Rangers Patrol South Texas City Following Murder Of Radio Man

ALICE — (P) — Shotgun raiders blasted a dance palace here before dawn Saturday, following the slaying of a radio commentator. A husky deputy sheriff, accused of murdering the radio man, stood nervously in his jail cell some 40 miles away while the armed men struck.

Texas Ranger Ben Krueger said eight shots struck the Rancho Alegre, a place H. W. (Bill) Mason had criticized tartly the day before he was shot to death.

Mason, in a radio broadcast, stated the Rancho Alegre was owned by 60-year-old Deputy Sheriff Sam Smithwick.

Smithwick placed himself in jail Friday after Mason was slain. Officers disclosed Saturday night that after his arraignment Friday they had slipped away with Smithwick, taking him to the Nueces County jail in Corpus Christi.

District Attorney Sam Reams reported: "There is considerable high feeling in Alice today." He said Smithwick appears "considerably upset."

Reams said Smithwick had made no attempt to obtain his freedom. Reams added dryly: "I think if I were Smithwick, I wouldn't mind staying in jail a few days."

Mason, 51, who officers said was unarmed, was shot Friday as he sat in his automobile on the southwestern edge of Alice, in an industrial section.

U. S. Staff Chiefs Arrive In Germany

FRANKFURT — (P) — The U. S. Military chiefs of staff flew from Washington Saturday for a survey of Western Europe's defenses.

Top-secret conferences with officers of Italy and Luxembourg and with American military leaders in Germany are docketed Monday. The party—including Army Gen. Omar N. Bradley, Air Force Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg and Adm. Louis E. Denfeld—has a dual mission on its 10-day tour:

To discuss the proposed military organization provided by the 12-nation North Atlantic Treaty, and to make a first-hand study of American troops in Europe. Most of them are concentrated in Western Germany.

The chiefs arrived in President Truman's personal plane, the Independence. They will move on next week to London, Paris and Vienna for talks with military leaders of the pact nations.

They will confer here with John J. McCloy, the American military governor; also the Army, Navy and Air Force commanders in Germany and the Luxembourg and Italian military men. They may make a quick flight to Berlin.

NEA Aides Talk
Denfeld told reporters there would be no talk about military aid. President Truman's proposal for the appropriation of $1,450,000,000 to arm friendly nations is before Congress.

"We will talk with the chiefs of staff of the Atlantic Pact nations," Denfeld said. "We are not going to talk about military aid. The U. S. Defense Department has said on discussions on the European arms aid program."

Bradley said "We will see what kind of organization and staff are needed to implement the pact." They are to meet Field Marshal Lord Montgomery, Union Defense Council, representing Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg, in Paris Thursday.

The joint chiefs are expected to survey the Western world's first line of defense against possible Eastern aggression. This line is manned by Allied troops in Germany.

A compromise in these general terms is known to have been discussed by legislators in conferences with Secretary of State Acheson and Gen. George C. Marshall.

One Democratic official, who asked not to be quoted by name, said unless a compromise agreement is reached the Administration faces the possibility that it will get no program at all beyond continued help for Greece and Turkey.

The escape took place Friday, the Admiralty said. A signal received from the Amethyst said: "Rejoined the fleet. No damage or casualties. God save the king."

The Amethyst was one of four British warships that were fired on in the Yangtze last April. The gunfire killed 44 British sailors in all.

The Admiralty announcement on the escape said the Amethyst managed to slip around an obstacle at Kinagyin and continued downstream.

The Admiralty said it had been advised by the commander-in-chief of the Far East naval forces that when the Amethyst slipped her moorings in her escape try she immediately came under fire of shore guns.

She again was fired on at Kinagyin forts.

Ex-Bootblack

John Maragon, ex-bootblack, once a close friend of Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, answers questions by reporters in Washington following his second secret session with a senate investigating subcommittee. Maragon, who looms as a key figure in the Senate investigation of "five percenters," has demanded a full public hearing.

Midland Stores, Area Shoppers Set For $Dollar Day$

$DOLLAR DAY$ and the first day of the month hit at the same time Monday when Midland merchants will offer the greatest array of merchandise specials in the history of the money-saving event.

Practically all retail stores are participating in the August $DOLLAR DAY$, assuring Permain Basin shoppers of bargains in all lines of merchandise. The postcard ad campaign for $DOLLAR DAY$ should establish new records in both sales and savings.

Crowds of shoppers from Midland and area cities are expected to gather early Monday to take full advantage of the first-Monday attraction. Many stores will have extra clerks to handle the rush.

Free Bus Rides
Free bus transportation for women from residential areas to downtown Midland will be furnished by The Reporter-Telegram in cooperation with the Midland Bus Company. A bus coupon appears alongside the ad.

$DOLLAR DAY$ in Midland is West Texas' most outstanding sales event, with Midland merchants inviting residents of the Permain Basin Empire to shop the $DOLLAR DAY$ bargains.

Niagara-In-Barrel Attempt Results In Serious Injuries

NIAGARA FALLS, ONTARIO — (P)—Major Hill, battered and covered with blood, was pulled from a steel cylinder Saturday night after an unsuccessful attempt to run the roaring lower rapids of the Niagara River.

The 30-year-old Niagara Falls riverman was in the cylinder just over five hours. The last hour and a half was spent in a whirling eddy, where his 10-foot, six-inch tube was tumbled madly, end over end.

Rescuers who finally succeeded in pulling the cylinder shore said Hill apparently suffered internal injuries and a possible fractured leg.

Major—that is his first name—was attempting to duplicate the feat performed last summer by his brother, William (Red) Hill, Jr., and years ago by his father.

Ford Warns Workers Against Strike Vote
DETROIT — (P) — Ford told its 106,000 production workers Saturday they are likely to be out "a long time" if they carry out their strike threat.

The warning was in a company publication urging all 80,000 Michigan Ford workers to vote "no" in a state-conducted strike poll starting a week from Monday.

B-36 Probe Set To Open On August 9

WASHINGTON — (P) — The House Armed Services Committee's long-heralded investigation of the B-36 bomber begins August 9 with its first public hearing, Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) announced Saturday.

The committee also is free to inquire into national defense policies and strategic use of air power.

Among the first witnesses, Vinson added, will be Robert A. Lovett and Floyd Odium. The latter controls the Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corporation, maker of the controversial six-engine B-36.

The investigation was ordered June 8 by unanimous House vote after Rep. Van Zandt (R-Pa.) a Navy Reserve officer, told the House of what he called "disturbing reports" about the relations of Odium, Defense Secretary Johnson, and Air Secretary Symington. Van Zandt is a member of Vinson's committee.

Air Force-Navy Scrap
The B-36 now is the heavyweight darling of the Air Force, supplanting the B-29 of atomic bombing fame.

The B-36 controversy has been a companion to the argument over whether the Air Force should have the job of strategic bombing all to itself. Navy partisans claim sea-going armaments should have a share in it, and they argue that big bombers based on carriers would have advantage over the Air Force's land-based giants.

The fight broke into the open in April shortly after Johnson canceled work on a huge super-carrier, the United States, which the Navy hoped would put it into the strategic bombing business.

Spit And Whittlers Win Election; Return To Same Old Stand

WHITNEY, TEXAS — (P) — The Whitney Spit and Whittler Club was back at its old stand Saturday night on the street corner just across from the town's only clinic.

Saturday the voters of Whitney in Hill County near the construction site of Whitney Dam—approved the move 124-67.

However, Saturday afternoon long before the balloting was completed the old timers moved their wooden benches and nail kegs from their brief exile in an alley back to the corner of North First and North Brazos Streets.

Recently, a group of citizens got up a petition to remove the sidewalk where Mayor Fred Basham had the women folk had heard the corner conversationalists drop a cuss word now and then in telling tall tales. Other said it was not befitting a town that was growing by leaps and bounds.

The city, often called "the biggest little town by a dam site," built new benches in a nearby alley and told the old boys to shift. The Spit and Whittlers moved but they didn't like it. Other citizens sided with them.

With Canopy, Ice Water
Finally, the situation reached a point where Mayor Fred Basham had to do something to curb the outspoken feelings. "This is the best little town by a dam site," he said, and called an election.

Monday I'm going to let a contract on the benches at the corner, Texas and give it to you," he said. "It will have a canopy to keep the sun off and be piped with ice water so you won't have to go far for a drink."

Rotary Speaker

Bascom Giles, commissioner of Texas' General Land Office, will be the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Midland Rotary Club Thursday noon in the Crystal Ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer. He is expected to discuss the tideland controversy in his address. Members of other civic and service clubs are invited to attend the luncheon, President Hilton Kadritzki stated. Tickets are on sale at the Chamber of Commerce.

Midland Licks Water Shortage, Critical Just One Year Ago

A year ago Midland was faced with a tremendous water shortage and householders and business firms were asked to conserve water in every way possible to meet the emergency.

The aircraft then rose in a steep, climbing turn, Humphrey was quoted as saying, "and appeared to strike the airliner on the left side just aft of the left wing tip."

Humphrey's account added: "Parts of the airplane were all over the sky and I veered to my right. I saw the aircraft strike the ground amid a cloud of dust and flames. I do not know exactly what I did then until I landed at the Red Bank Airport, Red Bank, N. J."

The airline said Humphrey made his statement to New Jersey State Police and Civil Aeronautics Board representatives.

Water system improvements, however, continue in Midland, Nunn said. The city now is laying an eight-inch line on D Street, from Illinois Street to intersect the 12-inch water line extending through the north part of the city. The new line, when completed, will reinforce water pressures in North and Northwest Midland.

Other improvements are underway or are in the planning stage.

Top U. S. Generals To Inspect B-29 Bases In England

WASHINGTON — (P) — The three top American military strategists will make a first-hand check this week on United States bomber forces based in England.

The inspection of B-29 bases by six joint chiefs of staff is given increasing significance in light of their emphasis on U. S. strategic bombing and use of the atom bomb in event of war.

Meanwhile, evidence grew that a substantial amount of their defensive planning will be directed at stopping Russia's mighty tank forces should she launch upon a push toward the West.

The joint chiefs plan to be in England on Wednesday and Thursday. They will confer with the British chiefs of staff and representatives of other pact nations who are there, and, at the same time, make inspections of U. S. air installations on the island.

Red Cross Nurse Stricken By Polio
SAN ANGELO — (P) — A Red Cross nurse who came here to help fight polio was stricken Saturday as a victim of the disease.

She is Virginia Warner, 23, of Kansas City. Her condition was described Saturday night as fairly good. Her doctor said there has been no muscle tension.

Navy Helicat Fighter Rams Eastern Liner

FORT DIX, N. J. — (P) — A Memphis-bound airliner and a Navy fighter plane—which a witness said "buzzed" the liner—crashed high in the air Saturday, killing 16 persons.

Twelve passengers and three crew members of the Eastern Airlines DC-3 were found dead in a tangled heap of charred bodies.

One of the passengers was a five-months-old child.

The pilot of the small Navy craft was found 800 feet from his wrecked plane some two miles from the commercial airfield.

State police said they will question a private plane pilot who reported seeing the crash while flying over this military base.

Sgt. C. A. Vance quoted the pilot, George Humphries of Morrisville, Pa., as saying he saw the Navy plane swoop close to the airliner in a stunting maneuver just before the crash.

The police report came as pilot of another Eastern Airlines passenger plane said a Navy pursuit plane buzzed their craft a short time before the fatal crash.

Capt. John B. Armstrong and his co-pilot, H. R. Riverbark, said in Miami, Fla., that the Navy plane came at their Constellation carrying 85 persons about 28 miles from the scene of the collision.

This incident took place about two hours before the accident at Fort Dix.

Tail, Wing Ripped Off
The tail and left wing was ripped off the airliner by the crash. The plane spiraled to the ground and burst into a tower of flame.

In Washington, the Navy declined to comment. A spokesman said it has received no formal report on any such incident.

A farmer, Harry Miller, said he saw the two planes roar into each other high over Fort Dix.

"I saw it take the tail right off the transport. It sent the airliner into a tailspin," he said.

"The big plane took three turns and then the wing fell off."

The two-engine airliner, bound from Boston to Memphis, plowed open a wide ditch as it ground into a mass.

Farmers who ran to the rescue said an explosion and a wall of flame kept them at a distance for almost half an hour.

Firemen said there wasn't a sound from the burning plane when rescuers reached it.

"The only noise was the crackle of the flames," said Fire Chief Stanley Mathis.

The military craft was a Navy fighter from the Anacostia Naval Air Station in Washington. Navy officials said a Navy F-6F Helicat left there for Quonset Point, R. I. and was overdue.

The Navy withheld the pilot's name.

Eastern Airlines, Army, Navy and Civil Aeronautics Board officials began to investigate.

Identification Difficult
Army investigators were told by eyewitnesses that the fighter plane had approached the airliner from the right rear and had crashed into its top.

Compromise In Size Of Arms Aid Budget Is Rumored, Denied

WASHINGTON — (P) — The Administration was reported working Saturday on a proposal to reduce the size and scope of President Truman's $1,450,000,000 foreign arms program.

This revision may turn up later in the form of a Democratic compromise after congressional committees have completed hearings.

The State Department, however, denied there had been any such compromise or that it was considering any.

The Administration feels—as Secretary of State Acheson said earlier in the week—that it has a good case for the full amount and believes that when the case has been fully presented to Congress, Congress will approve and vote the full sum.

State Department Press Officer Michael F. McDermott said, "If it follows suggestions made by influential members of Congress, the compromise may:

1. Reduce the proposed overall cash outlay to about $700,000,000.

2. Cut out a provision of the Administration bill giving President Truman authority to transfer arms to any nation in the world, restricting such transfers to North Atlantic Pact signers, Greece, Turkey, Korea and one or two other nations.

3. Provide specifically that the program must be fitted in to a mutual defense plan to be drafted under direction of a defense council to be set up by the North Atlantic Treaty signers.

4. Specifically limit the program to one year, thus giving the North Atlantic Council about six months to act and Congress about six months to review the situation afterwards.

A compromise in these general terms is known to have been discussed by legislators in conferences with Secretary of State Acheson and Gen. George C. Marshall.

One Democratic official, who asked not to be quoted by name, said unless a compromise agreement is reached the Administration faces the possibility that it will get no program at all beyond continued help for Greece and Turkey.

Disabled British Warship Escapes Chinese Red Trap

LONDON — (P) — The British ship Amethyst has escaped down the Yangtze River under the fire of Chinese Communist shore batteries and rejoined the fleet without suffering damage or casualties, the Admiralty proudly announced Saturday night.

The escape took place Friday, the Admiralty said. A signal received from the Amethyst said: "Rejoined the fleet. No damage or casualties. God save the king."

The Amethyst was one of four British warships that were fired on in the Yangtze last April. The gunfire killed 44 British sailors in all.

The Admiralty announcement on the escape said the Amethyst managed to slip around an obstacle at Kinagyin and continued downstream.

The Admiralty said it had been advised by the commander-in-chief of the Far East naval forces that when the Amethyst slipped her moorings in her escape try she immediately came under fire of shore guns.

She again was fired on at Kinagyin forts.

Why Change Your Size Or Disposition?

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK—(AP)—The week I am most in favor of having is a be-yourself-week.

During this period everybody would take a holiday from self-improvement in any form. He would just relax and let himself alone. He would be what he is and nothing more—and I think he'd enjoy it. It would be restful.

For one of the curses of our time is that practically nobody is satisfied with himself as he is. He wants to change himself in some way he hopes is for the better. But is it for the better? Most of the self-improvement programs I've seen haven't made much difference. You can't change a cabbage into a cauliflower by just putting it in a cellophane wrapper.

But that doesn't keep people from frittering their content away in endless and aimless efforts to be something besides what they are. Self-improvement today is one of the biggest American industries. Billions are spent on it.

Disillusioned Early? Try our 99-day diet. Are you too thin? Try our 101-day diet. It's the same thing—but you just eat more of it. Are you lonely and misunderstood? Take our 35-year-course in how to be charming. Then you'll be popular—and misunderstood. Do you want to get ahead in business? Here's a book that tells you how. The more you buy the more the author who wrote it gets ahead in his business.

I became disillusioned with self-improvement early in life when I took a correspondence course in muscle building. "Don't look like a beanpole," said the ad. "Be a panther man. Have muscles that ripple."

Well, it sounded fascinating. I took the course, bought a gadget with coils that you stretched—and str-r-retched—until you were muscles all over.

It worked all right. Soon I had muscles that rippled like mad. Then I found I really didn't like my muscles to ripple. It was rather unbecoming. But I was stuck. There is no course sold on how to de-ripple your muscles.

Bubble Trouble Coming

Actress Marilyn Maxwell goes into her "atomic bubble dance" for a cheap night club scene in the forthcoming movie, "Key to the City." It took 1,700 balloons decorated with black sequins in atomic symbols, two weeks of rehearsal and four days of shooting to make sure the scene got past Hollywood censors. Marilyn wore a skin-tight flesh-colored outfit under the balloons.

Kermit Plans Royal Welcome For Visitors From Scotland

KERMIT—Kermit is ready to welcome two visitors from Scotland who are scheduled to arrive here early in August. They are Mrs. W. J. Maxwell and daughter, Junonia, who is about nine years old. They will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. East during their three-months visit in America.

Mrs. Maxwell's trip to America is more than a pleasure jaunt. For many months the family, which consists of her, her husband and daughter, has been considering coming to the States to make their permanent home.

Graduate Student Enrollment Is Up At State Colleges

AUSTIN—Impact of the improved financial conditions for teachers under the new educational program for Texas already has been felt.

A survey of 18 private and state-supported colleges and universities by the Texas State Teachers Association shows an increased enrollment of graduate students this Summer over last year of 2,967.

All told, the 18 schools have 9,599 students taking post-graduate work as compared with 6,842 last Summer, an increase of 44.5 per cent.

Comments of educators show that passage of the Gilmer-Aikin bills, which completely reorganized the state school system, definitely has caused teachers to seek masters degrees or take refresher courses.

"Better prepared teachers will be reflected in more adequate education of our children," Charles H. Tennyson, director of public relations for the Teachers Association, said Saturday.

"Our survey of the colleges indicates that most of the students in the first Summer term of the graduate schools are teachers.

"Under terms of the Gilmer-Aikin bills, teachers receive substantial pay increases, but those holding masters degrees and who have several years classroom experience especially are benefitted."

Arlene Dahl Is Quite A Doll, Even With Cross-Lighting

By ERNEST JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — Cross-lighting and a low neckline can be very flattering to a beautiful young lady in Hollywood.

But it makes the censors perspire blue ink.

They gave Arlene Dahl the cross-lighting and low neckline treatment for her role of a glamorous spy in "Reign of Terror."

The censors looked at the results. They admitted the scenery was beautiful but said the cross-lighting had to go.

"We re-shot the scenes without the cross-lighting," Arlene said, "and the effect was the same without the shadow."

With or without a shadow, Arlene Dahl is some dish.

After a year at Warner Brothers and two years at M-G-M, she's suddenly getting the breaks. She has the feminine lead in three new M-G-M films, "Scene of the Crime," "Ambush" and "East Side, West Side."

She's happy at M-G-M. She said: "When they didn't try to make me over."

When she first landed in Hollywood, via kid radio shows in her home town of Minneapolis, interior decorating, modeling and Broadway musical, Warner Brothers sent Arlene to the make-up department to be remodeled.

They shaved her forehead, plucked her eyebrows and increased the size of that small mole just southeast of her mouth.

Now all of Arlene is back as Nature planned her to be, including the mole, which is very nice indeed because Nature did some very excellent planning.

Linda Christian's sister, Ariadne, and Charles Skippy, a wealthy Englishman in Mexico City, will announce their engagement soon.

M-G-M has offered Cary Grant his choice of any story on the lot. His first probably will be opposite Lana Turner. Producer Al Wagner is paying Frank Fay and Barbara Stanwyck (ex-Mr. and Mrs. for "His Majesty, Mr. Broadway.")

Yvonne de Carlo's mother has moved to New York for keeps. Susan Hayward refused to succumb to the short-hair craze. "My hair," she said, "looks best when I wear it long and that's the way it's going to stay."

This is Hollywood, Mrs. East, Rene Hubert, the Fox fashion stylist, designing "new look" Indian costumes for the Apache girls who droll over Jimmy Stewart in "Arrow."

The James Masons, who wrote "The Cats in Our Lives," are writing a new book, "The Child in Our Lives."

Barbara Britton will do a picture in England for J. Arthur Rank. Barry Fitzgerald is being paged for a New York musical.

Another circus story coming up, Irving Cummings, Jr., will produce "The Flying Gerards" for RKO.

Wanda Hendrix and Audie Murphy, who ought to know, say those stock rumors are not true. Gail Russell and Guy Madison will be married in a Northern California town late this month. "Sorrowful Jones" may have a sequel.

Phil Baker is reviewing his old radio comedy show, with Beetle and Bottle stooges, for radio and television this Fall. ABC has signed Boris Karloff to an exclusive television contract.

It's George McCall's story about Milton Berle having three midgets on his television show. When Berle was signed for his Warner picture the midgets also were signed. When they were announced at the studio, the producer of the picture called 'em in and discovered they were all six feet tall.

"Good heavens," said the producer, "I thought you were midgets."

"We were," spokesman for the trio said, "but Berle changed our act."

Advises Check On Old-Age Insurance

Checking on your old-age and survivors insurance account is a good deal like having your bank account balanced and is just as good business. This is the advice of George Clark, manager of the San Angelo office of the Social Security Administration, in reminding workers of this free service of his agency.

"We urge all workers to check at intervals on their accounts," Clark explained, "so that they may be sure of receiving credit for all wages they earn. We take every precaution to insure the accuracy of our records but faulty reporting by employers still causes trouble. Most errors on reports are due to mistakes in the worker's name or account number or the failure to show any number. Sometimes the wrong amount of wages is reported and occasionally no report at all is made."

Clark added that there is no charge for furnishing wage statements and that any worker can obtain one easily. For the convenience of wage earners all social security offices stock a self-addressed postal card which can be completed very easily. Use of this card insures that all the necessary information to identify his account is furnished by the inquirer. Mail your request to the Social Security Administration, San Angelo.

Senate's Snarl On Money Bills Worst In 25-Year Period

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A determined effort to clip some of the past powers wielded by the 21-member Senate Appropriations Committee appeared under way Saturday.

Some senators told a reporter privately that is the real cause of perhaps the worst snarl in regular money bills in 25 years or longer.

Although the new fiscal year is a month old, nearly $30,000,000,000 worth of appropriations now are piled up waiting Senate action.

Majority Leader Lucas (D-Ill.) and other Democratic congressional leaders hope to break this legislative logjam this week. But no one is certain when the dispute will end and Congress can plan to adjourn.

Normally most appropriations are cleared by Congress before July 1, when government agencies need the funds to operate. Two stop-gap measures are providing funds until August 15.

Usually decisions of the Appropriations Committee on bills carrying operating funds for all government agencies slide through the Senate without serious challenge.

Attacks Increasing

But senators who object to provisions they regard as new legislation, or changes in previous legislation, are attacking them on the Senate floor with increasing success.

Both Democrats and Republicans are following this course, including some Appropriations committee members who differ with the group's majority.

Core of the dispute is disagreement between the powerful Appropriations group—which has a tight hold on the Treasury purse strings—and the rest of the Senate about what constitutes legislation in an appropriation bill.

Senate and House rules require that Congress first must determine by law the nation's overall policies and then make specific authorization of funds to carry them out. Later definite appropriations come along to provide the money. There is a fixed rule that these must not contain legislation.

Actually both the House and Senate include legislative provisions or riders in nearly every appropriation bill. Normally few lawmakers question them.

It was the legislative question that sent the $5,847,724,000 foreign aid bill back to the Senate Appropriations Committee last week.

The committee had earmarked more than $2,000,000,000 of the funds for buying of surplus United States farm products and another $500,000,000 for use as a loan to Spain.

After hours of bitter debate and wrangling over its own rules, the Senate finally decided these and three other Appropriations Committee provisions were legislation.

But the committee, upon reconsidering, clung to its original intent on most of them. Instead of stating positively how the disputed funds were to be spent, it now has rewritten them in a negative manner, saying they now are limitations upon spending, to get around the ban on legislation.

Passage Hailed As Tunnel To Alamo Proves Old Cellar

SAN ANTONIO—(AP)—Nobody ever has found the underground passage which legend says once connected the Spanish missions in San Antonio, and it is doubtful they ever will, local historians decided Saturday.

A party of three local historians, Dr. P. I. Nixon, S. Stanley Banks and Paul Adams, inspected what first was believed to have been a passage leading from the Alamo across Menger Hotel property, now being excavated, and decided the site was an old wine cellar.

The underground compartment, filled with soft earth, apparently was a cellar under an old part of the hotel at one time.

No possible connection to the Alamo could be found and the only relics on hand were a quantity of hand-blown champagne, beer, biters and wine bottles—all broken or empty.

"There is no caliche roof to this place," Dr. Nixon said. "It certainly could not have been a passage from the Alamo. All messengers from the Alamo had to go over the wall. Apparently none had it so soft as to get through a tunnel."

Harvey P. Smith, local architect who was in charge of reconstruction of both the Spanish Governor's Palace and Mission San Jose, was asked for an opinion. Smith said he had looked for passages during excavations at both the Palace and San Jose but never found a sign of one. He doubted that they exist.

Sojourn In Culvert Brings Untimely End For Elmer The Bull

SWOOP, VA.—(AP)—Elmer the bull is dead. Twenty-one days imprisonment in a railroad culvert were more than his Angus heart could stand.

The end came quietly Friday night shortly after Elmer's vitamin-plus dinner.

"He ate real well. I can't understand it. We thought he was getting well," said Elmer's modest owner who declined the use of his name in connection with Elmer's story.

Elmer topped the scales at 900 pounds when he stumbled into the culvert about a month ago, apparently to escape the heat.

He was rescued last week by railroad workers—a black 300 pound shadow of his former self.

Then came the best that money could buy to help Elmer in his fight for life.

Vitamins, eggs, milk, then some sure enough oats—and it looked as if Elmer would make the grade.

"He'd gained about 150 pounds back," said the wife of Elmer's owner.

Elmer died under the canvas shield they had rigged for his comfort in the pasture. He hadn't been able to stand—not after three weeks on his feet with water, lapping his slanks.

But for all the excitement Elmer's plight caused in this northern Virginia community, there won't be an elaborate funeral.

Elmer's bound for the rendering plant.

Dutch, Indonesian Sign Cease-Fire To Set Up Peace Talks

BATAVIA, JAVA—(AP)—Dutch and Indonesian Republican leaders agreed Friday on a cease-fire order to clear the way for formal peace and independence talks next month at The Hague.

The agreement marked the successful end of three talks started last Spring by the United Nations Commission for Indonesia. Details of the order were not made public immediately.

Republican Premier Mohamed Hatta said orders would go out soon to Republican guerrillas to stop fighting Dutch troops. Hatta and other Republican leaders, seized in the Dutch offensive last December were released recently and permitted to re-establish the Republican government headquarters in Jogjakarta.

Premier Hatta said he expected to leave August 6 for the round-table conference in the Netherlands capital. The Dutch proposed the conference to work out a formal peace agreement and plans for establishment of an independent Indonesian nation under the Dutch crown.

Texas Student Wins Atomic Scholarship

COMMERCE—(AP)—Lawrence R. Thomas, Greenville, graduate physics student at East Texas State Teachers College, has been awarded an Atomic Energy Commission fellowship.

Dr. J. H. Clements, head of the college Physics Department, said Thomas was one of 50 students in the nation to receive the $1,600, one-year fellowship in radiological physics from the national Atomic Energy Commission.

Thomas expects to be assigned to an atomic energy institution by September 1.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Thomas of Greenville.

Spence Ruled Still Member Of Board Of Water Engineers

AUSTIN—(AP)—An attorney general's opinion Saturday gave E. V. Spence of Big Spring the right to continue for a while at least as a member of the State Board of Water Engineers.

He may serve as such until his successor qualifies or until he accepts office and qualifies as interstate commerce commissioner, said the opinion by H. D. Fruekt, Jr., assistant attorney general. It was approved by Attorney General Price Daniel.

The opinion hinged in part on the point whether or not Spence's confirmation as a Water Board member had been "expressly rejected" by the Senate. The opinion concluded it had not.

