Another Ellenburger Producer Completed in North Pecos Field

The second producer from the Ellenburger has been officially completed in the old, shallow Pecos Valley field of North Pecos County, 10 miles south of Grant, Texas. The new oil well is Calley and Hurt, and others, (formerly carried as Fullerton Oil Company, and others.) No. 1-D-DE Pecos Valley.

It is three quarters of a mile east of Fullerton, and others, No. 1-D Kone, the discovery well of the Pecos Valley-Ellenburger field, and is located 860 feet from northeast and southeast lines of the south quarter of section 36, block 3, H&TC survey.

C-S Borden Slated For Deep Prospector

Barnsdall Oil Company is rigging up rotary tools to start drilling at its No. 1 Wilson, which is slated to be an 8,500-foot wildcat in Central-South Borden County, just inside the south line of the county.

Pegasus Outpost Has Free Ellenburger Oil

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1-B TXCL, one-half mile south of the initial producer from the Ellenburger field of Central-North Upton County and Central-South Midland County, flowed 31.75 barrels of 32.8 gravity oil in one and one-half hours from the top of the Ellenburger at 12,585-664 feet.

The flow was through a five-eighths inch bottom hole and came during a two hour and 50 minute drillstem test of that zone. Gas showed at the surface in five minutes after the tester was opened. Mud flowed out at the top in 57 minutes and oil started flowing in 61 minutes.

SE Upton Wildcat Logs Devonian Gas

Samedan Oil Corporation No. 1 Neal, Southeast Upton County wildcat which is slated to dig to around 12,000 feet to explore the Ellenburger, was making new hole below 10,881 feet in lime.

This project showed a little gas in a drillstem test in the Devonian at 10,620-681 feet. The tester was open two hours and 23 minutes. Gas showed at the surface in 23 minutes. Maximum gas volume was at the rate of 200,000 cubic feet per day. No fluid came to the surface while the tester was open.

An analysis of the water which was flowed out during that test revealed that it carried a small amount of distillate. That development has led some observers to think there might be a possibility that if the section which is making the gas and distillate in the 10,328-632 foot horizon could be found as a shut-off from the nearby water zones, that some sort of production might be developed.

Truman Tax Plans Would Jolt Oil Men

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman asked Congress Monday to pick up $1,000,000,000 in new tax money while cutting some sales taxes.

He said explicitly he wants any reductions to be offset by plugging loopholes in present laws. He tagged business, estates and big gifts as the best source for the additional revenue he wants.

In a special message, Truman did not say specifically how much reduction he thought should be made in excise taxes. But he said cuts are "most urgently needed" in the taxes on freight, railroad and bus tickets, long distance telephone and telegraph bills and "the entire group of retail excises, including such items as toilet preparations, luggage and handbags."

While the President used no figure, some Congress members said they understood the Treasury—which will give detailed recommendations to congressional committees later—would suggest a cut from 20 to 10 per cent in the retail tax on such things as cosmetics, luggage and handbags.

Biggest "loophole" Truman did specify that these taxes should be cut "only to the extent that the loss in revenue can be recouped by eliminating the tax loopholes which now permit some groups to escape their fair share of taxation."

He said the biggest "loophole" is "the excessive depletion exemptions, large percentages of the income from oil and mining properties escape taxation, year after year. Owners of mines and oil wells are permitted, after deducting all costs of doing business, to exclude from taxation on account of depletion as much as half of their net income."

As to business, the President recommended: "A moderate increase" in the tax (Continued On Page Seven)

Ballots Fail To End Soft Coal Walkouts

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—John L. Lewis' District officials Monday failed to end a "no contract, no work" strike in seven soft coal states.

Votes taken by locals of the United Mine Workers over the weekend had indicated 37,000 of the 90,000 miners on strike would go back into the pits. Pickets showed up at several mines to prevent many of those locals from resuming production.

Weekend efforts of the UMW district officers to induce miners to give up their strike cut the total number idle to an estimated 60,000.

The back-to-work movement showed strength in the Pittsburgh area, in West Virginia, Ohio and Kentucky, but was weak in the rich southwestern Pennsylvania section near Uniontown, where only one mine was reported working.

