

The Stars And Stripes Forever

Most people think the flag may be displayed only from sunrise to sundown. But did you know there are five places in the United States where the flag is officially permitted to be flown 24 hours a day? They are (1) on the east and west fronts of the National Capitol in Washington, whether or not Congress is in session. Flags are never taken down except to replace them with new ones. The reason is that several years ago it was decided by presidential proclamation there should always be one flag in the nation where the national emblem is always displayed. (2) To honor Francis Scott Key, author of the Star-Spangled Banner, the flag flies 24 hours a day over his grave at Mt. Olivet Cemetery, near Frederick, Md. Nearby is the Key monument, erected and unveiled in 1898, under sponsorship of the Frederick News. By presidential proclamation, July 2, 1948, the flag flies day and night over Ft. McHenry (3), Baltimore, Md. It was the sight of the flag over Ft. McHenry

In 1814 that inspired Key to write the national anthem. To honor the city's war dead, Worcester, Mass., permits the flag to fly continuously over the World War Memorial (4). At Taos, N. M. (5), the flag also flies day and night. In 1861, when the U. S. was torn by dissension over slavery, the flag in Taos Plaza was torn down by southern sympathizers. A group of Taos men, including Kit Carson and Capt. Smith H. Simpson, went to the mountains, brought back a tall aspen pole and nailed the flag to it. They declared it would stay there day and night. Fifty years later, by special act of Congress, the practice was made official. The flag is renewed from time to time by Taosense and the U. S. Forest Service. The picture shows the 1948 flag-raising. Left to right are: Mayor L. Pascual Martinez, Mrs. Margaret Gurdorf, daughter of Capt. Smith Simpson; John de la Chesnaye and Mrs. Marion Estergreen, of the Taos Chamber of Commerce.

Ike's Opposition Torpedoes Truman School Aid Plans

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower appeared Tuesday to have gone a long way toward torpedoing one of President Truman's "must" bills before Congress—federal aid to education. A critical letter by the general, now president of Columbia University and acting chairman of the military chiefs of staff, plunged school aid advocates into gloom. In a letter to Rep. Gwinn (R-N.Y.), Eisenhower opposed federal school aid grants to all of the states, a proposal already approved by the Senate and now pending in a House subcommittee.

He said he favors helping only states that can't raise enough taxes to support a high level of education and then only "under formulas that would permit no abuse, no direct interference of the federal authority in education process and no opportunity to expand the flow of federal money into areas where need could not be clearly demonstrated."

Some lawmakers thought Eisenhower paralleled Republican doctrine when he went on to assert that "The army of persons who urge greater and greater centralization of authority and greater and greater dependence upon the federal treasury are really more dangerous to our form of government than any external threat that can possibly be arrayed against us."

Eisenhower thus lined up against a bill that has the support of both President Truman and Senator Taft (R-Ohio).

Senate Will Drop Coke's Contest of Lyndon, Says Aide

SAN ANTONIO — (AP) — The attorney for Coke Stevenson in his contest of Lyndon Johnson's right to a seat in the United States Senate says the contest will be dropped. James F. Gardner made the announcement Monday, declaring that the Senate Election Committee would pigeonhole the plea before July 31. Johnson defeated Stevenson by a narrow margin in the election last year.

But Gardner added that he will attempt to upset these plans. He said the news came to him unofficially but he thinks it is correct. He said his informant stated that the dropping of the contest was the result of a bi-party trade. The name of Homer Ferguson, Michigan Republican, whose seat in the U. S. Senate is also under scrutiny, figures in the reported deal.

According to the report reaching Gardner, both the Ferguson and Johnson contests will be dropped by agreement to insure stability of both parties' wings in the Senate. Congress is due to adjourn about July 31, Gardner advised, and both contests would be dropped on the eve of adjournment.

MOVIE LOT RESEMBLES INVALID'S SANITARIUM

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Twentieth Century-Fox studios has so many invalid stars on the lot at the moment that the place resembles a sanitarium.