Spence first was named to the Water Board by Gov. Coke R. Stevenson. He was reappointed by the late Gov. Beaufort H. Jester, and his name submitted to the Senate of the 51st Legislature, confirmation ran into opposition led by Senator Klimer B. Corbin of Lamesa, who voiced objections raised by some West Texas groups to Spence's asserted policies.

No Successor Named

His name stayed in the Senate committee on nominations most of the session. The dispute was compromised late in the session when Jester withdrew his name, with the consent of the Senate, and offered Spence as interstate compact commissioner. The Senate confirmed this, but never took direct action on Spence's Water Board appointment.

Meanwhile Jester named no new member to the Water Board, nor has his successor, Gov. Allan Shivers. The new law setting up the Interstate Compact Commission office does not take effect until September 1.

Spence has not taken part in water proceedings pending the opinion, sought by State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert. Calvert wanted to know whether Spence's salary should continue as Water Board member.

The opinion said the salary could be paid.

Lifting Of Ban On Braceros Hailed As Act Of Good Will

AUSTIN—(AP)—Lifting of the ban on Mexican harvest hands in Texas marks a high point in relations between this state and Mexico, a Good Neighbor Commission official said Saturday.

Tom Sutherland, executive secretary of the commission, said the agreement signed in Mexico Friday gives "concrete evidence of the Mexican government's confidence in the good will of the people of Texas."

The commission's function is to improve relations between Texas citizens of Anglo and Latin American extraction, and to foster good relations between Texas and Mexico.

The seventh annual "Bracero" pact between Mexico and the United States will permit braceros or farm laborers to work in Texas. They have been banned here because of discrimination which the Mexican government alleged existed in some Texas areas.

The new agreement sets up machinery for negotiating the question of whether or not Mexican workers can be contracted for in areas where there are complaints of discrimination.

Oregon Solon Says Congress In Illegal Session During July

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Rep. Norblad (R-Ore) contends Congress has been in illegal session since July 1 when the Senate and House moved out of the regular chambers to permit repair of the shaky roofs.

All legislation passed since, Norblad said, "is either void or if not that, of very questionable legality."

Norblad based his contention on Section Five of Article One of the Constitution. This reads:

"Neither house during the session of Congress shall without the consent of the other adjourn for more than three days, nor to any place other than that in which the two houses shall be sitting."

The Senate moved its meeting place from its regular chamber to the old Supreme Court Room in the Capitol while the House moved its sessions from the regular chamber to the Ways and Means Committee Room of the New House Office Building.

Texas Youth Dies In Illinois Plane Crash

OBLONG, ILL.—(AP)—Nine-year-old Michael Taylor of Henderson, Texas, was hurt fatally when a plane in which he was riding crashed in the yard of his grandparents' home here.

His uncle, Kenneth Russell, pilot of the plane, is in a critical condition in a Robinson, Ill. hospital. Michael is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Taylor of Henderson. The Taylors were visiting the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Taylor.

Officials said the plane apparently struck a tree after circling the house, then plunged to the earth.

Management Should Prepare

Cyrus Ching, director of the Federal Mediation Service, says he thinks it's fair to conclude that unions come to the bargaining table better prepared than employers.

He told the United States News: "I think they (the unions) frequently have a more persuasive background of figures and facts, whereas the employer, though well and ably represented, is frequently unfamiliar with the statistics of the industry, or the area, or the practices in other establishments."

Ching cannot easily be accused of pro-labor bias. He was once labor relations director of the United States Rubber Company. Furthermore, his mediation service gets an inside look at more labor disputes than any other agency sees.

Thus management's labor relations experts ought to feel some embarrassment at his statement.

Ching thinks too many employers are not properly prepared for bargaining because they still consider labor relations a side issue.

On the other hand, he believes that union negotiators often acquire wide familiarity with an industry's problems just from their repeated appearances in conferences with many firms in the field. Management, of course, cannot duplicate this experience.

A further management difficulty is that top executives nowadays bear a tremendous load. Many argue they are so burdened with having to make fast, accurate business decisions that they have virtually no time to see their job in any real perspective.

They don't always know all they should about their own company. They may never even glance at reports in trade papers or other sources that tell how the rest of the industry is handling particular problems.

Anyone can sympathize with their dilemma. But however great the load, it still seems fair to ask employers to arm themselves with the fullest possible information when they sit down with union leaders.

Management owes this much to itself, to the unions and to the public which wants a fair settlement of any dispute affecting the general welfare.

For all their burdens, employers have matchless facilities for assembling data pertinent to wage and other negotiations. If they fail to use them, they come handicapped to the bargaining table.

No fair-minded citizens care to see either management or labor at a disadvantage when they face each other. The two should meet on an equal footing. That means balance not alone in strength but in preparedness.

Wonder Boy Of Politics

Whether you agree or not with Senator Taft on the issues of the day, you have to admire his forthright honesty. He will say and do what he thinks is right even if it means political suicide.

Already this year he has stirred labor's enmity anew by leading the congressional fight to block repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act.

He came out against the North Atlantic Treaty on the score that it is inseparably linked with a foreign arms aid program he thinks points toward war. In so doing he has aroused the wrath of many who believe the reverse—that the treaty would be a powerful deterrent to war.

Facing a bitter election fight in 1950 and still nursing presidential hopes, Taft easily could have avoided a stand calculated to generate further opposition. He chose instead to act on his convictions.

Night or wrong, Taft is a refreshing spectacle in an arena where expediency, opportunism and private advantage are so often the guiding factors.

Getting Into The Act

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1949, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
Drew Pearson says: Congress debates regulation of man-made storms; Truman reminded not to neglect good-neighbor policy; Hot weather causes hot senatorial tempers.

WASHINGTON — The idea of Congress repealing the law of gravity is an old joke. Nevertheless, the Senate actually is studying what laws may be needed to regulate man-made hurricanes.

The issue was brought up by General Electric which asked Congress to exempt the company from damage suits for any wind, hail or rain storms it may cause.

General Electric is dead serious about this. For it has a contract with the Navy to conduct weather-making experiments in the mountains near Schenectady, N. Y., and wants to make sure it is not held responsible in case a bad storm is brewed.

The Navy appealed to Congress in behalf of General Electric, warning that its experiments "may cause certain weather conditions—rain, snow, hail, and even in some instances may develop hurricanes and other high wind storms."

This worried Senator Harley Kilgore, West Virginia Democrat, who called a hearing of his Judiciary Subcommittee, nervously asked about the danger of starting a hurricane.

Earl Dressler, meteorologist for the Office of Naval Research, explained: "We have found that in seeding the cumulous-type cloud that causes tornado or thunderstorms, different results have come about. Sometimes the cloud will dissipate from the sky. So it is very possible that one of the things we may come out with is the elimination of the tornado or the elimination of hail from the country."

Relieved at this, Kilgore went on to another problem. He was suspicious that General Electric might learn how to control the weather, then patent the process.

"The next thing you know," he snorted, "General Electric will have this whole thing patented, and we will pay them a royalty every time we turn around. It has been my experience with General Electric, Bell Research, Westinghouse, that they spend our money and then turn around and patent the results, and they soak us for it."

"If they could break the spell of weather we have just been hearing, senator, I would be willing to contribute," suggested the Navy's Capt. Chester Ward.

"I do not like to pay twice," said Kilgore.

General Electric first got on experimenting with the weather at its own risk. Congress will not pass a law at this session.

Forget Good Neighbors

Despite the North Atlantic Pact, Congressman Maury Maverick found President Truman quite Mexican-minded when he called at the White House the other day.

"It looks as if you folks in Washington have your eyes so focused on Europe that you can't see south of the border," Maverick told the President. "In fact, it looks as if Mexico would have to move over to Europe in order to get any attention from the U. S. A."

Truman listened carefully, took notes copiously. He showed surprising knowledge of things south of the border.

"I certainly agree that we can't neglect our friends in Latin America," he told Maverick, and pointed out that he personally had taken two trips to Brazil and Mexico, whereas he had been to Europe only once.

The President promised to follow up Maverick's ideas for better Mexican-American trade, including the fact that the United States has asked Mexico to kill off part of her beef cattle to control hoof-and-mouth disease, yet won't let the meat be shipped in sealed cans over U. S. soil to a U. S. port of embarkation for Europe. Maverick urged that the United States use Marshall Plan money to facilitate the sale of beef from a friendly neighbor, Mexico, rather than from an unfriendly dictatorship, Argentina. At present, U. S. money is

One of the first sound lessons taught in bidding is this: If you are going to overcall your opponent and go into the two suits, have at least a five-card suit and a minimum of one and one-half or two tricks. Vulnerable you should have at least two tricks.

Today I want to carry that point farther. If your opponent opens the bidding as South did today, and you (sitting West) hold four of his trumps, the first question you must ask yourself is, "Do I want to bid at all?" West has a five-card suit with three tricks, which is an opening bid in any language. So you would say that

♠ 742	♥ 10	♦ 10	♣ 10
♠ 742	♥ 10	♦ 10	♣ 10

Lesson Hand on Bidding
Both vul.

South West North East
1 ♠ 2♥ Double Pass
Opening — 4 30

You are justified in bidding two hearts. Some players may even advise you to double, but if you do, your partner will probably bid two diamonds. You will then bid two hearts, which North will double.

At times even the expert may make a vulnerable overcall with this hand. I want to warn you to be a little more careful and thoughtful of your vulnerable overcalls.

When today's hand was played at two hearts doubled, West took only two tricks. He made the ace of trumps and a small trump.

South cashed the king of spades and then led a heart. West played the queen and North won with the king. He returned a diamond which South ruffed. South played a small club, North won with the ace and returned another diamond. South trumped and North still had to make two trump tricks.

CHICAGO—(AP)—A St. Louis doctor believes the common ground mole may have something to do with spreading infantile paralysis.

Dr. L. E. Reeder, department of anatomy, Washington University, St. Louis, said moles have shown unusual susceptibility to the polio virus in laboratory inoculations.

Writing in the Archives of Pathology, Dr. Reeder said:

"After considering the habits and the geographic distribution of the ground mole, one is struck with the possibility of this animal fulfilling four anticipated features of a natural host for poliomyelitis virus. If a single animal or insect were found to be the reservoir of the disease, one may anticipate that it will be found throughout the temperate and tropical zones; that it will account for the frequency observed tendency of the disease to start and to have a higher incidence in rural than in urban populations; that it will account for the season tendency in man, and that it will be so inconspicuous as to have escaped observation to date.

The mole is found in practically every country in the temperate and tropical zones. It is obvious that a higher percentage of the rural than the urban population comes in contact with these animals; yet the prevalence of the moles in city parks offers urban dwellers sufficient contact with them—disregarding trips to the country."

WASHINGTON COLUMN

Bitter Fight Is Predicted Over Public Power Policy

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The job of revision which the Senate Appropriations Committee did on Department of Interior requests for public power development funds was strictly professional. In general, almost everything that the private power company officials testified against was taken out. This was particularly true of requests for money to build government transmission lines from the big dams to competitive private power companies.

The committee members who did this job included Democrats Thomas of Oklahoma and McCarran of Nevada; Republicans Cordon of Oregon, Wherry of Nebraska, Reed of Kansas, Gurney of South Dakota, Young of North Dakota. There were only three Democrats to oppose them: Subcommittee Chairman Hayden of Arizona, O'Mahoney of Wyoming, Chavez of New Mexico. They never had a chance. But the result is going to be an interesting floor fight to determine what government policy is going to be on the building of public transmission lines.

On the total bill, the committee effected no over-all economy. Department of Interior had asked for $625,000,000. The House approved $536,000,000. The Senate raised this to $590,000,000. But in this process, the public power projects took an awful wallop.

Southwestern Power Administration was cut from $9,000,000 to $4,300,000. The Central Valley project in California sustained cuts of $6,750,000 from the House approved $11,000,000 for construction of a steam plant, transmission lines, switchyards and the continuation of facilities already begun.

Power Must Be Sold

In the Southeast, a House approved appropriation for $70,000,000 for marketing power from nine dams in eight states was completely eliminated. These dams were built by Army engineers. Department of Interior was supposed to sell the power. Effect of the cut is to force sale of some $28,000,000 worth of public power to private utilities.

All these and other cuts made by the Senate Appropriations Committee seemed to be aimed at this same objective. Although this 81st Congress in May approved construction of a steam plant to "firm up" government power delivery in the Tennessee Valley, thus reversing the 80th Congress, this new line of action by the Senate committee reversed back to the position of the 80th Congress on public power development.

In all, the Bureau of Reclamation which handles power development projects in Department of Interior will lose two power plants, six substations and eight transmission lines if the Senate committee action should be sustained.

It is when the testimony of private power company officials before the Senate Appropriations Committee is carefully studied that the 100 per cent effectiveness of their opposition to public power shows up. James B. Black, president of Pacific Gas and Electric, proposed projects to cost more than $9,000,000. The Senate followed his advice on everything except $2,600,000 to extend a Shasta Dam transmission line on the east side of the Central Valley.

Kinsey M. Robinson, president of Washington Water Power Company, opposed the Bonneville Power Administration Kerr - to - Anaconda, Mont., transmission line. The Senate committee cut it out.

D. C. McKee, president of the Empire District Electric Company of Missouri testified in particular. In opposition to a $10,000,000 expenditure out of the $90,000,000 proposed to build the lines designated in the (Southwestern Power) administrator's report as "the Missouri group." So the Senate committee eliminated all Missouri group items.

Hamilton Moses, president of Arkansas Power & Light, gave the committee a table showing what the power companies in his area thought should be approved. The committee followed his recommendations except for two minor construction items of $300,000.

Idaho Power Company opposed Anderson Ranch switchyards and transmission line projects for $631,000. Out they went.

Public Service Company of Colorado opposed two transmission lines running into Valmont, Colo., to cost $759,000. Out they went.

Montana Power Company opposed the Havre-Shelby, Mont., substation and transmission line to cost $1,300,000. Out they went.

Testimony of most of the private power company executives was to the effect that proposed government transmission lines would duplicate existing transmission lines. Bureau of Reclamation officials testified that existing privately owned lines were not heavy enough to carry the power loads under development. Their testimony was ignored.

In several instances, the committee directed the bureau to make contracts with the private power companies for the sale of public power on a monopoly basis.

Questions and Answers

THE STORY: A wealthy widow, Mrs. Everson, is being with her servants in two giant trailers from an atomic war which she believes is impending. In the party are Mrs. Everson's cook and housekeeper; Rudy, the chauffeur; Victor, the butler; and the Marchese DeLacasa, Mrs. Everson's companion. It becomes evident that Mrs. Everson is in love with Victor, the butler, and she tries to tell him so. Mrs. Everson herself that "after the explosion," men will be worth all that those who have state, just as Russia under the czars was a police state.

ization. Here there was at least a telephone, a street of pavement, a garage, a fly-specked "hotel" advertising rooms at 50 cents a night, dinner $1.

Beyond, for 75 miles, the shining procession moved cautiously along a dirt road that seemed to take its own willful way, climbing up and down as if it were a shallow valley or emerged into long stretches of arid land.

At one moment they were among trees, the next they were plowing heavily through sand. And always, in the distance, a wall of tumbled mountains grew imperceptibly nearer and higher.

LATE in the afternoon the trail entered a beautiful, wooded canyon, narrow between high walls. The sun touched only the topmost rugged rims. Below, where a shallow stream trickled, ferns meandered in a wide, boulders-strewn bed, everything seemed bathed in green light. Birds were flashing high up, their wings catching the last gold of the sun.

Presently the canyon walls drew back, leaving space for a miniature forest. The caravan rocked and bumped through this for some little distance, then dipped steeply into the river-bed. At this point the stream made a hairpin turn around a large sand-spit.

And here, on this sand-spit, at last, they stopped for good.

MRS. MALONE'S first reaction was one of great happiness, the upper level of her mind taking time out for a brief holiday from apprehension.

It was as if she had entered into a new dimension, where time, with its endlessly ticking seconds, had ceased to be. A mysterious beauty unfolded this refuge; it was as hauntingly unreal as a dream, yet with none of a dream's vagaries. Here was only peace, a deep satisfaction, an exquisite sense of safety.

The river-bed was strewn with boulders and silver-dry branches and logs. On either side the forest stood straight and tall, forming aisles and arches, shadow corridors in mystery. And all about them, now blossoming, were ferns.

There was no time to explore the terrain before night closed down. It turned cold beneath the stars, and soon after dinner everyone went to bed. Mrs. Malone lay in the purple-blue darkness, conscious of the release from tension, her body relaxed, listening to the ceaseless rush and plash of the stream. Soon she fell asleep, and slept all night as a child sleeps who knows it is surrounded by love. The last thing she thought was:

"Oh God I am. This is wonderful. Wonderful." This is wonderful.

Morning, too, held the same quality of exultant peace. There was much to be done, and Rudy, with Victor's help, began the job of making permanent camp.

There were many things to be done, but the first thing which assuaged prime importance to Mrs. Everson, was the location of the trailer, which was her home, on the sandy point in the river bed.

This trailer was jacked up by Rudy and Victor and resettled on strong supports.

Next Victor drove the small trailer and the sedan to higher ground, overlooking the river bed, a little distance away in the woods.

It would be necessary for Rudy, Victor and Mrs. Malone to estimate up and down the bank to go from the trailer to the other.

The truck, until stopped, was to remain where it had stopped.

Ministers Ask Life Sentence For Slayer Condemned To Death

VERNON—(AP)—A spokesman for a group of West Texas preachers said Saturday night the ministers did not want the death sentence of W. Fred Jones commuted to life imprisonment "just because he got religion."

"It's because he got a worse penalty than he deserved and more severe than others have received for like crimes," said the Rev. Noel V. Guice, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church here.

The pastor was one of five ministers who appeared before the Board of Pardons and Paroles in Austin earlier this week in behalf of Jones.

R. A. (Smoot) Schmid, chairman of the board, said Saturday in Austin an unusual number of preachers have written or visited the board in Jones' behalf. Five appeared before the board at one time this week. He said they were convinced Jones should not pay with his life for the shotgun murder of H. C. Love, Jr., outside Jones' Floydada grocery store on Sept. 27, 1946.

"Local Prejudice" Jones is scheduled to die in the electric chair at midnight August 7.

Guice said all but one of the five ministers were in the Plains area when the murder took place and knew the "local situation."

The ministers also asked commutation of the sentence "because of local prejudice and the change of venue was not far enough away from the scene of the crime."

Their third point of argument was that Jones "would be of more value to society alive than dead."

Guice said Jones "had won all of his seven fellow inmates in death row over to religion x x and he also has won to religion many others in the jails where he has been since the crime."

The Board of Pardons and Paroles will make a decision in the case next week.

The district attorney opposed commutation on the basis of Jones' criminal record over a long period of years, a record which included several convictions on charges of stomping and kicking people.

L-Men Seize Truck Load Of Beer, Liquor

SAN ANGELO—(AP)—State liquor control officers impounded a truck loaded with beer, gin and whiskey after an early morning chase on the Robert Lee road near here Saturday.

Charges of illegal transportation of liquor were filed against E. D. Cowser of Abilene by Gerald Black, control board supervisor.

The men confiscated 4,800 cans of beer, and 160 pints and fifths of gin and whiskey on the truck.

Plane Crash—

Army ambulances went to the crash scene to carry the bodies to a morgue.

State police said identification of the dead was made difficult by the 30-minute fire.

The crash scene is a flat pasture in this sparsely populated farm country 25 miles northeast of Philadelphia.

State police established a guard around the wrecked plane. They said several sacks of mail had been recovered. Money and jewelry were found scattered about the crash site.

Katzin and her five-month-old daughter, Susan, of Winston-Salem, N. C.; Mrs. Katzin was described as a sister-in-law of Richard Katzin.

Howard S. LeRoy, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Jane Margeson, West Hartford, Conn.; Miss June Griswold, East Hartford, Conn.; Mrs. E. Curry, Arlington, Va.; Mrs. S. Shaw, no address given; W. Andrews, no address given.

The crew members: Captain Leroy Roland Matthews, Jackson Heights, Queens, N. Y.; Co-pilot: Julien B. Dimmons, Jackson Heights, Queens, N. Y.; Flight Attendant Peter Gobleck, Jackson Heights, Queens, N. Y.

Fireman Hurt When Bus Hits Fire Truck

PORT WORTH—(AP)—An Abilene fireman injured in the collision of a fire truck and a passenger bus in Abilene Friday night was in serious condition at a hospital here Saturday.

O. R. Sanders was rushed here for head surgery after the accident. Doctors said he suffered fracture at the skull base and a badly bruised brain.

Rangers—

(Continued From Page One) Rangers said: "We are not going to tolerate any such situation as developed last night when five men in two cars shot up the place on the outskirts of the city."

Everything is being done to bring a fair trial to the accused in the Mason shooting.

"There must be no disturbance here in this situation. We represent the state in this investigation and all other officers who have information that will help in clearing it up should volunteer that information."

Mason's 22-year-old son, Burton Mason, said he hoped and planned to continue his father's program, "Bill Mason Speaks," over some radio station, possibly one in Corpus Christi.

Young Mason said the program would not be on KBBK in Abilene, where his father spoke, since the management had said it seemed inadvisable at this time. The son said he was leaving his own program on KBBK, "Dural Doings," to carry on his father's work.

Mason was the program director of KBBK and a veteran newspaperman who had worked on newspapers throughout the United States. He often had joked his daily broadcast about threats he said he received frequently by mail and telephone.

Earlier Attack Recalled Thursday, Mason had used his radio program to criticize the moral tone of a dime-a-dance place. He said the place was owned by Smithwick.

Officers recalled another incident, from a month ago, involving Mason and another deputy sheriff.

The radio man, whose broadcasts often were vigorous and personal, had criticized the sheriff's department. On one night he was called out of a bowling alley and beaten slightly. Mason laughed it off as a "token beating." The same night Deputy Sheriff Charlie Brand went to a justice of the peace, pleaded guilty to "simple assault" and paid a $5 fine.

An examining trial for Smithwick is set for 10 a. m. Tuesday. The deputy pleaded innocent at an arraignment Friday. Funeral services and interment for Mason will be held in Abilene Sunday.

Reams said Saturday, from near-by Falfurrias, that: "I can tell you that we have statements from eyewitnesses."

One statement was made by Ave-lino Saenz, who was with Mason in an automobile when Mason was shot. Saenz jumped out of the car, narrowly escaping a bullet which tore through the radio man.

Deputy Jalis Himsel said: "As far as I can find out, Smithwick put himself in jail after Mason was killed. He had a key to the jail and that's where he was found."

"We are very interested in learning exactly what Bill Mason had to say about Smithwick," Reams said. "But I have learned that Mason wrote out every word he said on the radio, and I am very hopeful that somewhere, in his effects, the text of his broadcast will be found."

Reams said Smithwick, a man about six feet, one inch tall who weighs more than 200 pounds, had made a report to the radio man.

Friday, Mason drove to the southwestern part of Abilene to investigate a report of poor streets. He had received a phone call that the streets were bad and he went to get a report for his broadcast.

"Mason was in his automobile, headed in one direction, and the accused, in a red pickup truck, was headed in another," Reams said.

"As the two were mingling, Mason stopped his car. The accused man got out of his truck and came to Mason's car."

Bullet Found in Car "A shot followed almost immediately."

"Mason got out of his car. He crawled across the road and under the pickup truck. Then he kept going. He staggered southward, 200 feet, to the porch of the Alice Pipe and Supply Company."

The 45 caliber bullet had ripped near Mason's heart. He died in a hospital 30 minutes later.

The bullet was found in the door of Mason's car—the door opposite the driver's side. The bullet had narrowly missed Saenz, who scrambled out of the car just before the shot was fired.

Officers said the man who shot Mason said only: "Are you Bill Mason?" before firing the shot.

Texas Ranger Ben Krueger, who is stationed here, telephoned Ranger Captain Alfred Allee of Carriazo Springs immediately for assistance.

"Our function is not only to see that the prisoner is protected but to see that he is presented before the court," Krueger said. "As far as I know, no Ranger ever gave up a prisoner."

Friends Raise Funds To Prosecute Killer

DALLAS—(AP)—Three Dallas friends of W. H. (Bill) Mason, radio commentator shot to death at Abilene, said Saturday they were raising a fund to push prosecution of the man charged with the slaying.

Leaders in the effort were George Haddaway, publisher of Southern Flight Magazine; Fred Lockwood, a salesman, and William Langley, a photographer.

Senior Scouts To Attend Regional Event Near Conroe

At least 10 boys from Senior Scout units in the Buffalo Trail Council will attend the Region Nine Seniore scheduled August 7 through 14 at Camp Strake near Conroe, campsite for the Sam Houston Council. In charge of the group leaving here August 8 will be S. G. Painter, Midland field executive of the council.

In addition to the 10 boys listed, there is a possibility that five more may be included from Senior units in Midland, according to P. V. Thorson, Scout executive.

The regional affair will welcome more than 800 Scouts from Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico. Three major lines of activity will be available during the week-long Seniore.

They may choose to go on a two-day cruise in the Gulf of Mexico aboard a United States Navy warship, take a short course of instruction in flight training under the guidance of the Air Force at Ellington Field, or undergo wilderness training consisting of living on their own for a period away from civilization.

Scouts wishing to take either the flight training or cruise must bring with them a release signed by their parents, Thorson stated.

Will Be Instructor Painter, in addition to his duties as overseer for the Buffalo Trail Council group, also will be in charge of instruction for the entire Seniore group in Indian lore, dancing, costumes and ceremonies.

Included in the group leaving aboard a bus furnished by the Midland American Legion Post are: Wendell Walker, Preston Moran, Jim Ball, Bob Mobley, Jimmy Smith, Henry Watkins, J. W. Jones and Chitney, all of Monahans. Hubert Ratliff of Colorado City and

Crane News

CRANE—Jimmy Pemberton has returned to his home in El Paso after visiting two months with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Layfield of Crane.

The Schooler family held a reunion at the grounds near Buffalo Gap recently. Presiding over the group, numbering more than 70 people, was 88-year-old Mrs. L. D. Schooler. Attending from Crane were Mrs. Ella Young, daughter of Mrs. Schooler, and members of her family including Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Young and daughter, Holley; Mr. and Mrs. Gavie Young and son, Lou; and Jessie and Duke Young.

Mrs. Selman Cooke and daughter, Vickie Lee, were recent guests in the S. G. Barnard home in Crane. Mrs. Cooke, daughter of the Barnards, is living in Lubbock, where her husband is attending Texas Tech.

Mrs. Gayle Young was treated for shock and bruises in a Crane hospital Tuesday after the car in which she was riding collided with an automobile driven by Slim Chippman.

Jimmy Thomas and Mildred Reynolds were married July 10 in Seymour. Mrs. Thomas is director of music in the Crane high school and Thomas also is employed here.

Woman Seriously Ill Of Rattlesnake Bite

CLEBURNE—(AP)—Mrs. C. W. Bitters, 60, of Glen Rose was in a serious condition here Saturday night from a rattlesnake bite.

Mrs. Bitters was bitten Saturday afternoon on the right ankle in a pasture near her farm home while helping her husband look for some lost cattle. She was rushed to a hospital in Cleburne, 25 miles away.

Jerry A. Dunlap of Odessa will round out the group as it now stands. Additional Scouts may be included before time for the event.

First Legal Rulings Reveal No Flaw In G-A School Laws

AUSTIN—(AP)—First legal interpretations of the new Gilmer-Aikin School Laws uncovered no flaw Saturday in the school district consolidation set-up.

The provision of Senate Bill 116 on merging of dormant districts is mandatory, said the first opinion. All three rulings, by Assistant Attorney General Chester E. Ollison, were approved by Attorney General Price Daniel.

Pending in the Supreme Court is an El Paso case to determine how military reservations may be assigned to school districts under the Gilmer-Aikin plan. The court has not taken up this case.

Another of Saturday's opinions declared Article Eight of the bill was intended to expedite the abolition of inactive districts and does not set out an exclusive method for consolidation. A dormant district lying next to an active district may petition for consolidation, and the county judge must call an election.

That ruling was requested by Roy L. Hill, Runnels County attorney, of Ballinger. Howard County Attorney Elton Gilliland asked for a ruling on whether or not consolidations are mandatory. The attorney general said: "The first sentence in the first paragraph of Article Eight of Senate Bill 116, x x x is mandatory in nature. The words 'Within 30 days from the effective date of this act' should be regarded as directory and not as a limitation on the power therein given to the county school board."

Dormant Districts The third opinion was on whether certain school districts in Young County were dormant. It was requested by County Attorney Tom M. Miller of Graham.

