Humble Makes New Discovery In Scurry Pennsylvanian Lime

Another oil field has been discovered in Scurry County. This time Humble Oil & Refining Company has developed commercial production at its No. 1 L. M. Permian, midway three miles east of Dermott, and one and one-half miles west of the Standard Oil Company of Texas No. 1 Jesse Brown, opener of the North Snyder field.

The Humble venture, located 660 feet from north and east lines of section 438, block 97, H&TC survey, took a drillstem test in a lower Pennsylvanian lime at 7,004-54 feet. A 5/8th-inch bottom hole choke was used. Gas showed at the surface in two minutes. The volume of gas was not gauged or estimated.

Flows 35 Minutes
Oil started flowing out of the top of the drill pipe in one hour and 35 minutes and was flowed to pits for 35 minutes, at the estimated rate of 20 barrels to 35 barrels of clean oil per hour.

There was no water. Gravity of the oil was 42.3 degrees.

Operator is to run Schlumberger survey, and will then run casing to bottom and after it is cemented will core deeper.

It is thought by some geologists that the section making the oil in the Humble discovery is possibly in the Strawn. It is below the Canyon on the pay section in the Standard of Texas discovery. The No. 1 Permian did not encounter any possibilities of production in the horizon which is making the oil in the Standard of Texas development.

Outpost To Scurry Discovery Flows Oil

Standard of Texas No. 3-1 Brown, 1,520 feet south of the discovery well of the North Snyder field, and the second exploration in that immediate area to reach the Canyon lime pay section, flowed 40 barrels of oil in one hour, through a one-quarter inch tubing choke. The flow came during a drillstem test at 6,355-6,400 feet.

No water developed. Gas showed at the top in four minutes. It was not gauged or estimated. Oil started flowing in 14 minutes, and after it had been allowed to flow for one hour the test was closed.

The prospector is drilling ahead. The location is 1,480 feet from west and 1,520 feet from south lines of section 410, block 97, H&TC survey.

Standard of Texas No. 2-2 Brown, 680 feet from east and 1,880 feet from north lines of section 440, block 97, H&TC survey, and one location east of the North Snyder field opener had reached 6,294 feet in lime and was drilling deeper. It tried a drillstem test when the total depth was at 6,295 feet. The try was unsuccessful and operator decided to make more hole before attempting another test.

WTGS Meeting Set For Monday Night

A large attendance is expected for the first meeting in 1949 of the West Texas Geological Society to be held at 8 p. m. Monday night in the district courtroom of the Midland courthouse.

F. J. Agnich of Dallas, with Geophysical Service, Inc., will give a paper on "Geophysical Exploration for Limestones Reefs."

He will use slide illustrations in connection with the paper and will be prepared to answer questions and make blackboard demonstrations following the prepared talk.

W. T. (Bill) Schneider, new president of the society, will preside. Alan B. Cooper will have charge of the program.

Price Is To Provide Program For MGS

James A. Price, Midland manager for Bay Petroleum Corporation, will provide the program for the regular luncheon meeting of the Midland Geological Society Tuesday at noon.

The meeting will be in the Crystal Ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer.

Price, a "ham" radio operator, will have some of his equipment at the meeting, and will give a demonstration of the working of that apparatus.

During the recent bad weather Price has been doing a considerable amount of work transmitting emergency messages for pipe line companies and other branches of the oil industry, when regular means of communications were unavailable.

Jesse A. Rogers is president of the Midland Geological Society. F. H. McGulgan is program chairman.

Sub-Zero Cold Reaches Into Central Texas

The Rio Grande Valley reported one of the most disastrous hard freezes on record Monday as a cold wave brought all-time low temperatures to Texas and below-zero readings as far south as San Antonio.

The valley tomato and potato crop was a total loss, ripening fruit was damaged heavily and citrus men say trees themselves, especially young trees, may be damaged.

In one valley county, Cameron, County Agent Frank Brunnean estimated vegetable damage alone will run higher than $15,000,000.

Frost covered a wide valley area. The temperature at Brownsville, southern end of the valley, fell to 22.7 degrees. It was feared even hard crops such as cabbage and carrots may be lost.

Llano, near Austin, reported a reading of six degrees below zero. The mercury dove to four degrees below zero at Waco, three below at Bryan, and two degrees below at Sherman, Fort Worth and Austin.

Below Zero At San Antonio
It was four-tenths of a degree below at San Antonio. Temperature records were broken at many points, including Austin, Waco, San Antonio and Bryan.

Great loss of lambs and ewes was feared in the Fredericksburg area where temperatures were below zero and the snow was nine to 10 inches deep.

Some lambs were frozen in the Kerrville area and at Cuero. Livestock loss at Bandera was thought to be considerable.

The mercury fell to four below zero at Paris, the coldest day in 19 years. Roads were open but dangerous.

Carrizo Springs, in South Texas, had a low of 18 degrees Monday and carrots, onion plants, and spinach were reported to be frozen.

Light sunshine Monday dispelled Midland's and the Permian Basin's snow covering. The sun started its work on the three to four inch blanket Sunday.

Sub-freezing weather held over the weekend. Sunday's minimum temperature was eight degrees and climbed during the day to 23 degrees. Monday's minimum was 10 degrees.

The temperature climbed above freezing Monday for the first time in several days. It was 34 degrees at 11:30 a. m.

More than an inch of moisture was recorded. The precipitation chart of the CAA at Midland Air Terminal showed 1.99 inches for the weekend.

Transportation was moving but was hazardous earlier Monday. Some communications still were hampered.

Several minor automobile crashes were reported in the city.

Each were damaged. Eighteen-degree cold also hurt garden crops at Crystal City. Carrizo Springs had two and one-half inches of snow Sunday and Crystal City one inch.

21 Deaths In State
The current cold wave, which began Friday, has been responsible for 21 deaths in Texas.

The unprecedented temperatures Monday followed record snowfalls over the state Sunday.

Llano had 10 inches of snow Sunday.

The record temperatures brought hardship and suffering to many portions of the state unaccustomed to such bitter weather.

That portion of Texas from Dallas and Fort Worth south caught the brunt of the cold wave Sunday night.

Amarillo's temperature of nine degrees above zero was relatively high.

At Dallas, the reading was two degrees above zero.

Wacky Winter Makes People Do Strange Things

When Cleveland, Ohio, City Councilman Henry W. Speeth urged that the city use bathing girls to publicize its unusually mild winter, Erlene Trent, left, took aim at his word. She applied for the job, but Speeth wasn't home. He was headed for the beach. Meanwhile, Texas had sub-zero weather and a 74-inch snowfall in California created drifts up to 17 feet deep at the mountain resort of Lake Arrowhead. So Bob Dexter, left, and Tony Crowder had to start digging to find their automobile.

Cold, Snow Spread Out Over Nation

The week-old "Operation Haylift," bringing fodder to snowbound livestock, took second place Monday to a new major problem—getting food and fuel to isolated human beings.

Harassed relief officials who marshaled planes to move fodder to livestock before snow-blocked roads could be opened, had reports from areas west of Omaha, Neb., that food and fuel were short. The Army in Washington said everything is being done to get food and fuel to the isolated areas.

The Fifth Army in Chicago reported some areas have been without rail communication since the start of the storm.

Another threat to the snow-covered Western regions was the forecast by Chicago weather men of continued unseasonal cold and additional snow in some Western regions.

