Deep Tester Is Set For Pecos Sector

O. H. Murphy & Company will drill a 5,000-foot wildcat in North Pecos County as its No. 2 Maude E. Ford.

The prospector is to test the Silurian and Montoya pays found in the Abell-Silurian-Montoya field one mile north of the proposed drill-site.

Exact location will be 330 feet from northeast and southeast lines of section 3, block 3, H&TCo survey. That puts it one-half mile east of Murphy No. 1 Ford, a dry hole which went all the way to the Ellenburger during the last year and found no signs of production in any formation.

Production Assured E-C Truck Outpost

Union Oil Company of California No. 1 Christa Stitt, one location south of the same concern's No. 1 Laura Cotten, opener of the Cotten-Pennsylvanian field in East-Central Terry County, four and one-half miles southeast of Brownfield, has proven for the second producer in that region.

It ran a 140-minute drillstem test at 9,915-10,115 feet. Gas surfaced in seven minutes. Drilling mud started flowing out at the top in 14 minutes. Oil began to flow at the surface in 20 minutes.

The oil was flowed to pits for 20 minutes and then the well flowed 91 barrels of oil to tanks in one hour. Size of the choke used for the flowing test was not reported.

The project is now preparing to take potential test and complete.

Location is 660 feet from east and 1,980 feet from south lines of section 91, block T, D&W survey.

Grossman To Speak At MGS Luncheon

Waldo L. Grossman, engineer of the Midland division of Halliburton Oil Well Cementing Company, will be guest speaker for the Midland Geological Society's semi-monthly luncheon, which will be held in the Crystal Ballroom of Hotel Schaubauer Tuesday noon.

Grossman will discuss the Hydrofrac process, recently developed by the research department of Standard Oil & Gas Company.

Max David, president of the organization will preside at the meeting.

Midland Exploration Calls Montoya Top

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1 H. F. Timmerman, Central-West Midland County wildcat, 11 1/2 miles southwest of Midland, topped the Montoya at 12,445 feet, to give it a datum of minus 9,594 feet on that marker.

That makes No. 1 Timmerman 21 feet high on the top of the Montoya to the same marker in Magnolia's No. 2 Parks, two and one-quarter miles to the northwest, the opener of the Parks-Ellenburger field.

No. 1 Timmerman took a three-hour drillstem test on the base of the Silurian and the top of the Montoya at 12,396-461 feet.

Gas came to the surface in one hour and 32 minutes. The gas volume was too small to measure. Recovery was 280 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud. There was no formation water.

Open flowing bottom hole pressure was between 120 pounds and 130 pounds. Shut-in bottom hole pressure was 270 pounds, after 15 minutes.

A drill pipe measurement, run after the drillstem test had been completed, corrected total depth of 12,461 feet to make it 12,466 feet. The pick on the top of the Montoya is on the corrected measurement.

This project has already shown for the discovery of flowing production from the Pennsylvanian at 10,445-535 feet.

Location is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 8, block 40, T&P survey, T-3-S.

The wildcat is contracted to 13,300 feet to explore the Ellenburger. It is to continue until that objective has been realized.

Production Test Is Due Howard Wildcat

Operator is preparing to put Brinkerhoff Drilling Company No. 1 Jones, discovery from Pennsylvanian lime in Northwest Howard County, on production test after an extended drillstem test from 9,370 to 9,568 feet.

With tool open 38 hours, gas surfaced in five minutes and oil in three hours. It was flowed to tanks for 33 hours and 45 minutes. It made 15 barrels of oil per hour for the first four hours of flowing. Flow discontinued.

Signs Point To Light Vote Here Tuesday

The voters of Midland County, with nothing at stake other than their reputations as good citizens, will go to the polls Tuesday.

It's the day for the general election all over the United States, and the polling places will be open at the seven Midland County voting precincts from 8 a.m. until 7 p.m.

Texas GOP Hopes Ride On Pampan

By The Associated Press

Texas Republican hopes will be riding on the shoulders of Ben H. Guill of Pampa Tuesday as voters of the state ballot in the general election.

Guill, first Republican representative from Texas in more than 20 years, has carried on an active campaign to keep the seat he won last May 6 when the Democratic vote was split badly by 10 Democratic candidates in a winner-take-all special election in the 18th District.

His active campaign contrasts sharply with limited campaigning of most other GOP candidates in Texas, who appear to feel the voters, as usual, will mark the straight Democratic ticket.

Hot Battle in Dallas

One exception is the race for state representative, District 50, Place 5. Two Dallas men, Democrat Walter J. Reid and Republican Edward T. Dicker, are slugging it out via speeches, letters and advertisements. Reid's nomination left some Democrats unhappy.

