Remedy For Britain's Empty Pocketbook Is Job Of Selling

WASHINGTON—Understanding of Britain's economic crisis may have been terribly muddled up by too much gobbledygook. When financial experts get to spouting about trade balances, sterling convertibility, drawing rights, devaluation of currency and bilateral vs. multilateral trade agreements, they are talking way over the heads of most of the taxpayer-customer.

These problems are of course very real. The fact that U. S. Treasury Secretary John Snyder has gone to Europe to look into them, the fact that his British counterpart, Sir Stafford Cripps, is returning to the United States in September to talk about them, some more, attest to the seriousness of it all.

Bay-Window Can Add Interest To Alcove

If your dining alcove or the narrow end of your living room seems uninteresting, give it the architectural interest of a bay-window. Here's how:
In either corner build a corner-cupboard extending almost to the frame of the window in the center of the wall. Flank the center window, as well as the corner cupboards, with matching draperies. If there is no center window in the alcove or the narrow wall, simulate one by hanging shutters or Venetian blinds. An alternative suggestion is to frame the window and corner-cupboards with a built-in scalloped wood valance. With either valance or draperies, your corner cupboards give the shape of a three-sided bay-window to your dining alcove or narrow end of your room.

Unified Look
For a more unified look, paint all walls, woodwork and shelves, to match. Fill the shelves with your entire collection of handmade American glassware—your beverage sets, goblets, tumblers, plates, bowls and table ornaments. Carry out the shelf idea and still further unify the "bay-window" by installing glass shelves across the face of the center window. These can hold your window garden of growing plants, as well as glassware.

An effective color plan is to show off the crystal, blue, red, amber and green of the glassware against a background of robin's-egg blue. With natural-finish pine or maple furniture, this will be a really distinguished focal point of interest in your home.

This two bedroom house has an attached garage and many other nice features. It has the absolute minimum of hall space, giving good sized rooms with only 918 square feet. The laundry is located in the garage, and the kitchen has ample space for dining. Three closets, 32 inches deep by five feet wide, are provided. A stucco exterior is recommended. The house's livable area totals 918 square feet; overall depth, 34 feet; porch area, 18 square feet; and garage area, 230 square feet.

Mirrors Give Home New Look Of Beauty

TOLEDO—A new look of beauty and spaciousness may be given to any home interior by mirrors carefully chosen and strategically placed, according to H. C. Doner, director of design for Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company.
A large panel mirror placed on an end wall, at right angles to a window opening, will lift an average living room right out of the commonplace, Doner points out. This decorating trick makes the whole room appear lighter and more spacious, because the window area is repeated in reflection.
Likewise, wall areas between windows, frequently can help to improve the appearance of a room if they are covered with mirrors. Window valance and draperies can be ar-

Health Officials Say That Rabies Can Be Wiped Out

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Public Health Service authorities say it's possible to eradicate rabies—the "mad dog" disease—from the nation.
Rabies—pronounced "ray-bees"—occurs chiefly in dogs and such animals as the wolf, fox and coyote. But man may get it if a rabid animal bites him or if virus-infected saliva from such an animal gets into his body through a fresh wound of any kind.
The disease kills only 35 to 50 Americans each year, but it is considered a major public health problem for these reasons:
1. It's always fatal in man or beast—and its horrible agony makes it one of the most dreaded of human ailments.
2. Nearly a half million Americans are bitten by dogs each year. Doctors require between 30,000 and 40,000 of them to take anti-rabies vaccine treatment because the dogs were at least suspected of having rabies.
This vaccine treatment—called the "Pasteur" treatment—is highly effective but expensive and time-consuming because daily injections are given for two or three weeks. Also, to one in 3,000 to 5,000 persons the vaccine is dangerous, causing a paralytic condition of the central nervous system. Death takes one in three of the persons so affected.
3. While most prevalent among dogs, rabies also strikes cattle, horses, sheep, swine, goats and cats.
Public Health Service estimates that the annual loss to this country for human vaccine treatments and livestock losses exceeds $5,000,000.
4. There are some indications that the disease has been on the increase in recent years. One factor may be migration of families during the war years, leaving dogs to shift for themselves in many cases.
Public Health Service veterinarians say that the means are at hand to control and even eradicate rabies but that up to now there has been a lack of uniformity in control activities.
The officials recommended these broad measures for every community of the nation:
1. Annual vaccination of all dogs, designed to prevent the disease.
2. Impounding and "humanes" destruction of all stray and ownerless dogs.
3. Registration and licensing of all dogs.
4. Strict quarantining of all dogs in case of an outbreak of rabies in a community.
5. Adequate trapping programs in case of rabies outbreaks in wild animals, such as foxes. (The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service has been cooperating with the health service and Bureau of Animal Industry.)

University Engineers Seek Best Design For Coolness In New Home Construction

AUSTIN — Sweating Summer days are the signal for retreat from the stuffy home to the cool backyard. And no wonder; University of Texas engineers say most houses, even in the South, are built with an eye toward warmth.
"Almost all research on homes has been devoted to ways of keeping them warm," says Engineering Dean W. R. Woolrich. "We are looking for the best design for coolness."
This signals the beginning of a project by the University's Bureau of Engineering Research, headed by Dean Woolrich, to bring relief to the long-suffering Southern small-home owner. The goal will be better livability through relief from those two bugaboos of comfort: heat and high humidity.
To accomplish their goal, university engineers will search for a type of wall construction that will give the most satisfactory living conditions, supplemented by natural ventilation and mechanical aids, such as attic fans and sprayed roofs.
Several clay products manufacturers are behind the project. Six homes, five brick and one frame, will be built in the same area. All will have identical floor plans but will differ otherwise. Temperature and humidity tests will be run without occupants in the houses.
Dr. F. E. Giesecke, past president of the American Society of Heating and Ventilating Engineers and former University faculty member, together with University Engineering Professors V. L. Doughtie and Wayne E. Long, will test livability features of the housing research. Foundation Study
Another phase of the project will be a study of foundations, under supervision of Raymond F. Dawson, Bureau of Engineering Research associate director.
"Expansive bentonitic clays give lots of foundation trouble," Dawson says. "Foundation movements cause cracks in homes. School buildings are condemned long before their bond issues are paid off."
The ideal foundation would allow some movement to relieve pressure from the soil, he explains. Therefore, he and his assistants will try to develop a type which can be constructed at reasonable costs. They will install in the foundations instruments for measuring pressure movements and moisture.

Summer Is Ideal Time To Modernize, Repair Older Homes

Summertime is the best time for the quick modernization and repair of older homes. Material and equipment are now in plentiful supply to bring older homes up to date. Not only will such an investment add to the home's comfort and convenience, but it will help maintain the value of the house in today's active market for used houses.
Most in demand for older homes are modern bathrooms, efficient streamlined kitchens, complete insulation and economical heating systems. The latter are especially important if the house is being listed for sale. Installation of modern heating equipment and good insulation often will pay for itself many times over in the increased value they give to the house in the eyes of the prospective purchaser.
In the same way, modern kitchens and bathrooms are a good investment. Even if the house is not to be sold, they will contribute a wealth of extra comfort and convenience to the home. On the other hand, if the house is listed, such improvements will more than pay for themselves.
Repair and modernization of older homes are at an all-time peak, building experts say.

Colors Change Shape Of Room

Properly chosen colors for walls and ceilings can change the apparent shape of a room.
Many old houses have ceilings which are too high in proportion to other dimensions of the rooms. This is especially true when a room is furnished with low, modern furniture with simple lines.
One way to make a high ceiling appear lower is to paint the ceiling and walls of the room the same color. In some cases, it is advisable to use a darker shade for the ceiling.
Making Suggested
For an exceptionally high ceiling, use a dark color and paint not only the ceiling but about a foot down each wall. Place molding or narrow wallpaper over the line where this dark color meets the lighter color below it.
For a ceiling that is too low, make the ceiling lighter than the walls. Another decorator's trick to make a ceiling seem higher is to use vertical-striped wallpaper or a floral design which reaches from the baseboard to the ceiling.

McCamey Fighter To State TAAF Tourney

MCCAMEY—James "Cotton" Fowler of McCamey, bantamweight TAAF champion, again will go to the state tournament but now as a featherweight. He cleared his first hurdle last week in Odessa when he won the district title by taking a unanimous decision from Rex Maxwell of that city.

Fowler advanced to the finals by carrying out a win over Gerald Stevens of Odessa in the opening round of the district tourney.

"Cotton," a member last year of the Hardin-Simmons University boxing team, will make his fifth appearance before Fort Worth boxing fans when he accompanies the Odessa squad to the state tournament next month. Two of the previous occasions saw him competing in the TAAF tourney and twice as a member of Golden Gloves squads.

A windmill style of attack that Fowler gives an opponent time for anything other than a defense. "Cotton" one championship as a bantamweight in last year's Texas Amateur tourney. As a collegiate boxer with the Cowboys last season, Fowler rang up victories against such famed Hardin-Simmons sluggers as Tom Adams, champion State Golden Gloves champion, and waterweight Billy Burkhardt, who has held the TAAF middleweight crown as well as making himself a contender in GG tournaments for the past two years.

Fighting for Abilene in the State Golden Gloves Tournament held earlier in the year, Fowler had the misfortune to draw the eventual state champion in his initial bout. Superior skill and experience brought his opponent a victory but not before "Cotton's" courage had endeared himself to Fort Worth fans.

The TAAF fights are not the first Fowler has entered as a featherweight. Several of his collegiate fights were in the heavier class and he lost but once—to an Oklahoma state Golden Gloves champ fighting for Lawton College.

Invitation Tournament This Week

The first practice rounds for the Midland Country Club Invitation Golf Tournament for men will be fired over the country club course Sunday and qualifying will be Wednesday. The largest field of entries in the history of the annual event is expected this year.

A pro-amateur tournament has been added to the week's activities and will proceed the invitation tournament on Tuesday. A large number of professional golfers are expected to enter along with the amateurs for the invitation tournament.

Match play in the invitation meet will start Thursday and the finals will be held Sunday.

A barbecue is scheduled Wednesday night at the Country Club. The tournament dance will be held in the club ballroom Saturday night with Jack Free and his orchestra furnishing the music.

J. C. Hardwick, country club pro, Saturday announced all golfers in Midland, regardless of whether or not they are members of the country club, will be allowed to play practice rounds Sunday, Monday and Tuesday if they pay their entrance fee to the tournament.

This provision is expected to bring in several more entries from non-members of the club.

SPORTSLANTS

BY SHORTY SHELburnE

The sports page of the Abilene newspaper carried a glaring error Friday morning for which Sports Slants feels he is partly to blame.

In reporting the results of the junior golf activities here in which Dilmus D. James of Abilene swept high honors, we may have failed to specify the Sectional Qualifying in Washington sponsored by the PGA. It was a USA event.

Our apologies to Fred Hogan, USA representative here, and the association he represents. We hope this will correct our part of the mistake.

Texas as a whole and the Southwest Conference in particular, is losing probably the top football official we ever had.

Abb Curtis, known far and wide for his officiating on the gridirons of this state and others, is leaving for the West Coast, where he will become supervisor of officials of the Pacific Coast Conference. He will retire from active officiating. His new duties will be to conduct clinics and check the work of other officials.

Curtis has been so in demand in recent years he had to travel by plane in order to meet all his assignments.

A sound vote of congratulation from all West Texas should go to the Crane Golf Softball Team for its achievement in whipping the daylight out of other teams in the Texas Softball League.

Crane, a nice little city but not near in the population bracket with such places as Lubbock and San Angelo, took a back seat to none of the larger towns in the league. They just called in Red Demham to do the pitching. David Williams, Joe Goodwin, Lefty Wells and a few of the others to do the hitting and won themselves a pennant.

It especially gives up pleasure to see Crane beat out such teams as Bluebonnet of Lubbock and some of the larger city-backed outfits.

It just goes to prove once again the best in high school and semi-pro athletics come from West Texas—not East, North or South Texas.

Kenny Jones of the Midland Indians departed Friday for his home in Warrensburg, Mo., for a few days rest before rejoining the club as the number one catcher.

Kenny is just out of the hospital following an appendectomy. He said, "I'm going home to the farm and eat Mom's good cooking and lay around a few days. That'll put

FRIDAY NIGHT—Midland Defeats Vernon Dusters

VERNON—The Midland Indians bounced out in front with three runs in the first inning here Friday night and never slowed down as they trimmed the Vernon Dusters 5 to 3 behind the five-hit hurling of Glenn Patton. The win pushed the Indians a half-game ahead of Vernon and into second place.

Patton mastered the Dusters with his curve ball for eight innings but had to call for help with one out in the ninth and the bases loaded.

Reliable Lefty Leon Hayes, ace relief hurler, came on to put the Vernon batters down in order with a strikeout and a pop fly.

After Midland got three in the first, Vernon fought back with two in the second. Both teams were scoreless from there to the eighth when Midland counted two more. Vernon got one more in the ninth before Hayes put a stop to the scoring.

Lou Dawson, Stanley Hughes, Julian Presley, Gus Pena and Ben Dean Sheets collected two hits each, and all slammed out doubles. Sheets did it up right, getting two doubles.

In other games played Friday night, Big Spring nudged Sweetwater 6 to 5 and Roswell at Odessa was postponed on account of wet grounds.

The box score:

Katherine Bassett, Dallas, plays at White Rock Lake, one of her city's summertime diversions, as she urges her neighbors of the South—Austin, Houston, Dallas, San Antonio, El Paso, Fort Worth, and San Antonio—to enjoy the outdoors.

Tigers' 2-1 Victory Slows Down Yankee Pennant Stamped

DETROIT—(P)—The Detroit Tigers threw a roadblock in the path of the pennant-conscious New York Yankees by beating them 2 to 1 Saturday behind the brilliant five-hit hurling of young Art Houtteman.

The defeat cut the Yankees' lead over the second-place Cleveland Indians to four and one-half games.

Only in the second inning could the Yankees score. Joe DiMaggio walked to open that inning and advanced to third on Charley Keller's double. DiMaggio then raced home on Bobby Brown's long fly.

A double by George Kell gave the Tigers both their runs in the first stanza. His blow scored Pat Mullin, who had doubled, and Vic Wright, who drew one of Duane Pillette's two passes.

After Snuffy Struwe's single in the fourth, Houtteman retired 15 batters in a row before he gave his third and last walk to Keller in the ninth. The Detroit right-hander struck out five.

Parents Night Is Scheduled Tuesday In Optimist League

"Parents Night" is scheduled in the Optimist Softball League Tuesday night. Three five-inning games will be played at Wadley Field, the first one starting at 6 p. m.

All parents are urged to turn out and root for their sons.

The Braves will meet the Braves in the first game, the Papooses play the Tigers in the second and the Skeeters take on the Eagles in the last contest.

The schedule in the league has been stepped up to finish by August 15 due to the start of football practice that date. The playoff will be held at Wadley Field, starting August 2.

The teams swapped around in the standings again last week. The Braves surprised the Papooses 15 to 9, the Eagles held on to first place with a 10 to 7 win over the Braves and the Skeeters nudged the Tigers 7-6.

The standings follow:

Four Indians Now Hitting Over .300

The Midland Indians now have four men hitting above .300 and several more who have moved up toward the top of the league.

Julian Presley picked up three points during the last week to retain third place in the league and first among the Indians with a lofty .371 average.

Injured Kenny Jones stayed in second place with the .348 average.

Ben Dean Sheets, filling in for Jones, is clouting .333 and Warren Siltter has advanced to .319.

Here is how the other Indians are hitting: Lou Dawson, .278; Stanley Hughes, .277; Buck Austin, .261; Bobby Rose, .260; Gus Pena, .256; Ernie Nelson, .233; Glenn Patton, .162; Ralph Blair, .176; and Leon Hayes, .000.