Rain In Southeast
Rain or freezing rain was forecast Monday for a belt stretching across Northern Mississippi, Northern Alabama, Northern Georgia and the Northern Carolinas.

Snow was predicted for the Upper Mississippi Valley, the Ohio River Valley and the Great Lakes.

The snow belt was slowly moving from the Southwest into the Northeast, but a portion of Illinois, Indiana and Kentucky were clear.

China Peace Efforts Bog Down; Nanking Defenders Go South

NANKING—(AP)—Acting President Li Tsung-Jen flew to Shanghai and back Monday in what appeared to be a futile peace effort.

Li's associates had expected him to remain at least two days in Shanghai with minority leaders discussing peace plans. His early return indicated to some observers he had no success in attempts to get the cooperation of the liberal political group, including the Democratic League, or of Madame Sun Yat-Sen, widow of the founder of the republic.

Li's arrival in Shanghai came after there were strong rumors in Nanking that he would go to Canton shortly.

Nanking itself Monday approached the strange state of being neither Nationalist nor Red but an island between the two warring governments.

There have been no indications that any Red officials actually have entered the capital. But they could if they wished.

Red Armies siding
The city is practically defenseless. Soldiers and Naval units, once to have been the defenders of Nanking, have pulled out for the South.

Communist Armies are idling six miles north of Nanking, where they have been for a week. Apparently they are waiting for action on the Red radio demand of Saturday that retired President Chiang Kai-Shek and other Kuomintang officials on the Communist "war criminals" list be arrested.

Nanking appeared to be moving toward the status of an open city, although there has been no official move to declare it such.

All along the line peace efforts by the government seem to be bogging down. Nanking city councilmen who want a separate peace for the city have not been able to muster a quorum to call on the Communists on the north side of the Yangtze River.

Monday Night Is Final Chance To Pay Poll Tax

The deadline for poll tax payments is Monday night, and it may be the last chance ever to pay a poll tax for voting in Texas.

A constitutional amendment proposing repeal of the poll tax as a requisite for voting has been introduced in the Legislature. Senator Rogers Kelly of Edinburg wants an election held August 27, this year.

A registration system would supplant the poll tax in Texas balloting.

Poll tax payments in Midland County reached a total of 3,700 at noon Monday. Tax Collector J. M. Speed, estimated the total may hit the 4,500 mark.

Usual Rush
The tax office in the courthouse was experiencing the usual last-day rush Monday as citizens hurried to obtain voting certificates before the deadline. Potential voters were lined up before the windows in the office, which will remain open as long as necessary to accommodate the tax payers.

It appeared, however, that the Midland County total will fall short of last year's record payment of more than 5,800, despite the intensive "Pay Your Poll Tax" campaign sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the League of Women Voters.

In addition to the possible constitutional amendment balloting, city and school district elections will be held Monday.

Midland To Have New Mail Carrier

Midland soon will have a new mail carrier. A. E. Puller, who recently moved here from North Hollywood, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Puller arrived in Midland last week. Postmaster N. G. Oates said Monday that as soon as a residence can be located Puller will begin carrying mail.

Truman Still Ready To Talk With Stalin In Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The White House repeated Monday that President Truman is willing to meet Premier Stalin in Washington.

Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross first told a news conference he had no comment on Stalin's assertion that he has "no objection" to meeting Truman at some mutually acceptable place.

A reporter then asked if the President's position was unchanged regarding a meeting with Stalin. Ross said the last word on the subject was given by Truman at a recent presidential news conference.

At that time, Truman repeated what he has said many times—that he would be happy to meet with Premier Stalin in Washington.

Ross emphasized that there has been "no official word from the Russian government" regarding such a meeting.

The President, he said in response to questions, has seen newspaper accounts of Stalin's replies to a newspaperman's questions.

"How could one escape it?" Ross asked. "The President reads the papers."

Dimes March At $7,000 Figure As Deadline Nears

Returns in the annual March of Dimes campaign here passed the $6,900 mark Monday, the final day of the drive, as workers continued to count contributions which came in over the weekend.

Paul L. Davis, general chairman, said the coin containers located in business houses will be picked up Monday evening, and a complete tabulation will be made as promptly as possible.

Leaders predict the final returns will exceed the $7,000 figure.

Davis said the campaign will end on schedule Monday night.

Move Called Answer To Soviet Blast

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The seven-nation group negotiating the North Atlantic Security Pact here expects soon to invite half a dozen more nations, including a Soviet-pressed Norway, to become full partners in the project.

This move probably will be the West's most dramatic answer to Russia's one-two punch against the North Atlantic Alliance over the weekend.

Officials here interpreted the Soviet Foreign Office blast at the alliance Friday night and Generalissimo Stalin's statements Sunday as part of the same pattern of attack on the growing unity of the non-Communist Western world and particularly the North Atlantic Treaty.

Stalin came into the picture this time by saying he would have "no objection" to a meeting with President Truman at a "suitable place." He also talked in surface terms of good will toward peace. There was no quick official reaction here from the White House or State Department.

Norway figures as the key country in current talks on Western alliance, largely because she also, of all the nations in the projected security league, has a common border with the Soviet Union.

The Russians recognized Norway's importance Saturday night by stating their criticism of the North Atlantic Treaty formally and directly to the foreign office at Oslo. They apparently made no specific threat or demand but left no doubt in the minds of observers here that they were doing the utmost diplomatically to put little Norway on the spot.

The Norwegians themselves apparently rejected the implied Russian warning and persisted in their intention, even against the advice of their neighbor Sweden, to line up firmly with the Western League. This was strongly indicated Sunday night when an announcement came from Oslo that efforts of the Norwegians, Swedes and Danes to agree upon a common Scandinavian policy had broken down. Sweden had wanted a three nation Scandinavian alliance; Norway had wanted a tie-up with the United States and other Western Powers through the Atlantic League, and Denmark had tried to develop a middle way.

Funeral arrangements are pending at the Ellis Funeral Home here.

Police Nab Escaped Convict On Charges Of Car Theft Here

Neal Harter, 25, admitted fugitive from a California penitentiary work gang, is being held in the city jail here on charges of car theft. Police Chief Jack Ellington said Monday.

Harter was arrested at a night club at 10:30 p. m. Sunday with a stolen car. He was armed with a .32 caliber automatic, police said.

C. E. Johnson, employee of The Reporter - Telegram, reported to police at 8:30 p. m. Sunday his car had been stolen from its parking place in the 100 block of North Main Street. It was recovered by Police Captain Jack O'Brien and Sgt. Odell Ponder when they arrested Harter.

Harter was with a woman when he was arrested, but she was not held. He did not offer resistance. He told officers he escaped from a road gang in California while serving a sentence for burglary.

He will be bound over for action by the grand jury at the next session of district court.

Chinese Governor To Lead Last Ditch Stand Against Reds

CANTON—(AP)—Gen. Hsueh Yueh, new governor of Kwangtung Province, said Monday he would lead China's four Southern provinces in a last ditch stand against the Communists.

Hsueh, who succeeded T. V. Soong a few days ago, said in an interview he was ready to lead the people of Kwangtung, Kwangsi, Hunan and Fukien Provinces against the Reds regardless of the outcome of peace bids by the Nationalist government.

Asked if an independent Southern province fight meant a split with Nanking, General Hsueh said: "We are fighting both feudalism and communism. Nanking has failed because they were feudalistic. I include Chiang Kai-Shek among the feudalists."