A milk bar even has been set up on the set of "I Was A Male War Bride," primarily for Cary Grant, Ann Sheridan, Randy Stuart and Director Howard Hawks. All are trying to regain weight lost during illnesses they suffered overseas while on location for the picture.

He Ain't The Man He Used To Be

DETROIT — (AP) — At the advanced age of 32, Patrolman Stanley Kaminski isn't the ball player he used to be.

As the kids cheered, Kaminski left his scout car, picked up a ball, and hurled it mightily back onto a playground.

Then his partner took him—fast—to a hospital. He's thrown his shoulder out of joint.

Iowa's state flower is the wild rose.

Attorney Intends To Call High Officials In Coplon's Defense

By The Associated Press

The defense opened its case Tuesday in the Judith Coplon espionage trial, now 51 stormy days old.

Defense Counsel Archibald Palmer said his first move will be a motion to throw out charges against the tiny, 26-year-old former Justice Department employee—charges of taking government secrets with intent to injure this country and aid Russia.

If that fails, Palmer said he hoped to bring into the Washington court a long list of witnesses including Hollywood stars, Dr. and Mrs. Edward U. Condon former Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes and many others.

In New York the prosecution ushered in its final half-dozen witnesses Tuesday at the Alger Hiss perjury trial. These witnesses followed Mrs. Whittaker Chambers, who became confused about vital dates and placed on Tuesday.

Also in New York, John Gates, editor of The Daily Worker, was called back to the witness stand Tuesday for a windup of 14 days of questioning at the trial of 11 Communists charged with conspiracy to advocate the overthrow of the government by force and violence.

Voluntary Cutbacks Drop Crude Output

TULSA, OKLA.—(AP)—The United States' daily average crude oil production for the week ended June 11 slumped 44,215 barrels under the previous week's figures, the Oil & Gas Journal reported Tuesday.

The Journal attributed the drop to downward revisions in some states' allowances and voluntary proration by many operators. The total daily average production was 4,880,750 barrels.

Texas had the largest increase in production, up 10,025 barrels to 1,908,000.

Would-Be German Is Given Jail Sentence

NEW HYDE PARK, N. Y.—(AP)—An eight-month jail sentence imposed in Germany on an ex-GI who wants to be a German citizen is OK with his mother. "I think it will sort of cool him off," Mrs. Catherine F. McCarthy said at her home here Monday. "He can sit down and think things over—I think this way there will be a possibility of really making up his mind," the mother said.

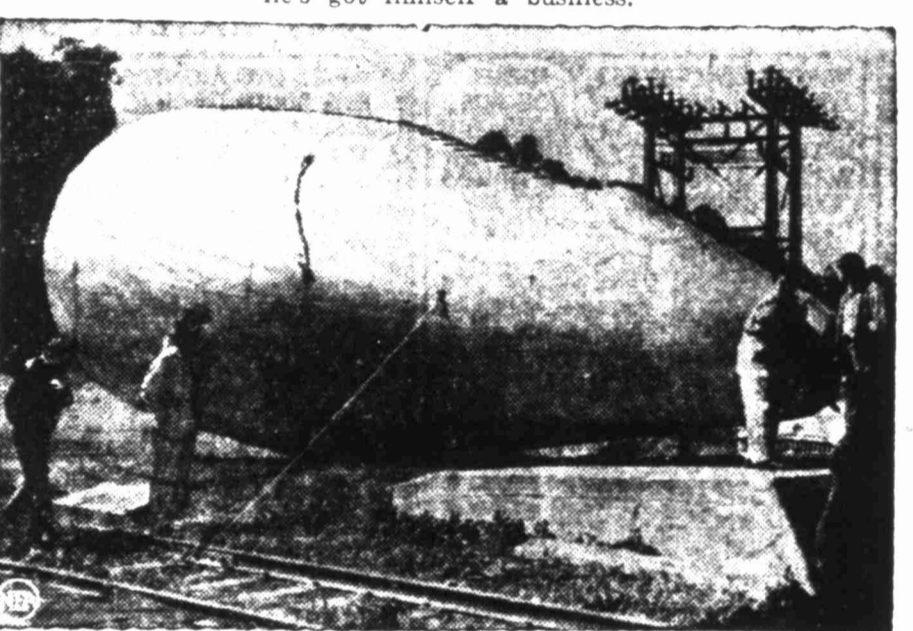

Mrs. McCarthy made the comment after being informed her son, Daniel, 22, had received the jail sentence in Frankfurt for entering the U. S. zone of Germany illegally. The ex-GI has said he will appeal the jail term, ordered to be served at Fort Hancock, N. J.

