Pipe Shortage Limits Operations Of Texas Independent Oil Operators

AUSTIN—E. I. Thompson, executive vice president of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association, Saturday blamed the acute shortage of steel for the small reserve of oil in the nation.

"That we do not have today the safety margin between demand and maximum rate of production which existed before the war," Thompson said, "is in no wise due to any shortage of oil in this country, but can be directly attributed to an acute shortage of casing and tubing."

"Yet, in spite of this desperate shortage for drilling by independent producers in America, our Washington officials continue to permit major companies with foreign concessions to export pipe at the current unprecedented rate of more than 320,000 tons annually."

Results of an association survey of tubular requirements of independent producers in Texas, he explained, clearly indicate that the real obstacle to more than adequate oil production is the shortage of steel being made available to independent operators.

Tall Teen-Agers: Turn Every Extra Inch Into Beauty Asset

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

If sudden beanstalk growth pushes you up above your teenage pals, don't stoop in apology. Be proud of your newly-acquired height.

This is the advice of towering models who turn every extra inch into a beauty asset. They remind you to pull yourself up to your full height; to scorn any posture that permits shoulders to droop.

On the subject of clothes and make-up, here is tall-girl advice. Dress simply. Clothes with soft lines rather than strictly tailored ensembles promise to keep the big girl looking as feminine as her petite sister. Scale your accessories to your height—big purses, broad belts, massive jewelry will do your Junoesque frame proud.

Because a tall gal draws eyes like a magnet, good grooming is a must. Wear a simple hair-do that is easy to keep neat and shining. Don't wear it too close to your head. Keep your complexion glowing, eyebrows shaped to a clean natural line, mouth lightly rouged—mother permitting—to follow natural lip contours.

Kermit Bride Is Shower-Tea Honoree

KERMIT—Mrs. Earl Beshers, the former Uradean Drennan, who was married recently in New Mexico, was honor guest Wednesday afternoon at a bridal shower and tea in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Thompson. Mrs. Beshers is a member of the Kermit school faculty.

Eight hostesses formed the receiving line, poured tea and presided in the gift room. They were Mrs. E. G. Blundell, Mrs. W. T. Varnell, Mrs. G. M. Martin, Mrs. J. M. House, Mrs. Thompson, Miss Amber Graves, Miss Mollie Carter and Miss Lois Miller.

Appointments were in pastel colors and the honoree was presented a corsage of Tallisman roses.

Forming the receiving line were Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Beshers, Mrs. House, and Miss Miller, Mrs. Martin, Mrs. Varnell, and Miss Carter presided at the tea table, and gifts were shown by Miss Graves and Mrs. Blundell.

The guest list was composed chiefly of school teachers in the system or wives of faculty men.

Midland Career Women—
Mrs. Gladys Tolbert: Career Woman With 446 'Little Ones'

Approximately 446 children have year in Summer school. None of those long, Summer vacations for Mrs. Tolbert. She feels she should and that adds up to about 446 joys for their principal, Mrs. Gladys N. Tolbert, whose favorite hobby is loving children and helping them out of all their difficulties.

Being a principal may be "like a three-ring circus," but with "the best crowd" in town, Mrs. Tolbert is one of the luckiest and happiest career women that a person could meet.

The tiny little lady came to Midland from Palestine, Texas, in 1913, when they had the little eight-room red schoolhouse where the Scout Hall used to be. She has just about made the rounds of schools in Midland and has gathered many, many pleasant memories of many, many children. Having majored in Spanish and history at the University of Texas, she taught school in Houston and Palestine, and then taught Spanish and history in the Midland High School; taught social studies in the Midland Junior High School, and for the last three years has been principal of North Elementary.

No Summer Vacations
Being a principal now does not mean that Mrs. Tolbert gets out of touch with the teaching end of school work, for she teaches every year in Summer school. None of those long, Summer vacations for Mrs. Tolbert. She feels she should and that adds up to about 446 joys for their principal, Mrs. Gladys N. Tolbert, whose favorite hobby is loving children and helping them out of all their difficulties.

Before parents misjudge principals, perhaps they had better have knowledge of their duties. Here are just a few of Mrs. Tolbert's feelings that the teachers are supplied, outlining the program for the building, overseeing for the cafeteria program, seeing that all school policies are carried out, outlining the literary and the recreational activities, being general supervisor over the entire program of the building, seeing that every child is comfortable and has every opportunity.

The North Elementary principal says the teaching profession is one you must know before you judge it, and she believes that at present the pendulum is turning and more people are entering the profession.

Her ambition is to hear a child say, "Mrs. Tolbert has taught me longer than any teacher I ever had, and she was fair to me the whole time."

Other Interests, Too
Of course, Mrs. Tolbert has other hobbies and interests, mainly her husband. She loves to cook and keep house for him at their home at 202 West Louisiana Street. Mrs. Tolbert has taught many boys and girls, and she feels that every bit of help she has given has been repaid manifoldly in the respect of the people of Midland. But the people of Midland wonder whether a person like Mrs. Tolbert can ever be repaid.

Congratulations To:

New Officers Named By Alathean Class

Mrs. J. E. Bob Hill, 1208 West Illinois Street, was hostess at a "coke" party Friday morning for the Alathean Class of the First Baptist Church.

During a business meeting under the direction of Mrs. C. M. Goldsmith, president, the following officers were elected: Mrs. G. G. ### Asbury Church Forms Wesleyan Guild; Officers Elected

The Asbury Methodist Church organized a Wesleyan Service Guild unit September 2 at a meeting under the direction of Mrs. O. M. Luton, who was assisted by Miss Tommie Smith, both of the First Methodist Church.

The following officers were elected: Mrs. Ruth E. McGraw, president; Mrs. J. W. Pace, vice president; Mrs. Arthur Beggs, recording secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Frances Frazier, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. J. A. Andrews, coordinator.

Mrs. Luton served iced refreshments to those present.

The next meeting of the unit will be a social event held jointly with the WSCS of the church on Monday evening, September 15.

Parent-Teachers Association Resumes Activities; Officers And Committee Chairmen Plan Programs

By BEVERLY LITTLEJOHN

When the school bells over the country rang, the Parent-Teachers Association, as an essential part of the American educational system, resumed its activities. It isn't just another civic club. As the teaching profession is dedicated to the guidance of the youthful minds, so the National Congress of Parents and Teachers is dedicated to the welfare of the whole child, wherever he may be.

Mrs. L. G. Byerley

In a recent poll made by the Institute of Student Opinion Poll, questionnaires were sent out to a cross-section of the country asking, "In your opinion, which of the following influences your thinking to the greatest extent—parents and family, school teachers, close friends (the gang), community and student opinion, magazines and newspapers, radio, movies, school books or church?" From the more than 100,000 answers, the parents take a bow with newspapers rating second. By summing up the percentage received by family (38), teachers (5), school books (1), and community and student opinion (6), we get a total of 50 per cent. The lesson is clear: that parents and teachers working together can be the chief forces in shaping the thoughts and ideas of today's young people.

Do you know your local P-TA? At the top of the pyramid are the officers of this, the sixteenth district. From Midland, Mrs. J. J. Black serves as the district vice president. Mrs. Black, who was president of the North Elementary P-TA during 1940-1941 and 1946-1947, is the first life member in the sixteenth district of Texas.

Mrs. L. W. Leggett

Mrs. L. G. Byerley, who is sixteenth district chairman, has served six and one-half years on the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers board. Having been associated with the Midland organization the last 10 years, she has served as City Council president, district president, and state vice president. During her term as state vice president, she traveled 38,000 miles in Texas. In appreciation of her service, Mrs. Byerley has been presented with a life membership.

The Midland P-TA is under the direction of a City Council, with Mrs. L. W. Leggett, president. Other officers are: Mrs. Lamar Lunt, vice president; Mrs. F. D. Grant, secretary; and Mrs. W. M. Bumpass, treasurer.

City Council committee heads are: Mrs. Earl Chapman, publications; Mrs. Byerley, procedure and by-laws; Mrs. Black, study; Mrs. J. M. Devereux, health; Mrs. J. S. Griffith, goal of excellence; Mrs. George Gibson, historian; and Mrs. O. L. Stalcup, publicity and radio.

Representing each school in the council are: high school, Franck Monroe, superintendent; C. F. Mathews, principal; Mrs. Harry Rhodes, president; and Mrs. Bernice Cox, representative; John M. How can we expect Americans to aid the starving and sick of Europe if they cannot come to the aid of their own local children who are ill-clothed and ill-fed? The Children's Service League is leading for the children of Midland who can't have an even break at education because they have no clothes to wear to school. Citizens are urged to give something, even a pair of mended socks would be appreciated. Just call Mrs. Alan Leggett, 227 N. BACK TO SCHOOL. # LOST 42 POUNDS WITHOUT DIETING

The following remarkable story shows conclusively that Barcentrate DOES take off fat.

It contains nothing harmful. In fact, it contains ingredients that make you feel better. No starvation diet—no weakness—no hunger.

Barcentrate, the original grapefruit juice recipe takes off fat quickly, safely and you can eat plenty.