Frozen Body Found Near Wrecked Auto

HENDERSON, TEXAS—(AP)—State Highway Patrolman E. M. Hale said the frozen body of Earnest Young, 48, employed by an electrical supply company of Overton, was found Monday near his wrecked automobile several miles from Overton.

Hale said indications were that Young's car skidded from the ice-covered highway and Young was thrown from the car by the impact of the crash.

What A Difference!

One year ago, in Gordon Park, Cleveland, Ohio, this couple braved heavy snows and a one-above-zero temperature to get a little privacy.

Exactly one year later, at the same spot, same park, another couple sat and spooned in Spring-like weather. The temperature was 52.

Nothing so clearly illustrates the weird weather of the month of January, 1949, than these two pictures. They were taken exactly one year apart by Cleveland Press photographer Byron Filkins, who snapped the same scene 366 days later. This January saw some of the most unusual weather in history—freezes and snow in California, heavy blizzards in the mountain and prairie states, yet warm, Spring-like weather in many parts of the Northeast. From coast to coast, January, 1949, was a month to be remembered.

Comparisons Sure For Cast Presenting 'I Remember Mama'

Actors in "I Remember Mama," the John Van Druten comedy which the Midland Community Theater will stage for four nights beginning February 16, will have their performances compared with those in the movie or in professional stage versions, which have been seen by many Midlanders.

The play had a long run on Broadway, has been presented by several road companies and was one of the most popular motion pictures of last year. Confirmed theatergoers will be all the more eager to see how the Community Theater cast interprets the roles.

In addition to those who have seen the play in another version, the audience will hold many persons who have their own interpretation of the characters through reading the complete or condensed version of "Mama's Bank Account," the sketches of family life from which the play was adapted.

All Character Roles

Each person in the cast, in however short an appearance on the stage, has a character role. The setting, in San Francisco during the years around 1910, and the plot, concerning a Norwegian-American family, assures that.

In the title role, Adele L. Penn enacts the resourceful Mama, who meets family crises by reaching for her scrubbing pail because she can "think better scrubbing a floor." Papa, a capable partner in managing the family, is played by Waldemar M. Dressel.

Most explosive role in the play is that of J. Wilmot Hunt as Uncle Chris, respected and even feared as the head of the family, and exciting family curiosity about his business.

Of the aunts, Betty Swords plays the whining, complaining Sigrid; Yvonne Meador the bossy Jenny; and Marian Gibson the timid old maid, Trina, whom no one notices much until she introduces an even more timid suitor, enacted by F. H. Pannill.

Youngsters In Cast

The children are played by Mary Bizzell as Katrin, who wants to be a writer; Sylvia Metz as the practical Christine; Gail Peters as Dagmar, whose love of animals sometimes involves the family as hosts to stray cats and birds; Robert Short as the dependable son, Nels, and Danny Page as Arne, a cousin.

John DeFord will appear as Mr. Hyde, an old-time "ham" actor; Louise Metz as the mysterious woman who is Uncle Chris' companion; George Bixler as the business-like Dr. Johnson; Nadyne Griffin and Dorothy Perkins as nurses; Gail Baker and Shirley Harrison as girl graduates, friends of Katrin; Loyd McSpadden as the drug store soda clerk; and Grace Waldschmidt as Florence Moorhead, famous writer who likes good cooking.

ICE AGAIN STRIKES TEXAS TELEPHONE LINES

ON THE HEELS of one of the most widespread ice storms in Texas history, which did about two million dollars worth of damage, another blanket of ice this week spread over much of Texas, leaving new wreckage from Oklahoma to Temple, and west to Pecos.

North and East Texas, on the edge of the first January ice area, bore the brunt of the new storm. Thousands of telephones were silenced. Many cities were isolated from communications with the outside world as wires snapped and poles crashed to the ground under the heavy weight of the ice. Only a few lines were available to many other points.

area while ice was still on the wires. With standardized tools, the "know-how" born of experience, and with tons of materials, they tackled the big job of restoring communications quickly.

VOLUME OF CALLS SOARS

Telephone operators and equipment were swamped with calls from those who were "shut in" by the storm. Long distance operators did their best to get the flood of messages through over circuits not damaged by the ice.

To those whose telephones were out of order and to those whose long distance calls were delayed—thanks for your patience and understanding.

The damage of the ice is big... a big job faces telephone repair crews.

But the Bell System, which has brought to America the best and cheapest telephone service in the world, is BIG enough to meet the emergency.

ICE DAMAGE IS WIDESPREAD

By early Thursday, 1,400 poles were down in Northeast Texas, 11,000 wire breaks were reported, and 1,250 long distance circuits were out of service.

Additional crews of workmen started rolling into the stricken

Marriage Of Bobbie Jean Gibbins And Gene McDaniel Solemized

Bobbie Jean Gibbins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Gibbins, and Gene E. McDaniel, son of Mrs. Dave Adams of Houston, were married Sunday afternoon in the First Methodist Church.

Bride In Sunday Ceremony

The Rev. R. Matthew Lynn, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, read the single ring rites while the organist, Homer B. Meek, Jr., played the nuptial hymn, "O Perfect Love." Barnby, he had played "Melody," Tschalkowski, while the ushers, Charles Carroll and Robert Bearden of Dallas, lighted the candles, then "Because," D'Hardelot, and the traditional marches.

Wedding tradition was evident in the ceremony and its setting, in the background of greenery and white flowers against the dark wood paneling of the church, in the music, the candle-light and the portrait costumes of the bride and her attendants.

Gowned In Satin

Ivory satin made the bride's gown, with high round neckline, long fitted sleeves which tapered to points over her hands, and a full skirt with tiers marked by cords, sweeping into a formal train. Her fingertip veil of bridal illusion fell in graceful tiers from a jeweled cap trimmed with white satin cord.

She carried a bouquet of white roses crowned with lily-of-the-valley and interspersed with satin tufts and Stephanotis. A white cattleya orchid was centered in the bouquet, which was finished with a white satin shower tied in lovers' knots with Stephanotis.

The "something borrowed" in her costume were pins that were used in her great-grandmother's wedding dress. The wedding ring was a wide gold band worn by the bridegroom's mother for more than 60 years. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Her attendants were her sister, Miss Frances Gibbins, maid of honor, Miss Lee Locke of Gainesville, Miss Jacquelyn Price of Roswell, N. M., and Mrs. Dayton Bliven.

Wear Bride's Gifts

Dressed alike, they wore velvet frocks in better times shade fashioned with shirred drop-shoulder yoke, fitted bodice and full gathered skirt with double bustle, and elbow-length mitts of matching velvet. Their headresses were small sweetheart half-hats with under-chin drapes of better times maline.

They carried colonial bouquets, the maid of honor's of white roses edged with better times maline and a shower of satin-ribbon and Stephanotis, and the bridesmaids' of white carnations with white maline edging and white ribbon showers.

The bridesmaids wore gold necklaces and the maid of honor a gold locket and earrings, all gifts of the bride.

Dave Webster of Abilene was best man. Groomsmen were Glen Gibbins, cousin of the bride, Robert Bearden and Charles Carroll.