After his arrest in Germany, his mother used the transatlantic telephone in an unsuccessful effort to talk him out of his determination to become a German citizen. He did not bend, telling her he likes "the German way of life." "So far as I'm concerned," the mother said, "he's just going to have to take it on the chin for a while. After all, you know, law is law, and he got himself into this thing illegally. There isn't anything I can do about it."

Young McCarthy, son of a late Wall Street broker, was sentenced Monday by a U. S. Military Government court. He told the court he entered Germany illegally because he wanted to give up his U. S. citizenship and become a German.

Maybe He's Got Something

There's a bumper wheat crop under harvest. Growers are going nuts trying to find enough storage space for it. Jack Berger, of Cleveland, Ohio, thinks he can help them. Two and a half years ago Jack bought 3000 barrage balloons from the government. With no idea in the world what use to make of them, he stored them and went on about other business. Recently he read about the wheat crop storage emergency and had a bright idea. Why not store wheat in his surplus balloons on the farms? He passed the hunch on to a Fairport, Ohio, grain elevator firm, which tried it out and declared it feasible. So now Berger is offering his blimps to western wheat growers, first come, first served. He thinks he's got himself a business.

Inflated blimp shows storage capacity—2400 bushels.

Grain elevator workers fill a surplus blimp with wheat.

College Try Fails In The Mating Of Shasta, The Mascot

DALLAS—(AP)—University of Houston students tried to arrange a wedding between their mascot, Shasta, a cougar, and Tom, a male of the same species at the Marsalis Park Zoo here.

But Shasta has been unimpressed by the old college try. She sleeps through games. The ash-blond cougar was furnished a veil, a cake and other wedding trimmings for the ceremony that was planned.

She was put into the cage with Tom, a 12-year-old cat. Shasta is three. Perhaps the disparity in their ages had something to do with it. Tom liked Shasta's looks but it wasn't mutual. After a few gestures, Shasta scatted Tom on the side of the head.

Jim Buchanan, an engineering student from the university, said he hoped in time Shasta would change her mind. "We sure could use another mascot," he said.

Singer Frankie Laine Wins Divorce; Wife Awarded White Horse

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Singer Frankie Laine is solo on the matrimonial circuit.

A favorite of the younger set, he won a quick divorce recently by testifying that his wife of only six months "drank much too much."

Laine, 36, said his wife, Nellina, 24, caused him mental anguish and affected his work with her drinking. The singer, whose real name is Frank Paul Lo Vecchio, was married to Nellina at Las Vegas last October 11. His brother and manager, John Lo Vecchio, gave supporting testimony.

The court approved a property settlement giving the wife $5,000 and several items, including a white horse.

Germany Finds New Self-Importance In East-West Cold War

By HAL BOYLE

BERLIN—(AP)—Here in defeated Germany is the world capital of postwar optimism.

There is an uneasiness in Washington, Paris, London and Moscow. There appears to be less uneasiness here.

The biggest single impression a postwar visitor gets now is that the defeated are not so worried today as their conquerors. They see better times.

For the current international tug-of-war over the fate of this country has given back the average German something he lost when his nation collapsed in military and political chaos in 1945.

He has regained a feeling of importance, the thing the German likes best. He has the knowledge that here where East and West once met in victory they now meet in mutual fear. And he knows he is the keystone of that fear.

He is enjoying the odd pleasure of being courted from two directions simultaneously instead of having to fight simultaneously in two directions.