Here is Proof

"When I started taking Barcentrate, I weighed 212 pounds and wore size 46 dresses. Now I wear size 18 and weigh 165 pounds. I started taking Barcentrate in March and by June I had lost 47 pounds. I would have lost more weight had I left off eating fatty foods, but I was anemic at that time and afraid to diet. People who knew me before I started taking Barcentrate are amazed at the weight I have lost. My flesh is firm; I have never become flabby or wrinkled and I am 40 years old.

"Before taking Barcentrate I couldn't do my house work without becoming exhausted; had dizzy spells and my head and back hurt me constantly. I was so short winded, I was miserable. But now all those things have gone and it is really a pleasure to do the chores I once dreaded.

"Three years ago I nearly died with Typhus fever and it left me anemic and I could never get my blood count up again or get back my energy. After taking Barcentrate my blood count started up and is now normal. So you see why I praise Barcentrate so highly and recommend it. Any praise I can give Barcentrate is small compared to the relief and happiness it has brought me." — Mrs. Eula Whitehead, 502 Harmon, Corpus Christi, Texas.

At All Druggists

The above is one of hundreds of amazing endorsements we have received.

If you are overweight and want to take off ugly fat, just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonfuls twice a day. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, safe, easy way to take off weight, return the empty bottle for your money back.

Prefab Industry's Production Mark Falls Below Goal

By MAX HALL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some day hundreds of thousands of homes may be mass-produced on the assembly line, like autos. But that day is not here yet.

Prefabricated houses—houses made in factories and shipped in pieces to the site—have been produced more slowly than expected.

When Wilson Wyatt was federal housing expediter, he set up the following production goals: 250,000 prefabricated homes in 1946, and 600,000 in 1947.

But the office of the housing expediter says that only 37,200 prefabricated houses were made in 1946 and only 12,275 were made in the first six months of 1947.

One of the factors in his resignation last December was a fight with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Wyatt insisted that the R.F.C. make more loans to people who wanted to enter the prefabricated industry.

Another obvious reason for the slow progress of the industry was the shortage of lumber, nails, and almost all materials, especially during 1946 and the early part of 1947.

Harr, H. Steidle, manager of the Prefabricated Home Manufacturers Institute, meeting the 1946 shortage of materials; the continuing shortage of plywood; the high prices of materials; and the fact that building codes in some cities hinder the erection of "prefabs."

He also blames "buyer resistance." This amounts to saying that people haven't taken to prefabricated houses as readily as was expected.

Steidle said part of this "buyer resistance" was caused by the Federal Housing Administration because it encouraged people to avoid buying homes of all sorts at present prices.

He said some of the "buyer resistance" is caused by the fact that the industry is new and hasn't yet accustomed the public to the idea of prefabricated homes.

So far, prefabricated homes aren't selling cheaper than other homes, but Steidle says they can be built more efficiently and therefore will be cheaper later.

... It Followed Her To School One Day ...

Mary Anne Fannon, center, 8-year-old Jackson Heights, N. Y., girl, decided that it would be a nicer world, especially on the first day of school, if nursery rhymes came true. So Mary Anne and "Baa Baa" showed up at St. Joan of Arc Parochial School. But "Baa Baa" looks like he'd prefer to take it on the lamb.

If Stomach Gas or Sour Food Taste Robs You of Sleep

Here's How You May Help, Whether You Eat 500 Pounds or 2000 Pounds of Food in a Year

You can't feel cheerful, be happy and sleep well, if your stomach is always upset. As age advances the "old stomach" needs more help. The reason is this: Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains very special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with overdoses of soda and other alkalis to counteract gas and bloat when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people SSS Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of SSS Tonic from your drug store today. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Directors Of Cattle Raisers Group To Meet Here Thursday And Friday

When members of the board of directors of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association hold their quarterly meeting here Thursday and Friday, the nation's greatest grazing areas and perhaps its most powerful regional agricultural organization will be represented by the gathering.

It will mark the third time in 30 years of ranching here that the organization has selected Midland as a meeting place, Roy Parks said Saturday. He and H. G. Bedford, Sr., are members of the board. The association met here in 1928 and again in 1935, Parks recalled.

One of the meeting's highlights is expected to be a discussion by Chancellor Weymouth, president of the association, of foot and mouth disease control measures in Mexico. He is a member of the advisory board, appointed by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson to study the epidemic of the disease in Mexico and make recommendations toward its eradication.

Also expected to attend the session are D. W. Williams and J. C. Miller, of the Texas A&M College

Plans Complete For Officers Training School In Midland

Plans are nearing completion for the FBI-sponsored Law Enforcement Officers Training School to be held in Midland September 22-30. Sheriff Ed Darnell and Chief of Police Jack Ellington said Saturday.

Classes will be held from 2 to 6 p. m. daily in the Midland County Courthouse, and will feature instruction in the Texas Uniform Traffic Code and investigative techniques and methods.

Capit C. O. Layne, Pecos, patrolman Hovey Blackmon, Midland, of the Texas Department of Public Safety, will give the classes on the traffic code. The instruction in investigative techniques and procedures and advanced type of training in criminal investigation will be given by Fred T. McIntire, assistant special agent in charge of the FBI at El Paso. The final session on September 30 will be devoted to the annual FBI Law Enforcement Conference, featuring a movie illustrating the Art of Revolver Shooting, Practical Examples of Police Photography and the Techniques of Developing Secret Writing.

A barbecue will be held the last day of the school.

Darnell and Ellington said all law enforcement officers in this area are invited and urged to attend.

faculty, and Judge Joe G. Montague, attorney for the association.

The business meeting will convene at 9:30 a. m. Friday in the Schenbauer Hotel. It is expected to adjourn by noon, and the group will go to the Parks ranch for a barbecue. A dance for the visiting cattlemen will be given at the Schenbauer Thursday night.

Approximately 100 reservations already have been made at the hotel, Parks said, and indications are the meeting will be well attended by the directors and special guests. There are 60 members on the association's board of directors.

Brownwood Men Buy Conner's Cafeteria

D. A. Johnston and M. T. Woodward, formerly of Brownwood, Saturday announced the purchase of Conner's Cafeteria from B. J. and Ethel Conner who established the eating place at the corner of Wall and Lokley Streets here.

The new owners have had 12 years' experience in the cafe business in Brownwood. They said they investigated many cities in Texas, New Mexico and Colorado and finally chose Midland as a business location because of its future and the friendliness of its people.

Both are married, and have one child each. Johnston's son is a senior in Midland High School. Woodward is 32nd Degree Mason and Shriner.

No changes in policy or personnel are contemplated by the new owners.

Dirt, Squirt And Quirt

— FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS —

By Stanley Frank

It was said here last week that fewer West Texas calves are going directly to feed lots than ever before. Instead, the calves are going from ranches here to winter grazing areas where they will gain some weight and maturity before being put on grain.

This sort of thing has been going on since the war began, but never to such an extent as this year, cattlemen said.

The explanation, of course, is tied up with the fabulously high price of grain. Feeders have little inclination, under present market conditions, toward the long-term feedings required to finish a 450-pound calf. Instead, they'd rather have a heavier, older animal which has been "warmed up" or even fattened in a relatively short time.

Speaking of feed, predictions are it will be high and scare again this winter. Dealers here say they can't get any assurance from mills regarding supplies or prices. One ranchman said he had been promised an adequate supply of cottonseed cake, but this was from a mill with which he has been doing business for a long time and which has always taken care of him. However, he has no idea what the feed will cost him when it is delivered.

Andrew Faskin got a good rain on his ranch just east of Sierra Blanca last week, a traveler from Midland to El Paso reported. He said it rained so much it washed out the railroad four or five miles east of Sierra Blanca, and a bulldozer working on the railroad near the ranch house on the Faskin ranch bogged down.

John A. Andrews sold several cattle at the auction Thursday, including: a 490-pound heifer at $26.10; a 520-pound steer at $20.60; a 410-pound steer at $18.90; and a 345-pound steer at $16.40.

J. T. Boothman, general manager of the "World Championship All-Palomino Show" to be held at Fort Worth September 17-22, last week was quoted by the Associated Press as saying, startlingly enough, that nobody knows what color a Palomino should be.

He also was quoted as saying a Palomino is not a breed of horse, but simply a color. A Palomino might be any breed, he told the AP writer.

"According to the rules," Boothman said, "a perfect Palomino is the color of a newly-minted gold coin. But no one knows exactly the color of such a coin."

"We've consulted artists and photographers, but they tell us that gold is the most delicate color in the world."

"We had famous artists draw up color charts to show the color of a newly-minted coin and the three shades lighter and three shades darker. That didn't work, either."

Here in Midland, we consulted Butler Hurley. He has some Palominos and likes 'em. But he said the judges at Fort Worth would have to get along as best they could—he wasn't going to try to explain that gold coin business to them.

Speaking of the Palomino show in Fort Worth...

A truck and trailer with California license plates were parked on the street in Midland the other night. In the truck were a lot of harness and saddles and one of those shiny little buggies you see around the up-town shows.

In the trailer, bound for Fort Worth, were two sleek Palominos. Very pretty.

Behind the trailer were the owners of the outfit. They were talking rapidly about horses and horsemanship to a little group of curious Midlanders. The man wore a moustache and goatee. The lady wore jodhpurs.

"Now me, the man was saying, 'I'm awfully keen about a pony going wherever I want to put him. If there's an elephant standing out there and I want the pony to hit him, I want him to hit hard!'"

