Charter Is Presented To New Altrusa Club And Signed By Members At Dinner

Its charter from Altrusa International, Inc., was presented to the new Midland Altrusa Chapter Tuesday night, accepted by Katherine Shriver, president, and signed by the members present at a dinner in the Private Dining Room of the Scharbauer Hotel.

Presentation of the charter was made by Lela Cummings of the Abilene Altrusa Chapter, representing Lolla Peterson of Austin, director of District 7, who was unable to be here because of a recent death in her family.

Mrs. Cummings welcomed the new chapter to the international women's service organization, spoke of the need over the world for the Altrusa ideals of service, patriotism and efficiency, and stressed the club members' obligation for unselfish aid to their community and nation.

Eva Cole, vice president of the Abilene club, accompanied Mrs. Cummings and spoke briefly of club projects.

Principal speaker for the dinner was the Rev. R. J. Snell, rector of the Trinity Episcopal Church, who congratulated the club on taking its place among service organizations of Midland. He reminded members that what the club will be 20 years from now depends upon what it does in its early years and pictured the community as a challenge to its best efforts.

Mrs. Snell was introduced as a dinner guest.

Telegraphed congratulations were read from the San Antonio Altrusa Chapter, which sponsored the organization here.

Tables were decorated for the charter dinner with lemon-yellow marigolds, yellow button chrysanthemums and Peruvian lilies, used in an arrangement for the head table and alternated with fern down the center of the other tables.

Designers Dramatize Fabrics

A LITTLE fashion drama worth watching this fall is the designer's play of one fabric against another.

The ensemble, right, shows Pauline Trigrere's way of playing a black velveteen dress against a fishtail jacket of silver-and-black striped ottoman. Orange wool jersey also gets a play as an ascot scarf which highlights the jacket's black velveteen collar.

Another example of this fashion drama is seen in the suit, left. Here, Anna Miller plays a black satin skirt and a black woolen gilet against a black woolen skirt against a black woolen jacket. The jacket's waistline peplum is boldly embroidered with jet and the collar closes, with a black satin tie.

More Confusion

We feel both confused and encouraged at the latest news on the spy investigations. Attorney General Tom Clark says that during World War II "there was not one successful attempt at foreign-inspired sabotage."

At the same time Congressman Hebert of Louisiana maintains that the House Un-American Activities Committee has found no evidence of any spying in this country since the war.

One may only draw the conclusion from this testimony that we haven't been spied on successfully since 1941. Clark's assurances are not to be dismissed lightly.

At the same time the good news from the Thomas Committee can't be shrugged off. These diligent investigators have covered the ground so thoroughly, examining suspected and admitted Communists, suspicious government workers, writers and heiresses, that they surely would have dug up any postwar skulduggery if such were to be found.

Yet for the last year or two the air has been so full of rumors that it is hard to lapse into a sense of security without a struggle. Clark says that hundreds of alien Communists and other subversives have been kept from entering this country.

Clark says there was no wartime sabotage, while the Thomas Committee has been pursuing rumors of leaks in atomic secrecy during the period of hostilities.

A minor State Department official warns that there are a lot of dangerous characters among the UN delegates. The head of the State Department denies it and the FBI seems unconcerned about it.

This, as we said, is both confusing and encouraging. Which feeling should be allowed to triumph? Are all the investigators following the trails of different red herrings that lead nowhere? Or is a real danger being exploited primarily for its political value?

We don't know the answer, but we are certain of two things. One is that spy investigations are too expensive and too important to be undertaken lightly.

The other is that if there is anything to the rumors, our various government agencies had better get together, exchange information, and cooperate generally.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

Pre-Pearl Harbor Party Tale Has Moral For War Lords

By PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The hitherto untold story of a famous pre-Pearl Harbor, Washington dinner party given by Donald M. Nelson is about to be revealed in full detail with the publication of Bruce Catton's new book, "The War Lords of Washington."

Next Nelson called upon Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox. After voicing the usual after-dinner pleasantry, Knox said that since he could speak freely to this assembly, he wanted to warn that war was very close.

Bruce Catton will be remembered as a former NEA Service editorial writer and columnist. He resigned from active newspaper work to enter government service, ending the war as director of information for the War Production Board.

Nelson began the talking with what Catton describes as something of a Rotarian speech. Good fellowship was going to cure all misunderstandings. There was no reason why they couldn't all work together. They had to work together.

Edward S. Stettinius (Junior) offered the tidings that he had just heard from Harry. He meant Harry Hopkins. Stettinius said that Harry was getting along fine in the hospital and would be back soon.

DREW PEARSON ON THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

WASHINGTON—Chief Justice Fred B. Vinson is not going to Moscow and his name, therefore, will not become a by-word with the Russian people. Down in Virginia, however, his name is so well known that it caused a Virginia traffic cop to rub his eyes.

Among the students at Washington and Lee University happen to be the grandson of a late famous Virginia politician, the late Senator Carter Glass III, and the son of a chief justice. All three were riding together near Lexington, Va., when arrested for speeding.

"Robert E. Lee IV," replied the first student. "It was the cop who told me that." It happened that he was telling the truth. The traffic cop looked up quizzically, but wrote the name down, then asked for the next name.

"Carter Glass III," was the reply. The cop wrote the name down, then queried the third student. "Fred M. Vinson, Jr.," replied young Vinson.

"Then my name's Napoleon," exclaimed the flustered cop, and let all three boys go. "Kickback" Farrell Thomas. Most readers of this column, judging by the mail, heartily disapprove of Congressman J. Parnell Thomas' system of salary kickbacks from filets and stenographers.

The answer is that Thomas was singled out. For many years this column has exposed kickbacks and nepotism among congressmen wherever they existed and regardless of political party. Thomas got no worse treatment than the others.

Contrary to some people's opinion, most congressmen have clean, honest records when it comes to kickbacks. Money goes up in smoke.