The Republicans have a slate of candidates for most major state offices except that of commissioner of agriculture. They have entered the field in five congressional districts and are seeking eight state representative seats.

They entered no state senatorial races. They haven't won such an office in 35 years.

Guill is opposed by Walter Rogers, a fellow townsman, who ran second in the July Democratic primary but won the nomination in the August runoff.

Rogers is not an all-out Administration Democrat. Like most of the

Cary P. Butcher Services Held Here

Funeral services for Cary P. Butcher, 52, Midland independent consulting geologist, were to be held at 4 p.m. Monday in the Trinity Episcopal Church here, with the Rev. Robert J. Snell, rector, officiating. Interment was to follow in Resthaven Memorial Park.

Butcher died suddenly of a heart ailment late Saturday near Durango, Colo., while on a geological field trip. He had left Midland Friday for Colorado to accompany other geologists on this field trip.

He had been a Midland resident since 1934, when he moved here from San Angelo. He came to West Texas from Denver, Colo., in 1924. He was a graduate of the University of Kansas and the Colorado School of Mines.

Butcher was born Aug. 30, 1898, at Olathe, Kansas.

Consulting Geologist

An independent consulting geologist since 1947, Butcher previously had been associated with several oil companies, including Humphrey-Boyd Oil Company, Kirby Petroleum Company, Continental Oil Company, Cranfill and Reynolds, Cardinal Oil Company, Tidewater Associated Oil Company, and Richardson Oil Corporation.

Survivors include the widow, two daughters, Pat and Clara Lou Butcher, and a son, Preston, all of Midland.

Active pallbearers were to be Nalle Gregory, H. A. Hemphill, George R. Gibson, Ralph Chambers, Robert LeBlond, Harvey Conner, William Y. Penn and Fred Kotyja.

Honorary pallbearers include Bryce McCandless, O. C. Harper, Jack Kelsey, Bruce McKague, Dwight Edson, Ed Owens, Eugene Peoples, Robert Turpin, J. D. Hunter, Charles Vertrees, F. H. McGuigan, Morgan Davis, Walter Gholson, Dr. Hal P. Bybee, Joe Griffith and Henry Shaw.

Shoppers Throng Downtown Streets On Dollar Day

Attracted by the numerous and outstanding specials offered by Midland retail stores, a larger-than-usual crowd of Midland and area shoppers was on hand in the downtown section early Monday for the city's November Dollar Day.

Most stores were crowded throughout the morning, and clerks were rushed in waiting on the Dollar Day customers. Streets, sidewalks and business establishments were thronged during the noon hour, and it appeared the rush would continue through the afternoon.

Both merchants and shoppers appeared to be in good spirits and happy about everything.

City Checks Materials For New Sewage Plant

The City of Midland is contacting manufacturers to determine the availability of materials needed for the construction of a sewage disposal plant here, City Manager W. H. Orwalt has announced.

Orwalt said several types of equipment are getting scarce as a result of the Korean war and new government controls. He said the types of equipment available will determine the type of disposal plant which will be constructed here.

The city council will meet with Joe Ward, consultant engineer from Wichita Falls, at an early date to discuss plans for the new plant.

International Questions In Spotlight As Campaign Ends

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Political Writer

The 1950 congressional campaign winds up Monday on a foreign policy note which made virtually a forgotten issue of President Truman's once hotly debated "Fair Deal" program.

In final appeals to the voters, both major parties stressed international questions despite strong indications that many Senate and House races—as well as some governorships—are likely to be settled on strictly local situations.

The consensus of political observers seemed to be that the results of Tuesday's balloting would provide no change in Democratic control of the two houses of Congress. However, the experts left room for a last-minute crystallization of sentiment that might be reflected in a surprising trend. The possibility that the recent adverse turn of the Korean war would affect the voters' decision was not discounted by either party.

To be elected are 32 state governors, 36 U. S. Senators and 432 U. S. Representatives—the full House membership except for three Maine seats, filled by Republicans in a September 11 election.

State election and party officials have estimated that some 42,000,000 votes may be cast. That would be a record for a non-presidential year. Prospects were that the weather would be favorable in most sections of the country.

Senator Taft of Ohio, known widely as "Mr. Republican," was the latest to add his voice to the chorus on international issues which President Truman stressed with his Saturday night speech in St. Louis and which Harold E. Stassen promptly took up for the Republicans.

Taft charged in a transcribed radio speech broadcast by seven Ohio stations Sunday that President Truman had "killed" the bipartisan foreign policy shortly after the 1948 presidential election.

Climaxing a battle with State Auditor Joseph Ferguson in the Ohio Senate race, Taft also charged the Truman Administration with responsibility for high prices and high taxes.