The writer overheard this remark and stole home to think it over. The conclusion was inescapable:

The Wild and Woolly West, folks, has not yet passed away.

Crane Brotherhood Has Night Meeting

CRANE—Four Odessans were guests of the First Baptist Brotherhood Tuesday night, with the Rev. Jimmy Dolan, pastor of the Emmanuel Baptist Church, Odessa, as guest speaker. The roster of officers was completed for the new year.

E. J. Wasson, president, and James Edwards, treasurer, were elected by the church last week at the recommendation of the brotherhood, and the three vice presidents named Tuesday night were: first and enlistment chairman, K. H. Gray; second and program chairman, Neal Lauderback; third and social chairman, L. L. Greenfield.

Refreshments were served to Willie Schultz, Guy Martin, and Mr. Deaton of Odessa and to J. A. Boyer, O. O. Ervin, W. R. Crownover, George Ashburn, Gray, the Rev. H. D. Christian, W. V. Stoll, J. R. # Oveta Culp Hobby Says Britain Will Survive Crisis

HOUSTON—(AP)—First hand impressions of the problems of nations, large and small, in their peacetime struggles of economy and diplomacy have been published in the Houston Post by Oveta Culp Hobby, its executive vice president, who recently completed a 13-day plane trip around the globe.

Mrs. Hobby, former director of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps, told her readers of meeting Prime Minister Attlee in London, Gen.issimo Chiang Kai-shek in Nanking, and of her personal observations in England, Turkey, Arabia, India, Siam, the Philippines, China, Japan, Guam, and Hawaii.

Of Attlee, she said, "he gave the impression of being very timorous and wary. His attitude was not so much one of fear of the American press, but rather of uncertainty as to the present conditions of Great Britain and its future policy. One gets the impression that Britain has been through the hoop a bit."

Despite prolonged problems resulting from the war and a continued critical food shortage, "England will win her way through," Mrs. Hobby said, "but the solution will not come this year or next. She may be down for the count of five, but she will never take the count of 10."

The "psychology" of a border state was observed by Mrs. Hobby in Istanbul, Turkey.

"As Asia is separated from Europe by the Bosphorus, so Turkey's psychology reflects the contiguous geographic position and its inevitable influences," Mrs. Hobby wrote. "Turkey's awareness of Russian expansion is based on previous experience rather than ultra-nationalistic prejudices. There is small wonder that one finds the people who inhabit Turkey to be realistic, par-

Dallas Company Plugs Songs For Texans

DALLAS—(AP)—A new Dallas company has announced a policy of helping Texas song writers get their tunes on wax. In the past, it took a big name, contacts, and politics to crash big time.

But the Lone Star Publishing and Recording Company says it is following pure Texas philosophy—if a man is good, the rest doesn't matter.

Four new records just released are "The Texas Polka," "Down the Aisle of Life," "Whistles," and "Minnesota Moch." The recording was done in Dallas.

TEXAN PICKS COTTON HARD WAY—IN HURRY

PARIS, TEXAS—(AP)—Speaking of doing things the hard way, G. D. Davis of North Zulch deserves recognition.

He wrote The Paris News that he is 59 years old, and has one arm. "But in the fall of 1945 I picked 225 pounds of cotton in half a day on the Luther Poteet farm near Beardstown, with one hand."

HEALTH is the normal expression of life through the nervous system of your body, so naturally and completely expressed that you should not be aware of it at all, except for the joy of living.

DISEASE is the absence of ease and basically it is due to some disturbance to the nervous system. At some time you have had a fall or have wrenched your spine in such a way that a vertebra has become subluxated—that is, it has been displaced slightly so nerve channels are blocked in a measure.

The result is lowered resistance and discomfort. Pain comes as a protest or a warning that you need the services of a chiropractor to clear your nerve channels. Have the cause adjusted, as the following cases did, and you, too, will live more abundantly:

V. L. CASE NO. 14,973—Woman, age 28, a year before lost the use of one arm for a period of several weeks. Her arm still felt weak, her neck hurt, she had headaches, was nervous, did not sleep well. She gave a history of having fallen down steps a year previously. Under Chiropractic care the woman responded rapidly and now feels fine.

V. L. CASE NO. 12,024—Woman, age 37, had sinus trouble, headaches, earache and nervousness. Her appetite was poor, she had indigestion, a dead aching between the shoulders, and she slept poorly. After going to the chiropractor for a short time, she reported feeling the best she had in years.

When you don't feel right, you do not truly live all the days of your life and you need to consult a chiropractor for better health.

SAN JOSE, CALIF. —(AP)— The Santa Clara County Health Department reports a bit grimly that it was "seriously handicapped in handling a typhoid epidemic, due to lack of sufficient personnel; lack of an epidemiologist; lack of adequate transportation; lack of an adequate public health laboratory, and lack of equipment."

Aussies Boost Wheat Acreage This Year

MELECURNE —(AP)— An estimated 15,500,000 acres of Australia will be sown with wheat for the 1947-48 season. Commerce Minister Reginald Pellard said this acreage compared with 13,500,000 acres of wheat last season, and an average of 13,300,000 acres in the 10 years before the war.

In the 14th century, fifty-million people died of the plague.

British Face Hard Winter With Continued Ration Cut

By BERT BRANDT
LONDON —(NEA)— Peacetime London now is grimmer than the London I saw during the last German blitz of V-1 and V-2 bombs. The threat of sudden death is gone. But in its place there is less food, less pleasure, less energy.

The people of London have had seven years of austerity rations, and they show it. "I don't take as many snaps as I used to," a sidewalk photographer in Fleet Street told me. "So many austerity faces, you know."

Yes, Londoners retain their wartime courage and their traditional England-will-muddle-through philosophy. There are complaints, of course. There is some disappointment that we have not sent them more food. But the mood of the man in the street is not one of bitterness.

The most forthright criticism I have heard came from G. J. O'Connell, rehousing official of the London County Council. "New Plan Is Shocking"

"In the war," he said, "we had the common objective of getting the war over with, coupled with robust leadership. Now we have no objective and a dithering leadership. The new Austerity Plan is shocking. It is due to lack of planning on the part of the government."

"This winter will probably be the hardest England has ever known. Life for the average housewife is becoming unbearable."

Everyone here talks about food, or the lack of it, as they used to talk about the weather. All the housewives I've spoken to in the last few days agree that there is less variety in their peacetime diet and that the task of queuing up long hours for food and trying to plan meals is becoming increasingly burdensome.

Depend On Fish
A cook in a rest center put it: "We depend on fish so much now that England's stomach goes in and out with the tide."

The monotonous routine for thousands of London families is a small piece of meat for Sunday dinner, leftovers for Monday, then a little sausage, a few beans, and a bit of corned beef or fish to round out the week's main courses.

Under the new food cut a Londoner's daily basic ration will be an ounce of fats (oil kinds), an ounce and a half of sugar, and a quarter ounce each of cheese, and tea, and three-quarters of an ounce of bacon. Bread and vegetables, and an occasional tin of beans or fish necessarily form the backbone of the daily diet.

Rest Centers Operating
I was surprised to find the wartime Rest Centers still operating. During the bombings schools and other public buildings were requisitioned to house the temporarily homeless. Now they are the only shelter for hundreds of families caught in the postwar housing shortage.

An ex-soldier who has lived for several months under these conditions said bitterly: "This isn't much to come back to after six and a half years of fighting."

'Sir Galahad Junior' Makes Trouble In Argentina And Gets Results

BUENOS AIRES — "Sir Galahad Junior," is at it again. Ernesto Sambucetti, 17-year-old boxer, first came to prominence when he tried to halt the eviction of an old woman behind her rent payments. He beat up two policemen before reinforcements took him off to jail. A few days later he knocked out another policeman to escape. Then somebody told him about the boys in the reformatory, on an island in the Tigre Delta near here. The island is known to the more sensational press as "Devil's Island."

There have been recurrent investigations of conditions there, but young Ernesto took more direct action. Twenty youths escaped from the reformatory and found refuge on a farm. Police rearrested them and reported they said Sambucetti had helped them.

Perches On Tower
Police still wanted to talk to him about the mass escape when he showed up atop a 120-foot steel tower on the site of the new National Mortgage Bank.

Sambucetti wrapped himself in a big Argentine flag and threw down a note saying he would stay on the tower until President Peron promised to investigate the reformatory. Two workmen started up the tower to dislodge him, but returned when he threatened them with a pistol.

Finally a corporal of the Presidential Guard under a flag of truce climbed the tower and delivered a note promising the investigation.

Sambucetti came down, where there were police awaiting him in that matter of the damaged policemen and the mass escape. But while they were working on these affairs, President Peron ordered the promised investigation.

