State Rests In Rodeo Murder Trial

Frizzell Case Moves Along At Fast Clip

The state rested its case at 11:20 a.m. Tuesday in the trial here of Herbert Frizzell, charged with murder in the slaying of Henry Preston (Buck) Jones at a Big Spring rodeo last August 4.

The trial was moving at a surprisingly fast pace, with five character witnesses taking the stand for the defense before the noon recess was called by Judge Charles Sullivan. The hearing of testimony was to be resumed at 1:30 p.m.

The state called up only four of its witnesses. First to take the stand at 9 a.m. Tuesday was G. C. Coates, a farmer who resides three and one-half miles north of Coahoma, in Howard County.

Coates testified he was a short distance from Jones when he (Jones) was shot. He said he saw Frizzell enter a rodeo gate, hesitate, and then walk straight toward Jones. Coates testified further that he saw Frizzell lunge and grab Jones by the collar.

Jones slumped to the ground after being shot in the back, and then Frizzell stood over the prone man, snapping his pistol, after two more shots were fired, Coates said.

Heard Four Shots
Jones slumped to the ground after being shot in the back, and then Frizzell stood over the prone man, snapping his pistol, after two more shots were fired, Coates said.

Slaughter said Jones was lying on his back when he reached him and that he heard a total of four shots fired.

Slaughter said he approached Jones shortly before the rodeo opened that night and told Jones he didn't want any more trouble around the rodeo.

Slaughter said Jones replied "I've seen all of this world I want to see and I have taken all I'm going to take."

C. E. Kizer, Howard County deputy sheriff, identified a pistol as the one taken from Frizzell after the shooting.

At this point in the trial, the defense produced an automatic pistol which Frizzell identified as having been taken from the person of Jones as he lay wounded.

The written testimony of Dr. John H. Fish of Big Spring, who was unable to appear as a witness, was read into the record. Fish's testimony was that Jones (Continued On Page Seven)

Booted Posse Presses Hunt For Murderer

MARFA—(P)—Booted possemen climbed mountain trails at dawn again Tuesday in their search for the handcuffed slayer of a popular Texas sheriff.

They admitted their quarry already may have escaped into the wilds of the Sierra Del Carmen Mountains across the Rio Grande in Mexico.

The hunt, with all the elements of a Wild West thriller, was pressed on foot, on horseback, by car and even by air.

There were grim-faced sheriffs of the Big Bend country of Southwest Texas, Texas Rangers, U. S. Border Patrolmen, all with gun belts buckled tight.

Monday they picked up the trail of the man who shot Sheriff O. W. (Blaekie) Morrow, 43, on a lonely mountain road early Sunday. But they lost the trail when it reached a goat camp only seven miles from the twisting Rio Grande. The tracks had been trampled out by goats.

Deputy Sheriff Ernest Barnett said it's very possible that the man got across the river. There are about 50 miles of river front there where he could have got across by this time. At the closest point to where the sheriff was shot, the trail was cut without any trouble, even though handcuffed.

Times Pages Turned Back
The posse believes the husky, six-foot sheriff was shot by a man he had arrested and handcuffed—and who somehow managed to wrest Morrow's gun from him, shoot the officer and escape manacled into some of the continent's most rugged country.

The posse showed the pages of time to the days of the old West. It brought back the posse on horseback—booted men packing six-shooters; the sign cutters—men who can read a story in a smashed tin can; the posse on horseback—booted men packing six-shooters; the sign cutters—men who can read a story in a smashed tin can.

Texas Ranger Gully Cowart rode into Marfa late Monday night and said a mounted posse had tracked the killer of Morrow 15 miles into the desert mountains but lost his trail near the Mexican border.

Cowart led the posse again Tuesday morning. River riders paralleled the Rio Grande through the night to prevent the killer slipping through the desert.

Under the British parliamentary system, the government must resign if it loses a vote on any important issue.

Churchill's demands for three votes of confidence within a week were interpreted by observers as harassing tactics to keep the Labor government under pressure and to build up issues for the next election campaign.

Tuesday night's test came in a Conservative motion saying the House of Commons "deplores the failure of the chancellor of the Exchequer to enforce his own instructions to government departments not to overspend so extensively their estimates for the current year."

McCarthy Calls Names

Senator Joseph R. McCarthy, right, Republican from Wisconsin, opens his brief case at a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee hearing in Washington. At left is Haldore Hanson, State Department official, who was cited by Senator McCarthy as having "pro-Communist proclivities," as he appeared at a hastily-arranged press conference in Washington.

McCarthy Names More Alleged Reds

WASHINGTON—(P)—Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) charged Tuesday that the State Department gave a high post to a former Spanish Republican Army officer, Gustavo Duran, although U. S. Army reports labelled him a Russian agent.

Continuing to detail to a Senate investigating subcommittee his contention that the department has employed poor security risks, McCarthy also said that Dr. Harry Shapley, American delegate to the United Nations Commission, has been affiliated with at least 36 Communist-front organizations.

A reported sexual perversion—he did not identify the person—had been "allowed to resign" from the State Department in 1948 and now is employed by the Central Intelligence Administration at $12,000 a year.

He has heard reports that John Stewart Service, American consul at Calcutta, was considered a bad security risk by the Loyalty Appeal Board of the Civil Service Commission in a decision reached last March 3. McCarthy asked the Senate investigators to check on this.

Now UN Employee
Duran formerly was an assistant to the assistant secretary of State in charge of Latin American Affairs, McCarthy said he left the State Department in 1946 "after intense congressional pressure and criticism."

As of Monday, McCarthy said, Duran was employed as a representative of the International Refugee Organization, an agency of the United Nations.

C. of C. Directors Pledge Cooperation In WTA Meeting

Full cooperation of the Chamber of Commerce in the staging of the annual convention of the West Texas Teachers Association here Thursday and Friday was assured by chamber directors at their meeting Monday night in Hotel Scharbauer.

The directors also heard reports on membership and highway activities and adopted resolutions opposing two legislative proposals now before Congress.

B. G. Grafs, chairman of the Chamber's Publicity Committee, and Bert Ryan, Education Committee chairman, told of plans for the teacher's convention, which they say will be the largest ever held here. They said more than 2,000 delegates are expected.

"Welcome Teachers" banner will be placed across Wall Street in downtown Midland, and welcome cards will be provided by the C. of C. for distribution to business firms. Registration envelopes also will be furnished.

President Robert L. Wood presided at the meeting. He reported that directors have accounted for 19 new Chamber of Commerce members in their effort to increase the membership revenue of the organization.

The directors adopted two resolutions, copies of which will be forwarded to Senators Tom Connally and Lyndon B. Johnson and to Rep. Ken Regan. One resolution opposes the passage by Congress of compulsory military training.

Another resolution opposes the so-called Middle Income Housing Bill, particularly Title III, which would set up a new government-backed corporation to provide direct loans and other aid to cooperatives.

Texas warmed up somewhat Tuesday after freezing weather and frost punished much of the state during the night.

The chilling during the night extended even to Brownsville at Texas' southern tip, where the temperature fell to 47. Other low readings included Dalhart 22, Abilene 28, Amarillo 26, Austin 30, Big Spring 33, Dallas 29, Houston 35, San Antonio 32 and Marfa 32.

A slow but steady temperature rise Tuesday night and Wednesday was forecast.

Plainview was chosen as the host city for the 1951 convocation of the Episcopal Missionary District of North Texas at the closing business session of the Fortieth Annual Convocation in the Trinity Episcopal Church here Monday.

Registration totaled 188 persons of whom approximately 145 were from other cities.

The Rev. C. Gresham Marmion, Jr., of Dallas, speaker at the convocation dinner which ended the two-day meeting Monday night, stressed the part which laymen are playing in the development of the church, as he reviewed the national program of the Episcopal Church, with special attention to work in the domestic mission field.

Influenza Cases Are Declining Here

A decline from last week in the number of influenza cases here was reported Tuesday by Dr. F. E. Sadler, director of the Midland City-County Health Unit.

A survey conducted by school authorities also disclosed that absenteeism in the various schools of the city is not as high as last week.

Dr. Sadler stated in his opinion it will not be necessary to close the public schools as suggested by numerous persons. He said he had discussed the situation with Frank Monroe, superintendent of schools, who is of the same opinion.

Dr. Sadler stated he also has talked with several physicians who report a decline in the number of flu cases here.

"It wouldn't do much good to close the schools at this time," Dr. Sadler said. However, we are keeping in close touch with the situation and will take such steps as are necessary in controlling the disease."

The superintendent of school's office Tuesday reported the number of absentees and the approximate enrollment by schools, as follows: high school, 77-700; junior high, 111-950; North Elementary, 85-350; South Elementary, 65-800; West Elementary, 81-470; Latin American, 38-290; Carver, 65-480.

Labor Government Twice Winner, Faces Third Crucial Test

LONDON—(P)—Britain's Labor government, victorious in two crucial policy tests, mobilized its slim majority in the House of Commons Tuesday to beat down a third Conservative attack on Laborite spending policies.

By rounding up every available Laborite member, including some from sick-beds, Prime Minister Attlee's government Monday night won a 25-vote majority against a Tory motion criticizing its housing record. The vote was 314 to 289.

The first test came last week. That vote showed a Labor victory of only 14 votes against Conservative Leader Winston Churchill's attacks on the government's program to nationalize the iron and steel industry.

Under the British parliamentary system, the government must resign if it loses a vote on any important issue.

Churchill's demands for three votes of confidence within a week were interpreted by observers as harassing tactics to keep the Labor government under pressure and to build up issues for the next election campaign.

Hero Johnson Outchomps The Popcorn Chombers

By BRISKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD—I've finally realized a burning ambition. I went to a movie and had a seven-course dinner—shrimp cocktail to flaming Cherries Jubilee—served to me at my center section, two off the side seat.

Another course, though, and I would have had permanent scars to prove it. An unsuspecting popcorn-loving audience at the plush Encore Theater had come to eat and watch Shelley Winters sin in the South Seas. My tuxedoed waiter, tossing green salad and squab under glass, just didn't fit into their vision.

But the anti-popcorn element cheered me through to the desert. As it turned out, the theater had to make refunds to only eight indignant customers who left in what they said was a huff about the time I was sinking my teeth into a piece of crisp, noisy celery.

I shall reimburse the Encore Theater for this loss on an expense account item which I will clarify to my boss with: "Reimbursement to Encore Theater, Encino, Calif. Eight ticket refunds while proving that people should not eat at the movies."

It was, after all, a liberal victory for Johnson. Liked The Idea? There was enthusiastic applause when beaming theater owner Jules Cedar went to the stage and announced that I was in the audience prepared to wolf a seven-course dinner as a one-man protest against eating at the movies.