Coaltown Streaks To Arlington Win

CHICAGO—(P)—Coaltown, the nation's top handicap star, Saturday streaked to his tenth victory in eleven starts this season in winning the $4,700 Arlington Handicap by three lengths.

Dixiana Stable's Star Reward, only horse to defeat Coaltown this year, finished second. Calumet Farm's eight-year-old Armed, Coaltown's stablemate, was three lengths behind Star Reward. Stud Poker was fourth, five lengths back of Armed. Then followed Oscar J. Breaux's Broilite and Peter J. Valenti's Callou Rogue.

The Calumet Farm entry went to the post at odds of 3 to 5 with Coaltown paying $2.20 to win. There was no place or show betting because of the small field.

The Hambletonian has been won seven times by fillies and 15 times by colts.

At War With The 'Hoppers

Dirt, Squirt and Quirt

— FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS —

Those little showers Friday afternoon at least cooled things off, didn't they? Helped city lawns, too, and proved that it still can rain. DSQ still is looking for that mid-Summer soaker. This could be the week.

Midland and area ranchers more and more are taking quick looks at the skies as the July sun bears down and thunder clouds form over in the West along about dusk each day. Ranges, although high, still are in fairly good shape, but a little moisture of a general nature would be appreciated by all concerned. And a good hard rain might help beat down the needle grass which is causing sheepsman considerable worry.

Ellott Cowden says range conditions up around Santa Rosa, N. M., are just about as near perfect as possible. The stock on his ranch in that sector is in top shape.

Cowden's Ector County ranch could use some rain right now, but ranges still are not hurting and cattle are fat, he said.

The West Texas-New Mexico rancher said he drove up from San Angelo one day last week, and the country seemed to get browner all the way north.

Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Sutton and family of Midland have purchased a tract of farm land on the Garden City highway southeast of the city from Commissioner Sherwood O'Neal. They plan to build a home there and to develop the acreage. The Sutton boys likely will have a few head of cattle, sheep and horses on the place. It is good farm land, excellent irrigation and the purchase price was not disclosed.

A prominent Midland rancher (he wouldn't let us use his name) was telling a good story on himself Friday afternoon. It seems he was waiting in his car, parked on a downtown street, for another man about mid-afternoon. He noticed the parking time on the meter had expired, but he did not put in another coin since he would be driving off very shortly.

But, sure enough, when he awoke about 20 or 30 minutes later there was a red over-casting in his windshield. He laughed about it and will wagger the policeman still is laughing. The rancher drove straight to the police station and paid his dollar. He had been working pretty hard the last several days and the nap was worth the price.

The Rev. Howard Hollowell said he drove through a hard shower of rain over about Stanton Friday afternoon. Showers also were reported immediately south of Midland and at Crane.

Max Bentley of Abilene, a West Texas Chamber of Commerce staff member, was in Midland last week. He said it is dry and brown all the way from Abilene to Midland.

Four Midlanders—Dr. K. F. Campbell, E. D. Richardson, Assistant County Agent Charles Green and DeWayne Davis, assistant manager of the Chamber of Commerce—Thursday joined citizens from Stanton, Big Spring, Garden City and Sterling City in making a soil conservation field trip into the Plainview area to inspect permanent pasture practices.

The trip was sponsored by the Big Spring Soil Conservation District, which comprises Midland, Howard, Martin and Glasscock Counties. L. H. Williamson, district work engineer, and A. T. Jordan, working conservator, directed the tour. Five cars traveled the trip, all of whom returned highly enthused concerning pasture irrigation possibilities.

Davis Reports
Davis had this to say about the tour:

"The representatives met just north of Abernathy and from there proceeded to the first farm; the Scott Amend place located just north of Petersburg. On this place Amend had put into practice the planting of permanent pasture on an area of approximately 400 acres. (All watered from two 800-gallon wells.) On this irrigated permanent pasture, Amend ran more than 800 head of cattle for a period of more than three months. The cattle averaged a net gain of more than two pounds each per day on the pasture.

"The next stop was north of Plainview on the E. B. Bassel place, where 1,800 head of sheep were running on 80 acres of irrigated pasture. Last year on the same tract of land the owner ran 80 head of black Angus stock and netted at the end of the year approximately $10,000.

Other Pastures
"Two other irrigated pastures were visited in the afternoon, west and south of Plainview, where hogs and dairy cattle were run. The productive capacity of the cows was most impressive as well as the annual turn-out of litters of hogs.

"Suggested grasses for these permanent pastures are: alta fescue, romo grass, harding grass, orchard perennial grass, dallis grass, deer vetch, sweet clover, hairy vetch and alfalfa.

"It was recommended by all the places visited that where water is available, no investment can better be made than to put in small tracts of permanent pasture—all seemed to have paid off with very good dividends."

With Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan as a featured speaker and an outstanding display of cotton farm machinery as a leading attraction, the tenth annual Cotton Research Congress in Dallas, Wednesday through Friday, is expected to be the nation's outstanding cotton meeting of 1949.

Power sprays reportedly are being used in some sectors to knock needle grass off of lambs, preventing the necessity of tagging. The sheep are put in narrow chutes, the sprayer moving down the line, spraying water on the animals at high pressure. It returns the same way, hitting the sheep twice. This is said to loosen the needle grass and to cause the remainder to deteriorate.

Caught Harvey Conger and Jess Miles chatting on a downtown curb the day last week, but the conversation, whatever it was about, ceased when DSQ approached. Both started asking questions rather than putting out information. About all we could get from Harvey was that he did not like his Ector County place. Miles said his place south of Midland was under water a few weeks ago, but he could use a shower or two right now. Conger said last week's showers northwest of Midland completely ruined him.

Events scheduled at the sixteenth annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo, August 3-6, include barrel racing, riding saddle bronc riding, bull riding, calf roping, steer wrestling, cutting horse contest and cowgirl sponsor contest. Purse total $3,400. The entry books close at 8 p.m., August 2.

Lesley Wooden of Davis, Calif., was elected president of the American Corral Association at the annual membership meeting Thursday night in San Angelo. He succeeds L. L. Livengood of Marysville, Mo. Truett C. Stanford of Eldorado, Texas, replaces Wooden as vice president. Three new executive board members were named. They are: E. E. Cooper of Durand, Mich.; Sam Murrell of Lancaster, Mo., and Clyde Gebhardt of Salem, Wis.

The meeting was held in connection with the annual All-American Corral Riding and Sale held Thursday and Friday in San Angelo. F. A. Bird and Bert Rosenbaum were among those from Midland attending the event.

We reported a few weeks ago that the manure area at "dear old" Camp Barkeley near Abilene was to be sold by the government.

News releases from over Abilene state that 21 former landowners in the area have re-purchased their land from Uncle Sam. The 24 tracts represented 7,512 acres. The deadline for claiming the land is September 29. Butler Hurley and Barron, Wadley, Barkeley exes, still have time to get in on the purchase proposition.

R. L. Thornton, president of the State Fair of Texas has announced that the officials for the livestock and junior livestock shows at the 1949 fair.

W. L. Stangel of Lubbock, dean of the agriculture division at Texas Technological College, will be general superintendent for all livestock events.

R. D. Evans of Dallas will serve as arena director; Dr. W. G. Brock of Dallas will be official veterinarian, and Garrison A. Harper of Dallas, official clerk.

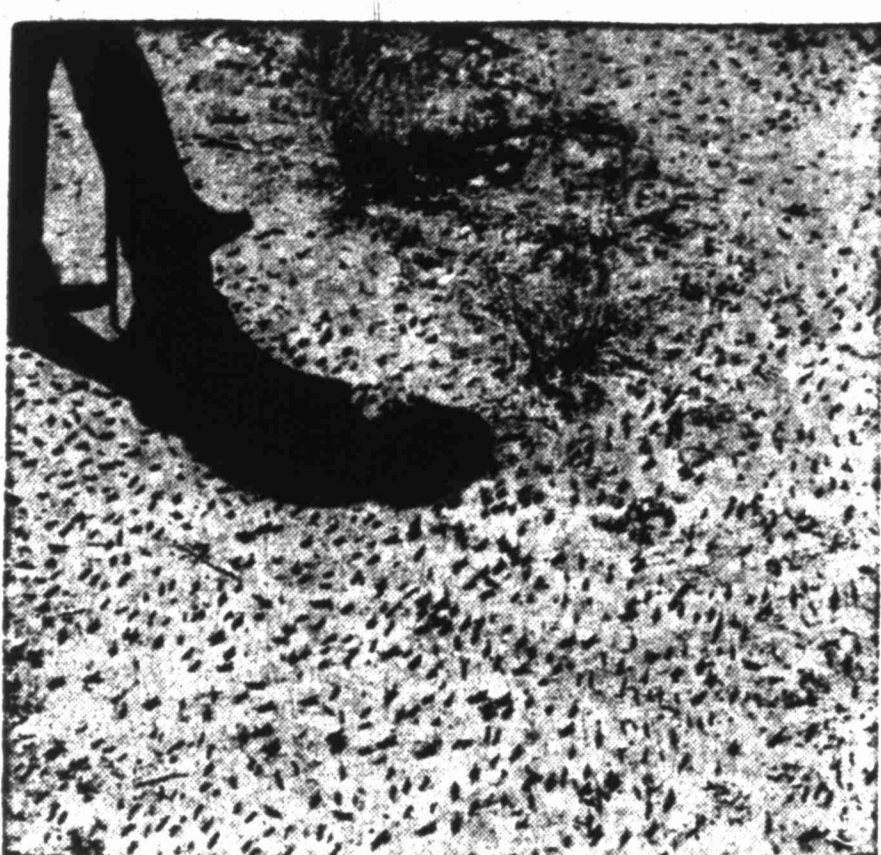

The Beef Cattle Show will have B. J. Baskin, Bryan, as superintendent, with Stewart Sewell, Jacksboro, as assistant. Louis Galbreath, Alice, will serve as superintendent of the Dairy Cattle Show and Junior Dairy Show with R. E. Burleson, College Station, as assistant.

Swine Show
Superintendent of the Swine Show will be Fred Hale, College Station, with Dan Kiber, Arlington, serving as assistant. Vestal Askew, Sonora, will be superintendent of the Sheep and Angora Goat Show. James H. Shaver, Fort Worth, will supervise both the Palomino and Quarter Horse events of the Horse Show.

A. L. Smith, College Station, will be superintendent of the Junior Steer Show.

The Junior Pig Shows will have E. M. Regenbrecht, College Station, as superintendent, and L. M. Hargrave, Lubbock, as assistant. Superintendent of the Junior Sheep Show will be J. B. Payne, Stephenville.

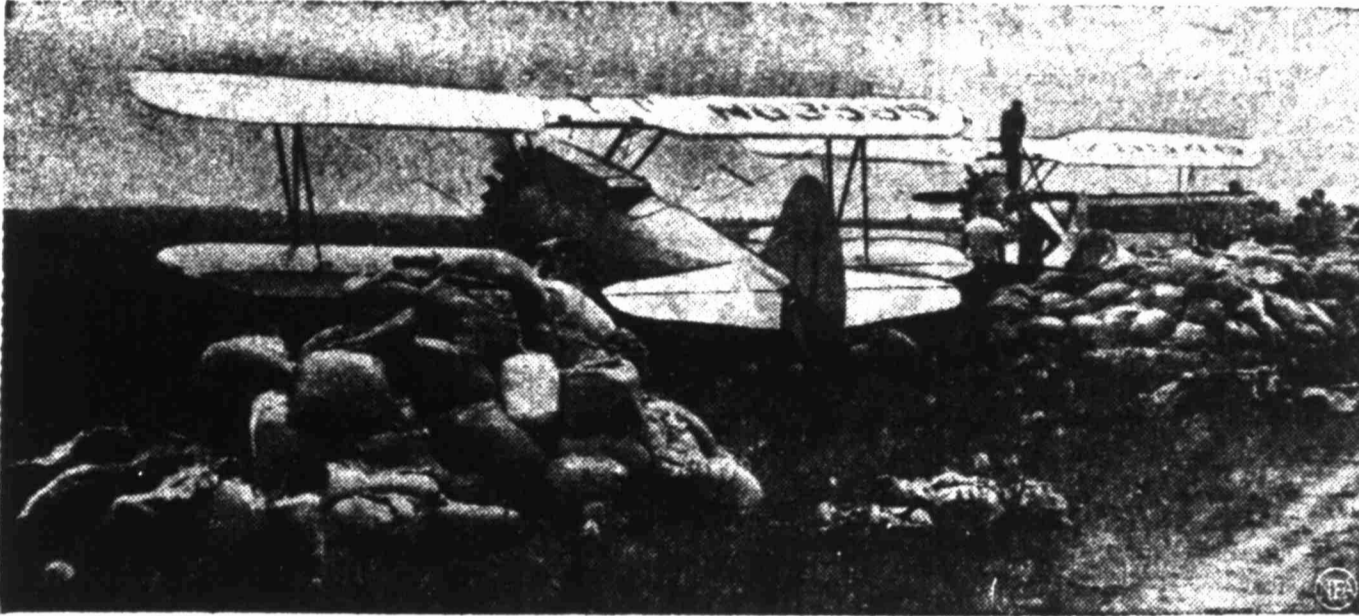

Texas A&M College will be host to the first Texas Farm Bureau Institute to be held Monday through Friday. Enrollment is expected to exceed 300 according to J. Walter Hammond, federation president.

The Department of Agriculture is waging an all-out war against the tiny grasshopper—dread plague of western ranchers and farmers. The horde of 'hoppers that broke out this year in tremendous numbers in Nevada is rolling on, threatening California, Wyoming and Montana. The insects start migrating as nymphs, marching over the ground in close formation. Later, as their wings develop, they take to the air. Over the mountainous terrain of Wyoming and Montana, planes have taken up the fight. They pour poison bran over the land as bait. When 'hoppers eat the bran they die.

Texas Veterans Land Setup Questions, Answers Listed

The following facts about the Texas Veterans Land Program were released by Merritt F. Hines, Midland County Service Officer, for the information of World War II Veterans residing in this section. The information was taken from the several thousand letters received by Bascom G. Giles, commissioner of the General Land Office.

Q. Who is allowed to take part in this program?
A. Any Texas veteran of World War II now residing in Texas who served as much as 90 days (unless discharged sooner for a service-connected disability) and who has an honorable discharge, or is still in the service.

Q. Who is considered a Texas veteran?
A. Any man or woman who was a bona fide resident of the state at the time of entering the service between Sept. 16, 1940, and Dec. 31, 1946, and is a bona fide resident at the time of making application for a loan under the provisions of the Veterans' Land Bill.

Q. If I were born in Texas but was residing, registered and inducted in another state, am I eligible?
A. No.

Q. If I was a legal resident at the time I entered service but since my discharge have been voting in another state, am I eligible?
A. No, you must be a legal resident at the time you make application.

Q. If my wife and I both were in the service, can we each buy a tract of land?
A. Yes.

Q. Is there any preference given to veterans who were engaged in combat?
A. Veterans having a service-connected disability sustained in combat will receive a 90-day priority.

Q. Are veterans of World War I eligible?
A. The act provides only for veterans of World War II.

Location Of Land
Q. Where is this land which is for sale?
A. At the present time no state-owned lands are available under the program. The eligible veteran may purchase land from any individual or corporation.

Q. Where can I find some land to buy?
A. You are permitted to select a tract of privately-owned land anywhere in the state.

Q. May I buy land from a relative?
A. Yes.

Q. Can I buy any type of land I wish?
A. Yes, as long as the price is reasonable and the land will yield an income.

Q. What must the land be suitable for?
A. It can be either agriculture, ranch, stock farm, poultry farm or almost anything that will yield a return on the investment.