Barbarity Of War In India Shocks American Citizens

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
The barbarity displayed in the communal warfare between Hindus and Moslems in India has come as a shock to the average foreigner, who has been accustomed to gauging life in that great and mysterious sub-continent on the basis of acquaintance with its famous names and achievements.
We are given to thinking of India in terms of the Taj Mahal, adjudged by experts to be the world's most exquisite building. However, we don't realize that the "home" of the average inhabitant of this land of mystery is a mud hut whose outside is plastered with cow-dung which is drying in the sun for fuel to cook the thin gruel which is the main food of an ever hungry people. Few are literate.
Indians in general are treading the paths their ancestors trod centuries ago. Only 14 per cent of them above the age of five are literate, and anything beyond the ability to read and write simple letters is confined to a comparative few. The rank and file are deep in ignorance and superstition; they take their bodily ills and mental troubles to the spirit doctors who deal in lore of centuries past; their regard for human life (the other fellow's life isn't high, and the Moslem in many instances is quite ready to gamble his own existence against fate. Their code is an eye for an eye.
So the present bloody crisis, which Pandit Nehru characterizes as "analogous to war," can be attributed to a release of primitive passions in communities which long have been torn by religious and political differences.
Mentality Is High
The fury of the initial communal fighting has subsided greatly. Still one doesn't venture to predict what may be in store for the big peninsula before it has negotiated the passage from turmoil to peaceful independence. One can foresee the possibility of much more mourning in Moslem villages, and Hindu funeral pyres will tell their story of strife.
Despite all this we shall make a great mistake, it seems to me, if we jump to the conclusion that the peninsula isn't capable of self-rule. The mentality of the Indian is high, and he is capable of great things. The only way he can learn to govern is by governing. This transitional period may produce even greater storms than we have seen—possibly even all-out civil war—but your correspondent, having spent nearly a year in that country at various times, still believes there are the makings of a great power on the peninsula.
Octopi cannot walk or live out of water longer than about three hours.

British Government Must Convince Coal Mine Workers Of Their Error

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
There are always two sides to a dispute—a truth worth remembering in trying to read the stubborn minds of the British Yorkshire coal miners who continue to strike despite the fact that heavy production of coal is the logical blood transfusion needed to save England from utter economic collapse.
A week ago British Foreign Secretary Bevin, who also is one of the country's foremost labor leaders, declared that if the nation's workers were to avoid dictatorship they must combat the economic crisis by accepting drastic measures. He lauded the powerful Trades Union Congress for agreeing in principle to government direction of labor in peace-time if situations warranted it.
Still the week began with the grim Thorpe colliery—origin of the strike—again voting to continue, despite appeals by their Socialist government and union leaders to resume work. Many other miners are striking in sympathy and industries throughout the country are suffering. It is Britain's worst labor dispute in three years.
Why such a strike at one of the most fateful moments in England's history when the country is appealing to the United States for financial aid, and the American public is wondering (in view of the strike) whether John Bull is doing everything possible to help himself?
I'm looking back some 25 years when I investigated the appalling conditions which existed in many of the Welsh coal mines. Terrible privation, including stark hunger, prevailed in numerous areas, not only in Wales but in Northern Ireland. This was due in part to the pitifully low wages paid the men who spent much of their lives in darkness, and in part to the closing of collieries when the price of coal dropped below what seemed profitable to the owners.
It was a bad show. It was so bad, in fact, that the general strike of 1926 throughout Britain—the world's first general strike—was the outgrowth of a protracted walk-out of miners throughout the country for better wages and working conditions. The rest of labor joined them.
That brings us up to the Grimthorpe miners. They're striking, as I get it, largely because they still are living mentally in those harsh days. In refusing to mine an additional two feet of coal each shift they are fearful of losing advantages which they have gained, completely overlooking that they now are working for their own Labor government, which has nationalized the mines. They haven't become orientated towards changed conditions.
The miners obviously are wrong. Virtually all the rest of British labor says they are wrong, and it must be so. It now remains for labor leaders and the Labor Government to convince the mine workers of the error of their ways.

BERLIN — (AP) — Berlin, which is built on a sandy plain as flat as a pancake, will have its hills as fast as Germans can pile up the rubbish from its bomb ruins.

In planning the Berlin of the future, park planners have decided that the city can best be cleared by making "mountains" of the debris and then planting them with grass, trees and bushes.

The huge Nazi-built anti-aircraft towers scattered throughout Berlin which are being blasted to destroy their war potential will serve as a base for many of the hills.

'When In Love, Marry,' Says Judge After Hearing 100,000 Divorce Cases

By DAVE BOYER
CHICAGO (NEA) — "When you're in love, get married!" That's the advice of Judge Joseph Sabath for both young people and older people.

Judge Sabath should be the most pessimistic man in the world about marriage. In 20 years in the divorce branch of the Cook County Superior Court he has heard more than 100,000 divorce cases. He knows that one in every 3.5 marriages ends in divorce.

Undaunted by statistics, Judge Sabath is an incurable optimist about marriage and one of its most eloquent advocates.

He frowns on teen-age marriage, especially "gin marriages," as he calls three-day infatuations. And he recommends matrimony before age 26.

"But the main thing is to get married when you're ready and able to do it," Judge Sabath says, desk in a fatherly way, he adds, "Don't delay!"

Sabath Didn't Delay
Joseph Sabath didn't delay. Then, looking squarely across his fifty-nine years ago, as a 17-year-old Bohemian immigrant boy making $10 a week, he fell in love with Regina Mayer, 16. They slipped across the Illinois state line into Wisconsin and were married by a justice of the peace.

Today, Judge and Mrs. Sabath still get fun out of washing dishes together in their Chicago apartment.

"You can't pick me out as an average case though," the Judge hastens to point out. "I was blessed with a mighty good partner. The record shows we were a lucky exception. Many, many juvenile marriages don't work out so well."

Judge's Suggestions
For young couples contemplating matrimony, Judge Sabath has these suggestions:

1. Know each other well!
2. Know the family background of your sweetheart. Take the two families into your confidence, and obtain their blessing. If there is family reticence, find out why.
3. Be rational. Plan carefully. Know what you are going to do.
4. Have an impressive wedding ceremony. By impressive, Judge Sabath means a ceremony should be dignified and sincere, and that families should be present.
5. Have children.

For couples already married, he says, "Don't ever go to bed at night angry with each other. It is an emotional backlog of unsettled grievances that brings people into the divorce court."

Consider Children
He advises that the welfare of the children be considered first always.

"Everything else will take care of itself after that."

Judge Sabath gets his greatest enjoyment in life from reconciling couples who come to his court. "With the help of Almighty," he modestly states, "I've been influential in righting more than 5000 marriages."

The divorce court judge employs myriads of what he calls "not exactly illegal" methods to bring drifting marriage partners together again.

"There's not much in the law books on reconciliation. A judge is on his own in that respect."

His reconciliation efforts frequently include the children whom he uses to help parents see how much they really love each other.

However, the kindness and understanding in the judge's eyes are his chief stock in trade. Helping married people is his hobby.

Most adults prefer the colors red and blue. Green is the third choice and yellow last.

Show Your Interest

(An Editorial)

An interesting person is an interested one. We don't want to sit back and let the year pass without having learned something about our chief interests and without receiving a great deal of benefit and enjoyment from these things.

Let's all take part in the activities which are of the most interest to us individually, if they are sports, music, drama, or any of a number of things which are being offered in Midland High School this year.

Don't be a lazy "Sal" or "Sam," whichever the case may be, contented with getting your lessons and nothing extra out of school. Start now to have a lot of fun this year by participating in the activities of Midland High.

Five New Teachers At Midland High

Midland High School has five new teachers this year. They are: Miss Louise Poyd, who teaches Senior English in Room 304. She attended West Texas State Teachers College at Canyon and has taught 4 years at Follett, Electra, Sudan, Hot Springs, N.M., and Lehigh, Iowa. Her home is in Oklahoma.

James D. McKinney is the Chemistry and Physics teacher. McKinney attended Texas University and Abilene Christian College. He taught at ACC for a semester and during the summer. This is his first time to teach high school students. He served 2 years in the Navy and was at Okinawa on D-Day. Before being discharged he was sent to Japan. He is married and, believe it or not, he has a new place to live.

New Clothing Teacher

Mrs. G. E. Massey is the dark-haired teacher you'll find at the west end of the third floor where she teaches clothing. She went to school at John Tarleton Junior College at Stephenville and Texas State College for Women at Denton. Mrs. Massey has taught at Proctor, Gorman, Stephenville, Seagraves, West Elementary in Midland and substituted at Midland High School last year.

Her husband is principal of John M. Cawden Junior High.

Mrs. Massey stated, "The first four weeks we were here were very trying but now that we have our home I don't ever want to move away."

Our assistant coach and general science teacher is Audrey Gill. Coach Gill started his college education in 1940 and graduated in the spring of 1947. However, the Army Air Corps borrowed him for three years and assigned him to air education in the Pacific as a pilot. Coach Gill played football for the University of Texas four years and was captain of the 1946 team.

His home is in Sweetwater where his wife, Nancy, and their 2-year-old son are waiting until they can join him here.

Miss Ann Cummings, teacher of typing and shorthand, is from Fort Worth. She is a graduate of North Texas State College at Denton and taught at Masonic Hall in Fort Worth and at Locklar, Texas. She lives across the street from Midland High School.

Her greatest disappointment since she came to Midland was the loss of the last baseball game of the season.

Home Making Class Visits Midland Bakery

The third year economics class made a trip to a Midland bakery Friday in order to have a better knowledge on how to prepare different kind of breads. The class saw how bread is made on a commercial scale and that, in turn, gave them a better conception of large quantity cookery.

"We plan to make other field trips during the year as a means of knowing our community better," Miss Clyde Parmley, head of the foods department, said.

Midland Bulldogs To Play Brownfield Cubs

The Midland Bulldogs will play the Brownfield Cubs next Friday night in their first home game of the season.