A list of 20 prospective grand jurors for the February term of 70th District Court was released here Monday.

The term will open at 10 a.m., February 6, with Judge Paul Moss presiding.

Court officials said there was no indication at present of the number of cases to be considered by the grand jury.

Temperature Rises To 83 Degrees Here

Coats came off on many folks today Sunday when Midland had one of the warmest January days in history.

The mercury climbed to 83 degrees Sunday afternoon and it was high all day. A low of 41 degrees early Sunday and a "higher low" of 46 degrees early Monday kept everyone thinking it might be Spring.

The weather forecast for Monday didn't give any indication it will get much colder by Tuesday.

Rebels Attack Republic

JAKARTA (BATAVIA), U. S. I.—(AP)—Indonesian rebel guerrillas, led by a former Dutch captain, Monday attacked the West Java capital, Bandoeng, and seized key points in the mountain city of 170,000 population.

About 600 guerrillas—including deserters from the Dutch Army's Indonesian Corps—reportedly captured the Indonesian Army headquarters, the telephone exchange and other important centers.

The federal army of the month-old United States of Indonesia was reported holding out in the northern part of the city.

Dutch and Indonesian troops were marshaled for "coordinated" action against the first serious armed threat to the young U. S. I. The federal government rushed 250 troops of its mobile police brigade by air from Jakarta, 120 miles northwest, to Bandoeng.

Bandoeng is one of the chief concentration points of Dutch troops in Indonesia, but there was no word yet of The Netherlands forces going into action.

Witness Describes Radioman's Slaying In Smithwick Trial

By MARTHA COLE
BELTON TEXAS—(P)—The gunshot slaying of Radio Commentator W. H. (Bill) Mason on an Alice, Texas, street was recounted Monday as the Sam Smithwick murder trial reached the testimony stage.

Arvelino Saenz, who was with Mason in the latter's car shortly before the veteran news and radio man was killed last July 29, testified Smithwick "pulled out a gun" and the shooting followed.

Under questioning from District Attorney James K. Everts, Saenz told how he met Mason at a railroad depot in Alice that morning and how they drove out on San Felipe Street. Saenz said he was helping to gather material for a summary of Alice street conditions.

He told of seeing Smithwick approach from the opposite direction in a pickup truck.

"What did Smithwick do?" Everts asked.

"He stuck (sic) his hand out, and we both stopped."

"The cars stopped about ten feet apart, Smithwick in opposite direction, Saenz said.

"Smithwick Leaves Truck"
"What did Sam Smithwick do then?" Everts asked.

"He stepped out of his truck and got into Mr. Mason's."

Saenz said Mason was sitting in the driver's seat.

"What did Sam Smithwick do then?" Everts asked.

Talks Center On Red Bluff, Pecos River

Surface water rights, facilities, needs and problems were reviewed and recommendations offered by witnesses at a hearing conducted by the Texas Water Code Committee here Monday morning in Hotel Scharbauer.

The committee, headed by Senator Rogers Kelley of Edinburg, is studying possible revision of Texas water surface laws by the 51st Legislature.

The bulk of the testimony had to do with the Pecos River and the Red Bluff reservoir located on that stream between Pecos and Carlsbad, N. M.

The witnesses included J. C. Wilson of Pecos, Texas representative on the Pecos River Compact Commission; C. J. Anderson of Pecos, general manager, Red Bluff Water Power Control District; W. L. Kerr, Midland, legal counsel for the Pecos River Commission and the Red Bluff district; and D. A. Bandoeng, Abilene, general manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and John D. Mitchell, Odessa, past president of the WTCC.

Committee members here for the hearing include Kelley, Senator Hill Hudson, Pecos; Senator Jesse Moffett, Chillicothe; Senator Pat Bullock, Colorado City; Rep. Douglas Bergman, Dallas; Rep. Byron Tinsley, Greenville; Rep. Jack Brooks, Beaumont; Col. L. B. Hag, Amarillo; John D. McCall, Dallas, secretary; J. T. Canales, Brownsville; Judge M. J. Ramon, Laredo; Victor Bouldin, Houston; and I. Hamilton Wilson, Austin, executive secretary.