Districts which farmed out their school children to other districts for two successive years are dormant, it said, even though some pupils were taught by the receiving district in schools in the sending district.

"A school district is dormant x x x if it fails to operate a school for the race having the greatest number of enumerated scholastics for any two successive years subsequent to the end of the school term which began in the Fall of 1946 and ended in the Spring of 1947," the opinion said.

11 Planes Lost In Fire At Sweetwater Municipal Airport

SWEETWATER—(AP)—Saturday's official inquiry into a fire at the Sweetwater Municipal Airport placed the total loss of planes at 11.

Four junked planes and parts of others were lost, also. Flames swept through the 32,000-square foot hangar Friday. Damage was estimated at $50,000 to $75,000.

Four other hangars on the field were unharmed. The fire was believed to have started from an explosion in the gas tank of a plane.

MEDICAL APPLICANTS MUST TAKE EXAMINATION AUSTIN—(AP)—The attorney general Saturday ruled in effect that all persons who have applied for medical licenses since April 28 first must pass a basic science examination.

The opinion would apply to all persons seeking to practice any phase of the healing arts.

Child, Stricken With Polio, Owes Life To Group Who Helped Secure Iron Lung

PARIS, TEXAS—(AP)—Jerry Wayne Yates, five years old, is alive because 20 persons helped rush an iron lung from Dallas to Paris, 108 miles, late Friday night.

The boy, of Antlers, Okla., was all in Paris visiting relatives. Late Friday he was stricken with bulbar polio. The dread disease affected his throat and chest muscles. His face twisted as he fought for air.

There was no iron lung in Paris—only a respirator at the Paris Sanatorium.

A Paris doctor called A. D. Faries in Tyler, state representative of the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis. Faries called Arthur Dyer, chairman of the foundation's Dallas Chapter. Dyer called Parkland Hospital.

The hospital said it had an iron lung. It was then 10 p.m. Faries called Dyer again.

"We've got to have the lung. The respirator won't work," he said. Dyer called the Dallas Transfer Company. The company called A. W. Eads, L. B. Feity and R. E. Callahan, and got them out of bed. Dyer also called Dallas police and asked for a police escort for the big transfer truck.

It was past 11 p.m. when the three men left Parkland Hospital with the iron lung.

At Greenville the truck and its crew hit a bad windstorm, which slowed them up. But a police escort led them through town, with all other traffic blocked to let the mercy truck through.

In Commerce another police escort waited, and the streets were blocked.

At Paris, police cars met the truck on the outskirts and led the way to the sanatorium.

Jerry was still gasping for breath. In a few minutes the iron lung was connected and the youngster began to breathe easier.

Saturday morning Jerry was feeling better. Doctors said he had a good chance to get all right.

Women Voters Body To Take No Stand On 10 Amendments

GALVESTON—(AP)—Mrs. Martin A. Row of Dallas, state president of the Texas League of Women Voters, whose directors are in annual session here Saturday declared the organization would take no stand on the 10 constitutional amendments to be submitted in a referendum this November to the voters of Texas.

She said the issues will be studied and analyzed and that a later decision might be made by the directors.

Meanwhile, the organization, through its directors and its local units, will endeavor to make available to all voters impartial unbiased information on the proposed amendments.

Miss Olive White of Denton and Mrs. Joseph Mares of Dickinson were elected to complete the state nominating committee. The state election tentatively is set for a meeting in Houston next May.

Mrs. Banks Upshaw of Dallas, state treasurer, reported the League has budgeted $10,960 to promote its program of citizen participation in government for 1948-50.

Mrs. David B. Trammell, Fort Worth, first vice president, reported an increase of 45 per cent in League membership over Texas since the last meeting, the total rising from 1,746 in 1948 to 2,536 at present. Sessions will continue through Monday.

Oil Editor

Yarborough-Allen East Outpost To Test Ellenburger

Stanford Oil & Gas Company was preparing to drill test in the Ellenburger with its No. 1 C. H. C. Anderson, east flanker to the Yarborough and Allen field of Southwest Ector County.

Top of the Ellenburger was called on 10,715 feet. Operator has drilled ahead to 10,765 feet. Depth at which the packer is to be set for the test has not been reported.

The exploration is said to be considerably low to nearby Ellenburger production. Informed sources express the opinion that it should make a well, never-the-less.

Location is 1,981 feet from south and 680 feet from west lines of section 22, block B-14, psi survey.

Drilling Continues In Pegasus Area Tests

Magnolia Petroleum Company was drilling ahead in the South-Central Midland County Devonian with its No. 2-30 Glass, northeast offset to the Ellenburger discovery opening in the Pegasus field in North-Central Upton County.

Last report had it below 11,243 feet in lime and chert.

The exploration is located 1,980 feet from west and 680 feet from the south line of section 30, block 40, T-3-S, TP survey.

More hole was being made at the same concern's No. 1-36 Glass, southwest offset to the deep strike. Drilling was under 4,983 feet in Pennsylvanian sandy lime.

It is 1,980 feet from north and 680 feet from east lines of section 36, block 41, T-4-S, TP survey, and in North-Central Upton County.

Phillips Petroleum Company was trying to regain circulation at its No. 1-BB TXL after reaching a total depth of 6,911 feet in lime and shale.

This offset to the Pegasus discovery on the northwest is 664 feet from south and 680.5 feet from east lines of section 25, block 41, T-4-S, TP survey.

About two miles southeast of the Pegasus area, Republic Natural Gas Company was making more hole at its No. 1 Powell. It was under 11,843 feet in lime, with no shows.

Magnolia Plugs Back In Dollarhide-Silurian

Magnolia Petroleum Company was plugging back from dry Ellenburger to attempt Silurian production with its No. 21-B Cowden, east outpost to the Dollarhide multi-pay field of Southwest Andrews County.

Total depth was 12,020 feet, where the deep zone made water. It is to reduce hole to 8,730 feet and test the Silurian. Gas reached the surface in eight minutes. Gas volume was neither gauged nor estimated.

Hiawatha To Test Diamond M Reef

Drill test in the top of the Canyon reef of the Pennsylvanian is in preparation at Hiawatha Oil & Gas Company No. 5 Wilson, flanker to production from that formation in the Diamond M field of West-Central Scurry County.

Top of the reef was called at 6,720 feet, on an elevation of 2,332 feet. More hole was made to 6,756 feet, where a Schlumberger survey was run. According to observers, the schedule of drill test should show production.

Humble Slates Tests Of Benedum-Silurian

Humble Oil & Refining Company was preparing to drill cement plug and make tests prior to completion of its No. 1 First National Bank of San Angelo, one-mile north extension to Fusselman-Silurian production.

Sunray Flanks South End Of North Snyder

An offset to the opener of the south end of the North Snyder field in North-Central Scurry County has been staked by Sunray Oil Corporation, et al, as its No. 3-B Brown.

The drill site is 680 feet from south and west lines of tract 13, section 20, block 1, J. P. Smith survey.

Norsworthy Drills In Howard Permian

C. L. Norsworthy, Jr., No. 1 Christian, wildcat 10 miles northeast of Big Spring in North-Central Howard County, was drilling below 6,907 feet in sand and shale in the lower Permian.

Projected depth is 8,500 feet to test the Pennsylvanian.

Gulf Slates Outpost For Keystone South

Outpost to production from the Tubb-Permian in the Keystone South field of Central Winkler County has been staked as Gulf Oil Corporation No. 150-T Keystone Cattle Company.

It will be 1,980 feet from north

Lea Slated For Three Deep Wildcats; Two Set In Otero

HOBBS, N. M. — Locations for three deep wildcats in Lea County and for two exploratory projects in South-Central Otero County, were reported Saturday.

Two of the Lea County prospects are definitely slated to go to the Devonian and the third will dig to the Pennsylvanian and possibly may be continued into the Devonian.

Gulf Oil Corporation No. 1 Mrs. H. S. Smith will be in Northwest Lea County, about 10 miles northeast of the shallow Caprock field. It is approximately 12 miles south of the Amarada Petroleum Corporation No. 1-BTB State, wildcat which recently flowed oil in commercial amounts from the Devonian, to make a discovery from that formation.

The Gulf venture will be at the center of the southwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section 34-14-33E. It is slated to go to around 10,000 feet to explore into the Pennsylvanian. Some interested observers think it likely will be carried on down to 12,000 feet to explore into the Devonian.

Stakes 11,500-Foot Test The Atlantic Refining Company is to drill its No. 1 Bettie C. Dickinson as an 11,500-foot wildcat in North-Central Lea County, about 10 miles northeast of Lovington.

The drill site is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 13-15-37E. That puts it one and one-quarter miles east and three-quarters of a mile north of the Benedum pool, had a good blow of air at the surface. After three hours, 405 feet of gas cut mud was recovered.

Drilling is continuing at 11,175 feet in lime and shale.

Drill site is 660 feet from north and 2,247 feet from east lines of block X, C. C. DeWitt survey.

More hole is being made at Humble No. 1 Parrott, Ellenburger exploration in the Upland area north of the Benedum field. It was under 10,748 feet in chert.

It is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 3, block Y, EL&RR survey.

Drilling was also continuing at Humble No. 1 Oswald, wildcat three miles north of the Benedum area. Last report showed it below 6,025 feet in shale.

This venture is 2,640 feet from south and 660 feet from the east lines of section 12, block B, CO&S&F&GNG survey.

Production from the Palo Pinto section of the Pennsylvanian has been indicated for Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 3 Ash, exploration in the Bronte area of East-Central Cooke County.

Bronte Exploration Has Palo Pinto Pay

The project ran a 70-minute drill test in the formation at 4,352-4,375 feet, showing a fair blow of air throughout. Recovery was 75 cubic feet of gas cut drilling mud and 210 feet of heavily oil and gas cut mud.

Drilling ahead to 4,390 feet, packer ran a second test with packer at 4,374 feet. The tool was open 75 minutes. Gas reached the surface in eight minutes. Gas volume was neither gauged nor estimated.

Much interest will center late in the month on action taken by state regulatory bodies in determining crude production allowances for September.

Predictions are becoming more numerous of sharp increases in demand during the last three months of the year, thus permitting at least partial recovery from sharp cutbacks in domestic crude production that began last January.

Humble Gets Water From Coke Strawn

The Strawn line of the Pennsylvanian apparently has been eliminated as proposed pay section for Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 2 Sallie Odom, et al, Northeast Coke County wildcat, about two and three-quarter miles northwest of the same company's No. 1 Odom, Strawn discovery in Northwest Runnels County.

The Coke County exploration ran a one-hour drill test at 5,386-5,400 feet in a formation under 6,000 feet. Recovery was 400 feet of heavily oil and gas cut drilling mud and 300 feet of salt water. Drilling was continuing from 5,455 feet in shale and sand.

Army Gets A Lift

The Oil and Gas Journal last week forecast that domestic crude production in the last three months of the year will jump to 5,500,000 barrels daily, compared to 4,900,000 for the April-May-June period.

This fourth quarter output, the industry publication said, will be 8.9 per cent above the same period last year.

The Oil and Gas Journal also predicted a 10 per cent increase in demand for all petroleum products during the next few months as compared with the same period last year.

Only minor changes have been ordered by the state regulatory agencies in Oklahoma, Louisiana and Kansas.

Forecast Is Made The Oil and Gas Journal last week forecast that domestic crude production in the last three months of the year will jump to 5,500,000 barrels daily, compared to 4,900,000 for the April-May-June period.

It is slated to start operations at once.

It will be 900 feet from north and 500 feet from west lines of section 3-26-8E.

Page Sets Location Holland Page, Jr., has staked location for his No. 1 Maga-State, a shallow wildcat in South-Central Otero County. It is to be 330 feet from south and 2,310 feet from west lines of section 23-26-8E.

This venture generated the Ellenburger at 11,965 feet. That formation did not carry any signs of oil or gas and made some salt water.

None of the higher horizons had any possibilities of production. The wildcat probably will be abandoned and plugged soon.

Amerada Petroleum Corporation ran a two-hour drill test at its No. 1-BTB State, wildcat in North-Central Lea County, at 10,452 to 10,450 feet. Recovery was 180 feet of gas cut mud and 7,370 feet of salt water. Drilling is now below 10,520 feet, penetrating lime.

This venture has shown for a Devonian discovery at a lesser depth.

Drill site is 660 feet from the north and west lines of section 26-12-33E.

Second Discovery Sought Also in this general area Amerada is planning to complete as a Pennsylvanian discovery, its No. 1 Caudle-Federal.

After swabbing, it flowed 67 barrels of oil and one barrel of water in 24 hours through perforations at intervals from 8,920 to 9,020 feet. Gravity of the oil was 45.5 Treatment with 3,000 gallons of acid through perforations was scheduled.

Located 1,980 feet from the north and 660 feet from the east lines of section 10-12-33E, it is one mile southwest of Amerada's recently completed Silurian discovery, No. 1-BTA State, which also indicated production in the Pennsylvanian before drilling ahead to the Ellen-burger, then plugging back to complete the Silurian.

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1-K State, wildcat 17 miles southwest of the Crossroads field had reached 12,770 feet in hard lime and was continuing.

It is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 31-11-35E.

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1 Jack Markham was drilling below 8,780 feet in section 31-24-7E. This semi-wildcat in North-Central Lea County is located 660 feet from south and east lines of section 11-9-35E.

Humble Deepens Humble No. 1 Federal-Wiggs, South-Central Eddy wildcat, 18 miles due south of Carlsbad, had progressed past 8,846 feet in lime and was drilling deeper.

It is 1,980 feet from north and east 2,180 feet from section 31-24-7E.

Union Oil Company of California and DeKalb Agricultural Association, Inc., No. 1 State, Chaves County wildcat approximately 15 miles east and slightly south of Roswell, had reached 15,166-38E of the Bottomless Lakes, was drilling below 5,379 feet in lime and shale.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and west lines of section 27-11-27E. This prospector is scheduled to go to 7,800 feet, unless it encounters granite above that level.

Apache Oil Corporation of Houston has reached 4,264 feet in lime and shale at its No. 1 Noble Trust, Northeast Chaves County wildcat to 5,000 feet, or granite at a lesser depth. The prospector is drilling ahead.

It is about 40 miles northeast of Roswell and 1,980 feet from south and east 2,180 feet from west lines of section 18-4-27E.

Amerada Petroleum Corporation No. 1 Rose, offset to No. 1 Hamilton, discovery from the Devonian, and 1,980 feet from north and west lines of section 25-16-38E, is making hole below 11,119 feet in lime.

South Offset In Lime Amerada No. 1 Eaves, south offset to No. 1 Hamilton, Devonian discovery, had progressed below 8,011 feet in lime and was deepening.

It is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 35-16-38E.

Magnolia No. 1-B Santa Fe, northeast outpost to production from the Devonian in the Crossroads field, in Northeast Lea County, was swabbing and testing on perforated section in the 7-inch casing at 9,750-55 feet in Pennsylvanian lime.

On the latest 24-hour period reported the recovery was 74 barrels of oil and 67 1/2 barrels of salt water. The project is to continue testing until full value of the section now being investigated is determined. It will probably drill on to around 12,000 feet to explore into the Devonian.

It is located 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 26-9-36E.

Mid-Continent Petroleum Company No. 1-D Sawyer, a flanker to Devonian production in the Crossroads field and 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 27-9-36E, was drilling below 11,965 feet in lime.

Oil Development Company of Texas No. 1 Santa Fe, a flanker to Devonian production in the Crossroads area, was running a 2-hour test. Total depth was 11,709 feet.

It is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 27-9-36E.

West Texas proudly stands up now in the economic spotlight as "the state's No. 1 onusher," West Texas Today, official publication of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, says in an area bank story, "West Texas Leads the Way," in its July issue.

"In all-around business progress the 132-county area—glancing back only one brief decade—has outstripped the balance of Texas by impressive margins," the article continues.

As proof of the assertion, the following facts are listed:

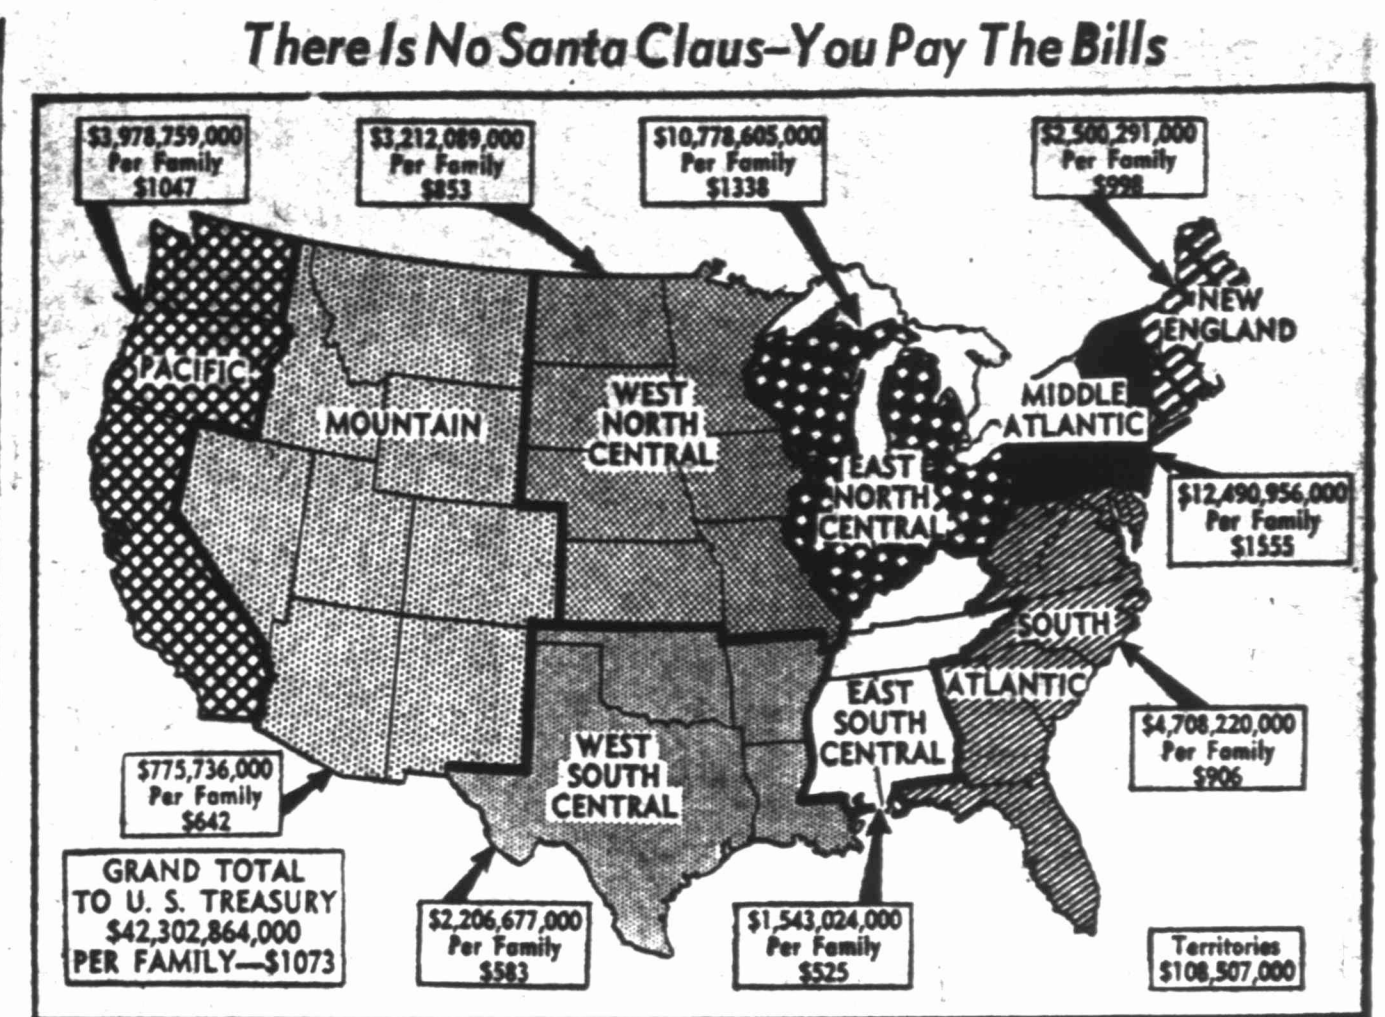

1. On Sept. 30, 1938, deposits in Texas then 485 national and state banks totaled $1,377,187,980, of which the then 271 West Texas banks claimed $393,473,710—33 per cent plus of the all-state figure.
2. Excess $1 billion in an area bank story, "West Texas Leads the Way," in its July issue.
3. By June 30, 1945, when hundreds of thousands of soldiers were quartered in this section, West Texas bank deposits had increased to $1,395,176,000, exceeding the billion-dollar mark for the first time.
4. By Dec. 31, 1948, the story continues, West Texas banks, now grown to 308, reported deposits totaling $1,825,842,000—greater by 31 per cent than the June 30, 1945, figure and 23 per cent greater than all Texas' deposits as of Sept. 30, 1938.

The article goes on to state that new banks have been organized in 26 West Texas cities within the last six years.

Male Employment Is Down As Hike Noted In Hiring Of Women

WASHINGTON—Employment for women is increasing while male employment is dropping.

The number of employed U. S. women increased from 16,602,000 in May 1948 to 17,173,000 in May this year. But in the same period the number of men at work dropped from 42,068,000 to 41,521,000.

These are Census Bureau figures as analyzed and reported by the Women's Bureau of the Labor Department.

Unemployment is hitting both sexes alike. The number of women and men seeking work rose about 100 per cent for each sex. This is all a continuation of a long trend. Since the turn of the century, and earlier, the number of women working and seeking work has been on the increase. In the present period of unemployment, the trend has been accentuated.

Take the figures on the total labor force—the total of men and women both working and seeking work. The nation's labor force increased from 69,422,000 in May 1948 to 61,983,000 in May 1949.

Among men the increase in that period was only 1.4 per cent. Among women the increase was 5.5 per cent.

Women constituted only 18 per cent of the total labor force in 1900. They were 29 per cent of the labor force last May. Twenty per cent of women of 14 and older were gainfully employed in 1900. Last May 31 per cent of them had jobs.

The trend for men was the reverse. Only 71 per cent of the adult male population was gainfully employed in May 1949. Yet 87 per cent of adult males were employed in 1900. The drop has been sharp even since 1940, when 79 per cent of adult males were working.

Explanation Given The explanation is that: 1. Men are staying in school longer. Also, the new pension programs make it easier for them to retire. They used to retire later or not at all.

2. Women are finding work opportunities they never had before. Labor saving devices are making it possible for them to get out of the kitchen. And they need money to buy the labor saving devices.

Women have been encouraged to work. Also, because the social attitude toward working women has changed. Furthermore, the average woman has a fewer children now than formerly. The big increase of working women has come chiefly among those who were married.

Women once had too much to do at home even to consider getting a job. But the development of mass production, through the introduction of new machinery and distribution methods, has provided at economical prices the things they once had to provide themselves: clothing, laundry and canned and baked goods.

Although the typewriter was put on the market shortly after the civil war, the "touch system" didn't come into general use until the 1890s. The rapid work made possible by this and shorthand methods revolutionized business processes.

Washington Oil—Coal Men May Join In Anti-Import Campaign

By Joseph Huttlinger

WASHINGTON — Coal industry leaders spoke sharply against an "avalanche" of oil imports this week and lined up forces for what may become an all-out fight to halt them.

While the development received little attention in the press, it is highly significant. Like domestic oil men, coal men are suffering under oil imports. If they join the fight in earnest, it may mean victory in the fight against imports.

"I don't think it's a good policy to import foreign oil," said George H. Love, president of the gigantic Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Company. He testified before the Senate Banking and Currency Committee studying coal industry-labor relations.

Oil imports mean "unemployment" in coal mines, he said. They have helped cut the price of fuel oil "in half" in the East in the last few months, and they spur the shift to oil for heating.

Oil imports are slowing research on synthetic oil, one of the Truman administration's pet projects, he said. The joint work of his company and Standard Oil Company of New Jersey on synthetic oil loses its "economic urge" under the present conditions, he explained.

John D. Battle, executive secretary of the National Coal Association, said "there is an avalanche of oil being imported into this country." The association's representative of the bulk of the soft coal producers of the nation.

"Fuel oil from imported crude oil coming into this country is at a rate of about 400,000 barrels per day," said Battle. "This quantity of fuel oil is equivalent to about 100,000 tons of coal per day."

Much of this displaces coal, he said.

"Some of this competition is wholly unfair, such as dumping of foreign oil on our shores with practically no tariff. The 10.5 cent barrel tariff on importation of oil has no effect on the volume," he went on.

Perhaps even more important, the National Coal Association and the Fuels Research Council, both contacted the House Small Business Subcommittee as testimony of oil imports to say they may want to testify.

The Fuels Research Council is allied to the association, but represents coal-carrying railroads as well. Together, they are perhaps the most powerful groups in the coal industry.

Imports Denounced The council has just completed a report denouncing oil imports. Thomas J. McGrath of the council says it will go to the board of directors, and "the board will take some action, and you'll hear about it."

What this all adds up to is more support for domestic oil men in their effort to bring a reduction in oil imports whether by Congressional action, by the State Department, or by the oil industry itself.

Note—Strangest development at the coal hearings was testimony of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, which makes 80 per cent of its revenue from carrying coal. It is switching from coal to Diesel engines, an official testified.

Governor Roy Turner of Oklahoma bearded the State Department on oil imports it has just been learned, but he got little for his trouble.

The governor and Rep. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.) went to the office of George C. McGhee, assistant Secretary of State for the Near East. In a hot session, they outlined the plight of the domestic oil man.

McGhee knows the subject. He is the son-in-law of E. DeGolyer, eminent oil geologist of Dallas. He was a member of the firm DeGolyer, McNaughton and McGhee. He was vice president of the National Geophysical Company of Dallas. He made money in oil.

McGhee's domain in the government includes the Middle East, a chief source of the imports of oil. "Very impatient!"

"I can't do anything about this," McGhee told the governor. "Maybe Willard Thorp can." Thorp is assistant secretary in charge of economic affairs. He began looking into oil imports, but dropped the matter to go to a Geneva conference. Texas congressmen are "very impatient" with him.

"I'd prefer to have the State Department work out something to limit oil imports," said Monroney. "If it doesn't, I'm afraid there will be growing sentiment for the Thomas amendment—Sen. Elmer Thomas (D-Okla.) to hold imports to five per cent of domestic demand."

Note—Actually the State Department has little power in the matter. It can persuade the importing companies now threatened with the Thomas bill, the State Department may be more inclined to use its influence, congressmen feel.

British engineers are coming to the United States for two years to learn the oil business in industry plants and technical schools, the Economic Cooperation Administration announced. The ECA will pay the bills, a minimum of $3,000 a year in dollars.

Chambers, Healey, Hill Swell Midland Independent List

Midland's list of independent oil operators has recently been increased by three new men. They are Fred J. Hill, C. F. (Fred) Chambers, and John H. (Jack) Healey.

Hill came to Midland from Houston. He has opened an office in the McClintic Building. He is working on several deals and expects to have some exploratory development work started in the near future.

Chambers has also established an office in the McClintic Building. He is associated with his father-in-law, L. M. Glasco of Dallas, well-known independent operator and producer, who has extensive oil interests in the Basin.

Healey is from Bradford, Pa. He is a member of a family that has been in the oil business in Pennsylvania from the early days of the industry.

He operated out of Albany, in West-Central Texas during the period of 1923-28. After several years military service during World War II, he returned to Bradford and worked there until recently when he came back to Texas and is now located in Midland.

Good Future For Area
Healey says that he realizes now that he should have come to West Texas several years ago.

He thinks there is still unlimited room and unlimited opportunities in this territory in the oil business. He says he intends to make Midland his permanent home and headquarters.

Antonides Quits As Stanolind Oil Scout; Is Replaced By Pope

W. O. (Bill) Antonides, former oil scout with Stanolind Oil & Gas Company, Midland district office, has resigned that position to help manage the Glenwood Hot Springs Company, a combination resort and physiotherapy clinic, at Glenwood, Colo.

He came to Midland in October, 1948, as a Stanolind scout. Prior to joining the company, he worked in Greenwood, his home town, as a special real estate agent dealing with large sheep and cattle ranches. He plans to take up that work again in addition to his job with the Glenwood Hot Springs Company.

During World War II, Antonides served as a fighter pilot with the Eighth Air Force. He has attended the University of Colorado at Boulder and Colorado College at Colorado Springs.