A background for the wedding party was formed by two large trees of woodwardia fern flanked by Kentia palms and accented by arrangements of white gladioli and stock on the organ and pulpit. Four candelabra balanced the central arrangements, with a sunburst arrangement of white gladioli and stock on each candelabra, tied together with plumose fern studded with stock. At either end was a large floor basket filled with the white flowers, and matching table arrangements at the ends of the chancel rail completed the altar decorations.

Flowers Mark Pews

Pew corsages were of white carnations with white satin ribbon showers. The bride's mother was dressed in a royal blue satin gown of ballerina length, with matching hat and shell pink gloves. On her shoulder she wore a light lavender cattleya orchid. Mrs. Adams was attired in a pink faille dinner dress with aqua hat, and her corsage was a green Cypripedium orchid.

Following the ceremony, the couple greeted approximately 450 friends at a reception in the ballroom of the Midland Country Club. Members of the bridal party assisted in receiving the guests.

The bride's table was covered with a floor-length cloth of white satin, draped with white net which was pinned at each corner with bouquets of white carnations which had white satin showers.

The four-tiered wedding cake, topped with the traditional bride-and-groom miniature, was circled with lilies-of-the-valley and Stephanotis. Kentia palms and floor baskets of white gladioli and stock were set on either side of the table. The same white flowers were used in arrangements on the organ and the piano, and in a fan-shaped bouquet in the entrance hall.

Members of the house party, dressed in formal frocks, wore shoulder bouquets of pellagonium carnations tied with better times satin ribbon. In the house party were Mrs. Roy Minear, Mrs. R. T. German, Mrs. W. C. Murphy, Mrs. W. P. Knight, Mrs. Lief Olsen, Mrs. Arch Cleveger.

Mrs. W. D. Lane, Mrs. Bob Franklin, Mrs. C. W. Chancellor, Jr., Mrs. Don Davis, Mrs. Glen Mershon, Miss Pat Todd, Miss Dorothy Watson, Miss Alberta Smith, Mrs. Bob Dry of Odessa, Mrs. L. F. Shippert and Mrs. Hugh Johnston of Fort Worth. Mrs. Calvin Campbell, Jr., and Mrs. A. P. Knopp of Odessa.

Mr. and Mrs. McDaniel left after the reception for Austin, where they will be at home at 4604 Gonzales Street while McDaniel is attending the University of Texas. The bride's traveling suit was of royal blue gabardine worn with a matching felt hat and black accessories. The white orchid from her bridal bouquet was worn on her shoulder.

She was graduated from Midland High School and from Stephens College in Columbia, Mo., and has attended the University of Texas.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Lathrop, Mo., High School, is a Junior student in the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Texas. He has had four years' service with the United States Army Air Corps.

Answering these questions honestly ought to give you a fair idea of whether or not you and your husband are still the young people you like to think you are, or if you are gradually becoming staid, middle-aged folks.

Have you settled down to your own "crowd," content to see the same people over and over and not the least bit interested in enlarging your circle of friends?

Have you given up all interest in active sports, because it is easier to listen to a ball game on the radio than to get out and enjoy the out-of-doors?

Are possessions your big interest in life? Meeting Newcomers

When you meet a newcomer are you critical of him if his ideas are a bit different from your own, instead of welcoming him as a stimulating influence?

Do you always plan to do things with other people, feeling that the evening is a flop if you don't have at least one other couple along?

Have you stopped caring a great deal about each other's opinion and quit trying to please each other in small ways?

Are you more interested in talking about other people than in discussing ideas?

Are you afraid to take a chance or try out new ideas?

If most of your answers are "Yes"—you may be closer to being a staid middle-aged couple than you've ever admitted you are.

Swim Suits Go Exotic

NEW YORK—Inspiration comes from the exotic corners of North Africa and from the sunny shores of the South Sea Islands for these two bathing suit fashions created by Paris Designer Andre Ledoux.

Ledoux, couturier and ski champion, who flew a collection to New York for the first American showing, calls the two-piece suit (left) "Zouave." Made of blue and white striped silk rayon, the spectacular suit owes its name to and takes its styling cues from the billowing trousers worn by famed French Zouave troops.

The blue and white print crepe suit (right) draws its style inspiration from the South Sea Islands. Above a smartly flaring skirt is an artfully draped bare-shouldered sarong.

Thinking Device

It may be possible to build a machine that thinks like a human being, says Dr. W. R. Ashby, research head of an English mental hospital. He and a group of other scientists already have made a start in that direction.

Well, that is an encouraging sign. Apparently the invention is, in effect, doing something similar to turning over in bed or settling itself more snugly in an easy chair. We assume that electricity, turned on and off, takes care of its need for nourishment and rest.

Educators, psychiatrists and others are constantly trying to work the bugs out of the human thinking system. But this is a devious and difficult task.

An uncluttered mechanical mind would be a handy thing in government, particularly in international relations. Built properly, it would have no political, social or racial prejudice. It would be wise, just, humane and incorruptible.

Who knows but that there will be, in some dimly distant time, a United Nations in which the Security Council is replaced by a dispassionate, super-wise thinking machine. It might be a sort of electrical oracle to which the tribes of men could bring their troubles and receive a solution as simply as they now receive their fortunes from a penny weighing machine.

And in that distant time, when future scientists have improved on the start that Dr. Ashby has made, there might even be a machine that not only could make the world's most important decisions, but enforce them as well.

Speeding The Day

Two "impartial" jurors in a recent Georgia lynch trial left the jury box for the witness stand, testified that they would not believe the lynch victim's widow under oath, then rejoined their fellow jurors and promptly found the defendant not guilty.

The next day Governor Talmadge's forces presented the legislature with a new voting program. It would receive the poll tax and otherwise tighten and restrict registration requirements to a point where a lot of citizens, white as well as colored, would certainly lose their vote.

The state government of Georgia seems to be doing everything it can, through such clumsy methods as these, to force enactment of the federal anti-lynch and anti-poll tax laws that it is fighting against.

By Drew Pearson (Copyright, 1949, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.) Drew Pearson says: U. S. may work out "economic agreement" with Russia; State Department says Russia is not prepared for war; Reader reaction is for Truman's supporting paralysis fund.

WASHINGTON—A highly important off-the-record conference between the House Armed Services Committee and the top military advisers of the Pentagon Building last week may have set the pattern for a new policy of attempted cooperation with Russia.

The United States, the congressmen were told, hopes to work out a temporary "economic agreement" with Russia. Furthermore, the State Department sees no immediate prospect of war with Russia. The congressmen were even told that the Russians do not appear to be preparing for war.

Best intelligence we have is that Russia will not have any appreciable production of atomic bombs until 1951, Kennan reported, and by that time the war will make Russia infinitesimal. However, he stressed that war could break out in Europe, even though Russia is not planning on one.

For this reason, Kennan said, it was highly urgent that we expedite action on the proposed Atlantic Pact, both to implement the Marshall plan and to give west European nations further assurance of protection against Russia.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Ultraviolet Rays, Most Like Sun, Require Cautious Use

When used on the normal human skin, ultraviolet lamps will produce changes very much like those of the sun. A burn of the skin with redness looking just like an ordinary sunburn will occur if the skin is exposed too long. This can be dangerous just as sunburn sometimes is.

THE DOCTOR ANSWERS QUESTION: What causes the feet to burn after retiring? ANSWER: There is probably some skin condition present, and the change of temperature surrounding the feet when going to bed causes the symptom of burning.