There were generous laughs when Don Avalor, my favorite headwater, marched down the aisle with a snowy napkin ahead of an iced shrimp cocktail on a tray carried by two red-coated assistants.

It wasn't until the popcorn lovers in the audience got a whiff of the squab that things started to get the determination that he had paid to see, Shelley Winters sin and not watch Johnson eat, shouted: "Throw the bum out. We want Shelley."

Another stood up and announced: "I'm leaving." He did. From that point on I lunged to my fork for proteins rather than gustatory reasons.

But I was still game and the anti-popcorn contingent was still behind me. Manager Cedar was behind me, too, but for a different reason. He kept whispering: "Hurry up. Wipe your chin. They want Shelley!"

I made a stab at the squab but had it snatched away by the now apprehensive waiters who looked as if they expected a horde of policemen any second.

The Cherries Jubilee arrived with a hushed rush. The anti-popcorn group applauded as Headwater Avalor struck a match and lit the brandy for the flaming dessert. Avalor is an actor in his spare time (currently in "Highway Patrol") and has a flair for the dramatic. But even his flair with the flare couldn't stop the gumdrop set from shouting: "Wait until the fire department hears about this."

There were even cries for "Bugs Bunny," although I am not aware of Bugs' fire-fighting abilities. I polished off the dessert in two gulps, wiped my chin and made a dash for the lobby just as Shelley Winters, Lord loves her, took over the screen.

Cedar, the owner, was there waiting for me but he was no longer beaming. For a minute I thought he had lost his popcorn to let me realize my burning ambition. Cedar was brave enough to bite on his theater, but he had not counted on some of his customers not getting the joke.

He told me about the refunds to eight customers, assured me he had the "best-tasting" popcorn in town and even invited me back "WITHOUT DINNER." He was very emphatic about the latter point and I don't blame him. I'll have to admit things got rather tense there during the squab course.

But I did it and I'm happy. I upset a theater by eating dinner at my center section, two off the aisle seat. Now popcorn munchers know how they upset me.

I'm sorry I couldn't wait to see the movie.

Press agents aren't the only ones throwing the bull in Hollywood at the moment. Coming up are four bull-fighting pictures—"The Brave Bulls," "Monter, the Matador," "Torero" and "Torador."

Bob Taylor and Barbara Stanwyck have leased an apartment in Rome next door to the villa occupied by I. Bergman while she awaited the stork. Bob will be working in "Que Vadis" and Barbara will vacation there for a month this Summer.

One year through a mistake Notre Dame scheduled a very small college. The squad was so limited in weight and numbers that Coach Knute Rockne agreed that the substitution rule could be waived. In those days, if a man was taken off he could not return to the game in that same half. But Rockne told the other coach to send in a player as many times as he wanted to.

The contest, if such it might be called, was drawing to a close and the score was something like 79 to 0 in favor of the mighty Irish. Rockne happened to glance down at the player sitting beside him and the man was a member of the other team.

"Son," Rockne said, "you're on the wrong bench."

"Oh, no, I'm not," was the reply. "I've been in that game nine times now and if I get in there one more time, your team will finish killing me. No, I'm not on the wrong bench—and I'm staying right here till the game's over."

Army Also Will Buy Grade C Beef

WASHINGTON—The Army has given up the idea of buying only Grade B beef for Army, Navy and Air Force tables.

Beginning April 1, it will buy Grade C beef as well. Grade B is choice, Grade C average. Both are within the range of the U. S. grade called "good." The Army buys no Grade A beef, the choicest and most expensive.

Last January 1, the Quartermaster Corps stopped buying Grade C and began limiting its purchases to Grade B. This was done, the Army said, to determine in a test whether sufficient quantities of Grade B could be obtained to meet military requirements, at reasonable prices.

Monday, a spokesman said the Army will buy about equal quantities of Grade B and Grade C beef after April 1.

In the test since January 1, he said in reply to questions, the service found it could get enough Grade B beef at reasonable prices at this time of year. But it found also, he added, that limiting purchases to Grade B restricted buying to certain cattle-growing areas, contrary to the policy of spreading quartermaster purchases as widely as possible.

Had buying continued to be limited to Grade B, the spokesman said, purchases from the Southwest would have been eliminated.

Baby Girl Dies As Too Many Spectators Block Out Firemen

AMITE, La.—A four-month-old Joann Chavers died Monday in a blaze which firemen said they could not reach because of so many spectators.

Charles Boyd, 52, a neighbor, rushed into the burning house and rescued Luther Chavers, Jr., the girl's three-year-old brother. But he was not able to re-enter the house.

Mrs. Jessie Dunkin, another neighbor, was burned on the hands and face in an effort to reach the girl.

The fire was said to have started from a trash burner. At an indignation meeting Monday night, Fire Chief Joseph Binder charged that curiosity seekers had blocked traffic at fires.

INCOME TAX TROUBLE?—It's A Lead Pipe Cinch; Just Let The Wife Do It

By ED CREAGH

NEW YORK—(AP)—"If only you wouldn't put everything off 'til the last minute," my wife said. "If only—"

"Shhh," I said. "How can I concentrate on Line 6, Page 3?" "Three months you've had to do this. But no. You have to wait until practically midnight, March 15."

"Shhh." "You may not have noticed, Eagle Eye, but Line 6, Page 3 is to be filled in by single people. You're married. Remember?"

In other words, the production going on at our house was "Income Tax Return Night." Subtitle: "It Happens Every Year." Maybe you've had the same experience yourself.

Better late than never is my motto. Suppose I sent my return in early—and then got run over by a truck. Suppose (shhh!) Congress repealed the income tax after I'd paid mine. Suppose—

"Well, I'll just put this aside till tomorrow."

I looked at my wife. She looked at me.

Slowly, she reached over and took Form 1040 from my unresisting fingers.

"You win," she said. "I'll do it for you. Go along to bed. Do you know," she called after me, "what keeps me going from year to year?"

"Nnnnnh?"

"It's the hope," said my wife, "the dim hope that someday, some year, you'll make out your income tax return all by yourself."

400 Doctors Are Invited To Parley

More than 400 invitations have been sent to doctors in the 21-county Second District of the Texas State Medical Association for a meeting to be held March 28 in Midland.

Dr. C. S. Britt, president of the District Association, and Dr. R. M. Golladay, secretary-treasurer, will end their terms when new officers are named at the meeting.

The Second District was reorganized after World War II, with the first annual meeting held last year in Big Spring.

An outstanding program has been planned for visiting doctors, according to Dr. Golladay. The program will be climaxed by a dinner in the Crystal Ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer.

Members of the women's auxiliary will be entertained at luncheon at the Midland Country Club, and will hold a business meeting at the home of Dr. J. H. Chapple in the afternoon.

Counties included in the district are Dickens, King, Yoakum, Terry, Lynn, Garza, Kent, Stonewall, Gaines, Dawson, Borden, Scurry, Fisher, Nolan, Mitchell, Howard, Martin, Andrews, Glasscock, Midland and Ector.

Judy Coplon Free On $40,000 Bail

NEW YORK—(AP)—Convicted spy Judy Coplon won freedom Monday in $40,000 bail.

U. S. Court of Appeals Judge Thomas W. Swan set the bail after Valentin A. Gubitchev, convicted with Miss Coplon of plotting to spy for the Russians, announced he would accept the offer of the U. S. government and return to Russia.

Miss Coplon will go free in the same amount of bail that was posted for her before her conviction. She is appealing that conviction and an earlier verdict of guilty on charges of stealing government secrets for the Russians.

Meanwhile Gubitchev remains in jail.

Gubitchev said he would sail March 20 aboard the Gyndia-American liner Estory, the ship on which Communist underground leader Gerhart Eisler fled this country last year.

34 Persons, Nine Firms Indicted In Income Tax Frauds

NEW YORK—(AP)—Federal prosecutors went to work Tuesday on a stack of indictments accusing 34 persons and nine firms of cheating the government out of more than two million dollars in wartime income taxes.

A special federal grand jury returned 23 indictments Monday—almost on the eve of Wednesday's deadline for payment of 1949 income taxes. More indictments were expected Tuesday.

The defendants allegedly failed to report income totaling an estimated $2,819,081 between the years 1942 and 1948, thereby defrauding the government of $2,032,649 in taxes.

The individuals, most of them New York businessmen in the high income brackets, were scheduled for arraignment Wednesday before Federal Judge Harold R. Medina.

U. S. Attorney Irving H. Saypol said most of the defendants concealed money made on the black market during the days of rationing and scarcity.

Plaintiffs' Fees He said they covered up "gains from wartime dealings in scarce commodities and services, ranging from textiles to hotels and from plastics to parties."

Others, he said, failed to report income from military accessories sold in post exchanges.

Some of the defendants, named in six counts, face possible prison terms of 30 years—five years for each count—and heavy fines if convicted. The corporations are liable to heavy fines.

Convictions also would open the way for the government to collect back taxes and penalties totalling an estimated $4,000,000.

Saypol said most of the individuals and firms apparently operated independently of one another.

To conceal profits, he added, they used such means as destroying papers, cashing checks without recording them, and setting up secret bank accounts.

Texas Day Is Program Of Music Club

A program of Texas music and dances was presented to the Civic Music Club for its Texas Day program in the West Elementary School Monday night.

Mrs. George Grant was the director for the program, which was opened by the singing of the state song, "Texas Our Texas," March, by the audience. Square dance numbers were given by the third grade of West Elementary School and Troop 12 of the Senior Girl Scouts. Mrs. Dorothy Melzer sang "Petal Drift," Robertson, accompanied by Mrs. Clyde Miller.

Dorothy Routh sang "Prayer," Gulon, and "Red Buds," Marsh. A discussion of the Texas musicians, Fox, Gulon and Marsh, was given by Mrs. Grant. "The Hills of Home" and "My Heart Is A Silent Violin," Fox, were sung by a quartet composed of Virginia Brusehan, soprano, Margaret Smith, alto, William Cobb, tenor, and Malcolm Gibson, bass. Rosemary Bohl accompanied them at the piano.

Announcement was made of the guest violinist whom the club will bring to Midland March 27. He is Lawrence Hegyl, concert master of the San Antonio Symphony Orchestra.

Tiny Men To Enact Seven Dwarfs In Play Coming Here

The company of actors which will present "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" in the new high school auditorium Monday night includes a group of real dwarfs.

Tiny men, all expert performers and none taller than four feet, will play the seven dwarfs who befriended Snow White and who protect her from the wicked witch in the familiar fairy tale. The actors are with the Penthouse Productions, a touring company which gives a musical version of the play.