Replacing Antonides is Walter Pope, who has been transferred from the company's Tyler office. He has been scouting for Stanolind about a year.

Pope was graduated from Wichita University at Wichita, Kans., with a degree in geology.

Slick-Urschel Names West Chief Of New Hydrocarbon Branch

Robert V. West, Jr., is the chief of the recently established petroleum hydrocarbons department of Slick-Urschel Oil Company in Midland.

He will have charge of that concern's interests in large gas processing plants now being built in the Benedictum field of Upton County and in the Santa Rosa field of Pecos County.

Slick-Urschel has producing properties in each field and holds major interests in both gas plants. The Benedictum installation will have a capacity of 55,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day. It is due to be completed before the end of the current year.

The Santa Rosa unit will be able to handle 30,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day. Actual construction work on it is just starting. It is scheduled to be operating before the middle of 1950.

Before joining Slick-Urschel, West was on the technical service staff of Humble Oil and Refining Company at that concern's refinery at Baytown.

Personnel Changes Made By Stanolind In NT-NM Division

Promotions and transfers involving personnel of Stanolind Oil and Gas Company's North Texas-New Mexico division were announced Saturday.

Changes include Eugene M. Knight, petroleum engineer from the Hendrick area at Wink, who is transferred to the West Texas district office at Midland.

Frederick W. Foell, petroleum engineer at Midland, was transferred to the Fort Worth division office as a mechanical engineer.

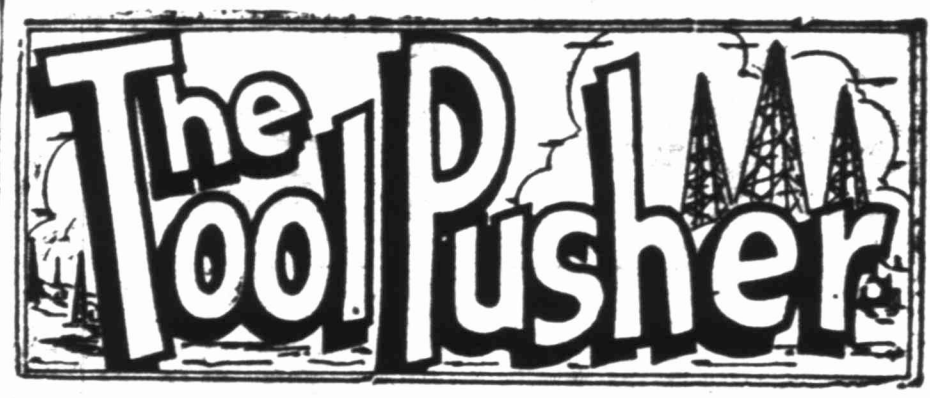

Also transferred to the Fort Worth division office was Fred L. Nabors, petroleum engineer from the district office at Lubbock.

Transferred to the Hendrick area at Wink as field engineer was J. R. Fesser who was formerly at the Slaughter area at Brownfield.

Ben P. Phillips, material supervisor, was transferred from the Hogback area at Farmington, N. M., to the Slaughter area at Brownfield.

Stanolind Names Melzer Assistant District Geologist

L. S. (Larry) Melzer has been promoted to be assistant district geologist for Stanolind Oil & Gas Company's West Texas-Southeast New Mexico territory.

'Skipper' Thomas Is Honored On Eve Of Retirement After 30 Years Of Humble Service

A real old timer of the petroleum pipe line business was honored by more than 300 friends and company associates at a barbecue in Cloverdale Park here Saturday night before his retirement from active service.

He is J. W. "Skipper" Thomas, superintendent of Humble Pipe Line Company's West Texas division, who will retire next month after 44 years of "pipe lining" and more than 30 years with Humble.

Before the barbecue supper, Jack Jones, assistant division superintendent, acted as chairman of a brief program. A gold watch, a four-piece set of luggage and a radio were presented to Thomas on behalf of employees by W. A. Hugg, district superintendent, and T. R. Huestin, assistant district gauger. R. F. Peters, regional employee relations manager, presented Thomas with a leather-bound book containing 162 letters of congratulations from friends.

Other Remembrances
O. Q. Lomax, vice president and general superintendent of the pipe line company, gave Thomas a Humble annuitant's pin along with a certificate which serves as a permanent pass to all company properties. F. D. McMahon, assistant to the general superintendent, presented an embossed annuitant's pin from the company, and he also received various other gifts from friends.

Thomas joined Humble Pipe Line Company in 1918 and has been a division superintendent for the past 23 years shifting between the North and West Texas divisions and also managing operations in the Panhandle at different times. He lived in Wichita Falls 14 years, in Cisco seven years, and has lived in Midland since 1929.

Reminiscing with other old timers at the party, he recalled that his first pipe line job was guarding huge earthen tanks of crude oil in the Spindletop field near Beaumont, scene of Texas' first big oil boom.

Started At Spindletop
"In those days, Thomas said, "storage tanks were just big holes in the ground which held as much as half a million barrels of crude oil. Some had wooden roofs and some were open to the atmosphere, so part of the oil leaked away and part evaporated. But in 1905 it made little difference—oil was not so precious in those days, and people had not found so many uses for it."

He has seen many changes in the pipe line industry since then, among the most noticeable of which are the steel storage tanks which replaced the old earthen facilities.

All kinds of improved mechanical equipment was also adopted, Thomas said. "In the old days we group team pumping equipment—it was the only kind available. But as soon as possible we installed diesel and electric equipment at pump stations."

Has Seen Many Changes
Thomas has seen much progress in pipe lining since I started, but the most important developments are probably the use of larger lines and more efficient equipment," he summed up.

Thomas supervised the construction of almost every major Humble line in West and North Texas, and his associates also credit him with another kind of "building" job which has been a good relationship with producers and competing companies.

The party honoring Thomas closed on a humorous note when friends drew a pick-truck loaded with additional gifts—a long-time supply of chewing tobacco and a cuspidor.

His plans for retirement are indefinite, but he will continue to live in Midland.

Magnolia Pipe Line Advances Powell To Midland Area Head

Malcolm E. Powell, former assistant division superintendent of Magnolia Pipe Line Company's Northern Division at Oklahoma City, has been promoted to division superintendent of the Western Division, with headquarters at Midland.

He has been with the firm eight years, serving in Louisiana, Texas and Oklahoma.

Powell replaces O. H. Beshell, who has been transferred to Houston as division superintendent of the Southern Division. Beshell has served at Midland since May 1, 1947.

Russell C. Conkling Named Chief Plymouth Geologist West Of Mississippi River

Russell C. Conkling of Midland, pioneer West Texas geologist, is to join Plymouth Oil Company August 15, and will become chief geologist for that concern's operations in all territory in the United States west of the Mississippi River.

In his new position Conkling will continue to live in Midland and worked into Shell Oil Company, Inc., he remained with the new set-up, and continued as a Shell employee until 1935.

During the early years of that period he worked at Cheyenne, Wyo., Tulsa, and Dallas. In 1925 he was transferred to San Angelo as head of the Shell sub-surface work in the Permian Basin.

He was made district geologist for Shell at San Angelo in 1931, and held that position until early in 1933 when he went to the Shell office at Houston and worked there for two years as West Texas area geologist.

In April, 1935 he resigned from Shell and came to Midland as a consulting geologist and independent operator.

On Phillips Job
From March 1943 until September 1944, he handled a special assignment for Phillips Petroleum Company in doing surface geology in Western Oregon and along the Alcan highway in British Columbia, in Canada.

He returned to Midland at the end of the Phillips work and resumed his activity as an independent. He was joined in 1947 by his son, Charles J. (Joe) Conkling, and in February 1949, by his other son, Robert N. (Bob) Conkling. The three have operated as Russell C. Conkling and Sons.

That organization will continue to function after Conkling assumes his new connection with Plymouth.

District Office Of Vincent & Welch Is Opened In Midland

Permian Basin district offices for Vincent & Welch, Inc., have been opened at 419 Permian Building, in Midland.

Ralph D. Chambers, formerly on the geological staff of Richfield Oil Corporation and Continental Oil Company, in their Midland offices is in charge of Vincent & Welch operations in this region.

Headquarters of the company, which is a general development and production unit, are at Lake Charles, La.

W. B. (Bill) Kalkhoefer, who also was formerly employed by Richfield, will work as a geologist in the Vincent & Welch office in this city.

Wildcat Taking DST In Pecos Ellenburger

Hlavatha Oil & Gas Company No. 1 Trees, one and one-half miles west of the Santa Rosa field in North Pecos County, was bottomed at 11,186 feet in Ellenburger lime and was taking a drillstem test.

This venture topped the Ellenburger at 11,126 feet, which gave it a datum of minus 6,800 feet. It took a test at 11,125-150 feet. The tool was open one hour. Recovery was 180 feet of drilling mud and 480 feet of very slightly salty mud. There were no signs of oil or gas.

The wildcat is 680 feet from north and 330 feet from east lines of northwest quarter of section 20, block 8, H&GN survey.

Humble Gets Water In Spade Exploration

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 3-B Ellwood, Ellenburger exploration in the Spade area of Northeast Sterling County, was making hole below 7,953 feet in an unidentified lime.

It ran a 90-minute drillstem test in the lower Pennsylvanian at 7,910-40 feet. Recovery was 200 feet of drilling fluid and 2,580 feet of salt water. There were no signs of oil or gas.

At last report the venture had not reached the Ellenburger but that formation was expected shortly.

Cochran Deep Test Runs Schlumberger

A Schlumberger survey was being run at Humble No. 1 Masten, Southwest Cochran County wildcat, 14 miles southwest of Morton and 680 feet from north and west lines of labor 18, league 135, Armstrong C&I survey.

Total depth was 10,788 feet in an unidentified chert formation. Projected depth is 12,000 feet.

and 680 feet from east lines of section 2, block B-4, pal survey. With rotary tool, the exploration is to make 6,000 feet of hole, starting by August 1.

It is contracted to 12,000 feet to test into the Ellenburger. Up to now it has not encountered any possibility of production in any of the formations drilled through.

York-Harper Deepen Midland Prospector

York & Harper, Inc., No. 1-A TXL, Central Midland County, took a test at 12 1/2 miles north of Midland, was drilling at 3,475 feet in shale and anhydrite. Projected depth is 13,800 feet to test the Ellenburger.

Projected 690 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of the southwest quarter of section 25, block 39, E-3-S, TP survey. It is 30 feet south of the same operator's No. 1 TXL, which was junked after reaching a depth of 4,445 feet.

Texas Holds Most Extensive Geology Field Program Ever

AUSTIN—The University of Texas in conducting the most extensive program of field training in geology this Summer it has every undertaken.

The program is designed to bolster knowledge gained in the classroom and laboratory by giving practical work in geological problems.

More than 300 senior and graduate students enrolled for the field courses during the first and second terms, at Brady, College Station, Fort Davis and in the Burnet-Llano-Mason area.

In a co-operative arrangement with Texas A&M College, university students are occupying A&M dormitories for College Station field work, and 157 Aggies are staying at the university's Brady geology camp for supervised field work in that region.

Coal Men— (Continued From Page Six) approves of sales of batteries, heaters, tires, auto radios and other items costing more than $5, except where the post is some distance from a retail trading center. The full committee is expected to approve the suggestion, and the military will consider it an order. William Murray, Jr., chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission, turned down the post of director of the Oil and Gas Division, Interior Department, it was learned. In a telephone conversation with Secretary of the Interior J. A. Krug, Murray said he was honored that he was under consideration, but that he is not in a position to accept. The Kansas Independent Oil and Gas Association says it may want hearings in Wichita on oil imports. Thomas Orr, executive secretary, told the House Small Business Subcommittee on imports that the association is thinking of asking the committee to Kansas. With the United States spending well over half a billion dollars a year on Europe's oil industry, the latest report from the Economic Cooperation Administration should be interesting. Made to the National Petroleum Council by Walter J. Levy, chief of ECA's petroleum division, it is based on the theory that you can't get blood from a stone, or sales in a bankrupt nation. Excerpts: "Up to the present, ECA operations have not destroyed but rather have maintained exports of American oil to Europe... As far as the future is concerned... Europe must... develop its national resources and production facilities and increase exports to the utmost extent possible... This may mean fewer sales by the American oil industry to Europe and might increase competition outside Europe between American and European oil... It might also result in increased imports of oil in the United States." Levy repeated that the ECA condemns barrier agreements such as the recent Britain-Argentina pact. He added that American oil companies may be able to sell in sterling areas. But they may have to accept sterling in payment and agree to convert only a percentage into dollars, and to spend the rest for taxpayers, equipment, services, etc., in sterling areas. The Oil Industry Information Committee says it will be glad to have checks from oil men to make up its $1,500,000 budget for this year. Horton Hurls Tribe To 6-3 Win

Evans Dunn-Jack Williams In Tournament Finals

Gus Pena's Timely Hits Aid Victory

The Midland Indians and the Roswell Rockets meet in the final game of their two-game series at 3 p. m. Sunday in Indian Park. Ralph Blair or Leon Hayes will oppose either Vic Michalec or Bill Wasting on the mound.

San Angelo moves here for a three-game series, starting Monday night.

The Midland Indians whipped the Roswell Rockets 6 to 3 behind the five-hit hurling of Claude Horton here Saturday night. The win broke a six-game losing streak for Midland.

Horton was in complete charge of the Rocket batters all the way. He had a two-hitter going into the ninth inning. A case of you-take-it-I'll-get-it between two Midland outfielders cost Horton two runs and a base hit.

Stanley Hughes played fine defensive ball at shortstop and Lou Dawson was a "poor man's Charlie Keller" in the outfield.

Roswell opened the scoring with a single run in the fourth inning on a walk to Mel Neundorff, a passed ball and a double by Bob Crues. The lone tally began to look big before the Indians finally got to Ernie Paccio for some runs.

Base hits were no problem for the Indians. They collected a half-dozen in the first four innings but couldn't get a run across. After two were out in the sixth, Lou Dawson walked and Gus Pena singled him home with a power drive to centerfield. Pena then stole second, one of the seven bags the Indians pilfered in the game, and Buck Austin singled him around.

A single by Stanley Hughes, a sacrifice by Warren Sitter, an intentional walk to Julian Pressley and a double by Pena produced three runs. Buck Austin got life on an error as Pena went to third. Paccio went to the showers. Gonzalez relieved him. Acting Manager Ernie Nelson then called for one of the oldest tricks in the game, the double steal with runners on first and third, and it worked. Austin broke for second and Pena started home. Austin kept the infield busy a while and Pena scored on a close play at the plate. Austin went to second safely.

Roswell's ninth scared the fans somewhat, but Horton pitched his way out of a tight. The bad judgment play in the outfield let Neundorff on with a two-base hit after one was out. Leftfielder Bell tripped him home. Old man trouble in person, Bob Crues, singled to score.

Chicago White Sox Blast Yanks 9-2

Texas Coaches Flock To Annual Meet At Beaumont

BEAUMONT—(AP)—Possibility for a record-breaking Texas High School Coaches Association Coaching School here this week loomed Saturday as backers went scurrying about to fill a last-hour flood of reservation requests.

The clinic, which will be climaxed next Friday night with the 15th annual South-North football classic, opens Monday morning with some 900 mentors due to report.

According to the most recent word from association headquarters in the Hotel Beaumont, last year's record of 1,051 enrollees at Ahilene will be threatened if Howard Hicks and his Reservations Committee can locate additional rooms.

Meanwhile, the association brass already is on hand, and hard at work coordinating the program with Beaumont's Young Men's Business League as the sponsoring unit.

Saturday President Joe Coleman of Odessa and his official group were fishing in the Gulf, along with Hank Tbe of Oklahoma A&M, who will instruct in basketball and coach the South's cage all-stars. The slipper through Beaumont last Monday and moved into a beach cabin at Rollover.

Test Fishing Talent

THSCA Vice President, Maco Stewie of Longview and the wine-man board of directors are testing their talents with the casting rod before official registration for the 17th annual clinic begins on Sunday with Secretary L. W. McConachie in charge.

Some 40 sportswriters from two states are expected for the week-long session. This year's clinic sets a new mark in attendance by coaches, with nearly 200 of the women already enrolled.

"You YMBL fellows fixed us up plenty," groaned one mentor at Friday's first official gathering. "I've been attending coaching schools for 15 years, and this is the first time my wife accompanied me."

The sponsoring unit made it clear that wives would be royally entertained, right along with mentors. The program calls for style shows, yacht trips, bridge parties and free movies.

Indians Clip Bosox To Pull Closer to Loop-Leading Yanks

BOSTON—(AP)—Cleveland's World Champion Indians crept within three and a half games of the American League-leading New York Yankees Saturday by rallying for four runs in the tenth inning and a 10-6 decision over the Boston Red Sox.

Indian Chief Lou Boudreau was ejected from the game in the eighth inning after a long argument with Umpire Bill Summers, who ruled Cleveland Outfielder Dale Mitchell had thrown his glove at a ball hit by Sox Third Baseman Johnny Pesky.

Summers' ruling gave Pesky a triple, instead of the double which he ordinarily would have made with the hit. The clout drove in three runs for the Sox.

Those three tallies, added to another fashioned that eighth, pulled the Sox into a 6-6 tie.

The Indians, who had been blanked by Sox ace left hander Mel Parnell in the ninth, went to town for their four scores in the top of the extra inning when Ray Boone, subbing at short for Boudreau, scored a two-run homer into the plex in left.

Two-Year-Old Mike Stone Is Tourney 'Hit'

The "hit" of the Midland Country Club Invitation Golf Tournament is a long ball knocker—just two years old.

He is one Mike Stone, who was two years old Friday when he entered the long driving contest. Red-haired Mike with his billed cap jauntily cocked really can drive. Pro J. C. Hardwick says he has amazing stance and follow through for a little feller. He's got accuracy plus, older golfers say. And they envy his string-straight drives.

Mike has his special driver and ball. Otherwise his actions are strictly big folk.

State Playoff In American Legion Baseball Bracketed

AUSTIN—(AP)—Pairings for the state play-off in the American Legion Junior Baseball championship were announced Saturday by legion headquarters.

Laredo and Galveston open it with a 6 p.m. game at Bomber Park in Bryan Tuesday.

In the double game of the opening doubleheader, Odessa meets Sunset of Dallas. Odessa was the Region One winner; Sunset, Two; Galveston, three; Laredo, four.

Losers in the opening round games will play Wednesday at 6 p.m. and the winners will square away immediately after.

The team that wins on both nights will not play Wednesday, and the final for the state title will be played at 7 p.m. Thursday, state legion headquarters announced.

Early Favorites Go Down In Second, Third Rounds

Evans Dunn of Midland, a lightweight sort of a fellow, developed into a terror on the greens Friday and Saturday in the Midland Country Club Men's Invitation Golf Tournament. He whipped the tournament medalist, Red Roden of Odessa, 1-up on 19 holes Friday and downed Frank Freer of Lamesa 1-up on 23 holes in the semi-finals Saturday. He will battle Jack Williams, the Plainview belter, in the 36-hole final round starting at 9:30 a. m. Sunday.

Dunn ousted the tourney favorite when he whipped Roden. But ousting favorites was in order Friday. Bobby Adair beat the veteran W. W. Barker of Midland 1-up and removed him from his role as a title threat. Bob French of Odessa went down before Freer in Friday's round. Williams beat Bill Castleman of Midland.

In the semi-finals, Dunn and Freer finished with strength playing the most important role. Dunn was three-up on the steam to take 16, 17 and 18 and even the score. They split on 20, 21 and 22 and it was still anybody's match on 23.

It looked like Freer was in when Dunn bogied but Freer's putter went haywire to let Dunn win the match.

Williams, the 18-year-old whiz who is well known in golfing circles throughout the state, won going away. He had Adair down three on 14 but the Breckenridge clubber eagled 15. Adair pitched on from out in the rough and his ball stopped a scant six inches from the cup. The match ended, however, when they halved 16.

All flights will enter the finals Sunday. The championship flight will take the 36-hole route while the other flights will be only 18 holes.

Ligon Favored

Van Ligon of Midland, a veteran tournament golfer, established himself as a full-fledged favorite Friday by doing the impossible.

Ligon had to have at least three birdies and an eagle to win his match when things came down to that in the late holes. He decided he could do the job and proved it by shooting a birdie, an eagle, a birdie and another birdie to beat Louis Eubanks of Carlsbad, N. M., 2 and 1.

Dick McKnight of Midland is the surprise finalist in the second flight. He has fired nothing but steady golf in turning down all opponents. Here are the pairings for the finals in all flights.

Championship flight—Dunn vs. Williams.
Championship consolation—Bob Davidson vs. Jimmy Smith.
First flight—Marvin House vs. Vann Ligon.
First flight consolation—Harry Lawson vs. Cliff Hall.
Second flight—Dick McKnight vs. Jack Vaughn.
Second flight consolation—George Finley vs. Roy Lockett.
Third flight—Bill Hicks vs. George Sizem.

THE REPORTER-TELEGRAM, MIDLAND, TEXAS, JULY 31, 1949—9

Midland Losing Skein Extended

Midland's longest losing streak of the season extended to six games Friday night as the Vernon Dusters took the final game of a three-game series at Indian Park by a score of 9 to 1. The loss pushed the Dusters another full game ahead of the Indians in their battle for second place.

Buck Austin, pitching in his regular turn after playing the outfield the entire week, was touched for 13 bingles by the Dusters.

They scored their opening run in the first inning on a hit batsman and a double by McCaskey.

After being blanked for the next three innings, Huntley's men broke loose with five tallies to put the tilt in cold storage. Five hits and a Midland error produced them.

Vernon got two more in the seventh on two hits and finished off with one in the ninth on three bingles.

Cox's singles

Midland's only run came in the eighth when Lou Dawson got life on an error and scored on Ed Cox's single.

Gus Pena had a perfect night at the plate for Midland, clipping three for three.

Rushing Ropes Best In Monahans Rodeo

MONAHANS—Polly Rushing of Plains had the best time in the calf roping event as the Monahans rodeo went into its final go-round Saturday night.

Rushing tied his calf in 14.8 in the rodeo's third performance Friday night.

Attendance Friday in the new rodeo arena was 4,000.

Total time for Rushing's two calves was 36.1. This time was beaten twice during Friday night's performance, however.

Buddy Fort of Lovington, N. M., tied his second calf in 18 seconds to put him at the top in the averages. His total time was 33.4 seconds.

Jim Bob Altizer of Del Rio tied his calf in 16.3 seconds to place second in the averages. His time for two calves for 35.7.

Attractive Rectangular Home

A small area, very simple but attractive rectangular house is this most livable now which is comparatively inexpensive to build. The plan is available with colonial exterior using wood siding, and also is available with gable roof. It has 860 square feet of livable area. The overall depth is 34 feet. The porch area has 40 square feet, and the garage area, 240 square feet.

New Lending Policy Permits Extensive Home Remodeling

New policies of the Federal Housing Agency permit extensive remodeling of existing houses with only a small financial outlay each month, it was pointed out by the Construction Research Bureau, New York clearing house for building information.

The new FHA ruling allows a home-owner to borrow as much as $2,500 for home improvement without a down payment, but the job is sold in a "package," instead of splitting it up into several individual contracts.

Thus the monthly sum to be set aside for repayment of the three-year loan is smaller than if several contracts were entered into by the home-owner for a shorter period, each contract requiring a down payment and monthly payment of its own. Previously, the FHA required 10 per cent down payment on each contract.

Virtually any appliance, material or operation that will improve the value of the home can be included in the new FHA plan. Many building contractors are selling complete jobs to include new siding; new roof; complete insulation; and conversion or remodeling of heating equipment. Because the relatively long repayment period eases the payments, it now is possible for a home-owner to install an extra lavatory in an unused alcove or pantry, to build a garage, or remodel the kitchen.

Boon For Landlords
Electrical installations, plumbing, conversion of attics to living quarters, basement recreation rooms, and purchase of large home appliances such as refrigerators, automatic washers and garbage disposal units, now can be included in a single loan.

Since the ruling permits two simultaneous projects by the same owner, with a top limit of $5,000, it gives owners of rental properties an opportunity to modernize such houses or to provide additional living space in them. Most lending institutions approved by the FHA now are making the new type of home improvement loan.

MARRIAGE LICENSES
Marriage licenses have been issued by the county clerk to W. M. Brice and Freddie Lou Pate; Raymond Lee Shaw and Lula Mae Hudson; A. J. Cutright and Betty Joe Webb, and Edwin L. Chaffin and Luella West.

Texas Cities, Towns Have Chance To Get Sizable Share Of Help From Government Housing Setup But Must Take Initiative

By TEX EASLEY
WASHINGTON—(AP)—Texas cities and towns can gain a good share of help from the government's new housing program, but it's up to them to take the initiative.

On July 15 President Truman signed into law the Housing Act of 1949, which continues and broadens a government program begun in 1937. There were 191,700 dwellings built under the 1937 act; the new law authorizes additional loans of $14,000,000,000 over the next 40 years for slum clearance and $10,000,000,000 family units.

A family unit is the technical description for one to three bedroom dwellings, usually apartments or sections in "row" houses. Inquiries are beginning to come to Texas members of Congress from municipal and civic leaders for advice as to how they should go about making use of the new law.

The act is divided into six titles. Those in which there is the most interest are title one, dealing with slum clearance, and title three, providing for low-rent public housing projects.

The other four deal with FHA loans for private home building, research into designing and financing of housing for different situations, slum housing and the taking of a housing census.

It should be clearly understood that the slum clearance and low-rent housing programs are carried out under separate titles and are independent of each other. A city may carry on the two phases hand-in-hand, but they are under separate administrative setups.

Should Consult Foley
Communities interested in the slum clearance should consult Raymond M. Foley, administrator of the housing and home finance agency.

The low-rent housing program is operated on a regional basis. Inquiries from Texas should go to B. F. Vinson, Public Housing Administration Office, Texas and Pacific Bldg., Fort Worth.

In general, here are the terms and objectives of the 1949 Housing Act: The city itself must determine whether it wants to participate.

The federal government stands ready to lose up to $500,000,000 to get rid of slums, at the rate of $100,000,000 a year for the next five years. Besides these grants, Uncle Sam is prepared to make loans totaling $1,000,000,000 over the same five years. The money is repayable over a 40-year period at 2 1/2 per cent interest.

The federal grants are available to help local agencies finance the "net project cost," the difference between costs of acquiring and clearing slums and the capital proceeds from the sale or disposition otherwise of such lands. Cities must pay at least one-third of the total net project cost.

The government will not aid in such projects until there are other low-rent dwellings to which the slum-area residents may move.

Therefore, the low-rent public housing program must precede the slum clearance work in many or most cities.

Can Apply For Loan
A city with sufficient need for low-rent homes can apply for a loan of up to 90 per cent of the cost of a housing project. It does not have to undertake a slum clearance program.

Many small cities in Texas have no real slum areas, but do need more low-cost housing. These would be interested only in title three.

Only families whose incomes are too low to afford adequate new or old housing are eligible for the new public housing. Rents charged in public housing must be at least 20 per cent less than the lowest private rents in decent dwellings in the area.

The average rent in such units is expected to be about $23 a month, plus $7 for utilities.

Two families living side by side in exactly the same kind of unit may pay different rent. That will depend on their income, which of course affects their ability to pay.

While no definite figure can be stated, for it will vary from community to community as well as among occupants of an individual project, the law provides that each family shall pay not less than 20 per cent of its income for rent. A deduction from the net family income of $100 is allowed for each minor dependent.

A man with an income of $1,800 annually with three children would therefore have a net income of $1,500. Twenty per cent of this figure would be $300, which, divided by 12, would mean a monthly rental fee of $25. The maximum wage an occupant will be allowed to earn has not been determined, but the figure set on such projects during 1948 was $1,481.

Have To Move Out
If the family's income goes above the maximum figure, they have to move out of the development.

The total estimated cost of the housing program is expected to be between $7,000,000,000 and $12,000,000,000 spread over the next 40 years.

The capital costs of low-rent housing projects during the first development will be covered by temporary loans.

These loans generally are obtained through the sale of local housing authority temporary loan notes to private investors. The PHA obligates itself to lend enough to cover the principal and interest on these notes when they mature, so the local housing authorities are expected to encounter little difficulty in selling them at interest rates averaging less than 1 per cent per year.

