could not return to work because roads were not open to their place of employment, so the family all found living quarters in Vancouver, and still live there. Mrs. Kirby left in July for a two-month vacation and plans to be back by October 1 after a visit in Corsicana, her former home.

Scattered Wreckage
Mrs. Kirby says no one was permitted to go back to Vanport for several days, and she did not see it again until the water had subsided. The place where her home had been located in a large apartment house was bare. Over the entire town site was scattered wreckage, sometimes a nearly-complete house, sometimes only splintered boards, perhaps an electric refrigerator unmarked by a scratch, or an automobile rolled literally into a ball.

Some articles salvaged from the area could be reclaimed by their owners. One of Mrs. Kirby's daughters identified her refrigerator by the serial number, and the other retrieved a set of books that had been found, floating safely in the bookcase.

In addition to being glad that none of her family was in the town when the flood struck, Mrs. Kirby says she is glad that she was at work, and that she was kept so busy she had no time to worry. She was working in the cafe of the Alcoa plant, which immediately was rushed to serve meals to hundreds of people. Most of the staff remained on duty, and she worked more than 22 hours out of the 24 following the flood.

Not Being Rebuilt
She says that many people ask her now whether Vanport is being rebuilt. It is not, and she believes it will not be because people will be afraid to live there again for many years.

She heard first-hand the stories of terror, rescue, and unsuccessful attempts to escape, as well as the ludicrous reports like that of the woman who fled carefully carrying a coffee percolator but no warm clothing, but she feels very grateful that she is a flood survivor who did not see the flood.

American Magazine Features Story Of Midland And Permian Basin Area

National attention is focused upon West Texas' Permian Basin, particularly the thriving cities of Midland and Odessa, by an article appearing in the September issue of The American Magazine.

"Today, Midland and Odessa are probably the boomiest towns in America," states the article written by Clarence Woodbury. "They are bustling like busy, building skyscrapers, hotels, churches, schools, night clubs, and honky-tonks, and have become the capital cities of a vast empire.

"Drawing, sunburned men in ten-gallon hats and cowboy boots throng the streets. Everybody gambles. Fortunes are made and lost overnight. A man is judged by what he appears to be. There is opportunity for almost everybody."

"One million out of every 8,000-000 barrels of oil produced daily in the United States now comes out of the Permian Basin."

Illustrations
To show what this bonanza has meant the magazine illustrates its lengthy article with photographs contrasting Midland in the old horse and buggy days with its present-day appearance, as well as pictures of activities in Midland's Hotel Scharbauer lobby, the Odessa night club of Gracie Pamoroski, the jewelry store of Abe Gerson, and of wealthy Marvin F. Henderson purchasing a $75 hat from John Summers.

The article also mentions such Midland residents as Fred Turner, Ralph Lowe, Clarence Scharbauer, Jr., M. C. Uimer, Dr. John B. Thomas, Addison Wadley, and H. E. Chiles, Jr.

"Nobody gets in trouble in West Texas if he behaves himself," writes Woodbury, who says that he found the people there "a bit more friendly, hospitable, and generous than they are in most places. There is an old-fashioned frontier spirit of democracy which is very heart-warming. Time and again, I saw millionaires and working men considering nothing of it. One man is considered as good as another regardless of the size of his bank roll."

Woodbury spent a week in Midland and vicinity in July gathering information for his article.

KENTUCKY TOWN WANTS NO CHASERS

PRINCETON, KY.—(AP)—This city recently published a warning to automobile drivers who have been violating an ordinance which forbids chasing the fire truck to fires. And "if this doesn't accomplish the purpose, the ordinance will be strictly enforced and offenders arrested and fined," Police Chief Roy Rosser said. The ordinance provides a $10 to $25 fine for drivers of any vehicle who remain in motion within 200 feet of the fire truck.

RAPID EXTINCTION
The northern sea cow became extinct in just 27 years after man first saw it. The huge creature, 30 feet in length, was never seen anywhere but in the waters around Bering Island, and Steller was the only naturalist ever privileged to see it in life.

'LIGHT' AND 'DARK' MOONS
The terms "light of the moon" and "dark of the moon" have no scientific significance. "Light moon," according to the more popular conception, is the phase between new moon and full moon, while "dark moon" is that period between full and new.