Flattering Gift of Peace

And this is a flattering gift of peace indeed to a nation that in a single generation lost two war bids for world dominance because it got itself in the classic military dilemma—having to fight fore and aft at the same time.

Three years ago, when last it came here, the victors' prevailing philosophy, left over from wartime unity, was:

"Germany is trying to divide the Allies—split them into two camps. Now the underlying feeling appears to be:

"We must win the Germans to our side."

No longer do the conquerors say they can't afford to let themselves be divided by the vanquished. Tacitly accepting that division now, they court the conquered. In defeat Germany is more united than the nations who whipped her.

For she knows what she wants. She wants to be Germany again.

In a way, Germany is on the auction block. But who can buy her? The muscular military power of Russia, the old neighbor enemy to the East? Or the strong boy of the Western world—America?

Probably neither can do so permanently.

The population of New York City is greater than that of many countries in Europe.

Daddy Ringtail

By WESLEY DAVIS

Daddy Ringtail And The House Afire

Mother Ringtail put the picnic supper in the basket. She came out on the porch of the monkey house, and said: "Daddy Ringtail, where is Uncle Bunkum? It's time to go if we're going."

Daddy Ringtail looked at his watch. Said he: "Uncle Bunkum is always late, or maybe the Monkey Catcher wouldn't let him leave the zoo."

"Maybe he isn't coming at all," Mother Ringtail said, and so she and Daddy Ringtail, and Sammy and Bobby too, climbed down from the monkey house, on their way to the river for the picnic.

What a wonderful picnic supper they had. Scrambled coconut and bananas and chocolate pie and never have missed the picnic, if he hadn't waited at the zoo to get the pipe. Maybe someday he'll learn not to be late, when he's going places like a picnic. I hope so. But a happy day to you at your house and look in your newspaper tomorrow for the adventure with Daddy Ringtail and the Cricket Song.

everything. But the picnic wasn't as much fun as it would have been with Uncle Bunkum there. Uncle Bunkum had a jolly laugh, and so many delightful stories to tell about life at the zoo, and about pranks he played on the Monkey Catcher.

"Mother Ringtail," Daddy Ringtail said, "I'm worried about Uncle Bunkum. I'd like to go home, and see whether Uncle Bunkum ever goes there."

That is what everyone did—went home—but when at last they could see the monkey house, up in the top of the very tall tree, clouds of smoke were coming from out of the windows. "The house is afire!" Daddy Ringtail shouted. He climbed up the tree as fast as he could. He ran across the porch and in the door.

And do you know what he saw? The monkey house wasn't afire at all, but there sat Uncle Bunkum, smoking a pipe like a house afire. "It's the Monkey Catcher's pipe," said Uncle Bunkum. He said he thought it would be a fine joke on the Monkey Catcher, for a monkey to smoke his pipe.

But the joke was really on Uncle Bunkum. It made him sick to smoke the pipe of the Monkey Catcher. And Uncle Bunkum would

House Spy Hunters Vote Hearing For Dr. Edward Condon

WASHINGTON—The House Un-American Activities Committee voted Tuesday to grant Dr. Edward U. Condon a hearing whenever he asks for it. And if Condon fails to request one, Rep. (Continued from page 1) attended the session here. Approximately 175 manufacturers of corrosion equipment have been invited to display equipment during the session. The C. of C. directors voted to assist the corrosion unit in bringing the 1950 regional convention to Midland after Crenshaw had told of plans to invite the big meeting to Midland. The regional session usually attracts 2,000 to 3,000 people. The 1949 met will be held in Dallas. Stanley M. Erskine, chairman of the Aeronautics Committee, told of the survey being conducted by the Chamber to determine the use of commercial airline service in and out of Midland. The information will be submitted in brief form to the Civil Aeronautics Board "show cause" hearing on American and Pioneer Airlines service later this year.