It is particularly hazardous to the eyes, as the sensitive nerve tissues lying in the back of the eye can be seriously and permanently damaged. If given in small doses at proper intervals, ultraviolet rays will cause tanning of the skin in much the same way that sunlight does.

The life motivations we currently pursue in this country do not make for happiness, and as long as we follow them there will be chaos and more chaos. Of all the things men have lived for, there are only two that have made civilization possible. They are craftsmanship and love.

Peter Hele, of Nuremberg, a 16th Century German, is generally credited with the actual invention of spring power in a timepiece.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

Story Of Eugene Dennis, Top Commie, Is Blurred By Aliases

By PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent

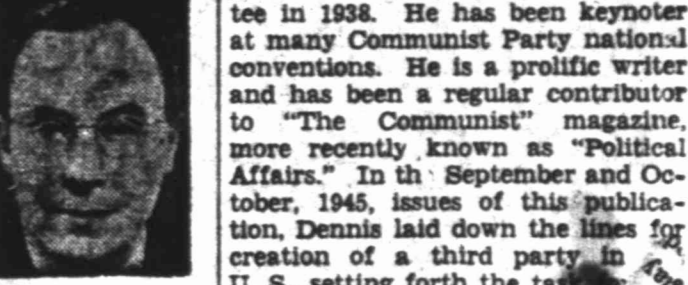

WASHINGTON—Central figure in the New York trial of 11 U. S. Communist Party leaders, on charges of teaching and advocating overthrow of the U. S. government, is General Secretary Eugene Dennis. William Z. Foster, Communist Party national chairman, may be considered the front man, but it is the general secretary who is boss.

Dennis' life story is clouded by many aliases. He became general secretary of the U. S. Communist Party in June, 1945, when Earl Browder was expelled. Foster had been in line for the job and wanted it. But Dennis had the nod from Moscow.

Began As Waldron The man now known as Eugene Dennis was born in Seattle, Wash., Aug. 19, 1905, as Francis Eugene Waldron. He was graduated from Seattle High School in 1923 and attended University of Washington for a few months in 1925-6.

In 1929 and 30 he built up a long police record in Los Angeles, with many arrests and releases on charges of violating the state's criminal syndicalism laws. There is one record of a sentence of $500 fine and 180 days imprisonment.

In December, 1930, one Paul Eugene Walsh made application for passport to travel in Europe. He claimed birth in Austin, Pa., Feb. 18, 1904. There are no records of anyone by that name having been born in Austin. Ben Gitlow, one of the U. S. Communist Party founders who was later expelled, asserts in his new book, "The Whole of Their Lives,"

Eugene Dennis

Louis Francis Budenz in his book, "This is My Story," makes a number of references to Dennis. Budenz was an editor on the Daily Worker until the near end of the war, when he broke away from the party and rejoined the Catholic Church.

through the Russian campaign against the Finns, Dennis was underground and did not frequent the ninth-floor party headquarters at 85 East 12th Street, New York. When the Nazis attacked Russia and the United States was drawn into the war all this was changed.

The U. S. Communist Party was theoretically dissolved and became the Communist Political Association, in full support of America's war effort. During this time, says Budenz, Eugene Dennis was one of Earl Browder's principal supporters.

The minute it was decided to give Browder the gate and elevate Foster to national chairmanship, Dennis turned. Budenz relates that at the last meeting of the Communist Party national committee over which Browder presided, Dennis was loud in praise of Browder's report. At the next meeting, after the French Communist leader, Duclos, made known to the U. S. party leadership that Stalin had no more use for Browder, Dennis led the movement for the "liquidation of Browderism."

Then Dennis became general secretary. His first job after return to the U. S. was Communist Party secretary general for Wisconsin. He held this position two years under the name of Eugene Dennis. He is given credit for having built up Communist Party strength in Wisconsin.

Waldron, or Walsh's own record, indicates that he attended Lenin Institute in Moscow, where he was trained as an OGPU and Communist agent. He did party work in the Philippine Islands, China and the Near East. In August, 1935, he applied at the U. S. consulate in Moscow for a passport to return to the United States.

"WELCOME to Azure, sir. And now if you'll please put your John Henry right here..." The thin desk man spun the registration card around with undertaker's fingers. Opposite him, he didn't observe that the chin of the stocky young man had eased forward stubbornly as he gripped the pen.

"Mr. and Mrs. Conover, San Diego" The desk man did observe this. "That's right," said John Henry, disappointed. He'd waited years for a setup to his little joke and now it had succeeded like a brick football. "Our reservations were for this noon but we got tied up. I hope it doesn't matter?" His jaw had retreated to its usual consecutive position.

Gayner, the assistant manager of the Las Dunas, looked lovingly at the registration card. "Oh, not at all, Mr. Conover. The reservation made by the company was just for Saturday—not specific as to time." He nosed through a register on his side of the desk, then noted a number on the card; the young man had filled out "Your bags, Mr. Conover?"

"They're in my car. I'll get them." Gayner wouldn't think of it. Instead, he struck a chime hanging on the stucco wall behind him. A boy in a maroon field marshal uniform emerged from a junior jungle of potted palms.

"Vernon, Mr. Conover's baggage." Gayner flipped him the card keys. "This is the first row of your parking lot '41 Chevy Green sedan. Tudor, John Henry recounted, pursuing the tactful bellboy toward the great glass doors in the hotel front.

He watched him make it through the outdoors and then looked around for St. Clair. She was where he had left her, backed against one of the ornate adobe pillars of the main lobby, nodding her burnished red head engrossedly but wearing a fixed smile as she listened to the woman who held her in conversational captivity. His wife flashed him an appealing look, so John Henry sauntered over to the pair.

"DARLING!" St. Clair said in a thank-God-you're-here tone. "I was beginning to wonder if we were in the wrong town. You took so long." "Sorry, Sin," he said and nodded a smile to the other woman. She was past 30 and imperatively blonde.

"I'd like to present my husband to John Henry," Sin said. "This is Mrs.—oh, yes, Loomis." "Miss Loomis," the blonde corrected heavily, almost manfully. "Thelma Loomis."

"Just investigating your wife, Mr. Conover. I thought I recognized her. I'm with FAN FARE, Campbell Publications." She said it as if that settled that. Sin explained carefully to John Henry, "That's a movie magazine, darling. Miss Loomis writes for it."

"Well," said Conover, his interest undisturbed. "Gossip stuff." Thelma Loomis said in a machine-gun voice. "Features on the stars—marriages, divorces, who's chasing who, their views on life, love and the atom bomb." Miss Loomis, it seemed, had made a mistake. "A natural one," she maintained, "considering how attractive your wife—did you call her Sin?—is."

"That's a nickname." Conover abandoned his covert looking for the bellboy and explained for the thousandth time. "Her name is really St. Clair." The British pronunciation made it Sinclair and usage made it Sin. Sin listened

"I have to be on the qui vive for any of the Hollywood clan," Thelma Loomis was saying brassyly.

"All we did was win a quiz contest," Sin replied. "You have the wrong people." proudly, never mind hearing it all over again. The nickname fitted her—even in the simple beige traveling suit mused by the San Diego-Azure ride.

The thick flow of hair to her shoulders was nearly the color of a cherry coke. The undulating cascade started by her sleek locks didn't stop there; the same curly theme was reiterated by her slim body right down to her sandaled feet. Sin's face was piquant. Her flesh was clear and delicate light bronze hue that contrasted strikingly with slanting green eyes. Her happy mouth kept Sin from being completely sirenish but she still added up to a picture of light-hearted deviltry.