Q. Do I have to buy only improved land?
A. You may purchase either improved or unimproved land.

Q. How much land can I buy?
A. No loan will be made by the Veterans Land Board on less than 20 acres. There is no limit on the maximum acreage except that the board will not expend more than $7,500.

Q. Can I buy a tract of land within a town or city?
A. If it contains 20 acres or more.

Value Of Land
Q. How will the value be determined?
A. The type of soil, access of water supply, improvements, average rainfall, productivity, topography, value of adjacent lands and location as to accessibility of transportation will be some of the basic factors used as yard stick for proper evaluation.

Q. Who will pass on the value of the land on which I apply for a loan?
A. Qualified appraisers appointed by the Veterans' Land Board who are familiar with land values in your area.

Q. What if the appraisers do not approve the valuation of the land?

A. It will not be purchased.

Q. How much down payment will I have to make?
A. The board requires a minimum down payment of 5 per cent of the purchase price. For example, on a tract costing $7,500 a down payment of $375 will be required.

Q. If the tract of land I desire to buy costs more than $7,500 will the board consider it?
A. Yes, up to $10,000 but you will have to pay any difference above $7,500 at the time of purchase plus the usual 5 per cent.

Q. After I have selected the tract of land I wish to buy, what is the next step?
A. Get all the necessary service-record papers together, secure an agreement from the owner to sell at a stipulated price, fill out the forms supplied by the veterans' land board and make formal application.

Q. Will you provide me with the necessary forms for filing a loan application?
A. Write the Veterans' Land Board, Bascom Giles, chairman, General Land Office, Austin, Texas, and request them. (A few applications for Midland veterans may be obtained from Merritt F. Hines, county service officer, third floor, courthouse.)

Q. Must I come to Austin to file my application?
A. No. Registered mail is a very safe method of application.

Q. Will I have to pay any fees?
A. The board requires that the cost of examining the title shall be borne by the purchaser, but that this fee shall not exceed $50.

Q. How much money will the board loan a veteran?
A. The board will make a maximum loan of $7,125 after down payment has been made.

Q. Do I purchase land from the owner?
A. No. You secure a commitment from the owner to sell to the Veterans' Land Board. The board will purchase the land from the owner, then resell it to you at the same price. Actually, you make purchase from the Veterans' Land Board.

How To Pay For Land
Q. How much down payment will I have to make?
A. The board requires a minimum down payment of 5 per cent of total purchase price. For example, on a tract costing $7,500, a down payment of $375 will be required.

Q. When is the 5 per cent to be paid?
A. It must accompany your application for purchase.

Q. If for any reason purchase is not completed, due to no fault of the veteran, what disposition is made of down payment?
A. If loan is not approved, it will be refunded and veteran will be free to make another selection.

Q. How much interest will I pay?
A. Three per cent.

Q. How often will my payments come due?
A. Your payments on principal and interest will come due semi-annually.

Q. Where must payments be made?
A. To the Veterans' Land Board, General Land Office, Austin, Texas.

Q. Will checks be acceptable as payments?
A. Yes.

Q. Should I overlook the payment date, will my contract with the state be forfeited?
A. As a courtesy of the board, you will be notified before forfeiture.

Q. Can my purchase contract be cancelled?
A. The board has the authority to forfeit your contract for failure to make payments when due.

Q. If I should have my contract forfeited for failure to make payments when due, is there any way I can regain possession of this land?
A. Yes. You may reinstate your claim any time prior to date on which the board shall order the land to be advertised for resale or for lease for mineral development by paying amount past due plus reinstatement penalties.

Q. How soon can I pay off the loan on my land?
A. You will execute and on or before note for 40 years on which you may pay all or a part of the unpaid balance at any time you desire.

Use Of Land
Q. Will I be required to home-stead or live on this land for a specified period of time?
A. No. You may rent or lease it out.

Q. If I an eligible veteran, purchase land under this program, could my brother who is not an eligible veteran occupy it?
A. Yes. Or anyone else who has your consent.

Q. Are there any regulations as to what crops may be planted?
A. Not as far as the Veterans' Land Program is concerned.

Q. Will I be allowed to sell, transfer or trade my land any time I have the opportunity?
A. No. You must not sell, transfer or dispose of it until three years from date of purchase.

Q. Do I retain all mineral rights on the land?
A. Yes. The Veterans' Land Board does not share in mineral rights. There are restrictions which are explained in other inquiries.

Q. Yes. But before the indebtedness is retired, 50 per cent of all receipts from rentals and bonuses must be applied against the indebtedness.

Q. In the event of sale of mineral rights is the veteran authorized to negotiate his own transaction?
A. Yes.

Q. May a veteran assign mineral rights to a relative?
A. Yes. Subject to the regulation that 50 per cent of bonus and rental receipts must be applied against the indebtedness.

Q. Does any portion of the mineral rights belong to the permanent school fund?
A. No.

Q. Will the land board restrict my leasing the land for minerals?
A. Only to the extent of approving the terms and considerations of the lease.

Q. May a veteran drill for oil on the land he purchases under this program?
A. Yes.

Q. Can I buy land with no mineral interest therein?
A. No applications will be approved with more than 1-16 royalty interest outstanding. Fifty per cent of the mineral rights must be available at the time of purchase.

State Lands
Q. Where can I obtain a list of state owned lands?
A. There are no state owned lands for sale to veterans at the present time.

Q. Should the Veterans' Land Board acquire state or federal land for resale to veterans, how will the plan work?
A. The board will survey the lands thus acquired into tracts, none costing more than $7,500, and sell them under sealed bids.

Q. How will I find out about them?
A. They will be advertised statewide and offered for sale through sealed, competitive bids with awards going to highest bidders on each tract.

Q. How will the value of such land be determined?
A. By the usual methods of appraisal.

Q. Will the same financing plan be in force on this land as on land personally selected from a private owner?
A. Yes. Bidders will be required to accompany their bid with a 5 per cent down payment of the total bid.

Q. May two veterans buy a tract costing $15,000?
A. Yes. If the tract is divided and the sale is handled as two separate transactions.

Q. Will the state Veterans' Loan Board loan me funds to erect buildings or buy equipment?

A. No. Such loans must be obtained elsewhere.

Q. Is any other form of security demanded by the board before making the loan?
A. No.

Q. How many purchases can a veteran make?
A. Eligible veterans are limited to one purchase each.

Q. Can I refinance land on which I am paying at present under this program?
A. Not at this time, but you can make an additional purchase under the program.

Q. Will the land board provide counsel for veterans?
A. A counselor will be available at all times.

Q. How long will it be before the board will be in position to act on my application?
A. Applications from veterans having disability received in complete are being processed now. Applications from other veterans will be completed after the priority granted in the bill.

El Paso Office— Department Of Commerce Funnels Information To Midland, Area Businesses

A West Texan whose business recently failed was heard to remark that "it never would have happened if I had been able to finance adequate research work which would have warned me that my business was headed for the rocks—but, research departments are for big business, the small fellow just has to find out the hard way."

"The man probably is correct in his belief that corrective measures, based upon intelligent research, might have saved his business," says T. U. Purcell, district manager of the U. S. Department of Commerce in El Paso, "but his assertion that research facilities are not available to the little fellow could not be farther from the truth. The Commerce Department is the research department for all business, large and small—it is a vast fact-finding agency dedicated to determining, and disseminating to business, facts upon which sound business policies and procedures may be based.

Varied Subjects
"The West Texan mentioned above probably could have saved his business if he had taken the time to acquaint himself with this gigantic storehouse of business information which the Department of Commerce has gathered for him, and more important, if he had studied it and applied it to his business. The Department of Commerce has information—sound, practical information—gathered from all corners of the nation and dealing with practically every conceivable business subject. This information is helping businessmen every day in many ways—it would have helped that unfortunate West Texan if he had made use of it."

The El Paso District Office is the medium through which a steady stream of business information is funneled to Midland and other Southwestern business centers. Scores of Midland firms are frequent users of the services of the El Paso office. Almost 100 Midland firms regularly receive the bi-weekly Bulletin of Commerce published by the Department of Commerce and distributed free of charge to anyone making a written request to receive it.

Business Newsletter
The Bulletin of Commerce is a business newsletter which reports current business trends and announces new publications, releases, pamphlets, studies, and other printed matter dealing with business subjects. Purcell suggested that Midland firms not now receiving the Bulletin of Commerce may do so by submitting a written request to his office in the El Paso Chamber of Commerce Building.

Just what type of information does the Department of Commerce offer which would be of benefit to a Midland businessman?
"Generally speaking," Purcell said, "just about any type he might desire. Let's say, for instance, he is a new businessman—or even a prospective businessman—we are particularly anxious to help the youngster just getting started in business. First of all, he should know something about the business in which he intends to engage—if he does not, we probably would advise him to go to work for someone else in the same line for a few years and get some background knowledge of the business. But, let's assume that he has had some experience in the business and has a fair knowledge of what it is all about.

Overall Study
"If the business which he intends to open happens to be any one of some 40 odd retail or service trades, we can furnish him an overall study on establishing and operating that particular business. These studies cover every phase of business management as they relate to a particular trade—selecting a location—type of building needed—buying—pricing—record-keeping—arrangement and display—taxes—employee selection and training—inventory control—advertising—customer relationship—handling complaints—and so forth. Each of these studies are based upon the experiences of hundreds of successful operators throughout the nation.

"These overall studies present a pretty complete picture of the problems likely to be encountered in operating a business and point out the methods used by successful operators to overcome them. However, they form but a small part of the information the Commerce Department is prepared to furnish on a given subject. Another series of pamphlets issued by the department which the average businessman can use to good advantage covers 'Basic Information Sources' on various subjects. These pamphlets are bibliographies which list the titles and other pertinent data concerning almost everything written on the subject covered. Basic Information Sources releases are available on well more than 100 different subjects.

Valuable Service
"Another service of the Department of Commerce which many Midland business firms have found to be very valuable, and which all prospective business owners or established operators could profit by using, is the series of releases issued under the title of 'Small Business Aids.' These 'Aids' have proven to be the most popular series ever developed by the department."

Purcell emphasized that his office in El Paso was established at the request of the El Paso and other Southwestern Chambers of Commerce, and that it is maintained to serve the business interest of Midland and the Southwest. He urges Midland citizens to use it frequently.

ACCURATE FOR DISTANCE
Except at long range, a rifle is no more accurate than a shotgun. A simple projectile travels farther in a straight line than a bunch of small shot.

The coyote originally lived only in the open country of the West.

Betrothal Revealed At Party

Announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of Mary Joyce Melancon to Cecil H. Elder, Mrs. E. V. Guffey was hostess to a party in her home, 2404 West College Street, Friday night.

The wedding will be solemnized in Carencro, La., September 8. Miss Melancon is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Melancon of Carencro, and Elder is the son of Mrs. Dona C. Elder of Amarillo and J. H. Elder of Midland.

The house was decorated with garden flowers and the color scheme of green and white was carried out in the decorations.

Guests present included Mrs. Howard Atwater, Mrs. Charles Reeder, Mrs. Lamar Kopecky, Carolyn Oates, Mrs. Robert C. Sheets, Mrs. Augie Auguston, Mrs. Hugh Bliss, Mrs. Marion Culver, Mrs. Pat Stanford, Deana Gray and Mrs. Johnny Carter.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Carencro High School and attended Southwestern Louisiana Institute, Lafayette, La., for two years. She has resided in Midland the last five years and is employed by the Elder Chevrolet Company. She is a member of the local chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

The prospective bridegroom was graduated from Clovis High School, Clovis, N. M., attended the University of California, Berkeley, Calif., for three and a half years, and served in the Air Force for more than three years. He attended the Chevrolet Sons of Dealers School in Detroit in 1941. Elder is a member of the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity. He is associated with his father in the Elder Chevrolet Company.

The couple will make their home in Midland at 1611 North Edwards Street.

The wedding will be solemnized in the First Baptist Church, at 5 p. m. August 27, with the Rev. Raymond G. Hall officiating.

Open House Shows New Church Plant

By FAYE SHELBERNE With a sanctuary which is beautiful and conducive to worship and an educational plant which is efficient and modern, the First Presbyterian Church held its formal opening Thursday night.

As the guests were ushered into the auditorium for the acceptance service, an atmosphere of worship was created by the beautiful but simple decorations. On each side of the vestibule are stairways going to the balcony. Glass enclosures on either side of the sanctuary doors enabled the late comers to see as well as hear the service. These windows will be covered with double faced drapes and will be opened only when necessary for overcrowded services.

Each of the elementary units has an outdoor entrance and coat and hat racks of their very own. Restrooms are available for each group. In the beginner or kindergarten rooms, for ages 4, 5, 6, the color scheme immediately attracts the attention of the visitor. In the four-year room, the pastel green walls and lineal add an extra invitation to the child to come and share wholesome and happy experiences in the house of the Lord.

Adequate Space Provided The chairs designed for the size of an average four-year old are arranged in a circle for informal teaching. Book shelves and cabinets are seen around the wall providing adequate space for the equipment of each group in its own room. In one corner of the four-year room is a doll house, a project of the children which was completed about a month ago.

The five-year room is similar to the four-year, with pink as the color scheme. The Primary Department is at the west end of the building with an entrance for its own use. The rooms are neatly and beautifully done and have equipment similar to the departments only on a larger scale. This is the department (Continued on page 5)

Art Cole And William Pomeroy Reverse Positions For Play

Positions will be reversed for the director and leading actor of "The Drunkard," melodrama which the Summer Mummies will present Thursday, Friday and Saturday and the following weekend in the American Legion Hall.

William Pomeroy, Jr., directing the nineteenth-century drama, has as the leading man in the cast Art Cole, who has directed Pomeroy in leading roles of several Community Theater productions the past three years.

The Summer production will give several others an opportunity to switch roles or to take up familiar work in a season that ordinarily does not offer any dramatic activities. Although the Summer Mummies is an independent group, not affiliated with the Midland Community Theater, many of its members are Community Theater members and proceeds of its play will go to the theater.

Appeared In Minstrel-Reviews No plays are presented in the Summer by the Community Theater, because its home stage in the City-County Auditorium boasts no cooling system. The air-conditioned Legation Hall will give the Mummies and their audience a comfortable setting for "The Drunkard."

The melodrama's director has appeared in a number of Community Theater plays and its two minstrel-reviews, has served on its board of governors and is now vice president, and has contributed original songs and skits for its revue. He was last seen in the title role of George Bernard Shaw's comedy, "Pygmalion," and previously played leads in "Uncle Harry," "The Torchbearers" and "State of the Union," all under Cole's direction. Cole, who will share the lead role in "The Drunkard" with Patricia (Continued on page 5)

Dance For Guests Is Featured

Opening the current year's program, the Minuet Club was host to a guest dance in the American Legion Hall Friday night.

This dance changed a custom of long standing of the Minuet Club. Formerly, the dance club, Midland's oldest, had not scheduled its parties in the Summer. This is the one dance during the year that members are asked to bring guests.

Jack Free and his orchestra provided the music for the occasion. Shasta daisies and yellow tapers appointed the hor d'oeuvre table.

Guests present included Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wilson, Frank Aldrich, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William Reeder, John Merritt, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Trimble, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Meadows, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Hubert Martin Honored At Picnic Supper

Honoring Hubert Martin, county agricultural agent who is leaving Midland, the home demonstration clubs and the boys and girls 4-H clubs entertained with a picnic supper in Cloverdale Park Friday night.

The 4-H boys and girls presented Martin with a watch as a token of appreciation. Mrs. I. J. Howard, Donna Howard and Norman Drake expressed their appreciation to Martin for their respective organizations. Martin has resigned as Midland County agricultural agent, to assume a like position in Odessa, for Ector, Crane and Andrews Counties, August 1.