Brig. Gen. Paul Cullen, then a colonel, had charge of the Air Force camera crews at Bikini. His master plan was a glorified technician training film called "Able Baker Day," which he sent over to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to be edited.

Instead the top brass ordered all the extra prints burned, and only two copies kept for the files. Since Cullen had gone ahead and ordered 48 prints, this made an expensive bonfire—paid for out of the taxpayers' pocket. Cost of the film alone that went up in smoke: $86,000.

Since the Atomic Energy Commission had called upon all the armed services to cooperate in filming the Bikini explosions, the Navy was working on a similar picture at the same time Cullen was making "Able Baker Day."

The Loves of Carmen

By SOPHIE KERR Copyright, 1948, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Don Jose, young officer in a fashionable Spanish regiment, has just come to Seville for the quadrille. He has become smitten with the beautiful, fiery Carmen. When he tries to make love to her, the unpredictable Carmen—remembering a love-death for her—stabs him. Later, Carmen changes her mind, she tries to get him back, but she is killed by Don Jose's superior officer, who feels he has a claim on Carmen. Angry and helpless, the elder man utters his sword on Jose.

longer in his hand. His hands were empty. His eyes were uncomprehending. The colonel's body collapsed heavily, falling dead on the floor. He had fallen on and been run through by Don Jose's sword.

Carmen got up from the couch, inching her way along, her little slippers slipping fastidiously avoiding the body of the murdered man. Her eyes were on Don Jose. She whispered, as though not to awaken the colonel. "As I was saying, you will come with me to the mountains."

Don Jose could not believe that the colonel was dead. The body was there; the blood, that had filled it now ran out on the floor. The colonel's eyes stared up at him as round as saucers, the roundness accentuated by lifted eyebrows. Don Jose and the dead colonel shared shock, astonishment, incredulous surprise, but all this had frozen in the steel. It was a molten, liquid acid that ate into the youth of Don Jose.

His dull eyes lifted to Carmen's face and she was smiling. Her smile had the pleasure of a child who has been granted a blessed wish. Almost as soon as she had been asked, it had been granted.

THE jagged mountains of southern Spain thrust their rocky dark heights against the sky. On the side of one of them, high up in coldness, the warm tiny pinpoint of a campfire blew smoke into the night. Huge slabs of rock formed a protective clearing around the campfire, while over the same hung an iron pot steaming with food. Carmen gazed beside the fire, turning small games on a spit. She sang softly to herself.

FORMER SAN ANGELO POOR OFFICER DIES DALLAS—(AP)—Thomas Jefferson Longacre, 79, a former police officer in San Angelo and a resident of Dallas since 1915, died Tuesday night in a Dallas convalescent home.

He was born in Erath County, kissed with his other hand as he followed her back to the fire. His face carried a dazed look of happiness.

He sniffed appreciatively, looking over his shoulder at the food. "It smells good. But what an enormous potful!"

"The others will be riding in soon. They'll be hungry." She bent to tend the spit, Jose close beside her.

"I wish they wouldn't come," he said. "I wish they'd never come."

Carmen turned the roasting spits carefully. "We couldn't get along without them." She pushed a pestle between us. She pushed her hair out of her face and looked up at him, laughing. "A man who is hunted as you are, needs friends—good, money-making friends."

Don Jose gazed into the fire, not answering. After a silence he said almost to himself, wonderingly, "I don't know what has happened to me. Here I am, a deserter from the Army and a murderer of my colonel and I don't even understand why I'm here." He frowned. "I can't imagine how it happened. One minute I thought he was going to kill me and the next minute there he was, out of nowhere, on my sword—like this here on a spit. I just don't—"

Carmen rose quickly, slipping the ashes from her hands. "Don't think about it," she said. "You're here and I'm here and that's enough. Think about it that way. Just Carmen and Jose—"

He took her face in his hands, watching her eyes. "All to myself—"

She gazed back at him, clear-eyed, resolute. "All to yourself?" He put his arms around her savagely and held her as though this made the last statement come true and would keep it true and shining forever. But his arms fell away from her when the clatter of horses' hoofs was heard coming up the rocky mountainside—a sound mixed with the guttural tones of men's voices and the clank of gear.

Carmen twisted away and looked off toward the sound warily.

HOLLYWOOD—It always seems to happen when a great movie is born. "Johnny Belinda" is Warner Brothers' best picture in years. The story behind the story: Jane Wyman took an option on the film rights to the play and talked producer Jerry Wald into buying it for her. When a Warner executive returned from Europe, he fired almost everyone connected with the film, including director Jean Negulesco, and ruled: "We'll buy no more stories like 'Johnny Belinda'."

Now the same brass that is diffusing it and taking bows all over the place.

Ed "Archie" Gardner brought back some tales from his European tour. He broke up a GI show in Germany by walking on stage and saying "You know boys, I'm a subtle comedian." With that his trousers dropped. A woman in Italy congratulated Ed on his Duffy's Tavern airshow. "Thanks," said Ed. "And who are you?" Ed is still blushing over her reply. "My name is Lily Pons." He was talking to Orson Welles, who was crying into his beer in a Rome saloon. "What's the trouble?" asked Ed. "It's heart-breaking," wept Orson. Don Haggerty is starring in all four, with Pat Morison, Hillary Brooke, Lucia Carroll and Angela Greene as his leading ladies. TNM&O Coaches To Start Service Here

Midland Thursday will gain another bus line and four additional bus schedules daily.

The concern is the Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma Coaches which will operate from Midland to Andrews and Seminole, making connections with other TNM&O lines to Lubbock, Amarillo and other West Texas points.

New 29-passenger buses of the latest type will leave Midland at 12:45 p. m. and 6 p. m. daily. Incoming buses will arrive at 10:40 a. m. and 5:55 p. m. The schedules are coordinated with those of Baygent Coaches operating from Midland to Lamesa.

