Reagan Wildcat Gets Oil, Gas In Devonian

Possibilities of a discovery from the Devonian in Southeast Reagan County were encountered on a drill-stem test at Superior Oil Company and Atlantic Refining Company No. 1-11-A University, deep wildcat in the northwest portion of the lake bed adjacent to the town of Big Lake.

The tool was open an hour and 50 minutes on the Devonian chert formation at 9,240-95 feet. Gas reached the surface in five minutes and flowed an estimated 42,000,000 cubic feet per day. Traces of distillate were detected in the gas.

Recovery was 250 feet of light green pipe line oil and 250 feet of heavily oil and gas cut mud. There was no water connected gravity of the petroleum was 41.8 degrees. Flowing bottom hole pressure was 375 pounds. Shut-in pressure was 1,800 pounds, and hydrostatic pressure, 4,650 pounds.

The venture is due to drill into the Ellenburger.

Yarborough & Allen Has Oil In Waddell

Possibility of a new and more shallow pay for the Yarborough & Allen-Elleburger field in Southwestern Reagan County has been indicated in the Waddell sand section of the Simpson at Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 18 Yarborough & Allen, which started out to go to the Ellenburger.

This venture, located 300 feet from south and east lines of section 18 block B-14, well survey, took a drill-stem test in the Waddell section at 10,123-220 feet.

The tool was open 60 minutes. There was a blow of air at the surface for most of the period. Gas showed at the surface at 41 minutes. It was at the rate of 700 cubic feet per hour.

Recovery was 475 feet of heavily gas cut mud showing oil, with the mud cut from fair to good with the oil and 150 feet of water, mostly of very black free oil. The petroleum was 40.2 gravity. There was no formation water.

The prospector is making new hole below 10,240 feet in Simpson shale.

More Shows Develop At Upton Prospect

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1-A TXL, North-Central Upton possible Ellenburger discovery 30 miles south of Midland, showed oil and gas on another drill-stem test.

The investigation was at 12,606-655 feet. The tool was open three hours. Gas showed at the surface in 55 minutes. Maximum gas volume was at the rate of 70,000 cubic feet per day. Minimum gas was 25,000 cubic feet per day. Average gas volume for the entire period was 46,000 cubic feet per day.

Recovery was the 2,000-foot water blanket, which was cut with oil and gas, 670 feet of 52.4 gravity oil, and 390 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud. There was no water.

Open flowing bottom hole pressure was 1,250 pounds. Shut-in bottom hole pressure after 15 minutes was 5,225 pounds.

Operators drilled ahead to 12,697 feet, and the formation showed some softening. A drill-stem test is slated to be taken early Thursday morning.

When this prospector had drilled to 12,655 feet it had penetrated 125 feet of Ellenburger. All of that zone has shown some oil and gas, and no formation water has been developed. This possible new field opener is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 21, block 40, TP survey, T-4-S.

Locations Staked For Two Scurry Ventures

Locations were staked for two wildcats in Northwest Scurry County as attempts to develop petroleum from the Pennsylvanian strata recently found productive by the Standard Oil Company of Texas No. 1 Jessie Brown.

Lone Star Producing Company is to begin December 8 on a 2,000-foot, rotary tool prospector designated its No. 1-M. M. Maul, 660 feet from south and east lines of section 451, block 97, H&C survey. Elevation is 2,384 feet.

The drillsite is about three miles east of the town of Dermott. This puts it approximately one and a half miles west and one half mile north of the Standard No. 1 Brown.

The other new venture will be Edmondson, located 330 feet from north and east lines of section 437, block 97, H&C survey, 8 1-3 miles northwest of the town of Snyder.

It is 2 1-2 miles west and a quarter mile north of the Stanotex dis-

Restraining Orders Halt Oil Shut-Ins

All West Texas oil fields on which the Railroad Commission has issued "shut-in" orders were still producing on their regular allowables Wednesday.

This was being done under the temporary restraining orders issued Tuesday in Austin by a Travis County district court.

The Midland district office of the commission late Tuesday was advised by Austin headquarters to issue tenders for all wells in the Goldsmith, McElroy, Wasnon, Seminole, Levelland, Slaughter and Fullerton fields on the regular allowable schedules—subject to the outcome of the hearings on the restraining orders.

AUSTIN—(P)—Fifteen oil fields which the Railroad Commission seeks to shut down because of alleged wasteful flaring of gas had secured temporary restraining orders early Wednesday.

The court orders prevent the commission's crackdown from going into effect until hearings can be held in 19 suits oil companies have filed thus far in 92d and 53rd District Courts. Issuance of temporary restraining orders was completed for all fields as hearing of a suit involving the Heysler Field in Ochowin and Victoria counties entered its second day.

The state was expected to continue cross-examination of witnesses in its effort to prove oil operators in the Heysler Field have been diligent in their attempts to stop the flaring of gas.

Oil Tanks In Mabee Field Hit By Fire

Fire broke out in a battery of four oil storage tanks belonging to the Texas Company in the Mabee Field about 27 miles north of Midland about 2:30 p. m. Tuesday and firemen from Midland, Odessa and Midland Air Terminal battled the blaze more than an hour before it was brought under control. One of the tanks was being cleaned when the fire started.

George S. Clay, tool dresser for the Texas Company, suffered first and second degree burns of the head and neck and slight wrist burns when an explosion starting the fire occurred. He was working outside a tank. Doctors at a Midland hospital where he is under treatment reported his condition satisfactory Wednesday.

Fog Trucks Fight Blaze

Texas Company officials said one tank was full of oil while the other three contained only a small amount. Each had a capacity of 500 barrels.

High pressure fog trucks from the Odessa and Air Terminal Fire Departments were used to combat the blaze while a booster truck from the Midland Fire Department ferried water to them from a surface tank about a half-mile away.

The truck from Odessa carried a load of foam to the fire but it was expended quickly and the fog method had to be used.

Fireman Johnny Burke of the Midland department said one tank had the top and sides damaged, apparently from an explosion. The other three tanks did not collapse.

West Hints Reprisals At Berlin Reds

BERLIN—(P)—Communists took over complete control Wednesday of the Berlin City Hall, which lies in the Soviet sector.

Russian-controlled German police barred acting Mayor Ferdinand Friedensburg of the legally elected anti-Communist government of Berlin from his office in the building.

This display of force followed the seizure of the building by Communist demonstrators named their own rump city administration.

Friedensburg and a few other elected officials had retained offices in the City Hall after riotous Communist demonstrators had driven the anti-Communist City Assembly and most other officials to Western Berlin, which is occupied by the United States, Britain and France.

Friedensburg's aim was to maintain at least the symbol of a central administration for this divided city as long as possible.

Now the Communists apparently are putting a halt even to that fiction and taking over in force.

WESTERN ALLIES WARN OF CENTER ACTIONS

PARIS—(P)—The Big Three Western Powers have warned they may act to counter Russian attacks on their position in Berlin.

The warning was expressed in a joint note handed to Juan A. Bismilla, outgoing president of the UN Security Council, soon after the Communists split Berlin Tuesday by naming their own rump government.

The note was made public Wednesday.

France, Britain and the United States declared they would not stand idly by while the Russians intensified their blockade and attempts to force the Western Allies out of the city.

The Western Powers accepted Bramuglia's latest procedure for studying a possible solution of the Berlin crisis. But they said they did so with the condition that recent events in Berlin must be considered in attempting a settlement.

Chest Drive Short Of Halfway Mark

The Community Chest still was short of the halfway mark in its annual finance campaign Wednesday as returns totaled $13,748.10. The goal is $33,923.

Reese Cleveland, general campaign chairman, said workers still are on the job, and many firms and individuals yet have not been contacted. Leaders indicated the drive will continue until the quota is reached.

Chest funds are used to finance everyday operations of the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Youth Center, Goodfellows, Salvation Army, and USO.

Acres Of Humanity Greet Santa Claus

Acres and acres of men, women and children by the teeming thousands in downtown Midland greeted Santa Claus Tuesday night and the official Christmas season was opened.

The largest crowd ever assembled in this city was on hand for the turning on of the Christmas lights, to see the treasures in the windows of Midland stores and finally to greet Santa, who was the center of attraction in the best Christmas parade ever staged here.