Highway Progress Chairman John P. Butler told the directors all deeds for right-of-way for the proposed Midland-Lamesa highway to its intersection with the Andrews-Lenora highway have been obtained from fee owners. Wavers now are being received from oil companies who own leases on the property involved. County Judge C. C. Keith said deeds and commitments have been obtained for more than 50 per cent of the needed right-of-way in Midland County for the widening of the Midland-Odessa highway. The directors expressed appreciation to the Texas and Pacific Railway for financing the Midland County Economic Survey, copies of which were distributed here last week. Manager Delbert Downing explained the content of the survey which was prepared by the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas.

Downing reported briefly on the success of the 15th Annual World Championship Midland Rodeo. R. L. Miller, chairman of the Exhibit Building Committee, said preliminary plans for the proposed structure are being prepared by engineers of the Extension Service of Texas A&M College. Sets of the plans will be received late this week, he stated.

Plans for the Trail Days celebration to be held here July 1, 2 and 4 were announced by Downing, who urged support and cooperation of individuals and organizations. He listed special events which will be staged in addition to the huge pageant. "Frontiers of Progress." A financial report was submitted by Jack Wicker, treasurer.

Democrats To Stake 1950 Election Hopes On New Farm Plan

DES MOINES—Democrats will stake their hopes for another Midwestern farm-belt victory in 1950 on the Truman Administration's new farm plan. It promises cheaper food and farmer prosperity.

A 16-state Democratic Midwest Conference voted Monday to support the controversial program advanced by Secretary of Agriculture Brannan and endorsed by President Truman.

The conference made this decision after hearing Brannan and other top-ranking Administration leaders advance the proposal as a sure-fire measure for preventing a new farm depression and as a victory vehicle in next year's congressional elections.

This stand was taken in the face of sharp opposition to the plan by the powerful American Farm Bureau Federation. This farm organization has endorsed the long-range Aiken (R-V) Farm Law passed by the Republican 80th Congress.

Farm belt Democrats said they were willing to let farmers choose between the Administration's so-called Brannan plan and the Aiken Law.

With chances of passage of the Brannan plan very small, the Democratic leaders indicated they will ask the lawmakers to continue the present wartime price support system pending the outcome of next year's congressional elections.

Optimists Are Told About 'Trail Days'

Herschel Essel told the Midland Optimist Club about the Trail Days Pageant at the luncheon meeting held at noon Tuesday in the Crystal ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer.

He said the pageant will depict Midland's history from the time that this area was the playground of the Comanche Indians until the present.

Essel also stressed the fact that the cooperation of all service clubs is needed to make the pageant a success. It is to be held July 1, 2 and 4.

He also announced that merchants will be asked to display relics of frontier days in their windows, as a means of publicizing the event.

The meeting was given over to business matters. A special guest was H. Parr Armstrong, Fort Worth, who is state director of the Laymen's League of Christian Churches. Armstrong gave a short address.

Here's $64 Question For Congress

AIR FORCE B-36

Wingspan: 230 ft.
 Height: 47 1/2 ft.
 Length: 163 ft.

Silhouette shows size of Banshee compared to B-36.

It can carry a 10,000-pound bomb load 10,000 miles without refueling and operate at an altitude of 40,000 feet. Over shorter distances it can carry a bomb load up to 36 tons. Plane's gross weight is 278,000 pounds.

Speed: 300 mph.

Six 3000-horsepower, pusher-type engines.

NAVY BANSHEE

Height: 14 ft.
 Length: 39 ft.
 Wingspan: 41 feet; 18 feet when wings are folded for storage on carrier.

Cockpit, well forward, gives pilot wide visibility. It is resistant to crash impact 40 times weight of pilot. He is protected by armor plate and bullet-resistant glass.

Two Westinghouse 24-inch diameter turbo-jet engines.

Speed: over 600 mph. Rate of climb: 9000 feet per minute.

Is the Air Force's huge B-36 bomber a "sitting duck" for Navy jet fighters like the Banshee, as the Navy claims? Or can the B-36 fly so high that the Banshees will run out of "breath" trying to overtake it? The House Armed Services Committee has been ordered to seek the answers through a "searching investigation" into the whole B-36 controversy, including procurement and performance. Inserts in photos above compare size, armament, power plant and performance records of the giant intercontinental bomber and the sleek jet fighter.