The new bus line will use the facilities of the Greyhound Bus Station.

ICC Application
Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma Coaches has an application pending before the Interstate Commerce Commission for inter-state service from Midland to Hobbs, N. M., via Andrews.

"Through service from Midland to Hobbs is our ultimate goal," O. M. Owens of Lubbock, traffic manager, said Wednesday. Owens and J. E. Johnston, traffic manager, were here from Lubbock to complete final arrangements for starting the new service.

Purple Scrimmages In Tuesday Drills

The coaches rang the gong for a rugged scrimmage session Tuesday and the Midland Bulldogs were willing. They rocked and socked each other and enjoyed it. They are getting ready to use this tactic on Brownwood Friday night.

Before the drill the Bulldogs looked at pictures of the Midland-Sweetwater game. They jotted down in their minds the mistakes and vowed to correct 'em. That is what these game pictures are for, anyway.

Brownwood has been scouted. The Lions work from the T-formation. So Tuesday, the second team ran the "T" against the varsity.

The linebackers got a rugged session before the scrimmage. Coach Audrey Gill, who was a great one, got a thrill out of this phase of the workout. He directed it. Coach Barnes Milam sent the ball carriers through and Gill's linebackers chopped them down.

Lettered back Larry Buckingham got a knockout lick in the practice but was revived and stayed around for the finish.

Deel Looks Good
Looking especially sharp and tough in the blocking department as well as on defense was Don Deel, one of the hardest-hitting linemen in Texas schoolboy football.

The Bulldogs will depart for Brownwood Thursday and may get in a workout at the scene of the game.

Brownwood is new on Midland's slate this season replacing Brownfield. Many fans still are confused and believe the Bulldogs will be at Brownfield Friday night. They are reminded that Brownwood is the opponent.

Midland's boys have a good attitude for the Brownwood battle. They have tasted the salt of a real scrap at Sweetwater and are ready for some more.

DOWN SPORTS LANE

with TANNER LAINE

Arkansas has the bad boys of the Southwest Conference if penalties are any indication. The Forkers have been assessed 225 yards in penalties in four ball games this season. That's an average of 72 yards per game.

The good boys then could be the SMU Mustangs, who have been penalized 30 yards in three ball games.

Here are the Southwest schools with the number of yards in penalties assessed them so far this season: Arkansas, 225; Texas, 195; TOU, 156; Baylor, 110; Rice, 105; A&M, 56; SMU, 30. Figures for Texas, Arkansas, A&M, TOU cover four games, the others cover three games.

—SI—
When SMU was defeated last Saturday by Missouri, this broke a winning string of 35 straight games without defeat for teams on which Bobby Folsom, Mustang end, had played.

Folsom was a freshman at SMU in 1944 and the team won three games without a loss. Then he went to West Point and was on the undefeated squads there. He returned to SMU for last year's undefeated romp and is playing this year.

The loss to Missouri snapped a streak of 23 games without defeat for Doak Walker. The Doaker played at SMU, went into service and played there, then returned to SMU for last season and this.

—SI—
John Sanchez, Washington Redskins tackle, has sworn off chewing gum.

He was chomping away on a plug of it Sunday in a game with the Pittsburgh Steelers. John was hit, the gum started to take flight. He tried to pull it back with his tongue—and was hit again.

Result: His teeth snapped together. It took four stitches to close the gap in his tongue.

—SI—
And this happened to Gene McCollum's boys for which we are sorry:

In football these days touchdowns are scored in bunches but seldom have three been run up in the time consumed last week when Ball High of Galveston played Port Neches.

Galveston won the game 30-14, making three touchdowns in the final 22 seconds. That's a minute and 22 seconds.

Eastern intercollegiate football official Len Dobbins (Fordham) demonstrates this season's changes in hand signals. (1) Clipping. (2) Roughing the kicker. (3) Ineligible receiver down field on forward pass. (4) Official marker to indicate point of infraction, strenuously called a handkerchief. (5) Illegal use of hands and arms on offense. (6) Personal foul. The latter could be tripping, kicking, piling on or any other form of unnecessary roughness, an expression that has been dropped from the code. All of the signs indicate major violations calling for 15-yard penalties.

Stengel To Pilot Yankees

NEW YORK—(AP)—Fulfilled days are sure to be ahead for the New York Yankees with Charles Dillon Stengel, the inimitable Casey, as the new manager of the club.

Stengel, who gained big league baseball fame as a player with the New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers and who later managed the Brooks as well as the Boston Braves, was signed to a two-year contract Tuesday. He succeeds Bucky Harris.

The 57-year-old Missourian joins the conservative Yankees with a reputation as a madcap maestro with a flare for comedy. But he also possesses a keen, analytical mind and a comprehensive idea of the game.

He comes back to the big leagues after five years in the minors. Only last Sunday he finished piloting the Oakland club to a Pacific Coast League pennant and playoff championship.

Laugh-Provoking Antics
Although Stengel was a big league outfielder 13 years, started in three World Series and managed for three years in the big time, he is best remembered for his laugh-provoking antics.

There was the time Casey, objecting to playing in semi-darkness, produced a toy flash light to summon Fred Frankhouse, a pitcher, from the bullpen. Although the spectators roared with laughter, Casey drew a $25 fine.

Another time Stengel was warned by Umpire Bill Klem to stop his heckling or he would be evicted. Klem called a strike on him, whereupon Casey bowed graciously doffed his cap and out flew a pigeon.

Pups Scheduled To Meet Big Spring

Wildcat Center Is Nominated Nation's Lineman of the Week

NEW YORK—(AP)—Alex Sarkisian, captain and center of Northwestern's undefeated team, was named the collegiate football lineman of the week Wednesday in The Associated Press' first poll of the season.