Here's One Airline Pilot They Can't Crash Any More

CALDWELL, N. J. —(NEA)—Capt. Stewart D. Terrell, 16 years an airline pilot, is one captain they can't crash.

Capt. Terrell: Neither fire, ice, nor the propeller failure.

who has flown 10,000 hours on 11 different types of Pan American Airways Clippers, had no broken bones or bruises after his two crashes. His airplane never left the ground. The crashes were simulated, for training purposes. The captain, his co-pilot and flight engineer were the first of 70 of the airline's crews to begin transition training for the company's 20 Boeing Stratocruisers—the largest airplanes scheduled for commercial service.

East Tennessee Hill Billy Hears Own Funeral Talk

By DON WHITEHEAD
WASHINGTON —(AP)—Memories of a mountaineer: Uncle Bush Breasale lived over on a ridge in East Tennessee with his mule named "Mule," and a hound dog he called "Dog."

On a bright, summer day, neighbors rode in for miles around by automobile, horseback and buggy. They brought picnic lunches and spread them on the ground and families who hadn't seen each other in years got together for a good time.

Barkley: 'Old Gibraltar' Of Democrats Stoically Accepts Second Choice Role

LONDON —(AP)— Mine detectors, which a few years ago were warning Allied troops of the presence of German mines, are being used to unearth Saxon relics of 1,400 years ago.

Archaeologists working on Blewburton Hill, near Blewbury, on the Berkshire Downs, have discovered a pagan Saxon burial ground with four skeletons. The "whistle" in the phones of the detectors led to the finding of metal rings and brooches and other personal ornaments. One of the skeletons is of a teen-age girl.

The finds, which date back to about 600 A. D., are really only incidental. They follow a more exciting find from the archaeological view-point—the skeleton of an Iron Age man of about 200 years before Christ. With him were the bones of a dog and a horse about the size of a Shetland pony.

Traces of an Iron Age camp were found by the same explorers last summer. One of the aims of the "dig" was to discover, if possible, the origin of broad, grassy steps leading like a giant's staircase to the top of the hill. Some thought they were the remains of a method of terrace cultivation, but the quickness with which chalk was struck appears to discount this theory.

Men, women and children are camping out on the spot. The diggers consist of the staff of Reading Museum, helped by visitors and members of the Berkshire Archaeological Society.

Mine Detectors Unearth Saxon Relics

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Senator Alben W. Barkley's stoic acceptance of the Democratic vice presidential nomination is typical of his whole political career.

It doesn't make any visible difference to him that he's President Truman's grudging "second choice" for the job. He's undaunted by the fact that his party has a gloomy outlook with the cards apparently stacked against his becoming VP.

He was described accurately as the "good old shoe of the Democratic Party." A man you can always count on in the pinch. Level-headed. Loyal. Seldom wavering from the party line. Not too often inspired. But you can't have everything in one man.

Without saying a word, in front of scores of people. Next week, however, he was working as hard as ever for a substitute OPA bill for Truman, which he put over.

Barkley's reputation as the "Old Gibraltar" of the Democratic Party is further proved by his appointments as keynote speaker for the party's national conventions of '32, '36 and '48. A collection of phrases which have been used to describe "Dear Alben" over the past years gives a pretty good picture of the man's appearance and personality. He's a "dependable, likable, old-dog sort of man," and in his politics, "regular as a metronome."

Typical of his somewhat plodding nature, his favorite song is "Wagon Wheels." His humor is sometimes a little strained. In discussing his keynote speech, which took one hour and nine minutes, he said: "Caesar said 'all Gaul is divided into three parts.' I say that my speech was divided into three parts and was all Gaul!"

Generally his manner is pleasant and good-natured. It was said of him once, too, "he's the perfect grandfather type."

$500,000 In Bounties Paid For Mountain Lions

SAN FRANCISCO —(AP)— California has paid out half a million dollars for 10,000 dead mountain lions since the bounty system was set up in 1907. The 10,000th bounty has been paid to a Mendocino County hunter, says the State Division of Fish and Game, which estimates that one of the big cats has been killed every 39 hours, on the average, during the past two generations.