But this seemed only a side issue to Taft's assertion that the Truman Administration "has lost the peace after the American people won the war."

Everything for the dance was contributed—the services of Fitzgerald's band—the Lone Star Ramblers, the American Legion Hall, publicity, press and radio.

Judge Paul Moss named W. A. Yeager foreman after the 12 men were sworn in and they immediately went into session with District Attorney Martelle McDonald.

Midlander Loses Arm In Truck Collision

SAN ANGELO—Stewart S. Hunter, 27-year-old Midland core drill operator, suffered the loss of his left arm Sunday when the truck he was driving collided with a cattle truck eight miles north of here on Highway 67.

The arm was severed just above the elbow when his truck sideswiped with the cattle truck driven by Riley R. Rand, 38-year-old Odessa man.

FINANCIAL COMMODITY MARKETS PLAN HOLIDAY

NEW YORK—(AP)—Financial and commodity markets throughout the United States will be closed Tuesday, election day.

The Department of Agriculture will issue various livestock reports.

American Troops Recover Some Of Weekend Losses

SEOUL, KOREA—(AP)—American troops in North-west Korea Monday afternoon recovered a half-mile of ground lost to a morning Communist attack and fought bitterly for no gain in the northeast against an enemy newly identified by General MacArthur as Chinese Reds.

Elements of two U. S. divisions holding the bridgehead area north of the Chongchon River near Korea's west coast recovered the territory lost to the Reds six miles north of Anju.

Truman, Acheson Confer

KANSAS CITY—(AP)—President Truman Monday had a long telephone conference with Secretary of State Acheson on the worsening situation in Korea.

Associates, unquotable by name, said Truman was deeply concerned over the movement of Chinese Communist troops into North Korea from Manchuria.

Officially, however, the President maintained silence on this development as well as on Gen. Douglas MacArthur's communique, denouncing it as "one of the most offensive acts of lawlessness" in history.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said Truman had been "filled in on the whole situation" in his talk with Secretary Acheson.

Ross was unusually solemn at a news conference at the Hotel Muehlebach, where President Truman is staying until he votes Tuesday in his home town of Independence.

Asked about the sudden large scale movement of Chinese Communists into Korea and MacArthur's communique, Ross replied tersely: "The President has no comment on it."

Automobile Smashes Plate Glass Window In C. Of C. Office

An automobile driven by Mrs. E. W. Taylor, 1006 West Missouri Street, crashed into the front of the Chamber of Commerce office in Hotel Schaubauer shortly before noon Monday, shattering a huge plate glass window and flinging glass throughout the office.

Mrs. Johnnie Caffey, secretary, was alone in the office at the time of the accident. She said Delbert Downing, manager whose private office is located near the large window, was out of the office. His desk and chair were located directly behind the window and glass was thrown across the desk. Mrs. Caffey was not injured.

Witnesses said Mrs. Taylor apparently was attempting to park by the curb in front of the office when she lost control of the automobile.

A partition inside the office almost toppled over following the crash. It contains plate glass sittings but none was broken.

Investigating officers said another automobile parked by the curb near the office, was damaged slightly by the Taylor vehicle.

Red Feather Drive To End This Week

This week will see the windup of the 1950 Midland Community Chest campaign, workers announced Monday.

And the goal of $45,386 was not immediately in sight as the week opened. Contributions of $32,594 were reported Monday, as compared with $32,001 at the weekend. This represented a gain of $593.

Mop-up operations will be done this week as campaign workers strive to reach the goal.

A breakdown of the Monday report follows:

Big Gifts $9,243; Ranchers and Farmers $2,235; Office Buildings $5,481; Non-Resident Corporations $4,245; Business District $5,612; Public Buildings $479; Residential $2,471; Schools $727; Lawyers $1,253; Doctors $925; Negroes $136; Latin American $87.

The drive will be pushed during the week, campaign leaders said.

More Odessa Game Tickets

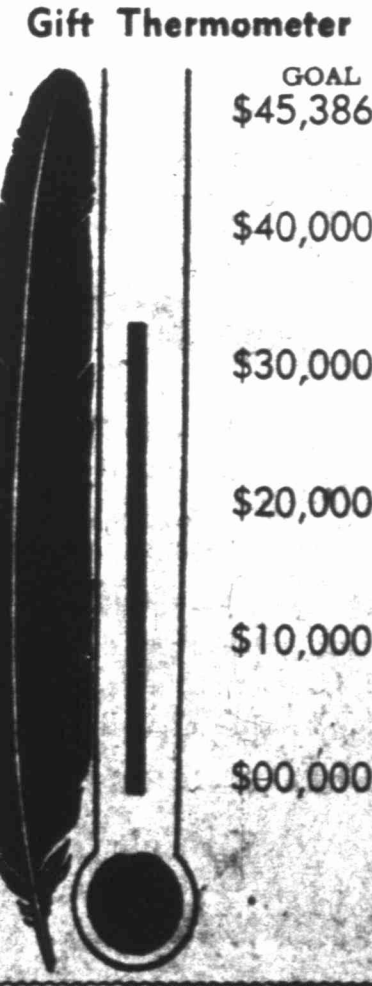

School officials Monday announced plans to erect temporary bleacher seats in the track on the west side of the playing field at Memorial Stadium for the Saturday afternoon football game between Midland and Odessa. A record crowd of more than 13,000 fans is expected.