Sarkisian, a 215-pound senior, played the full 60 minutes against Minnesota. His work in stopping up the middle of the Northwestern forward wall played a major role in NW's 19-16 victory over the Gophers.

The Northwestern captain was one of 28 linemen—usually the forgotten players on Saturday—from all parts of the country who drew high praise for their efforts up front.

Chuck Bednarik, Pennsylvania's all-America center who has done everything but throw a forward pass this season, Dick Harris of Texas, Dan Dworaczek of Michigan, John Ferrick of Cornell, Dick Woodard of Iowa and Bob Fuchs of Missouri all received compliments on their play. All are centers.

Two tackles from the Southern Conference likewise received plaudits—Len Safaryn of North Carolina and Tom Salisbury of Clemson.

Alf Hemstad of the University of Washington and Paul Burris of Oklahoma topped the guards.

Aggie Guard Named Southwest Lineman

AUSTIN—(AP)—A seasoned guard playing on the only team that hasn't won a game—Texas A&M—carried off lineman-of-the-week honors in last Saturday's Southwest Conference campaigning.

Odell Stauteberger, a 215-pound junior who made all-conference selections as a freshman in 1946, was selected on the basis of a poll conducted by The American Statesman.

Crowding the Aggie guard for the honor were Rice's Joe Watson, a massive 240-pound center, and Texas Christian University's George Brown, guard and sub-captain for the Frogs.

Notre Dame, Michigan Slip As Nevada Copes Top College Offensive Honors

NEW YORK — (AP) — Notre Dame and Michigan, although their winning streaks are still intact, don't pack the punch they did in 1947—if figures are to be believed.

These two Midwestern powerhouses were tops last year in moving the football up and down the field, monopolizing team offensive honors among major college teams.

Teed Up
After driving off a wooden peg while playing the second hole of the Lac La Belle golf course, Oconomowoc, Wis., Edward Keeney found his ball pierced by a celluloid tee. Honest. There were two witnesses.

In the present campaign they have failed to get their steam up, according to statistics of the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau, and trail far back in every attacking department.

Little Nevada remains the nation's No. 1 offensive team, leading both in forward passing and total yardage.

Army, meanwhile, has moved to the front in rushing with a display of land power reminiscent of the great West Point teams during and just after the last war.

Nevada—paced by Stan Heath, needle-threading passer who is the country's leading individual offensive performer—has rolled up an astounding total of 1,566 yards in whipping San Jose State, San Francisco and North Texas Teachers. Average 523 Yards.

Against these concededly lower-drawer rivals, the Nevadans have averaged 522 yards a game. They are followed by Wyoming, Miami University of Ohio and Maryland, in that order, in total offense.

Nevada has racked up 799 yards in passing alone, completing 47 of 90 attempts for an average of 266 yards a game. Heath has thrown 32 of these and completed 43.

Tulsa is second in aerial games with an average of 308.7, and then come William & Mary with 190.3 and West Virginia with 179. SMU ranks sixth with an 177.7 average.

Army rolled up 401 yards on the ground alone in leading Illinois last Saturday 26-21. Now for three games the Cadets have a total of 1,083 yards rushing—an average of 361 per contest.

Wyoming, last week's leader, dropped to second place with 1,043 for three games—an average of 347.7. Maryland (338) and Texas Mines (307.7) follow. Arkansas ranks ninth with an average of 269.3.

Michigan is eleventh in passing offense and Notre Dame is thirteenth in rushing. It's their best showing.

Paul Stromberg of Furman is the individual punting leader with an average of 45.2 yards for 29 punts. Charlie (Choo Choo) Justice of North Carolina has 44.3 for second.

NO FEAR OF WATER
Of all the millions of birds that cross the Gulf of Mexico every year, only a few swallows take the Florida-Cuba route. Most birds cross the gulf at its widest part.

When the first U. S. census was taken in 1860, only 40 per cent of the total population was found to be literate.

Statisticians Check On Major Hoople, But He Bounces Back With Harvard To Tie Army

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
The Upset Man

Read! Where would you turn for upsets if not to Hoople, the old reliable? Harumph!

That is what I am telling a couple of my millions of readers who are in a carping mood. These misled creatures aver that in my selection thus far I have picked more losers than winners. Drat such statisticians!

It is true that I got off to a slow start with my football forecasts this year. But you wouldn't want me to be a front runner, would you? Let me remind you of Whirlaway, who collared them in the stretch. They pay off after the ninth inning, don't they?—hark!

Just please keep in mind that it was Hoople who gave you Brown to defeat Princeton, and Harvard to whip Columbia. How many other prognosticators dished out the straight dope on those two contests?

And this week I have more startling surprises for you—Harvard to tie Army for one. Yes, and Northwestern will beat Michigan!

Follow the 100 per cent, sure-fire, dyed-in-the-wool Hoople forecast, and watch the batting average grow to an astronomical figure!

32 States To Pick New Governors In November Balloting

WASHINGTON — (AP) — An even 100 candidates are running for the 32 governorships at stake in the November 2 elections.

At least four of the contests are attracting more than statewide interest.

Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, and Michigan all now have Republican governors. But the Democrats say they have a good chance in the first three and mark Michigan as a "possibility." Republicans say they will hold all four, but concede some are close races.

Republicans and Democrats now divide the nation's governorships 24 and 24. In all, 33 states are choosing governors this year, but Maine already has held its state election. Frederick G. Payne, a Republican, won.

The 33 offices to be filled now are held by 19 Republicans and 14 Democrats. Five Republican and 10 Democratic governors hold over this year.

The size of the presidential majorities in the various states may determine most gubernatorial winners. But this is not necessarily so in states where local issues and personalities predominate.

Only in Georgia have the Republicans refrained from putting up a candidate.