The cost is regarded as cheap. Lion killing, combined with better enforcement of game laws, has quadrupled the deer population in the same period, authorities say. It is believed that about 75 per cent of a mountain lion's diet is deer meat. The cats are found in every region of the state, but mostly in the northwestern part. Bounty records show they have been killed since 1907 in every county except San Francisco. Only recently an elderly female lion was shot on the Antioch bridge, a high steel structure across the San Joaquin River 40 miles east of here. The present bounty is $80 for a female and $60 for a male.

Major prewar use of lead was for storage batteries, which accounted for about 30 per cent of the 655,000 tons of lead used during 1939.

THROW HIM IN JAIL

The sheriff winked and said: "Come into my whispering room."

We went into a small office and he closed the door behind him. He went to a huge wall safe and swung open the heavy door. Inside were rifles, shotguns, ammunition—and one empty fruit jar.

The sheriff looked at the empty jar and bellowed in rage: "You him! You come in here."

A deputy shuffled through the door enveloped in a 100-proof fog.

"Jim, you drunk up my whiskey," the sheriff accused.

"No, I didn't, sheriff."

"I reckon you did and you'd better get me another jar."

The deputy said: "That feller I was tellin' you about yesterday is right across the street and he's got some."

"Well," the sheriff said, "you'd better see him fast."

The deputy was gone for fifteen minutes. He slipped in with a full jar of moonshine under his coat and put it on the table.

"Where'd you say you got this?" demanded the sheriff.

"I got it from that feller I was tellin' you about," the deputy said. "He's right outside there."

"Well, go throw him in jail," the sheriff said, pouring out a drink. "He knows he's not supposed to have corn likker around here."

Football Yankees Eat Like Lions; Food Bill Is $5,000

By FRANK ECK
 CHESHIRE, CONN.—(AP)—So you think the price of meat has gone sky high? Have you ever tried feeding a squad of professional football players? They eat like lions.
 It is costing the New York Yankees, Eastern champions of the All-America Conference, a cool $5,000 in steaks and chops to feed a squad that at one time reached 71 candidates but is now down to 35.
 During four weeks of training at the Cheshire Academy the Yankee chef, Roger Sardine, was one of the most popular men in camp.
 After Coach Ray Flaherty and his aides ran the players ragged of excess weight, Sardine—the chef—was a welcome sight for the gridmen. They would greet him on the run on the way to the showers and every once in a while you could hear him shout "steak tonight."
 It was after one of these steaks that Flaherty sat back to relax and began talking about the Yankees, the football Yanks of 1948.
 "We're going to have the same razzle dazzie club we had last year," said the former Washington Redskins coach. "We will have a much better passing attack."
 "We got Bud Schwenk, who led the league with 188 pass completions with Baltimore last year, and Allen Dekdebrun of Cornell and the Chicago Rockets. They'll do the passing. That's going to help Spec Sanders a lot. He's a great ball carrier. There will be no passing for Buddy Young."
 "We'll be much stronger at ends with Paul Cleary of Southern California and Bill Hoyt of UCLA to help Bruce Alford and Jack Russell. But at the guard and tackle spots we'll be weaker."
 "Bruiser Kinard retired to coach the Mississippi line. Tackle Nate Johnson went to the Rockets and Guard Dick Barwegen went to Baltimore. Chicago also got Eddie Prokop, a good back."
 "These deals were made to balance the league. They were made last Winter when I wasn't around and if I had known about them I certainly wouldn't have approved them. Paul Brown of the Cleveland Browns (conference playoff champions) gave up nothing but we gave up some of our best linemen."
 "We sent six players to the Chicago All-Star game—Nick Ognovich of Wake Forest, Roland Nabors of Texas Tech, Joe Signaigo of Notre Dame, Dick Werder of Georgetown, Arnold Weinmeister of Washington and Cleary."
 "Another end to watch is Otto Schnellbacher. He was the fellow who caught all those passes last year for Ray Evans at Kansas."
 They call Schnellbacher "The Claw," not because of the way he puts away those steaks but the way he pulls in passes. Sanders, the brilliant running back, is one of the steak-eating champions. It's nothing for him to mangle two and a half steaks and four plates of ice cream. He has that "boarding house reach" which is all right with Flaherty as long as Sanders remains the sensation he's been the last two seasons.