Witnesses described Freshwater James S. Guleke, Amarillo; A. P. Rollins, Austin, and Fisher Tyler, Austin, members of the Board of Water Engineers, and J. E. Starrock, executive secretary of the Texas Water Conservancy Association, attended as observers. Jerry Debenport of Odessa also was an observer.

Wilson described the functions of the Pecos River Compact Commission and told of the problems facing the panel. He said the wild growth of salt cedars along the Pecos River is sapping much of the stream's water. He suggested the section of a concrete by-pass to strengthen the stream's flow. Wilson told the committee the commission needs $20,000 from the state legislature to carry on its program effectively. The sum would be matched by the State of New Mexico.

He also recommended the building of additional dams on the river for irrigation purposes.

Arrest Of Prowler May Crack Wave Of Auto Theft Offenses

The arrest of a 24-year-old steel worker here Sunday night is expected to crack one of the biggest waves of automobile prowling ever known to West Texas, Midland Police Chief Jack Ellington said Monday. Officers were questioning the man at noon and he was pouring out a story which amazed them.

The suspect was arrested by Captain Jack O'Brien, Officer Hollis and Deputy Sheriff Ed Edwards after a foot-race through alleys and streets Sunday night.

Walker Wesson called the officers to report someone ransacking his automobile at his home, 908 North Weatherford. The intruder was gone when officers arrived but later he was seen on North Blvd. The chase began and officers made a catch in the 100 block of East Ohio Street. Search Car.

A search of the suspect's automobile produced many articles officers believed to have been stolen, and more were found in his room at a North Blvd. Street address.

Two pistols, a rifle, a hatchet, knives, flashlights, mirrors, holsters, sun shades and clothing were recovered.

Papers found in the man's room linked him with car prowling which occurred in Big Spring in December, and Chief Ellington said the suspect had admitted prowling 11 or 12 cars there Wesson called.

By noon Monday, the arrested man had admitted entering several cars here in the last few weeks, Ellington said.

Questioning of the suspect was to continue Monday afternoon. Ellington, Ranger John Wood and Deputy Bill Felts were making inquiries on specific car prowling cases on file here.

To File Charges
Ellington said formal charges will be filed against him, probably late Monday or Tuesday.

The man had been employed as a steel worker on an oil tank project near here, officers said. He is believed to have moved last from Houston about six weeks ago.

Letters and papers found in his room show he has resided in Hugo, Okla., and Houston in recent months.

Recent cases of automobile prowling here and in other West Texas cities have caused the loss of hundreds of dollars worth of clothing and other property, Ellington said.

Jewels Stolen From Core Laboratories

GREENVILLE, TEXAS.—(P)—Someone stole between $50,000 and $75,000 worth of diamonds from the Core Laboratories Saturday night, but to the thief they're practically worthless.

Plant officials said it would be almost impossible to peddle the 12,000 carats of industrial diamonds because of the close relationship between dealers and manufacturers.

The theft was discovered Sunday by the plant manager, Ed Williams, Jr., who estimated the loss contained 12,000 carats which would retail at between $50,000 and $75,000.

The haul would have filled about eight tea-cups. Industrial diamonds are second rate stones, have high luster, and are harder than most gems. They are used for cutting purposes.

The burglars pried open a door to the plant office and worked the combination on the safe.

Clara Bow Considers Two Movies And New York TV Bid

By ESKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD—Clara Bow, the screen's "It Girl" of the flapper era, is considering two movie offers and a New York TV bid. She's anxious to make some kind of a comeback and has made several trips from her Nevada ranch to confer with Hollywood agents.

Clara and her husband, ex-cowboy star Rex Bell, returned to the ranch several years ago. There was talk of Clara doing "Personality Appearance" at a little theater in New Mexico last summer, but the deal fell through.

Clara's casting switch for Lon McCallister, who always has played the young hero. He'll star this year in "The Hoodlum," the story of a kid who murdered his father.

James Whitmore gets the role of Clark Gable's auto racing pal in "To Please a Lady."

Wonder when Mark Robson will rate a testimonial banquet. His feat of directing three hit films in one year—"Champion," "Home of the Brave," and "My Foolish Heart," is a record.

M-G-M says Katharine Hepburn will be back on the lot this summer for another comedy with S. Tracy. "Tom, Dick and Harriet," Katie is now in the east with "As You Like It."