The Bulldogs won over the Cubs, 19 to 0, at Brownfield last year. Brownfield followed this up by winning only a few games. Midland scored more points against Brownfield than any other team Brownfield played in 1946.

The Bulldogs will be supported by the largest group of students in this school's history.

Gerald Is Elected Editor Of Bulldog

Betty Joyce Gerald is the editor of the Midland High School Bulldog for the first semester. Emma Sue Cowden is news editor. Bob English sports editor, Lucille Wemple exchange editor, Marylee Cowden club and social editor, and Norma Jean Hubbard, feature editor.

1947 Graduates Go To College

Bob English Elected New Cheer Leader

Bob English was elected cheer leader for 1947-1948 to take the place of Larry Breeze, who could not be here this year.

Bob was born October 25, 1930, in Paducah, Texas, and moved to Midland in 1939. His hobby is painting. He claims his favorite pastime is eating, and his favorite food is roast turkey. His pet peeve is girls.

High School Has New Coordinator

Louis V. Spain is the new coordinator at Midland High School. His duties consist of keeping books for Midland High School, making out purchase orders, paying bills, making out the payroll, handling football ticket sales, and accompanying the football team on all out-of-town trips to take care of expenses.

Students To Occupy East Grandstand

C. F. Mathews, Midland High School principal, has announced that students will occupy the south end of the east grandstand at football games. The band and drill squad will occupy the middle section of the east grandstand. Student tickets for football games will be thirty cents this year.

STUDENTS GET FUMES FROM CHEMISTRY ROOM

"Close the door" was the order of the day from all classes on the third floor. An awful odor came from the chemistry lab. It was a hot day, but anything was better than having to smell that. It is everybody's hope the chemistry students are leaving a lot since everyone is suffering with them. But couldn't they close their door during their experiments and give everyone a breathing spell? Please!

DEANS ENFORCE RULES

The boys met with Jack Mashburn, dean of boys, and the girls met with Mrs. George Phillipus, dean of girls, to discuss rules, regulations and customs of Midland High School and acquaint new students with them.

RETURNS TO CLASSES

Charles Ruckman is back at school. His collarbone was dislocated in football practice.

Calling All Freshmen

Well, as we all know, September brings a new school year, and with it, the inevitable—green freshmen. We all have to go through that stage at one time or another, but each year the freshmen seem to get worse. Honestly, we couldn't have been that bad! You freshmen will find that we are very considerate. We promise that if you give us no trouble, you will not have to count bricks all year—just the first eight months. You will beyond question, finds, us to be a swell group. We won't let anyone lay a hand on you, unless they just insist.

Seriously, we are glad to have you in our midst, and have you put names to the old grindstone with us. We take this opportunity of welcoming you. You will find that the teachers of Midland High School are not only fair in their dealings with you, but they also are anxious to see you make good here. All of us, teachers included, want to see you get started on the right foot. We want you to feel at home in Midland High School and be one of us. We all hope you can look back in later years on our association here with the feeling that you'd like to go over it again. Welcome, Freshmen.

Teachers Enjoy Vacation Season

What happens to the teachers in the summer? Where do they go? What do they do? A survey shows that practically every teacher has had an interesting vacation.

Miss Gwyn Gordon, sophomore English teacher, attended the University of Colorado in Boulder five weeks. She took English and Spanish courses. She also went horseback riding and mountain climbing. And enjoyed steak fries and camp-fire programs.

Miss Verna Harris, dramatics teacher, spent an interesting week in Saratoga, N. M., and the rest of the summer in Bluff Dale, Texas. Miss Minnie Jackson, head of the Spanish department, spent 12 weeks teaching Spanish at Mary Hardin Baylor College at Belton, Texas. While there, she attended several programs which were sponsored by the speech department.

She visited in Waco, San Antonio, Austin, Fort Worth and Dallas. Miss Helene Miley, world history teacher, spent ten days in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. She also visited Bay City, Dallas, Abilene, and Fort Davis. The rest of the summer was spent in her home in Bastrop with her mother.

Miss Lucy Moore, Latin and freshman English teacher, whose home is at Clarksville, Texas, spent a week in Corpus Christi fishing. Her only remark was, "But I only caught a crab."

Miss Josephine Weaver, junior history teacher, taught summer school in Midland. The remaining five weeks were spent in Electra, Tex. home town. Don Moore, music teacher, spent two weeks in the cool Colorado Rockies, fishing and sight-seeing with his wife and family. Miss Betty Crouch, librarian, spent an interesting week in New Orleans sight-seeing with Miss Connelly, second grade teacher, and Miss Helen Craig, former home economics teacher. She also attended the wedding of Miss Pyle, secretary to the principal, which was held in Kaufman, Texas. The rest of the summer was spent at her home in McKinney.

Rail Oil Shipments From McCamey Increased By Loading Rack Additions

MCCAMEY—The completion of the addition to the Shell Pipeline loading rack, increasing it from 10 to 32 risers, will boost the oil shipment by rail from McCamey to almost 500,000 barrels a month.
 Three loading racks, representing three oil companies of this area, now function at McCamey. The initial rack was that of the Shell Oil Company, with seven risers, which will be increased to 32 by the middle of the month. The Humble was the second to install racks, building a double rack with a total of 50 risers; and the Texas-New Mexico Pipeline, which started shipments August 31 from its 15-riser rack.
 During September, the Shell will ship 2,000 barrels daily until the fifteenth, when it will boost shipments to 12,000 barrels daily. The total for September will approach 200,000 barrels. The Shell crum will travel by rail to Roxana, Ill. for processing, with some possible shipments to the Houston refineries after the new racks are open.
 The Humble Pipeline Company, will use the rail transportation to ship 170,000 barrels of oil from McCamey during September. The double rack is expected to load out about 750 tank cars during the month. Taken from a pipeline at McCamey, the oil will be shipped over the Santa Fe via San Angelo and Temple to Milano, thence over the I&GN to Longview, from which place it will move by pipe line to tankers on the Gulf Coast.
 Fenders for the Texas-New Mexico Pipeline loading racks call for the shipping of 100,000 barrels of crude from McCamey. The new racks started shipments August 31. Two 5,000-barrel storage tanks have been erected along with the racks to facilitate oil shipments. Crude shipped by Texas-New Mexico will travel by rail to Houston refineries, with the bulk of the oil shipped coming from fields near Ilaan.
 The large shipments will necessitate the use of 90 tank cars daily from McCamey.

Human Gene System May Be Destroyed By Atomic Energy

CHICAGO—(AP)—A Nobel Prize scientist believes a world-wide and persistent misuse of atomic energy could ultimately destroy the human gene system and result in the disappearance of mankind for hundreds of millions of years, if not forever.

He also maintained an atom bomb killing 100,000 persons in a large city would plant hundreds of thousands of minute, delayed action "time bombs" in the germ cells of the survivors, "resulting in a spattering of hundreds of thousands of deaths from now on through the very distant future."

The observations were made by Dr. H. J. Muller, professor of Zoology at Indiana University, who was awarded the Nobel Prize in Medicine and Physiology last year for discovering that gene mutations (changes) can be produced by X-rays.

Genes are the tiny essential particles in all living things which, when transmitted from parents to children, make the offspring what he is. Genes are the heredity elements that cause children to resemble their parents in some respects.

Statisticians Say U. S. Population Will Reach Highest Peak In 1990

By MAX HALL
WASHINGTON—(AP)—The nation's population predictors are revising their forecasts. On the basis of the 1940 census, they thought the United States population would climb to a peak of 161,385,000 in 1985 and then start downwards.

Now they are talking about a higher peak—164,585,000 in 1990. There's an "if" with those forecasts. Both were made on the assumption that "medium" estimates concerning birth and death rates will turn out to be correct, rather than "high" or "low" estimates.

Revision To Be Published

Until now, the most widely-accepted forecasts of U. S. population were contained in a book by Warren S. Thompson and P. K. Whelpton, of the Scripps foundation for research in population problems.

They developed the complicated "Thompson-Whelpton Method" of predicting population, and published their last estimates in 1943, basing them on the 1940 census.

Now, probably sometime in October, a revision will be published. It was written by Whelpton in collaboration with Jacob S. Siegel and Hope T. Eldridge of the U. S. Census Bureau, and is based on the 1945 population as estimated by the Census Bureau.

Forecasts Based on War

The new report will boost the forecasts all along the line. The main reason for the revised forecasts is the surprising behavior of the birth rate during the war.

Population experts, judging by the first World War, had expected the birth rate to drop during wartime. Instead, it went up. This was true not only in America but in England and France.

Florists Prepare For Winter Boom In Flower Market

FORT WORTH—(AP)—Florists in the Southwest's largest glass house are at work this month, readying more than 100,000 roses, poinsettias, and chrysanthemums for the booming winter flower market.

Under the 125,000 square feet of glass at Fort Worth's Greenwood Floral Company, 45,000 rose bushes are "resting" against the day in mid-October when they will start producing nearly 700,000 buds to be distributed through five states.

Twice daily, workers trim underdeveloped buds from the plants, but cool September nights will end the "resting" period and the Southwest's largest crop of glass house roses will be under way.

W. J. Bailey, Jr., Greenwood manager, anticipates two trends to mark the coming season. One is away from the wartime emphasis on red roses, favored by soldiers whose standard order for wife, mother or sweetheart was "one dozen red roses."