It was colorful, thrilling and all inclusive of spirit as Midland entered its greatest Yuletide season. It was brought to you by the Midland Junior Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with businessmen and merchants of the city.

Of course the most popular man in the world at this time—Santa Claus—was the main attraction. He almost was swarmed out of the parade line of march. Youngsters screamed with delight when he waved from his chimney perch. He again was the Pied Piper for all children.

The youngsters fairly stampeded at the courthouse when Santa and his JayCee helpers began to distribute candy and bubble gum. They flowed over the courthouse lawn like a wave.

The parade floats with their philippic themes were beautiful.

Parade Prizes

First prize for the most decorative float went to the First Baptist Church. Its theme was "Children of the World Around the Manger." The float was decked with flags of the world's nations. A lighted globe represented the world. Mrs. Joe Angel was Mary. Jo Ann Glass was the angel. Children of the world singers were Harriet Yearby, Mary Louise Erskine, Jimmy Jones, Glenda Henderson, Charles Conner, Lailaja Wright, Betty Monroe. Other children of the world were: Junior Lara, Virginia Hudson, Solomon Hearn and Willie Wilson. An open car full of carolers from the Harmony Choir and Glee Club of the church followed the main float.

Second prize went to the Fellowship Class float of the First Methodist Church. This float was a replica of the church building and the three wise men with their camel scene. The three wise men were Paul Wecker, Charles McDonald and Lamar Kopecky. Keith Stuart drove the float. Chimes were played from the church building replica. This was a very detailed and attractive float.

Third prize went to the American Legion Auxiliary. The theme of this float was the Christmas spirit and the spirit of the American Legion and its Auxiliary. "In peace as in war, we serve." Mrs. T. E. Steele was the Russian of Liberty on this pretty float. Carol singers were Wanda Steele, Pat Allen, Rebecca Jones, Ella Jane Rhoden, Barbara Jones, Tiny Drake and Yvonne Shain.

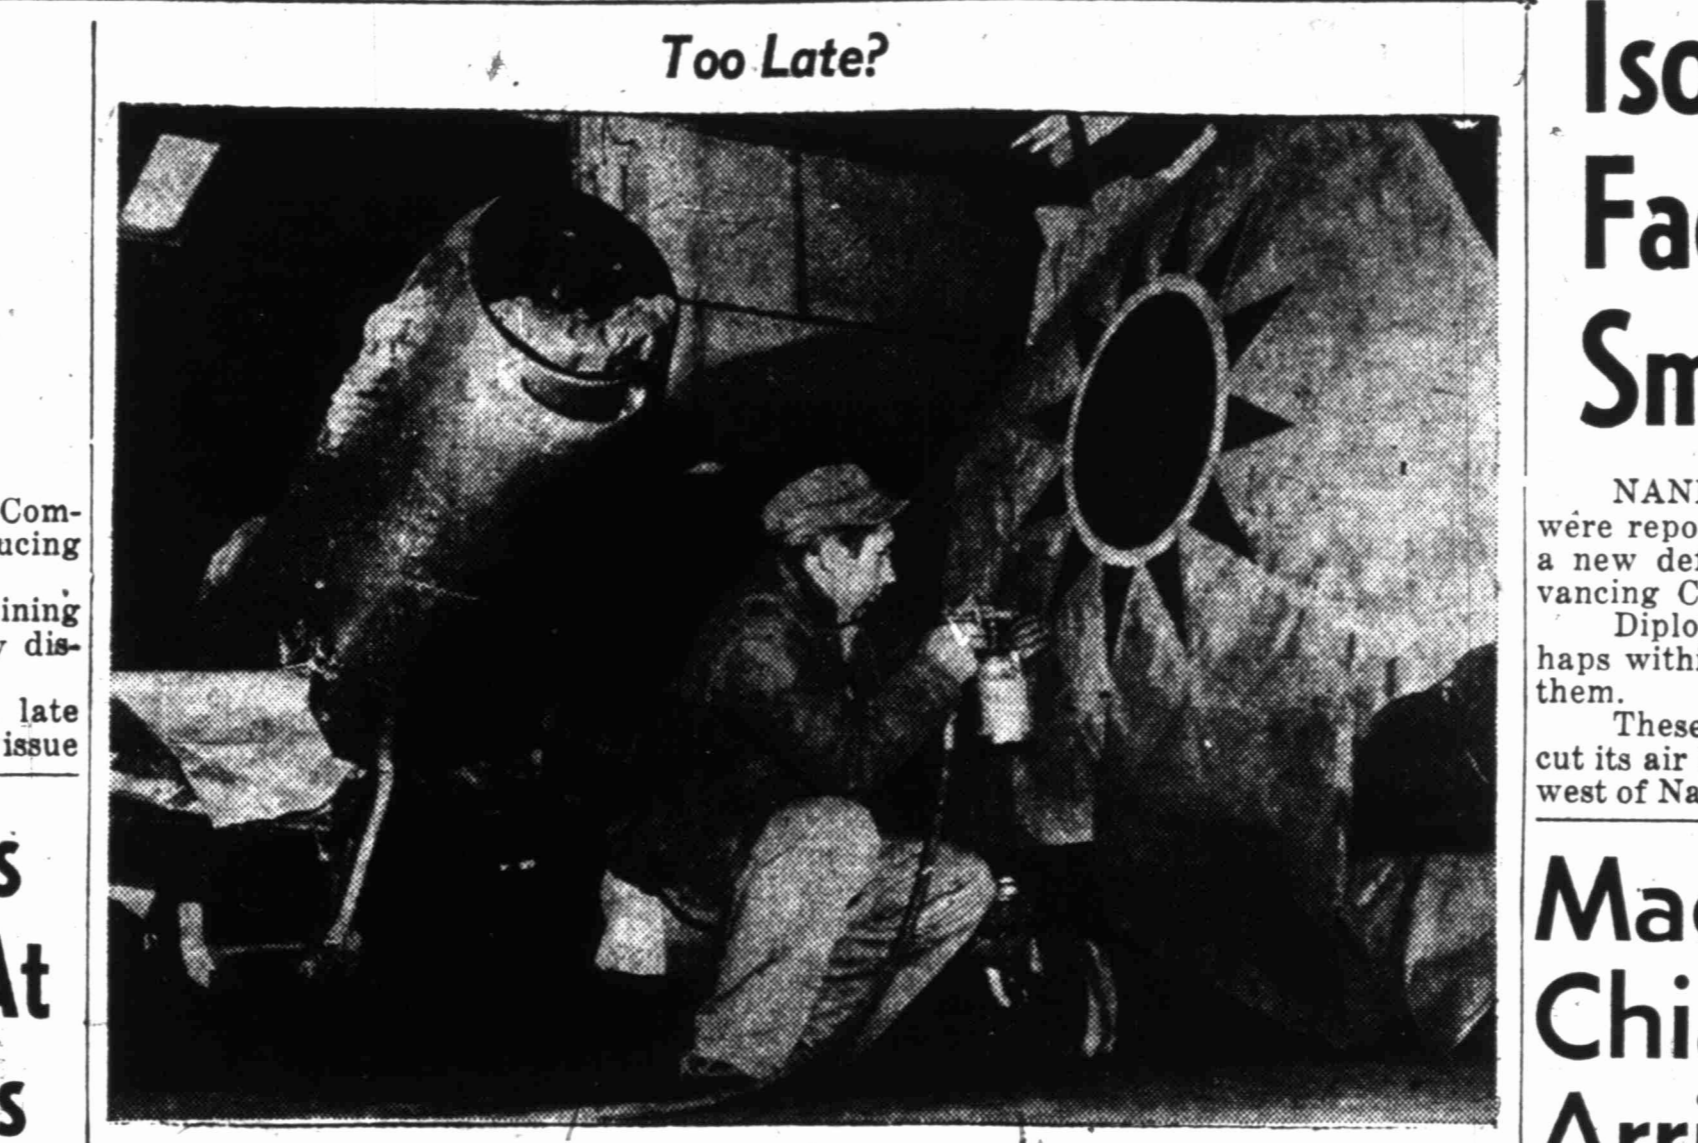

Honorable mention was won by these floats: Playtown Nursery, which had a cart full of very small youngsters pulled by a small pony; Calvary Baptist Church, which had a "Star of the East" theme; and Girl Scouts, which had a "Bringing Home the Tree" theme with a searchlight.