FIRST BLUE IMP

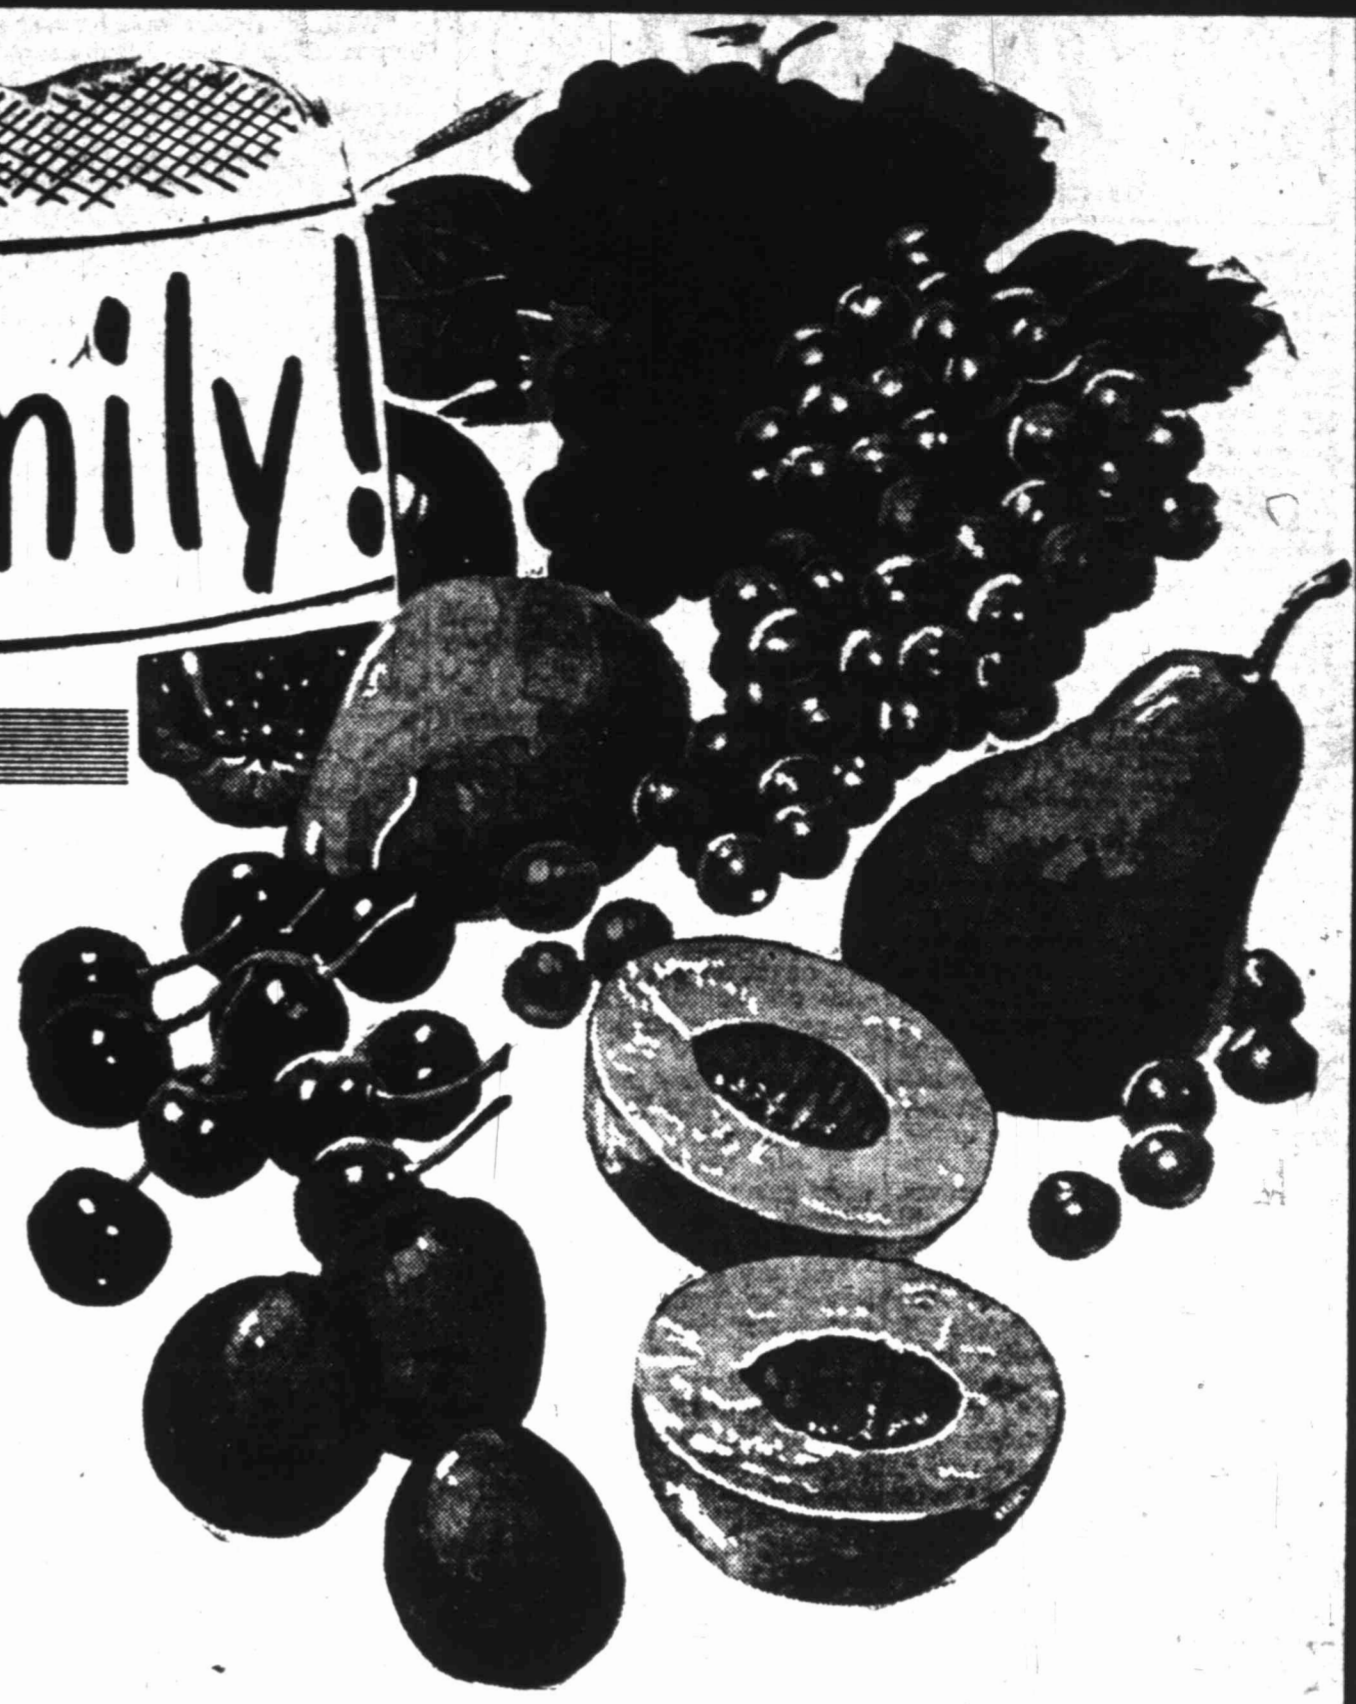

DURHAM, N. C.—(AP)—Duke University this season is fielding its first freshman football squad since 1942 and the Blue Babies will play a six-game schedule. The yearlings will open on September 24 against Wake Forest and will also meet Navy, William and Mary, East Carolina Tech, North Carolina State and North Carolina. John (Red) Henninger former Duke grid star, will coach the squad.

NYAC CONTRIBUTES

NEW YORK —(AP)—The New York Athletic Club, power in amateur athletics for 80 years, contributed a check for $10,000 to the U. S. Olympic fund, before the Games in London. This money was divided among track and field, $4,000; fencing $2,500; rowing $1,500; swimming $1,000 and wrestling, $1,000. Eleven NYACers were members of the Olympic team.

The province of Ontario, Canada, has an area of more than 412,000 square miles.