Pink gains favor. Two new pink varieties "Pink Bountiful" and "Rosy Glow," and the new white "Starlight" are Bailey's bets for this winter's party favorites.

He also looks for a new popularity for potted plants, so that Greenwood workers are tending 30,000 poinsettia plants for Christmas and 15,000 potted chrysanthemums for the fall trade. Besides these are the plants that will produce 30,000 cut chrysanthemums for Christmas.

Bailey has already begun shipment of potted chrysanthemums, the plants having been brought to early bloom by use of black cloth hooded to increase "night length." "Mums" are in the group of varieties that bloom more quickly if shielded from light, while increased sun or artificial light slows blooming.

But the florists will play no tricks on the roses. They will be allowed to bloom steadily from October until next summer.

Most Schools Have Changed

By MAX HALL

WASHINGTON—The schools have many problems, and the people understand some of them.

They know there is a desperate shortage of teachers. They know that many teachers are underpaid. They understand that classrooms are overcrowded.

But there is not much understanding of modern methods of teaching.

Adults often think of schools as they existed 20 or 30 years ago. But Ess Goodykoontz, director of elementary education in the U. S. Office of Education, says most schools have changed since then.

You may remember your own classroom. It was filled with desks, in straight rows, fastened to the floor. The children sat there, their eyes fixed on the teacher. Everybody did the same things at the same time. Everybody was expected to progress at the same speed.

But now, if you have a small child, his classroom is more likely to have movable chairs and tables. They are shifted around for various activities. There are more materials to work with—clay, plastics, paints.

Self-Discipline Stressed
A few years ago, there was a tremendous rumpus, pro and con, over "progressive education."

Miss Goodykoontz says this controversy has somewhat died down in education circles. She says it has now been demonstrated that the schools can be "progressive" in the sense of paying more attention to individual needs, and still do a fine job of teaching the "essentials."

Gertrude Hankamp, executive secretary of the Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development (a department of the

London Snubs Skirts Too Long

By BARBARA WACE
AP Newsfeatures

LONDON—A new silhouette, not drastically different but clearly defined, is emerging from the "big ten" London fashion shows. Tentative attempts of the last two years have jelled into something different, though London houses still shy at extremes, out of sympathy for their coupon-circumscribed customers.

Skirts and coats of suits are longer, with waists corset-tight, hips accentuated. Skirts are of two extremes—pencil slim or accordion pleated.

Hardy Amies achieves what he calls the "barrel effect" by stiffening his jackets with canvas and padding. Digby Morton does it with pockets.

Export clothes are often 13 1/2 inches from the floor, but for the home market most designers stick to or 16 inches. Only Norman Hartnell has experimented with mid-calf lengths in his day clothes.

"I'm hating pity on my home customers who have to wear last year's coat over this year's suit," said Amies.

Day dresses are fairly simple, with tiny waists and rounded hips. Some houses use drapery, mostly to the front, where the skirt fullness is usually concentrated. Hardy Amies uses much diagonal drapery. Many of his dresses show wraparound lines with side fastenings, drapery is pulled up to one side, necklines often cross over. This house shows many suit blouses in gay colors, with the neckline extended to make a huge bow at the neckline.

Most coats are tightly fitted at the waist and fully flared below. But there are still a few loose, flowing, swing-back coats, with huge collars and lapels to match the lining. There are a few finger-length coats worn over pencil skirt suits. Many jackets, worn over dresses, are buttoned high.

This seems to be a year of greens. Almost all the houses featured blue and bottle green. Amies had a soft, light moss-green, a quince and many brownish-yellow greens. Hartnell showed many purples, electric blues and other hard colors. There is still a lot of dull orange, brick scarlet and crimson.

Stiebel teamed up a lot of soft English tweeds with dark or bright velveteen or new "cotton velvet" blouses. Gray and white went with Nile Green, a red-flecked black tweed suit had a good deal of copper pink, coffee-beige, weak-tea and orchid-gray colors.

There were a few ankle length cocktail dresses in the collection, but British houses do not go for these as Americans do. Amies showed two ankle length evening dresses, one white with gold spangles, the other black with blue spangles, entitled "Starlight" and "Moonlight." But the ballet length skirt for evening is unpopular here, and American women who expect to wear them to smart restaurants here run the risk of being asked to leave as they are not considered "evening dress."

Dinner and evening dresses are either straight and elegant or full and romantic—there is no compromise.

Phone Bills Come Only Once A Year; Wrong Numbers Even Less Frequent

By HERBERT C. LITTLE

ATHENS, W. VA.—(AP)—The 170 subscribers of the Athens Telephone Co. get bills once a year; the board of directors repairs broken lines, and the lone operator knows voices and numbers so well a subscriber gets his part if he simply asks her to "ring over home."

The company has provided this community of 678 persons with hand-crank telephone service 40 years. Mrs. Nannie Mastin, widowed mother of four, has been the operator 22 years.

Every subscriber is also a stockholder. His annual bill, which runs to about $10, is his share of the operating costs. There is no profit involved.

Know All Numbers
Mrs. Mastin knows all the town numbers by heart and only occasionally has to consult her handwritten telephone book on the 17 rural telephones with 17 different long-and-short ring signals. Most of the subscribers she can recognize and call by their first names just from hearing their voices.

The switchboard is in Mrs. Mastin's apartment, where she lives alone. Her children are grown and married.

Meals are brought to her there and stockholders of the friendly firm frequently stop in to pass the time of day. She says she once stayed in her apartment-exchange for three months without going out.

There is a night bell to awaken her for calls after the normal 10 o'clock closing time, but most subscribers respect her hours and do not call late unless it is a real emergency.

When Concord college is playing a home game here during basketball season, however, she willingly remains on the job after hours so the news services can get the story.

Billed More Often
Mrs. Mastin's bosses are the seven men making up the unpaid board of directors. Each one is assigned a district in which he must make repairs himself whenever there is a line break.

The stockholders and directors hold their annual meeting the second Saturday in August to elect officers and assess themselves for operating expenses.

This year the board elected D. L. Thompson, a retired Mercer County deputy sheriff, president and voted to send bills every three months instead of just once during the coming year.

Bad connections may be a little more frequent and service a little slower than with a modern dial system, but Athens subscribers swear by their "family" company and it is doubtful if they would trade its friendly courtesy for the impersonal efficiency of a metropolitan system.

Army Uses Helicopter To Rescue Alaskan

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The first rescue by helicopter in the Far North, in which a marooned Alaskan trapper was plucked out of a tough situation, was reported by the Army Air Forces.

A Copter piloted by First Lt. Charles O. Weir of Bloomington, Ind., member of the 10th Rescue Squadron, flew recently to the interior of Alaska to bring out George Plucinski, who due to a series of misadventures had been living on a diet of berries and small animal for two weeks.

Glib-Tongued Doctor Walks Out On 'Better Baby' Show With Cash

LAPORTE, IND. (NEA)—Proud parents and veterans organizations with slim treasuries had better check twice if a glib-tongued doctor proposes managing a "better baby" health show promotion for them.

That's the advice of Clarence Segelstrom, commander of the local chapter of Disabled American Veterans, and several firms here and in nearby Michigan City. This is what happened to them: Recently a man who said he was a West Coast doctor appeared at a bank and opened an account by depositing a check for $3075 drawn on a California bank.

The same day he visited Segelstrom and unveiled his scheme for handling a super baby show. The doctor flashed his local bank book. The DAV treasury was down to $11 and stood to net a fat sum from the affair even after the doctor's cut, so Segelstrom agreed.

A Man Of Energy
A man of excessive energy, the doctor said he would handle all the details. Wasting no time he quickly rented a huge auditorium, ordered 18,000 tickets from a printing shop and started collecting $20 donations from merchants. These last were to go toward United States "E" bonds as awards to healthiest babies.

The press gave the coming event a big play and mothers and fathers began grooming their charges. The big day was to be September 20.

Meanwhile the energetic doctor told his new friends he would settle in LaPorte and he took his wife to nearby Michigan City for a shopping spree. There on a Saturday night he bought her an $82.90 outfit and a $525 ring. He paid for both by check after showing merchants his LaPorte bank book.

Apparently fond of jewelry, that same night he returned to LaPorte and tried to buy a $630 ring from a jeweler. But this merchant checked with a bank official by phone and when he learned the $3075 check had yet to clear, he politely declined the proffered check.

The doctor smiled affably and said he'd return Monday when everything would be fixed up.

But his refusal must have alarmed him. For he hustled back to his hotel with his wife and packed their bags. They checked out quickly, grabbed a cab for Michigan City and disappeared.

On Monday word reached LaPorte from the California bank that the $3075 was drawn on a non-existent account by, as far as the bank was concerned, a non-existent man.

Now the DAV is trying to dispose of 18,000 freshly printed and unused tickets, two Michigan City merchants sadly regard worthless checks, and anyone who cares can rent the civic auditorium for September 20.

Hole-In-One Odds Are 9,366 To One

By FRANK ECK

NEW YORK (AP)—The Webster, Mass., golf pro who took 3,333 shots in an unsuccessful all-day effort to score an ace shouldn't become discouraged.