Lighted By Flares

Boy Scouts lighted the parade with colored flares. They walked beside the floats or rode on them to light the way.

Musical was furnished by the marching Midland High School Band and the riding Lions Club Majorettes. The MESE Gold Jackets, Majorettes, and pep leaders were in the line of march. Carver

Isolated Nationals Face Near-Certain Smashing By Reds

NANKING—(P)—Two Nationalist Army groups were reported Wednesday desperately trying to establish a new defense line to save this jittery capital from advancing Chinese Communists.

Diplomats expect to hear from the government—perhaps within 24 hours—that Nanking is no longer safe for them.

These developments came as the government abruptly cut its air link with isolated Suchow some 200 miles northwest of Nanking and deployed its forces for a battle to save the nation's capital city.

A new defense line was reported under construction on the southern bank of the Hwai River, athwart the approaches to the lower Yangtze Valley and 100 miles northwest of Nanking.

The line is anchored to Fungpu on the rail line midway between Nanking and Suchow, and is being reported under construction on the southern bank of the Hwai River, athwart the approaches to the lower Yangtze Valley and 100 miles northwest of Nanking.

The U. S. Consulate General announced that the transport Anson, scheduled to remove additional English next Saturday, will be the last special military evacuation ship leaving China.

manned by the bulk of some 66,000 troops in the Sixth and Eighth Army groups.

These groups are the last major Nationalist force standing between Communist Armies and Nanking.

The government's 12th Army Group, of some 140,000 troops, was reported still tightly encircled by seven Red columns about 50 miles south of Suchow, in the Subei sector.

Three Red Columns

Three other Red columns were reported massed about 25 miles south of Suchow to block the southward movement of the 12th Army Group. The garrison, of some 250,000 men, was reported abandoning Suchow in an attempt to rescue the trapped 12th Army Group.

With the Nationalist armies thus separated in three pockets and threatened with destruction by numerically superior Red forces, (Continued On Page Nine)

West European Fog Brings Chaos; Stops Rails, Ships, Airlift

LONDON—(P)—The heaviest fog in a generation blanketed Western Europe for the fifth consecutive day Wednesday.

Traffic hazards and accidents in a dozen mist-swathed countries increased hourly. Planes were grounded and bus, train and street car schedules disrupted.

Southampton was an exception, however. The fog lifted, and air light gleamed through the clouds.

The skippers of the British liners Queen Elizabeth and Aquitania seized the opportunity to leave the docks at which the ships had been stranded.

The Queen Elizabeth slipped out on the tide for New York 14 days behind schedule. Sixteen hundred passengers who had been aboard since November 20 lined the rails cheering and singing.

Thousands Stranded

The Aquitania set sail for Halifax after a one-day delay. The fog hung elsewhere in Britain, and conditions over cities and countryside were described as chaotic. Members of Parliament bedded down in the House of Commons. Railroad stations were jammed with thousands of stranded travelers and commuters.

A crew of London firemen ran in relays for a mile to guide their engine to a blaze in a bomb-damaged building.

The Berlin airlift still was grounded. The last American supply planes landed at Tempelhof Airport Monday afternoon. Only seven British planes have been able to get through to Gatow Airport in the same time.

New, Moderate Cold Front Due Thursday

By The Associated Press

Another moderate cold front is due to move into Texas Thursday, keeping the weather just about as it is—mostly fair and cool.

Temperatures Wednesday dropped to as low as 19 degrees in West Texas early in the day and spots in Central Texas had readings as low as 32 degrees.

The early morning temperature lows included 19 degrees at Wink and Salt Flat on up to 35 degrees at Corpus Christi. Other lows: 22 at Clarendon and Lubbock, 26 at Childress, 22 at Waco and San Antonio, 36 at Dallas, 38 at Houston, and 46 degrees at Brownsville.

City Of Lubbock Gets Army Field

DALLAS—(P)—The City of Lubbock has been awarded government-owned airport property of the former South Plains Army Air Field which had an original cost in excess of $12,000,000, it was announced Wednesday by the regional office of the War Assets Administration.

Lubbock will take custody of the field on December 15.

Included in the transfer were approximately 120 acres of federally owned land, plus easements, utilities, 65 former air field buildings and a quantity of personal property to be used at the new Municipal Airport.

Russia Cuts High Cost Of Sudsing

LONDON—(P)—Moscow radio flashed the glad news through, beginning Wednesday, the price of beer is reduced 25 per cent.

The bulletin didn't say why or report the price of a mug, Wednesday or earlier.

Texas Collects Largest Inheritance Tax

AUSTIN—(P)—Final settlement of the largest inheritance tax ever paid in Texas was announced Wednesday by the state comptroller.

The tax of $3,265,063.44 was paid Tuesday on the $23,639,083.98 estate of the late Thomas O'Connor of Victoria.

Dinner-Dance Held For Hospital Staff In Legion Hall

More than 100 persons dressed in Western clothes were present at the Western Clinic-Hospital staff dinner-dance Tuesday night in the American Legion Hall. Jimmie Purman and his orchestra furnished music for dining and dancing under a canopy of red, yellow and green streamers. Barbecue was the main item on a menu of beans, pickles, onions and fried potatoes. Dancing provided the entertainment for doctors, nurses, others of the hospital staff and their guests. Piano solos by Doctor Leggett and Melton were highlights of the evening, and a schottische and "Put Your Little Foot" added diversity to the dancing.

Newcomers Share Community Theater Play Roles With Favorites Of Past Productions

A newcomer to Midland Community Theater productions, some who appeared in recent plays and others who are reappearing after an absence, make up the cast of "The Man Who Came to Dinner," comedy to be presented for three nights beginning Thursday. Tickets now are on sale for the play, which will be presented in the City-County Auditorium. Richard A. Connolly, who made his Community Theater debut as a doctor with literary ambitions in "The Man Who Came to Dinner," again has the role of a small-town doctor. This time it is one who is carried by the prominence achieved with the discovery that a group of pictures given him in lieu of an unpaid bill by an impoverished young artist suddenly have become valuable. Connolly, in the insurance business, lives at Terminal. He is a native of Pittsburgh, Pa., and moved to Midland last Spring because he liked it on a vacation visit. He has four daughters to supply his experience for playing the father of two in the comedy. Miss Kimbrough has appeared in plays here and in New Mexico University and the University of Texas. She lists her occupation as "housekeeper in the mornings, stenographer in the afternoons, and golfer during all hours. Appearing as Mrs. Haggert is Myrtle Ratcliff, who played the indignant nurse in "The Man Who Came to Dinner," and the unpleasant Demetria Riffle in "On Borrowed Time." She is a housewife, mother of two teen-aged boys and pianist for the Griffin School of Dancing. Whitey Maury, Jr., will be making his bow to Midland audiences in the role of Warren Creamer, village house-painter who courts one of the Haggert daughters. He is a recent graduate of MIT, "here he took part in sports and quartet singing, and is employed as a petroleum engineer with the Stanolind Oil & Gas Company in Odessa. Other Roles Absent from recent Community Theater plays but remembered for roles in "Uncle Harry" and "The Torchbearers" is Mickey Fitting, who played the maid in the Haggert household who was kind to Chris Bean and prized the portrait he painted of her. Mrs. Fitting has worked, onstage and backstage, with the Community Theater since it was organized and is on the board of governors. Her previous experience was in the Little Theater of her home town, Radford, Va., and as a director of plays while she was serving as a Wave during World War II. Walter C. Beardsley, Midland attorney, appears in a show business since the age of nine and started directing at 21. During World War II he was with the special services in the Air Corps and directed shows overseas as well as at Midland Army Air Field. He returned to Midland when he left the Army.

Unveiled Windows Reveal Unique Christmas Displays

By SUE COLEMAN
Curtains that shrouded Midland store windows mysteriously the last two days were removed Tuesday night to show glittering Christmas displays to the crowds which moved from one to the other in the holiday Treasure Hunt following the Santa Claus parade.