The production in Midland will be sponsored by the High School Parent-Teacher Association as a benefit for its fund to purchase equipment for the school. Mrs. John McKinley is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements.

This company has presented "Snow White" in a tour over the entire United States and the dwarfs have delighted children and grown-ups alike with their comedy antics, acrobatics and personal charm.

Like others in the cast, they are all experienced actors who were engaged when the touring company was formed in New York. Some of the dwarfs have been with circuses; they display their tumbling tricks to Snow White in the play as another entertaining feature of the show.

Doctrine Of Servility

Reliable informants have been telling the free nations for years that Russia has a slave labor force of 15,000,000 to 20,000,000 people. But not until now have we had evidence of the role these workers play in the total Russian economy.

Miss Toni Sender of the American Federation of Labor has given the United Nations photostatic copies of documents indicating that the Soviet secret police, MVD, manages slave labor projects basic to Russian planning.

Slave workers turn out a tenth of all Soviet furniture and kitchenware, an eighth of all timber produced, 40 per cent of the chrome, 75 per cent of the gold, 14 per cent of all major construction.

They build and maintain all paved roads, all rail lines through isolated regions (which are plentiful in the Soviet Union). They mine uranium for atomic use, and build and operate all atomic developments.

In numerous other industries, forced labor accounts for from 10 to 50 per cent of total Soviet output. Russia, of course, has acknowledged that it has a "controlled" labor force. But it insists these workers are "criminals" and describes the places where they live as "corrective camps."

Russia, then, must be swarming with millions of criminals. For no small force could accomplish what MVD's slaves have done. One suspects that their two chief crimes are in opposing Russian Communist leaders and simply being alive. The MVD camps often seem designed to "correct" both these annoying habits.

Miss Sender's documentary evidence means this: No longer can anyone fairly dismiss Russian forced labor as an unfortunate aside in an otherwise progressive economic system, as a lot of Soviet apologists have tried to do. Slave labor is clearly the very heart and substance of the Russian economy.

Where does this leave the glorious dream of Russian communism, with its promises of fair treatment and equality for all?

It seems incredible that any American, however unlucky his own lot, could look with hope toward a country whose leaders have put a tenth of their 200,000,000 people in chains. As practiced in the Soviet Union, communism is a doctrine not of equality but of servility.

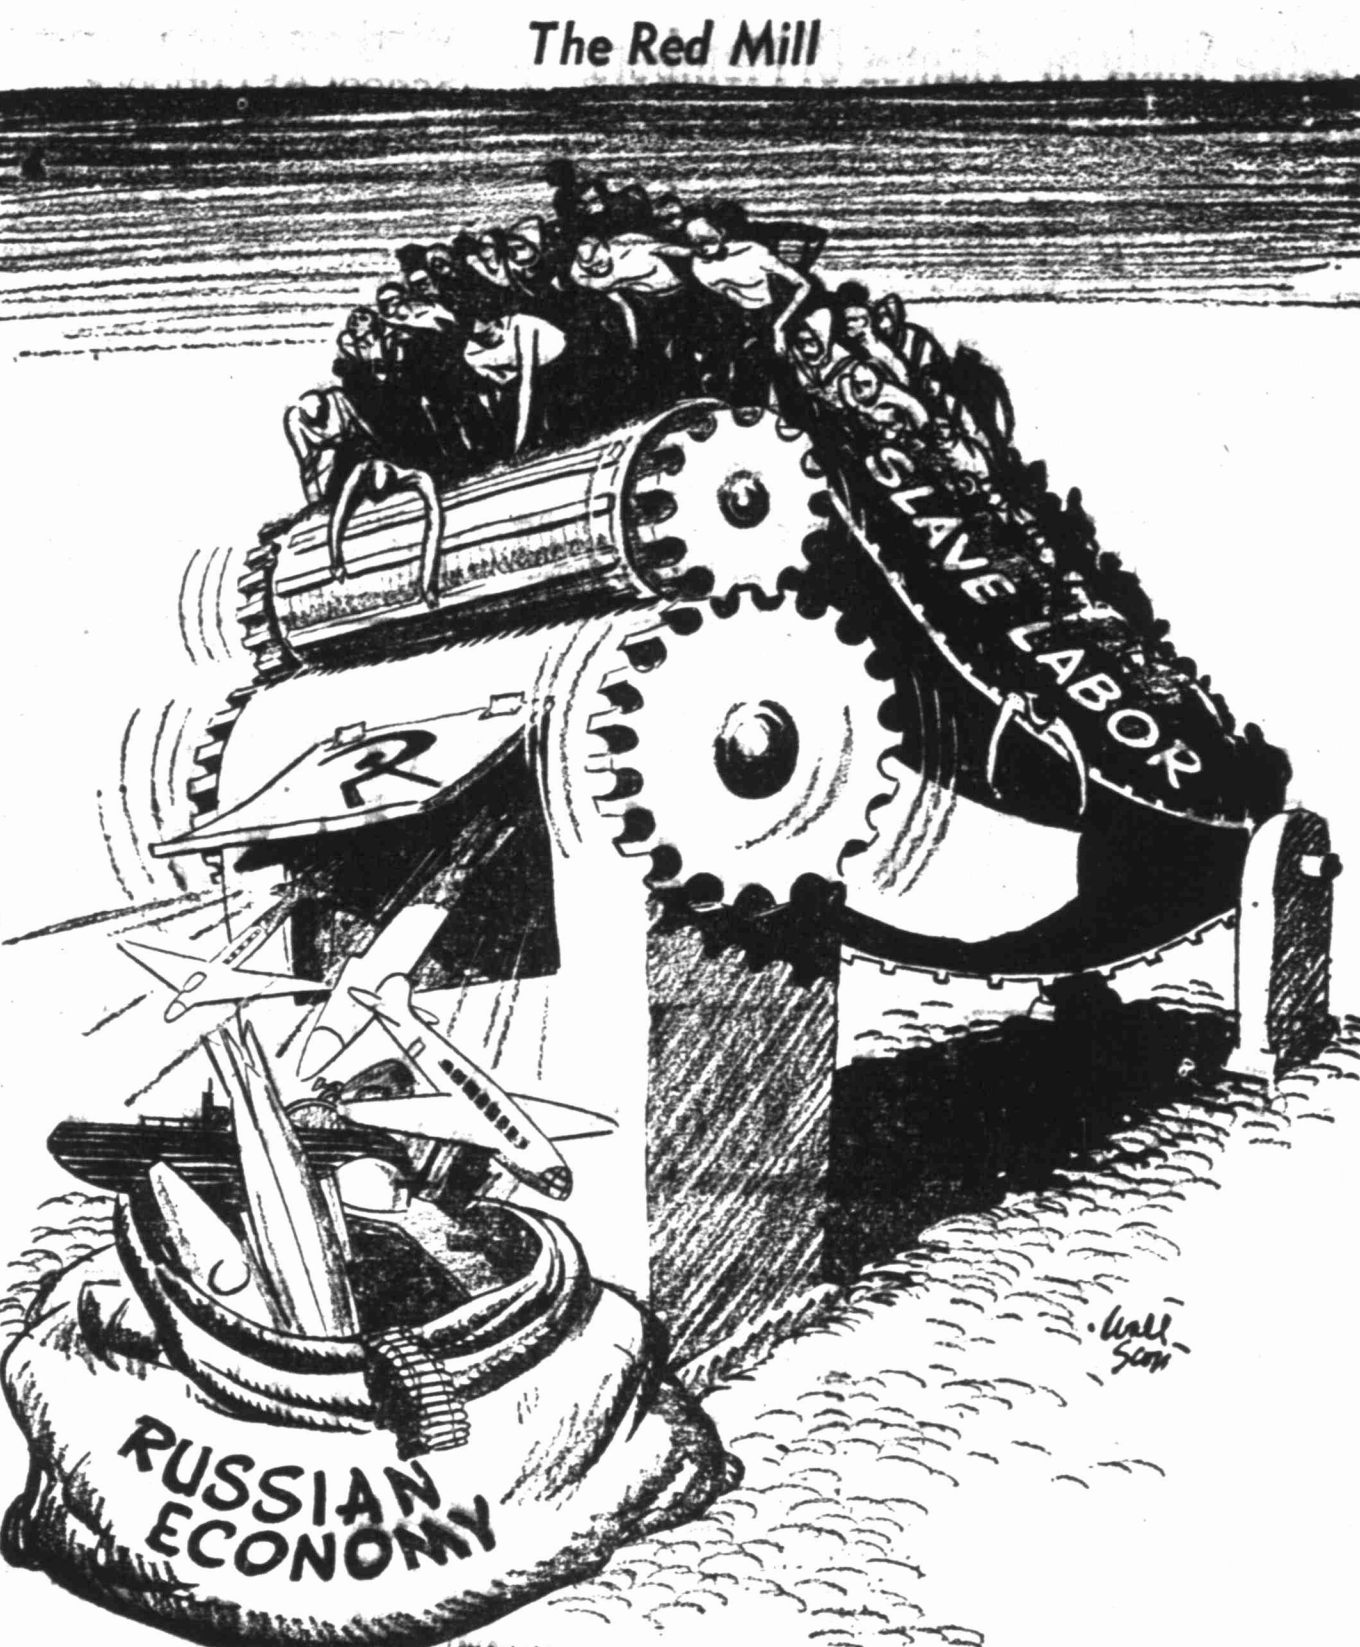

Operation Etiquetchup

The Army handed out a stern lesson in table manners recently. Two enlisted men were court-martialed for refusing to pass the ketchup to a sergeant.

"Increased respect for senior non-commissioned officers, along with a keener awareness of correct table manners, is expected of all GI's as the result of the trial," said the Army.

This sounds as if the top brass expected the boys to rush out and gobble up copies of Emily Post's Etiquette. A more likely result will be a new password to denote the approach of a sergeant: "Please pass the ketchup!"

CIO Rightist' Anti-Red Drive Has Telling Effect On Left-Wingers

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The educational campaign which the CIO headquarters has been waging to win over the rank and file membership of the 12 left-wing unions has been conducted smartly and successfully. There have been no personal attacks on any of the purged union leaders. Instead, the emphasis has been on proving that the Communist leadership had not produced strong unions. Records of the right-wing unions were shown to be far better in obtaining benefits for members. Left-wing unions, it was shown, had no American trade union program. Their principal effort had been promotion of the Russian international Communist line.