TRYST

By Elswyth Thane

THE STORY: Hilary Sheenon, British secret agent, recalls lying wounded in the Indian desert beside a cracked stone, after escaping a dangerous mission. He remembers feeling a desperate need to return to England and Nana Farthing, his family's country home. (He doesn't know that the house has been let and that dreamy, 17-year-old Sabrina, whom he has never met, has adopted his old room and eagerly awaits his return.) Next thing Hilary is aware of, he is back in London dropping in at his club. But no one seems concerned of his presence. Hilary learns that his brother, George, has been cutting in with Alice, Hilary's fiancée. At first, he thinks it's all a dream. Then with dismay he overhears report of his own death. Shocked at first, he later decides to enjoy the situation. After spending the night in a room at the club, he wanders around London next day. He makes up his mind to look into the matter of George and Alice.

about the door smartly and returned to the kitchen, muttering. Hilary mounted the familiar carpeted stairs to his mother's sitting-room. He heard voices, and the door stood open. "Cocktails, mater," George was saying decisively. "Too much sherry lately—makes me liverish." "Oh! Well, ring the bell, dear, and just tell Hinton what you want," their mother's light, cheerful voice advised him. "Alice said 1:15 for lunch. She's at the hair-dresser's till 1."

XII
TOWARDS lunch time he mounted the steps of his mother's little house in Park Street. It was George's green Rolls-Bentley four-seater, he supposed, which stood at the curb. A noisy brute of a car, and just what George would drive. Automatically he searched his pockets—dam—no keys—Dalton had his keys, in Peshawur. Round the corner came two quite correct little boys, brothers, dressed alike in gray suits with bare knees and white collars. With them was a lively spaniel, off his lead, which dangled from the younger boy's hand. Eminently well-behaved, they came level with the bottom of the steps where he stood—they were moving briskly, absorbed in the dog. Hilary pressed the bell.

Hilary paused on the threshold and stood looking into the sunny room and feeling bitterly sorry for himself. Everything was so entirely as usual here. Alice was expected to lunch—cocktails would come up on a clinking tray—his mother was at her writing-table in a becoming gown someone ought to praise—old George with his finger on the bell and his eye on the lunch-time racing-form. . . . Obviously they didn't know yet, about him. The Home Office was taking its time. "I say, there's a blasted silly story going round the club," said George. "Ponsonby swears he had a ghost in his room last night." "At the club?" Their mother looked up from her letter-writing with a skeptical smile. "Yes, at the club!" George affirmed, and grinned. "It was me," said Hilary tentatively, half expecting, half hoping they would hear, and turn on him with incredulous hoots of rude family laughter. But— "Nonsense, he'd been drinking," she cried, her incredulity all for Ponsonby. "Ponsonby's a teetotaler," said George. "Then no wonder he sees things!" she concluded logically. "What happened, to make him think it was a ghost?" "Well, Ponsonby says he was in bed reading, when the door suddenly swung open as though someone had turned the knob from the passage." "Yes—and hadn't someone?" "Not a soul. There was nobody there. That is, nobody he could see. He was frightfully upset!" "I said I was sorry," said Hilary in his own defense. "Men's clubs are full of practical jokers," asserted their mother. . . .

"A H, but Ponsonby swears he pulled himself together at once and jumped out of bed to close the door. The passage was empty. But he's positive that something had opened that door and was surprised to see him there, and went away, leaving it open." "I never heard of anything so absurd!" she cried. "The latch gave in a draught, of course." "I know. We all said that. But there's another thing." "Well, what?" "Last night somebody slept in a room that was supposed to be empty." "Oh, George, really!" "I'm only telling you what they said! A room that hadn't been booked for several nights had its bed slept in last night. But there's no trace of the occupant—Hinton, if you'll bring up the makings, I'll shake up a White Lady before lunch."