The two most original displays are on opposite sides of the shopping district. On the east is the Hardwick-Stewart Furniture store window featuring "Christmas gifts that are out of this world." Against a background of soft blue studded with silver stars, a cloud effect is achieved with masses of "angel hair" suspended in the window, with a table, chair and lamp also suspended so they seem to be resting on the clouds.

Across the city on the west, the Kiddie Toggery has an imaginative toyland scene with snow-covered mountains in the background, toy animals perched on ledges of the "mountains" and a sleigh-full of dolls drawn by a deer in the foreground.

Traditional Scene
A traditional Christmas scene fills the display space of the Texas Electric Service Company office, with a fireplace, decorated tree and figure of Santa.

Wemple's window breaks from tradition to illustrate that Christmas decorations need not be green and red. The Christmas tree is pink, surrounded by packages tied in such unusual colors as purple and aqua, and the background is a glittering sheet of vari-colored stripes.

Another modernistic theme is used at the Charles A. Haynes Company, with cavoring reindeer, blue ribbon loops, and huge tree ornaments.

Hughes Jewelry store has a nativity scene arranged in the center of a display of gifts set on scarlet velvet, with blue-grey velvet hanging in the background to which is fastened huge poinsettias and silver bells.

Savings Bond
White's Auto Store has a window crammed with toys and bicycles against a background of red cellophane fringe. Allied Commercial Services features a miniature Santa and his sleigh carrying a United States Savings Bond.

Everybody's store centers snow scenes in relief under glass domes, surrounded with tinsel. One huge candle flanked with pine cones and leaves makes a striking display at Tailorline.

Huge iridescent snowflakes are suspended in the windows of the J. C. Penney store, in front of wide strips of red and green cellophane and modernistic Christmas trees made of frames with tree decorations.

In the Midland Hardware and Furniture Company, large cardboard Santas smile at passers-by. Kruger Jewelry Store features a vista through the glass doors. Ropes of red cellophane and tinsel form a canopy over a row of tables holding gift items.

A tree at the front of the window at Franklin's is backed by holly and poinsettias. A Christmas angel hovers over the window at the Bootery. The Basin Supply Company windows have colorful rope garlands and figures of Santa.

Angels and Choir Boys
Carolers decorate one window at the Palace Drug, with angels and choir boys in the others. A revolving shelf with gift items for the whole family centers the window at the Firestone Store.

Compartments lined with gold and silver paper hold scores of gift items at Grammer-Murphy's. At Wilson's, red and silver bells and holly are set against a shiny green background.

Red bells hang in clusters in the Dunlap store display, and glittering tinsel fringe adds sparkle. A base of snow is arranged for the tree that dominates The United window.

A sleighing scene makes the background for one window at Virtue's, and Santa with his sleigh are pictured in the other. A tiny, sparkling tree set on a revolving base centers the display of gifts at the Midland Studio and Camera Shop.

Attractive displays are found also after leaving the downtown area. Out West Wall Street, attention of motorists is caught by the array of toys at the Westex Service Store, a giant bowl of poinsettias at Buddy's Flower Shop, and a white-draped window with flowers and greenery at Midland Floral Company.

Midland Woman Is Named On Election Law Change Panel

AUSTIN—(AP)—The job of finding flaws in Texas' election laws Wednesday was in the hands of an 11-member committee announced Tuesday by Gov. Beauford H. Jester.

The committee's first meeting was called for December 8 here.

Governor Jester said the committee is to study the whole question of election law revision and report its findings to the governor, who will pass the information on to the Legislature.

Named to the committee were Lt. Gov. Allan Shivers, Attorney General Price Daniel, Speaker of the House W. O. Reed, Secretary of State Paul Brown, J. M. Patterson, Sr., of Austin, John Ben Sheppard of Gladewater, Judge E. C. Grinstead of Ballinger, H. Grady Chandler of Austin, Vann M. Kennedy of Corpus Christi, Mrs. William Y. Penn of Midland, and W. A. (Bill) Smith of Houston.

State President Is Guest Of Rebekahs

An official visit from Mrs. Gene Lawless of El Paso, president of the Rebekah Assembly of Texas, was paid to the Midland and Stanton Rebekah Lodges in a joint meeting in the IOOF Hall here Monday night.

Mrs. Lawless was one of the state officers in Midland Saturday for the formal opening of a new Rebekah-Odd-Fellow recreation building which includes a permanent meeting room for Boy Scout Troop 151, sponsored by the lodges. She was introduced by Barbara Ann Johnson, conductor for the Midland lodge, and spoke on the value of cooperation between Rebekah and Odd-Fellow groups as exemplified in the new building. Leota Johnson presided at the meeting, acting as noble grand.

Refreshments were served to seven members from Stanton, four from Odessa and 18 from the Midland lodge.

Congress Timetable

The end of an average session of the United States Congress finds the members working like so many dilatory students around final examination time.

For example, the last-minute haste of the 80th Congress may have helped to defeat the Republicans in this month's elections.

The farmers meanwhile had harvested bumper crops of grain. But this surplus harvest had to be stored in government-approved space in order to make it eligible for support prices.

Senator Francis J. Myers of Pennsylvania, being a Democrat, probably is happy about the above incident. But he also knows that the embarrassing results of hasty legislation can work both ways.

He would put major legislation on a timetable basis. The majority leaders of both houses, the committee chairmen and ranking minority members of committees would meet early in each session and schedule legislation.

The Myers proposal would include all appropriation bills as well as other legislation. And it would strive to eliminate the evil of attaching irrelevant legislative riders to appropriations in the final rush.

Since, ideally, this plan would bring about some much-needed reforms, we should like to feel more encouraged about it than we do.

In addition, there are practical difficulties, as Myers is aware. Unforeseen and urgent bills, investigation and presidential appointments could throw the timetable off schedule.

Still, the idea might work some improvement. The legislative schedule, if adopted, should receive wide publicity. It could then become part of the Congress' record, and contribute a clearer history of various pieces of legislation.

With the plan working even moderately well, the public would have a better idea of which members of Congress were dragging their feet, and why.

Current news from Washington gives us hope that the housing situation is finally heading back to normal.

General Staff Group Wages Battle Of The Budget Bulge

By PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON—Something different in General Staff planning concepts is being considered for the new, unified National Defense establishment.

President Truman has set a $15,000,000,000 top on what the three armed services and the stockpiling program can spend next year.

A three-man General Staff Committee—Gen. Joseph T. McNarney for the Air Force, Gen. George J. Richards for the Army, and Vice Adm. R. B. Carney for the Navy—has just reconciled differences between the three services so that they can all live within this budget and remain reasonably happy.

General McNarney has admitted that his experience on this committee has taught him an awful lot about the Navy he didn't know before.

Coming from an Air Force general who was deputy chief of staff to General Marshall during the war, this is quite a confession. It suggests that much of the sniping which the three services have been aiming at each other has been based on lack of information.

It indicates that real unification of the armed services will make more headway when the boys get to know each other's problems better.

Don't Mind The Expense In the past, almost the only concern of the General Staff was strategic planning and training. It didn't bother much about having a strong civilian economy behind the military to support it in peace as well as in war.

The idea dominant in the military mind was that the job of the civilian economy was to give the military everything it needed, in a hurry, and never mind the expense.

That attitude led to some pretty nasty battles in Washington during the last war. It kept War Production Board scrapping with the military services and kept the Truman War Investigating Committee of the Senate criticizing them both.

It now is beginning to be realized that this was bad. As a result, General Staff planning is now being directed along four main lines: (1) Strategic planning and operations of military forces; (2) International politics—meaning a better understanding and a better carrying out of U. S. foreign policy objectives; (3) Fiscal policy—meaning an ability to operate with the military establishment within a budget that the country can maintain without hardship; (4) Domestic economy.

So they say

All the Communists in America can't back us up with the width of a pencil mark... are going to expose the complete Red machine in Hollywood.

Rep. John E. Rankin (D), Miss., ranking member of the House Un-American Activities Committee.

Price control cannot achieve its purpose; it runs in conflict to economic law, and there is no law that operates in a land that is so certain and so sure as the economic law.

William Green, president, AFL. I say the Soviet Union is not a menace to world peace, nor is she a menace to the security of the Western world.