Love My Doctor
By Evelyn Barkins

XXXVI
IN December I began to make excited preparations for the Bob-Agnes nuptials.

"Of course you'll go," Agnes insisted, when I hesitated at first on account of my enlarged appearance. "Probably if it hadn't been for you and John, I wouldn't have hooked my fish yet, anyway."

"Sure," said Bob. "It was contagious. Bring the baby too."

"Well, then," I told John as we shopped for a dress. "I'll stay in a corner like the fat lady in the circus."

"Maybe you won't even be able to go to the wedding," my mother reminded me. "You might have the baby before."

"That's funny," I said, a little amused. "I'm so used to this bump of mine, I forget it's going to come off. It feels like a permanent fixture."

It was not until the next week, at Bob's wedding, though, that I finally knew beyond all doubt that an era had really ended for John and me. It was a tremendous affair, held in Agnes' surprisingly magnificent house. There was a real, live butter floating about, which was enough in itself to awe the entire hospital crowd as they stood in a private section by themselves, and held an impromptu author-meets-critic review.

"What a layout!" breathed Janet Grayson.

"Like the Roxy's ladies' room," I suggested.

"Maybe this is what lured our confirmed bachelor away," offered the hospital bachelor, old Dr. Kreuzman.

"Of course not," said John indignantly. "Bob" not that sort. Although, naturally," he added with a big grin to disguise the fact that he too was impressed, "that stuff does help."

DURING the ceremony, John and I sat close together, as did most of the other couples present. There is something about a ministerial voice intoning the marriage service that is overwhelmingly conducive to hand-holding.

It was as Bob and Agnes came down the improvised aisle, that the feeling of passed glory overcame me again. Bob's face had an excited, embarrassed expression on it, and Agnes' seemed dreamy and unsure and prayerful. There was much giggling and blushing and kissing. Agnes kept tasting the flavor of Mrs. Abbot over and over again, and the whole house was filled with the usual wedding atmosphere of joyous celebration for the present, and fearful hopes for the future.

"Doesn't this make you feel like an old, staid, married man?" I asked John.

"In a way," he said, "but I like it. We've got something together that they still have to work hard for—and I don't mean material things."

"Maybe," I said doubtfully, preparing to leave.

"That night we went to bed early, since I was unusually tired, but I couldn't sleep. I knew that what we had was better: the harmonious pattern instead of the fumbling, the depth of feeling instead of the shallow excitement, the assured closeness instead of the groping. It was just that the adventure seemed all over, and the monotony begun.

Suddenly, as I lay thinking, I felt the very first pain, and realized at once why everyone had laughed when I asked: "How will I know when I'm in labor?"

"John." At my slightest touch he sprang awake as if a tornado had struck him. "I've started. Just now."

"Darling," he said, with a horrified expression. Then he jumped out of bed without the slightest remnant of his professional poise. "Got to get to the hospital," he muttered, struggling with his pajama buttons as if they were Grand Canyon boulders he was trying to push through the holes.

Red Aggression In North China Should Be Discussed In UN

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The question of U. S. foreign policy to meet the threat of world communism seems to have been given different twists by the recent speeches of President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson.

Up until now, it generally has been assumed that the American position was stated in the "policy of containment" of Russian communism.

This policy has been attributed to State Department Councilor George F. Kennan. It was believed to imply that the United States must wage cold war to prevent further expansion of Russian Communist influence.

President Truman's State of the Union message seemed to confirm this policy against "the new imperialism" of the Communists. "In the world today," said the President, "we are confronted with the danger that the rising demand of people everywhere for freedom and a better way of life may be corrupted and betrayed by the false promises of communism. . . . This challenge to us is more than a military challenge. They include economic sanctions and the severance of diplomatic relations. Article 42 says that if these measures are inadequate, it may take such action by armed forces as may be necessary to maintain or restore international peace."

The question now becomes: Has the United States brought this matter of Russian aggression in the four northern provinces of China to the attention of the Security Council? The answer is it has not.

The United States delegation offered as a substitute a weaker resolution. It called on all UN members to observe China's independence and to seek no spheres of special influence in China. This resolution finally was passed, 45 to 9, the Russian bloc voting against it.