On the other hand, the counter-propaganda of the left-wing unions against the right-wing CIO projects during this purge period has been particularly vicious. Daily Worker has been unusually low, even for its customary low standards. CIO President Phil Murray now smiles wryly over the fact that he has been accused of taking orders from both the pope and the Kl Klux Klan. Anyone who could do that certainly would be performing the noblest trick of all time.

Cling To Rent Controls While majorities in both Houses of Congress seem eager to take off federal rent controls, the states and local communities in the last year have been more and more reluctant to remove ceilings. New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's recent move to make rent control a state matter, instead of leaving it to local communities, is typical. Out of 90 U.S. cities of more than 100,000 population only 16 have taken off rent controls. Out of 15,000 communities of 5,000 population or more, only 200 have taken advantage of local option to get out from under rent controls. All cities have had this choice since April, 1949. But for the whole country, there still are 12,000,000 housing units under control in communities with a total population of 77,000,000.

Low-Income Housing Projects Similarly, there seems to be great local popularity for slum clearance and low-rent housing projects, though both bitterly were opposed in last session of Congress. To date, 533 cities have applied for approval of projects to contain a total of 405,000 family units. This is about half of the 810,000 units authorized for approval in the first two years. Governing bodies of 380 cities have approved projects, and only four have been turned down. There have been two local referendums on approval of low-rent projects. St. Petersburg, Fla., defeated the project 3,300 to 3,000. Waco, Texas, approved, 3,400 to 2,000.

Health U. S. Crime Wave Attorney General J. Howard McGrath's Conference on Law Enforcement will make a second stab at getting something done about the U. S. crime wave at meeting of newly-appointed legislative committees in Washington, March 16 and 17. Mayor Quigg Newton of Denver has been made chairman of an Executive Continuing Committee. Four subcommittees have been named to do the work. Mayor David Lawrence of Pittsburgh heads a committee on federal legislation. Attorney General Alan H. Bible of Nevada heads a committee on State Laws. Corporation Counsel John P. McGrath of New York City heads a committee on municipal legislation. Mayor Fletcher Bowron of Los Angeles heads a committee on cooperation. In addition, Chairman of Federal Communications Commission is drafting legislation to check gambling income and wire news. Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore, chairman of the general legislative committee, hopes to have a report ready by April 15, and present it to Congress for action this session.

The D- Day Any doubt about New York Rep. Vito Marcantonio's left-wing leanings now should be completely removed. For the sole American Labor Party representative in the U. S. Congress recently introduced a bill to repeal the so-called "Smith Act." This is the law under which the 11 U. S. Communist Party leaders were tried and convicted in New York last year.

Western Gain In House Seating Census of 1950 now is expected to take a total of 14 congressional seats away from 11 states and redistribute them among seven other states which will show population increases. These states are scheduled to lose congressmen: New York three, Pennsylvania two, Arkansas, Georgia, Illinois, Kentucky, Mississippi, Missouri, North Carolina, Oklahoma and Tennessee one each. These states are expected to gain: California eight, Florida, Indiana, Michigan, Oregon, Texas and Washington one each. Geographically, the North will lose four seats, the South six. The West will gain 10. The census will be completed in time for the 1950 elections, but will be in effect for the 83rd Congress, elected in 1952.

Worse Than 80th National Farmers' Union, which has been a strong supporter of all Democratic Party programs, has conceded in a letter to its members that "it became apparent this week that President Truman's 81st Congress was in many respects worse than the Republican 80th."

Downey Will Run Again Washington political gossip on why California Senator Sheridan Downey changed his mind so many times before deciding to run for reelection is a tangled tale. The senator has been discouraged over the failure of several of his pet bills to make much progress this year, and his health hasn't been too good. He might drop out of the 1950 race, a group of prominent California Democrats rushed to Washington to persuade him to change his mind. Senator Downey told them he didn't like the idea of making two more campaigns—one against Rep. Helen Gahagan Douglas in the Democratic primary and then, if he won that, against Rep. Richard Nixon, who probably would win the Republican nomination.

The argument used to make Senator Downey change his mind was that he would stand a better chance of beating Nixon than would Mrs. Douglas. It was pointed out there was a swing to the right in California politics this year. In that situation, Mrs. Douglas' record as a fighter liberal might not look so good to the voters as Nixon's record in fighting against the Communists. Senator Downey was told that he would stand a better chance of keeping the conservative Democratic vote than would Mrs. Douglas. And that apparently is what persuaded him.

Appleyard now could see the danger he might have to lose two spade tricks, so he decided to strip the hand down. A small heart was led from dummy and trumped with the ten of clubs. The three of clubs was won in dummy with the nine, the three of hearts was returned and trumped with the jack of clubs.

Then declarer led the king of hearts. East covered with the king and Appleyard won the trick with the ace. He immediately returned the ace of diamonds, followed by the jack of diamonds, overtaking in South the king of hearts.

When the life masters individual... the players thought that Robert Appleyard of Forest Hills, N. Y., had won it. As a matter of fact Morris Ellis, the winner, went home and to bed without waiting for the scores. But when the final results came out, Appleyard had to be content with second place—which is not bad in a field of 96 life masters.

To make a small slam contract on today's hand, Appleyard (South) had a problem to keep from losing... 743, Q32, KQ92, A95, A98, K864, 8643, 864, 742 two spade tricks; but he successfully used the end play, one of the most valuable tools of the skilled player. West's opening lead was the jack of hearts. Appleyard had nothing to lose by going up with dummy's queen. East covered with the king and Appleyard won the trick with the ace. He immediately returned the ace of diamonds, followed by the jack of diamonds, overtaking in South the king of hearts.

The king of diamonds was played next and the five of hearts discarded. West's ten of diamonds dropped, establishing dummy's nine. Appleyard now could see the danger he might have to lose two spade tricks, so he decided to strip the hand down. A small heart was led from dummy and trumped with the ten of clubs. The three of clubs was won in dummy with the nine, the three of hearts was returned and trumped with the jack of clubs.

Then declarer led the king of hearts. East covered with the king and Appleyard won the trick with the ace. The nine of diamonds was returned and the five of spades discarded. West discarded the deuce of spades; therefore Appleyard won the word in dependence. During the ten, West winning with the queen. West had nothing left but the king and nine of spades and ten of hearts. If he returned a heart, declarer would trump in dummy and discard the losing jack of spades. If he returned a spade, it would be into declarer's ace-jack.

So they say The whole philosophy of looking to the federal government for more and more security in lieu of opportunity constitutes one of the greatest evils to America today.

I find that I myself was made by circumstances. I know that I cannot go back on that and I know that all I can do now is to try and repair the damage I have done.

What is the origin of the golf term divot? A—In Scotland, oblongs of turf are used for covering the roofs of cottages. Such a piece of turf is called a divot. Hence, in golf a divot is a piece of turf cut out in making a stroke.

THE DOCTOR SAYS Adhesions Get Blame For All Too Many Symptoms

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service
"Adhesions" often are blamed for all kinds of pains and other symptoms for which no other cause can be found. In doing this people often have a very vague idea of what adhesions are and what they can do.

Adhesions are made up of tissue just like that of an ordinary scar on the skin. This consists of slightly elastic fibers called fibrous tissue. The body tends to respond to any infection or injury by forming fibrous tissue. This response is not related to the particular nature of the damage but is merely one of nature's attempts to heal. A scar on the skin is not called an adhesion, but on the inside portions of the body similar "scar" tissue may form and produce adhesions.

If a patient has acute appendicitis and the appendix has ruptured, spilling the infection into the surrounding tissue, adhesions often will form. The same is true of many other internal infections.

The adhesions thus formed may or may not produce complications later on. Adhesions have a tendency to contract; if they have formed around a loop of the intestine, therefore, they may draw tighter and tighter, thus preventing the free flow of intestinal contents. This, in turn, can produce symptoms and may require an operation to cut these bands of fibrous tissue and free the partly strangled gut.

What to do for adhesions depends on where the adhesions are located, what normal structures of the body they surround, and what this contraction is doing to the organs involved. For all these reasons adhesions frequently are blamed for vague symptoms which cannot be blamed on anything else.

Scapagat Anyone can see that pinning the blame on adhesions is likely to be difficult. Sometimes it can be done only by operation when the region under suspicion comes under the eyes of the surgeon.

Some people tend to develop adhesions much more easily than others. This raises a difficult problem because in such people new adhesions are likely to form even after old ones have been cut or removed. However, surgical methods are so good now that the number of recurrences of adhesions is greatly decreased. They can occur, however, even after the most meticulous surgery.

DREW PEARSON ON The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

(Copyright, 1950, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
Drew Pearson says: New B-36 could fly to Moscow and return at speed of sound; Republicans worried over Senator McCarthy's State Department witch hunt; McCarthy's record won't stand too much scrutiny.

WASHINGTON — The Air Force now is designing a super-sonic B-36 that will be able to accomplish what hitherto was considered the impossible—a nonstop flight to Russia and back at the speed of sound. This may be one answer to the debate over the super airplane carrier, for the Navy has contended that U. S. bombers would fly so slowly that they could be knocked down by enemy fighter planes. Therefore the Navy urged a floating airplane base to approach the enemy.

What this new bomber means, however, is that the Air Force now will be able to make hit-and-run attacks against Russia at tremendous speed from home bases in the United States. For example, a squadron of super-sonic B-36's, based in Maine, could fly half way around the world, rain storm bombs on Moscow and get back home in less than 10 hours.

The plan, still on drawing boards, is to streamline the present B-36 by giving it swept-back wings and a turbo-prop engine. Most important of all, however, will be a super-sonic propeller, already developed by Air Force technicians. Hitherto only jet planes have been able to fly faster than sound. But the new propeller would make certain jet-driven planes fly at that speed also.

Present trouble with super-sonic jet planes is that their range is limited. However, the propeller-powered B-36 now has a range of 10,000 miles, and addition of the new super-sonic propeller will give it a speed faster than sound.

McCarthy's Witch Backfires Last year, likeable young Senator Joe McCarthy of Wisconsin asked some friends for advice on what he could do to ensure his re-election in 1952. He wanted to start early, he confided, to build a record that would make certain his return to the Senate.

One friend urged that he push the St. Lawrence Seaway which would benefit the Great Lakes and bring new business to Wisconsin. It was also urged that he work for closer industrial cooperation between neighboring Canada and the Great Lakes states. Finally it was suggested that a Wisconsin who consistently attacked Communism would have a great appeal for the voters.

Today the man who urged this latter advice, Father Edmund A. Walsh of Georgetown University, is not happy at the outcome; while Republican leaders are getting unhappier by the minute at the antics of the junior senator from Wisconsin.