Dr. Hewitt Johnson, "Red" Dean of Canterbury. We have cut our incentives dangerously thin by inflation and an unwise tax system. The continued success and stability of our system demands those incentives.

Questions and Answers

Q—What event is celebrated by the Democratic Party on Jackson Day? A—Jackson Day pays tribute to Democratic President Andrew Jackson and celebrates his victory over the British at the Battle of New Orleans in 1815.

Q—What was the first League of Nations in America? A—The Iroquois Confederacy, which was also known as the Five Nations and later as the Six Nations. According to tradition the Confederacy was formed by Hiawatha about the beginning of the 15th century.

Q—Over what countries did Napoleon rule? A—During his career Napoleon controlled France, parts of Italy, Russia, Prussia, the Netherlands, Spain and Portugal.

Q—Where is the Swanee River? A—The name of no American river is spelled Swanee. The Swanee River, made famous by Stephen Foster's song, has its source in southern Georgia, flows through part of Florida and empties into the Gulf of Mexico.

Q—What is sued? A—Suede is merely French for Sweden. Whether sued was originally a trade name, or gave leather was so called because it was first made in Sweden, is not known. It is a comparatively modern term in English.

RETURNS TO SCHOOL E. F. Penick, 610 South Loraine Street, accompanied his son, Maurice, to College Station, Monday. Maurice, a junior student in Texas A&M College, had spent the Thanksgiving holidays here.

serious economic and political problems of his own in running the German economy, took the other view. Clay's position was that it would be bad for the country as a whole if the budget were unbalanced and the country resorted to deficit financing.

This difference in approach to this year's military budget question illustrates the change that must come over General Staff thinking. The "shoot the works" and never mind the cost" attitude of the war, in fact, most of today's General Staff officers were trained to be replaced by consideration for economic facts of life.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Viruses Cause Unusual Ills; Remain Puzzling To Doctors

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. Written for NEA Service Among the known virus diseases which attack children are measles and mumps. The symptoms and behavior of diseases such as these are understood quite well.

However, there are some other conditions which are not so definite, but which are probably also caused by viruses. During the last few years, they have broken out among children in a quite astonishing way.

Little is known about these diseases. One of them has sometimes been called the vomiting sickness and in more sedate medical circles "epidemic vomiting and diarrhea." This condition comes with remarkable suddenness and after a day or so the victim seems to be entirely recovered. For this reason, it has so far been almost impossible to study this disorder or to find out whether a virus is really responsible.

At any rate, those who have had it—and it certainly is not confined to children—get over it promptly and completely without any after effects.

There are other curious conditions which seem to spring up from time to time, equally obscure as to cause and treatment. Sometimes

Mc Kenney on Bridge

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY America's Card Authority Written for NEA Service During the latter part of August, I published six articles taken from Fred L. Karpin's booklet entitled "The Point-Count System of Bidding in Contract Bridge," published by the Kaufmann Press, Washington, D. C.

A. Moyses, Jr., editor and publisher of "The Bridge World," America's only bridge magazine, wrote an article entitled "Why I Dislike the 4-3-2-1 Count."

Although many different writers are advocating the point-count system, I like the comprehensive version in Karpin's booklet, and I have asked him to answer Mr. Moyses' criticism of the point-count.

Karpin presents the two hands shown below, with the question, "Which hand would you rather have?" Now I am quoting directly from Mr. Karpin: "Mr. Moyses, in his attack on the point-count system, Hand (1): ♠ A x x x, ♥ A x x, ♦ A x x, ♣ x x x. Hand (2): ♠ K Q x x, ♥ K Q x, ♦ K Q x, ♣ x x x.

has chosen to confine his criticism solely to the field of no trump bidding. It is in this field, therefore, which will comprise the subject under discussion: It the honor-trick system of the point-count system better equipped to handle no trump bidding?

"For the clarification of those bridge players who are not, as yet, familiar with the basic features of point-count, permit me very briefly to set them down, and also to state my complaint against the honor-trick system. In the point-count method of valuation, we completely dispense with honor-tricks, playing tricks, and plus values. In our system 2 ace is worth 4 points, a king 3 points, a queen 2 points and a jack 1 point. The fifth card of any one suit is worth 1 point, and the sixth card another point.

"Our major point of divergence with the honor-trick adherents is their belief—which forms the foundation upon which their system is built—that an ace, as one honor-trick, has the same value as a king-queen combination, which is also one honor-trick."

"I suggest that you look at the two hands shown here. Each has exactly three honor-tricks and identical distribution, 4-3-3-3, yet I venture to say that anyone who plays bridge will tell you that hand No. 2 is superior to hand No. 1. Each hand has three honor-tricks, but hand No. 1 has a point-count of only 12, while hand No. 2 has a count of 15. Therefore, the point-count system is more accurate than the honor-trick table in evaluating the hands."

TRUMAN'S DECISION GUESSED Montana's late Sen. Frank B. Rowland, who recently called at the White House recently to suggest that extension of the Senate Small Business Committee should be high on the list of presidential recommendations to the next Congress.

"The dangers of monopoly were never greater," explained the Montana man, who, though one of the wealthiest men in Congress, has been a hard-hitting champion of the little fellow. "We've got to stay on the ball if we want to preserve free enterprise."

"I'm behind you 100 per cent, Jim," declared Truman. "That committee must be extended and I further agree with you that one of the most important measures we must enact is a strong anti-monopoly law."

The President laughed heartily when Charles Murray, the Senator's son, showed him a clipping from the Lewistown, Montana, News, predicting a month before the election that Truman would receive 308 electoral votes. The final count was 304. The President said he had to confess, however, that the newspaper's optimism exceeded his own.

"My own prediction on my electoral count, which I placed in a sealed envelope, was less than 304," the President told his callers. He politely but stubbornly refused to reveal the exact number he predicted, and this figure has remained

Waltz into Darkness

JULIA'S STORY: "Julia" tells Durand her name is really Bonny Castle. She traveled the river as an entertainer of a crooked gambler. On that fateful night, the real Julia had made friends with her, and she was as keen as her way to marry, night was a man.

He tapped had accosted them a third time. "It's Harry, my dear," came through the door. "Am I too early? You know I'll wait all morning for you, if necessary. To wait outside your door for you to come out is pleasant thing I know of."

The door sliced back and the colonel found himself confronted by Durand. He was fair swarthy, with nothing but trousers and undershirt.

He gave a strangled exclamation, like a wounded gruff. Followed by a convulsive swallowing. "Unh—? Anh—? Unh?"

"Well, sir?" Durand rapped out. "And what brings you to my wife's door, may I ask?"

"I—I—I didn't know!" Worth managed to gasp out asthmatically.

"You do now, sir!" Durand said severely. And the door closed on the colonel's stupefaction.

ARMS close-knit about one another's waists, leaning almost avidly from the open window of her room, shimmering in unison with laughter, they watched the streaming debacle of the colonel's luggage, poured forth from under the veranda shed, followed by the owner's hurried, trotting departure.

DREW PEARSON ON THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

WASHINGTON—Now that Secretary of State Marshall is back from Paris, it is possible to get a clearer idea of who was responsible for the U. S.-British decision to turn Ruhr industry back to the German cartels.

This has lost us more friends in Western Europe than any other single move since V-E Day.

The week before Thanksgiving, Gen. Lucius D. Clay came to Paris to confer with Marshall before the latter took off for Washington. Clay was accompanied by his political adviser, French-hating Ambassador Robert Murphy.

Marshall and Clay are old friends, but the Secretary had occasion to differ sharply with Clay on this occasion and, according to insiders, to reprimand both him and Murphy.

The issue was whether any hope could come from trying to negotiate the Berlin dispute. At that moment, the United Nations mediation efforts were under way. Both Clay and Murphy opposed this, said they thought the Berlin deadlock had become too difficult to patch up.

Marshall was being urged to make the decisions were being made in Paris, for the moment, not Berlin.

Three days later, the Herald Tribune, European edition, published a front-page story quoting an unnamed American official in Berlin as saying precisely the things Clay and Murphy had said in Paris. Marshall had gone to Washington by this time, but an immediate investigation was ordered regarding the leak.

One top-ranking American delegation said, "If we can find out who promoted that story, he'll have to retract or get out!"