Elementary Week Slate Announced

A. W. Case Is New Midland Telephone Company Manager

Albert W. Case, commercial staff assistant for the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company at Fort Worth, has been promoted to manager at Midland, effective immediately, E. F. Fox, district manager, announced Wednesday.

Case succeeds Don N. Galtner, manager here for the last year and a half, who left the company recently to enter the retail furniture business at Kermit.

The new manager has been with the telephone company in Fort Worth since January of 1946, following his discharge from the Army. Starting in the Fort Worth business office, he later was transferred to the division headquarters office here, and in March of this year, was made a supervisor, his position until the present promotion.

During the last two weeks, Case has been in the Midland office, studying the local telephone problems of Midland and the surrounding territory.

He is a returned Army veteran who saw 27 months of overseas service in both the European and Pacific theaters during the war. For almost two years, he commanded an automotive maintenance company in Iran, and later served five months on Saipan as adjutant for an ordnance battalion.

Upon his return to the United States at the end of the war, he was discharged with the rank of captain, and began his telephone career. Mr. and Mrs. Case will move to Midland to make their home as soon as arrangements can be made.

Alliance Defense Centers In France

LONDON — (AP) — An authoritative British source said Wednesday the defense headquarters of the Western European Alliance will be "somewhere in France."

The informant said France was chosen before Gen. Charles De Gaulle issued his statement October 1 that the five-nation defense pact was "no solution at all" to defense problems of the West because it would be centered in London.

The exact location of headquarters for the joint land, sea and air center has not been selected, the informant said.

Refiners Asked To Cut Auto Gas Octane

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — West Coast oil refiners have been asked to cut the octane rating of automobile gasoline so that production of aviation gas can be increased.

The request came from the West Coast Oil Industry Allocation Committee. Chairman Arthur C. Stewart said the industry must produce between now and January 1 as much aviation gas as would normally be supplied in four months.

Guerrillas Kidnap British Radioman

ATHENS — (AP) — Greek authorities said Wednesday guerrillas have kidnapped BBC correspondent Kenneth Matthews from a hotel in the Northeastern Peloponnese.

Police at Argos said Matthews and a woman, identified as Anne Michael, were abducted by a small band Sunday, but the woman was released after a few minutes. They said military detachments have been dispatched to pursue the rebels.

Anne Michael is an employee of the BBC Transcription Service. The Ministry of Public Order said the guerrillas told her Matthews would be released in two days.

Inoculation Program May Break Cycle Of Hoof-Mouth Disease

DENVER—(P)—A huge inoculation program may break the cycle of foot and mouth disease in North American cattle.

That is the hope expressed in an interview by the United States and Mexican chiefs of the international commission for eradication of the disease.

They are Oscar Flores of Mexico City, Mexican undersecretary of agriculture, and Harry H. Johnson, special assistant to the U. S. secretary of agriculture.

They will give detailed accounts of the program, which started October 3, at the convention of the U. S. Livestock Sanitary Association, opening here Wednesday.

Flores and Johnson would not say vaccine will cure animals of the disease. But it presents the "only scientific approach to the problem" and is "past the theory stage," they added.

13 States Infected

The infected area in Mexico now covers 13 states, Flores said. Estimates of livestock infected range from 7,500,000 to 12,000,000 head.

Animals from uninfected areas are being taken at the rate of 5,000 head a month to infected areas. Virus of the disease is injected in them and recovered for preparing vaccine after the animals become ill and are slain.

Laboratories in Mexico City are making 1,000,000 doses of vaccine a month. In the next 18 months, 50,000,000 doses will be administered to infected animals. Each will be inoculated at least twice for "double protection" at six-month intervals. Flores termed the program "the most gigantic ever undertaken."

Russian 'Soft Talk' Before UN Termed Tactical Diversion

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

A most remarkable spirit of Russian "peace and good-will" descended for a time on the deliberations of the United Nations meeting in Paris Tuesday when Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vishinsky abandoned his customary oratorical invective and declared Communists "are yearning for cooperation."

That was an amazing back-flop which naturally gave rise to speculation as to its significance. What could have caused such an abrupt change of course? The non-Communist countries on the social committee had appeared Russia the previous day by the withdrawal of an amendment to the declaration on human rights saying that all human beings are "created in the image and likeness of God."

Russia's Alexei Fylov had objected to such language. He said in the Soviet Union the postulate that man is created in God's image is "much disputed" and often regarded as "a certain sign of social backwardness."

However, it could hardly have been this striking appeasement which influenced vitriolic Vishinsky, a British spokesman summed the thing up for reporters rather more prosaically when he said the offensive by the Western Powers in the Security Council had "kept Vishinsky fairly subdued." The spokesman was referring to the charge laid before the Council by the Western Powers that the Soviet blockade of Berlin is a threat to peace. He explained that the deputy foreign minister had been put on the defensive.

Vishinsky's rather conciliatory speech followed a hardening of the American attitude. This stiffening came on the return of Secretary of State Marshall from Washington, where he conferred with President Truman.

Vishinsky's speech came after a broadside from U. S. Delegate Warren R. Austin in the UN Assembly Political Committee. Austin asserted that the Soviet battle cry in the world today is "wreck and destroy." He charged Moscow with duplicity.

Injured Dignity

Vishinsky, instead of trying to tear his opponent limb from limb, as is his usual procedure, adopted an attitude of injured dignity. He complained that the Western nations believe "whatever we do is wrong."

The speaker declared that capitalist and Communist ideologies could live side by side in the same world "if both sides try to understand the other side. Hence our desire to cooperate." He didn't explain how this fitted in with the Cardinal Communist tenet that capitalism must be wiped out.

All of which strikes me as meaning merely that Russia is under pressure and consequently is staging a tactical diversion. There is no real sign that she has changed her views in the slightest degree. She is merely responding to two-fisted methods, which are the only thing she understands.