In the first place, McCarthy's witch hunt for communists inside the State Department has disrupted our entire foreign service at a time when our foreign relations are more delicately balanced than ever. Sincere Republicans consider this a calamity.

Second, politically-minded Republicans hitherto could make broad charges about communists in the State Department and get away with it. But now the harem-scarem senator from Wisconsin has reduced it all to cold figures, including an estimate that there were 207 communists or pro-communists in the State Department, then reduced it to 87. But far, any real pro-communists he mentioned already had been kicked out.

Finally, some of the Republican senators who really know the situation in Wisconsin started in claiming there were 207 communists or pro-communists in the State Department, then reduced it to 87. But far, any real pro-communists he mentioned already had been kicked out.

For Joe McCarthy had some trouble with his own which won't bear too much inspection, including an income tax argument and a move for his disbarment.

His tax troubles occurred in 1943, when the state of Wisconsin claimed he failed to disclose an income of $42,000. Joe explained that he had made some money speculating in stocks while he was out of the United States and not a citizen of Wisconsin; therefore, he didn't have to pay a state income tax. However, McCarthy still held office as a state judge at the same time he claimed he was not a citizen of Wisconsin, and in the end, tax authorities accepted a compromise payment.

Joe also managed to compromise his tax troubles with the federal government. One year later, Joe ran against GOP Senator Alex Wiley in the primaries and received a total contribution of $18,000 from his father, his brother and his brother-in-law. But when the campaign smoke was over, it was discovered that McCarthy's father didn't have enough income to file a tax return himself, while neither the brother or brother-in-law filed an income of more than $2,000.

Where they got the $18,000 nobody yet knows. Joe also has a record which has aroused the wrath of many Wisconsin "quickie" divorcees for his political friends or their clients. In Wisconsin, divorcees are not supposed to be filed in two separate jurisdictions. But when McCarthy was a judge at Appleton, Wis., his political friends, Congressman Kasten and Arlo McKinnon, suddenly brought the divorce case of Kordas vs. Kordas before him, even though it already was filed in Milwaukee. They got almost immediate action. The complaint was filed on Sept. 3, 1948, and the divorce was granted September 10.

The two attorneys, Kasten and McKinnon both contributed to McCarthy's political campaign. McCarthy also granted divorces at about that time to two other Milwaukee residents, Chester J. Roberts and Eileen Roberts, who were represented by Max Lotwa, a prominent Republican who also contributed to McCarthy's campaign. The divorce was granted in about two days.

During his 1948 campaign against Senator Bob La Follette, McCarthy not only failed to resign from the bench, but swapped circuits with other judges so as to campaign in various parts of the state, with the result that the Board of Bar Commissioners recommended to the Wisconsin Supreme Court that he be disbarred. The Supreme Court stated that the senator had violated the state Constitution and the Code of ethics of the American Bar Association, but failed to disbar him.

That's the record of the man who now so vigorously challenges the records of State Department employees.

FINGERPRINTS Don't Lie

By Rupert Hughes

THE STORY: After Annie Palmer was arrested by the Wendell Palmer supervisor at his home, she was taken to the police station. Paul Moody, Palmer's neighbor, had offered Annie the services of a lawyer. He was a well-known figure in the neighborhood and had seen Paul visiting the Palmer home. Paul had a good health. Paul's case is a slight against Paul because his fingerprints were found on the base of the small phone which was used to call Palmer's aunt. Annie took the prints and gave them to the police. She was charged with a crime. Annie's lawyer, however, said that if his investigation proved that Paul is guilty, he will not present Paul or withhold the evidence from the state. He asks Annie to tell her story.

For the first time Annie's features were softened into a kind of reverie. Her eyes were still those bewitching diamonds, but now the multi-colored irises were rainbows after rain. Then tears showered them again.

"Stop crying! I'll get him free for you. He may be guilty as hell, but since you want him, I'll get him for you!"

That was what his soul cried aloud within him; but his voice was still, and he made no movement beyond reaching out his hand and clenching his.

"Who, do you suppose, crushed all Paul's hopes and mine? Who, do you suppose, had the audacity to prevent Paul from being that commission awarded to him?"

Queripel gasped: "It wasn't—it couldn't have been—"

"Oh, yes, it was!" she cried. "It was my father. I begged him to see the model, how beautiful it was, how ugly was the very thought that it should never be made. But he wouldn't. He stared at him! 'Man when's he have the job. And he shan't have you!'"

Bergman Affair Should Serve As Object Lesson To Women

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

There is a strange twist to the Ingrid Bergman - Rossellini story that is the only good thing about a messy and regrettable affair.

It has, I think, served to show women more graphically than a thousand sermons, novels or tragic and movie dramas that even today there is only one safe role for a woman to play—the role of a good woman.

Looking at the Bergman story, any woman can see all of its tragic consequences, and all of its fundamental ugliness.

No woman in her right mind can look at what Ingrid Bergman has done to her husband, her first-born child, her illegitimate son and to herself without realizing that there is no love in the world great enough to pay such a price for it. No woman can help but see that there is nothing ahead for Ingrid Bergman but misery and self-loathing, and that what holds true for Miss Bergman holds true for any woman who makes a fool of herself in a man's world.

Outdoors Movie Roles

On the screen Ingrid Bergman played many different roles in many moving stories.

But none had the message for women that fairly shouts at them from her own shout and tragic story... which might well be named "All for Love."

No woman can afford to make an "all for love" gesture. The price too high, the chances for happiness too slim, the risk of ultimate, if not immediate, tragedy is too great.

For the woman who makes a fool of herself cannot turn back. Many roads lead off from the straight and narrow path. But none leads back.

Abundant Living

Rom. 12:17-21: Matt. 5:38-48.
DISSOLVE RESENTMENTS THROUGH PRAYER AND APPRECIATION

We continue our steps to get rid of resentments and hates. (3) Every time the name of the person against whom you are tempted to hold a resentment is presented to your mind, breathe a prayer for him. Meet every invading resentment with a barrage of prayer. It was said of John Forman, a saintly missionary, that all his thoughts of his friends turned to prayer. Make the rule in your mind that, invariably, all your thoughts of your enemies, real or imaginary, are to become prayers for them. Make the mind understand that and admit no exceptions. Soon you will have no enemies, for you will have no enmity. Prayer dissolves enmity as certain bacteria dissolve filth and turn it into clear water.

(4) Say everything good you can about the person or persons with whom you are unfriendly. The probabilities are there are many fine things in them. Fasten your mind on those fine points instead of on the resentment points. The outcome will be, in all probability, that the good will so overbalance the bad that you will find yourself thinking more of the good and less of the insignificant bad.

(5) When you do have to speak of the faults of a person, don't say, "I don't like that person." Rather, say, "I don't like certain things in that person, and they are these." After stating those faults, proceed to say, "But I do like these things in him," and name them. End on the positive note. Negative thinking makes a negative person; positive thinking makes a positive person. If I have mentioned mothers-in-law in a derogatory way in many of my instances, let me end my thought of them as mothers-in-love, as one couple does.

(6) Remember that fastening upon other people's faults is usually a defense-mechanism. By doing as you are probably attempting to lift yourself up by pushing them down. It won't succeed. In mentally picking flaws in others you are creating a worse flaw in yourself—you become a sensitive, critical person, like the thing you habitually center upon. God, my Father, I would be rid of all that corrodes my soul. I know that my attitudes of resentment and criticism eat like acid into my moral nature. I would ask Thee to deliver me completely from the last tiny root of resentment. Root it out. Amen. (From the book "Abundant Living," published by Abington-Cokesbury Press of New York and Nashville. Jamboree Troops To Be Formed At Big Spring Meet

Eight places still are open in the Boy Scout jamboree quota for the Buffalo Trail Council, according to P. V. Thorson, Scout executive. Three complete troops already have been formed, and 25 places in the fourth troop now are taken, he said.

Of the Scouts registered for the jamboree, which will be held June 30 to July 6 at Valley Forge, Pa., 22 are representatives of Midland Scout and Explorer units.

Cost of the trip, per Scout, has been set at $170. The charge includes side trips to Washington, Philadelphia and historic battle-grounds of the Revolutionary War.

A meeting of the Jamboree Steering Committee will be held Thursday night at the Settles Hotel in Big Spring, Thorson said. J. M. McDonald, committee chairman, will preside. Principal business of the meeting will be the forming of the four troops of the council, based on geographical boundaries. Midland Scouts will compose most of one complete troop.

Attending from Midland, in addition to McDonald, will be Hermann Williams, Ray Upham, Bob Goff and Thorson.

Ohio Police Uncover Tale Of Sex Orgies Involving 20 Youths

ZANESVILLE, OHIO. — (AP) — Veteran Zanesville policemen were shocked Tuesday by stories of sex orgies involving at least 20 young people—most of them teen-agers.

A county-wide investigation of drunken and illicit sex relations was ordered by Assistant Prosecutor Christy Dunn.

Detective Captain Robert Snelling, who is conducting the investigation which has resulted in jailing of the youngsters, Tuesday revealed this bit of questioning of a 15-year-old girl:

"How many men were you out with that night?" he asked the girl. "Oh, five," she replied.

"Wasn't that a lot?" the detective asked, visibly shocked. "No," she answered. "I was out with 24 the night before."

As police questioned the youngsters, some of whom have records for juvenile delinquency and truancy, they made plans to close in on a man they were told rented out his shack for parties—in return for a bottle of wine. They said the man lives alone near Zanesville and has no occupation.

Nine Sentenced To Jail
Thus far nine youths ranging in ages from 15 to 20 years have been sentenced to county jail for from 10 to 60 days. All pleaded guilty to contributing to the delinquency of minor girls.

Police still hold six others boys. One 15-year-old boy was released to his parents.

Four girls are in custody, and authorities planned to swear out warrants for other youths Tuesday.

A local restaurant described as a "hot dog stand" where no liquor is sold, was said by police to be the meeting place for couples before sex offenses which took place in trucks, automobiles, and elsewhere throughout the county.

Of the three other girls still being questioned, one is 18 years of age and the mother of a 14-month-old child. Another is 17 and the third is 18.

Attempt To Contact 'Spirit' Fails Again

CHICAGO. — (AP) — Magician Claude Noble's attempt to contact the spirit of Clarence Darrow failed again Monday, the tenth time since the famed criminal lawyer's death on March 13, 1938.

Noble, a 60-year-old Detroit businessman, knelt on the Lagoon Bridge in Jackson Park, from which Darrow's ashes were scattered over the waters. He intoned the Lord's Prayer, then asked Darrow to rap on a copy of a book, "How to Conduct a Criminal Case," he held in hand.