But the source is now enjoying protection in the light little Berlin colony and won't be detected. The other issue where Clay surprised and displeased Marshall was in the announcement of Anglo-American plans to hand the Ruhr industries back to the German cartels. According to sources close to Marshall, State, he was obliged to explain the action to the agonized French. It did not make him happy.

Note: Behind Clay's high-policy decisions are the bankers who once loaned billions to the Ruhr and who now run the U. S. Defense Department plus Ambassador Bob Murphy, whose bitterness against France is notorious.

TRUMAN'S DECISION GUESSED Montana's late Sen. Frank B. Rowland, who recently called at the White House recently to suggest that extension of the Senate Small Business Committee should be high on the list of presidential recommendations to the next Congress.

"The dangers of monopoly were never greater," explained the Montana man, who, though one of the wealthiest men in Congress, has been a hard-hitting champion of the little fellow. "We've got to stay on the ball if we want to preserve free enterprise."

Louis, and so far as I know, he's still engaged upon it. "He has no police power—has he?" she asked with quick, brittle interest.

"Not so far as I know. I don't know what he can do or can't do, and I've no wish to find out. The police in New Orleans told me you were immune, but that was at that time before he took hand in it. Your immunity may expire from one minute to the next, when we least expect it, while he's still around and about. Don't you see, we can't go back to New Orleans now."

"No," she agreed without emotion. "We can't."

"And it's better for us not to linger here too long either. Word travels quickly. You cannot help drawing the admiration of all eyes wherever you appear. You're no drab wallflower. Besides, my own presence here is well known; I made no secret I was coming here, and they'd know where to reach me."

She raised her hand and snapped her fingers close before her face. "Very well, we'll go," she said gaily. "We'll be on our way before our suit goes down. Where shall it be? You name it."

"What about Mobile or Birmingham; those are large enough towns to lose ourselves in."

She made her choice with a pert little nod. "Mobile for now. I'll begin to pack at once."

She stopped again in a moment, holding some article in her hands, and drew close to him once more. "How different this is from last night. Do you remember? Then it was an arrest. Now it is a honeymoon."

She crept into his arms, looked up at him, her very soul in her eyes. "Do you remember? Do you take me back?"

"I never met you before last night. There is no past. It's our real wedding day."

"My Lou," she sobbed ecstatically. "My Lou!"

"Careful, there," she warned, with finger upright to his lips. "My Bonny."

Eleven Schools Furnish 1948 AP All-America

Walker, Fischer, Bednarik Repeaters On First Squad

By TED SMITS
 Associated Press General Sports Editor

NEW YORK — Despite college football's continued trend in 1948 towards subordinating the individual to the team, heroic performers stood out across the land to constitute The Associated Press All-America.

But unlike All-Americas of recent years, no college in 1948 contributes more than one man to the first eleven, not even those great power teams, Michigan and Notre Dame.

Three 1947 first team men are back—Bill Fischer of Notre Dame at tackle; Chuck Bednarik of Pennsylvania at center; and Doak Walker of Southern Methodist in the backfield.

reflects the middle West's domination of the sport. Four from the first team come from that area, two from the East, two from the South, two from the Southwest, and one from the Pacific coast.

Virtually all the several hundred Associated Press staff writers, newspaper sports editors and broadcasters who joined in nominating the team agreed on five men — Dick Rifenburg of Michigan at end, Buddy Burris of Oklahoma at guard, Halback Charlie Justice of North Carolina, Fischer and Walker.

The rest of the first team members had sharper competition for their posts—Barney Poole of Mississippi at end, Leo Nomeletti of Minnesota at tackle, Rod Franz of California at guard, Bednarik at center and Backs Bobby Jack Stuart of Army and Art Murakowski of Northwestern.

Leading the first team backfield are probably the only genuine, dyed-in-the-wool triple-threat all-around performers left in this day of specialists—Charlie Justice of North Carolina, a 185-pound throwback to the days of infrequent substitutions, and Doak Walker of S. M. U., three pounds heavier. Both run, pass, and punt—and block and tackle as well, when necessary.

Art Murakowski, on the other hand, gains ground through terrific speed and strength. This 196-pound powerhouse of Northwestern's backfield splits opposing lines wide open, and once in the clear he cannot be hauled down. He plays both offense and defense, is 23 years old, served in the Navy, including rough action on a destroyer mine layer at Okinawa.

Darling of Texas is Doak Walker of Southern Methodist, a 21-year-old junior. "He is one of the greatest players of all time in the south-west, and matches smartness and courage against power," says his coach, Maty Bell. Walker served in both the Merchant Marine and the Army.

Fourth member of the first team backfield is a solid, hard-running successor to Glenn Davis at West Point — Bobby Stuart, five feet, eleven inches and 175 pounds. He has to his distinction one of the longest of all touchdown runs—103 yards—an important factor in his team's 26-20 defeat of Pennsylvania.

At the end is the star of one of the nation's great teams—Dick Rifenburg of Michigan. He is a six-foot, three inch, 197-pound senior, the standout on a squad where the level was so high that individual merit often was lost. In Big Nine conference play, the toughest there is, he gained more than 300 yards on passes, scoring four touchdowns, and made 72 yards in ten end-around rushes.

Seventh Year For Poole
 At the other end is George Barney Poole, the same height as Rifenburg but weighing 220 pounds. This is his seventh and last year of college football. He played one year as a Marine V-12 trainee at North Carolina, three at West Point with the great teams of 1944-46, and three at Mississippi.

At first team tackles are two giants. Leo Nomeletti is six feet-two, 24 years old, 250 pounds. He served 19 months in South Pacific in the Marines, and is a junior at Minnesota. The heaviest lineman on the squad, he is great at recovering fumbles. The team calls him "Leo the lion" because of his roaring voice. "The closest thing to Bronko Nagurski in sheer physical prowess I've seen since Nagurski," says Coach Bernie Bierman. Nomeletti played tackle on offense, guard on defense.

The other tackle is Bill Fischer, captain of the mighty Notre Dame team. He is 21 years old, six feet, two inches, and weighs 235 pounds. Fischer was too young for war service. He is playing his last year for the Irish. "Much of our success this year is due to the wonderful leadership of Bill Fischer," says Coach Frank Leahy.

At guard is the standout of Oklahoma's excellent team, Buddy Burris, 25, five feet, eleven inches, 210 pounds. He served 18 months in the Navy, including rough action on a destroyer mine layer at Okinawa.

Blackburn said officials of the bowl were keeping the bid open and Miami University would give its answer Wednesday.

Bolanos May Seek Third Title Shot
 LOS ANGELES—Enrique Bolanos, lightweight pride of Mexico, finds himself practically out of opponents Wednesday except for his No. One quarry, Champion Ike Williams.

The contender took care of an outstanding foe, Tommy Campbell, Rock Island, Ill., negro, in vicious style Tuesday night, winning a unanimous 12-round decision and retaining his California lightweight title.

Bolanos' manager, George Parnassus, said his fighter's one ambition is for a third match with Williams, and negotiations for a bout may be renewed at once. Williams stopped Bolanos two years ago and won a split decision in 15 rounds last May.

Pro Leagues Scrap For College Stars

NEW YORK — A new dollar war is shaping up between the National Football League and the rival All-America Conference in their bid for the cream of the 1948 college crop.

Spirited bidding is reported already under way on such stars as Doak Walker of Southern Methodist, Stan Heath of Nevada, Johnny Rauch of Georgia and Chuck Bednarik of Pennsylvania.

Both circuits, seeking to get the jump on the other, have held very hush-hush draft meetings, it has been learned reliably.

The All-America player selection ceremony was staged in the middle of the Summer and word of it was guarded carefully. The National held a secret session in Pittsburgh November 15.

The Milwaukee Journal said Tuesday the New York Yankees had offered Heath, Nevada's drafted passer, $40,000 for two seasons.

Players reported drafted by the AAC include:

Baltimore Colts — Dick Harris, Texas center.

San Francisco 49ers — Jim Winkler, Texas A&M tackle.

Los Angeles Dons — Jack Price, Baylor fullback.

In the National League, the Boston Yanks are said to have first shot at Doak Walker of Southern Methodist.