Santa Claus May Face Un-American Activities Probe

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—(P)—The question this Christmas isn't whether the children will continue to believe in Santa Claus.

It's whether Santa Claus can go on believing in himself. Every year he must be finding it more difficult.

No figure of modern times—except perhaps Mother Goose—has had a harder time keeping his self-confidence than the fun-loving saint. He has more critics than a French premier, and season after season he is finding himself cramped, cramped and confined by more restrictions.

Take 1947—a really tough year for Santa. Psychologists issued stern warnings that he could derange a child's whole personality by giving him the wrong gift.

And the saint was brought under municipal ordinance. In one place he was forbidden to show up at department stores for his usual pre-season warmup if he had taken a shot of rock-and-rye to guard against pneumonia. In some cities he had to have his beard fireproofed. In others they turned the fire gun on the old man—his whiskers had to be 99 and 44-100 per cent pure.

The approach of the 1948 season finds new hurdles, hedges and barriers in the path of the red-suited man of good will. Mr. Claus must promise to quit promising the moon to children. And his voice is being de-boomed. The 1948 Santa no longer will bellow—"Ho! Ho! Ho!" He will titter—"Te, hee, hee."

All Former Children

These new points were decided on this week at a one-day training school for Santa Claus held at—of all places—the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. Nineteen Kris Kringle's showed up—most came by taxicab—as well as a number of child psychologists and parent education experts.

The conferees, all former children themselves, pretty well agreed that for years Santa's booming laugh has been so loud it startled many hisping small fry. So that Christmas tradition is out. And the Santas present, in order to get a gilt-edged diploma certifying they were fit to deal "intelligently and sympathetically" with children, also had to pledge "to make no promises unless they can be fulfilled."

The prospect for 1949 and the years to come looks even bleaker for Santa Claus.

Dear Old Santa is going to have to mend his past—and perhaps change his clothing. Why do you suppose he wears that red suit? Did you know that Santa Claus isn't merely the patron saint of virgins and children? He's also the adopted patron saint of seafaring men, thieves, and—yes—Russia.

What is he doing up there at the North Pole anyway? Just toying around? This fellow Claus will bear a lot more looking into. He's got plenty to explain—this mysterious stranger, who comes and goes in the night.

Oil Industry Pays Tribute To Memory Of Late West Texan

ABIENE—(P)—The nation's oil industry Wednesday paid tribute here to the late Judge J. C. Hunter, Sr., often honored as the champion of the independent oil operator.

On the eve of the National Oil Progress Day, the independent operators and heads of far-flung major companies joined to dedicate a three-story girls dormitory at Hardin-Simmons University to the memory of a man who dedicated his life to betterment of West Texas.

It was Judge Hunter—banker, industrialist, oil producer, and civic leader—who mapped the initial plans for the university's postwar building program.

But death in November, 1945, prevented his seeing his plans accomplished. As a member of the university's board of trustees, he had devoted 18 years to developing and expanding the Abilene institution.

Shortly after the war his friends within the oil industry formed the J. C. Hunter Memorial Fund.

Dedication Speakers

Principal speakers at the dedication were to be George A. Hill, Jr., Houston, president of the Houston Oil Company, and Eugene Holman, president of Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

Other speakers were to include William R. Boyd, Jr., New York City, president of the American Petroleum Institute; Frank M. Porter, Oklahoma City, president of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association; Fred W. Shield, San Antonio, president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, and V. C. Perini, Jr., Abilene, president of the West-Central Texas Oil and Gas Association.

Officials Confident Of Airlift Success

BERLIN—(P)—American officials are confident United States and British efforts can fly an average of 6,000 tons of supplies a day into Berlin throughout the winter if the Soviet blockade persists.

The U. S. Air Force said several hundred reserve pilots and engineers who volunteer will be assigned to the Berlin airlift after receiving special training at Great Falls, Mont.

British engineers announced plans to lengthen the runways at Gatow Air Base, their field in Berlin, from 1,500 to 2,000 yards, so operations can be stepped up.

Proposed Changes In Constitution Are Recommended

Midland Chamber of Commerce directors, at their meeting Tuesday night in its office, recommended adoption of the eight proposed constitutional amendments which will face Texas voters in the November General Election.

The proposed amendments were outlined by James N. Allison, a director from Midland in the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, which previously studied the proposals and recommended them to its member organizations. Paul McHargue, another Midland director in the WTCO, also discussed briefly some of the proposals.

Other important factors of the program of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce were outlined by Allison and McHargue in the annual study of its work. Water problems of West Texas and the WTCO recommendations concerning the water situation received major attention.

Resolution Adopted
A resolution was adopted by the Midland Chamber of Commerce asserting it is in accord with a program of water conservation passed after the oil and gas conservation laws of Texas but that it is opposed to state ownership of water rights.

The resolution was suggested by President Tom Sealy after the discussion of the complicated water situation of the area.

Industrial surveys recently released by the WTCO were referred to industrial, agricultural and livestock committees of the Midland Chamber of Commerce. These surveys concerned cotton, the leather industry and grain sorghums.

Oklahoma Drillers Have To Be Careful

OKLAHOMA CITY—(P)—The Civic Auditorium has an Oklahoma Industrial Show this week, and there's a portable oil drilling rig out on the lawn—actually drilling. It's just an exhibit, of course, and they're careful not to let it go too far.

Less than two miles away are genuine oil wells on the State-house lawn.

And last year the University of Tulsa set up a sample rig on an old farm to show the students how a well was drilled.

They got two producers.

FOUR JAILED FOR KEEPING CHILDREN FROM SCHOOL

SALISBURY, PA.—(P)—Four Amishmen, wearing the traditional beards and homemade black garb of their religious sect, were sentenced to 30 days in jail for refusing to send their children to school.

Insisting they were not violating the Pennsylvania school code, the four Amishmen said they feel school "is a waste of time."