"I HAD to be on the qui vive for any of the Hollywood clan," Thelma Loomis was saying brassyly. The actors and actresses had a habit of slipping away without notifying their Boswells. "So I'm a lobby-haunter."

"You got the wrong people, Miss Loomis. All we did was win a quiz contest." Sin began telling her all about it. She had been chosen as one of the contestants on the Thursday night Be Bry-Ter Quiz Show in Hollywood. "The jackpot question was to identify a quotation—and I did."

"The darn thing had been building up since Bunker Hill," chuckled John Henry. "So here we are with a free vacation. Rags to riches."

"I can't believe it. I've never heard of anyone winning on the Be Bry-Ter Quiz Show. And I've listened to it for years." She started noting down facts in a little spiral notebook. "Do you use their tooth paste, Mrs. Conover?"

"For a Bry-Ter Smile?" Sin grinned. "I guess it's only right I use the stuff, smile or no smile." "What was the quotation, by the way?" Thelma Loomis scribbled some things that looked like pidgin shorthand. Sin looked vacant and knitted her heavy eyebrows together in concentration.

"I can't remember," she said plaintively. John Henry came to his wife's rescue. "She can't remember now. Honest, Miss Loomis. That's the way Sin's memory works." Baggage clattered on the red-tiled floor behind them. Vernon panted gloomily. "I'll show you to your cottage now."

Sin was ready but the blonde writer was after her. "What does your husband mean about your memory, Mrs. Conover?" "Oh, it isn't much." The redhead was getting annoyed by the woman's persistence. "A party trick mostly. I remember nearly everything I read, that's all."

John Henry seized her elbow and started his wife toward the glass doors which opened out of the west side of the shallow lobby. He put an end to the conversation with an over-the-shoulder. "But as soon as she's said it aloud—then she forgets it. Sort of like emptying a vacuum cleaner. Glad to have met you, Miss Loomis."

GAYNER tossed a key attached to a plastic arrowhead across to the diminutive bellboy. "Cottage 15, Vernon," he said in tones as thin as his body. Vernon scowled blackly on general principle and picked up the baggage. The Conovers followed him through the glass doors and down some steps into a grassed and shrubbed sunken patio, crisscrossed with flagstone paths. Thelma Loomis closed her little notebook and put it back in the pocket of her yellow linen dress. A quick glance across the lobby and her blue eyes shagwented. And behind his shiny mahogany counter, Gayner gazed after the Conovers until they had waded out of sight along the flagged path that disappeared behind the south wing of the Las Dunas. Only then did he bring his eyes back to his wood and glass gate to stare at the registration card where it lay before him. Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Conover, San Diego. He reached out a thin hand and picked up the desk telephone. He spoke politely to the operator, "Give me Mr. Barselon, please." (To Be Continued)

Casualties Come in on a Wing

The Royal Air Force is testing a new method of evacuating casualties from battle areas. At this demonstration at Brize Norton, Oxford, England, a "wounded" soldier is strapped to the fuselage of the helicopter, which then takes off to rear air base. Special rigging is used to secure the litter to the plane.

White House Repair Job Mushrooms Into $7,000,000 Project

WASHINGTON—(AP)—It's a wonder the White House hasn't caved in on some president and his family, architects said after touring the 149-year-old structure with reporters.

It may cost as much as $7,000,000—that's right, seven million dollars—and 18 months time to fix it up and make it safe. The entire interior, everything except the shell of outside walls, is to be replaced.

This means President Truman and his family will have to live in nearby Blair House until mid-1950 or later, depending on when the actual work can be started.

They moved out of the White House a couple of months ago when the ceilings began to crack and the floors started slumping noticeably.

The $7,000,000 estimate on the repair bill came from Lorenzo S. Winslow, White House architect. The original guesses had run up to about a million dollars, but that was before structural experts found out how badly weakened the old building had become.

On a cellar-to-attic guided tour, Winslow and an assistant showed newsmen how interior walls had settled toward the center of the house, cracking ceilings and causing floors to sag.

Test digging showed how this happened. The interior brick walls had no footings, but rested on soft clay earth. Without concrete foundations, Winslow said, they should have been sunk 20 feet to harder ground. Instead they were only five feet deep.

All of these walls are to be stripped out and anew on sound foundations resting on concrete pilings.

They Wanted a Small Wedding

When 37-inch Marie Cazzano married 39-inch Eddy A. Kozicki in Miami Beach, Fla., it was a big wedding in everything but stature. The couple was married at St. Patrick's Church, and they wore the latest nuptial fashions. After the wedding, 33-inch photographer Kayo Erickson took their pictures. Marie is 41 years old, Eddy 32.

Louisiana Comes Up With New Angle In Tidelands Fight

BATON ROUGE, La.—(AP)—Civic leaders of Baton Rouge, searching through dusty archives for data "to offset Texas tall tales," have come up with a new angle on the tidelands dispute.

"If the federal government doesn't stop all this yapping about taking our oil-rich tidelands," says Vice President Edgar Sower of the Louisiana National Bank here, "we'll take back the whole 15,000,000 acres of the Louisiana Purchase."

He adds:

"Texas will be dwarfed, of course, but then we may be able to save their tidelands, too. And Oklahoma is such a nice name for a new parish (county)."

Americans Could Take Notes From Russian Propagandists

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON—(AP)—If American scientists and editors were doing what Russian scientists and editors have been doing, they'd be telling Americans something like this:

Americans invented the bow and arrow, the pyramids, the Roman chariot, the wheel, the horse, sex.

daytime, thunder and lightning, and old age.

Russian scientists and editors have told their people: Russians flew the first airplane, and the Russians were first with the telephone, radio, electric lighting, the parachute, steamship engines, and a Russian was playing around with a lightning rod before Ben Franklin.

Labor Secretary Urges Substitute For Taft-Hartley

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Secretary of Labor Maurice Tobin went to Congress Monday and urged that the Taft-Hartley Act be replaced by a law "encouraging free collective bargaining."

He told the Senate Labor Committee in a prepared statement that the Administration's labor bill would encourage it.

When labor and management are "assured once again" that this is our national labor policy, Tobin said, "they will, I feel sure, comply with the procedures provided in the bill."

The Administration's measure—unveiled Saturday—would wipe out most of the Taft-Hartley Law and substitute something closer to the Wagner Act of 1935.

One Taft-Hartley feature that would be killed would be the government's power to get 80-day court orders to delay "national emergency" strikes.

To replace that power, the bill provides for emergency boards to recommend settlements of disputes in vital industries. Both sides would be asked to observe a voluntary "cooling off" period of not more than 30 days during which there would be no strike or lockout.

If the American Democratic Party were like the Russian Communist Party, it would have its own newspaper and be attacking Broadway drama critics with:

"You are a gang of hamamelidaceous, anti-American deflationists, bent upon nugatory evaluations, opaque to the circumstantiality of the American character, and full of endocentric constructions."

Shakespeare Habit
"You have had the criminality to doubt that Americans are always heroes and always victorious. Besides that, you have a bad habit of quoting Shakespeare."

Pravda, official paper of the Communist Party in Russia, has just opened up on Russia's theater critics with a front-page attack.