110 Persons in 21 States Are Killed While Hunting Deer

CHICAGO — At least 110 persons in 21 states have been killed so far this season by gunfire while hunting deer.

Other fatalities in connection with the deer hunting trips—drownings, auto accidents and heart ailments—boosted the death toll to more than 200.

The gunfire toll probably will surpass last year's, when 141 hunters were shot fatally. In some states this year's hunting season has not ended or has not begun.

A survey by The Associated Press showed Maine leading the list of reported gunfire casualties with 17.

New York counted 16, Colorado 11, Michigan 10, Wisconsin 10, Idaho 9 and Oregon 7. The New York, Colorado and Idaho totals are record highs.

Texas' Season Young

In Texas, where an average of 28 deer hunters are killed each year, only three have been shot fatally this season. But the season doesn't end until December 31.

The Texas toll by the past has been among the highest. In Pennsylvania, where the number of licensed hunters fell from 850,000 last year to 550,000 this year, the worst year was in 1931, when 72 game hunters died. The season opened Monday, it will close December 11.

Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, Washington, Oregon and Wisconsin have reported record high totals of from 10 to 21 hunter deaths in recent years.

The death toll is more than doubled by causes besides hunting.

For instance, in Washington this year the 13 dead from various causes included three shot when mistaken for deer; three drowned; four dead of heart failure, two asphyxiated in automobiles, and one who was shot accidentally before he left home.

who gets new cars?

It's a cliché that everyone who wants a new car this year won't get one. And there's a good reason—the demand has never been so great.

But the industry plays fair and square with their factory-franchised dealers. The new cars produced are wisely distributed to dealers throughout the nation on a fair proportionate basis...

...and we in sure play fair with our customers, painstakingly seeing that our share of the new cars is equitably distributed and delivered on a fair price basis.

It's just good sense to "play the game" this way... serving YOU, our supplier, our community and above all ourselves in the way that is right, the way that is best... just as it's always good sense to drive a SAFE car—for SAFETY'S SAKE have your car mechanically-checked, regularly.

Pioneer Offered Boost in Mail Pay

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The nation's oldest "feeder" airline, Pioneer Airlines, Inc., Tuesday was offered an increase of more than one-third in air mail pay, the Civil Aeronautics Board said.

The board fixed a proposed final rate which it estimated will mean $1,780,000 mail pay a year to Pioneer, compared with $1,111,799 paid in the 12 months ended last April 30.

The airline serves Texas and New Mexico.

Down SPORTSLANE
—With TANNER LAINE

The Reporter-Telegram's all-district 3-AA team is the personal selection of SPORTSLANE. The selected boys were chosen without fear or favor after we saw each one play. Some of our selections may not make the coach's official team as posted by an Abilene newspaper. But we picked 'em for a unit which could make the field against any all-district team in Texas, playing the positions for which chosen.

Perhaps it is surprising we did not name Don Thompson, Odessa tackle, on the first team. No doubt for for many a money he is a great ball player. We contend Mobley is a weak defender and although his long runs have been sensational, he is not the all-round man his press notices would herald.

In fairness to Thompson and Mobley, they were not at their best when we saw them play. And perhaps in other games they sparked to high heavens for all we know. If they make all-state, fine and dandy. Because we do not see it, it is no sign it isn't so.

Jimmy Patterson of Odessa makes our team. He is truly a backbone of the district champions. He is the outstanding back of the district, no doubt of that.

We jotted down our all-district selections from notes taken after each game in which boys were watched for that purpose. As it so happened, we come up with at least one boy from every team in 3-AA. We did not so will it when we started picking.

We did not pick boys for all-district on the basis of their scoring, their headlines all season, their team represented, their size. We picked them for individual achievement and team work at the time we saw them play with full realization it might have been their bad night and the next game they may have been "all-state."

We chose two Midland players on the first team without any apologies. We think they deserve it whether they played for Midland or Podunk. We put the Bulldogs on the second team and one for honorable mention for the same reason of good play, not for home instinct.

Because a boy happened to play on a losing team did not alter our selection of him. We put a Lamesa boy on the first team and a Big Spring boy on the second team. We think they deserved those places.

To our way of thinking and looking, Gray of Sweetwater was the best lineman in District 3-AA. He was consistent, capable, smart, hard and clean in his play.

In our opinion, Donald Deel of Midland could have made the all-district first team at end or tackle or in the backfield. We put him in the secondary for his terrific blocking. His aggressive line play was not any behind his backfield work.

Here are the 1948 all-district selections, first and second teams, as we saw the boys play.

FIRST TEAM
ENDS—Henderson of Midland; Griffin of Odessa.
TACKLES—Gray of Sweetwater; Preston of Abilene.
GUARDS—Tankesley of Lamesa; Greene of Midland.
CENTERS—Schleyer of San Angelo.

BACKS—Deel of Midland; Patterson of Odessa; Cathey of Sweetwater; McMillan of Sweetwater; Galusha of Abilene.

SECOND TEAM
ENDS—Muns of Sweetwater; Cross of Sweetwater; Irwin of Odessa.

TACKLES—Brancham of Midland; Thompson of Midland; Griffin of Odessa.
GUARDS—Peoples of Sweetwater; Stroope of Odessa; Rogers of Abilene.

CENTERS—West of Sweetwater; Miller of Midland.

BACKS—Preece of Midland; Little of Midland; Mobley of Odessa; Halle of San Angelo; Holland of Abilene; Davis of Big Spring.

HONORABLE MENTION
Rose of Lamesa, guard; Stephens of Midland, back; McGraw of Abilene, tackle; Grigsby of Big Spring, end; Rowland of San Angelo, back; Ronemus of Sweetwater, back; Hartley of Odessa, center.

With all these you may not agree and that is certainly your privilege as it was ours to pick them.

Crane, Iraan Lead In 6-B Selections

CRANE—Crane and Iraan dominated selections of the all-district teams of 6-B. Crane placed five players on the first team and Iraan placed six. Stanton got one man on the second team and the rest were from Crane and Iraan.

Coaches selected these two all-star teams:

FIRST TEAM
ENDS—Dempsy of Crane; Daniel of Crane.
TACKLES—Burnett of Iraan; Rust of Crane.
GUARDS—Schoonover of Crane; Martin of Iraan.
CENTERS—Gray of Iraan.
BACKS—Cox of Iraan; Whitefield of Iraan; Lightfoot of Crane; and Garrett of Crane.

SECOND TEAM
ENDS—Cox of Iraan; Holcomb of Crane.
TACKLES—Weatherby of Crane; Hull of Iraan.
GUARDS—Stanton of Iraan; Patterson of Crane.
CENTERS—Ward of Crane.
BACKS—Lindsey of Stanton; Teague of Crane; Clark of Crane; and Cummins of Iraan.

Tickets Printed For Cage Feature

Tickets are being printed for the Phillips 66 Oilers-Hardin-Simmons University basketball game to be played in Midland High's gym December 8. Announcement of sales will be made soon, school officials stated.

The game is sponsored by Midland High School to bring bigtime basketball to the city.

A full gymnasium is expected for the feature cage attraction.

The Oilers feature several All-America basketball players and have won many national championships. Hardin-Simmons is a Border Conference power and the Cowboys are hot this year.

Draft Quota Cuts Not To Halt Texas Examination Plans

AUSTIN—(AP)—Texas' draft call for January likely will be cut in half, a state Selective Service official said here Tuesday night.

Capt. William B. Sinclair, public information officer, said the reduction in the national quota for January from 20,000 to 10,000 men indicates Texas will be asked to draft about 494 men instead of the 968 previously called for.

Sinclair said no official word of the cut has been received as yet, however.

Plans for the examination of 3-48 men next month by Texas induction centers, in preparation for the January call will not be changed, even though some of the men may not be called in January, Sinclair said.

He said the 5,000-man national quota announced for February indicates Texas likely will be called on for only about 230 and 240 men for that month.

Attorneys General Again Favor States Tideland Rights

HOUSTON—(AP)—State attorneys general plan to advise Congress they would like more interstate compacts and less federal control.

The National Association of Attorneys General has voted to ask the new Congress to approve pending compacts designed to handle regional problems among the states.

The compacts, the association resolved at the concluding session of its annual conference Tuesday, are particularly successful and are not snarled by federal control.