House Takes Holiday To Kill Hopes Of Vet Bonus Backers

AUSTIN —(P)— Backers of the battered veterans bonus bill threw in the towel, conceding defeat, as the House took a one-day rest Tuesday.

But Rep. Jimmy Horany of Archer City, author of the bill, indicated the issue probably will be revived at a future legislative session.

Horany's bill would have been before the House for consideration Wednesday. When the House voted 62-60 Monday to skip a day, Horany said that was the final blow. Various parliamentary tricks had been used to dodge the bonus issue for three weeks, and now it was too late to push the bill through both House and Senate, he told reporters.

Horany said he was withdrawing his bill from consideration "this session." That apparently left the way clear for a new run on the bonus issue two years hence.

House members said another reason for knocking off Tuesday was to let joint Senate-House committees work on the four big money bills—departmental, higher education, judiciary and elementary.

The Senate scheduled a session for Tuesday morning, making it doubtful the four committees would get anything done until the afternoon.

Emergency Appropriations
 Reaction to House Speaker Durwood Manford's three-point program for solving the state's financial problem indicated Senate leaders are not in full accord with the plan.

This particularly was true on Monday's suggestion that the proposed state building program, including some 22 million dollars for elementary institutions, be eliminated until a financing plan is developed.

Lieut. Gov. Allan Shivers said he would have to study that suggestion "a little more."

The House Appropriations Committee Monday approved two bills calling for emergency expenditures. One provides $400,000 for the Texas State University for Negroes at Houston, whose officials said the money is needed to finish out this school year. The other authorizes $15,000 for the adjutant general's department for payments to National Guard members who helped fight recent floods in North Texas.

A bill providing for one court in each county having more than one district court to be put in charge of juvenile cases was signed Monday by Gov. Beauford H. Jester. Juvenile cases will have first priority on the docket.

Transplanted Cowboy Rides Herd On Hotel In Midland

By DICK VENATOR
 The star roomer reading the paper in the hotel lobby allowed that the manager was out bustin' a bronc but was due back directly.

The manager, "Cowboy" Billingsley, returned shortly to report the bronc definitely had been busted. It's not much bronc riding Billingsley does now since his main job is riding herd on a three-story hotel, the herd, located on South Main Street, near the T&P depot in Midland.

The Worth, a landmark here, has had the usual ups and downs since it was erected some 40 years ago. Managers have come and gone, some having given up the strain of trying to run an orderly place but "Cowboy" smilingly says he's there to stay and the hotel strictly for respectable purposes only. Persons seeking a place to wear off a jag, or to throw a little party, are first greeted by a sign in the lobby, drawn by Billingsley himself in a cowboy scrawl: "No drinking."

Lights go out at 10 p. m. sharp and Billingsley impresses on all comers that his rules are to be enforced. His private sleeping quarters are in a room just behind the desk. Hung around the wall are a Winchester (not for use on hotel patrons) leather chaps, a bed roll and spurs.

Billingsley, who claims no initials or first name other than "Cowboy," says he never has had to lay hands on a man since taking over the management of the hotel on Jan. 10, 1949.

A typical product of the range, he says he had no idea of doing this type of work until the manager, who is getting up in years, asked him to take it over and run a decent place. The owner further explained that his advanced years made it difficult for him to oversee the place as it should be.

"Cowboy" knows what is going on at all hours of the day and night. He has turned down several spume-time jobs busting horses because he figures the hotel constantly needs his attention.

Some of his range buddies will smile when they read this: "Cowboy" besides being manager is maid and bellhop. He is never without his big black hat and boots even while performing these duties.

"Cowboy's" maid work is confined to the first floor and he hires a girl to take care of the other two floors. That is the only hired help he has. He even keeps his own books.

Billingsley was brought up in these parts and for years worked on the big spreads as bronc buster, wrangler and even was chuck wagon cook for a time. He cooks all his own meals now.

Besides successfully managing a hotel, this transplanted cowpoke is having a lot of fun following his hobby of "studying the nature of people."