Assistant Agent The new assistant agent, Charlie Green, was introduced to the group. He is an agent-in-training and will serve Midland until a permanent agent is appointed.

Leland Howard expressed thanks to the Texas Electric Service Company for its assistance with the 4-H club work.

Approximately 90 persons attended. VISIT IN AMARILLO Mrs. W. E. Raney and Mrs. Lucy Bryant have returned from Amarillo where they visited Mrs. I. L. Hardwell, the former Florine Hamilton of Midland.

The engagement and approaching marriage of Joan Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hicks of Navasota and formerly of Midland, to Edward Franklin Sullivan, III, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Sullivan, Jr., of Navasota, has been made to Midland friends.

The wedding will be performed in the Catholic Church in Navasota in October.

Miss Lee was graduated from Midland High School and attended Stephens College in Columbia, Mo., last year. She is visiting Rita Dunlap, 301 North Pecca Street.

Sullivan is a graduate of Navasota High School and Texas A&M College, College Station. He is a rancher residing near Navasota.

The bride-elect has chosen Miss Dunlap as her maid of honor. Elizabeth Bennett of Ames, Iowa, Je Anne Shackelford of Corpus Christi, and Carol Sullivan of Navasota, sisters of the bride-elect, will be bridesmaids. Allice Margaret Hicks, sister of the bride-elect, will be junior bridesmaid.

Pinkie Lane of Corpus Christi will serve the prospective bridegroom as best man. Groomsmen will be Jack Barton of Houston, Ivan Lee, III, of Navasota, brother of the bride-elect, and John Hathman of Corpus Christi, John Pinckey Hicks, III, of Navasota, another brother of the bride-elect, will be the ring bearer.

Silver Shower Given An announcement tea will be given by Miss Lee's parents when she returns to Navasota the latter part of the week to formally announce the engagement and approaching marriage.

A silver shower will be given for the bride-elect Sunday from 3 to 6 p. m. in the home of Miss Dunlap, with Francine Weaver as co-hostess.

Your Fault-Finding May Kill Vacation

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

The person most worth a woman vacationer's best efforts to fact-check is the husband who wants to share the ups and downs of travel and the oftentimes limited living quarters of crowded hotels.

All of this is pointed up by a long-suffering husband who writes to ask that a word be said to wives on the subject of taking what comes in stride for two weeks, even if what comes doesn't yield all of the comforts of home.

The wife who complains that the food isn't good, that beds are like straw and that the other hotel guests are dull company makes the kind of companion who can wreck a holiday for a man. Sometimes she voices such complaints within the hearing of other besides her husband, which is another thing that can make a man squirm.

Every woman setting out for vacation should leave her super-critical attitude at home. Finding fault is always easy, so that the critical woman will always find a hotel room in a crowded vacation spot or a tourist cabin en route to one, an easy target.

Vacations are intended to offer a person a release of tensions, an opportunity to have fun, a chance to free a personality from the routine that restrains it for 50 weeks of the year. No woman should permit those two weeks of release and change to be spoiled by a bad temper or a critical attitude.

Ladies' Watches Keep Time With Fashion

By EPSIE KINARD
NEA Fashion Editor

NEW YORK—Now, ladies will have to find better alibis for being late than the undependable watch. To make their watches dependable, no matter how small a dial, frivolous-looking they are, or how absent-minded women are about winding, is the idea behind revolutionary designs.

There's a lady's automatic, for example—small, smart, thin, unbreakable and handsomely encased in steel or gold which takes care of the problem of forgetting to wind or of turning an acrobat in order to wind. This watch's self-winder is mounted on ball bearings with five microscopic steel balls. Such a mounting allows the weight to wind the mainspring at every rotation, both clockwise and counter-clockwise, and keeps the hands, including a sweep second hand, ticking time.

Another time-keeper designed to make old-hat that alibi "Sorry I'm late, guess my watch is slow," features the curved mechanism: curved case, curved movement. These two aids to accurate time-keeping curve together to conform to the shape of the wrist; to fill the case to the maximum with movement. Such practical features in new curves watches hide behind a facade of glamor: exquisite, or yellow-gold cases with silk-cord wristbands. Some watches are diamond-studded with as many as 22 sparklers set in fashionable cases.

It's fun to laze in the sun, even if you get only as far as your rooftop or back yard. All of us can't get away every weekend, yet we do like to take on a little more color as the summer rolls on.

If you are planning to take your vacation late in the summer, and do not want to be litly white when you depart on that big two-weeks-with-pay, try to build up a suntan by lounging outdoors around your own home whenever possible.

Use extra caution between the hours of 10:00 a.m. and 1:00 p.m., the burning hours. Blondes and redheads need to be especially careful in the sun since they have less pigment than brunettes. Try a light sports sun lotion that is not oily.

Wash That Summer Out Of Your Hair

By BETTY CLARKE
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

Whether you are on vacation, or just away for a weekend, your hair will be a constant problem. You will have to worry about it after your dip in the brine, after a session on a windy beach. You may have a date the evening your hair has been blown into a shapeless mess.

You can cope with the problem by carrying a small makeup kit in which you can tuck a tiny bottle of brilliantine, another of witch hazel, bobby pins and a small compact filled with cotton.

Then when your hair gets unruly, you can clean it with the cotton dipped in witch hazel, then put it up in pincurls with bobby pins.

Use Brilliantine
If your problem is what to do with your hair after it has been blown down, treat it to an extra dose of brilliantine. If you carry one of those little hair brushes in your bag, it will be a simple matter to brush your hair into place with the brilliantine.

It is a good idea to put brilliantine on hair ends before you go out in the sun to keep hair from becoming dry and unmanageable.

One of the nicest fads to investigate is the one which involves using colored ribbons to curl hair. It is the latest fad during the day at the beach, when swimming, when automobile driving or when strolling. This way you can look pretty and cute and still have your hair in curl for that 8 o'clock date.

Something—and something pretty drastic—is happening to love and romance, American brand.

An expert of some kind made a report at a meeting the other day in which he diagnosed the American people as believers in the "happy ending." And the happy ending, in book or movie form, means the heroine's in the hero's arms and they'll live happily ever after.

There seems to be a concerted drive, however, to get people—particularly women—away from the idea that romance and love are the important things in picking a permanent mate.

Tear Romance In Pieces

Many of the literary psychologists and psychiatrists are busy at their typewriters slicing the concept of romance and romantic love into little pieces for analysis. When you've finished reading one of these pieces, you feel like an adolescent idiot if you've ever felt those stirrings that poets used to write about.

"Romantic feeling, personal preference, without which mankind lived reasonably happily for many hundred thousand years, has made men and women now unreasonably happy and unhappy," writes Theodore Reik sternly, commenting with apparent distaste on the fact that "this new factor, love, became the most important one in the choice of a mate."

In case you like to think that two people fall in love because they were preordained for each other, or some other delightful magic, modern thought is ready to disabuse you.

Reik, in an article called "The Chip on the Shoulder," in a new book, "Why Are You Single?" describes the process of falling in love?

Moonlight Is Nothing

"Before the individual meets his love object, certain psychological moods make him (or her) ready to fall in love. The most important of these is an inner, mostly unconscious dissatisfaction with himself, a concealed self-dislike which is frequently displaced and expressed in discontent with his family, job and environment."

That's fine, just fine. All that moonlight, roses, playing of violins and perfume is nothing. Next time a single girl sees something pretty attractive, she can bring herself up short by thinking that a suggestion to go dancing, she'd best change her job, poison her family or move into a new apartment.

Another modern romance note: time was when girls used to say they were waiting for Mr. Right. Now they have a plethora of articles saying that Mr. Right ain't a-gonna come seeking you, dear, because (a) love is largely dependent upon proximity and availability and (b) you've got to get right there and find yourself a man. Not The Man, a man.

Advice Is Frank

Advice on this subject is startlingly frank, if you've a romantic nature. No longer does anyone assume that man pursues. Everyone is conceding a girl has to fight with all possible equipment to snatch a husband. Her best bet is not someone she feels romantic about, but a Good Provider, a solid citizen and the Good Companion.

The smart modern girl is the aggressive one who studies the census figures and finds out where the most men are located. She's the one who studies how to catch a beau. I quote one bit of magazine advice to the hopeful but still unwed:

"You can't catch fish if your bait isn't right." And two sentences later: "Don't just think matrimony go out and do something about it."

Advise Girls To Bone Up

Most of the articles also advise girls to bone up so they can precede interests or opinions which add up to good bait. Once you've hooked this fish, gotten over your concealed self-dislike and relaxed, there's a new series of articles to read which tell you how to stiffen up a d pull back this husband who's slipping away again.

Personally, I like the old-fashioned type of thinking about love and romance much better. Boy meets girl, and all the rest of it, up to the "Wedding March." I want to believe in the emotion the poets wrote about; they write a lot better than these realistic experts anyway. I want to believe in love at first sight.

Do not drop ice cubes carelessly into glasses. The force of their fall often will crack glasses.

Lubbock Palsy Center Slates Youth Clinic

LUBBOCK — The Cerebral Palsy Treatment Center will hold a clinic for the examination of cerebral palsied children Monday, August 15. Dr. Charles B. Sadler, Amarillo and Dr. E. T. Driscoll, Plainview, will examine patients.

The Treatment Center, which was opened Aug. 23, 1948, is sponsored by the Lubbock Crippled Children's Society and the Lubbock Rotary Club. To date 188 cases have registered at the center for care. Children and parents report to the center once or twice each week for care where the child and parents are taught an exercise program to carry out at home.

Parents interested in bringing children to the clinic on August 15 are requested to register the child at the center at some time before the clinic date.

Suits Don New Color In Tweed

Old fashioned kasha cloth returns to make high-styled suits. Black yarn trims hipline and collar of jacket (above) which tops a slim skirt.

Tweed and jersey team for this curly colored ensemble. Tweed makes the three-quarter topper and peg-topped skirt, jersey tailors the blouse, lines the jacket

By EPSIE KINARD
NEA Fashion Editor

NEW YORK—Fine fabrics aid and abet the new suit in flagging eyes to its 1950 look.

Take tweeds, which are drawing glances their way from every direction. Whether fine or coarse-grained, nubby or smooth, homespun looking or highly-textured, tweed is an eye-catcher. That's particularly so when it appears in surprise colors. Mauve and curly-yellow tweeds are examples. To help tweed cut a swathe, woolens that are friendliest to it—jersey and woolknits for instance—make the suave blouses and line the jackets of many of this Fall's smartest suits.

Case in point is the suit with the new, long, roomy jacket that can double as a three-quarter length topper. Brigance designs this suit of curly-colored tweed, which has a pegged-topped skirt with a 13-inch high hemline, a brown leather belt and a jacket-lined and blouse of curly-colored jersey.

Kasha cloth—remember it?—

comes back to give dressy suits their look of Fall finery. A kasha cloth as colorless as oatmeal makes a newsworthy suit of Martin's design. He "braids" the zippered-closed jacket at collar and hipband with solid rows of stitched black yarn, belts it in the 1950 tradition and slims the suit silhouette with a skirt that hews to the typical 13-inch hemline.

GOOD GUESS

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Burns and their five children are enjoying a new $400 television set at home these days because Burns in a good sidewalk superintendent.

When a local wrecking concern began razing the old Hotel Henry this Spring to make way for the new U. S. Steel-Mellon Bank Building, passers-by were invited to guess when the site would be levelled. Burns, a Bureau of Internal Revenue agent, stopped by on his lunch hour one day, gave the project a cursory glance, and guessed exactly right.

Sheer Nylons Saved By Chemical Spray

By ALICE HART

Sheer misery—as you watch a snag slowly ladder up the knee of your sheer nylons—may be a thing of the past.

A new bottled liquid product promises to make even the finest of dress hose as highly resistant to snags and runs as any girl could want. The stuff, a colorless chemical, goes on in a fine spray with your own atomizer, or in an even coating over seams and toes, with a soft felt applicator.

The chemical settles in a tough, but completely invisible film over each fine nylon thread and can't be washed or worn out. It lasts the life of the stocking without affecting the color or sheerness of the hose.

But even chemically bathed stockings need fine care: No harsh scrubbing, wringing or scorching water for their nightly rinsing. Stockings should be dried over a smooth-as-silk drying rack with seams and toes pulled to shape. All garters should be fastened in the reinforced stocking top, and even "roll" garters should not come below that double line.

Open House Shows Church—

Before going upstairs to continue a tour of the educational units, the fellowship hall is adjacent to the Primary Department. It has a seating capacity of 200 and will be used as a recreation room, a room for meetings to be held in the church on a large scale other than worship services.

The kitchen adjoins the fellowship hall with serving windows opening into the hall. There is a double sink and plenty of cupboard space besides the dish cabinet which has a pass door through into the kitchen. There is an eight-burner stove and a refrigerator. The walls are done in light green tile half way up. A special feature of the cabinets is that the drawers may be used as trays and the dishes can be placed in them after being washed, therefore eliminating extra handling.

Parlor Decorated in Green
From the kitchen, we go into the woman's parlor. Decorated with pastel green walls and a carpet of neutral gray and pink, the room is furnished with green, yellow and maroon floral chairs and couch. At the west end of the room is a fireplace and mantel done in matching green shades with a bit of gold trim. The pictures on either side of the mantel are of birds with a background of matching green. There are floor and table lamps scattered throughout the room, giving just the right effect of lighting. On the east end of the room is a desk with mirrored panels enclosing the book space. The room also is equipped with a piano. The large drop table is provided to accommodate the women in serving refreshments. The four large windows on the north are draped with green curtains of a heavy mesh material, gathered full at the top.

This parlor will be used for informal meetings, receptions, small weddings, small parties, and teas. It will be used each Sunday morning to receive new members into the church. It is located near the sanctuary and will be convenient for this phase of the service.

Departments Upstairs
The Junior Department for nine, ten, and eleven-year olds, is located upstairs. The rooms are equipped with tables, chairs, blackboards and maps. The department has its own closet and coat and hat racks.

The adult assembly room will accommodate all of the adults for an assembly before going to individual classes on Sunday morning. There are three adult classes with rooms equipped for use. They are the Men's Bible Class, the Young Adult Class, and the Ladies' Bible Class. There is room for two more classes which are to be organized soon, the Mother's Class and a young adult class.

An unusual addition is the Older Young People's Class or the college class. This room will be used only during the Summer and holidays, because its members will be away in school the rest of the time.

Kitchenette Provided
The Pioneer and the Senior departments are broken up into small classrooms equipped with blackboards. There are three classes in each department. For the use of these departments, especially is a kitchenette to serve such groups on this floor. It is equipped with cabinet, stove and refrigerator. It is done in yellow tile. It will be used on Sunday nights to serve the Youth Fellowship.

Leaving the building on the west side, the officers of the church staff are noticed. The music room and part time office of the minister's secretary is on the right. It is equipped with closet space for choir robes, divided into three divisions, children's, men's and women's. A hymnal shelf and closet is provided for the music, with a full length mirror on the door for that last minute inspection before going to the sanctuary.

An Honor To God
The Religious Education director's office is on the left, with sufficient office space and book shelves and cabinet space. The pastor's office is next to the director's. The church secretary's office is located just inside the south entrance on the west, equipped to greet the visitor as he enters.

With a sanctuary and educational unit that truly honors God, the members of the First Presbyterian Church readily should join in with the psalmist in saying, "I was glad when they said unto me, let us go into the house of the Lord."

Christian Church Schedules Ground-Breaking Ceremony

The First Christian Church of Midland will break ground for its new, spacious and modern building in a special service at 7 p.m. Sunday at the building site at the corner of Michigan and F Streets in Northwest Midland. The public is invited to attend.

Construction will be started immediately and the building is expected to be ready for occupancy early in 1955. The church now is located at the corner of Illinois and Lorraine Streets.