The drone of an airplane overhead was heard as Noble, bareheaded, knelt for a minute as a raw March wind whipped across the park, chilling a score of reporters and other watchers.

Noble said he "didn't expect it to happen. But I hope the Lord may somehow permit him (Darrow) to manifest himself." Darrow, Noble and the late magician, Howard Thurston, many years ago had agreed that the survivor would attempt to contact the others once a year. Their purpose was one of debunking, Noble said, but each had hopes of "some manifestation," the Lord permitting.

Noble, who has returned to the bridge on the anniversary of Darrow's death every year except in 1948 and 1949, said he would return on March 13, 1951. He also said he would try to contact Thurston at the mausoleum of Greenland Cemetery in Columbus, Ohio, on April 13.

Mrs. Yvette Madsen, On Trial For Murder, Denies Memory Of Shooting Flier Husband

FRANKFURT, GERMANY. — (AP) — In a faint sobbing whisper, pretty Mrs. Yvette Madsen testified in her own defense Tuesday that she could remember nothing of the gunshot that killed her flier husband last October.

On trial for the murder of her husband, Lt. Andrew E. Madsen, the 22-year-old brunette has pleaded innocent by reason of insanity.

"I think I was drunk," Mrs. Madsen testified while telling of a party which preceded the shooting at the couple's home. She said she couldn't remember the "insult" at her Brooklyn accent which the prosecution claims drove her to shoot down her husband.

With her head down and shaking from sobs, Mrs. Madsen told of returning alone to her home and finding a gun while looking for some sleeping pills. She said she heard the doorbell ring and her husband came in.

"What happened?" Defense Counsel Elmo Gower asked. "He looked at me," Mrs. Madsen said. "I wanted to talk to him."

Earlier she was questioned about an argument witnesses said she had with another officer at the party. Witnesses said the officer, who spoke with a Southern drawl, twitted her about her Brooklyn accent.

Mrs. Madsen was said to have slapped the man's face and left the party without her husband.

"I can't remember it even at all," Mrs. Madsen said in reply to questioning.

Nation's Crude Oil Output Falls Again

TULSA, OKLA. — (AP) — The country's average crude oil production fell off 87,250 barrels during the week ended March 11, the Oil and Gas Journal reported Tuesday.

Total average compiled by the Journal was 4,781,725 barrels for the week.

The largest decrease was in the largest oil producing state—Texas—which dropped 33,450 barrels to 1,838,450.

Other major declines included Louisiana, down 17,950 to 506,850 and Oklahoma, 8,550 to 418,050. Arkansas was down 500 to 80,400, and New Mexico fell 600 to 129,400.

Top increases for the week were Wyoming, up 4,800 barrels to 155,200; Indiana, up 2,500 to 28,400, and Kentucky, 600 to 25,800.

Night Fire Damages Oklahoma Refinery
CUSHING, OKLA. — (AP) — Firemen fought for more than two hours Monday night before dousing a blaze in the $5,000,000 Midland Cooperative Wholesale Oil Refinery here.

Refinery Superintendent Theron Randall said a broken suction line in the catalytic unit caused the fire. When the pipe broke and released a stream of oil heated to 700 degrees, the hot crude burst into flames immediately.

Refinery Manager Rex Winget could not estimate damage immediately.

West Texas Cities Approve Dam Project

KNOX CITY, TEXAS. — (AP) — Let's do it—build a multi-city dam and water reservoir—said representatives of 19 West Texas cities and towns.

They gave unanimous approval Monday to the project proposed by the Bureau of Reclamation.

Bureau Engineer Harry Burtleigh of Austin told some 100 persons representing various areas that the dam project would cost consumers about $11,500,000. He said it would be paid back to the federal government at two per cent interest over a 40-year period.

Plans approved call for a 48,000-acre-foot reservoir 18 miles southeast of Maakell on California Creek above its confluence with Paint Creek. It would provide municipal and industrial water supplies to cities of the Bob Baskin Dam Association, outside of Abilene.

An irrigation feature of the project consists of a dam and reservoir at the old Bob Baskin site on the Double Mountain work of Brazos River. The reservoir would have a storage capacity of 435,000 acre feet of water and a distribution system of a 35-mile main canal with laterals.

Officials speaking in favor of the project represented Albany, Anson, Benjamin, Haskell, Jayton, Knox City, Munday, O'Brien, Roby, Rhineland, Rochester, Rotan, Ruite, Seymour, Spur, Stamford, Weinert, and Lueders.

Atomic Plant May Become Center Of Cancer Research

WASHINGTON. — (AP) — The Oak Ridge, Tenn., atomic energy plant may become one of the nation's leading cancer research centers.

Plans to bring this about were revealed to a House Appropriations subcommittee during hearings on the Atomic Energy Commission's spending budget. The committee made public the testimony Tuesday.

Dr. Shields Warren, director of the AEC Division of Biology and Medicine, told the committee great strides already have been made in cancer treatment through development of atomic energy programs.

It is hoped, he said, that the Oak Ridge Cancer Research Center "will be one to which a large number of patients can be sent from institutions throughout the South-east for treatment that they cannot get in the local area."

Oak Ridge, he said, should become "a center for the exploration of methods for the treatment of cancer," with special emphasis on the treatment of leukemia in children.

C-W Kent Wildcat Tops Lime Section

Ted Welner, and associates, and Bohlo Petroleum Company No. 1 Carricker, Central-West Kent County wildcat, nine miles west of Claremont, and 685 feet from west and south lines of the northwest quarter of section 87, block G, W&N survey, was bottomed at 6,721 feet in lime, and was circulating while waiting on orders.
Top of the lime was picked from samples to be at 6,696 feet. Elevation is 2,252 feet. That gives it a datum of minus 4,444 feet.
Some observers think the lime is the Canyon reef. It is expected that a drillstem test will be undertaken shortly.

Projected depth is 7,300 feet, which should tap the Canyon.
The No. 1 Gibson is two and one-fourth miles north of the nearest producing well in the North Snyder pool. In a direct line between the Gibson and the North Snyder, and a mile and three-quarters south of the Gibson, there is a 7,500-foot dry hole, Progress No. 1 Garden.

New Zealand City Starts Leopard Hunt

AUCKLAND, NEW ZEALAND—A half-grown leopard escaped from the zoo here Tuesday and armed police and soldiers hunted in vain for the animal.
Residents of an adjacent housing area where there are 200 children were warned to remain indoors.

Posse—

between there and Shafter, a ghost silver and lead mining town.
Covett said his posse—made up of officers who are experienced horsemen and trackers—picked up the trail about half a mile from the spot where Morrow's car ran into a ditch when he died.
When the posse found the trail they had this theory:
The husky, six-foot sheriff apparently had stopped to make an arrest. His pistol and handcuffs were missing, so he might have been shot with his own gun.
Covett and his posse pushed into the jumble of barren mountains—covered only by desert growth. As he related his story, the trail signs told that:
Their quarry was handcuffed and must have had terrifically hard going. There was evidence he had fallen into cactoid bushes—cactus plants with needle-like spines that seem to spring free of the bush and into the skin. "Jumping cactus," they sometimes are called.
He was headed for the Rio Grande, snake-like river boundary between the United States and Mexico.
The trackers could tell the hunted was handcuffed from the way his hands dug into the ground when he fell among the Big Bend's rocks and cacti.
Found Fired Cartridge
They found an empty cartridge case and an unused shell, both .38-44 caliber, the same as Morrow's six-shooter. This strengthened the belief the sheriff was killed with his own gun.
The posse—Rangers Goude Hardin of Sanderson and Arthur Hill of Alpine, Sheriff Jim Nance of Sanderson and Arthur Hill of Socorro, Deputy Sheriff Delbert Barnett, Col. Marfa and Covett—rode wearily into town Monday night.
They ate their first meal since saddling up before dawn.
The 15 miles they had covered were in Texas' last frontier, the wild wastes of the Big Bend, where many mountain ranges—the Chinata, Shafter, Cueta Del Burro, Sierra Vieja—cut the country's face into a gnarled, gaunt, scarred patchwork.
Believed Still Handcuffed
The posse trailed its quarry in near-freezing weather.
"We believe the killer is still handcuffed here Tuesday afternoon," the posse leader said. "The cause of the way the ground was dug up where he fell in the darkness."
The posse lost the trail at a goat camp seven miles from the Rio Grande. Sheriff Hill said the man's tracks had been trampled out by goats.
With a 30-hour start on the hunters, the fugitive may have reached the Rio Grande.
The 15 miles from the U. S. Bureau of Animal Industry's foot and mouth disease patrol kept watch on the Rio Grande. The highway patrol set up roadblocks in the area.
Officers said first evidence indicated Morrow had stopped a car. But they had found none Monday night and didn't say what had happened to that theory.
Funeral services for Morrow were to be held here Tuesday afternoon. Friday, county commissioners will name his successor.

Plains Discusses 'Master Plan'

John M. Hills, consulting geologist and chairman of the Midland planning and zoning commission, discussed the "master plan" suggestion for the city of Midland at the Tuesday luncheon meeting of the Midland Geological Society.
The long range plan is made to take care of Midland when it becomes three times as large as it is today.
Of the suggestions, only the zoning system is now in effect, said Hills.
Included in the master plan is the changing of highway 80 to parallel the T&P railroad tracks through the city; establishing over 200 more acres of playground space, and a possible location for a small industry section.
Hills stated, "Midland is too dependent upon one industry."
Paul H. Kolm, society program chairman, introduced Hills, and Allen Ehlers, vice chairman, presided at the meeting held in the Scharbauer Hotel.

member was Armistead Rust of San Antonio. The district appointed the Rev. Claude Canterbury of Lubbock the Rev. James Butler of Sweetwater, E. A. Ungren of Abilene and William Pitman of Dumas as other committee members.
Session of the Woman's Auxiliary paralleled the convocation sessions, with Mrs. Arthur Ware of Amarillo, district president, in charge. The auxiliary will have its next district meeting with that of the convocation in Plainview next year.
Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, Jr., of Austin was the main speaker for the auxiliary, tracing the history of women's assistance to the church as the background for her subject, "The Church Woman Today and Tomorrow."
Reports of district officers, committee chairmen and delegates from various parishes and missions of the district filled most of the business hours. One interesting report was that of the Rev. R. A. Hayes, rector of the Brownwood church, on Daniel Baker College in that city, which now is operated by the Episcopal Diocese of Dallas.
Members of the host church entertained the visitors with a luncheon at noon Monday. Preston Lea, Jr., was general chairman of arrangements for the convocation, and the Woman's Auxiliary, with Mrs. William Potts as president, was hostess for an informal reception Sunday night and a coffee Monday morning in the Parish House.
Officers in the Woman's Auxiliary serve three-year terms, with only a few elected each year. Those elected Monday were Mrs. P. L. Nairn of Berger, treasurer; Mrs. E. E. Arbury of Lubbock, supply book secretary; and Mrs. Landon Dorn of Colorado City, church periodicals secretary.