"Cowboy" operates the hotel on the theory that "an empty bed and clean sheets are worth more than a mattress with a hole burned in it."

Billingsley did a little carpenter work last Summer and during the lay hands on the shipyards. Poking cows is his first love and he's likely to have a spread of his own some day, but being cautious with words he won't admit of having such high hopes.

Until that day, "Cowboy" is going to have a lot of fun studying people in his hotel job.

Convicted Physician Starts New Fight To Beat Electric Chair

LA GRANGE, TEXAS —(P)— A Fayette County jury Monday was to be asked to judge Dr. Lloyd I. Ross, slayer of four people, insane.

Selection of the insanity trial jury began in the same district court room where the San Antonio surgeon was sentenced to death last October 23.

He was convicted of slaying Mrs. Gertrude York, wife of a San Antonio investment banker.

The insanity trial might be the final chapter of Ross' long fight to escape the electric chair.

The insane, under Texas law, are not executed. Should the jury judge the 43-year-old condemned man insane, Ross would be committed to a mental institution.

He could not be executed until judged sane.

Mrs. York, her husband, Willard York, and two other members of their family were shot to death May 25, 1947, after their automobile had been halted on a Comal County road near Braunfels.

Physicians subpoenaed

Ross had been tried only for the slaying of Mrs. York.

The case was transferred here after attorneys had been unable to select a jury at New Braunfels.

But suppose the court ruled: The country's welfare, not the individual's, comes first. And if the country's welfare is involved, a man can be compelled to speak under penalty of being jailed if he doesn't.

The court reasoned that this country's welfare was involved in this case in the question of communism because:

1. The fate of the world, including this country's, is at stake in the present struggle between communism and democracy.

2. Since the Un-American Activities Committee was investigating communism, it had a right to ask the question.

But suppose the man had added "because it might incriminate me." No action ever has been taken against anyone who appeared before the Un-American Activities Committee and refused to answer about communism because it "might incriminate" him.

Under the constitution a man can't be compelled to say anything about himself if it might incriminate him.

What A Difference A Few Words Make!

By JAMES MARLOW
 WASHINGTON —(P)— The Un-American Activities Committee has asked people, "Are you or have you been a Communist?"

1. Those who said flatly "I refuse to answer" were cited for contempt of Congress, tried, found guilty, and sentenced.

2. Those who said "I refuse to answer" and added "because it might incriminate me" had no trouble at all.

Those extra few words, " . . . because it might incriminate me," make a big difference in deciding whether a man is contemptuous.

Two years ago the committee, investigating communism, called in 10 Hollywood writers and asked them the $64 question.

When all of them flatly refused to answer, they were cited for contempt of Congress.

And two of the 10—John Howard Lawson and Dalton Trumbo—were tried, found guilty, and sentenced to a year in jail and a fine of $10,000.

Monday the appellate court said the lower court decision was right.

The men argued: The Constitution protects a man from being compelled to disclose his private beliefs; and, so, he can't be punished for being silent about them.

Compelled To Speak
 The appellate court ruled: The country's welfare, not the individual's, comes first. And if the country's welfare is involved, a man can be compelled to speak under penalty of being jailed if he doesn't.

The court reasoned that this country's welfare was involved in this case in the question of communism because:

1. The fate of the world, including this country's, is at stake in the present struggle between communism and democracy.

2. Since the Un-American Activities Committee was investigating communism, it had a right to ask the question.

But suppose the man had added "because it might incriminate me." No action ever has been taken against anyone who appeared before the Un-American Activities Committee and refused to answer about communism because it "might incriminate" him.

Under the constitution a man can't be compelled to say anything about himself if it might incriminate him.

HEADACHES

Case No. 274: A girl of 17 suffered from severe headaches which she attributed to her eyes. She had worn glasses for five years, changing to a stronger type of lens every six months. An analysis revealed that the headaches were caused by nerve pressure at the base of the skull. After correcting the cause of her condition the headaches ceased. Eyesight so improved that, within a short time, glasses were no longer necessary.