The First Christian Church is one of the older church organizations of Midland, having been established in 1890. The Rev. Clyde Lindsay has been pastor of the church since July 1, 1945.

The new building will occupy the northeast quarter of a block, all of which is owned by the church. The structure will be of modified Gothic design, forming an L. A 30-foot tower will dominate the building. The main entrance will be through the tower, which will be located at the right angle formed by the two wings of the edifice. A door on the south, which will be protected by a drive-in porch, will provide a secondary entrance to the nave.

Art Glass Windows
The exterior of the building will be of mat face brick of light texture, and all trim will be of cast stone. Fourteen art glass windows, 12 feet in height, will appear in the nave wall, together with one master window in the end of the structure. The nave will be 34 1/2 feet wide and 89 feet long providing seating capacity for approximately 300 persons. Secondary seating for an additional 200 persons will be provided by use of a social room to the rear of the nave. The nave and social room will be separated with modern fold accordion doors.

The chancel area will receive specially manufactured paneling of oak. The central chancel area will have an elevated centered baptistry with communion table in the forefront. The communion table will be centered with a hand carving of Leonardo Da Vinci's "Last Supper," recessed in the table to receive special lighting arrangements. The wall seen through the baptistry will grace a beautiful art glass window of the "Resurrection of Christ." This window will be transferred from the old building to the new. The choir areas will be on each side of the chancel and facing the communion table. The pulpit will be located on the left and the lectern on the right of the chancel.

Oak Pews
The pews will be of oak and will be provided with air foam rubber, velvet covered cushion. All ground floors will be of concrete covered with asphalt tile. The second floor also will be asphalt tile covered over double wooden floors.

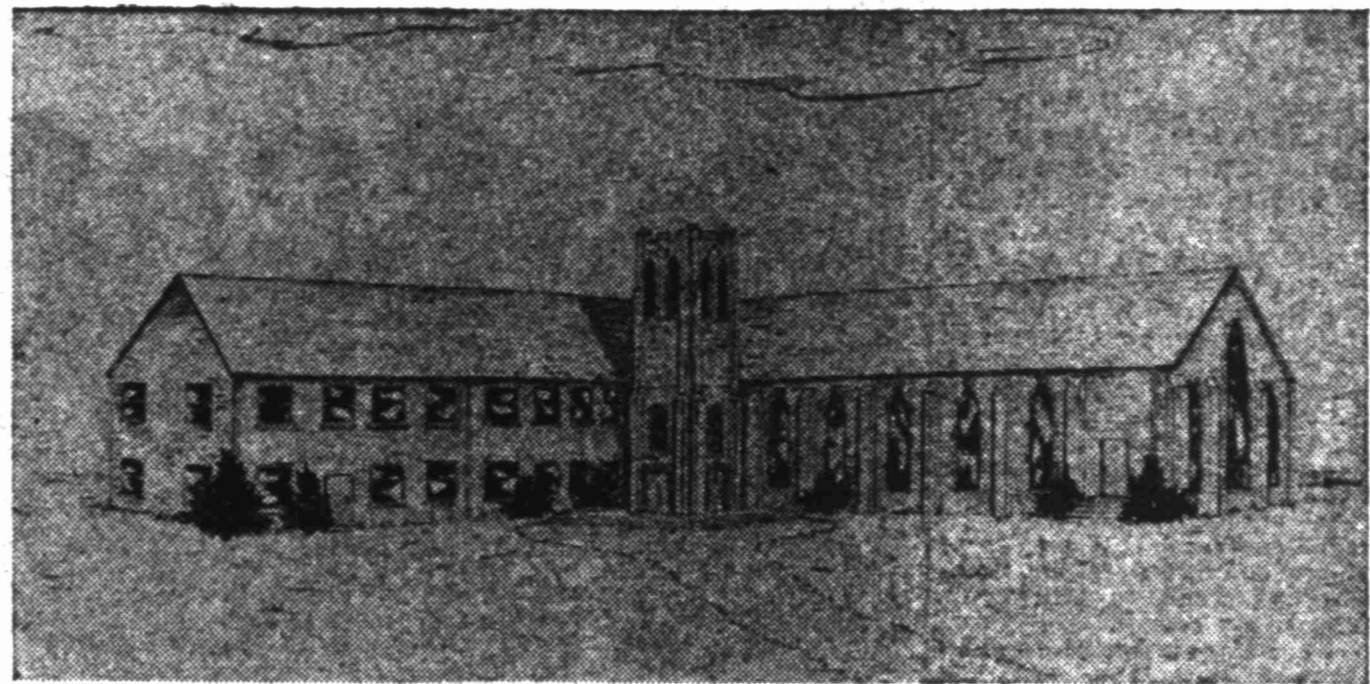

The nave walls will be 18 feet in height with pilasters supporting six exposed beams which extend 19 feet to the highest point of the roof. The overall depth of the nave will be 37 feet. The walls will be finished in the latest approved acoustical wall board, offering a blended tapestry effect in color and insuring excellent acoustics in the entire building. The ceiling, which will be formed in perlite bays eight by ten feet, will be stained to match the prevailing oak finish. The roof will be covered with colored asbestos cement roofing.

The educational building is 40 by 100 feet with two stories, offering 8,000 square feet of floor space. This will provide rooms for a fully graded Sunday School. A fully equipped kitchen provides service for the adjoining dining room with a capacity of 150 diners. A parlor will be located on the first floor.

Public Address System
A public address system will be installed to provide communication with every room as well as serving the nave.

A unique feature of the large site containing almost three acres of land will be the landscape and recreational development. The northwest quarter of the tract will be landscaped to provide a beautiful garden spot. The south half will be devoted to out-door recreational activities. Provision for

Will Have Family Reunion

The Arnett family will have a reunion and barbecue in the Big Spring State Park Sunday in honor of the seventy-fourth birthday of J. G. Arnett, the father. He came to Texas about 1838 and settled in Jones County. He moved to Big Spring in 1906 or 1907. In 1924 he moved to Midland then back to Big Spring in 1947 where he and Mrs. Arnett now reside. There are 22 grandchildren and one great-grandchild. All but one of the entire family is expected to attend the reunion. Pictured above is the complete family. Seated, left to right, are Mrs. B. D. Rice, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Arnett, the parents, and the Rev. J. W. (Bill) Arnett, the oldest, all of Big Spring. Standing, left to right, are Garrett and Fred Arnett of Midland, Mrs. Earnest A. Richert of Big Spring, Mrs. Richard Jones, Jr., of Midland, Mrs. J. J. Nichols and Mrs. Dewey Anderson of Odessa, Herschel of Huntington Park, Calif., and Leon Arnett of Midland. Included among the grandchildren from Midland are Becky and Ronald, children of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Arnett, Gail, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jones, Jr., and Ralph Wayne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Arnett.

Choose Clothes To Wear By Occasion

By ALICIA HART
 NEA Staff Writer
 It's not the dress-up clothes that spark a teen-ager's date life, but the well-chosen dress-down or active sport clothes that so often do it.
 Wear a bright red flowered sun-bathing outfit to the tennis court and chances are it will be your last invite on that racket twoome. Solid white or light pastels are the usual tennis colors with good reason: it's impossible to focus on the tennis ball through a mass of flickering print on the other side of the net.
 A sun-bathing outfit worn anywhere but for sun bathing is a dubious choice. Men are easily embarrassed by a date dressed to attract wolf calls and whistles. Keep your sun-bath dresses stole-covered and save diaper-cut bathing trunks for the beach.
 Sometimes old clothes are the best choice: Try tripping down to the harbor in your spaziest Summer sandals and dainty white shorts for sailing and you'll be laughed off the boat. A salt spray bath for shorts and sandals won't do either much good. Better wear old jeans and sneakers, if it's cool; a bathing suit, if it's warm.
 For active sports keep your clothes trim and uncluttered: Bright T shirts and shorts don't need jewelry touches. Bracelets, necklaces, dangling charms should be saved for your Summer formal, dress-up cottons.
 Select shoes that can take the guft of walking, biking and running. Comfortable play shoes and sturdy crepe-soled oxfords will keep you from limping along last in your crowd.

Teacher Loses Fifty Pounds And Places In Beauty Contest

AP Newsfeature
PORT DODGE, IOWA — Those "before and after" reducing pictures are no joke to pretty Mary Vee Hanrahan, 20, of Port Dodge.
 This rural school teacher lost 50 pounds in a year to cut her weight from 175 to less than 125 pounds. It was hard work, she says, to stick to a strict diet, but it brought results. She won runnerup honors in the beauty contest staged by the Iowa Press Photographers Association this Spring.

Judges Didn't Know
 The fact that Miss Hanrahan could even enter such a contest was a personal triumph of rigorous dieting and self denial—a story the judges didn't know.
 "A year ago I would have laughed at the thought of entering such a contest," she says. "For who would have given my 175 pounds a second look."
 The attractive young lady explains she put on most of her excessive weight when she was a child of 13, but for a couple of years didn't realize she was unusually heavy.
Had Severe Headaches
 She says she was misled by comments of older persons who often remarked, "My, what a healthy looking girl!"
 During her senior year in high school (1946) she weighed 195 pounds, and it shocked her into going to a doctor. Along with her overweight, she says, she had severe headaches.
 The doctor found she had high blood pressure and put her on a meanness diet which reduced her weight by 20 pounds within a few weeks.
 Then she continues, she began neglecting her diet. She remained at about 175 pounds during a year at Port Dodge junior college.
Tried Not Eating
 In 1947 she enrolled at Iowa State Teachers College for the Summer term. She determined to lose more weight and tried a new method—"just not eating."
 She skipped breakfast, had a salad at noon, and ate lightly at night. In eight weeks of this "starvation diet," she was down to 155 pounds but didn't feel well. She adds:
 "This 20 pounds went right back when I started teaching in a rural school in the Fall."
 In April of 1948 she asked a doctor for a weight-losing diet. Basically she cut out milk, potatoes, bread and dessert. She doesn't eat between meals except fruit juices or salads without dressing.
 This is what she usually eats:
 Breakfast—Toast, orange juice, black coffee.
 Lunch—Fruit, celery, lettuce, sometimes a hard boiled egg or some sliced meat, but no bread.
 Evening—A generous portion of meat and a couple of vegetables.
 By the end of last December she was down to 125 pounds and she expects to get down to a trim 115. No Trouble Buying Clothes
 "I feel like a different person and have so much more pep than I ever thought possible," she says. "I can buy without considering how this style or that color will emphasize my weight."
 What's more, she's a regular crusader about telling you of what she calls the folly of excess weight.

A price scoop! A style sensation!

Child Claims He's Hard Luck Champion

MIAMI, Ill.—(P)—Glenn Taylor, 8, believes he is the hard luck champion of Lake County. Six weeks ago he fell while playing and broke his right arm. Before the cast was removed, he fell and broke his left arm. A few days ago dirt thrown by a neighbor boy injured his right eye. A physician to make sure of its recovery, bandaged both eyes.

Mrs. America's Fall Wardrobe To Have Global Touch

Pioneer Shows Big Net Profit Increase

HOUSTON—A net profit of $56,614.58 was realized by Pioneer Air Lines for the first six months of 1949, it was reported Saturday by E. W. Bailey, secretary-treasurer. The $56,000 profit was after federal income taxes, and is equivalent to 63 cents per share of capital stock and is in comparison to a net profit of $15,808.97 or 17 cents per share earned during the first six months of 1948. A total of 48,000 revenue passengers was transported by Pioneer during the six month period this year in sharp contrast to 39,819 passengers for the like period in 1948. Mail poundage increased from 241,495 pounds in 1948 to 365,884 pounds for the six months in 1949. Express poundage increased from 72,943 to 96,186 and pounds of air freight increased from 71,000 to 180,710.

Richly dressed dolls in a designer's globe-circling tour supply these style cues for fall fashions.

From a Siamese dancing doll (left) this green wool gabardine dress picks up a swag of swinging pleats, a belt ornamented with buckle and "shiva," tiny Hindu symbol.

Japanese kimono (right) stages a comeback in pure silk brocade trimmed with gold insignia and washed like the geisha girl doll (right above).

By EPSIE KINARD
NEA Fashion Editor

NEW YORK—The exotic flavor that spiced up Mrs. America's Fall wardrobe comes from the Far East and from countries as far west, north and south as a globe-trotting designer could travel.

Tina Leser is the cypsy who circled the world and came back with dolls, paintings, ceremonial robes, peasant costumes and ideas for a rich, colorful and inspired collection.

Results are fashions influenced by people, scenery, customs, priceless objects of art and native costumes seen in Italy, France, England, Ireland, India, China, Japan, Siam and other countries of the Far East.

The geisha girl's kimono, the Japanese woman's "momi," and Japanese ceremonial robes inspired the at-home fashions which Miss Leser launches in sumptuous fabrics. One Japanese-styled kimono which stages its come-back in pure silk brocade is wrapped with an obi sash and is broom-embroidered with circles of gold thread. Such decorative motifs come courtesy of handsome Japanese gift wrappings which Miss Leser brought back.

From Siam—in particular from the costumes of Siamese dancers—come ideas for swag drapery and side pleats in plump clusters and unusual details which Miss Leser uses to create distinctive coats and dresses.

Borrowed from the satin skirt of a Siamese dancer, for example, is a swag of pleats which is swung to the side of the skirt of a green wool gabardine dress. The belt of this otherwise simply styled one-piece fastens with a big copper buckle, and is ornamented with a copper "shiva," a little Hindu symbol which caught Miss Leser's fancy on her Far East travels.

LARGE RETINUE

When the royal family of England travels on trains, about 40 men accompany it. These include 10 mechanical and technical experts, who are ready to repair the train if it breaks down.

Authors Must Have Exciting Autobiographies To Succeed

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Authors are frightening these days, they've lived such interesting lives. No guy can get published, it seems, unless he's been a sailor on a mutinied ship, was a prizefighter for a while or operated a combine in a Canadian province. Lady writers put in periods pretending they were household domestics, did a bit in jail for shoplifting or at least were psychoanalyzed by somebody important.

The rule on current autobiography—and the public seems to be more interested in that than in performance—is that it must be very humorous or very dramatic. On the off chance that some day I, too, will write a book or maybe a magazine article I am now revising my own personal history.

Here is my new autobiography, which goes into effect as of today: "Papa was a remittance man. Actually, at least he was never ever get him to talk about it—he was a younger son of the Duke of C— and destined for a career in the foreign office. There was a nasty scandal about Eton playing fields and although Papa later was absolved, he had to go. Born At Sea.

"Mama was a Spanish beauty and—although she never talked about it—the blood of kings ran in her veins. Hers was a tragic story which I heard much, much later. With her unfortunate experience with the western cattlemen, she disappeared from my life. After that Papa never talked, just sat around twirling his really magnificent mustachios. When his remittance came, he invariably uttered a short, nasty laugh and beat all the steel on our Tyrolean estate, it being mouflon season.

"Of course, I was born at sea, for Papa left the gaming tables of Monte Carlo in search of new sport on the mighty waters of the Mississippi. It was a dark, storm-tossed night and hope had just been given up that the ship would survive. Mother and child nearly died, what with small-pox broken out aboard but both—seared by the heat—had their wracked bodies carried off at Port Said.

"At a very tender age, Papa placed me in the famous school of Mont St.—, where the gentle teachers at once recognized my unusual abilities and insatiable love of literature. I was scarcely three before I had digested completely Homer, G. B. Shaw Proust and Welzschmer (Franz, not Hans).

"The amnesia which plagued me for so many years started in my teens, after the unhappy affair of the de V.—diamonds, but that is another story. But that was what led me to Tibet where as everyone knows by now I studied at the feet of the lamas and was inculcated with the vast Oriental lore which has stood me in such good stead in my future writings.