Also approved was renewal of the association's fight for congressional recognition of state ownership of submerged lands.

A new seven-member tidelands committee immediately began drafting a bill to be presented to Congress in January.

Heading the committee is Attorney General Hall Hammon of Maryland. He succeeds Walter J. Johnson of Nebraska, who this year saw his committee's bill approved overwhelmingly by the House of Representatives but fail to reach the Senate floor.

EISENHOWER was my boss

by Kay Summersby

Captain, WAC, Army Of The U. S.
Copyright, 1948, by Kay Summersby

Instalment 22

Monday, June 12, was a big day for General Eisenhower. Leaving our OP before 6 o'clock in the morning, he took the visiting V-I-P party to Normandy.

General Ike came back about 8:30 p.m., feeling chipper that he had got ashore at long last, invigorated by actually visiting the troops, and happy that everyone's spirits seemed so high.

In addition, there was another, unofficial reason for his happiness: a reunion with his son. Graduated from West Point on D-Day, Second Lieutenant John S. D. Eisenhower was enroute to England to spend leave with his famous father. General Ike had dispatched Tex Lee to Prestwick to meet John.

On June 29, I lost all interest in war. General Ike had several of us out to Telegraph Cottage for dinner. John, he said, was fretting because the West Point graduation leave was almost over; he was due back to Fort Benning.

"I'm sending John home in my B-17," the general explained. "Tex is going along. So are Mattie Finette and Sergeant Parr." He looked at me. "There's spare place and I know you're anxious to meet Dick's mother. How would you like to go along?"

Our send-off from the Germans was a buzz-bomb. It landed several hundred yards away and rattled the car windows as we drove out to the airport.

All of us breathed a sigh of relief when London and the airport were far behind.

Two women rushed up to welcome us to Washington. One was Mrs. George Allen; the other, Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower. I found the general's wife an attractive, petite woman, her bangs the hint to a vivacious, friendly personality. We all chatted excitedly. Then Mrs. Eisenhower and Mrs. Allen went off to town, with John in tow, promising to call.

Next afternoon, I went up to the fashionable Wardman Park to visit Mrs. Eisenhower, who greeted me at the door with a welcome, thinking, orange-filled Old Fashioned. Her cordiality helped me to meet the wives of various friends around headquarters, men I had known in North Africa and in England. In the beginning, I felt strange and foreign, much to British and much too militarized for this forgotten social side of femininity. But their natural friendliness soon thawed my embarrassment. Moreover, we had mutual interests, mutual friends: their husbands. I enjoyed meeting the wives of overseas friends, putting flesh on the name-skeletons rattled so continuously by lonely husbands abroad; they enjoyed meeting some one who knew their husbands, who could tell them how their husbands looked, how they felt, what they ate where they lived, et cetera. It was a lovely afternoon and I enjoyed it thoroughly.

Amidst all this excitement I tried to get in touch with Dick's mother at her home in New York State. Innumerable telephone calls (which impressed me with the speed and courtesy of long distance operators in America) disclosed Mrs. Arnold knew exactly how she was going, where she would stay down there. Two days before our party was due to head back to London, she called from Florida, distraught at driving right through Washington, unaware I was there on a visit. I had a wonderful day and night with Mrs. Arnold, collecting a bad case of sunburn in Miami . . . and, more important, a new, close friend. And I didn't have to ride back in that bucket-seat C-47. Our old B-17 showed up in Miami. Captain Larry Hansen, General Eisenhower's pilot, had a double reason for coming down: firstly, we were due to leave for England the very next day; secondly, his wife lived in nearby Coral Gables. We took off for Washington that afternoon.

Some of the Army wives I met this time left a bad taste in my memory. A few seemed so calculating, so cold. They gauged each other purely by rank, more so than the most rank-conscious West Pointer, all social and personal attention centered on those whose husbands carried more brass. And I'm afraid, a shocking amount of that attention was focused on the ranking leaders with but one of two ideas in mind, sometimes both: a promotion for the husband, and-or a transfer to better duty, preferably in the United States.

I was hurt, then angered at the slander of WAC's overseas. The girls in London and Algiers had told me about it, but I still didn't believe such selfish venom existed until I ran right into it in Washington. Some of the most social Army wives made it quite clear, crystal-clear—they regarded my uniformed female overseas as a mere "camp follower."

I looked at these Washington wives in their smart frocks, nibbling luxurious foods, making cocktail talk, safe in one of the world's few un bombed cities. Then I thought of the WAC's working long and thankless hours overseas, often living in tents or buggy barracks, anxious about loved ones in battle still carrying on. I thought of Red Cross girls who got up before dawn to drive their Clubmobiles onto isolated airfields, distributing coffee doughnuts and good American cheer to airmen taking off for possible death over Europe. I thought of the mutilated men I'd seen in hospitals, of the American nurses who worked day after day with those wounded, drawing upon a personal courage almost holy in its selflessness. I thought of the nurses I'd seen in the waters around our torpedoes. Strathallen, the nurses staggering through the mud in Tunisia at the time of Kasserine Pass.

How, I wondered, how could these Washington gossips have the colossal conceit and self-deception not to see their own shameful images? How could they lump all overseas service women into one dirty group and then jab it with woman's cruellest weapon against woman: moral slander?

Being human, I was even more upset at learning my own reputation was lost. In addition to being a woman overseas, I was a foreign woman—and I traveled with the high brass. Therefore, I was a bad woman. This was fact, gleefully acknowledged and established fact. These women didn't—and don't—leave any loophole for doubt; they didn't—and don't—give any opportunity for defense. Nothing I could say or do would change this attitude. I was classified labeled, and filed.

This all-out assault upon my character hurt; it hurt terribly. After the hurt came resentment, after the resentment, anger. I thought bitterly of my ambulance days in the Blitz, of my torpedoing in the Mediterranean, of my driver's life in North Africa. I thought bitterly of Dick. I thought of my day-to-day work, small but directly connected with the war. And I thought of all the kindness, the gentlemanly and understanding kindness shown me by some of these wives' own husbands; it wasn't fair to those men, let alone to me.

My wounds soon festered into scar tissues destined to stay inflamed the rest of my life. Practically ever woman who served in uniform bears this wound. It's the one thing we'll never forgive, never forget. It's the most painful wound of all, for a woman—and it didn't come from the enemy.

(Nor has it stopped with the return of peace. A small, wicked voice inside cries out: "Next war. My Girl, you may as well do all these things of which you're accused; they'll say you did, anyhow!") Tarnished but slightly by this one experience, the Washington visit drew to a close.

That old war-born sense of urgency surged through all of us as the B-17 took off, circled the lovely city of Washington for a final salute, and then headed "home" . . . back to the war.

Fort Stockton Club Boys Show Reserve Champion At Chicago

CHICAGO—(AP)—Cattle at the 49th International Livestock Exposition are "unsurpassed anywhere. The champions selected are great champions." That is the opinion of A. D. Weber, chief judge of the famous show, in its fifth day Wednesday.

Weber, first American cattle expert chosen top judge of the show since it began in 1900, selected "Old Gold," an Aberdeen Angus as grand champion steer.

The 1,200 pound glossy black animal, entered by C. E. Yoder and Sons of Muscatine, Ia., was chosen from among two Angus and two Herefords in the final competition.

Youngsters from the Fort Stockton, Texas, 4-H Club, won the reserve grand championship with their Hereford steer "Texo."

Search Continues For Missing Plane

HOUSTON—(AP)—Air rescuers who have scoured 12,000 square miles without luck resumed Wednesday their search for a plane which disappeared with three people aboard.

Capt. James Nelson of the Air Force Rescue Unit at Ellington Field here said many fruitless rumors have been investigated since the plane was reported missing November 18.

The small private craft is believed to have carried Joel Ritter, pilot, and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. York, all of Allentown, Pa.

IPAA Speaker Cites Oil Imports

HOUSTON—(AP)—Oilmen were told here Tuesday that oil imports are increasing at the expense of U. S. production.

Russell B. Brown of Washington, general counsel of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, said that's the biggest problem facing independent producers.

Other problems, he said, include price controls, increased taxation, and steel distribution. He told a district meeting of the association there always is a threat of federal control.