For my part, I welcome this resolution. It refers to the Security Council for continuous study and possible reference to the Security Council—now sitting in the next session of the General Assembly—which meets in September.

So far, the only public body before which Secretary Acheson has brought his charges is the National Press Club in Washington. It is admittedly a potent organization for some things, but not this. The secretary's new policy statement would seem to put it up to the U. S. delegates to the United Nations to start making more serious charges of their own against Communist aggression, and backing them up.

"The Soviet Union is detaching the northern provinces of China from China and is attaching them to the Soviet Union. This process is complete in outer Mongolia. It is almost complete in Manchuria and I am sure that in inner Mongolia and Sinkiang, there are very happy reports coming from Soviet agents to Moscow."

Any way you read this, it sounds like aggression going on. If that is true, the next question is, What is going to be done about it? Secretary Acheson warned against "the folly of ill-considered adventures on our part." He did not mention what they might be. But it is easy to infer that he means not getting involved in any wars in which the United States forces might get licked, such as in sending more aid to Nationalist China or trying to defend Formosa.

There, of course, is considerable argument still going on in Washington over the wisdom of those decisions. But assuming those decisions will not be changed, what else can be done to meet the threat of Russian imperialist aggression?

Article 39 of the United Nations Charter says, "The Security Council shall determine the existence of any threat to the peace, breach of the peace, or act of aggression and shall make recommendations, or decide what measures shall be taken in accordance with article 41 and 42 to maintain and restore international peace and security."

Article 41 says the Security Council

Abundant Living
By E. STANLEY JONES

Gal. 2:21; John 4:34; I Cor. 16:13.
OUR FREEDOM COMPLICATES GOD'S GAME

In this freedom of ours is God's problem and possibility. Our freedom is a problem to God. Someone has put it this way: "Here is a chessboard, and all the figures on the board, instead of being made of wood, are flesh and blood with wills of their own persons. The game for God would be simple if the figures would go where He desires them to go. But suppose, when God would make a move in the game against Evil, that the figures should balk and refuse to move, and instead should move, on their own, to other positions without reference to the Player—God. That would complicate the game and mess it up badly." That has happened. And that is God's problem.

But our freedom is also His possibility. Suppose those figures should learn that failure and mix-up come through move on their own and refusal to co-operate with the Player, and should thus be chastened into choice of co-operation with the Player. Then, suppose God and man should play the game in co-operation—and win! How much finer that would be than to win against Evil with only wooden pawns to play with!

You and I can co-operate with God, can align our wills with His, can make His wisdom our own, and in the end can make the victory a joint victory. What a possibility for God and us! I would rather be a discontented man than a contented worm, for that discontent would drive me to His feet. "Blessed are the homesick, for they will come home," says a German proverb.

A little boy of five, after seeing a puppet show, expressed his reaction thus to the doctor: "I'm glad I'm not one of those pretending persons. They have to do what they are told." The lad was right—with all the hazards, all the possibilities for breakdown, all the heartaches involved in freedom, we don't want to be one of those "pretending persons." We would rather be real persons, standing up and making our choices with all their possibilities of good and ill.

O God, my Father, I feel I can begin to call Thee that now, for I want to co-operate with Thee. I have been making foolish and disastrous moves on my own and getting into a mess with myself and others and spoiling the game. Help me to play Thy game, Amen.

Bulldogs To Face Lubbock Tuesday

The Midland Bulldogs will face their toughest test of the season Tuesday night when they engage the Lubbock Westerners on the hardwood at the Midland High School Gym.

It'll be an improved Midland team that takes the floor against the classy Lubbock five, however. Coach Jack Mashburn's charges went to the finals in the Big Lake Invitation Tournament last weekend and showed much better form.

Norman Drake, David Weaver, Harrie Smith, Reed Gilmore and Ollie Phillips came to life in the tournament. They sparked a good offensive attack which may pose a threat to the rampaging Westerners.

The Tuesday night tilt will be the first in more than a week for the Bulldogs in conference play. They had a lay-off last week while mid-term exams were in progress.