In World War I "When World War I broke out, Wilhelm II called for me immediately, his emissary on this occasion being a small wisened man with an Irish accent with whom I broke the blockade in a submarine. Right here and now I would like to deny the stories which were circulated about me, and state positively I had nothing to do with the horrible affair at T—.

"However, I am still not at liberty to reveal the tortured activities of the next few years, but sufficient to say that 18 armored divisions were sent to blast me out of the ancient fortress of Y—. The armistice found me in Terra del Fuego, raising guano, but that was

Stocking Caps Slick Topknot

This girl turns an old stocking into a skull-cap to keep her bangs and hair-do smooth.

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

The bob that hugs a girl's head like a close-fitting cap usually needs some homework to make it cling.

If flyaway hair, especially after a shampoo, blurs the outlines of your close-fitting bob, curb wild tendencies with a stocking cap.

A stocking cap is literally that. If it's a stocking disqualified for regular use by snags or runs, it can be kept in service to control hair after every shampoo.

Stretch the stocking top over your bob, first brushed, of course, to make hair lie smooth. Tie the dangling end of the stocking into a knot at the top of your head after the stretchy top has been pinned to stay put.

If you wear bangs, see that they go under the stocking cap, for smoothness of this front fringe is important to the smooth outlines of your cap-like coil. If you need to curl the ends of your hair, make pin curls by winding them up the curve of your cap after it is anchored.

Cole, Pomeroy Reverse—

Fryor, is better known as a director than an actor from his work with the Community Theater since its organization. He also has directed other productions in Midland, including the recent "Frontiers of Progress" pageant for the city's Trail Days Celebration.

However, he has given evidence of his acting ability in bit appearances in a number of the plays he directed. The past season he played the eccentric Professor Metz in "The Man Who Came To Dinner" and other bits in "The Late Christopher Bean" and "Pygmalion." He will play the part of Edward Middleton, a young collegian who inherits the fortunes of his father and is brought to near destruction by the scheming of another.

Bill Pennebaker, general chairman of the production for "The Drunkard," is another who has done varied work for the Community Theater in what he terms his specialties—backstage chores and mob scenes.

Patricia Fryor Plays Mary

The former included services as co-manager of staging for "I Remember Mama," the most elaborately-staged production in the Community Theater's history. As a participant in "mob scenes," Pennebaker has had almost as many walk-on roles as has Cole. He was a member of the Harvard Dramatics Club at Harvard University.

Patricia Fryor, who will play the part of Mary Wilson, the beautiful daughter of a poor widow, had the leading part in the production of "Dear Ruth" last year. She has appeared in a number of high school plays.

Her pious mother, Mrs. Wilson, will be played by June Kingdon who has been seen in "Years Ago."

Plays Same Part Again

Lawyer Cribbs, a villainous character, will be portrayed by Norris Orath. He appeared in the same role in a production of "The Drunkard" at San Angelo several years ago. In Midland he has had prominent parts in several Little Theater productions, "Borrowed Time," "State of the Union," "Kiss and Tell," "Ladies in Retirement," and "George Washington Slept Here."

Betty Kimbrough will appear in the role of Miss Spindle, a wealthy spinster. She was seen in "The Late Christopher Bean" last fall.

Law Hooy, just out of high school, will play the part of William Downton, a heroic son of the soil who is the stand-by of the hero and heroine. He had the leading role in the play, "Junior Miss," two years ago. He also has appeared in a number of high school plays.

Loretta Marsh Is Agnes

Arden Renoclaw, a philanthropist, will be played by John De-

Ford. He has been seen in "I Remember Mama," "State of the Union" and "George Washington Slept Here."

The half-witted sister of Downton, Agnes, is played by Loretta Marsh. She was voted the Community Theater's best actress of 1948. She has played roles in "Guest in the House," and "Angel Street."

A newcomer to the Midland stage, Paxton Howard, will make his debut as the barkeeper. He has had parts in a number of Little Theater productions in Tulsa. He is president of the Community Theater.

Tickets On Sale Friday

The first night of the show has been sold to a local organization. Tickets will go on sale to the general public Friday. The American Legion Hall will accommodate 450 people at tables for four. Songbooks, concessions and the like will be sold during the show.

In offering "The Drunkard" to a modern audience the Summer Mummer's are attempting to recreate the atmosphere of the music hall of the middle-fifties in the nineteenth century. The music hall was a typical American theater of that time and sipping beer, punch or coffee at tables was a distinct feature of the evening's entertainment. The stage settings, the acting and the "old" or "After Show" as reflected in the Summer Mummer's production all will be typical of the theater of a century ago.

Although the stage is small, the director is making use of a number of back drops and the type of settings which were used on the small stages of yesteryears.

Her pious mother, Mrs. Wilson, will be played by June Kingdon who has been seen in "Years Ago."

Gov. Daugherty Is Back From Lions Meet In New York

James L. Daugherty of Midland, governor of District 2-T-2, Lions International, returned Friday night from New York City where he attended the annual convention of the International Association of Lions Clubs. The trip to and from New York was made by plane.

The Midland Lion, a past president of the Lions Club here, was installed as governor of the West Texas district at the international convention. He was elected to the office at the district convention in Pecos, May 30.

Governor Daugherty said the New York convention was one of the most successful in the history of Lions International. More than 30,000 Lions from 26 countries were in attendance.

Roy Minear, president of the Midland Lions Club, and Mrs. Minear, who also attended the convention, will return Sunday. Mrs. N. A. Lancaster, who accompanied the Midland group to New York, remained there for an indefinite stay.

Daugherty and Minear will make convention reports at the Wednesday meeting of the Lions Club.

If your food budget is a problem and you want to use thrifty cuts of beef here is a listing of them: pot roast, shoulder roast, shoulder steak, flank steak, boneless chuck pot roast, boiling beef, short ribs, boneless neck, beef brisket, shank meat, and hamburger.

DON'T BE ALARMED—

Monahans Invades Midland! Lulls Citizens With Music; Distributes Rodeo Propaganda

By BERRY APPLING

Monahans invaded downtown Midland Saturday, set up headquarters at the Wall Street entrance of Hotel Scharbauer and held although surrounded by swarms of Midlanders.

Swarms of Scouts quickly scurried into the foxholes (downtown buildings) strewn propaganda bulletins as they advanced. Lulling the "defending" Midland legions and lending courage to the conquerors with bars of pulse-quacking melody were Johnny Hopson and his Tennessee Valley Boys.

As more and more people gathered to observe the activity, the Monahans commanding general, the Rev. Raymond Smoot of the Calvary Baptist Church in the Ward County city, stepped to a microphone and issued his first proclamation after "surrender."

People Of Midland, you are urged to attend the Monahans World Championship Rodeo being held July 27 through 30. We are offering four big days of thrills, spills and excitement.

With representatives of the Monahans city police and Ward County sheriff's office shaking hands with Police Chief Jack Ellington, the 30-odd soldiers of the Monahans army withdrew from their positions after promising to meet the Midlanders again in Monahans.

Other West Texas cities slated for invasion Saturday were: Big Spring, Garden City, Big Lake, Rankin, Iraan, McCamey, Crane and Odessa.

If you come home from a picnic with leftover sandwiches wrap them well in waxed paper or aluminum foil and store them in the refrigerator. The next day they can be grilled in a little butter or margarine and served with a salad as a luncheon dish. Or they can be toasted under the broiler and served with a cream, cheese or tomato sauce; choose the sauce that goes with the filling.

Donna Baker—

nia. Mrs. Baker wore a navy blue dress with white accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

A wedding breakfast was held following the ceremony in the home of the bride's parents with the bride party, the families of the couple and out-of-city guests attending. Mona Thorp, Doris Cohee, Asa Lee Ferguson and Mary L. Leicum of Altus, Janet Moses of Polio Chief Jack Ellington, the 30-odd soldiers of the Monahans army withdrew from their positions after promising to meet the Midlanders again in Monahans.

The bride is a graduate of Altus High School and attended the University of Oklahoma two years. She is a member of the social sorority, Kappa Alpha Theta.

Conkling was graduated from Midland High School and the University of Oklahoma. He is a member of the Sigma Chi social fraternity. He is a consulting geologist with the firm of Russell C. Conkling and Sons in Midland.

The bride chose a beige crepe suit with green accessories and a corsage of a cypripedium orchid for travel. After a 10-day trip to Ruidoso, N. M., the couple will be at home in Midland.

Mature Beauty Is Possible

Beauty expert Floyd Barbee illustrates her own beauty plan for mature women: She turns gardening into exercise that yields figure improvements. The two mirrors bear witness to Miss Barbee's beauty blueprint: A nightly oiling for supple skin (upper left); a high-fashioned beflowered hat and matching fan clearly labeled "for sophisticates only."

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer
The reason the older woman can be the smartest-looking woman in any group of assorted ages is because her experience has taught her how to be.

How to make your experience work for you, if you're inclined to let it loaf, is where beauty expert Floyd Barbee can be of help. As a teacher in the Powers School, this former John Powers model, who in private life is Mrs. Thomas Kerrigan and the mother of a grown son, worked out a beauty plan for herself from which any woman can derive as much benefit.

One way to grow more fascinating as you grow older, Miss Barbee is convinced, is to wear extreme styles that are too high-fashion, too ludicrous on the young. Examples are her own favorite after-five accessories — a bright, beflowered hat with matching flower-trimmed fan which are outright attention-getters. What's more, no youngster could carry these off with as much dash.

But even a sophisticated woman needs the assurance that her face and figure can stand the close scrutiny her high-styled clothes will invite.

Miss Barbee, a make-up and skill expert, thinks that any skin past the first flush of youth needs extra lubrication. She uses a facial oil for removing make-up and depends upon it to keep skin supple. Her oil comes out again for a wrinkle-halting job at bedtime. With elbows hiked to shoulder height to avoid even the possibility of a downward sag-making motion with her hands, she rubs the oil in — and out. This must be done every night, and after any sun-tanning session which may turn a mature face "leathery."

Lithe and slim as a young girl, Miss Barbee admitted without a blush that she works to keep her figure by watching her diet (she limits her starches and sugars, leans heavily toward fruit and vegetable plates); by taking tennis lessons; by gardening stunts that are exercise in disguise. "Gardening," she insists, "can be slimming if you take a good position with straight back, knees together, body taut as you work with that trowel. Even walking is slimming if you walk with head held high, back tucked down and in, arms swinging."

Outdoor activity is good for your figure — good for your health too. "Ask your doctor if dieting and mild exercise won't do a lot for you no matter how out of condition you are. And while you're asking," she continued, "find out just how highly he rates good morale, varied interests and stimulating friends as health and youth assets."

It is wise when using an automatic iron to iron the lower temperature fabrics first. Electric experts say that the iron heats more rapidly than it cools.

Keep Sandwiches, Pies, Cakes, Meat Loaves In Home Freezers

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
A homemaker who testifies to the tremendous help a home freezer can be to a suburban family is Mrs. Peg Benjamin of White Plains, N. Y. Mrs. Benjamin's freezer is stacked with everything from cooked and packaged meals for her two puppies to chopped spinach and pureed fruits for her 10-month-old daughter, all neatly packed in the new aluminum tray-type containers.

Sandwiches for the two elder youngsters' noon lunches keep fresh and moist, and Mrs. Benjamin's freezer is always ready with meat loaves, chicken pie, and even Virginia baked hams she can take out whenever her husband phones he's bringing home friends from the city. Says Peg:

"I don't think what I do is unusual, although I was a home freezer before I was married, and I'm from the South where we thoroughly believe in having lots of folks drop in for meals."

"We don't have much of a vegetable garden, but we do live near enough to farming areas so we can drive out and pick strawberries and raspberries by the crate and buy fresh vegetables at fairly reasonable prices."

But it's really the convenience that has both Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin thoroughly into keeping their freezer well stocked. Whenever Peg bakes, she makes up extra pies, cakes, puddings or whatever she happens to be baking. She says:

"Pies are the easiest thing in the world to freeze, and you can't tell the fresh baked from the frozen."

Peg prepares pies just as usual. Points to remember, she says, are not to cut a vent in the top crust until just before baking and to seal the top crust securely to the bottom crust. She uses inexpensive 10-cent pie plates for holding the pies, then covers the tops securely with light-weight aluminum foil that comes in 12-inch-wide rolls.

When she wants to serve pie for dinner, she removes the foil from the frozen pie, makes a few decorative cuts in the top crust (it will cut even though frozen) and pops the pie in a hot oven (450°). She holds it at this high temperature for 15 or 20 minutes, or until the top crust begins to brown; then she reduces the heat to medium (350°) and finishes baking. She has frozen apple, blueberry, cherry, and in the winter, mince, and pronounces them all wonderful. She explains:

"Cakes, cupcakes, muffins and rolls I bake before freezing."

"Wrapping them all in lightweight aluminum foil, she seals it by double-folding the edges and creating them tightly. Adds Peg:

"Lately I've been making upside down cakes in the pint size aluminum containers I've used for vegetables and fruits. I make a two-egg cake the usual way and I let two tablespoons of butter or margarine soften in the bottom of each container, then I sprinkle one-quarter cup of brown sugar (firmly packed) in each. Next I put a small round of pineapple or three (3/8") apricots in the bottom of the cake batter, filling the containers about two-thirds full. I find the standard two-egg cake mixture fills between five and six of these pint size containers. When they are baked, they just fill the containers in the oven until the cakes are piping hot. You turn them out immediately, so that the lovely brown pineapple topping comes out intact."

Peg uses the quart size of these same aluminum containers for loaf cakes, meat loaves and desserts such as rice pudding, apple brown betty and date torte.

If you have a new home freezer or are thinking of buying one, be sure to follow the best available directions for freezing foods. Many state colleges have booklets on freezing and they will send to state residents. The U. S. Department of Agriculture will also send two bulletins, number AIS-48 "Home Freezing of Fruits and Vegetables" and number AWI-75 "Freezing Meat and Poultry for Home Use."

City Council May Seek Paving Bids At Tuesday Meet

The advertising for bids on units B and C of Midland's 500-block paving program may be authorized at a regular meeting of the City Council at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, City Manager H. A. Thomason said Saturday.

He said the engineering on the projects has been completed and plans and specifications are ready for interested contractors. Approximately 200 blocks are included in the two units.

Brown and Root, Inc. of Houston has the contract on Unit A, with the paving work progressing on schedule.