When 1948 rolls around, the World Almanac will show that the odds on a hole-in-one are 9,366 to 1. These figures are based on the New York "World-Telegram" annual hole-in-one tournament which recently completed its fourteenth ace competition.

A total of 1,061 golfers—male and female—participated in the tournament. Each had five shots but only one ace was scored. The shot was made by Emery Thomas, home pro at the Forest Hill Field Club, Bloomfield, N. J.

During 14 years, 9,366 golfers, who at one time or another scored a hole-in-one, have taken 46,830 shots. Five shots, usually played on a short 150-yard hole, have found their way into the cup.

After Thomas' recent ace the odds dropped to 8,704 but when nobody duplicated his performance the figures skyrocketed.

Every Four Years
Caddy enough, the holes-in-one have come at four year intervals since the first one was scored by Jack Hagen in 1932. Two were held in 1937, another in 1941 and one this year, the fourth year of the tournament since 1941 due to a suspension during two wartime years.

The hole-in-one tournament is the idea of Joseph P. Val, "World-Telegram" sports editor. "It's the only sport that brings together the amateur and the pro on level terms," says Val.

"At one time I heard so much about holes-in-one—attested and unattested—that I decided to let these golfers show me, Val adds. The first competition began with 47 players in the New York, New Jersey and Westchester areas in 1932. Now the idea is catching on all over the country.

Many Pros Compete
Among the pros who have taken part in Val's nightmare—the competition runs for six days from dawn to dusk—ape Gene Sarazen, who has won both the U. S. and British Opens, Jim Barnes, Paul Runyan and Sammy Byrd.

Bate Ruth has played in eight of them and the best the south-paw swinger could do was ninth with a shot about two feet nine inches from the pin. The Babe took his five shots this year but appeared very nervous due to a lingering illness.

Next year Val hopes for a field of 2,000.

Trouble In Paradise

It seems that, the other day, Comrade Georgi Fedorovich Alexandrov, propaganda chief of the Russian Communist Party, was caught at the bottom of a very serious backslide. On the second thought of some of the party's more philosophical bigwigs it was decided that he had gone metaphysical on them.

Alexandrov, you see, wrote a book on pre-Marxian philosophy. But he apparently made the mistake of saying that there were some rather Marxian thinkers before Marx, and that Marxian was an evolutionary rather than a revolutionary development.

This repudiation of the traditional story of communism's birth seems to have been a serious matter. Stalin gave it his personal attention. He called the party's central committee, which in turn summoned 84 philosophers from all over Russia.

Andrei Zhdanov, the central committee's secretary and a philosopher, got the job of putting the heat on Alexandrov through a piece in Pravda. This must have been a little embarrassing because, as Zhdanov admitted, the book "received the recognition of the majority of our leading philosophers and was praised in numerous reviews." This could only mean, he concluded, that other philosophers were sharing Alexandrov's mistakes, which indicates "serious trouble on our theoretical front."

It will be recalled that the party has had trouble on its theoretical front before. Shostakovich, the composer, has been reprimanded on several occasions when some tone-deaf politician would suddenly decide that a new Shostakovich work was trivial or counter-revolutionary. Russian playwrights from time to time have been raked over the coals because their output was decadent, or showed the insidious influence of bourgeois philosophy.

Bourgeois philosophy, along with imitation and servility, seem to obsess the molders of Russian thought. Yet it is easy to see how an intelligent Russian, even though thoroughly indoctrinated from childhood, might occasionally forget himself as Alexandrov apparently did.

The total renunciation and denunciation of the non-Communist world must put a strain on an inquiring mind. The physical and mental isolation of the average Russian is, in theory, almost as complete as that of the average Japanese before Admiral Perry rang up the Oriental iron curtain almost 100 years ago.

Today's Russian is asked to believe, in effect, that thought began with Marx and life with the October Revolution of 1917. He must militantly condemn and reject all outside political thought and almost all foreign artistic thought and creation. Even the materialistic creations of non-Communist society must be admired with extreme moderation.

The Kremlin obviously has a hard job as well as a burning ambition. While it strives to communize the world, it must also engage in the ceaseless task of selling and reselling its own people on the wonders of communism. Probably the job isn't made any easier by the fact that some of the boys got out and saw how the other half lived while they were doing their trick in the army.

It's smart to remember the girl friend's birthday—and smarter to forget which one it is.

Having seen numerous 1947 bathing suits we're already beginning to feel sorry for the moths this coming Winter.

Brothers Develop New Technique In Skidding Rigs

By JACK RUTLEDGE Associated Press Staff

Two brothers who have been in the oilfield business 15 years have developed a new technique in skidding rigs, using airplane wheels on each corner of the derrick, with trucks or tractors as motive power. They are C. W. Kelly and C. D. Kelly. Company headquarters is in Houston. They obtained a patent this spring.

They figured that "there was great advancement to be made in skidding," in both efficiency and time-saving. They figured that it could be done on wheels, and decided if a B-29 could carry between 50,000 and 60,000 pounds, it would be possible to put a derrick on wheels, too.

So they did. And it worked.

The advantages of the rolling mechanism, the Kellys said, are in flexibility, safety and maneuverability. Their plans were worked out. The patent was granted March 6.

Kelly said skidding jobs have been done on two rigs on the King Ranch, at Lake Charles, La., and at Dickerson, near Texas City. Recently they have been operating at Odessa.

The skidding method and equipment has been checked by insurance inspectors, Kelly said, and has full insurance coverage.

Seven men compose the crew for a move, with two men steering the derrick. The wheel-units can handle all standard equipment. Kelly said he had moved rigs one day and seen them drilling the next.

Now is the time to get your heating equipment ready FOR WINTER

It should be thoroughly cleaned, checked, adjusted, and if necessary, repaired. Call your plumber or heating contractor NOW and have this done before the "big rush."

If you have a floor furnace, and wish to clean it yourself, it's easy this way: Lift the grill and remove accumulated dust and spiderwebs with vacuum cleaner and suction hose attachment.

Now is a good time, too, to light your gas furnaces

You'll be glad, later, if you go ahead now and light the pilot lights on your gas floor furnaces or central gas furnace. The quantity of gas burned by these tiny pilots is so small that you'll not be able to tell the difference on your gas service bill. Then when cold weather does come, you'll be ready.

Texan To Head Search For Shangri-La Victims

MANILA —(AP)— An American Graves Registration team is going back to Shangri-La, hidden valley in the wilds of Dutch New Guinea, in search of remains of 21 air crash victims.
Shangri-La, 150 miles northeast of Hollandia, was the scene of the glider plane rescue of pretty WAC Cpl. Margaret Hastings, Oswego, N. Y., and two other survivors of a June 28, 1945, air crash—Lt. John S. McCollum, Trenton, Mo., and Sgt. Kenneth Decker, Kelso, Wash. Col. J. A. Murphy, Marshall, in charge of Southwest Pacific Graves Registration, said another unit would launch a search for victims of an ill-fated reconnaissance mission in which only one pilot in a flight of four returned.

London Students Expected Teacher From Texas To Tote Six-Shooters

ORANGE, TEXAS.—Please Miss, you don't look like a proper cowgirl.

These were the words which greeted Norma Scott, Orange school teacher, when she entered her first British classroom in London a year ago, where she went as an exchange teacher.

The same situation confronted her in almost every one of the many schools in the London area which she visited during the year Miss Scott said here.

The children, she said, were greatly disappointed when she failed to come swaggering into the room wearing a fringed buckskin skirt and toting a six-shooter on her hip. That, she declared, was the British child's idea of proper attire for a lady from Texas.

All other Americans, the Orange teacher found, were divided into two classes in the young British mind: the very wealthy, who live in pent-houses and go flying around in the limousines, and the Humphrey Bogart movie criminal types.

The questions asked of her most often, Miss Scott said, was "What do Americans think of England?" Now that she is home, she said the query frequently is directed in reverse by persons here.

Praises British Courage
In answer to the question of what she considered was the highlight of her teaching visit overseas, the Texas instructor replied: "The opportunity to know the English people and to see demonstrated in them a kind of courage which carried them through the war and the difficult times following."

As for a comparison of British and American students, she said: "In my opinion, school children are the same the world over. The fundamental human values of Americans and British are the same. It is only the superficial things that differ."

Orders American Books
The University of London, which Miss Scott visited, has ordered a complete set of the forty-odd curriculum bulletins which are used to maintain a common standard of teaching in the Orange schools.

The bulletins were developed by J. W. Edgar, former Orange superintendent of schools and now superintendent at Austin.

Miss Scott is a teacher of English with 19 years of experience, six of which have been spent in schools here. She holds a bachelor degree from Mary Hardin-Baylor College, Belton; a masters degree from Sul Ross College, Alpine; and has done graduate work at the University of Texas, Columbia University and the University of Denver. Her home is in Buffalo, Leon County, Texas.

Miss Scott was the only teacher in the Southwest included in the exchange agreement between the United States and British governments last year.

Senator Comes Home From Europe Hungry
WASHINGTON.—Senator Elmer Thomas (D-Okla.) in the United States should be "sentenced to 30 days in any part of Europe."

"They would be so glad to get back," he told a reporter.

Thomas said he is plenty glad to be home after a three-week tour of the continent.

"I came back here hungry," he said, adding that a light meal for two in a London hotel cost him the equivalent of $12 and a somewhat more substantial repast in Paris came to $28.