All temporary loan notes are repaid as soon as the project is permanently financed. When the project is far enough along so its costs can be figured accurately, the local authority proceeds with the sale of long-term serial bonds, secured by the government. Under present market conditions, PHA officials say, these should be sold with little trouble at rates of 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 per cent.

Warm Air Heating Systems Gain In Popularity, Usage

Families planning to build or buy homes this Summer are reminded by the Construction Research Bureau, New York clearing house for building information, that vast improvements have been made in warm air heating systems since the war and that installation of warm air costs less than hot water or steam because no boilers or radiators are required.

Increasing popularity of warm air heat was indicated in a recent nationwide survey in which 45 per cent of almost 16,000 families queried preferred warm air.

Warm air heating systems are of two types, gravity and forced air circulation. They are fired by any type of fuel: solid, oil or gas. A gravity system operates because of the fact that cold air is heavier than warm. The cooler air in the rooms flows down through return air intakes to the bottom of the furnace where it is heated, then rises as it becomes warmer and lighter. With a forced air system, air is circulated by a fan or blower which draws the cool air from the rooms through return air intakes and an air filter, then delivers it under pressure to the furnace where it is heated and thence is returned under pressure to the rooms.

Development of a "messenger buoy" that will speed the rescue of seamen trapped in deeply sunken submarines and eliminate the need for deep-sea divers recently was announced by the U. S. Navy.

Insulation And Ventilation Are Summertime Aids

COLLEGE STATION—You may not be able to do much about the temperature this Summer, but you can do something about your house to keep a little cooler.

Inside house temperatures may be from 10 to 15 degrees cooler with insulation than without it, provided the house has enough ventilation, says W. S. Allen, extension agricultural buildings engineer of Texas A&M College.

The insulation itself won't cool the house, but it will keep the heat outside during the day. Along with night ventilation, shading of the windows, awnings and shade trees near the house, insulation helps provide better cooling. The difference will be enough to make any house more comfortable when the mercury climbs high, Allen says.

Any home exposed to high temperatures in the summertime needs insulation, and the higher or lower the temperature, the greater the need for it. Here in Texas it's most beneficial in the Summer. Reflective insulation, which comes in metal foil or sheets, helps keep the sun's heat out of the house during the day, and allows for rapid cooling at night. So it is well adapted to the South, Allen said.

Your house may be made cooler this Summer by proper use of insulation. And don't forget that the fuel bills will be less next Winter too.

Week's Construction Is $27,375; Bringing Year To $2,883,445

J. R. Cuffman Heads State VA Teachers

DALLAS—(AP)—J. R. Cuffman, Midland High School vocational agriculture instructor, was elected president of the Texas Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association at the closing session of its three-day convention here Friday afternoon.

J. R. Cuffman

More than 700 vocational agriculture teachers attended the state conference. A native of McKinney, Cuffman formerly headed the El Rancho (West Texas) district. He long has advocated the irrigation of West Texas farm lands and the development of new grasses for cattle. He received his degree from Texas A&M College 11 years ago. He taught in Mineral Wells before moving to Midland in 1946. Cuffman appeared on the convention program and also presented service awards. Delbert Downing, manager of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, was a convention speaker.

McCamey Farm Area In Top Condition

MCCAMEY—A tour of the new irrigated farming district, located five miles south of McCamey, in Pecos County, shows the cotton crop to be in fine condition, with all indications pointing to a bumper crop.

On the Tripp-Whittenberg farm cotton can be seen in all stages of growth, from just popping out of the ground, to waist high, blooming and putting on squares. On this farm, cotton is dusted by airplane as often as is necessary to keep down the pest menace. Jack rabbits have been the cause of considerable damage and they are being poisoned on a large scale. The Warren Farms, Wilson Farms and many others are showing nice growth and should be ready for pulling by the middle of September or earlier. The wells are pumping 24 hours a day and so far there seems to be no noticeable evidence of the water table being lowered. Most of the land in this new area is planted in cotton this year. There are a few garden plots and it is thought that truckage will be planted next year.

Rural Youth Date Set At State Fair

DALLAS—(AP)—At least 75,000 4-H Club boys and girls are expected to attend Rural Youth Day at the State Fair of Texas, Oct. 15, James W. Aston, chairman of the fair's Rural Youth Day Committee, announced. "Last year's attendance of 60,000 was considered phenomenal, but all indications point to a 25 per cent increase for this year," Aston said. The youngsters are given free admission to the fair and a free lunch which is provided by Dallas business leaders. Rural Youth Day was inaugurated in 1946. Junior events planned for the 1949 State Fair include: Junior Livestock Show, Oct. 17-22; Junior Market Turkey Show, Oct. 8-13; Junior Market Broiler Show, Oct. 14-20; Junior Grass Judging Contest, Oct. 19, and State Junior Livestock Judging Contest, Oct. 11.

Dirt, Squirt and Quirt

FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS

Dirt, Squirt and Quirt, being somewhat modest, never fail to bring, but it is rather uncanny how this column can and does (on occasions) predict and bring rain to the Midland territory.

Take last Monday afternoon and night's rain, which was the most beneficial in weeks. DSQ last Sunday had stated "this could be the week," in predicting a good July rain.

Anyway, it was a fine rain and covered considerable country—particularly to the south of Midland. Some of the country to the north and northwest also received heavy showers. The moisture came at a "rain needing" time both for farm and ranch lands, and both crops and grass benefited enormously. Crops raised most of the country are in fine shape and the range lands are looking good again.

DeWayne Davis has taken considerable kidding about the three-inch rain he predicted on his place southwest of Midland Monday night. Some seem to doubt if he got that much moisture, but DSQ believes he was somewhat conservative in his estimate. At any rate, J. T. Baker of the First National Bank is understood to have furnished Davis a rain gauge.

Leonard Proctor returned last week from a trip through Wyoming, Idaho and other states in that section to find his ranch country south of Midland all greened up from last Monday night's moisture. He said the fall was fairly heavy all over the ranch and that the grass, which was getting pretty brown and dry, is green again. The stock also is in fine shape.

The Midland rancher who is chairman of the Rodeo Committee of Midland Fair, Inc., was much impressed with range conditions in the North and West. He said he never saw range lands in better shape or conditions more ideal for ranching. Much of the usual bad range country now has a thick covering of green grass, Proctor stated. It is all good up that way this year, he added. The Midlander saw considerable rain, too. He was a little early for the annual Cheyenne Rodeo.

J. Homer Epley, secretary-treasurer of Midland Fair, Inc., Friday afternoon was kidding "Uncle" George Ratliff about making a fishing trip by airplane. DSQ couldn't find out much about the plane trip, but Ratliff said he still rather would stay on the ground.

Homer also told a yarn which even DSQ cannot repeat in this column. Good story, though.

Members of the Midland County ACA Committee will attend a district meeting at Big Spring in August to hear details of the 1950 cotton allotment program. Exact date of the session will be announced.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Richards of Dalhart sent Mr. and Mrs. DSQ a most attractive souvenir program of the famed XIT Rodeo-Reunion which Saturday ended a three-day run in Dalhart. Thanks, Mr. and Mrs. Richards.

Attorney Richards was stationed at Midland Army Air Field during part of the World War II years. The XIT Rodeo, by the way, is recognized as one of the best in the Southwest. It annually attracts top performers and mammoth crowds. The souvenir program is dedicated to "the generation that today is carrying on where others left off... to committees of both the Reunion and Rodeo, past and present."

Operators of farms on which wheat was not seeded for harvest in any of the years 1947, 1948 or 1949, but on which wheat will be seeded for harvest in 1950, must request, in terms of specific acreage, a 1950 wheat acreage allotment, if an allotment subsequently is to be established for such farms.

The requested allotment must be submitted in writing by the owner or operator to the County ACA committee. A closing date will be set for making such request.

The Midland Sheriff's posse will take part in the opening day and night festivities of the annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo in Big Spring Wednesday. They will appear with the Howard County posse in the parade that day.

The Big Spring show, always a top attraction, is scheduled Wednesday through Saturday. The performances will attract many Midlanders as well as residents of other cities in the Permian Basin area.

The first Monahans Rodeo Saturday night closed a successful four-night stand.

"Tinker T." a bay gelding, has been purchased by Toots Mansfield and Sonny Edwards, Big Spring calf roping stars, from Jack Turney of Sonora. The purchase price reportedly was $2,000.

Hubert Martin, Midland County agent since 1947, Saturday closed his office in the courthouse here for the last time. Martin Monday morning reports to work in Odessa where he will office while handling the county agent chores of Ector, Crane and Andrews Counties. Midlanders wish Martin well in his new assignment.

Hubert Martin Takes New Duty Monday; Successor Not Named

Hubert Martin, Midland County agricultural agent, is to take up his new duties as agricultural director of Ector, Crane and Andrews Counties Monday, with headquarters at Odessa. Although a man to replace Martin has not been named, duties of the county agent's office will be performed by Charley Green, who has been assisting Martin for about a month. Green is a June graduate of Texas A&M College.

County Judge Clifford C. Keith said Saturday the Midland County Commissioners Court is awaiting word from George W. Barnes, district agricultural agent, on a permanent replacement for Martin.

Lingering Death Is Probable Fate Of FEPC Measure

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A lingering, but possibly spectacular death, appeared Saturday to be the almost certain fate of the debate-provoking Fair Employment Practices bill. It won approval by the House Labor Committee 14 to 11 Friday.

Rep. Powell, (D-NY) who wrote the bill, said it would come before the House about August 22. That is only one week before the date Congress is expected to adjourn.

If it clears the House in those crowded days—which many representatives say is unlikely—it is certain to generate powerful opposition in the Senate. Some opponents have predicted a filibuster death for it if it reaches the Senate floor.

FEPC is part of President Truman's civil rights program and is particularly distasteful to Southern Democrats. It would bar employers from discriminating against employment seekers, or employes for reasons of race, color, religion or national origin. A permanent commission would be created to enforce the rules.

El Paso Project Hikes State Building

AUSTIN—(AP)—A big military housing project at El Paso gave Texas building contracts an upward boost last week.

Total of contracts awarded was $25,169,062, topped with the $7,500,000 project in the border city. The previous week's total was $18,943,888, and total building tabulated so far this year by the Texas as Contractor, engineering trade journal, was $591,192,825.

Engineering contracts for the week came to $1,075,528; non-residential building to $12,900,216; residential to $11,293,338. Residential building included 1,073 one-family units.

Midland To Organize National Guard Unit

Midland gets a National Guard unit. The announcement was made Saturday.

Maj. Richard Weirus is here to make arrangements for establishment of the unit. He is from headquarters of the 56th Cavalry Group, San Antonio. The major will be at the Chamber of Commerce from 9 a.m., during the day Tuesday to confer with

Attlee Replies To Churchill's Charges Against Labor Party

LONDON—(AP)—Prime Minister Attlee said Saturday Winston Churchill could tell it to the Marines—but not to miners—that Britain needs a revival of free private enterprise to save her from chaos. "He contrasts the state with the pliable and flexible private owner," Attlee said. "Tell that one to the miners. He'd better not tell it to the miners."

Attlee defended the Labor government's moves since 1945 toward socialism, including nationalization of coal mines, in a Saturday afternoon political speech. He accused Churchill of making mean, stupid and irresponsible charges in a Conservative Party policy speech a week ago at Wolverhampton, a Labor stronghold. Churchill now is on vacation in Italy.

The wartime prime minister had charged labor was leading Britain to the brink of communism and economic chaos, and declared it must be unseated in the 1950 general elections.

Flight Inevitable Attlee said Britain's present plight was recognized as inevitable during the war by Churchill himself. He quoted from an article by Henry Morgenthau, Jr., then U. S. Secretary of the Treasury, reporting on an interview in which Churchill told him Britain was certain to be poor "for some years to come" because of her war losses.

The prime minister said he never had been slow to acknowledge Churchill's great services during the war, "but during these last four years he had a bad relapse into irresponsibility and party spite."

Attlee's speech and Churchill's of a week ago sounded the keynotes of the fight over whether Socialist or Conservative policies shall dominate British life for the five years after 1950.

Turbot fish lay more than 9,000,000 eggs during a single spawning period.

Midlanders interested in the company. Eligible for membership are all Midland men between the ages of 17 1/2 and 45 years.

It is a good opportunity for Midlanders, the officer stated. There will be one drill night per week with full pay and longevity. Midland's company will be known as B Troop, 124th Cavalry, Reconnaissance Squadron, Mechanized. It will consist of three platoons. Commanding officer will be Max A. Schumann, Jr., a combat engineer veteran and graduate of Texas A&M College.

The Midland unit will have modern vehicles and weapons including jeeps, light tanks, armored half trucks, and guns from carbines up to 81 millimeter mortars. Tactical direction will include the latest combat methods. In addition to weekly drill, range firing is authorized. Two weeks of Summer encampment at North Camp Hood is authorized.

Strength of the unit will be 26 enlisted men and two officers. An armory will be located at Midland Airpark.

Ratings Open Ratings open include: two master sergeants, seven technical sergeants, 14 sergeants and 17 corporals. There will be two full-time employes including a caretaker for vehicles and weapons and an administrative assistant to take care of the paper work.

Lt. H. C. Hannaford, prominent in National Guard and ex-serve men's affairs here, will assist in the recruiting program for the Guard unit. Midland is the sixth and final West Texas city to be selected for a Guard unit. Others are located at Snyder, Lamesa, Monahans, Kermit and Pecos.

Horseplay

A photographer flying over Gore Sound near Morehead City, N. C., came upon this strange sight of frolicking horses. It became a game of follow the stallion into the cool water when the temperature got too hot for the horses in their shoreline pastures. The semi-wild stock is allowed to run free on the isolated banks but is rounded up each year so the yearlings may be branded by their owners.

St. Louis Cardinals Defeat Dodgers 7-6 To Extend Margin

ST. LOUIS—(P)—The St. Louis Cardinals extended their first-place margin over Brooklyn to two and one-half games Saturday night by defeating the Dodgers 7-6 in a spine-tingling thriller, with Catcher Joe Garagiola doubling in Glenn Nelson with the winning run in the eighth.

ninth straight game, not counting two tie contests with Brooklyn this week. The clubs will close their crucial series with an afternoon game Sunday.

The Redbirds forged into the lead 5-2 and kayped Lefty Joe Hatten in the third. Hatten got the first two men out but Chuck Diering started things going with a triple to deep right center, scoring Lanier, who had walked. Red Schoendienst singled home Diering and, after Musial walked, scored on a single by Nippy Jones. Hatten was relieved by Jack Banta after walking Enos Slaughter, and was greeted with a two-run single by Marty Marion.

A four-run uprising in the seventh put the Dodgers ahead 6-5. Singles by Tommy Brown, Bruce Edwards, and Pinch Batter Roy Campanella and a base on balls accounted for two runs and sent Lanier to the showers. Jackie Robinson drove in the two scores with his single to right after Pewee Reese beat out a bunt for a hit.

The score: R. H. E. Brooklyn 002 000 400-6 9 1 St. Louis 005 000 02-7 9 1 Palica, Barney, Hatten, Banta, and Edwards, Campanella, Lanier, Wilks, Munger and D. Rice, Baker.

Ponder Comes From Behind to Capture Arlington Classic

CHICAGO—(P)—From last place came the pounding hoofs of Calumet Farm's Ponder Saturday to gallop to a roaring victory in the $87,750 Arlington classic ending Arlington Park's highly successful 36-day meeting.

Seemingly hopelessly last at the half mile post, sixteen lengths behind, the plodding Ponder charged on to take the lead at the stretch turn in the mile and a quarter race. He flashed under the wire three lengths ahead of Admiral Lea, owned by Mrs. Ada L. Rice, Chicago.

In third place, two lengths back of Admiral Lea, came Isidor Bieber's Palestinian, Saint Nicholas, Brown Hotel Stable entry, was fourth, six lengths behind Palestinian. Green Tree Stable's Capot was fifth. John's Joy, owned by J. A. Kinard, Jr., was sixth and last.

Ponder's victory was cheerfully acclaimed by 32,047 spectators, largest crowd of the Chicago season. The colt went to the post a 6-5 favorite and returned $4.40, $2.80, and $2.20. The race was almost a duplicate of his victory in the Kentucky Derby. His time was 2:03 1/5. Jockey Steve Brooks was aboard Ponder.

ST. PAUL, MINN.—(P)—Sam Snead caught and passed the leaders in the third round of the Western Open Golf Tournament Saturday, firing a seven-under-par 15 in Saturday's round for a 54-hole total of 201.

That figure put the White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., pro one stroke ahead of Chick Harbert of Detroit, who wound up Saturday with a 68, and a 202 total for 54 holes. Lloyd Mangrum turned in a 69 for 203 and third place.

Browns Hit Sens In 30-Hit Scramble

Prompt Action By Plumber May Save Wounded Boy's Life

SAN ANTONIO—(P)—Russell Golden, 14, a visitor from Port Arthur, was in a critical condition at Baptist Memorial Hospital late Saturday after what police said was an accidental shooting which occurred when he and two other boys, both aged 13, were playing "bandits" in the George Erwin home.

Witnesses said the Golden boy was sleeping on a couch in the hall of the Erwin home at noon Saturday when the two other boys came in, woke him, and began to tease him by brandishing a 22 rifle and shouting "Bang! Bang!" One of the boys then went into another room and took a 38 colt revolver from a dresser drawer, according to a statement which he gave Detective Fred San Miguel.

The boy pulled the trigger, he said, thinking that the hammer was aligned with an empty chamber, although he said he knew there were some cartridges in the weapon.

When the gun went off, the boy said, he saw blood spurt from the wound "like water coming out of a pipe." He said he ran downstairs and went to his home nearby.

Worker Hears Shot Adolfo Alvarez, 19, who had been repairing a fixture in the bathroom of the Erwin home, told police he had heard the boys shouting "Bang! Bang!" then he heard the shot and dashed out to find blood spurting from Golden's jugular vein.

Alvarez used one hand to staunch the flow of blood and the other to apply artificial respiration while he told George Erwin, Jr., 13, to call the police. Officers said that if the Golden boy survives he will owe his life to Alvarez's prompt action.

The bullet entered Golden's right jaw from above, severed the jugular vein and plowed into his body. At the Baptist Memorial Hospital, his condition was said to have improved slightly after he received plasma, a blood transfusion and a surgical operation.

The boy who held the gun was picked up by police but was released after making his statement. San Miguel quoted the boy as saying, "God knows I didn't go to kill him. He was my best friend."

Amarillo's Domestic Relations Court Held Invalid By Judge

AMARILLO—(P)—District Judge Griddle of Wellington ruled Saturday that Potter County's new Domestic Relations Court was unconstitutional.

The court was authorized by the 51st Legislature to try divorces and cases of juvenile delinquency and all matters of family relations. Griddle said in his ruling that the court to all intents and purposes was a circuit court. As such, he said, it should conform to the pattern of a constitutional judicial district.

County Attorney John Person said the decision would be appealed.

Father Of Midlander Killed In Accident

Tommy Hicks of Junction, Texas, a trucking contractor now operating in Midland, received word Saturday evening of the death of his father, P. L. Hicks, 72, of Junction, in a truck accident near Pleasanton at 3:30 p.m. Saturday.

The information was that Hicks, also a trucking contractor, was killed when one of his trucks accidentally backed over him. He operated more than 200 trucks and other heavy construction equipment.

Funeral services will be held in Junction. Two sons, Tommy, and Bill Hicks of Burnet, and a daughter, Mrs. Maggie May Jennings of Junction, survive.

Tommy Hicks is operating trucks in Midland in connection with the paving program underway here.

201 EAST WALL STREET

I have been in MIDLAND since 1933. Thirteen years in this fast growing "Capital of the Permian Basin." It was a good town during the depression. Why shouldn't it be a good town now? Live and grow with now? Make Midland your home and your future. Let me act as your Buyer and find you a "deal," cash or loan basis.

Nice 2 bedroom home 1012 N. Loraine Street. Till July 28th at $7,000.00.

Small house on Lamesa Rd. with 1 lot, $7,000.00 whole works! Little home on Lamesa Rd. Make us an offer on equity—Take up Ba. on note.

3-Room house, South Side, $300 down, balance monthly.

New 5-room on North Whitaker, $2,650 down, balance at only $52.85 monthly.

Beautiful brick, West End, $17,000. Would you buy a new 2-bedroom house; an honest value at $14,500—now $12,500.

Several home lots over town—select the section of town you want—we have the lot in that section.

BUSINESS

Would you like to "buy in" or "buy out" a business? Either a partnership or outright. See us about Dry Goods Store, Garage, Hat Shop, Automatic Help-u-self Laundry, Rental Units, Apartment Bldg., Tourist Courts, etc.

Do you need a lot for Auto Dealership or for a down town store? Went a lot on pavement, edge of town?

Lots on S. Main only $1,500.00. Lots on Andrews Hwy $1,000.00 up. ONE ONLY LEFT on paved Garden City. Hwy next to IOOP Hall—$1,100.00.

APT. House, bringing in over $500.00 per mo. Now—$15,500.00.

Married In Morning Ceremony

Mrs. Sam M. Vanhooser, Jr.

Johnson-Vanhooser Wedding Solemnized

In a morning ceremony Rosemary Johnson became the bride of Sam M. Vanhooser, Jr., Friday in the First Methodist Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Wyatt of Midland, and Vanhooser, the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Vanhooser, Sr., of Wolfe City. The Rev. Howard H. Hollowell performed the double-ring ceremony before an altar with a basket of white gladioli and asters on either side. Baskets of white gladioli were placed on both sides of the altar. "Clair de Lune" Played Helen White was the bride's only attendant. Warren Siler served the bridegroom as best man. S. E. Thornton, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Stanley Hughes were ushers. Homer Meek, Jr., organist, played "I Love Thee," Greig, and Everett Miles sang "Because." D'Hardelet, for the pre-nuptial music. Meek also played the Bridal Chorus from Wagner's "Lohengrin" and Mendelssohn's Wedding March for the professional and recessional. Soft strains of "Clair de Lune," Debussy, were heard during the ceremony. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white imported organy street length dress with a Peter Pan collar and tiny horizontal tucks edged in lace on the bodice and sleeves, and a full gored skirt. A lace pique coronet held her shoulder length veil of illusion. She carried a bouquet of white gladioli tied with white satin streamers. The maid of honor chose a green organy dress with a bertha collar, light fitted bodice and full skirt. She wore a bandeau of green net covered with yellow and white daisies and carried yellow gladioli in a bouquet tied with yellow satin streamers. The bride's mother wore a white linen two-piece suit with navy accessories and a corsage of two white gardenias. A reception followed the ceremony in the church parlor. Those in the receiving line included the bride, the bridegroom and the parents of the bride. Mrs. W. C. Murphy, Mrs. Wesley Edwards and Mrs. Walker B. Dixon served during the hour. Out-Of-City Guests The room was decorated with baskets of white gladioli and asters. The table, set with a white cutwork linen cloth, was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with love birds and topped with bride and groom figurines. Out-of-city guests included Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Thornton of Big Spring, sister and brother-in-law of the bridegroom, Mrs. T. L. Salvo, Mrs. B. F. Harris and Mrs. Joe Evans of San Angelo, Wayne Golden of Bowie, Mrs. Dennis Murphy of Lubbock, and Mr. and Mrs. John Haglar of Wolfe City. The bride is a graduate of Midland High School, and attended nursing school at Lubbock Memorial Hospital. She is a past president of the Nu Phi Mu Sorority and is an employee of The Book Stall. The couple will reside at 206 1/2 South A Street in Midland.

Do-Si-Do Members Have Summer Dance

Do-Si-Do Square Dance Club members were entertained with a dance in the Midland Officers Club Friday night, and planned meetings for the remainder of the Summer. Two dances are scheduled in August, for members only. The Fall season will start September 9. Dates of the dances next month will be August 12 and 26. The two-month schedule has replaced weekly dances for the Summer, and members will vote in September on whether they will resume the weekly meetings which were held for a time.

Mrs. Howard Hodge Is Entertained By San Antonio Women

Mrs. J. Howard Hodge returned recently from San Antonio, where she visited friends, attended a meeting of the Pan-American Council, and as an appointed member and the unopposed candidate for president of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, was entertained by federated club women. An honor guest at the Pan-American Council meeting, which was held in the home of Mrs. Claude Hudspeth, Mrs. Hodge was particularly interested because leaders of the motion picture industry in Texas and Mexico were special guests. Her husband is manager of the Midland motion picture theaters. Also a guest at that meeting was Col. Lin Wen-Kwei, co-founder with Gen. Claire Chennault of the famous Flying Tigers of China's Air Force, and Chinese air delegate to the United Nations, who was on his way back to China after 18 months in the United States. He told Mrs. Hodge that he had heard of Midland because some of his men were as bombardiers at the Midland Army Air Field. Patio Supper Mrs. Hodge was the house guest in San Antonio at the Preston Dial, who entertained with a patio supper in her honor. Mrs. Clair L. Jones invited the executive board of the City Federation of Women's Clubs when she complimented Mrs. Hodge with a coffee, and the board members were hostesses later with a dinner and a trip down the San Antonio River. Another event in her honor was a luncheon at the Meager Hotel given by the Breakfast Club, of which Mrs. Hodge is a non-resident member. Mrs. Hodge returned home by way of Dallas, where she visited briefly.

Belmont Class Has Basket Lunch Picnic

The Belmont Bible Class had a picnic Friday night at the home of Mrs. W. P. Collins, 710 South West 4th Street. The basket lunch picnic also was a surprise birthday party for Mrs. H. E. Skipper. Mrs. W. G. Attaway, Mrs. Collins, Mrs. Skipper, Mrs. Frank Simpson, Mrs. Bertie Sexton, Mrs. Irene Scott, Mrs. J. W. Colbert, Mrs. Lela Hodges, Mrs. T. O. Midkiff, Mrs. Leo Baldrige and Johnny Attaway attended. The next meeting will be at 7:30 p. m. Friday in Mrs. Collins' home.

Touring Northern States

LaMoyné Tabor and Louise Harless left Friday night to join a party in Kansas City for a conducted tour of the Northern states. From Kansas City they will go to Chicago and Detroit and then make an overnight cruise on Lake Erie. They will tour Buffalo, Niagara Falls and go into Canada for a short trip. New York City, Philadelphia and Washington, D. C., will be the last on the itinerary before returning to Kansas City. They will spend two days in Fort Worth and Dallas before returning to Midland about August 13. Miss Harless is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Harless, 110 South D Street, and is employed by the Sinclair Oil Company. Miss Tabor is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Harless, 716 West Louisiana Street, and is an employee of the Shell Oil Company.

Leading Actors Of 'The Drunkard'

Art Cole as the remorseful victim of drink and Norris Creath as the leering villain urging him to return to the barroom, are leading actors in "The Drunkard," an old melodrama which has been popular over the nation since it was revived in the 1930's, and is being presented here by the Summer Mummies. After a three-night showing in the American Legion Hall, it will be staged again Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights of this week.

Unique And Different Show Presented In 'The Drunkard'

Divided presentation dates, a unique feature of the Summer Mummies' production of "The Drunkard" in Midland, only adds another to the numerous unique angles of the popular melodrama which played for three nights in the American Legion Hall and will have a similar run this week starting Thursday. It is different from any entertainment seen in Midland in recent years. To find anything similar to it would send the theater-goer back to pioneer days when "East Lynne" and other nineteenth-century dramas occasionally were presented at the town's opera house by traveling troupes. Like Road Shows "The Drunkard," although of a little earlier vintage than most of the road show plays, has much in common with them. Except that the cast is more proficient than the average traveling players of 40 years ago, the play is reminiscent of those staged—not as burlesques but as popular dramatic fare—when Midland was a young town. The seating arrangement in music hall style was not familiar in Midland's early days, but was used when P. T. Barnum first produced "The Drunkard" in his American Museum in New York City, back in 1843. Audiences for the play's first run were liked to be. Staging of the play appears cramped, but is typical of that in old-fashioned theaters, and the over-done scenery, flats and backdrops, are as typical but on the whole more tasteful than those commonly found in small-town playhouses. High-Flown Speeches So the action, curbed to meet the requirements of the small stage, was taken as a matter of course when the play was new but now augments the comedy of the high-flown speeches. As examples, the barroom brawl scene in which the participants, obviously careful not to hurt anybody or any of the stage furniture, give the effect of dancers rather than combatants; and the bit of action in which the drunkard, attempting to flee from his home, is restrained by his wife and child but lingers in their patiently inef-

Luncheon Continues Parties

Dorothy Turner, whose marriage to Clarence Scharbauer, Jr., on August 27 will be a major social event of the late Summer here, was the honoree Friday at a luncheon, one of a series of parties which started last week to precede the wedding. Mrs. J. G. McMillian and her daughters, Jean and Jane, were the hostesses for the luncheon in the Midland Country Club. The table was decorated in bridal white, with a centerpiece of shaggy white daisies. A pair of Dresden ash trays was presented to the prospective bride as the hostesses' gift. Guest List The guest list included Miss Turner; her mother, Mrs. Fred Turner, Jr.; her sister, Mrs. Lynn Durham; Scharbauer's mother, Mrs. Clarence Scharbauer, Sr.; and Emma Sue Cowden, Frances Puet, Susan Hemphill, Norma Jean Hubbard, Carole Casselman, Elizabeth Anne Cowden, Dorothy Payne Holt, Jessica Turpin, Sonja Little, Patsy Paterson, Fatsy Lou Arrington, Shirley Cooper, Enid Wheeler, Mary Lee Cowden, Alma Payne Cowden, Shirley Lones and Dorothy Barron. Courtesies for the bride-to-be started with a luncheon in the home of Mrs. J. Howard Hodge, who was hosted by Mrs. C. M. Goldsmith. Another luncheon was given by Mrs. Roy Parks, Sr., and Mrs. Roy Parks, Jr., in the Midland Country Club Thursday. Other parties are planned through the coming month.