Pravda complained the critics openly objected to seeing Soviet heroes in Russian plays always victorious.

And some of these critics, said Pravda, had the gall to compare present-day Russian plays with the old Russian classics, giving the old-timers the better of it.

And if the American politicians on the Democratic National Committee, which runs the Democratic Party, were like the Communist politicians on their party's Central Committee, they'd call in American songwriters and composers and tell them:

Subversive Slow Boat
"The trend away from capitalistic ideology toward socialism must be reversed. The latest concoction, 'Slow Boat to China,' is a subversive distortion of capitalism's ability to produce nothing but fast boats to China."

"Further, to restore the American people to a proper recognition of the blessings of capitalism, you henceforth must represent the American price system as the underlying philosophy of American ideology."

The Communist Party's Central Committee has called for more emphasis on Russian folk music and has condemned Russia's top composers, among the best in the world, for a "vicious, formalistic trend against the people."

Bevin's Thin Squeak Portends Change In Middle East Policies

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
Britain's Socialist government has weathered the battle-royal in Parliament over its Palestine policy as handled by Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, but has taken a trouncing in the winning.

I'm reminded of my old acquaintance, Battling Nelson, famous lightweight champion of a past generation. Nelson won most of his innumerable ring battles but few fighters absorbed as much punishment as he did in achieving fistic immortality.

When Bat Nelson had won there wasn't any question about it, despite his battered face. But in the case of Prime Minister Attlee and his cabinet the circumstances are such that one wonders whether their victory isn't pyrrhic.

The so-called "Bevin Policy" was approved by a vote of 283 to 193 in the House of Commons after bitter debate. The margin of 90 votes was the smallest the government had received on a major issue since it came to power in '45. Moreover, it involved the defection of a big bloc of the Labor (Socialist) Party.

Unpopular At Home
The vote was taken after Attlee had made the question one of "confidence in the government." This meant that if the government was defeated, it would resign. It was a critical moment and the result caused jubilation in the opposition ranks.

And what is the significance of this? Well, one thing is clear: Bevin's Middle East policy is so unpopular at home many of his own party can't swallow it. Unwittingly, or otherwise, he has given many folks the impression he is pro-Arab and anti-Jewish. Churchill accused him of "astounding mishandling" of the whole Middle Eastern problem.

The foreign secretary seems to have taken the adamant stand that England must maintain friendly relations with the Arabian peoples. This was because there are involved highly strategic areas and vast supplies of petroleum—important not only to Britain but to the United States.

There is small doubt that the British government might be overthrown unless the Palestine policy is changed. That being so, one assumes there will be a shift.

The Nicest Distance Between Two Points

In their admiration for Cadillac's beauty, and its wonderful world-wide reputation for quality and goodness, people sometimes undervalue one of the greatest Cadillac virtues of all—its marvelous comfort. To ride in a Cadillac is to experience the supreme satisfaction that can be derived from personal transportation. The person at the wheel is the quickest to sense this—for he is the special beneficiary of Cadillac comfort. He enjoys, of course—in common with the other occupants of the car—the matchless benefits of Cadillac balance and springing and roadability. But he enjoys, in addition, the driving ease of a feather-light steering wheel; a quick, powerful, responsive motor that knows no counterpart for agility and smoothness; big, dominant brakes that are as soft to the pedal as sponge rubber; and an over-all sure-footedness on the highway that reduces driving strain to the minimum. Somebody has said that, once you have driven a Cadillac, you're unhappy at the wheel of any other car. Certain it is that a ride in a Cadillac—whether as driver or passenger—is the nicest distance between two points! Have you driven a 1949 Cadillac—or ridden in one? If not, you ought to do so. You are welcome in our showrooms at any time.

Daddy Ringtail

Daddy Ringtail And The Great Fall

By WESLEY DAVIS

It happened in the middle of the Great Forest. Sammy Ringtail, the monkey boy, once fell out of the top of the very tall tree, the tree where the monkey house was. It was a long time before he said that Sammy would be all right. Then Bobby Ringtail went into the kitchen, where Mother Ringtail was washing Sammy's clothes, and that," Mother Ringtail said, "because it happened to one of his boys." Bobby thought about this, and then he decided that there might be times when a daddy could cry. Anybody can cry if they hurt bad enough, and they don't have to be a cry-baby to do it. Not all the time, but once in a while was all right. Bobby decided, because tears sometimes will wash a hurt away. But did you know that a Dody-dike lives in the Whispering River of the Great Forest? That's the adventure I'll tell you tomorrow. The name of the adventure is Daddy Ringtail and the Dodydike. Happy day! And a happy goodbye for now!

Austin College Kangaroos Seek To Rebuild Gridiron Fortunes Under Morrison

SHERMAN—(P)—Ray Morrison, who has been coaching 34 years, is coming to see about rebuilding the sagging football fortunes of Austin College.

Dress Rehearsal

An old catcher, Jack Onslow, new manager of the White Sox, outfits Dutchess with backstop.

The little Presbyterian school, once feared by the best of them, hasn't had a winner in years. In the last two seasons the Kangaroos hopped pretty low—they won only two games each year.

Morrison, credited with bringing pass-happy football to the Southwest, was signed to a contract at a salary unofficially reported to be $8,500 per year. The length of contract was not revealed but he will be the boss of the Austin College Athletic Department. The salary is an increase of more than $1,000 over what the coach had been drawing.

His desire to return to Texas, where he started as a coach and put Southern Methodist into the big-time, was an important factor in his accepting the position here.

Morrison will arrive here about March 1 to start Spring training. He will be greeted by a veteran squad. Austin College issued letters to 29 men last season, all of whom are eligible to return.

Bill Pierce resigned as athletic director and coach here December 6 after a two-year tenure. His assistants, Milton Buchanan and Byron Gilbreath, remain. Whether they will be retained has not been announced by Morrison.

Austin College, now celebrating its one hundredth year, has an enrollment of about 700. School officials said obtaining Morrison as a coach was a move to get top material for the football squad. Plans are under way for building a new gymnasium at the college.

Dr. W. B. Guerrant, president of Austin College, said "We are right-ly pleased. We know that in Coach Morrison we are getting not only a great builder of football talent, but also a man whose fine personal character has been an influence for good in Southwestern athletics."

Rookie Flychasers To Hold Spotlight In Spring Training

NEW YORK—(P)—A number of experienced outfielders will be gunning for major league berths this year but most of the attention during Spring training will center on rookie flychasers Johnny Groth and Hank Bauer.

The one voted most likely to succeed is Groth, the 22-year-old freshman of the Detroit Tigers who burned up the International League last year. Playing with Buffalo, Groth paced the circuit in hits, doubles, triples, total bases and runs scored. He finished with a .340 batting average and drove in 97 runs and hit 30 homers.

Hank Greenberg, one of the game's greatest sluggers, thinks Groth will develop into the No. 1 outfielder in the American League in two or three years.

Bauer made a fine impression after joining the New York Yankees from Kansas City in September last year. Bauer hit .305 for Kansas City and drove in 100 runs in 132 games. Scouts who have watched the big boy say he can't miss.

This is the way the teams probably will open the season in the outfield.

Hogan, Demaret Enter Playoff In Phoenix Tourney

PHOENIX, ARIZ.—(P)—Ben Hogan and Jimmy Demaret continued their golfing retake Monday when they met in an 18-hole playoff to decide the winner of the $10,000 Phoenix Open tournament.