"Yes, sir," said Hinton, and withdrew again. "And that's not all," George continued impressively, and produced the ultimate manifestation. "The fellow in the next room heard the bath water being run by the fellow in the empty room." "Now, George, you're not trying to tell me their ghost took a bath!" "That's the story! Ponsonby is going to write to the Society for Psychological Research!" "Men are so silly! He was probably scaring himself to death with a detective story when it happened. George, I've had another letter from those people down at Nuns Farthing." "What people?" demanded Hilary, astonished. (To Be Continued)

McKenney on Bridge

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY

Written for NEA Service

Today's lesson hand is taken from Henry Brandt's excellent article in the July issue of The Bridge World, entitled "Up With the Queen?" Before reading further, however, I would like to have you picture the following combination of cards: North has the same spade holding, but only three hearts, five diamonds to the ace-jack-ten and the ace and one club. South has the same spade holding, three hearts to the ace-king, four diamonds to the queen and four clubs to the king. West opens the jack of spades. In this case the whole hand depends upon the diamond finesse. Therefore South, the declarer, should put on a small spade from dummy, win with the ace in his own hand and take the diamond finesse into the East hand. Now, regardless of who has the king of spades, he is in no danger. Let us now look at the hand in the box. The situation in spades is the same, but this time the opening lead is the three-spot. Suppose that this time also declarer plays low from dummy, East plays the jack and South wins with the ace. Then he cashes three top clubs. Finding East with the fourth club, he leads another club, feeling quite safe about the position of the queen of spades. However, East shifts to the jack

Blueberry Tarts: Dessert Treat

Cultivated blueberries make jewel-like tarts.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Looking for a de luxe dessert? Well, try these blueberry tarts. For an extra treat, serve them with luscious apple juice.

Glassed True Blueberry Tarts
(Serves 4)
One box cultivated blueberries, 4 baked tart shells, 1/3 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, few grains salt, 1/2 cup water, 1/4 teaspoon grated orange peel.

Wash and drain blueberries. Fill baked tart shells with half of the blueberries; reserve other half for the glaze. Combine sugar, cornstarch and salt; blend well. Gradually add water, continue blending; add remaining blueberries and orange peel. Cook over low heat until mixture is thick and clear, stirring constantly. Using a spoon, pour over blueberry tarts to cover. When cool, garnish with whipped cream.

Hot juicy blueberry dumplings are one of Summer's sweetest gifts. In a "Date With a Dish," a really wonderful new cook book.

DeKnight gives these directions for eating-happiness:

Mix fruit, 1 cup sugar, butter, nutmeg, lemon juice and water. Bring to boil in a large open pan. Mix flour, baking powder, salt and 1 tablespoon sugar. Cut in shortening and add milk. Drop by teaspoonfuls into hot mixture. Cover. Steam for 15 minutes. Serve hot with whipped cream.

Californians Might Call This Treason

SANTA ANA, CALIF.—(P)—It's practically treason:

A U. S. Department of Agriculture report shows that California and Arizona consumed 1,596,000 cases of canned Florida orange juice last year: 474,000 cases of canned California orange juice.

A spokesman for California growers had a ready answer: Florida cans 10 times as much as California and Arizona; California sells all its cans in the fresh fruit market, turns only small unmarketable sizes into the by-product.

Birds are much like airplanes but they produce both lift and propulsion with their wings. Airplane propulsion is produced by the propeller and lift by the wings.

Translation Of Yank Plane Names Difficult

BERLIN —(P)—The Germans, especially newspaper editors, are having quite a time translating these flamboyant names of American planes engaged in the blockade-busting air lift.

When a giant C-47 Globemaster arrived here with a cargo of flour, the American-licensed newspaper Tagesspiegel hailed it as the "meister der erdballes (master of the earth ball)."

German kids who watch the day and night procession of the air shuttle have grown familiar with the types of planes involved. They can point out a C-54 Skymaster or C-47 Dakota merely as C-54 or C-47.

Some newspapers also have adopted these designations. However, some Russian-controlled newspapers, often sneeringly, try to translate Skymaster into "himmlermeister (master of the heavens)."

The German press finds much simpler such British aircraft names as Yorks, Sunderlands and Lancasters.

Stars and Stripes Means Food

During the first year of the "Truman Doctrine" Aid to Greece program, $35,000,000 worth of food was shipped to hungry Greeks. Here, workmen unload another shipment to Athens. Among those dependent on American supplies are 1,000,000 indigents and 500,000 refugees.

Electric Farming Now Dries Hay, Soothes Cows

LANCASTER, PA.—(NEA)—New wrinkles in electrified farming are paying heavy dividends to the modern farmer when a hungry world is putting a premium on peak production and conservation of food values.

The hay finisher is one of the latest applications of electricity to farming which has been proving its worth in this section of Pennsylvania, where the electric light and power industry began pioneering in rural electrification prior to 1920 and where today more than 95 out of every 100 farms have electricity available.