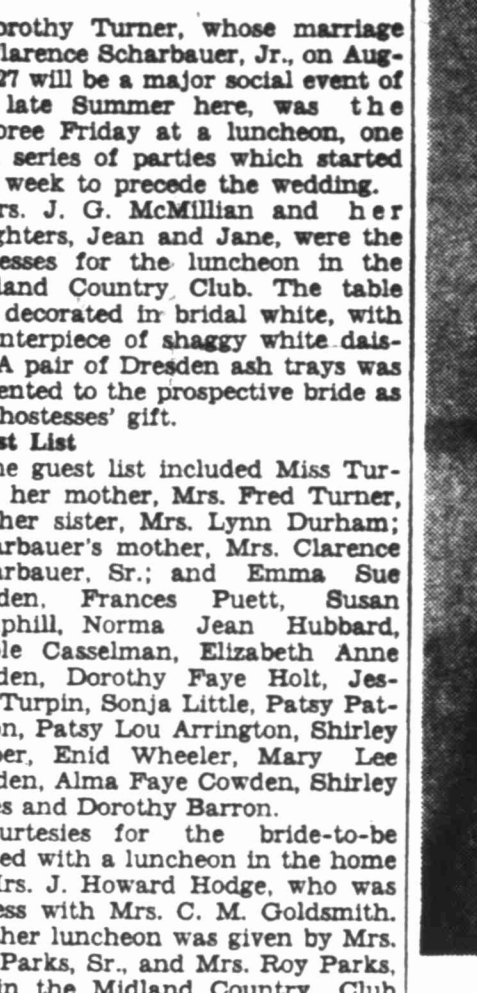

Club Dance Postponed

The Sashway Square Dance Club will not meet Friday because of the presentation of "The Drunkard" in the American Legion Hall. It will, however, meet on the second Friday in August.

'The Pursuit Of Happiness' Chosen For Course Of Study

The Progressive Study Club has selected as its course of study for the club year, 1949-50, "The Pursuit of Happiness," as revealed in its yearbook which has just been completed. Further explaining this theme is the preface to the yearbook which reads: "According to the Declaration of Independence man is endowed with three unalienable rights—Life, Liberty, and the Pursuit of Happiness. The first two terms are familiar, but what did Thomas Jefferson, writer of the document, mean by the Pursuit of Happiness? Can it be applied in our time? Do we know how to use it? Are we exercising our right in such a way as to build a better society? "Our course of study is an attempt to answer these questions." Carry Out Motto With a course of study such as this, the members are endeavoring to carry out their club motto, "Through discussion as a group we shall develop as individuals." Elective officers for the club include Mrs. J. W. Thomas, Jr., president; Mrs. Frank True, Jr., recording secretary; Mrs. J. W. Hunt, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Thomas M. West, treasurer. Mrs. Ed Bunnell will be the moderator for the round table discussion on the topic, "Education's Contribution to the Pursuit of Happiness." Mrs. Hunt, Mrs. A. A. Jones and Mrs. W. C. Mitchell will compose the table. Hostess will be Mrs. W. H. Pomeroy, Jr. Election of officers will be held January 25 in the home of Mrs. Kimball. Mrs. Haden Upchurch will discuss "The Part of Marriage in the Pursuit of Happiness." A guest play reader, Mrs. J. Harvey Herd, will be in charge of the program for the guest day meeting (Continued on page 6)

Good Corsets Help Figure And Posture

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

One of woman's best friends as she grows older is her girdle. It not only helps to make a finer figure, but it gives the support it needs as muscles grow less taut and become less inclined to hold vital organs in place.

Far from being the menace to a woman's health that ironed stays were to her grandmother, today's corset can be a contribution to her physical well-being.

A corset helps to keep a spine in better line. When a spine is kept erect, vital organs stay in place. To qualify for these health needs, a corset should be easy-fitting and flexible and entirely sheathe the torso.

Any woman who thinks that she gains more coveted fitness from a close-hauled girdle than she does from one that's easy-fitting is mistaken. Squeezed-in flesh at one area pushes up in another. What usually results from that are not only the discomforts of a girdle from a tight encasement but a roll of flesh above and below a girdle.

Take along comfortable shoes on that vacation. Please include a pair of good walking shoes so you won't spoil that walking party.

Cosmetic Tan Can Be Used To Fool Public

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

If a sun tan deepens lines in your skin, makes pores suddenly expand, roughens texture or accentuates dryness, better keep shy of Old Sol and take your tawny complexion out of a bottle.

Warning how savage Old Sol can be to the older woman, one famed beautician says that a severe sunburn can add 10 years to the apparent age of her skin.

This beautician insists that since the sun doesn't wreak such havoc with shoulders, arms and legs, there's no reason why these areas can't be tanned to a turn, so long as the face and neck are kept safely under cover.

Her advice to the lady who doesn't want to be a paleface in the midst of Gypsy friends is to match her make-up to tanned shoulder, arms and legs. Tinting to match is no problem if a tawny make-up coloring is used on face and neck. There are dark transparent liquids which impart a tan so realistic looking that not even the gimlet-eyed artist will which area of the skin owes its tawny tint to the sun, which to a cosmetic bottle.

For unexpected company it is easy to evolve a fancy dessert with a package of white cake mix, store-bought ice cream and a sauce.

Capes Go 'Cloak And Dagger'

By EPSIE KINARD
NEA Fashion Editor

NEW YORK — Any resemblance between the romantic cloaks which the Spanish masters loved to paint and this Fall's spectacular capes-coats is not mere coincidence.

From portraits of 17th and 18th century Spanish nobles come ideas for silhouettes which shape up many of this season's smartest coats. From the romantic capes of kings, courtiers and cardinals come push-up sleeves that slope from shoulders, collars that climb up to the tip of a nose.

One of the most outstanding of these portrait-inspired wraps is a Monte Sano-designed great coat of fuchsia and black checked chinchilla which looks like a cape. Its tall collar, deepset, all silhouettes, and lively color add a new note to this Fall's splendor.

Also ready to cut a swathe on the Autumn scene is another romantic style: the steamer cape. Pauline Trigg brings this first-of-its-kind "duster" up-to-date with sophisticated styling, with highly-textured tweed in shades of gray and black. The old-time steamer cape into a smart ensemble by combining it with a skirt of solid gray tweed, a chic sweater of black wool knit.

Cape coats flaunt "cloak and dagger" airs for fall. Fuchsia and black checked chinchilla greatcoat washbuckles with pushed up sleeves and chin-swathing collar (left); steamer cape (right), in black and gray plaid tweed, cloaks skirt and sweater ensemble.

Every Summer complaint from the lowly mosquito to the glowing sun can cause you misery this Summer. You've got to be wary and alert to keep from being stung by a bee or slipping on a boat deck. Even if you feel as at home in the water as a goldfish, you've got to know that swimming pool, rivers and lakes have unsuspected holes, oceans have undertows and waves that can challenge swimming champions. Never swim out too far when you are alone or when a lifesaver isn't within earshot. If you eat lightly before you swim, you will avoid a sudden cramp which can drag you down even if you are your high school's backstroke wonder.

Heat exhaustion takes a big toll of foolhardy sun seekers who over-exert themselves. You can't play a game of tennis or golf or take a long sunbath in the hot sun without sizzling. You'll have to take lots of salt tablets or a mixture of salt with water to avoid nausea and dizziness that precede complete collapse. If you get too much sun. Drink lots of liquids (not too cold) and keep out of the sun when it is hottest.

Take Sun Carefully
If you do get knocked out, let's hope your pals have enough sense to keep you warm as you lie down with head level or lower than your body and feed you some salt. You always avoid getting a sunburn whether you spend your vacation days on your roof or at a resort. Take small doses of sun each day and let your skin darken from a light pink blush to a rosy brown or a golden bronze. Butler yourself with good sunburn ointments before going out into the sun. Be sure to wear sunburn protection each day even on cloudy days and remember that it's a good idea to keep out of the sun during the heat of the day.

Well, you probably say, I don't have to worry. I'm going to the shady mountains on vacation. Oh, no? Well how about poison ivy, cuts and scratches, insect bites, bruises and even hay fever?

Beware First Blister
You may think you're immune to poison ivy but even so, don't attempt to make a corsage of it—there's always the first blister.

If you can't recognize poisonous parasite plants, look them up in your dictionary. They'll describe them and maybe show pictures. It makes me itchy just to think of them.

Wash thoroughly after you've tramped through woods—even if you haven't seen a speck of ivy. Doctors suggest using a good strong yellow kitchen soap and hot water, washing several times. Rinse with cold water and pat, don't rub, dry.

If you do get a dose of ivy poisoning, first use the yellow soap (which contains no oil to spread infection), get some calamine lotion from the drugist or apply epsom salt dressings to relieve itching until the doctor arrives.

If you walk around beach grass or mountain paths in your bare feet, you'll take the risk of stepping on glass, stone, nails or sea shells. Deep cuts need a doctor's attention immediately to avoid tetanus but the wound should be kept open by soaking in water until the doctor arrives. Little cuts should be treated with good mild antiseptics and covered with small gauze dressings.

If you engage in a summer safety program you should have a safe and sane Summer. So important does one railroad (Baltimore and Ohio) think safety is for their employees, that they have instituted an essay contest with prizes for sons or daughters of railroad employees on the subject of safety. They hope to stress the importance and value of safety in the households of their employees.

Safety experts say that only three diseases—heart disease, cancer and cerebral hemorrhage—cause more deaths than accidents. No matter where you spend the Summer you'll probably get your share of stomach aches from ice-cold drinks, strange food combinations, too many sweets, or too much meat. Eat lightly before engaging in sports and don't eat at food stands where the food is allowed to stand out in the hot sun all day long.

If you pack a picnic lunch, don't take foods that might spoil, unless of course you have a way of keeping them cold.

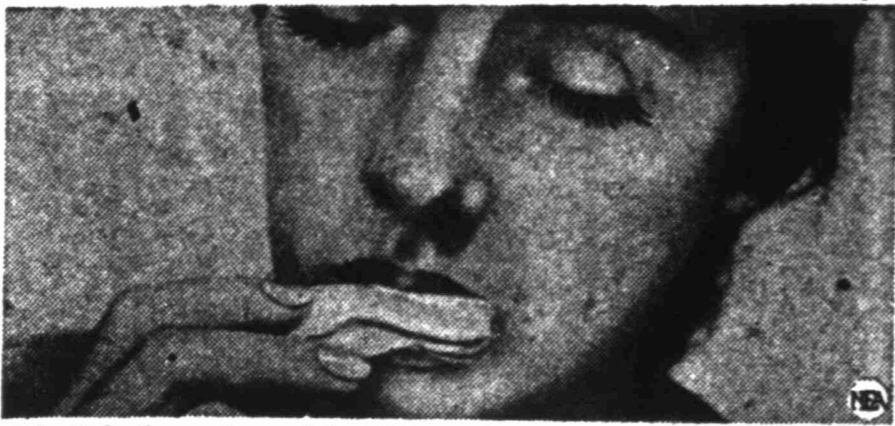

If you get an upset stomach as a result of eating the wrong food, stay away from all food for a day and drink plenty of tea and tepid water. If the pain in the stomach is severe and you feel feverish, call your doctor.

Legion's Law

R. C. (Dick) Gusman, six-foot four inches, 250-pound mayor of Bay City, Texas, will see that law and order prevail at the thirty-first annual national convention of the American Legion in Philadelphia, Pa., August 29-31. He has been named by a fellow Texan, National Commander Perry Brown of Beaumont, to be chief sergeant-at-arms at the conclave. A group of 30 other huskies including "Man Mountain" Dean, will be under Gusman's direction to keep order for the Legionnaires at Philadelphia.

Lipstick Tissues Are Useful

Lipstick tissue is used by this model to blot up excess oil from rouge and keep color from straying.

By ALICIA HAET
NEA Staff Writer

Ever grope through your purse in a vain search for a tissue lipstick wiper only to wind up with a stained handkerchief?

Lipstick tissue booklets — which cost nothing and are as easy to come by as match books—will solve this problem.

Tissue booklets carried in a purse will enable a girl to keep her makeup under better control. Sheets of paper clean up vestiges of old lip color with a minimum of mess. Lip tissue tucked between the lips after a fresh coating of rouge will absorb excess color and set the lipstick. Tissue used over a fingertip to outline lipstick won't smudge or streak below the lipline.

Back To School— Summer Workshop For Area Teachers Will Open Monday

Teachers, supervisors and administrators of Midland and area public schools will gather here Sunday for the opening Monday morning Workshop sponsored by the University of Texas and the Midland school system. The school for teachers will continue through August 19.

Supt. Frank Monroe of Midland, director, said Saturday everything is in readiness for the conducting of the workshop which is expected to attract more than 50 students. Staff members are to arrive here Sunday afternoon from Austin.

Classes will be held in the North Elementary School from 8 a.m. to 11:15 a.m., daily, with staff members to be available until 12:15 p.m. for conferences.

Three semester hours credit will be given toward B.A., M.A., or Ph.D. degrees.

Workshop activities include lectures dealing with basic concepts and scientific principles underlying human development and behavior; laboratory in case study procedures for first, second and third year Child Study participants; interest seminars, and films, conferences, reading and recreation. Other special events are planned.

Library facilities will be provided by the Extension Division of the University of Texas.

The staff members, Monroe said, will include Carroll F. Cumbee, head of the Department of Psychology and Measurement of the University of Florida; James Knight, director of the Extension Teaching Bureau and professor of Educational Psychology, of the University of Texas; John J. Kurtz, assistant professor of Educational Psychology, University of Texas; Miss Lola Tullos and Miss Arline Fisher.

Subjects to be discussed in the interest seminars include: reporting

Kermit Post Office Moves To New And Larger Building

KERMIT—Sunday is moving day for the Kermit post office, which became a first class office on July 1. If things go according to schedule, residents will receive their mail Monday in the new building.

Mrs. Ruth Marion, Kermit postmaster, announced that a contract for moving the present equipment of the post office was awarded and the new building recently was approved by L. G. Bragdon, post office building inspector of Fort Worth.

The new structure, located on North Oak Street, is approximately two blocks north of the old building.

pupil progress, conferences with parents, testing programs, home room programs, cumulative records and attitude and values.

Monroe said many faculty members of the Midland public schools have enrolled for the Summer session.

It was built by Elie Lam, and is leased to the Postal Department on a 10-year contract. Costing approximately $60,000, the entire structure also will house a new drug store, owned by Kenneth Burrows who has operated L-B Drug here for several years, a tailor shop, barber shop, and business office.

Air-Conditioned
The new post office will provide about 2,000 square feet more than the old one. It is modern in all details, air conditioned and of brick and tile.

Mrs. Marion also announced that until screening equipment above the boxes is received the entire building will have to be locked at 6 p. m. Additional boxes also are expected to be installed late in August.

The first blast furnace was built in 1792 in what was destined to become the steel center of Pittsburgh.

Concert Association Is Started At Kermit

KERMIT—A drive to organize a Winkler County Municipal Concerts will get underway here Monday morning, with a kick-off breakfast in the American Legion Hall. Approximately 100 interested persons from Kermit, Wink, and Jal. N. M., are expected to be present.

William Z. Rozan, president of Municipal Concerts Association, Houston, will be here to assist with the membership campaign.

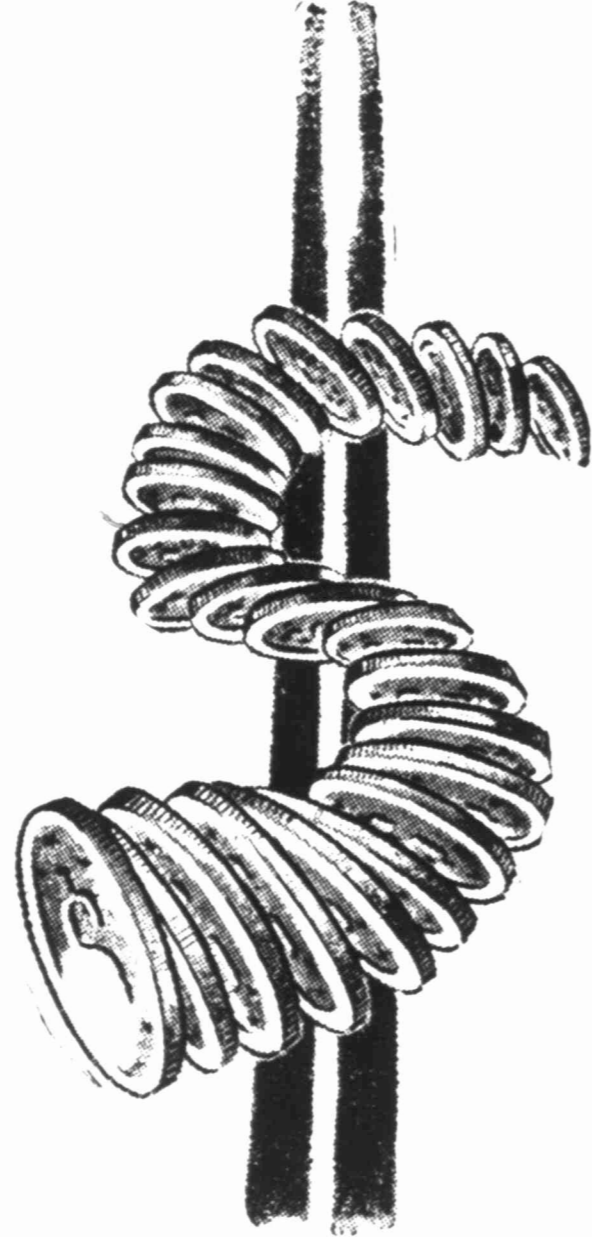

The Rev. Ronald Hubbard, pastor of the Community Church, is to be one of the speakers, as well as leaders of civic organizations. Directing the campaign are Mrs. David Sauer, Webb Jenkins and Mrs. Oscar Maples. Mrs. Laura Ferguson is secretary and Miss Eddie Mae Mosley is treasurer.

Members of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church, will prepare the breakfast on a cost basis as their part in the campaign.

Engagement Told In Crane

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Murray of Crane have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Jean Yvonne, to Darrell O. Warren, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Warren of Crane. Tentative date for the wedding has been set for early September. The bride-elect is a 1949 graduate of Crane High School and is an employee of the Moore and Shaffer Jewelry Store in Crane. Warren, a graduate of Crane High School, has attended John Tarleton College, Stephenville, for two years. He is majoring in chemical engineering.

Cakes To Passengers— Pioneer Air Lines Will Celebrate Anniversary

HOUSTON—Passengers on Pioneer Air Lines' planes Monday will receive small cakes with four candles in observance of the fourth anniversary of the airline, Gen. Robert J. Smith, president, announced Saturday.

The company inaugurated services over a 683-mile system from Houston to Amarillo via Austin, San Angelo, Abilene and Lubbock four years ago.

Today, Pioneer serves 25 Texas and New Mexico cities over 2,200 system miles, General Smith pointed out. "We are indeed proud to have served the Southwest for these past four years. Pioneer has flown more than 53,000,000 revenue passenger miles, carrying more than 235,000 persons safely to their destinations," the president said.

General Smith pointed out that Pioneer started operations with three Lockheed aircraft and that today the company has eleven DC-3 luxury liners. He added that only 69 employees were on the staff on Aug. 1, 1945, in comparison to some 460 persons now. Pioneer flew 4,452 persons to their destinations in 1945; then jumped to 20,687 passengers in 1946. In 1947,

ORC Medical Officers Have Opportunity

Organized Reserve Corps physicians, dentists and veterinarians now have an opportunity to accept active duty at their nearest military installation for short periods up to 29 days, Colonel Oscar B. Abbott, executive of the Texas Military District, announced.

Many doctors of medicine, dentistry and veterinary medicine have stated that they are willing to tender their services as reserve officers for short periods if regulations would authorize it. There will be no limit on the number of tours each officer may complete during any fiscal year, however, participation will be limited to no more than a total of 90 days during any fiscal year under this program.

All reserve officers of the Permian Basin area should contact the reserve instructor's office at Building 215 of Midland Airport, according to Col. R. B. Loudon.

+ Traveling Teen-Ager +

By JUNE HAZLIP

TAOS, N. M.—Hello There! Well, after a 24-hour visit "home," we find ourselves back on the trail again! This time headed for New Mexico and Colorado.

One of the first things of interest we saw was New Mexico Military Institute, (which should be familiar to many Midland "teeners," boys and girls) in Roswell.

After a long drive we were in Santa Fe, capital of New Mexico. Entering Santa Fe is like suddenly finding yourself in another country—a country where colorful Indians, in tribal dress, rub shawls over their shoulders in smart suits. Buildings dating as far back as 1540 stand proudly by their newer, more modern neighbors.

Fashion Hint
It isn't unusual to see a "Teener" in Santa Fe wearing native dress. And here is a fashion note for the boys of Midland. Let your hair grow long and then tie it back with a red band! (OK, OK, it was just an idea.)

We felt right at home in Santa Fe. Particularly since we seemed to bump into "home-town folks" at every turn. Glenda McNeal, Penny Jones and Gloria Anguish were the Midland "Teeners" we saw. We also ran into Mr. and Mrs. Holt Jowell, mailing a letter to Jerome, who is in Michigan.

Santa Fe is the second oldest city in the U. S. and the only capital which cannot be reached by train. One of the quaint old buildings is the Palace of Governors. This ancient building has been occupied, some 62,698 persons were carried and in 1948, 93,855 passengers were transported. More than 55,000 passengers were carried in the first seven months of 1949.

Pioneer was the nation's first feeder or community airline to inaugurate services, after a temporary certificate of operations was granted by the Civil Aeronautics Board. That certificate is now before the CAB for renewal for an additional five years.

Twenty-Two Flights
"We have grown from four flights daily to 22 flights daily; from 683 miles to 2,200 miles; from six cities to 25 cities; from carrying a thousand passengers monthly to more than 9,000 monthly from 69 to 450 employees, but we still are a small, family organization," General Smith declared.

He pointed out that of the 450 employees, 84 per cent of the men are veterans of World War II and that more than 100 are former Air Force pilots.

Training Clinic For Butane Dealers Slated In Midland

Butane dealers of Midland and vicinity have been invited to attend a two-day training clinic, August 8-9 in Hotel Scharbauer here, it was announced by officials of the Texas Butane Dealers Association, sponsor. Two top-flight educators of the Division of Extension of the University of Texas have been assigned to conduct the classes. They are Sterling S. Speake and Lester W. Grainger. Each will conduct a full day of classes. The courses are designed for butane dealers, their credit managers, salesmen, office personnel and truck driver-salesmen.

Training clinics form a definite part of the program of the Texas Butane Dealers Association, which is composed of butane dealers throughout the state.

Owners and employees of butane firms in this area are expected to attend the training clinic. Midland firms who will be represented include Starr Gas Company, H. L. Helbert Transport Company, Jones Butane Service, B&B Butane Service and Blue Flame Gas Company.

at different times, by Indians Spaniards, Latin Americans and Americans. It is not unusual to see the patio and corridors lined with Indians, in traditional "garb," selling their wares.

One of the main things we noticed in Santa Fe is the fact that nearly all the buildings are made of stucco and logs.

Square dancing apparently is one of the main ways "Teeners" spend their evenings. So, we joined right in and had quite a time.

Upon deciding we had seen Santa Fe we set off down the same route used by Coronado (attention — Freshman History classes!) and Kit Carson toward Taos, one of the most famous of Indian reservations. We were lucky enough to arrive in Taos during "Fiesta." One of the most spectacular sights we saw was a procession of more than 300 Indians. Braves headed for the sagebrush to hunt rabbits. It was as though we suddenly were hurled into the Frontier days of the old West. The Indians were painted up, wearing blankets and carrying bows and arrows. Their horses really were beautiful; typical "Indian ponies." The most interesting thing about this hunt is that it is staged annually by the Indians—but it is not a "tourist" affair. We just happened to be lucky enough to be in the right place at the right time.

On that note we think we'd better be on our way. And with reluctance, we bid adios to New Mexico—"Land of Enchantment." So long 'til next week.

June Electric Power Consumption Gains

AUSTIN—June electric power consumption in Texas was 12 per cent greater than in May, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reported.

All types of power use gained: commercial, 18 per cent; residential, 11 per cent; and industrial, nine per cent.

June consumption also increased 23 per cent over the like 1948 month, with residential consumption gaining 18 per cent; commercial, 20 per cent; and industrial, four per cent.

After adjustment for seasonal variation, the bureau's electrical power consumption index was 351 per cent of the prewar (1935-39) base period.

In making iced tea or coffee, mix the beverage in a china or pottery pitcher first and then pour into your tall glasses. This will save you Summer glass breakage. Incidentally, ice cubes should not be dropped carelessly into glasses—they might chip the fine crystal.

Stem-slim for Fall
Tricky Cut Makes These Autumn Styles

Important view for autumn (above) is the tucked midriff featured in this dress of sheer wool yarn dye. The same slim line is followed (left) in a red wool coat-dress which is belted and belted in black.

By EPSIE KINARD
NEA Fashion Editor

NEW YORK—The stem-slim wool dress that molds a figure and bares 13 inches of leg has an up-and-coming rival in fall collections. It's the stem-slim coat-dress that does just as much for a gal.

Both dresses and coat-dresses make much of tricky cut or subtle detail that reflect sophisticated designing.

There's the tucked midriff, to cite one of the unusual designing tricks used, which corsets a girl's middle in a girde of pleats. The dress glamorized by such a "girde"—a wide horizontal band of tucks fitted to the figure, and cross-tabbed to button at one side—is a Ben Reig design made of sheer gray yarn dyed wool. The skirt's narrow look is belled by a side pleat five inches deep.

A slim coat-dress of red wool, which invites comment, owes its easy silhouette to a deep inverted back pleat and to peg-top fullness at the waistline. This Hannah Troy design owes its smart appeal to a Byronic black taffeta bow that swings to the side of a tailored collar, also styled like a poet's, and to a black leather belt and black buttons that are lined up from neck to hemline.

Forty Is The Age For Love—Or Is It?

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newfeatures Writer

There is considerable talk—almost almost say propaganda—about how mistaken we all are in assuming that life stops abruptly around the 40th birthday. The opinion, however, is held in some pretty important places—like employers who want to hire new hands. Almost any want-ad section you read is studded with job notations bearing age requirements, most of which place 35 as the maximum. A Mr. Pitkin wrote a book about life beginning at 40 several years ago put a little fire into the idea that wisdom and experience counted for something too.

But no one seems to have done much to disabuse the general public of the idea that there can be fun, even glamor, on the long side of the 40th birthday. And for this little notion, I think we can thank heartily not only the movies but our popular fiction magazines.

Miss Isabel Moore, who writes stories and sells them to these aforementioned magazines, came right out on a radio broadcast I happened to be listening to one day and admitted there was a magazine cabal against permitting any female of such advanced years becoming, of all things, a heroine. "If you want to sell your story," said Miss Moore with some bitterness, "you have to keep your heroine under 40, and she must be slim. Oh, she might have a few gray hairs, but only a very few."