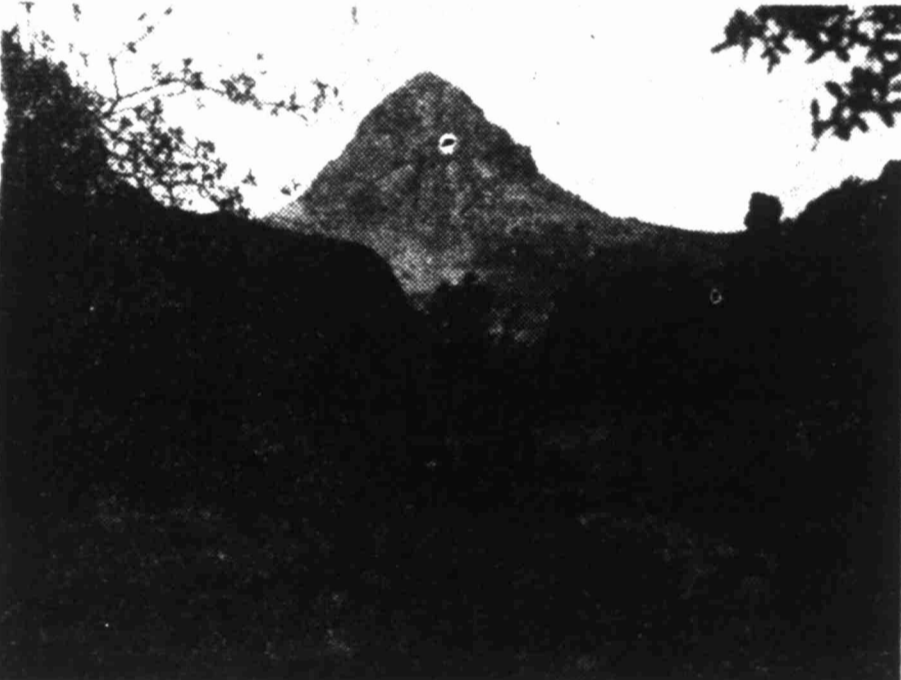

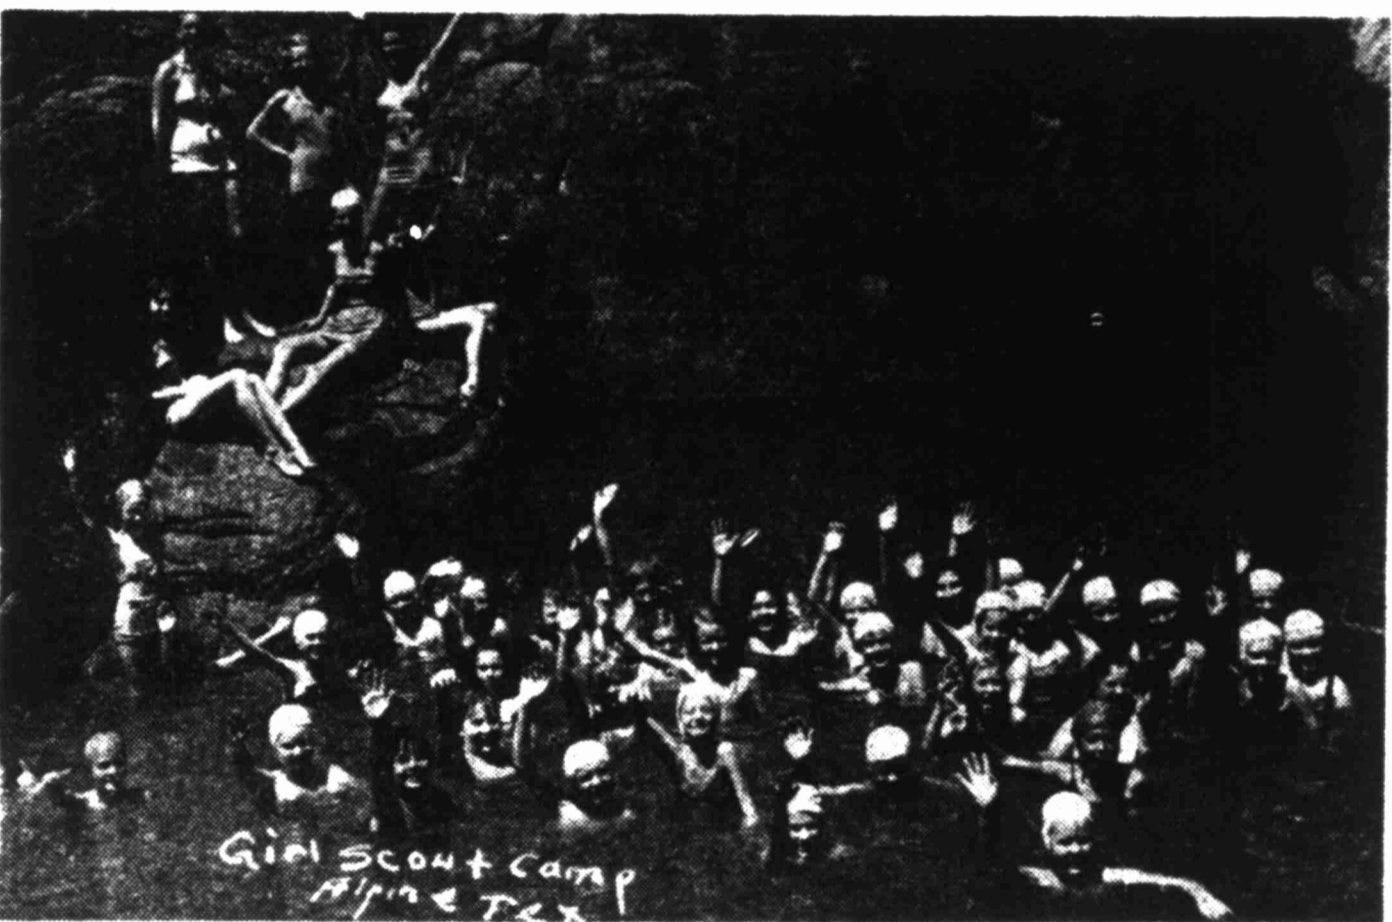

It is expected that Brown and Root will be a strong contender for the Units B and C contract.

Thomason said the program is progressing so rapidly that it should be possible to complete 250 blocks of paving by the middle of December.

Mitre Peak Camp Is Popular Spot

Ninety-Two Midland Girl Scouts Attend Picturesque Area Camp In Davis Mountains

As the Permian Basin Area Girl Scout Camp completes its second year as an established camp, July 30, 92 Midland girls will have attended during this Summer. The camp is located 13 miles northwest of Alpine.

Three groups of Intermediates and two of Brownies have completed one and two week periods at the camp and a group of Senior campers will leave Monday to stay through Saturday.

Nine cities of the ten participating in the area program of Girl Scout work have been represented by 408 campers registered.

The program for the camp includes campcraft, outdoor activities, and arts and crafts. Outdoor cooking, fire building, tool craft, first-aid and care of the camp are included in the campcraft. Outdoor activities of hiking, volley ball, basketball, horseshoes, badminton, swimming, archery and nature hikes are participated in. Painting, weaving, soap carving, finger painting, ceramics and sketching make up the arts and crafts program.

An overnight horseback trip from Fort Davis and a visit to McDonald Observatory have been planned for the Senior camp.

Staff Listed

Many of the Scouts have participated in the badge work offered. A camp newspaper, written by the campers, is published weekly. The staff includes Mrs. Ella McBride of Alpine, chairman of camp committee for the Permian Basin Area Council; Mrs. J. J. Black of Midland, camp director; Mrs. J. E. Stanley of Pecos, business manager and area executive secretary; Leatrice Brown of Tucumcari, N. M., waterfront director.

Counselors are Joanne Starnes and Mary Alice Allen of Fort Worth, Gwen Glenn, Mary Louise Patterson, Romadene Alexander and Betty Kyle of Abilene, Frances Carr of Merton, Bobbie Eoff of Ballinger, Bernice Waggoner of Tipton, Okla., Lois Black of Midland, and Jo Nell Pope and Mrs. Winabeth Buchanan of Alpine.

Honor Scouts Go

The dietician staff is composed of Yvonne Cogswell of Eddy, Joan Kendrick of Abilene, Daphne Taber and Peggy Charlton of Midland, and Mrs. C. J. Brown of Alpine. C. J. Brown is the caretaker.

Two of the Seniors who will leave Monday won camperships for outstanding work the last year. They are Shirley Rea Harrison, Senior award, and Anna Bess Doyle, Intermediate award. Others leaving Monday include Ruth Steel, Joan F. Turner, Peggy Simmons, Jo Dean Downing, Camille Birkhead and Marion Sevier.

Intermediate girls attending during the period, June 6 to June 18 included Patricia Wilkerson, Sharon Lee Herrell, Jackie Ann Collier, Dorothy Black, Gail Black, Beverly Kay Beville, Carolyn Leggett, Linda Thomason, Kay Mitchell, Ella Jane Payne, Linda Davis, Carol Ann Walker, Susanne Hood, Nanette Hays, Sandra Shaw, Caroline Hazlip, Janice Hill, Margie Jean Miller, Cheryl Lee Grimm, Linda Thomas, Jan Houck, Mary Louise Erskine, Diana Lynn Davis, Nancy Lou Klinger, Carolyn McKnight, Peggy O'Neal and Jerry Gale Mathews.

Two Groups Of Brownies

Cooling Capers Can Beat Summer Heat

By ALICIA HART NEA Staff Writer

The heat—or is it the humidity—doesn't spare anyone young or old but a steaming Summer seems to take a heavier beauty toll of the older woman.

There's no ignoring it! Either take relief measures during the Summer or be prepared to look fatigued and wilted.

First—to feel cooler, curb your emotional "highs and lows." Excitement, jittery nerves and anger are all heat-making. You'll feel cooler when you shrug off irritations: when you ignore annoyances. Your lively color and youthful step will be slowed down if you don't take more time out for rest and relaxation. If it's difficult to fall asleep on hot nights, try a warm (not cold) shower.

Even with seven or eight hours of nightly sleep, plan to have a daily half-hour mid-day nap. Strip down to your coolest brunch coat, strip combs and bob-pins from your hair, kick off shoes and relax. Real rest eases worry from your mind, deinks knotted nerves, relaxes taut muscles. You'll get your sleep in time, but even if you don't the relaxation is almost as important in benefits.

Limit your Summer shopping tours: order by phone or mail wherever possible. When you do make the rounds of the stores stow a tiny bottle of cologne and some cotton pellets in your handbag to be used for freshening up in some convenient powder room in between your rounds.

Navy Will Expand Electronics Field

The Navy Department recently announced a move to recruit more personnel for its expanding electronics program and to alleviate a critical shortage of electronics technicians. Beginning with the month of July the Navy hopes to enlist 1,000 per month in the Electronics Technician Program and an unlimited number in the Electronics Technician Training Program.

Applicants for both programs must have had no prior military service in any branch of the Armed Forces, except in reserve component subsequent to March 31, 1946. Electronic technician applicants must attain a minimum score on their Qualification Test and a passing grade on an Electronics Technician Selection Test, formerly known as the Eddy Test. Upon completion of recruit training, applicants will be assigned to a Class "A" electronics technician school. Personnel selected under the Electronics Field Procurement Program will be assured an opportunity of being sent to one of seven Class "A" service schools in the electronics field. These schools are: electronics technician, fire control technician, interior communication electrician, radio-telegraph technician, fire controlman, and radarman. During the period of recruit training the men will be classified and assigned to a service school of their choice, consistent with their individual qualifications and the needs of the service.

Applicants for the Aviation Electronics Program are obtained from among personnel accepted for enlistment under the high school graduate airman recruit program. A U. S. Navy recruiting station is located in the post office building at San Angelo.

Cluttered, Cramped Bedroom Redecorated Can Give Illusion Of Size, And Triple Storage

A storage wall fitted from corner to corner and over the door in this bedroom (right) serves as a wardrobe, linen closet and chest. It replaces boxes, hampers, bundles and chests in "before" picture (above).

EDITOR'S NOTE: Here's the first of four step-by-step articles that show you how to change today's cramped living into a glorious home—and still stay within your income. They're written for NEA Service by America's top professional designer in the "budget" field.

By HUGH EVANS
Written for NEA Service
NEW YORK (NEA)—The overflow that lurks under beds, hides in fireplaces, and climbs to the ceiling in bedroom corners is an all-too familiar problem for today's householders in cramped homes or apartments.

As an interior designer specializing in budget decorating, the plea I hear most frequently is "How can we possibly increase our storage facilities, get rid of this clutter, make the bedroom more livable and do it all on a budget?" The problem isn't as hopeless as it sounds. Case in point is the redecorated bedroom of a young client, whom we shall call Mrs. X. The "before" picture of her bedroom is eloquent proof of her closet overflow, luggage boxes and hampers and bundles of hats, shoes, clothes, and blankets. These were crammed everywhere, including the fireplace opening over which Mrs. X hung a pathetic-looking little black curtain.

Contributing to the clutter and near-stifling aspect of the bedroom were badly draped windows and doors leading to the terrace which added to the "chopped up" look; two dressers, two built-in chests and a too-skimpy rug "broke up" the floor space and did its noble best to make the room look smaller and crowded.

In re-designing the room we tripled the existing storage space provided by one small closet and increased the apparent room size by simple decorating devices which anyone faced with the same problem can use.

What was done to increase storage space to give the illusion of more bedroom was to put in a wall-to-wall storage unit across one wall.

tailor-fitted to Mr. and Mrs. X's needs. Factory-made units doubling as closets, chests, wardrobes and cupboards were assembled, painted to match the other walls of the room and framed by panels. One sectioned storage unit was fitted over the doorway.

The over-all effect was one of expensive custom-made cabinetry, although these units are standard. Sections are pre-sized in a wide range of widths and heights, easily assembled, secured by screws and made to fit practically any wall space. Color, molding, day, storage wall units can be unscrewed and carted away like any other furniture.

To aid the new illusion of unbroken space, we treated the windows and doors as one unit and curtained that wall from ceiling to floor. Mrs. X's "fabric wall" is of blue and white-striped chintz splashed with violet clusters and gold butterflies.

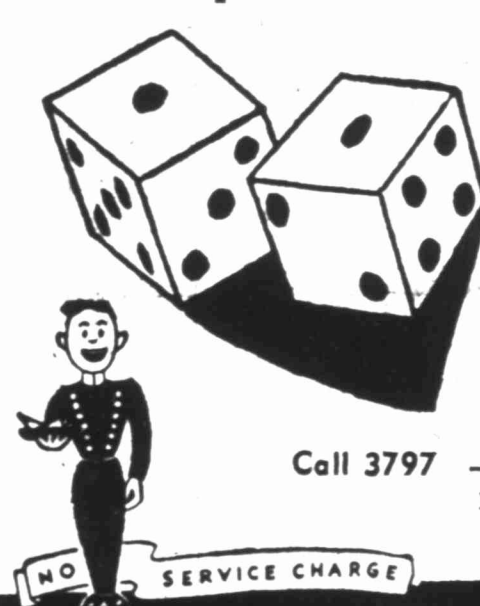

Other inexpensive fabrics could be used the same way—theatrical gauze, striped awning or caulked, dyed muslin or sheeting. To give a luxury look I always use twice as much material as the width of the space to be decorated.

A tour of Salvation Army warehouses rewarded me with a pair of cotton chenille rugs matched to the blue of Mrs. X's bedroom walls. These cost less than the price of having them cleaned. We laid these to simulate wall-to-wall carpeting and to give the floor an unbroken color effect. The unmatched chests were moved out of the bedroom and a desk moved in to fill newly found floor space.

Tailored rayon faille bedspreads of mauve were used to "pick up" the violet-sprigged color of the curtains and the room was then highlighted in white. A white plaster head was centered over the mantel. A dark oval mirror was given a flat white finish and white lamps and lampshades were introduced to give a final wedge-wood blue-and-white accent to the room.

Boyle Shows Great Awe Of Built-In Age

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—This is the built-in age.

Nobody any longer wants anything unless it is also guaranteed to have at least a couple of other features built into it.

This goes for practically everything from brassiers to bookcases from three-flavor ice cream to cigarette boxes that play "Yankee Doodle" when opened.

Think I'm kidding? Well, over in Glasgow they've just developed a blouse with a built-in perfume maker. A girl sweet in any flavor she wants for months and months. But this international craze to build something into something else probably has reached its true flower in the motor car and household gadget industries.

An automobile used to be a vehicle to get you from here to there. But now cars gradually are taking the place of the old-fashioned home. You can shave in them, listen to a concert, smoke, carry on a long distance telephone conversation with Paris, or push a button and slice your mother-in-law in half with an automatic sliding window. About the only thing you can't do in them is play a tuba.

Broom, For Instance
Take what happened to the simple broom. It used to be a straightforward instrument for gathering dust out of odd corners. Then they turned it into a carpet sweeper. Then it developed into the vacuum cleaner. And what won't it do now? It'll paint walls, wax floors, dry the baby, manicure the furniture and shampoo your rug or your dog or your wife.

Furniture has become so complicated by built-in gadgets you can't even tell its function from an outside look. Soon we'll have to hang an index on each piece to know all it is capable of.