Victory For Navy

(NEA Photo) Chief Petty Officer John A. Young, of Seattle, Wash., and the USS Battleship Iowa, won the War Department's national trophy individual pistol match at Camp Perry, Ohio, by scoring 276 out of a possible 300. He is the first Navy man to take the title in over 40 years.

McKenney on Bridge

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY America's Card Authority

During the national championships tournament held last month a large delegation of eastern and midwestern players made plans to attend the All-Western Bridge Championships at the Del Coronado Hotel, Coronado, Calif., November 7 to 1 inclusive. I would like to give the delegation a word of advice. The Pacific coast players bid their hands a little differently than we do in the east. They rely perhaps too much on conventional or system bidding, but they are expert when it comes to the play of the cards. Last year I had the good fortune to win the open pair championship at Coronado with Clarence A. Strouse, Jr., of Altadena, Calif., and I hope to be on hand to defend with him this year.

Strouse gave today's hand a nice play. East put up the king of spades on the opening lead, and most of the South players naturally won the trick with the ace.

Senator Byrd Operates Agency Without Funds

WASHINGTON.—Sen. Byrd (D-Va.), who is proud of his reputation as a longtime advocate of economy, is shattering all governmental records each day now by operating a federal agency which has no funds.

The agency is the 13-member joint committee on reduction of non-essential federal expenditures. Byrd, as its sponsor and chairman, is the only Democrat in Congress allowed to retain leadership of a committee since Republicans gained majorities in both the House and Senate.

Although the chairman claims his group has saved some $6,300,000 in government costs since 1941, all funds for the economy group were expended September 1. Since then Byrd has been operating the committee, which in past years had a staff of eight persons, with his own office force.

Didn't Ask Funds
Republican leaders in both the House and Senate failed to recommend any operating funds for the economy group in the current year's appropriation. Aides of Senator Byrd said he did not ask any.

But because the law setting up the committee requires it to make periodic checkups on the number of government workers and their pay, the senator decided he is required to continue operations even without funds to do so.

The economy group was established under a 1941 tax law. It has operated over the years with a total of $107,500 of funds.

Eased on the claimed savings of $6,300,000,000 in government funds, this represents a savings of $1,000,000 for each $17.50 spent, according to a report supplied by the former committee staff.

Then they took two rounds of trumps, led the queen of clubs and look the finesse. East won and came back with a spade, which West won. A diamond was returned and the contract was set.

That was not the way Strouse played it. He refused to win the first spade trick. He let East hold his king. East came back with a spade and Strouse won; then he took two rounds of trumps followed by the club finesse. But now there was no play that East could make that would defeat the contract, because he could not get West in to lead through the diamond suit. He returned a club, hoping that South would not be able to get rid of two losing diamonds; but he might as well have cashed the ace of diamonds, as that was the only other trick that East and West made.

Army Recruits Total 23,112 For August

WASHINGTON.—The War Department announced the Army received 23,112 recruits during August.

This compares with the average of 30,000 a month which the Army estimates it needs for a total organized strength of 1,070,000.

Customers Almost Wear Out Their Legs Going After His Frog Legs

Jo Davidson, American sculptor, at La Grenouille. Like all customers there he eats frog legs with his fingers.

PARIS — (NEA) — Roger Spinhirny leaped to international fame on frog legs.

Spinhirny had worked hard to rise from kitchen boy to maître d'hotel. Finally he saved enough money to open a Left Bank restaurant of his own.

Tucked away on a side street that makes it difficult even for Parisians to find, Spinhirny's "La Grenouille" is only 10 feet wide. It is this are jammed dozens of tables and a small marble-top self-service bar. The menu is written in chalk on a blackboard. Cooking utensils are archaic and the stove is coal fired.

Put night after night, hundreds of Frenchmen and tourists line up for a chance to eat Spinhirny's frog legs.

Spinhirny became a frog legs specialist almost by accident. The night he opened his restaurant he found he had only enough left from his savings to buy frogs for his first menu. They were the cheapest item he could find in Paris markets that night.

He sprinkled the frog legs with salt, tossed them into a frying pan where garlic cloves had simmered in butter. They tasted so good the customers have been coming back for seconds ever since.

In postwar Paris, he has managed to keep his prices moderate. The house specialty costs only $1.50, a full meal with wine and coffee around $4.

"You understand," Roger explains, "if I wanted to, I could charge much more but then I would be under certain obligations to my customers. Like this, people take the place as it is—and like it."

"La Grenouille" serves more than 150 dozen frogs a day. Spinhirny, always generous, keeps scup always hot on his kitchen range for free handouts to Paris vagabonds. They in turn keep him supplied with frogs by scrambling for them in the marshes. He pays good prices for them now.

American Taxpayers Lose Nothing By Issuance Of Invasion Currency

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Invasion money used in World War II by the Allies meant a lot of different things to many people.

It helped smooth the paths of invasion for Allied military authorities. It brought small fortunes to many GIs who sold watches, cigarettes, candy and soap for big batches of invasion currency which they converted into dollars. It enabled Russian soldiers to go on watch-buying sprees.

It set senators on the trail of multimillion "bookkeeping losses" by the United States government. It caused taxpayers to worry about having to pay for those "losses."

A question still frequently asked about invasion money is: "What will it cost American taxpayers to redeem it?"

"Not one nickel," is the answer of Treasury and War Department officials.

Not Redeemable

These officials say invasion currency is not United States currency and this government has no obligation to redeem it. Upon issue, it immediately became part of the currency of the country in which it was issued.

Army finance offices did convert some $380,000,000 in invasion currencies into dollars in excess of funds appropriated by Congress. But Assistant Secretary of War Howard C. Peterson says it will not cost the taxpayers anything because the $380,000,000 is being used in lieu of dollars for supplies, services and other items in Germany, Japan and other invaded countries.

Loss To Be Liquidated

Peterson has told Congress the "loss" will be liquidated by the end of 1948. The great bulk of it — some $250,000,000 worth — was in military marks disbursed in Germany. Most of the "deficit" resulted from black market operations in which American soldiers traded watches, cigarettes and other war-scarce goods for invasion currency at inflated prices.

Many of the GI sales were to Russian troops who were well supplied with invasion marks. The Russians used American plates to print German invasion money. Henry Morgenthau, Jr., then secretary of the treasury, turned over the plates to the Russians in Washington in the spring of 1944.

Morgenthau's actions resulted, Treasury officials say, from a joint British-American decision after the Russians had refused all offers of printed currency instead of the plates. Soviet officials had threatened to upset plans for a joint Allied currency by printing a separate Russian issue.

Certificates Stop Graft

In September 1946 the American military in Germany substituted "military payment certificates" for invasion marks to stop the GI practice of accumulating large amounts of invasion marks at bargain rates and turning them into dollars. Thereafter the holders of Allied military marks could use them only for the purchase of German goods.

The Russians informed American military government officials in Germany that they stopped issuing joint allied invasion money on July 1, 1946. United States Army officials said, however, they had no way to check on this.

Senator Bridges (R-N. H.) charged the Soviet with "legalized looting of Germany with printing press money."

No Rate Of Exchange

When the Americans and British invaded German territory in 1944, they started circulating Allied military marks at par with Reichmarks. No general rate of exchange between the Reich mark and the dollar was established. However, for computing the pay of troops, a provisional basis of 10 marks to the dollar was used.

Military lire were used in Italy under similar conditions. However, President Roosevelt directed in 1944 that the Italian government receive dollar credits covering the extent to which invasion currency in lire denominations had been used in Italy for the pay of troops.

Later dollar credits were authorized to cover invasion currency used for the purchase of Army supplies.

Cur military government in Japan is reported to have had less trouble with yen invasion currency than was experienced with marks in Germany. However, military payment certificates were substituted for the invasion yen as a currency for our soldiers in Japan in July 1946.

Some persons have questioned the authority of the American military to issue invasion currency. The United States government cites a legal basis for it. It is a provision of international law under which military commanders are for the time being the legal government of an invaded country.

After the last war, Treasury officials say, our army of occupation made gross disbursements of almost $300,000,000 in Germany, most of it by cashing dollar checks for marks at German banks and by paying out actual dollars to our troops. These dollars were never recovered.

Aussies Plan To Dry Skies To Make Rain

SYDNEY — (AP) — Australian scientists are going to try to dry the skies to make rain.

The government's Council for Scientific and Industrial Research and the RAAF have planned an experiment using a new method of spraying calcium chloride instead of powdered dry ice into likely looking clouds.

Calcium chloride, a white powdery substance, is a powerful drying agent because each molecule of it is capable of attracting and absorbing six molecules of water. Council scientists expressed belief the new method would bring rain from a greater variety of clouds than dry ice which is effective only with cumulus clouds at certain altitudes.

World War II Ends For Nazi Submariners

BATAVIA, JAVA — (AP) — World War II is over at last for five members of the Nazi U-Boat fleet.

The Netherlands Army announced that five members of the German Navy were captured recently at Nongkodjadar, East Java.

They were reported unofficially to be former submarine crewmen who were stranded in Java by the German surrender and hid out in the Indonesian Republic.

Beer was a standard beverage in Germany as long ago as the 16th century and in 1516 German rulers, seeking to protect the quality of the product, stipulated beer should be brewed of barley, hops, yeast, water and nothing else.