This situation, she continued, offers some pretty problems to authors who have evolved a plot about a married woman (the heroine) who has adult children. This plot occasionally, very occasionally, occurs in magazines, just to break up the monotony of a steady diet of young-love, boy-meets-girl romances.

Must Marry At 15
"And it's a real problem," said Miss Moore. "You constantly find yourself in the position of having a heroine who must have married when she was 13, 14 or 15 years old. Or else you have to be uncomfortably vague about her current years or the passage of time."

We all know that in the movies, attractive mothers always look in their early 30s.

Both the magazines and motion pictures are aesthetically interested in keeping older heroines on the painfully thin side. The magazines have their glamor illustrations to think about, too.

Ready For Knitting
The result of this campaign—it's probably unintentional and concerned with popularity—has been unfortunate. The great American reading and movie-going public has gradually absorbed the idea that (a) once a woman is 40, she's ready for knitting and the rocking chair, brother and that's it and (b) nothing interesting or exciting can possibly happen to a woman a bit over the weight limit.

Obviously, that can't be true. Remember, the Duchess of Windsor was 40 when she became a Duchess. Remember, the number one hobby of American women is dieting, as a look at the advertisements and articles in those same offending magazines will tell you. If you took out of circulation all the plump girls and women in the country, more than the nation's economy would be upset. The nation's manfolk would be, too, and there certainly wouldn't be anywhere near enough women to go around.

There has been a notable increase in heroines' ages recently in the magazine stories. Seems to me now that the ideal age is around 29 for unmarried heroines. The married ones can sneak into the thirties and still hang on to romance and glamor.

The daring authors of Broadway's top hit, "South Pacific," have gone even farther by having their hero a guy in his mid-fifties—a widower, yet—deeply and romantically in love. But they have the heroine cut more in the traditional pattern.

There are about 10 total eclipses of the sun in every 18 years.

Child Struck By Auto Is Slightly Injured

Ronald Sowell, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Sowell was given emergency treatment at Western Clinic-Hospital Friday night for injuries received when struck by an auto.

According to the hospital report, the child was struck by an auto driven by his father who was backing out of the drive-way. The injuries were not serious.

FIT BY GOLF BALL

Bobby Pressley, 13, was admitted to Western Clinic-Hospital Saturday for treatment of head injuries received when struck by a golf ball. The accident occurred on a golf course where the youth was caddy-ing, according to the hospital report.

Approximately 300,000,000 bushels of the stored grain of the United States is destroyed by insects annually.

Plans August 12 Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Robertson of Rankin announce the engagement and approaching marriage on August 12 of their daughter, Dorothy, to W. W. Duke of Odessa. Miss Robertson is a graduate of Hobbs, N. M., High School and is employed by the Harris-Luckett Company in Rankin.

Crane News

CRANE—Charles Curry, Jr., while playing with his younger brothers recently, fell from the roof of the Curry home and sustained a badly strained neck. The accident occurred last week and a number of X-rays were taken to determine the extent of the injury.

Mrs. Pearl Pitman is attending the second six weeks of Summer school at Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene and her son, Lacy, is visiting with his brother, C. P. Pitman at Seymour.

Mrs. Georgia Orr was hostess to the Dorcas Club Monday at her Gulf Camp home. A sandwich plate was served the following members: Myrtle Shaffer, Ethel Neeley, Ila Gooch, Jewel Mulvey, Clara Hazle and Nancy Slater.

Forty-five members of the Rebekah Lodge of Crane were present Tuesday evening at the regular session which was followed by an exchange of gifts from the Love Sister night.

Sheriff and Mrs. M. E. Lear had as their guests recently his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Lear of Austin, on trip.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Asberry left Monday to visit in Dallas, Fort Worth and other points in Texas. They will be joined at the end of the week by Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Alexander, who will start a three-weeks vacation at that time.

Principal speakers on the program for the Brotherhood at the First Baptist Church Tuesday evening were George Ashburn and Neal Lauderback. Ashburn spoke on "Saving and Service" and Lauderback spoke on "Missions."

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Hood have returned from Littlefield where they were called last Saturday due to the serious illness of Hood's father. The elder Mr. Hood died Sunday and interment was in the Littlefield cemetery Monday.

Members of the First Christian Church enjoyed a watermelon feast Tuesday night. Gospel singing was conducted by J. F. Kendrick with Mrs. A. E. Galloway accompanying.

The Crane Memorial Hospital was the scene Tuesday morning of four operations. F. W. Johnson of McCombe underwent a tonsillectomy, Gene Taylor of Crane had an appendectomy, J. B. Mann of Crane and Billy Stover of Iran both had minor surgery.

Due to the illness of "Ida Red," entertainer from KWFT in Wichita Falls, it was not possible for the Crane Senior Scouts to sponsor a program, as planned, but it will be held at a later date.

Ballerina Coats Are For Fall

Ballerina coats make big fashion news. Bright plaid taffeta jacket (right) flounces a peplum as flip as a dancer's skirt. Flame red suede velour spreads its charms in the cape coat (left), quilt-stitched at hemline and at flared cuffs of sleeves.

By EPSIE KINARD
NEA Fashion Editor

NEW YORK—Sauciest little coat of the new season is the ballerina topper.

Swinging into Autumn with unrestrained fullness this coat of Monte Sano's design is cut as short as a dancer's skirt. It makes up in width what it lacks in length and in frolic from what it lacks in the more solid virtues of a Winter wrap.

Brilliantly colored plaid taffeta—red, green and yellow—lends its crisp charms to one long-waisted jacket which sports a peplum as flip as a ballerina's skirt. This ruffy flounce can be flipped out, tilted up or down or crushed into folds. It owes its antics to a pill-able stiffness that is woven into taffeta. Another ballerina topper which spreads across shoulders like butterfly wings is a flame-colored cape of suede velour. This cape-coat has the fullness of a dancer's skirt and is quilt stitched in deep bands to strengthen its flip appeal, and again to enforce the flair of full, trumpet-shaped sleeves.

Soaring Contests Slated August 7-14

DALLAS—(P)—The second annual Soaring Contest will be held August 7 to 14 at the Grand Prairie, Texas, airport.

John D. Carney of Dallas, president of the Texas Soaring Association, said pilots of sailplanes and gliders from various parts of Texas and from California, Florida, Tennessee, New York, New Jersey, Colorado, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Kansas and Mississippi, will participate in the meet.

A group of sailplane pilots from England, France and Switzerland, guests of the Civil Air Patrol, will be present as observers.

Pilots will attempt to break the 1948 Texas mark of 219 miles, flown in a sailplane. Contestants also will seek to climb to altitudes higher than the 17,000 feet attained by sailplanes in last year's meet.

At 24, Andrew Carnegie was superintendent of the Pennsylvania Railroad's western division.

Most Everyone Could Do With Something Like Martin Fuentes' "Banco De Ahorros"

CORPUS CHRISTI—(P)—Martin Fuentes makes a habit of putting small change into a metal pipe, attached to the wall of his Corpus Christi wedding shop.

Fuentes, who has a wife and seven children, calls it his "Banco de Ahorros"—his savings bank.

It is the second such bank. The first was another pipe bolted to the floor with a slit in the side.

Fuentes started putting money into the first bank back in 1945. For two years he dropped in nickels, pennies, 25-cent and 50-cent coins.

In 1947, the family was confronted by a financial crisis.

Felix, the eight-year-old son, was hit by a car and badly injured. He was taken to a hospital.

The next morning, twins were born to the Fuentes family.

"Ah, I had fear then," said Fuentes. "The hospital said maybe to fix Felix up it would take $400. For twins it costs most $100. I came back to my shop and thought what to do. Maybe I could sell my equipment, but how then I make a living? Where to get some money."

At last he decided to cut open the Banco—the pipe to which the whole family had been contributing.

He thought perhaps there would be at least money enough for a down payment at the hospital.

But to his amazement, there was $900.

The final toll at the hospital was $500—$400 less than the Banco had yielded.

The first bank is now rusting on a pile of junk at the back of Fuentes' shop, but he often gives it a fond look.

And the Fuentes family contributes enthusiastically to the new Banco de Ahorros.

Mother Can Be Help To Growing Teenager

By BETTY CLARKE
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

Unless Mother was a very unusual teen-ager, she must have experienced pretty much the same desire for grown-up glamor that today's young moderns do.

If Mom forbids or is critical of that touch of makeup that daughter rightly or wrongly thinks adds to her charm, her offspring might experiment with makeup on the sly away from home. Whereas, if constructive criticism with wise suggestions on the subject of glamor are offered by Mother, daughter should be willing to heed the good advice.

Almost every young girl takes a fling at makeup with or without her parents' permission, just as an experiment. Perhaps she'll use a dab of powder or a bit of lipstick when spending the evening at home, all the while admiring her own reflections in the mirror.

For Reassurance. She doesn't do it to show off but more as a reassurance. Girls get growing pains about beauty, too, and often are tortured during this stage when they are shedding ugly duckling feathers. A word of encouragement from Mom might make it easy to weather.

The first step in Mom's guiding program should be to provide grooming aids. A hair brush, comb and complexion brush all are necessary to teen-age grooming. Some mothers select powder and lipstick for daughter and start her out on a "just for parties" makeup. This will satisfy her curiosity and build up her confidence in Mom's suggestions as to tasteful makeup.

One big hurdle for some adolescents to get over is blemished skin. Often they will be misled into believing that heavy cake make-up and foundations will cover over rough blotches and pimples making them unnoticeable. Actually, this will spread the infection.

Remove Lipstick With Oil. Youngsters should be taught that cleanliness takes complexion honors and that good soap and water cleansings are necessary for a peaches-and-cream complexion. If a little dab of powder is to be used on chin and nose, to perk up the morale of the teen-ager with a bad complexion, then be sure that she carries a small envelope of cotton balls in her purse so that she can use a fresh one for each make-up change. Badly soiled powder puffs are no beauty bonus for any complexion.

When daughter uses her party lipstick, she can remove it by dipping the cotton in baby oil to remove every trace of makeup. After this comes her sudsy face washing and a patting of cold water.

Pink lipsticks are best for young lips and the best way for the amateur to avoid clown-like effects made with unsteady hands. If you can start her out with a lipstick brush, so much the better.

Pure-ice is more transparent than water.

McCamey News

MCCAMEY—Sheriff H. E. Eckols has returned a man from Jacksonville, Fla., wanted in connection with the theft of an automobile belonging to Jack McDermott of McCamey.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Stoker returned Friday from a three-weeks vacation spent in New York, where they attended the International Lions Club convention. On the return trip, they toured Canada and other points of interest.

Gary Don Howell, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Howell of McCamey, is hospitalized in the polio ward of a San Angelo hospital. His condition is reported as satisfactory.

The Rev. C. J. Mann, pastor of the Methodist Church, is in New York attending the Union Theological Seminary. Mrs. Mann was in New York for two weeks but now has returned to Raymondville where she will remain until August 21 when she will be joined by her husband on his return trip to McCamey.

Stanley Seaton of Odessa, a student in McMurry College in Abilene, is filling the pulpit in the McCamey church until the Rev. Mann returns.

Mrs. T. L. Rowell of Eunice, N. M., is visiting in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Muschalek, and with her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Rowell.

Mrs. T. G. Roach has her mother, Mrs. R. Gordon of Fabens, as a guest this week.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Kedoris, Sr., left last week on their vacation. They were to visit in Freeport and other points while away.

Return From New York
Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Brown and daughter, Claudine, report an interesting and enjoyable vacation spent in New York City. Brown attended the International Lions convention during the first few days and the remainder of their time was spent attending shows, plays and seeing the sights of the city. They returned by plane Tuesday night.

Mrs. Hugh Driskell was one of five students from the music department of Sul Ross College presented in a piano recital at Iran recently.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Widmer of Rankin announce the birth of a son, born in the Cooper Hospital July 26. He weighed seven pounds.

Mrs. Lois Jones of Rankin has been released from the McCamey hospital after receiving medical treatment. Also released after undergoing medical treatment was Dorothy St. John.

The condition of T. A. Watt, who has been confined to the hospital for several weeks, is reported to be improved.

A V-J Day dance is to be held in the new McCamey Park Building August 13. The affair is being sponsored by the American Legion Post and a 12-piece Sul Ross dance band has been secured for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Brooks of Las Cruces, N. M., were recent guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cleatus Brooks. The visitors were returning to New Mexico from Corpus Christi where they had been visiting relatives.

Jake Moore left Monday morning for Dockens where he will visit Mr. and Mrs. Sam Moore.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gray of Iran announced the birth of a son July 26 in the Iran hospital. The child's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Huelster, live in McCamey.

Mr. and Mrs. (Hoot) Gibson and children recently have returned from visiting relatives in New Mexico.

The H. M. Leach family held a reunion at their home last week. Henry Leach, a son, spent several days with his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Pope will leave soon for their new home in Holiday where Pope has been transferred.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wagner and family of Dryden are guests in the home of Mrs. Dovie Teel and family.

Glamorize Played-Out Clothes

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Give last season's play clothes a chance to be saved from discard before you toss them out of your closet.

Use eyelet ruffles to lengthen and glamorize skirts, to put pretty new frau frau around old necklines. A deep eyelet embroidered petticoat flounce added to a shrunken hemline will add four inches of length and glamor to a cotton print. Stitch narrower matching eyelet to the bare-topped or off-shoulder bodice that teams with the skirt. If the bodice is self-ruffled, put the lacy one underneath to glam it up.

The neatest conversion trick of the year is to turn two colorful neckties, filched from husband or dad, and use to brighten the outlook of an old beach shirt or coat.

Select two cravats from the tie rack that match or mix well. One will go to make a new beach-shirt collar or a cover for the one you have as well as matching cuffs. The other one will serve the same function as a manly tie knotted under your collar or worn loose with ends flying.

"Too short" shorts take on a new Tyrolean look (and go longer) when a row of wide primary-colored peasant embroidery is used to outline the bottom and make gay suspenders. For the later, the embroidered edging need only be run over the shoulders from the waistline, buttoned front and back and then held taut by a crossbar of edging stitched from suspender to suspender across the chest.

Last summer's played-out play duds can be put back in the running by simple re-vamping tricks. This girl's beach shirt owes its pick-me-up to a man's red cotton faille necktie and to a new collar cut out of a matching tie. Her skimpy play dress (upper right) was lengthened and frilled at neckline and hemline (right) with eyelet ruffles.

REV. TRAFF RETURNS

The Rev. A. L. Teaff, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, and family have returned from a two weeks vacation. The first week was spent attending the Baptist Youth Camp for New Mexico in the Manzano Mountains southeast of Albuquerque. The second week was spent in Colorado, Oklahoma, and North Texas.

A tablespoon of anchovy paste and a teaspoon of finely grated onion (pulp and juice) may be added to a package of cream cheese and then used for a cracker spread to serve with a tomato juice cocktail. Soften a three-ounce package of the cheese and mix in the anchovy and flavorings thoroughly. Sprinkle a little finely grated parsley over the spread for color, if you like.

Shoestring Scheme Gilds Dowdy Foyer And Produces French Entrance Hall

'The Drunkard'—

(Continued From Page One) appears for two numbers, "When You Were a Tulip" and "Daisy Bell." Mrs. Scott Slaughter and Mrs. C. E. Brusenhan appear in gay Gibson blouses and big bright bows in their hair. The male members of the quartet, M. O. Gibson and William Cobb, wear sideburns and handlebar mustaches.

A dance team, which would compare with the original teams, is composed of Nadyne Griffin and John DeFord. They dance to the strains of "For Me and My Gal" and "Waiting for the Robert E. Lee." Duke Jimerson, mustache and all, leads the audience in a lively song. The audience, by now well in the spirit of the gay nineties, responds enthusiastically to songs such as "There Is a Tavern in the Town," "The Sidewalks of New York," "The Man on the Flying Trapeze," and "In the Good Old Summer Time."

The "Toby and Liz" song and dance team, composed of Toby Hilliard and Elizabeth Pennebaker, dressed in bathing suits which were far from the latest creation, give an interpretation of the old "By the Sea." With the gala air and swish of the can-can girls of the "good old days" Becky Huff, Nadyne Griffin, Jane Kimbrough and Anne Speers present a can-can number complete, even with the tossing of a garter to the awaiting audience. The olio cast bids adieu to the audience with the strains of "Keep Your Eye on the Grand Old Flag."

NEW YORK — That one room where the look of swank, charm or gaiety is most needed to create a good first impression for a house or apartment is the entrance hall or foyer.

If you think a foyer's limited space and your limited budget must deny your room its chance to make a good impression, you underestimate your own ability to bring charm or even plushy magnificence on a shoestring.

As example of what can be done is one small, dark drab foyer which was converted into an eye-opening entrance hall recently for a young housewife client who had only pin money to invest on its Cinderella dress.

Chopped up by multiple openings, cursed with two repelling glass paneled closet doors and furnished with an old busy desk, a gloomy red velvet chair and a commonplace maple dresser over which a drab mirror was hung, this room's transformation was indeed a challenge.

Because the dresser was drastically needed for storage, it was converted into a chest but "antiqued" French-style into unbelievable magnificence. We first painted it with a thick undercoat of white paint without sanding or scraping. When this was thoroughly dry (in three days) a coat of flat white was brushed on and a solution of burnt umber and varnish was brushed over and wiped off with a piece of cheesecloth in short tapping strokes while still wet. Use a tube of burnt umber dissolved in a half pint of varnish for solution.

This chest owes more of its swank to an outline of gilt painted all around its corners and legs and restricted home decorator can do for the cost of paint, "antique" drawer pulls, and pressed-wood carvings which cost 15 cents each. The gilt filigree border which re-framed the old mirror came courtesy of an attic picture.

Before: Drab glass doors on hall closet give first impression of dowdy house.

As inexpensive as swing was the conversion of the "eyebore" doors into a pair of bronze-paneled beauties. These only cost my client the price of enough quarter-inch plywood to cover the old doors, molding over which to superimpose four "panels". 20 pressed wood carvings to gilt and glue down to give ornate richness.

Before applying the gilded strips of molding and gluing down the ornaments to the corners and centers of panels, the plywood doors were painted a rich ivory to match the walls of the hall.

If your family likes hollandaise sauce serve it over corned beef hash topped with poached eggs. Green peas or buttered snap beans are good vegetables to accompany the dish.

This undistinguished maple dresser (above) transformed by home "antiquing"—coated with white paint, streaked with umber and gilt paint, gold outlined around edges and legs and finished with French bronzed drawer pulls and gilded ornaments of wood—now stars in the re-modeled hallway.

Baby's Deafness Is No Disaster For You

By DAVID TAYLOR, MARKE

AP Newsfeature
Suppose you have learned that your baby is deaf. Probably he is still very young, less than a year old, and the deafness is a great shock to you.

It may seem cruel to say that you are fortunate in learning of the deafness so early, write Grace Lassman and Harriet Montague in an article entitled, "The Deaf Baby," in the current issue of The Volta Review, but this is true, as there is much you can do right now to help your baby, much that can be done more easily now than later on. Knowing the truth now gives you an opportunity to study and adjust and prepare yourself, so that when baby reaches the stage when he is ready for formal teaching, you will understand the problem of your child's deafness and of your child's problems.

The first thing to remember, say the authors, is to relax when you begin to teach him, not to be tense and worried about it. Talk to him and sing to him as you would to any baby. With a hearing baby, you do not wonder whether he understands what you say; you just go on talking, being sure that when speech begins to have meaning for him, he will respond; and this is just as true of the deaf baby.

Everything he touches and does and feels has an influence on him and an effect on him, and this is the time to begin making him feel at home in his world. Now is the time to talk to him because with his limited range of vision it is very easy to get his eyes fixed on your face. He will learn now, subconsciously, that watching a person's face is somehow connected with the answer to many of his needs. And if you talk to him about things that are right there in front of him, or within reach of his hands, he will learn to associate those things with the movements of your mouth.

For example, say the authors, "Touch his nose gently and say, 'That's your nose, it's a pretty little nose.' Take his hand and touch his nose with it and tell him again, 'That's your nose.' Put his hand on your own nose and say, 'That's Mother's nose.' Make it playful and gentle; make it fun."

Crane Will Decide Improvement Bonds

CRANE—An election has been called here for August 20 when voters will decide two proposals—issuance of $40,000 worth of courthouse improvement bonds and $20,000 jail improvement bonds.
The $40,000 improvement bonds if voted, would be used to supplement a $150,000 issuance for the courthouse. The $20,000 jail improvement bond money would be used for various improvements to that structure.

Engaged To Midland Man

Lena Sue Chilton

Sue Chilton Will Wed Glenn Murray

LAMESA—The approaching marriage of Lena Sue Chilton of Lamesa to Glenn Murray of Midland was announced at a tea in the home of Mrs. F. J. Barkhurst, July 20.

Miss Chilton is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Chilton of Lamesa, and Murray is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Murray of Midland.

The marriage will be solemnized in the First Baptist Church, August 23, at 7:30 p. m.

Hostesses Listed

Hostesses for the tea included Mrs. F. J. Barkhurst, Mrs. Glen Esmond, Mrs. N. H. Price, Mrs. Ross Gibson, Mrs. J. R. Leuenberger and Willie Bell Cleveland. Pink and white flowers carried out the bride-elect's chosen colors in the entertaining rooms.

Guests were received by the mother of the bride-elect, the bride-elect, the mother of the prospective groom, Betty Jo Chilton, sister of the honoree, Mrs. Bill Murray of Midland, sister-in-law of the prospective groom, and Mrs. Bill Chilton, the honoree's aunt.

Arrangement Of Roses

The serving table was centered with a large heart arranged with tiny pink rosebuds outlining the heart and forming the announcement, "Lena Sue and Glenn, August 23, 1949," reflected in a mirror. Pictures of the engaged couple were on either side of the centerpiece. White candles and crystal service completed the table appointments.

Other members in the house party included Nancy Hollingsworth, Gloria Esmond, Nancy Walker, Estelle Middlebrook, Joyce Smith, Dorothy Ross Gibson and Avalon Barkhurst.

Live In Ballinger

The bride-elect is a student at Hardin-Simmons University and is majoring in voice. She was a member of the A Cappella Choir and vocalist with the Cowgirl Band.

Murray is a graduate of Hardin-Simmons University and is religious educational director in the First Baptist Church, Ballinger. The couple will reside in Ballinger.

EMERGENCY OPERATION

Ernest Ray Klatt, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. (Bill) Klatt, underwent an emergency appendectomy Saturday at Western Clinic-Hospital.

Egg dogs are good in Summer as well as in Winter. Beat an egg until it is pale and thick, add a dash of salt, a cup of cold milk, a tablespoon of sugar, and a quarter teaspoon of vanilla or grated orange rind. Serve with straws.

Housewarming Party Given As Surprise In Ray Upham Home

A surprise housewarming was given for Mr. and Mrs. Ray Upham in their newly remodeled home, 510 North Big Spring Street, Thursday night, with Mr. and Mrs. P. V. Thorson, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Brenneman and Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Collings as hosts.

Guests inspected the house, which was decorated attractively with garden flowers for the occasion. Edith Collings served refreshments in a color scheme of pink and green from a table appointed in the same colors. The centerpiece of pink asters was flanked by candelabra holding green tapers.

In an apron-hemming contest for Mrs. Gordon Holcomb, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Carson, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Carson, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. A. F. McKee, Mr. and Mrs. Roy McKee, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Avery, Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Ellis, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Hilton Kaderli, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Brenneman, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Shepard, Dr. and Mrs. Tom C. Bobo, Mr. and Mrs. DeLo Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Neely, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Glass, Mrs. Iona Thorson of Kansas City and S. G. Painter of Odessa.

To keep a green salad crisp add the dressing at the last minute and toss only enough to coat the greens with the mixture of vinegar and oil. If you want to vary a basic French dressing for the salad add a few tablespoons of catchup or chili sauce, a few sliced anchovies, or a little crumbled blue or Roquefort cheese.

To cook apples the French way slice them and simmer with sugar, a very little water, and a few tablespoons of butter or margarine. A little grated lemon rind or vanilla may be added for good flavor. Apples cooked this way are delectable served over squares of sponge cake and topped with sweetened vanilla-flavored whipped cream.

Teen-Ager Wins Fashion Prize

By EPISE KINARD

NEW YORK — Talented juniors who can sit down at drawing boards and make their pencils speak for their own as well as other girls' fashion convictions are young designers whom even the old hands at creating styles are willing to applaud.

Winners of such applause and of $100 in cash prizes offered in a National Junior Design Contest are six young amateur designers, one of whom is a teen-ager. She is the first-prize winner. Laura (Mrs. Murray) Schneider, 19-year-old Cleveland, O., bride who copped the $500 award sponsored by Fashion Magazine and NEA Service in a talent search conducted by local newspapers throughout the nation.

Young Mrs. Schneider insists that her prize-winning design for a dress with a tucked "shirt front" and an enormous novelty hip pocket with matching tucks interpret her own and the fashion needs of other style-conscious girls. Best liked, according to this young designer, are fashions which are simple, smart, wearable and easy to make.

Proof that the second and third-prize winners are in complete agreement is the smart simplicity of their designs. The one which won Jose Sevoy of Boston the second prize of $300 is a chic guimpe dress smartened up by a blouse with a tucked neckline, a shirt band collar and long sleeves tucked to release fullness above the elbows.

The third winning design, which put $100 in the purse of Dorothy Ann Wendt of Richmond, Texas, combines a shoulder strap dress with a short cover-up bolero that qualifies this design for double duty.

These three winning designs, as well as the three which rated "honorable mention" and $50 each in cash prizes awarded by the National Junior Design Contest, have been translated into Fall and Winter patterns which are available to all style-minded girls and women who sew.

Texans In Washington—

One Of Best Guides At Capitol Is Tall Texan

WASHINGTON—(AP)—One of the guides in the Capitol these days, a tall Texan who formerly operated a small newspaper in Texarkana, feels tourists are greatly disappointed at not getting a peep into the House and Senate chambers.

The roofs over the historic rooms are being rebuilt and barriers keep all but the workmen away. Tourists can't even get near the doors of the temporary chambers.

"We explain that the new quarters are crowded and have no spectator's galleries," says Carl Miller, ex-newspaperman, one-time aide to Rep. Wright Patman of Texarkana and later on the staff of former Senator W. Lee O'Daniel.

"It's obvious and natural, that they're disappointed. We try to make up by lingering a little longer here and there at various points in the capitol, and throwing in an extra story or two about historic incidents which occurred in the building."

Blind In One Eye
Miller is an affable, lanky fellow and is blind in one eye. He has written a book called "Know Your Constitution." When he worked for O'Daniel he did a lot of research, digging up background to go into the Senator's speeches.

When O'Daniel left Washington, Miller then landed a job on the guide force with the endorsement of three Republican and three Democratic Senators. Texas senators Tom Connally and Lyndon Johnson weren't among them. The guides are paid on the basis of take from the 25-cent fee collected from tourists; their average income is around $6,000 annually.

Incidentally, when former San Antonio Congressman Maury Maverick was in Washington he tried to get guides put on a salary, paid through Congressional appropriation so tourists could have their services free. A lot of people like the idea, but not enough to get it across.

Around the capitol: There were many Texans visiting Washington during the past week.

About 300 of them who had been to Canada and to New York for the Lions convention stopped here en route home. They went out to George Washington's hometown of Alexandria, Va., for a luncheon.

The Odessa High School Band, including 84 boys and girls, also stopped here en route home from attending the New York meeting. It was a sweltering, humid mid-day when the three buses in which they have made the entire trip unloaded them on the capitol steps to be greeted by their perspiring Senators and Rep. Ken Regan.

"This heat is terrific," commented Band Director Robert Madex.

Ney Wade of Rockwall, wearing a big broad-brimmed straw hat, visited various Texas congressmen. He had lunch with Speaker Rayburn, House Majority Leader McCormack (D-Mass.) and Rep. J. M. Combs of Beaumont.

Other recent visitors in congressional offices included: James Hart-zog, Beaumont Port director; Mr. and Mrs. William Bailey, Tyler; Fred Shield, San Antonio; Art P. Bradley of Amarillo, president of the Texas County Agricultural Agents Association, with his wife and son Joe Bob; Mr. and Mrs. G. M. McDaniel, Borger.

One of the veteran employees of the Civil Aeronautics Administration is Mrs. Nelle Carmean Compers, formerly of San Angelo.

Interested in aviation since childhood, she was one of five persons in the CAA and the only woman to receive a government award, for meritorious service during the war.

On her desk at the CAA is a snapshot showing her boarding the famed Roscoe Turner plane at San Angelo in the early 1930's for a flight over the city.