As it is now I always have a moment of fear when a host asks me to pull open the door of a new cabinet in his living room. I never know whether the thing will dump a sack of laundry on the floor, flip out an X-ray picture of my lungs, spray me with Martinis, roll out into a sofa bed or just show another television wrestling match from Chicago.

East Europeans Visiting Russia
MOSCOW (AP)—Thousands of peasants from Eastern European countries have been visiting the Soviet Union and learning about Soviet agriculture. For instance, three delegations of Polish peasants have made extensive visits to the Soviet Ukraine.

A Romanian peasant delegation consisting of over 150 Romanian peasants has visited Moscow. It then visited dozens of collective farms, state farms, machine and tractor stations and other Soviet agricultural enterprises in various areas of the nation. A Hungarian peasant delegation recently spent some weeks in the USSR. The delegates are elected by their villages to represent the village.

Daddy Ringtail By WESLEY DAVIS

Daddy Ringtail And Song Of The Wolf

That friendly wolf, the Huffen Puffen, was having a sad, sad day. Everything had turned out wrong, it seemed. His hollow tree house was hot, and so he had awakened too early that morning. He went out to sleep on the grass beneath the trees, but the singing of the birds was enough to keep him awake.

The Huffen sat down on the grass. He pointed his nose up at the sky. He howled his saddest wolf howl. No sir, this was a day when everything was going wrong for the Huffen. He howled again, and then he sat there, feeling sorry for himself.

That's what he was doing when Mugwump Monkey came walking along, eating a piece of scrambled coconut on some scrambled coconut. "I would like to have a bit, I would," said the Huffen. "Huh?" said Mugwump, just as he ate the very last bite. The Huffen howled again. Said Mugwump: "Huffen Puffen, if you could sing as well as you howl, I bet the man would want you to sing at his radio station."

The Huffen chuckled to hear it. His tail came out from between his legs where he had put it to show how unhappy he was. Said he: "Oh, I can sing as pretty as I howl, I can!" He howled once again, and then he sang a bit of a song to show that his singing was very much like his howling. That is when the radio man came walking along to see what the singing and howling was about. He listened again to the Huffen, while the Huffen sang and howled and howled and sang. "Yes!" said the radio man, "we pay a hundred coconuts for singing and howling like that." And he counted out a hundred coconuts from the great big bag on his back right then and there. "Now when do I do my singing out over your radio?" asked the Huffen. "You don't," said the man, and away he walked in a hurry. He had paid the Huffen not to sing, for who wants to hear a song that sounds like a howl? And that is the sad, sad story of the Song of the Wolf. The Huffen laughs when he tells about it, even to this very day. Happy day! (Copyright 1949, General Features Corp.)

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1949, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
Drew Pearson says: Justice Frank Murphy was the friend of little people; Murphy aspired to equal Oliver Wendell Holmes; FDR put Murphy on court to protect city bosses.

WASHINGTON — I have paid tribute many times to Frank Murphy when he was living, but it seems difficult to write about him now that he is dead. One reason is that it is hard to realize that he is gone.

A lot of people will miss Frank Murphy. His family will miss him. His liberal friends on the Supreme Court will miss him. But most of all, the little people of the world will miss him.

For he was their friend. Soon after Frank was appointed to the Supreme Court, he took me into his study in the Washington Hotel, and pointed to a stack of law books.

"That's where I spend my evenings," he said. "The newspapers say that I'm no lawyer. They make fun of my legal ability. But they're going to be disappointed. And you're going to be proud of my opinions," he continued. "For some day they're going to compare with those of Oliver Wendell Holmes."

There was something of the boy in Frank Murphy—to the very end. He loved praise, hated criticism, and was always a little worried as to what kind of Supreme Court justice he would be. He shouldn't have been, for I am sure that some of Frank's dissenters will stand up—as he so ardently hoped—alongside the ringing defenses of freedom written by Holmes. More important, Frank Murphy always will be known as one of our great champions of the common man.

It made no difference whether that man was a Filipino, a convicted Japanese war criminal, a labor leader, the father of a Nazi saboteur, a member of Jehovah's Witnesses which bitterly criticized his own Catholic Church, or a newspaperman who had criticized him. If the man was losing his civil rights, Frank Murphy fought for him—no matter what the odds and no matter how severe the sting of public opinion.

Tough Attorney General
Yet, while Murphy was the great champion of the man who had been wronged, he was also one of the toughest attorneys general ever to preside over the Justice Department. Murphy became attorney general in January, 1939, and immediately launched the biggest political clean-up this country ever has seen. U. S. Judge Martin T. Manton, of the Second Circuit Court in New York, had been getting away with graft for years. Many people knew this, but other attorneys general had let it pass.

Manton was a Catholic. Murphy was a Catholic. But Manton ended up in jail just the same. In Louisiana, this column had exposed shocking graft by the old Huey Long gang. Frank Murphy took the columns, with supporting affidavits, called a grand jury, flew to New Orleans, and in record time convicted Gov. Richard Leche, the Democratic national committeeman, the head of WPA, the president of the state university, and several others.

Convicted Pendergast
In Missouri, the newspapers had talked about the graft of the Pendergast machine. But Washington paid no attention. But under Frank Murphy, a tough district attorney—Maurice Milligan of Kansas City—got Justice Department support, and Tom Pendergast, the man who made Harry Truman, ended up behind the bars.

Murphy also moved into Atlantic City against GOP Boss Nucky Johnson, and started to move against Boss Hague in Jersey City and Mayor Kelly in Chicago. The latter two were Democrats.

Saving The City Bosses
It was widely rumored when Frank Murphy retired as attorney general to join the Supreme Court that he was "kicked upstairs" in order to protect the Democratic bosses. I have a personal reason for believing this was true.

However, it should also be noted that with the death of Justice Pierce Butler, a Catholic, in November, 1939, Roosevelt wanted a Catholic to take his place. Likewise, it was true that FDR's fair-haired boy, Robert H. Jackson, was being groomed for the presidency, and the White House wanted the Justice Department spotlight to play on him. I am convinced, however, that the first factor—calling Murphy off the heels of the big-city bosses—was the most important. And here is my reason for thinking so.

By this time—early in 1940—most of the Louisiana scandals had been cleaned up, and a grand jury was considering the indictment of Mayor Robert Maestri of New Orleans on a hot oil charge. Suddenly, Chief Prosecutor John Rogge was called out of the jury room to answer the telephone from Washington. Returning to the jury room, he suspended the grand jury proceedings.

Learning of this mysterious move, I wrote to Frank Murphy and asked for an explanation. Murphy told the truth. Mayor Maestri was not to be indicted, he said. He had received orders from the White House.

That was 1940—a presidential year. In order to get the nomination, FDR needed the support of the big-city bosses, and in Louisiana the only man who could deliver the delegation was Mayor Maestri.

Ironically, when Frank Murphy went up to the Supreme Court to be sworn in, he asked Felix Frankfurter to accompany him. Murphy had recommended Frankfurter's court appointment to the White House, and they were close friends.

But, in a short time, however, they were bitter enemies. Frankfurter's scathing sarcasm hurt Murphy, and they scarcely spoke. Murphy was also bitter against brain-truster Tom Corcoran, once his closest friend, but who he felt had conspired to block his prosecution of city bosses.

At first Frank wasn't too happy on the court. This especially was true during the war, when he hated to be sitting in the cloistered courtroom with the greatest battle in history being waged around him. Several times he offered his services to Roosevelt several times he told me that FDR had discussed making him secretary of War.

For political-unity reasons, Henry L. Stimson was made secretary of War instead, and Frank Murphy, resigning himself to the quiet of the Supreme Court, settled down to work on being a justice.

Frank knew for some time that he was sick, knew that he might die. And, loving life as he did, he fought off death. He fought it off partly by telling himself and his friends how fine he felt.

The last time I saw him, only a few weeks ago, he flexed his biceps and said: "They say I'm sick. But feel that muscle. They can't keep a man like me down."

And Frank was right. For, although the unruly red hair and the laughing Irish in his eyes will no longer be seen at Madame Cafritz's soirees, the opinions Frank hammered out at midnight will go on protecting his friends—the little people—as long as there are little people to protect in this world, which is forever.

There Is More To Dental Care Than Daily Brushing

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

The old dental health rule—brush teeth twice a day, see your dentist twice a year—still holds but there's more to your job than that if you expect oral health.

To the patient in the dental chair the filling of a cavity seems the most vital. Dentists, however, often find that gum diseases can cause as much trouble.

Gum troubles often stem from sheer neglect. If you're too neglectful to go to the dentist regularly to have tartar removed from the gumline, for example, you'll end up with a painful digging job to be done and what may be worse, a receding gumline.

Even with conscientious brushing your teeth crevices will retain tiny food particles, a cause for embarrassing mouth odors that many people never suspect.

It's both a social and health safeguard (decomposed food particles are threats to healthy teeth) for many people to use dental floss. Save this mouth hygiene measure for your private dressing room where you'll work the thin floss up and down between your teeth with a careful easy motion. A sharp jerk downward can bring an "ouchy" protest from gums.

It's also a social safeguard to carry a breath sweetener in your purse. That way you can smoke and eat strong-flavored foods without worrying about your social security.

Butane Dealers To Hold Area Training Clinic In Midland

A two-day training clinic for butane dealers of Midland and vicinity will be held August 8 and 9 in Hotel Scharbauer here, it was announced by the Texas Butane Dealers Association, sponsor.

Owners and employees of butane firms in this area will answer the roll call at the "back to school" classes.

Midland firms who will be represented include Starr Gas Company, H. L. Helbert Transport Company, Jones Butane Service, B&B Butane Service and Blue Flame Gas Company, all members of the dealers organization here.

Top-Flight Instructors
The session, made possible by cooperation of the University of Texas with the Texas Butane Dealers Association, two top-flight educators of the University's Division of Extension having been assigned to conduct the classes.

Sterling S. Speake, credit training specialist, each will conduct a full day of classes. The courses are designed for butane dealers and their credit managers, salesmen, office personnel and truck driver-salesmen.

The Texas Butane Dealers Association is composed of butane dealers whose business activities cover every section of the state. Training clinics form a definite part of the association's program of education and information for members and their employees.

Texas Congressman W. R. Poage Comes By Nickname 'Farmer Bob' Quite Honestly

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Texas Congressman W. R. Poage was born in Waco and that's his home now, but he comes by his nickname "Farmer Bob" honestly.

During the course of his 48 years he has picked up a lot of farming knowledge.

As a youth he tugged a sack down many a row of Throckmorton County cotton. He had to miss school the Fall of 1912 to help get the crop picked. He's rounded up cattle, too, for he did move out there from Waco to ranch, then later he became one of the first in the county to plant cotton.

After service in the Texas State Legislature, Poage came to Congress in 1937 and has become recognized as one of its best informed men on the complicated agricultural laws that affect every dirt farmer.

His ability to explain those laws in down-to-earth language that even a city dweller can understand accounts for his prominent role in debate on the new farm bill.

Forthright, and sincere, the Texas informed Agriculture Secretary Brannan that some of the features of his legislative program were pretty good and there were some he didn't like. That was when the cabinet member came before the House Agriculture Committee on which Poage serves, and hearings were started on the farm bill which came before the House this week.

Perishable Crops Only
As tiny reports favorably by the committee, the bill reflected some of the opinions of the Waco legislator. For instance it provided that the Secretary of Agriculture could test out his new price support ideas only on perishable crops.

"I see no point in changing the existing program on storable crops such as cotton, corn and wheat," he says.

"They have worked well and haven't cost the government anything. In fact, we've made about $230,000,000 off the cotton the Commodity Credit Corporation has taken over as security in loans."

With regard to those crops which can't be held by the government over long periods of time, Poage adds: "That's different."

"Take Irish potatoes. The CCC has been taking them up from farmers at about $1.62 a bushel. They sold lots and gave some away to charitable institutions, but a lot remained on their hands. They couldn't dump them on the market cheap to get rid of them, because that would drive the prices down even lower."

"The result was that great quantities spoiled, because they couldn't be stored, and the government lost about $20,000,000 or nearly the same as it made off of cotton."

"Under the Brannan Plan the farmer would sell those potatoes at whatever the market price will bring. The cheaper they get in the stores, the more your wife and mine will buy."

Pay The Difference
"At the end of the season the secretary would determine what the average market price has been, then pay the farmer the difference between that figure and the new parity payment rate provided in the bill, amounting to $1.59 per bushel."

Poage is unhappy about one aspect of the Brannan Plan even in regard to potatoes and other perishable crops.

"You're giving the farmer some money without his giving the government something in return," he elaborated.

"This is too much like a dole. And farmers are men with a lot of pride."

"Personally, I would prefer to see

Foreign Correspondent, Former Resident Of Pecos, Visits There Enroute To China

PECOS—"It is important that we (the United States) should try to prevent the spread of Communism in the Far East, but we must accept the possibility that we will not succeed in our efforts." That, in substance, is the view of Tillman Durdin, New York Times correspondent who is visiting relatives in the Pecos, Big Spring and Pecos areas while enroute from Boston to the Far East.

In discussing Communism, the veteran Times correspondent expressed the view that "war between the United States and Russia is not inevitable and certainly war between those two nations will not occur any time in the near future. "The people of the East might have something to say as to whether they want to accept Communism as their belief," Durdin said, bringing out the point that they might want to be Communists.

Support Gained
In China, where Correspondent Durdin has spent several years and is therefore familiar with conditions, the Communists have been able to win people to their cause because of poverty, misery, and oppression by a few. The Japanese devastation of the country and failure of the Nationalist government to solve the peoples' problems also are given as reasons for the popularity of Communism by the Pecos visitor.

While he can see why some of the Chinese have become believers in Communism, Durdin doubts that Communism can solve the problems of China.

"The Chinese Nationalist party has 'used' the United States by accepting our money and materials while 'double dealing,' Durdin said. He added that they make promises which they do not fulfill.

"The Nationalist government was corrupt in dealing with its own people and the people knew it. It is ironic that the United States has succeeded in making both the Nationalist government and Chinese Reds angry with our Far Eastern policy," the correspondent surmised.

"One thing the people of the United States do not understand, Durdin believes, "That the Chinese Reds have taken control of China without help from the Soviet Union other than ideas. There has been little material aid from the U.S.S.R."

While the people of China have suffered from the ravages of war and inflation, persons from abroad with good incomes have fared well. It has been difficult at times to keep count of the money value and money is inconvenient to pack around, but otherwise foreigners in China have fared well. Because of the rate of exchange the foreigners receive a great deal of Chinese money for their American dollars.

Durdin was stationed at Nanking three years prior to his one year stay at Harvard University as a recipient of the Neiman scholarship. He now is on his way to Hong Kong with Peking as his eventual goal. He plans to visit Indo-China, Siam, Malaya, Indonesia, India and the Philippines. In visiting those places he will be, in many instances, returning to places he has covered as correspondent in the years since 1935. He plans to fly from San Francisco within the next few days. He is due in Hong Kong August 1.

Although a native of Elkhart, Texas, Durdin resided in Pecos a number of years. He started his newspaper career on the Pecos Enterprise while still in high school and later edited the paper and papers at Odessa and Pyote. He graduated from Pecos High School in 1925 and later attended Texas Christian University.

Southwestern Life Sets New Records
Paid-for business amounting to $65,614,604, a new record in the history of the company, was written by agents of Southwestern Life Insurance Company during the first six months of 1949, it was reported by R. J. (Doc) Graham, local representative.

"The agency force set a new record for production during a six-month period, and exceeded by 14.9 per cent the $48,442,735 of paid-for business written during the first six months of 1948," Graham said.

A second record was established as the company's insurance in force advanced from $697,206,140 to $732,319,408 during the same time.