Chile Walsh Speaker At Optimist Meeting

Midland Optimists at their noon meeting in the Crystal Ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer Tuesday heard Chile Walsh, former owner of professional football franchises in Cleveland and Los Angeles, discuss the economics of football—and the imagined effect of professionalism in college on collegiate football.
Walsh pointed out that the situation today was no different from that of 20 years ago.
"Professionalism is not endangering college football," Walsh said. "With few exceptions, no football players in college are getting any more than room, board and tuition."
In his remarks, Walsh advocated a policy of coming out in the open with such agreements, and adhering strictly to it. Strong NCAA rulings, limited to board, room and tuition, he said, would be facing the problem as it exists, and would give a reasonable chance of enforcement.
W. P. German, Optimist president, presided. Present were 32 members and three guests.
Arlo Forrest discussed the Optimist Boys Ranch, 16 miles from San Angelo, and told of taking Donald Sanders of Midland, to the ranch.

Horsemat, Brannan Plan To Draw Fire From Cattle Raisers

SAN ANTONIO—(AP)—The seventy-third annual convention of the Texas and Southwestern cattle raisers Association opened Tuesday, Wednesday, though, is expected to be the "big day."
The group's Resolutions Committee reports Wednesday and it is expected to lay before the association some hotly worded resolutions on the sale of horsemat, the Brannan farm plan and other subjects.
The Brannan plan popped up at a meeting of association directors Monday.

The resolution points out the proposal is a dangerous step toward socialization of the housing industry. Adopted in the resolutions was a recommendation by M. C. Ulmer, chairman of the Chamber's National Affairs Committee.
The Chamber directors voted to obtain from the United States Chamber of Commerce a series of seven recordings on National Affairs for broadcast over KORA. The records were prepared by the Department of Governmental Affairs of the national chamber.
Directors interested in attending the San Angelo Chamber of Commerce banquet there March 21 were asked to contact Manager Delbert Downing by Thursday. Eugene Holman, president of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, will be the speaker.

Midland Optimists at their noon meeting in the Crystal Ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer Tuesday heard Chile Walsh, former owner of professional football franchises in Cleveland and Los Angeles, discuss the economics of football—and the imagined effect of professionalism in college on collegiate football.
Walsh pointed out that the situation today was no different from that of 20 years ago.
"Professionalism is not endangering college football," Walsh said. "With few exceptions, no football players in college are getting any more than room, board and tuition."
In his remarks, Walsh advocated a policy of coming out in the open with such agreements, and adhering strictly to it. Strong NCAA rulings, limited to board, room and tuition, he said, would be facing the problem as it exists, and would give a reasonable chance of enforcement.
W. P. German, Optimist president, presided. Present were 32 members and three guests.
Arlo Forrest discussed the Optimist Boys Ranch, 16 miles from San Angelo, and told of taking Donald Sanders of Midland, to the ranch.

Horsemat, Brannan Plan To Draw Fire From Cattle Raisers

SAN ANTONIO—(AP)—The seventy-third annual convention of the Texas and Southwestern cattle raisers Association opened Tuesday, Wednesday, though, is expected to be the "big day."
The group's Resolutions Committee reports Wednesday and it is expected to lay before the association some hotly worded resolutions on the sale of horsemat, the Brannan farm plan and other subjects.
The Brannan plan popped up at a meeting of association directors Monday.
"We will have to fight tooth and nail" against it, Joe G. Montague, Fort Worth, the association's attorney, warned the directors.
R. B. Anderson of Vernon, head of the association's tax committee, also spoke to the directors. So did Jay Taylor of Amarillo, representative of the association on the National Livestock and Meat Board.
Bryant Edwards of Henrietta, association president, expected some 1,500 of the group's 8,455 members to attend the meeting.

DADDY RINGTAIL

Daddy Ringtail And The Ten... Fingers

The Huffen Puffen, the friendly wolf, was there at his hollow tree house. He should never have been afraid to go to bed in a room that was dark, but he was. He didn't know that the dark can never hurt anyone, poor boy. He decided to let the light stay on all night. He crawled into bed. He pulled the cover up around his shoulders.

The light bothered him at first. It shone in his eyes, but the Huffen knew how to stop it without any turning off the light. He pulled the cover up and up around his ears and over his eyes. Soon he was fast asleep with the light burning there in his room. I don't know what awakened him. It wasn't anything dangerous, and it might even have been Dr. Shoobug running up the Elephant Path to see a someone who was sick. But something woke the Huffen—way in the middle of the night very late.

head, and then he stuck his nose out. And then the rest of his nose—and then his eyes. He looked around the room to try and see what had woke him up. Everything looked the same as when he went to bed, except—oh me! The Huffen shivered all over to see it.

Down near the foot of his bed he saw ten fingers that were sticking up in the air. I mean they looked like ten fingers. "Ooooooh!" said the Huffen. But he was too frightened to say it very loud. He reached over to the table by the bed to get the great big stick he kept to use if ever he needed it. He was going to use it all right, all right, and he did use it. He hit as hard as he could with the stick at the things that looked like fingers that were ten. He hit them hard, but it wasn't a happy thing to do.

"Ahoohoo!" howled the Huffen Puffen. "My toes! My toes!" Because the fingers he had hit weren't really fingers, you know. They were toes that were sticking up out of the cover. The toes belonged to Huffen. Ouch and oh me! But it would never have happened if the Huffen hadn't been so much of a fussy wolf, afraid of the dark. Why, the safest place in the world is your very own bed at night—unless you make a mistake and hit your toes with a stick, I mean. Happy day!

One Seeded Quintet Is Eliminated From NAIB Cage Tourney

KANSAS CITY —(P)— Sixteen more basketball teams were scheduled to spill onto the Municipal Auditorium floor Tuesday and Tuesday night to wind up first round games in the annual NAIB tournament.

The six-day tournament, sponsored by the National Association of Intercollegiate Basketball, looks like it will be a wide-open scramble.

Even top-seeded Hamline University, defending champion, doesn't get much of a nod.

In eight first round games Monday only one team won by more than 10 points. Davis and Elkins (W. Va.) breezed by St. Thomas College of St. Paul, Minn., 79-55.

Hamline rallied in the second half Monday night to win from Regis College of Denver, Colo., 74-66.

Westminster (Pa.) College, seeded No. 2, edged by Connecticut Teachers 70-62 and George Peppercorn of Los Angeles, another seeded aggregation, won from American University of Washington, D. C., 54-50.

One seeded entry, Murray (Ky.) State, lost to Central Washington College of Education 81-55.

In other games Monday University of Portland, Ore., defeated Montana University 48-47. Tampa (Fla.) won from New Mexico A&M 68-75, and Central (Mo.) College won from Nebraska State Teachers of Peru 68-59.

Johnny was held out of action because of a reported muscle pull. The Sox are not scheduled Tuesday.

Uproar Over NCAA Selection

(NEA Telephone) Demonstrating against the selection of Kansas University to represent the Big Seven Conference in a play-off against Bradley for the right to play in the NCAA tournament, students of Kansas State College at Manhattan, Kan., burn in effigy three members of the selection committee. The Big Seven cage race ended in a three-way tie between Kansas State, Nebraska and Kansas. "Phog Allen," referred to on sign, is the Kansas coach, Dr. Forrest C. Allen.

Bulldogs Slated In First Exhibition Game Of Year

The Midland High Bulldog baseball team was scheduled to meet the Odessa Branch in an exhibition tilt at 4 p.m. Tuesday on the Odessa diamond.

The tilt was to be the first of the season for the Bulldogs and Coach Garvin Beauchamp indicated he would insert all of his 17 candidates for action.

Jimmy O'Neal, Bill Medart and Bill Grissett, Jr., were named for mound duty. Three catchers, five infielders and five outfielders also were to make the trip.

Kentucky Aims At New Mark In NIT

NEW YORK —(P)— What Coach Adolph Rupp calls the best potential quintet in Kentucky history—he's already had some of the nation's greatest—expects plenty of trouble Tuesday night from darkhorse CCNY in the National Invitation Basketball Tournament.

If they're as good as the Bluegrass baron believes, the Kentucky five, made up mostly of sophomores, has a chance to crack a mark set by Wildcat wonder teams of recent vintage. Rupp's boys won the NIT in 1946 and the NCAA in 1948 and 1949.

But classy Ed Warner will have plenty to say about Kentucky this time. The flexible six-foot, two and one-half-inch negro turned in the tournament's best performance Saturday in leading CCNY's rout of defending champion San Francisco. The Wildcats, seeded second behind Bradley, are four-point favorites to whip the metropolitan five. Kentucky advanced to the quarter-finals on a bye.

Duquesne plays LaSalle in the 7 p.m. curtain-raiser. The Pittsburgh Dukes, although third seeded, rate three points under LaSalle, 72-66 victor over Arizona Saturday. LaSalle is unseeded.

In Monday night's games, Bradley and St. John's overpowered two fast-rolling opponents in the middle of the second half; then went to win comfortably.

The Peoria, Ill. Braves, rated the nation's No. 1 team in the final Associated Press poll, defeated Syracuse 78-66. St. John's tamed Western Kentucky 69-60.

Rotary Wins Over Mobil; Thompsons Clip Jakes 50-40

Rotary Engineers bumped Watkins Mobil 65 to 38 in a City Cage League playoff tilt in the Junior High Gymnasium Monday night to cinch a place in the finals. The glove was on the other hand in the Ted Thompson-JayCee game, however, as the Thompsons rolled to a 50-40 victory.

Cincinnati 'New Deal' Looks Good

TAMPA, Fla. —(P)— This is a different Cincinnati training camp. The old guard is gone. No Bucky Walters. No Johnny Vandermeer. The last remnants of the 1940 champions have vanished.

Luke Sewell is the manager in this Cincinnati new deal. It's the same Luke who won a measure of fame by leading the St. Louis Browns out of the wilderness to their first and only pennant in 1944.

For the second straight Spring, Ewell Blackwell is the big question mark. "Virtually useless last Summer after a serious kidney operation, 'Blacky' piled on some 30 pounds during the Winter. The gangling righthander with the baffling sideward motion now weighs more than 200. Last Spring he was a 'choot' at 165.

"We're going to have a better bench this year. We'll have more reserves to throw in when we need them. Then follow like Grady Hatfield stalwart, Ted Kluszewski and Lloyd Merriman have another year under their belts," Luke said.