Midland Sheriff's Posse Will Attend Big Spring Rodeo

The Midland County Sheriff's Posse will be guests of the Howard County posse Wednesday at Big Spring at the annual Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo.

The event will be held August 3 to 6.

The Midland group will ride in the parade at 4 p.m. and then will go to the home of Hock Wright where they will be guests at a barbecue.

After the barbecue, they will proceed to the rodeo grounds and ride in the grand entry.

All members of the Midland posse are urged by T. Paul Barron, chairman of the arrangements committee, to meet at the Midland Rodeo Grounds at 12:30 p.m. Wednesday with their horses saddled and ready to load. The group will leave for Big Spring at 1 p.m.

Other members of the arrangements committee are Chappell Davis and Jim Willis.

Cal Boykin, adjutant of the Midland Sheriff's Posse, recently made a trip to Big Spring to accept the invitation.

A Screen Beauty Goes From Brunette . . . and shows how to Blonde she got that way

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer
Thinking of going blonde? Before you take the proxide plunge, be warned by a browns movie star turned blonde that up-keep will be costly in time and money.
Marilyn ("The Champion") Maxwell who contends that she went blonde because her studio insisted, said: "I wouldn't in a thousand years if it were left up to me."
This blonde star thinks that the gal who doesn't HAVE to bleach can very successfully highlight her "natural-born hair color" with having her hair-color gradually lightened. That trick eases a girl socially through the transition of changing types and saves her locks from too-strenuous bleaching.

Plan to give your blondened hair a lot of care. It'll need it: more brushing, more shampoos, more clean-ups in-between dunkings. To keep her blonde hair free of bedimmed soil, Marilyn brushes with brush bristles packed with surgical gauze. Strips of gauze, which pick up soil that eludes the brushes, are renewed during a brushing stint until the last pack comes up unsmudged.
Remember that you'll need frequent touch-ups. How frequently depends upon how fast hair grows and how blonde you've made it. Marilyn, whose hair is pale gold and grows at a rapid clip, has to have touch-ups two times a week. To counteract the drying effects of bleaches, you, like our movie star, may need frequent oil treatments. Marilyn has these twice weekly and allows 30 minutes for a creamy emulsion to steam through her hair. For her oil treatment, hair is shampooed, anointed, and then confined by an electrically-heated cap. After that comes rinsing, drying and the setting of hair which must be pin-curlled, because this star doesn't have permanents, about three times a day when she's not working; as many as six times when she is.

"Is blonde hair worth all of this trouble?" I asked this star who spends so much time and money on it.
"Well, yes," she admitted with a saucy smile and a toss of her lovely blonde head.

Nondenominational Church Organized By 100 In Dallas

DALLAS—(P)—A nondenominational church, with a charter membership of 100 has been organized in Dallas. It is called The First Community Church and is modeled on the First Community Church in Columbus, Ohio.
The Columbus church is a part of a Community Church Movement in the United States which now has 1,250 congregations banded together in a National Council of Community Churches.
Leaders of the new Dallas church say it will fill a need of families who face the problem of what church to attend when the husband belongs to one denomination and the wife to another.
L. H. Lacy and Ernest Alexander, two of the Dallas members, said backgrounds of the members include Disciples of Christ, Congregational, Baptists, Roman Catholics, Methodists and others. Sixteen members of the Dallas church attended the recent annual meeting of the National Council of Community Churches at Berea, Ky. Two others have observed the Columbus church.
Prenatal Clinics
Some of the innovations of the Columbus church which will serve as the model for similar activities here include marriage, vocational guidance and prenatal clinics.
The Dallas church has called a preacher trained in psychiatric and sociological work to put similar activities into practice here, Lacy and Alexander said.
Dr. Roy Burkhardt, pastor of the Columbus church, has promised he will visit Dallas in September to help the new church get started.
The Dallas church will follow a congregational-type government with the control exercised by a board of directors elected by members. The congregation will determine its own policies.
No special creeds or beliefs of any denomination will be followed. Members will be baptized the way they prefer. New members will be received by statement of faith or on profession of faith.
The church will sponsor missionary work in or out of Dallas as members desire.

West Texas Cities Ask Review Of Reservoir Project

ABILENE—In line with the proposal of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce that domestic water be given priority in any criteria for dam building, 25 West Texas cities on the Brazos watershed have launched a new drive for an appropriation of more than 300,000 acre feet of water for the Bob Baskin Reservoir.

The request is being filed with the Board of Water Engineers by the city of Haskell acting as agent for the other cities along the Double Mountain and Salt Forks of the Brazos.

At the same time these cities took their demands to Washington with a request for a resurvey of the project by the Bureau of Reclamation, using the same criteria developed in the proposal of the $87,000,000 Canadian dam serving 11 cities in the Panhandle-Plains area.

Bandeen Report

Manager D. A. Bandeen of the WTCC, who recently prepared a report on the West Texas water shortage damages and application of the Hoover Commission's domestic water recommendations, this week will take to Austin an official resolution from the Haskell City Council, asking for the appropriation.

A request was sent to Washington by John Couch, president of the Bob Baskin Dam Association, for a resurvey by the Reclamation Bureau. Bandeen said this request was made in line with the criteria proposed by the WTCC which would give domestic water priority in all multi-purpose dam construction.

This program has been finding wide-spread approval in official circles and, according to Rep. George Mahon who says, "the thinking of the Bureau of Reclamation is undergoing a drastic change. The Bureau is enthusiastically supporting the Canadian project, even though it is almost exclusively a municipal water supply project."

Most of the inhabitants of New-foundland live by fishing, forestry or mining.

Art Instruction Given At Palette Club

Art Center Purposes Announced

The newly-formed Midland Art Center is composed of groups interested in different kinds of art making it easier to bring art and painting and the combination of these interests into one central organization will make possible more and better art exhibits as well as making it easier to bring art instructors to Midland, Mrs. H. L. Swords, membership drive chairman.

End Shirtfront Pleats At Hip For Gibson Girlish Waistline

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

How to have your pleated shirt front and your tiny waist too may mean ripping out a pleated shirt-tail and remaking it into a fitted hip-band.

If other women who want to look like a Gibson Girl in pleated shirts and slim skirts take this trouble, why can't you?

If you make your own blouses, you can eliminate a bulky shirt-tail when you cut and sew. Simply halt those rows of crisp pleats at the waistline and add a smoothly fitted hip-band to your blouse. You can use the same technique on the shirttail of a blouse that you already have.

Even the woman who can't sew can find somebody who can to rip the pleats out of a shirttail that adds bulk and remake it into a hip-band that fits as smoothly as her slip.

The Gibson Girl fashion implies a hand-spanning waistline. A woman who wants to look as tiny-waisted in her 1949 styled shirt-waist need not allow a bunch of pleats shoved under her skirt band to defeat her aim.

Membership in the center is open to everyone and a special invitation is made for students. Previous art training is not necessary and beginners are welcome in classes of all types. Mrs. Swords added.

Membership Open All Year

The Art Center, now in the formation stage, is starting a membership drive which will continue into the month of September. Membership is open during the year, however.

Actual organization of the center will take place in September and plans include opening new classes and enlarging existing ones. Out-of-city artists will be brought here to teach each year and art exhibits will be sponsored by the center. It also is planned that Midland artists will exhibit in shows in other cities.

New Class On Tuesday

Classes now are held in the Art Center, located in the Palette Club building, on Thursdays, both during the day and in the evening. A new addition to the center is the Tuesday night ceramics class which will begin at 8 p. m. Tuesday.

Information about the center may be obtained from Mrs. Swords or from Mrs. N. A. Lancaster.

Air-Conditioning Booming Business

NEW YORK — Air-conditioning business is booming, thanks to the hot weather and improved equipment, says the magazine Business Week.

All sizes of air-conditioners are being sold, ranging from room-size coolers to custom-designed skyscraper layouts.

Biggest boom is in less-expensive one-room air conditioners, says the publication. In the first six months of 1949, manufacturers shipped 65,000 units, which is more shipments than for any previous full year except 1948. By the end of 1949, last year's record 73,638 will have been passed by a large margin.

WORLD WAR I BABY

The Republic of Czechoslovakia was created after World War I and Independence declared on Oct. 28, 1918. The republic was made up of Bohemia, Slovakia, Moravia, Silesia, and several northeast Hungarian counties.

Top Clown Of France Keeps 'Em Laughing At Age Of 69

PARIS—(NEA)—Honoring veteran entertainers with film biographies, like "The Jolson Story," seems to be catching. Now France is doing it with the beloved musical clown, Grock, as the hero of the piece.

Grock—his real name is Charles Adrien Westach—has made two generations of Europeans and a smattering of Americans happy with his gay clowning, his grotesque costumes, his collection of weird musical instruments.

Now 69, the veteran star of music halls and circuses is still going strong. Without his grease paint, he looks like a retired professor. But once he sneers his make-up on his long, rather sad-looking face, he's all clown.

Grock would probably have followed in his father's footsteps as a watchmaker had not a small traveling circus set up its tent near his native village, Reconville, on the Franco-Swiss border, when he was eight.

The boy went home dreaming of flip-flaps, handspings, tight-rope walking and clowning, all of which he immediately began to practice in the parterre back yard. About the same time, young Charles was developing considerable musical talent.

"Father was known as the best yodeler for miles around," he recalls, "and Mother used to accompany him on the guitar. There was an ancient upright piano at home and already at five years old I had started picking out tunes by ear."

When he was 10, after he had seen his first "musical clown," he set to work building rudimentary musical instruments which were eventually to become the greatest attraction of his act.

"The first big moment in my life," declares Grock, "was when I replaced a tight-rope walker who was to perform one night in a neighboring village. The rope was stretched across the market place from the third-floor window of two houses."

"I negotiated it one way and, feeling rather proud of myself, I decided to repeat the act. The rope started sagging. Without a moment's hesitation I grabbed it with both hands and finished the trip this way. Never in my long career have I ever been so thrilled by applause as on that occasion."

Left School. When he left school at 14, Grock's father decided it was time he should think seriously of his future and forget clowning. He apprenticed him to a watchmaker to learn the trade. This lasted six weeks. For five years he job-hopped, working as waiter, pianist, and tutor.

But always in the back of his mind was the desire to join a real circus. In 1903, he finally was offered an engagement in an "eccentric musical act" and it was then he adopted the name of Grock. From then on, for close to 50 years, he toured in both circus and vaudeville.

Grock has appeared in every capital in Europe and before many crowned heads in command performances, with his acrobatic musical clowning act. His talent as a linguist—he speaks eight languages—has enabled him to put his patter over in every country where he has appeared.

The offer of a nine-week engagement took him to New York in 1920.

"Although the American public was sympathetic, my act did not go over as well as it did in the old country," comments Grock. "Maybe it was too European at that time. But I would love to have the opportunity of going back there. It's all a question of 'mazuma.'"

The year before the outbreak of World War II, Grock retired. But the attraction of the footlights proved too strong and, in 1947, he accepted a six-week engagement at the Cirque d'Hiver in Paris. He showed that, at 69, he could still make children and grown-ups laugh.

His life-story, "Au Revoir Monsieur Grock," is in reality, a plea for international peace and understanding. Co-starring with the old clown is Henry Cassidy, an American newscaster, in his familiar role of commentator of world events. Three school boys represent the children who invariably are the principal sufferers in all wars. Proceeds are being donated by Grock to French war orphans.

Marines' Ground Reserves Are Airborne For Summer

NEW YORK—(NEA)—When the Marine Reserves land this Summer, they'll land by air. The Corps' Organized Ground Marine Reserve will travel to and from Summer training camps by plane, for the first such mass movement.

The Marines decided to use air transportation for reserves for two reasons. First, the Reserves will get a look-see at the science of moving troops by air. Second, the use of planes will cut the travel time, thereby giving the Reserves more actual training days at the camps.

All told, some 12,700 Marine Reserves will be airlifted to and from camps at Camp Lejeune, N. C.; Camp Pendleton, Calif.; Little Creek, Va., and Quantico, Va. The longest single flight was the movement of the 14th Infantry Battalion, USMCR, from Camp Pendleton to its home base at Houston, Texas.

The largest number of troops to be transported in one flight is the 3rd Infantry Battalion of St. Louis, Mo., which flew from Norfolk, Va., to St. Louis with 372 troops.

Although this will be the first mass movement of Ground Reserves by air, Marine pilots have proved this to be a quick and safe means of transportation. During last year's Atlantic Fleet Exercises in the Caribbean, Marine pilots flew some 13,000 troops approximately 2,235,000 passenger miles to and from the maneuver area without a fatal accident.

The Marine Transport Squadrons, VMR-152, VMR-153 and VMR-252, who will carry the Reserve airlift, have flown a total of 72,812 hours since July, 1945, without a single accident.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1949, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
Drew Pearson says: Many Catholics do not approve Cardinal Spellman's criticism of Mrs. Roosevelt; Spellman had aspired to be the first American pope; City of Brotherly Love slips on international love.

WASHINGTON—What may have been a significant conference was scheduled in New York this week between Cardinal Mooney of Detroit and Cardinal Stritch of Chicago, who called on Cardinal Spellman.

What they planned to talk about is not known. But it is known that on the preceding evening, when the distinguished prelates from Chicago and Detroit attended a preview of the motion picture, "Come to the Stable," they did not appear happy over Cardinal Spellman's attack on Mrs. Roosevelt.

This brings up a highly important point now widely asked in both political and denominational circles, namely—did Cardinal Spellman speak for the Catholic Church or only for himself when he wrote his letter to Mrs. Roosevelt?

The answer, according to lay Catholic leaders and to Catholic newspapermen, may lie in the fact that Cardinal Spellman is not popular with various of the Catholic hierarchy. Catholic leaders interviewed this week pointed out that Spellman has jurisdiction only over the New York metropolitan area, excluding Brooklyn which is under the jurisdiction of Bishop Molloy.

They also pointed out that, despite this, the New York cardinal has shown great dexterity in placing his own friends in certain key spots where they can influence church policy. Recently he appointed one of his brothers, Father Thomas J. McCarthy, to be chief of the National Catholic Welfare Conference Information Bureau which distributes news to all Catholic papers.

Another of Spellman's proteges, J. Francis McIntyre, was appointed archbishop of Los Angeles, an appointment resented by many Southern California Catholics where the population is largely Italian and Mexican and not appreciative of an Irish clergyman all the way from New York. This is the first time an archbishop has been appointed to that area who could not speak Spanish.

First American Pope
Some years ago, Spellman wrote a speech for James Roosevelt to deliver at Springfield, Mass., in favor of the child labor law—a law opposed by Cardinal O'Connell of Boston. Spellman had served under O'Connell as his auxiliary bishop, and when Spellman was promoted to be archbishop of New York, a Catholic newspaperman congratulated Cardinal O'Connell. The much-loved prelate did not reply immediately. Finally, with a note of sadness, he said: "Francis epitomizes what happens to a bookmaker when you teach him how to write."

How many of the Catholic hierarchy have felt that Cardinal Spellman's frequent visits at the White House, his widely publicized magazine articles, and his various trips to Europe were part of a campaign to make him papal secretary and later the first American pope.

It is recalled that when the American cardinals-designate went to the Vatican to receive their red hats, Spellman alone was kissed by the pope. At that time, the late Cardinal Glennon of St. Louis remarked to Congressman Joseph Casey of Massachusetts, who accompanied him to Rome:

"I hear Spellman wants to be papal secretary. He'll have us all in hot water."

That many Catholics fear, is now what has happened. They point to the constantly growing Ku Klux Klan and to the booming sales of Paul Blanshard's book, "American Freedom and Catholic Power." The book received almost no reviews in the press, while even advertisements were banned by the New York Times. Nevertheless, the book has gone into its fifth printing since Cardinal Spellman's blast against Congressman Barden of North Carolina. And since his attack on Mrs. Roosevelt, the sales have skyrocketed.

All of which is why, in fairness, to all Catholics, it should be noted that Cardinal Spellman appears to represent only one segment of his church.

In two widely separated American cities, attempts are being staged to encourage people-to-people friendship—the only sure way to prevent war.

In Philadelphia is located the oldest international house in the country, established to house and encourage foreign students in the United States.

Temperatures are as hot as the temperatures these days of Capitol Hill, with usual parliamentary politeness broken by flashes of anger.

Two sparring partners, often at each other's throats, are Senate Majority Leader Scott Lucas of Illinois and Senator Pat McCarran of Nevada, both Democrats. It's got to a point where they don't even take the trouble to expunge their heated remarks from the record.

Latest furore was over the watchdog committee supposed to keep an eye on the Marshall Plan. Created by the Republicans, the committee is now chaired by McCarran, and when Lucas argued that the committee was costing too much money, the senator from Nevada flared up.

"I think it would be well," he piped, "for the senator from Illinois to have some conception of the law before he says this committee is trying to branch out all over the world."

"I did not ask the senator from Nevada for that," snapped McCarran.

"I am giving it to him because I like the senator from Nevada, and he is a great lawyer," Lucas replied, sweetly. "I would not, under any circumstances, attempt to compete with the great legal ability he exercises on the floor of the Senate."

At this the Nevada puffed up and exploded: "The sarcasm of the Senator from Illinois . . ."

But Lucas cut him off with a sharp: "I did not yield for that!"

"The senator was addressing me personally," squeaked McCarran. "Will he not yield?"

"I decline to yield. I hope the senator understands it!" snapped the majority leader.

"I do understand it!" yelled McCarran.

Finally Wisconsin's Alexander Wiley, leader of the weekly worship hour for spiritual-minded senators, broke in.

"Peace, brethren, peace!" he soothed.

Natural Gas May Strike

The natural gas lobby seems to have concluded that John L. Lewis is not the only controller of fuel who can strike. In telegrams to congressmen, the lobby has threatened to shut off the nation's natural gas—unless Congress passes a bill exempting independent producers from federal regulation.

The warning was sent to members of the House Commerce Committee just before they were scheduled to meet on the bill. Signed by Richard Wagner, president of the Chicago Corporation—a holding company which holds the purse strings to many natural gas companies—the telegram said:

"We are convinced that failure to pass this bill would mean hardship to consumers generally, as most producers are determined to avoid any sale in interstate commerce until the natural gas act is clarified."

This threatened strike by producers is the climax of a long, bitter struggle by the natural gas lobby against federal regulation. The present bill, introduced by Senator Bob Kerr of Oklahoma and Congressman Owen Harris of Arkansas, is a watered-down version of the famous Moore-Risley bill which would have boosted rates. Kerr and Harris are now asking that the Federal Power Commission not be permitted to regulate producers until they deliver the gas into an interstate pipeline.

"That is why we switched to Clinton oats which was resistant to Helminthosporium as well as other diseases," he explains. "However, the Tama and Boone varieties did not run out. They were still as resistant to the other diseases as at the start."

Hybrid corn, he says, is a clear case of a plant that literally runs out after the first year. However, hybrid corn is not a true crop variety, Johnson says. It cannot breed true.

'Runout' Breeds Are Termed Myth

DES MOINES, IOWA—(AP)—The belief that some crop varieties "run out" is a myth, says I. J. Johnson, head of the farm crops department at Iowa State College.

It has sprung, he said, from the speed with which some new crop varieties have replaced the old in recent years. The belief is that certain varieties of self-pollinated crops may break down after a few years of replanting in a particular area.

"It's biologically impossible for oats or any other self-pollinated crop to run out in the sense that this term is ordinarily used," he says. In the case of Tama and Boone varieties of oats, Johnson said, these varieties were resistant to most of the diseases that were bothering oats at the time they were developed. Than Helminthosporium blight blossomed into a serious disease for oats and Tama and Boone were susceptible to it.

"That is why we switched to Clinton oats which was resistant to Helminthosporium as well as other diseases," he explains. "However, the Tama and Boone varieties did not run out. They were still as resistant to the other diseases as at the start."

Hybrid corn, he says, is a clear case of a plant that literally runs out after the first year. However, hybrid corn is not a true crop variety, Johnson says. It cannot breed true.

Human Tissue Grows Under Cellophane To Fight Cancer

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Two important strides will be made this Summer in the fight against cancer. One will be in the laboratory. Its effects may not be known for years. The other will be in the direct treatment of cancer sufferers.

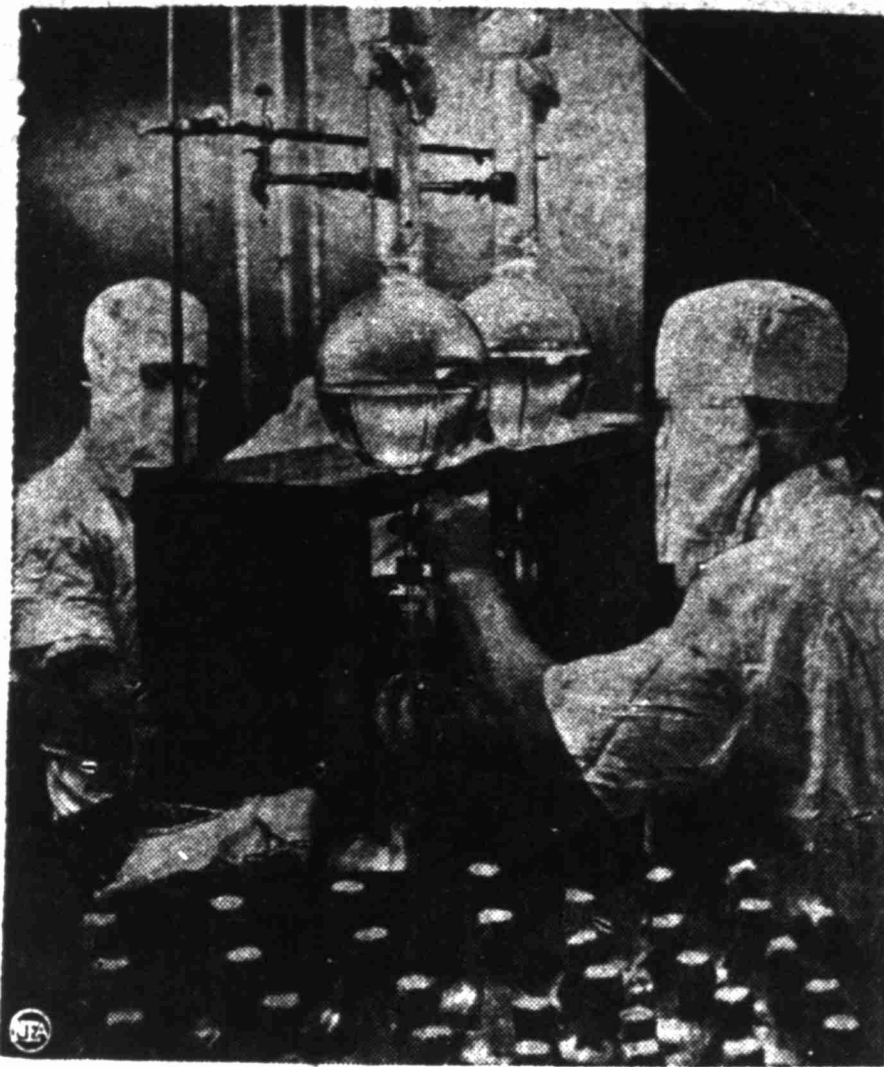

Starting this Summer, "cobalt 60," a cheap substitute or equivalent of radium, will become available in increasing quantities from the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission.

There is nothing new in the use of radio-active materials to fight cancer. But, up until now, radium has been practically the only radio-active substance available for this purpose. Its extreme rarity and high cost have kept it from being used as widely on cancer patients as doctors would have liked. At present, doctors can only save about 25 per cent of cancer vic-times. The widespread use of cobalt 60, alone, although extremely important, will only inch up that percentage. The use of X-ray and radio-active materials are only the second-best methods of fighting the disease. Surgery, cutting the cancer out, is still considered the most effective treatment.

First Big Step
The big step that is to be taken in the laboratory is the one that doctors hope will add most to their ability to conquer the disease, in the long run.

According to Dr. John R. Heller, Director of the National Cancer Institute of the U. S. Public Health Service, the development of the technique of growing human tissue culture under cellophane—as a tool in research—has been the greatest single accomplishment in the whole field in several years. Several chemicals, says Dr. Heller, have been discovered that have various abilities to kill cancer cells in animals. The crucial work of testing these chemicals on human tissue cultures under cellophane will begin this Summer. At best, it will take years before any positive results can be obtained from this new line of research, Dr. Heller explains. At worst, it could easily lead up a blind alley.

In the laboratory of the U. S. Public Health Service's National Cancer Institute, scientists begin the delicate job of testing new chemicals on human tissue grown under cellophane.

They can't be tested on human beings, because the scientists don't know if they are dangerous to healthy human cells. Only after the most careful experiments on the cultures will it be possible to start testing on people.

Seek Wonder Drug
Finding the "wonder drug" which will cure all types of cancer is the ultimate goal of this particular branch of research. But millions are being spent and great scientific effort is being put into the cancer fight in many different directions.

Great progress has been made in the quick detection of the disease. This is of vital importance, because the quicker it is discovered in a person the easier it is to cure. Newest and most effective method of early diagnosis yet devised is the cytologic test, an extremely complicated, but 90 per cent accurate method.

A simple blood test to show the presence of cancer in a person is the goal of this line of work. There are encouraging promises of such a test being perfected. To date one hasn't been developed which is accepted by the general body of cancer specialists.

Great Progress In Surgery
In the actual treatment of cancer victims, the refinement and improvement of surgery in general has provided the greatest progress. That includes better anesthetics, better methods of controlling infection and improved operating room procedures. Big strides have been taken in lowering the death rate among women who get breast cancer. This is due largely to an educational campaign which has caused women to go to doctors when they first detect symptoms.

The darkest side of the picture is the increase in lung cancer. Some authorities attribute it to environmental factors, such as industrial wastes in the air or fumes from automobiles. A great deal of effort has been put on this aspect of the problem recently.

Next year, the government will spend about $22,000,000 in the fight against this disease. Private organizations will spend almost an equal amount.

Pharaoh's Daughters Get Yankee New Look

AP Newsfeatures

CAIRO, EGYPT—Western visitors in the land of the Nile are rubbing their eyes over this one—Egyptian girls in Yankee shorts!

Once a week at the Wilcox Sporting Club of picturesque Gezira Island, where the Nile passes through the heart of Cairo, you'll see Pharaoh's modern daughters clad in spotless white shorts and blouses, doing precision calisthenics.

The young ladies, numbering well over 200, and between the ages of 18 and 22, are learning to become teachers for Egypt's public school system up and down the Nile. They attend one of the Egyptian Ministry of Education's five teachers' colleges in Cairo. There they learn hygiene, dancing, first aid, anatomy, nursing and physical education, together with a well rounded teaching course, aided by funds earmarked for this purpose by the Ministry of Education.

New Era For Women
It's a new era for Egypt's women, who for 60 centuries have been literally "entombed" in the home.

Egyptian teen-agers are not stopping with teaching. At the University of Cairo, halfway between Cairo and the Great Pyramids, girls are learning agriculture. Under the supervision of trained agronomists, the girl students learn why the Valley of the Nile grows three crops a year on the same land, and how to grow the world's largest cauliflower.

They learn horticulture, including such practical experience as pruning of fruit trees. At the University's model farm they are taught bee culture and how modern methods have increased the bee's honey output to 20 times.

Hard To Find Male Doctor
Surprisingly enough many Egyptian girls are taking up law and medicine. There are no longer any restrictions or distinctions between male and female students in these fields. In fact, the Egyptian Government is encouraging women to follow these careers.

The Ministry of Public Health has established over 200 hospitals and health centers in the provinces and 86 general hospitals in the larger cities with posts open to men and women doctors equally. At King Fuad Hospital in Cairo it's hard to find a male doctor. Dr. Kokab Nassaf, brisk young woman surgeon, heads a staff composed almost entirely of women practitioners.

There are now over 500 Egyptian women lawyers. There is probably less male prejudice in Egypt against women practicing law or medicine, or any other career, than would be found elsewhere.

It costs the average motorist about $67 a year in automobile and gasoline taxes. Daily, this is cost of a package of cigarettes.

The Iceman Cometh To The Rescue

Ralph Bailey of a Ludlow, Mass., ice company makes a stop at an artificial pond each day and delivers a half ton of ice to the fish. So far, according to Al Fuller, who built the pond, the stunt has saved many fish from death in the tepid water. Young bathers on hand don't seem to object to lowering the temperature of the water either.