Bulldogs Play
The 'B' Bulldogs, out of action all last week, meet the 'B' Westerners in a warmup tilt preceding the varsity game. The opener is slated at 8:45 p.m.

Lubbock currently is leading District 3-A-A, having won all its conference games thus far.

Lettermen back from last season's team which went far in the state race, give the Westerners good material at every position.

The Bulldogs are scheduled to play at Brownfield Friday night as the district campaign continues.

Coach Mashburn has entered the Purple in the Odessa Invitation Tournament to be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Arizona's Wildcats Are Tree-Top Tall In Border Loop Battle

There is a basketball lull in the Border Conference this week. Rival coaches may use it to seek ways of slowing the league-leading University of Arizona Wildcats.

At the moment Arizona appears headed for its fifth straight title.

In winning its five conference starts, Arizona has averaged 73.6 points. It has kept opponents to 53.2 points.

Only two of the other eight entries have shown signs of being able to challenge Arizona's supremacy.

Second-place Arizona State College at Tempe has averaged 71.2 points in four games. It has allowed opponents 63.2 points each time out.

Tempe Falls Short
But Tempe fell far short of matching Arizona's strength when they met last week. The defending champs won by 20 points. Tempe has a poor 8-10 overall record to pit against Arizona's 13-1.

The other threat is West Texas State.

West Texas was given a good chance to snap Arizona's 58-game winning streak on its home court last week. Instead it lost to Arizona State College at Flagstaff and Tempe as well as to the champs. But it gave Arizona one of its hardest games of the season and is expected to finish high in the standings.

Hardin-Simmons is in third place but may have trouble staying there. It and Texas Tech, Texas Western and New Mexico A&M appear evenly matched.

Only two league games are scheduled this week. Tempe goes to Flagstaff on Friday. Texas Western visits the New Mexico Aggies Saturday.

Hogs Hold Scant Cage Chase Lead
Baylor meets pace-setting Arkansas Saturday in the only game scheduled in the Southwest Conference this week. A victory for Baylor would leave these teams tied for the lead: Arkansas, Baylor, Southern Methodist and Texas A&M.

Arkansas stood alone at the top of the standings after last week's hectic play.

Texas A&M knocked off Rice 56-37; Texas Christian beat Baylor 64-54; Arkansas downed Southern Methodist 63-55, and Baylor trounced Rice 52-43.

At the moment, Southern Methodist and A&M are tied for second place, with Texas Christian, Texas and Baylor grouped in fourth.

Rice is last.

Joe McDermott, Rice center, chalked up 30 points in two games last week and leads season scoring with 274 points and conference scoring with 96. Jewell McDowell, Texas A&M, is second in season scoring with 230 points, and George McLeod, Texas Christian is second in conference play with 72 points.

Arkansas was the pre-season choice to take the championship, and a victory over Baylor Saturday night at Little Rock would increase the Porkers' chances considerably.

City Cage League teams are working out a double-header to be played here soon to aid the March of Dimes.

It is hoped Rotary Engineers can schedule Bill Hale Motors of Odessa in the feature attraction.

VFW or some other team probably will go against an independent outfit from Andrews or Seminole.

All proceeds will be donated to the March of Dimes.

Thanks to Jack Locke of Rotary Engineers, Pat McMullan and Art Grove, for working up the card to aid such a worthy cause.

Carl Carter, the Vernon Duster knuckle-baller of last season, has been named manager of the Jacksonville entry in the newly organized Class C Gulf Coast League.

Carter will be a playing-manager which means he will be serving that floater to Gulf Coast hitters.

The West Texas-New Mexico League held its yearly meeting in Albuquerque Saturday. The directors voted some most interesting things.

One is: There'll be a player of the week, a player of the month and a player of the year in the league.

The other: The league will play only 147 games but that's the longest schedule in history. Season opens April 2.

It looks like the Longhorn League is the only one in this area which will play a full 154-game schedule.

HALFT SLANTS — Billy Herman, one of the great major leaguers, will play second base for Oakland of Pacific Coast League this year . . . Pancho Gonzales notched his 14th victory over Jack Kramer Sunday, winning a match in Santa Barbara, California . . . Harold Webb has started mailing out contracts to players on the Indians' roster . . . Dartmouth grid Coach Tuss MeLaughry is having long range nightmares. "I shudder whenever I think about scheduling Army for that four-game series that starts in 1957," he says . . . The Brooklyn Dodgers hit better on the road than they did in Ebbets Field last season. The road average was .279. They hit .297 at home.