Sewell counts only two Reds sure of their jobs—Hutton at third and Stalcup at short. He has a four-way fight at second. First is a battle between Kluszewski and injured Joe Adcock, up from Tulsa.

"Picking my outfield is the big problem," said Sewell. "We have nint in camp. Merriman is going to be tough to beat and Johnny Wyrostek hit three homers against Detroit Sunday."

Merriman, a bonus player, must remain with the club. Among the other candidates, Sewell has such proved major leaguers as Ron Norton, Danny Litwhiler, Mary Rackley, Peanut Lowrey and Wyrostek. Also a rookie named Russ Burns, from Tulsa.

Pro-Amateur Teams Tee Off Tuesday In Seminole Tourney

PALM BEACH, Fla. —(P)— Touring golf professionals teamed up with amateurs Tuesday for the second round of the 54-hole $10,000 Seminole Golf Club's pro-amateur tournament.

Henry Ransom of St. Andrews, Ill., led the 42 pros in opening rounds Monday with a 33-36-89, three under par, for a one-stroke lead at the end of 18 holes.

Four other pros were one stroke off the pace. They are E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, St. Andrews, Ill.; Lew Worsham, Oakmont, Pa.; Jimmy Demaret, Ojai, Calif., and Roberto di Vicenzo, Buenos Aires, Argentina.

unched at 71 were Jim Turnesa, Briarcliff, N. Y.; Pete Cooper, Ponte Vedra, Fla.; George Fazio, Conshohocken, Pa.; Jack Burke, Jr., Walnut Plains, N. Y., and Bob Hamilton, Landover, Md.

Ben Hogan, Meriden, Pa., making his first Florida appearance this Winter, had a fat 79.

In the 36-hole play started Tuesday, 22 pros teamed with 64 amateurs, with scores kept for each team and individual medal scores for the professionals.

Amateurs include some of the nation's business, industrial and society leaders.

Texas To Meet Iowa Girls Cage Champs

WACO —(P)— The Girls Basketball League champion of Texas, Dimmitt, and the Iowa girls champion clash here Saturday night.

The game will mark the third meeting of the Texas champions. Mesquite in 1948 lost a two-game series to the Iowa titlist and last year Seagoville won one and lost one to Waterloo, Iowa.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

Baseball's mightiest slugger and most glamorous figure, Babe Ruth, is seen in a typical pose—having just wasted one into the bleachers. A street urchin from the Baltimore waterfront, the Babe captured America's heart with his irresistible personality and amazing athletic prowess. His fame as baseball's home-run king came after Ruth had compiled a spectacular record as a pitcher. The Great Bambino's salary mounted from $600 in 1914 to a peak of $80,000 in 1930 and 1931—baseball's highest at that time, and $5,000 more than President Hoover's. Shortly before his death, of cancer in August, 1948, the game paid high tribute to its greatest star in dramatic ceremonies at New York's Yankee Stadium—"The House That Ruth Built."

SPORTSLANTS

BY SHORTY SHELburnE

The question of broadcasting Longhorn League baseball games became a major issue this year when the league took an unofficial stand on the issue.

Some clubs have worked out a deal with their stations but up until now a decision has not been reached between Harold Webb and the Midland station.

We have received a copy of a telegram sent to Webb by J. M. McDonald, manager of station KCRS. We pass it on to the fans here in hopes it will bring to light the exact status of broadcast possibilities.

Here it is:
"Harold Webb
"Nassau Villas
"Daytona Beach, Fla.
"Please airmail immediately proposition baseball broadcast this season. Might be able to go ahead with an out-of-town broadcast no charge basis with pending deal on home broadcasts to be worked out later. Will be unable to carry games Thursdays and Sundays. Have client wants answer on half-hour strip every night which if we accept will prohibit our carrying any baseball. Fans here definitely want broadcasts and I would like to work out something with you because it will be advantageous to us both from standpoint of public service. Best regards."
"J. M. McDonald."

Longhorn League members voted at a meeting earlier in the season to set a fee of $2,000 for the right to broadcast home games. Managers and owners readily expressed opinions that the broadcast of home games hurts attendance. The $2,000 fee was set as a means of making up for any cut in attendance which might be caused by live broadcasts.

The matter of broadcasting is something to be worked out between each club and stations wishing to broadcast its games.

Harold Webb still is "looking" down at the Cleveland Indians' minor league camp in Florida and so far hasn't announced the signing of any players.

But one of these bright mornings he'll call up with a "big one" to tell.

He is expected back in Midland about March 20 to make preparations for the opening of Spring training March 25.

Turning to the seasonal sport of track, let us cast a vote for the Peccos Eagles in District 5-A.

With Jerry Fairley, George Christian and several other fine prospects to lead the way, the Eagles should take the 5-A title in a walk.

They ran away with the Co-rnuche Relays in Fort Stockton last week. Several other 5-A schools were entered.

Child Star—

that she might enjoy a normal childhood. The foster parents agreed but recently Lora Lee was reported back at her movie job.

The custody fight started last January 12 when Lora Lee was removed from the Michels' home by Deputy Sheriff Bess Bailey. The child had complained that her foster parents made her diet so that she could play $100-a-day movie roles. The officer said then that the child weighed only 45 pounds and complained she was hungry all the time. Miss Bailey also quoted the child as saying she was whipped because she once gained a pound.

Mother's Plea Denied
The charges were denied by Mrs.
Michel, who is free on bail pending a hearing March 21 on the sheriff's complaint.

Then her real mother, Mrs. Lena Brunson, 35, of Nederland, Texas, sought to regain custody of Lora
Lee. At a February 8 superior court session, Lora Lee was in the midst of a hair-pulling tug-of-war between Mrs. Brunson and Mrs. Michel, who had adopted the child in 1945.

There was a flurry of kicking and punching among the principals and friends of both sides.
Later, Judge A. A. Scott ruled that Mrs. Brunson had no right to the child and that the Michels' adoption process was legal. The jurist advised that the Michels take the child out of the movies and back to their home in Schulenburg, Texas.

Witchcraft Charged Delaware Woman

WILMINGTON, DEL. — (AP) — A 23-year-old woman is held on witchcraft charges under a law dating back to colonial days.

Detective Lieutenant George Klein-burger said the woman, Mrs. Helen Evans, was charged with practicing witchcraft Monday after several of her "clients" complained she put a curse on them while analyzing their hand writing.

The detective said a Mrs. Evans, after giving the clients a potion, told them to return in several days and she would remove the resulting curse for a $10 fee.

Under the old law, Kleinburger said, the penalty for practicing witchcraft in Delaware is a fine of $100 or up to a year in prison.

Klan Opponent Apologizes For Faulty Shooting; Invites Night Riders Back

EASTMAN, GA. — (AP) — Robbed and hooded night riders who fled before a rifle-toting South Georgia farmer now have his apology and an invitation to return.

The farmer, Otho Wiggins, apologized for being such a poor shot with a rifle.

Wiggins used a .22 rifle to rout
the mob after his negro farmhand had been beaten on the night of March 2. Some of the robbed figures returned his fire.

Wiggins' apology was contained in a letter he wrote Editor Edwin T.
Methvin of the weekly Eastman Times-Journal. Methvin has been crossing against the Ku Klux Klan.

It was he who broke the news of Wiggins' routing of the nightriders.
Wiggins' letter said in part:

"I extend to you loyal members of the hooded brotherhood my humble apologies for being such a poor shot with a rifle. I hope to see you soon."

It was signed: "Your neighbor
Otho Wiggins."

Two white farmers have been arrested in the case. They are free on $1,000 bond each on charges of assault and battery and shooting at another.

Chemical Cave-In Fatal To Workman

MUSKOGEE, OKLA. — (AP) — Fifty tons of commercial fertilizer tum-bled down on two workmen Monday night, killing one and critically injuring the other.

Ralph Hutson, 27, was crushed to death by the hard phosphate, potash and nitrates. Bob Bernhardt, 32, suffered two broken legs and possible internal injuries. Both were from Muskogee.

The cave-in came as the two bored holes in a huge mound of hard-packed fertilizer at the Consumer Cooperative Association plant.

The action was preparatory to placing dynamite sticks inside to blast the material loose so it could be loaded and shipped.

The victims were trapped inside a 50-foot-high wooden bin. As they worked they stood atop a bulldozer. The huge machine was wrecked.

American Flights Back On Schedule

American Airlines service was running back to normal Tuesday following more than a week of cancellation of flights in the Midland area due to a strike of maintenance workers over the nation.

Flights began in Midland Monday following settlement of the strike, and local authorities reported Tuesday that all flights were running on schedule.

Two Midland maintenance workers, who had been transferred to Dallas to help combat the shortage of workers there, returned to Midland Sunday.

It's News When Man Turns Down Post Office Box

Biggest news in the Midland Post Office Tuesday concerned the offering of a post office box to a Midland man.

He turned it down.
Postmaster N. G. Oates said that the fact a person would turn down an opportunity to rent a box was enough to keep his employees talking all the morning Tuesday.

"We get several applications for boxes every day," Oates said, "and when we do get an open box we offer it to the person whose name is on the top of the application list."

The man offered the box Tuesday was the first to turn one down here in a long time.

The Midland Post Office has 1,392 boxes, the same number that supplies the city when it had only 9,000 people. Many companies and businessmen constantly are applying for boxes.

"We could get new boxes to add to our present supply, but we just don't have any room," Oates said.

Ward County School Bond Election Set

MONAHANS — The Ward County
Commissioners Court Monday set Saturday, April 8, as the date for an election on whether the county should issue bonds in the amount of $225,000 for the construction of a county hospital.

The court action followed the presentation by R. T. Harris of a petition bearing 239 signatures of which 186 were qualified residents, tax-paying voters. The figure was more than the required 10 per cent of the voters.

Harris represented the hospital committee of the Monahans Chamber of Commerce and other civic groups which have formally endorsed the proposition of a county hospital.

The petition was accepted on a motion by H. T. (Bud) Ellis, Monahans commissioner.

HOUSTON — (AP) — District Attorney A. C. Winborn said he will present the case of a negro handyman slain by a white special deputy constable to the grand jury Wednesday.

Winborn made this announcement
Monday afternoon when he told the white friends of Carter Boyd he personally would handle the case.

Boyd, 34-year-old disabled veteran, was shot to death Saturday night after a car occupied by two white couples ran into his parked automobile, Wash J. Howard, Jr., 25, special deputy constable and University of Houston student, was charged with murder and held without bond.

Howard, a gunsmith, held a special commission from Constable