Some very lengthy Australian earthworms lay eggs as big as olives.

Who Couldn't?

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y.—(P)—Frederick M. Wolfe, fire chief from London, England, recalled London fires caused by World War II air raids as he looked at the Niagara River's rapids and falls and remarked:

"How we could have used that water!"

POSTAL WORKERS FACE CHARGES OF COMMUNISM

CLEVELAND—(P)—"Fifteen or more" Cleveland post office employees who took loyalty oaths required by the government will be given hearings here on charges they belong to the Communist Party.

Cleveland Postmaster Guy R. Lucas said Wednesday the number to be interrogated was "15 or more, but less than 40." There are about 4,300 postal workers in the city.

Hicks Elected Head Of Methodist Men

Paul Hicks was elected president of Methodist Men of First Methodist Church Tuesday night at a meeting of that organization in the Scharbauer Educational Building of the church.

Hicks, who had been vice president the last year, succeeds James C. Watson as head of the laymen's organization.

Jack W. Goddard was named vice president; Ernest Nance was made secretary; James R. Cotton, treasurer, and Alvah F. McKee, agent of The Methodist Layman.

Keith M. Stuart is the retiring secretary, J. P. Carson has been treasurer, and Russell L. Langford is the retiring agent for The Methodist Layman.

"Oil Progress Day", October 14th, marks 89th year of the industry's service to consumers, communities, employees, and shareholders.

You're entering the "Oil Age" and the door is opened wider by Shell Research

Even greater comfort and convenience are coming from petroleum through advances in petrochemistry—as oil becomes "raw material" for a wide range of chemical products...

Why only "entering"?

Though man has used oil for 7000 years, our first real oil well is only 89 years old... and the motor car barely 50. The real "Oil Age" began when research scientists—such as those at Shell—saw petroleum's great potential as a chemical raw material... and began "tailoring" its molecules into more and better products.

Today's Aladdin:

Shell scientists have created—from oil—plastics, fertilizers, chemicals, antiseptics... and expanded the list of company products from 7 to over 1000. A recent citation to Shell says: "... in recognition of meritorious contributions to the advance of industry... and of a long-time program of pioneering in petrochemicals."

"Castles" built to order:

To make petroleum more useful, Shell maintains laboratories with equipment so modern that some is even invented on the job. Beside Shell Laboratories for General Research, others are: a unique Agricultural Laboratory... a Fuel Oils Laboratory... a complete Laboratory for Exploration and Production of Oil... the first Laboratory for Jet Fuel Research.

At your service:

Though you may not drive a car, "oil" serves you daily. It helps light and heat your home, helps industry turn out products you need, increases your food supply... may even be in your pair of shoes. Petroleum, to Shell scientists, is a challenging raw material whose molecules work for all of us in this "Age of Oil."

Chas. Aiken Sells Sally Ann Bread

Dear Business Page Reader: This is to introduce to you a gentleman named Charlie Aiken. He is distributor in Midland, Midland Air Terminal and Stanton for Sally Ann Bread and pastries.

Sally Ann Bread, as you may know, is baked in the Baldrige Bakery in Lubbock. Baldrige Bakery was established in 1924 by Joe Baldrige. It has grown to become one of the largest most modern bakeries in the South-west. The bakery includes 25,500 square feet of floor space, housed in a beautifully modern building whose huge plate-glass windows enable even casual passers-by to see bakers at work, mixing and baking bread and pastries of finest quality.

The bakery operates 24 hours a day, employs 112 people, operates 22 trucks. Every step in the process of baking is accomplished by automatic, carefully-controlled, wonderfully sanitary machinery. Every loaf of Sally Ann Bread is made scientifically from a master formula, so that every loaf is exactly the same in quality and taste. Fine wheat flours are mixed and blended by precise machines, and aging and baking are done under exactly the right conditions of heat and humidity to assure you the finest bread you ever tasted.

comes exceedingly difficult to keep dust and sand outside. Midland buildings:

The American Building Materials Company, located at 809 West Texas Street in Midland, distributes windows that are completely dust-proof, sandproof and rustproof.

They're made in Houston, by the Union Aluminum Products Company. Completely glazed, set in attractive modern aluminum frames, they're the modern answer to a major problem of homes or commercial buildings.

John B. Davis, who may be reached at telephone number 2986 for complete information regarding these fine windows, reports that they are available for immediate delivery; more than 2,000 windows are kept in stock in the company's warehouse in San Angelo, and the Midland builder therefore is assured he can obtain any size window he needs.

American Building Materials Company distributes every type of window manufactured, as well as other building necessities, but these fine, modern aluminum windows are especially featured by the firm.

Riveting Rosies Return To Work

DECATUR, ILL.—(AP)—The hum of machinery is luring wartime "Rosie, The Riveters" back to the factory.

The Decatur Illinois state employment service office said recently that more women are coming back into the labor market. But it added, comparatively few seek jobs as clerks, office workers, waitresses or maids.

Most are applying for factory jobs. Interviewers quote the wartime feminine welders and lathe operators as saying they don't want to settle down at desks.

A tornado is a wind storm whirling at speeds up to 500 miles per hour.

Melvin Haney, genial operator of the fine service station pictured here, this week was reminding friends it is again time to check cooling systems of cars in preparation for Winter. In addition to selling Humble products and Atlas tires, tubes and batteries, Melvin features radiator cleaning by the Brady system which gets the job done perfectly without danger to the cooling system. A clean radiator, with good hoses and connections, is particularly important during these times of anti-freeze shortages, Melvin Haney emphasizes.

President Declares Dewey Aligned With 'Queer Characters'

ABOARD TRUMAN CAMPAIGN TRAIN—(P)—President Truman carried his vote appeal to the Wisconsin and Minnesota dairy country Wednesday.