Scribes Pick Top Sports Upset Of Last Half-Century

NEW YORK—(AP)—On July 11 of 1914, the Boston Braves were running dead last in the National League—11 1/2 games behind the pace-setting New York Giants.

Three months later the team directed by "Miracle Man" George Stallings won the National League flag by 10 1/2 games and plastered the famed Philadelphia Athletics four straight in a sensational World Series.

That, say the nation's sports writers and sportscasters, was the greatest sports upset of the first 50 years of the century.

By a margin of 128 to 53 the amazing feat of the Hub City immortals has been adjudged a greater shocker than Gene Tunney's victory over Jack Dempsey in their first fight for the heavyweight title at Philadelphia in 1926.

Only one other upset in the 50 years got real serious support among the 361 experts.

That was little Centre College's dramatic 6-0 triumph over Harvard back in 1921, when the Crimson was a football power to be reckoned with. Forty cast their ballots for Bo McMillin and the storied Praying Colonels.

Other Top-Nochers
Following was the result of The Associated Press poll for the greatest upset of the last 50 years:

128—Boston Braves' victory over Athletics in 1914 World Series.

53—Tunney's defeat of Dempsey in first title fight in 1926.

40—Centre College's football victory over Harvard in 1921.

24—Braddock's defeat of Baer for heavyweight title in 1935.

21—Upset's win over Man O'War in 1919.

12—Schmeling's knockout of Louis in 1936.

10—Notre Dame's football win over Army in 1913.

7—Dempsey's knockout of Willard in 1919.

7—Holy Cross football win over Boston College in 1942.

7—Navy's football 21-21 tie with Army in 1948.

4—New York Yankees' World Series win in 1949.

4—Cincinnati's win over Chicago White Sox in 1919 World Series.

3—Columbia's win over Stanford in '34 Rose Bowl.

3—Alabama's '49 win over Alabama in football.

Receiving a single vote as the greatest upset in 50 years was the Notre Dame-SMU football game in 1949.

Sauer Signs With Baylor

George Sauer, right, whose loyalty to two of his assistants led him to resign as head coach of U. S. Naval Academy, signs a five-year contract with Baylor University, Waco. He'll be head football coach and athletic director at Baylor. With Sauer are W. R. White, president of Baylor, left, and Dr. W. W. Melton, chairman of the board of trustees. Sauer replaces Bob Woodruff, who resigned unexpectedly to coach at the University of Florida.

Russell, Master Of Offense, No Slouch On Defense, Either

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
DALLAS —(AP)—H. N. (Rusty) Russell, who brought the plays he cooked for the greatest offensive record as a high school coach into big-time football with dazzling results, is Southern Methodist's new gridiron head man.

The 54-year-old Russell, assistant coach at SMU for five years, was elevated to the head coaching job over the weekend, as Matty Bell, for 26 years a college mentor—half that time at Southern Methodist—resigned to devote all his attention to being athletic director.

It was an action that had been rumored for five years and undoubtedly was the reason why Russell, offered head coaching jobs at several colleges, decided to stay at SMU and give Methodist football his "flicker play"—a tricky reverse—and the "Sally Rand play" (a tricky naked reverse), and that puzzling formation that had Notre Dame's Fighting Irish going around talking to themselves.

Russell has the reputation in the Southwest of being one of football's greatest offensive coaches. And he has been just that at SMU, where he was charged specifically with designing all offensive patterns. But in high school coaching—when he spent 23 years—he also had the reputation of being a master defense builder, too. At Highland Park High School of Dallas, where he coached three years, his teams in 33 games gave up only 169 points.

Russell first broke into coaching prominence when he tutored little Masonic Home of Fort Worth for 16 years, during which he lost only 30 games and perennially was in the state high school play-offs.

ACC Wildcats Pace Texas Loop Cagers
By The Associated Press
Abilene Christian College is a cinch to hold its lead in the Texas Conference basketball race this week, but there's a chance for plenty of congestion around second place.