Sunday Hogan pulled the same trick he did the previous week at Long Beach, Calif., when he scored a one-under-par four on the final hole to tie Demaret. Both had 72-hole totals of 278—the highest in a Phoenix Open since 1935.

Hogan had a final 74 and Demaret a 73 on the par 71 Phoenix Country Club course.

Low scorer Monday takes $2,000 first prize and the loser $1,400—but each figures to earn considerably more.

They'll divide 50 per cent of the gate with the admission price set at $1.50. Sunday's crowd was estimated at 4,000 to 5,000.

Other money winners included: Jack Harden, El Paso, 288; and Henry Ransom, St. Andrews, Ill., 288.

Neely Expects To Remain With Owls

HOUSTON—(P)—Jess Neely says he expects to remain at Rice Institute as football coach.

Neely repeated earlier statements on his arrival here Sunday after a visit to Vanderbilt University, where, it was reported, he was offered the job as head football coach.

Neely said he would confer with Rice officials early this week, then would write Vanderbilt officials a letter advising them of his intentions.

"I am well pleased with my position here," Neely said again Sunday. "I don't believe I would care to make a change."

It was reported that H. N. (Rusty) Russell, assistant football coach at Southern Methodist University, was among those to be considered for the Vanderbilt position if Neely declined to accept the post.

Russell said in Mexico City that he had not been approached concerning the vacancy at the Tennessee school, but that should an offer be made, he would give it "serious consideration."

FORT WORTH—(P)—Captain Lindy Berry will head a group of 28 football players reporting for Spring training at Texas Christian University Thursday.

Twenty-eight lettermen will be on the squad.

Bulldogs To Play Bobcats Tuesday

It's play basketball for the Midland Bulldogs at 8 p. m. Tuesday in their home gym here. Opposition is San Angelo. The "B" game curtain-raiser is slated at 7 p. m.

Midland holds one varsity decision over the Bobcats 42-35 at San Angelo. However the "B" Bulldogs will have a revenge motive, the San Angelo "B" quintet beat them unmercifully 71-37 at San Angelo.

The varsity encounter is a 3-AA conference battle between the two second-best clubs in the district. Lamesa currently is leading the race with Midland and San Angelo fighting it out in second place.

San Angelo recently has added two hotshots, which will help its cause greatly. Two boys who were ineligible have served out their time and are now eligible. One of these is Bill Oney, a more than luke-warm ball player.

Cliff Rowland is the scoring ace of the Bobcats. He is due for a stiff battle with Midland's own Larry Messersmith, leading scorer in the district.

Other San Angelo basketeers include the Morris boys, Ray and Roy, Walt Schleyer, Pat Hall and Bobby Clatterback.

Teamed with Messersmith are Lloyd Henderson, Reid Gilmore, Max Harris, Kent Miller, Mickey McGee, Larry Buckingham, Harrie Smith, Don Bizzell and Don Deel.

San Angelo is rough and rugged team, one of the best in the circuit. Midland has one of the better quintets of the league and is ambitious to make the 3-AA playoff tourney.

The Bulldogs are rested from recent battle and are rarin' to go against the Bobcats.

Here is Midland's record to date this season:

- Midland 25, Andrews 39.
- Midland 31, Andrews 30.
- Midland 24, Lamesa 44.
- Midland 34, Odessa 23.
- Midland 44, Olney 36.
- Midland 38, Lubbock 49.
- Midland 42, Big Spring 34.
- Midland 42, San Angelo 35.
- Midland 36, Sweetwater 34.
- Midland 32, Abilene 33.
- Midland 22, Lamesa 30.
- Midland 37, Grandfalls 35.
- Midland 39, Orona 32.
- Midland 47, Winters 32.
- Midland 32, Sonora 54.
- Midland 17, Odessa 32.
- Midland 37, Big Spring 30.
- Midland 38, Odessa B 23.
- Midland 28, Big Spring 35.

Southwestern Cage Race Resumes With Three Teams At Top

By The Associated Press
The hectic Southwest Conference basketball race picks up again this week and you can take your choice among Rice, Baylor and Texas as the top title favorite.

These three teams are in a virtual tie for the lead. Each has been beaten once.

Baylor, crippled by the loss of guard Bill Johnson, has won five victories to hold a percentage advantage.

Loop play opens Monday night at Fayetteville, Ark., with Texas A&M taking on Arkansas, a rank outsider now in the championship chase.

Thursday the University of Texas Longhorns are hosts to Oklahoma University in an inter-sectional game at Austin.

Friday, Texas Christian plays Southern Methodist University at Dallas, and Saturday two games are scheduled—Texas and Texas A&M play at College Station and Baylor and Rice at Waco.

Rice Owls Look Good
Johnson hurt his back in an automobile accident last week and is out for the remainder of the season.

The slow-starting Rice Owls have hit a terrific pace of late and loom as the best possibility to replace Baylor as the conference champion.

The owls, paced by big Bill Tom, have five of their remaining eight games at home.

Texas A&M picks up strength this week when Jewell McDowell, sensational freshman, becomes eligible.

Tom paces season scoring with 239 points. Julius Dolnicke of Texas Christian leads conference scoring with 80 points.

The Chinese Picture—in Terms of U. S. Land

Heavy outline above is map of China, superimposed on a map of the United States (light shading), drawn in the same proportion. This graphically brings home the amount of Chinese territory overrun by Communists. Including all of Manchuria, the area seized would cover more than half of the United States.

There Is No Old South—It's New Now

By HAL BOYLE BIRMINGHAM, ALA. (AP)—Ole massa with the mint julep in his hand doesn't live here any more. Yes, suh, there was an Old South—there really was. But now, yes suh, there's a New South—there really is. And the New South is right here, springing up like dandelions, getting purty as a speckled pup on a red wagon. Of course, those hammerheads up Nawth don't know the New South is arriving. But you know, it's a funny thing—a visitor gets the odd feeling the people down this way don't realize how far they've gone in the direction they're going. They have a luncheon or a banquet. And they generally and almost certainly also will have at least one speaker who will discuss "The New South." Well, it's a funny thing about that speech. It is pretty likely to bring up the roses and raptures of the Old South. Unprejudiced Observer

Batter Up for Health

To help the March of Dimes in its campaign to stamp out infantile paralysis, chefs at Chicago Ambassador Hotel whipped up this 200-egg cake in the shape of a dime. They presented it to the youngsters in the polio ward at the Illinois Children's Hospital, where patient Eugene Messino, 4, samples it. Harold Nightlinger, assistant pastry chef for the hotel, does the cutting.

New Landing Gear Installed On Huge Disabled Bomber

PORT FORTH—(AP)—A new right-landing gear was installed on a huge B-36 Superbomber here Sunday and more details made available on the record 42-ton bomb load it carried to a bombing range in California. The plane's landing gear collapsed as it landed Saturday after the bombing mission. Some of the plane's six engines damaged by fire fighting chemicals sprayed on the craft as a safety measure, may have to be replaced. It was reported each of the two "earthquake" bombs was 26 feet, 10 inches long and four and one-half feet in diameter. The bombs carried a plaster compound instead of explosives and were not armed with war heads. The ship was over the target at Mirco, Calif., at 2 p. m. The first bomb was dropped at 2:30 p. m. from 35,000 feet. The second was dropped from more than 40,000 feet.