He headed for St. Paul and a major address at 9:30 p. m. (CST) after a roasting reception in Illinois, where he laid down a four-point farm program. In a talk in the Armory at Springfield, Ill., Tuesday night, Truman told a police-estimated crowd of 6,000 that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey is backed by "Wall Street and that he is aligned with 'some queer characters.'"

Truman's campaign train moved through Wisconsin on a schedule which called for a speech only at Superior, Wednesday afternoon but with the possibility of a series of earlier platform appearances en route.

The Springfield speech, coming after Truman laid a wreath on the tomb of Abraham Lincoln, featured such assertions by the President as:

"I wish we had at least as much bi-partisan support for our agricultural policy as we have for our foreign policy."

"They (the Republicans) tell you they favor farm price support. But while you sat out here on a powder keg waiting for prices to blow up, they lit the fuse."

The current formation has not developed any signs of possible oil or gas production.

Pair No. 1 Orson Is Dry And Abandoned

Ray M. Pair, et al No. 1 Frank Orson, Southeast Andrews County wildcat, six and one-half miles southeast of the town of Andrews, and 600 feet from north and west lines of section 28, block 3, pal survey, has been plugged and abandoned on a total depth of 5,510 feet in upper Permian lime.

It did not log any possibilities of production. The project did not reach the San Andres lime.

A cubic mile of warm or hot air may hold as much as 40,000 tons of potential rain, snow or hail.

Rare Book Recalls Father Of Printer's Devil Of 1501

HAMILTON, N. Y.—(P)—One of the first pocket-size books ever printed has been given to Colgate University. It is a copy of Horace's "Poemata," published in Venice nearly four-and-a-half centuries ago by Aldus Manutius.

Gift of the late Dr. Arthur S. Chittenden '36, of Binghamton, the volume will be kept in the university's rare book room.

Wanting to make books available to the poor, the printer Aldus invented the pocket-size edition, around 1501. He also invented modern punctuation, italic type and coined the phrase, "printer's devil."

Aldus had employed a Negro boy left behind by a merchant vessel. Negroes were a rarity in Venice and people began to say Aldus was employing black art and had a black imp of the devil.

To stop the rumor, Aldus exhibited the boy with the declaration that, "Be it known that I, Aldus Manutius, printer, have this day made public exposure of the printer's devil. All who think he is not flesh and blood may step up and pinch him."

Hot Dog Fight Rages In Bangkok

BANGKOK—(P)—Siam's capital has been going to the dogs. Stray dogs roam the streets by hundreds and until just recently a dog's life here was as carefree and safe an existence as a pup could wish. Buddhism is Siam's national religion, and Buddhists have an aversion to taking life in any form.

The dogs must feel quite the same way about humans. They weren't averse to nipping a passer-by or making off with somebody's supper if it was left unattended for a moment on the back porch.

Finally the municipal assembly decided to take action—and found itself right in the middle of what can only be called a dog fight.

A law was proposed authorizing poisoning of stray dogs. The assembly voted it down on religious grounds.

Then a proposal was introduced that all dogs must be registered and made to wear identification tags. Opponents met that one with logic slightly baffling to the non-oriental mind. They said if the dogs were registered then, if a dog did any damage, it would be possible to trace his owner—and the owner might not like that. They argued, so it wouldn't be polite to register the dogs.

Dog Catchers Hired

The assembly nodded sagely and turned thumbs down on the registration plan.

With hungry canines skulking through the streets in ever increasing numbers, the Bangkok city health department finally moved into the controversy.

It said it just wanted to do the dogs a favor because so many of them were undernourished and suffering from little diseases, such as hydrophobia. So the department hired three teams of dog catchers the other day.

One man on each three-man team was given a net. He's to catch stray dogs in it. A second man on each team is to feed dogs poisoned meat. There's a little health department optimism in the assignment of the third man—he's to spend all his time lifting dead dogs onto a cart.

Since the dogs aren't registered, it's a little difficult to draw the fine social line between stray and non-stray dogs. The department got around that one by telling the dog-catchers not to catch any dogs "which look well fed or prosperous."

Those obviously are nonstrays of the canine, white collar class, the department helpfully explained.

There are several instances on record in North Carolina when voracious bluefish have driven schools of menhaden out to sea until they were piled up knee deep.

Now that the very courts to which he appealed—the Circuit Court of Appeals by a unanimous decision, and the Supreme Court of the United States by a unanimous decision—11 judges in the higher courts, have repudiated Mr. Stevenson's suit. He now repudiates the very courts whose aid he sought.

Repudiates Party

"He has repudiated the party which has honored him time and again for more than 30 years and whose favors he so lately sought. Democrats will meet the challenge and understand the ingratitude."

"I doubt whether the Republicans will welcome a turncoat to their ranks. They must know that Stevenson will find it as easy to stab that party in the back when convenient as he found it easy to try and put the knife to the Democratic Party."

Stevenson is liked a spoiled child. If he ever was a Democrat it was only so long as he could hold office through the favors of the Democratic Party, but when the party rejects him, he picks up his marbles and tries to break up the game. Real Democrats have his number.

Porter meanwhile moved his campaign to Dallas Wednesday.

"Mr. Jack Porter's reputation," said Stevenson, "is that of an honest, honorable and upright man who will deal fairly with all matters pertaining to the high office of United States Senator from Texas."

The former governor said he hopes to make a few speeches between now and election to tell the true facts.

In the announcement, Stevenson said Johnson, who was certified as the Democratic nominee, "is not the nominee of the Democratic Party in Texas."

"The recent investigation conducted by my friends," Stevenson added, "is sufficient, I think, to convince any fair-minded person that I received a majority, by several thousand, of the votes actually and legally cast on August 28."

At Corpus Christi Tuesday night, Porter said he hoped all Democrats of Texas "who believe in state rights, the Constitution, the Bill of Rights, and honest elections, will follow Governor Stevenson's lead."