Wet weather continuing for more than three weeks spoiled much of the hay crop in this area which farmers tried to field cure, but it failed to hamper those with hay finishers.

The hay finisher is nothing more mysterious than an electrically driven fan which drives large quantities of air through hay on the hay mow floor, enabling it to be cured regardless of the weather.

Preserves Food Value

Ducts built along the hay mow floor carry the air through the hay, not only drying it when it would be impossible to dry it on the field, but preserving food values that would be lost even under good field conditions. The U. S. Department of Agriculture estimates that more protein is lost annually through improper curing of hay than is required to feed 7,500,000 head of livestock.

It is estimated that electric hay drying develops additional values of as much as $5 to $10 a ton over field curing because of retaining greater feeding qualities at a cost of about $1 a ton for power service.

Now farmers are finding also that the hay finisher fan can do many more jobs for them, such as drying grain in sheaves, bags and bins. Some have found it to be cheaper to dry extra corn on the hay finisher ducts than to build cribs.

Another type of fan is being used to ventilate barns, for cow comfort has been found to be an important item in milk production. And that radio you see in the dairy barn isn't there for the farmer—it's there for cow contentment.

Study Club—

Since the war years, the Midland Memorial Hospital, the Junior Chamber, and then the Girl Scouts were added to the list of projects.

Long the "baby club" of the Eighth District Federation, the Progressive Study Club always has joined in Federation activities, and felt that it had won recognition when its 1946-47 yearbook won second place in district competition. Study Comes First.

With all its service projects, and the emphasis on contributing time and attention as well as money to the work which interests it, the club still remembers its status as a study club, and chooses carefully each year's course.

It hears guests who are experts on certain topics, but depends chiefly on its members to prepare and discuss the program subjects.

An interesting course this year is promised in the program titles: "Women in Medicine," "Music in All Its Varieties," "Art Through the Ages," "Home Decoration," "Know Your Texas," "Mothers as Citizens," "Women in Education," "Women in the Theater," and "Women in Literature."

New Zealand Clouds Magnify Shadows

AUCKLAND, NEW ZEALAND—(AP)—Down in the south island of New Zealand you can see your own shadow, greatly magnified, "way up (or down) in the clouds. New Zealanders who want to see this trick of light and color climb Mount Bernard in the later afternoon. Mount Bernard is a peak overlooking Akaroa Harbor, near Christchurch.

W. R. Curry, of Akaroa, went up the hillside the other day at 4 p. m. A blanket of fog hid the harbor from the mountain top. On the summit, Curry saw his own shadow ringed in a rainbow, on the eastern side of the range. He waved his arm to test that shadow. A long misty arm came back to him from the mirrored figure.

This phenomenon is known as the "Spectre of Brocken." It is named after Mount Brocken in Germany where it was first noted in 1780. Sun and clouds have to be in the right place, and you have to be atop a mountain. Then you may see your shadow, magnified hundreds of times, on the clouds.

A bright new comet is visible in the early morning in the constellation of Andromeda. Of the fourth magnitude, it can easily be picked up with binoculars, and may also be spotted with the naked eye by those people who are far from city lights.

Hospital Births Show Increase in Number

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A sharp increase in the relative number of birth taking place in hospitals were shown by figures from the Public Health Service.

Noting that there were 3,288,672 live births recorded for 1946, the Federal Security Agency said, 52.4 per cent occurred in hospitals, 12.9 per cent were attended by physicians outside of hospitals, and 5.4 per cent were attended by midwives or other non-physicians.

This contrasted with the percentages for 1935: Only 36.2 per cent in hospitals, 50.6 per cent outside hospitals but with doctors, and 12.5 per cent with midwives or others.

Grapevine Takes Over Vacationers House

PORTERVILLE, CALIF.—(AP)—"This is a vine homecoming" might have been the remark—it probably wasn't—when Mr. and Mrs. George Strum returned from their month's vacation.

Encompassing one end of the living room, and draped over chairs, was a Thompson seedless grapevine which had sneaked its tendrils through a tiny crack and was doing its best to take over the place.

The house had been built on a vineyard site, and Strum said that the plant had been cut but not grubbed out.

It will be now.