The ACC Wildcat, shooting for their third straight title, won both their conference games last week to make it four victories against no losses for the conference season.

This week ACC is idle but Austin, tied for second with Texas A&I, takes on Howard Payne Saturday night at Sherman. Howard Payne opens the week's schedule Tuesday night by meeting winless McMurry in a loop tilt.

Other games this week match McMurry and Eastern New Mexico at Abilene Wednesday and Texas A&I and Southwest Texas at San Marcos Friday and Saturday.

Last week ACC beat Austin 46-45 and McMurry 43-38. Southwest's game with Howard Payne was postponed.

DADDY RINGTAIL

By WESLEY DAVIS

Daddy Ringtail And The Wolf Dinner

The Huffen Puffen is a friendly wolf who tries to stay out of mischief, but he doesn't think very well, and one day—one day—all yes, because I want to tell you about it.

The Huffen was hiding outside the door where Mother Ringtail was busy in the kitchen of the monkey house. The Huffen was listening and listening, to see maybe what people would say about him when they thought he wasn't there to hear. This is what he heard: "Mother Ringtail"—it was Daddy Ringtail talking. "Mother Ringtail," Daddy Ringtail said, "that's an awfully big fire you have in the stove."

Said Mother Ringtail: "Yes, and this is an awfully big pan that I'm going to cook in."

Said Daddy Ringtail: "Are we going to have someone for dinner?"

"We're going to have the Huffen Puffen," Mother Ringtail said, with a big, big pan in her hand. "Ah-oooo!" the Huffen Puffen

Away the Huffen ran on down the Elephant Path with Daddy Ringtail running and running to catch him. "Huffen Puffen! Stop! Stop! Wait up!"

But the Huffen didn't stop, and he didn't wait up. He ran on and on so fast that his tail was sticking out straight behind him—on up the Elephant Path and around by the river and back again with Daddy Ringtail close behind him.

"Huffen Puffen!" Daddy Ringtail said. "Now calm yourself!"

"Nobody's going to make a dinner of me, they're not!" said the Huffen.

And then Daddy Ringtail explained that nobody wanted to eat a Huffen Puffen for dinner. Mother Ringtail was only cooking a big pan of scrambled coconut, and she only wanted the Huffen to come eat dinner with the Ringtail family, and that is what she meant when she said that they were going to have the Huffen for dinner.

The Huffen laughed when he understood, but I hope he remembers next time that people should never hide and listen to what other people are saying. The somebody doing the hiding very often gets into trouble. Happy day!

The classical influence predominates in this conception of what the 'Man of Tomorrow' may wear. The creation by Tina Leser was exhibited at the New York Metropolitan Museum of Art. Besides the plaid skirt, there were beackles, collarless, tail-less shirts with ruffled sleeves and pleated bosoms among the things women think men will wear in the future.

GRAMMER-MURPHEY

In Midland Its Grammer-Murphey For Beautiful Clothes

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

"Till Me, Pretty Maiden . . ." sang the "Floradora" girls in the year 1900, and the famous double sextette—six men, six women—with its catchy tunes and graceful dancing, became the toast of Broadway. Watch closely and you might catch a glimpse of a shapely ankle through the "fluffy-ruffles" petticoats. There were many, many different "Floradora" girls in the years that followed, most all of them beautiful brunettes with shapely, Gibson-girl figures and nice voices. Volumes have been written about how the members of the original sextettes prospered in later life, through judicious marriage or careful attention to the stock market. For years, Granddad got that young feeling when you mentioned the "simple girls (and proper, too)" of the "Floradora" sextette.

Veterans Of Two States Are Eligible To File For Bonuses

AUSTIN—(AP)—If you're a veteran and a former resident of Pennsylvania or Washington, the Texas Veterans Affairs Commission suggests you check up on your eligibility for a bonus those states are paying. Washington is paying $10 for each month of domestic service and $15 for foreign service. Residence of at least one year in that state immediately preceding entry into service is required. Pennsylvania veterans will receive a like bonus with a $600 maximum, provided you were a resident of that state at the time of your induction and spent at least 60 days in service. The commission said application blanks for both states are available from any county service officer, veterans organization or from the Veterans Affairs Commission here.