Tickets for the bleacher seats, all reserved, will go on sale at 5 p.m. Thursday at the south gate of the stadium. Two hundred seats in Section W at the north end of the field also will go on sale at the same time. The tickets will be sold on a first-come, first-served basis. The exact number of tickets which will be available is not known at this time.

Eleanor Powell Warms Up For Video Debut Next Spring

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—Eleanor Powell's famous dancing feet are warming up for a come-back. She'll take the big plunge into TV in New York in the Spring when hubby Glenn Ford goes overseas for a movie. She told me: "I'll do half a dozen guest shots and then come back to Hollywood and put together a show of my own."

Eleanor has rehearsed one day a week ever since she left MGM. "It keeps me alive and on the beam," she said.

There's a deal on the fire for Judy Garland to play the greatest movie role of her career—Sophie Tucker in the Red Hot Mama's biography, "Some of These Days."

Elizabeth Taylor, I can report today, is the prettiest thing that ever slipped into a maternity dress. She had the whole MGM payroll doing double-takes when she walked to the studio cafe peddled to Sidney Greenstreet dimensions for her role of an expectant mother in "Father's Little Dividend."

RKO is aiming Goodman Ace's "I Married a Woman" straight at Cary Grant and Betsy Drake. After being a male war bride, Cary should care about wacky titles.

Puerto Rico Ends Quiet Registration

SAN JUAN, PUERTO RICO (AP)—Puerto Rico's National Guard was ordered demobilized at noon Monday after registration of new voters for next year's constitutional referendum was completed without incident.

Thirty five hundred guardsmen were called out last Monday to help quell an abortive but bloody Nationalist-rebellion. Guard officials said 360 guardsmen will be retained for duty at Fortaleza jail, and some others will be kept in reserve.

Some 400 of about 600 persons arrested in a roundup of Nationalists and suspected sympathizers following last week's rebellion and the attempt on President Truman's life by two Puerto Rican Nationalists, were expected to be released within 48 hours. The others face further questioning and possibly formal charges.

The two-day registration which ended Sunday was conducted in perfect calm. Officials said the almost complete total was 151,152—far greater than expected. The registrants included 70,358 women and 83,156 men. Munoz Marin said the registration was spurred by last week's violence and proved that Puerto Ricans admire the United States and love democracy.

Three Texans Win Championships At Cow Palace Rodeo

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Gene Rambo of Shandon, Calif., won the world all-around cowboy championship for the third straight year Sunday night—and the fourth in his career.

Winners of the Grand National Rodeo competition included: Steer wrestling: First, Dub Phillips, San Angelo, Texas. Calf roping: First, Toots Mansfield, Big Spring, Texas.

Puerto Rico Lines Up 200,000-Man Pool To Aid U. S. In Event Of Labor Shortage

SAN JUAN, PUERTO RICO (NEA)—If mainland America begins to feel a manpower shortage because of military and defense needs, Puerto Rico is ready with a plan to help out.

A survey by the island government's new Office of Emergency Plans estimates there's a potential force of 200,000 Puerto Ricans which could be harnessed to U. S. production needs on short notice.

Many of these already are skilled; others are now in training or could be trained in a few months to meet industrial needs—either in the factories of Puerto Rico or in mainland plants.

Estimate Made
Labor groups in the U. S. recently estimated that 100,000 displaced persons a year could be brought from Europe without dislocating the U. S. labor market. But Puerto Rican officials point out that the formalities involved in bringing in DPs would take too long in an emergency, and that the island's pool of workers would be one quick answer in a labor shortage.

The speed with which the labor pool could be moved to wherever it might be needed already has been demonstrated. In the biggest civilian airlift in history, major airlines last Summer flew more than 8,000 workers from Puerto Rico to seasonal agricultural jobs in Michigan, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania.

Most of these were sugar cane workers, whose seasonal jobs on the island had finished.

But Teodoro Moscoso, Jr., Puerto Rico's economic development administrator, points out that the island's manpower pool, which is the largest unemployed or under-employed group of American citizens, percentage wise, of any area in the country, is not limited to agricultural workers.

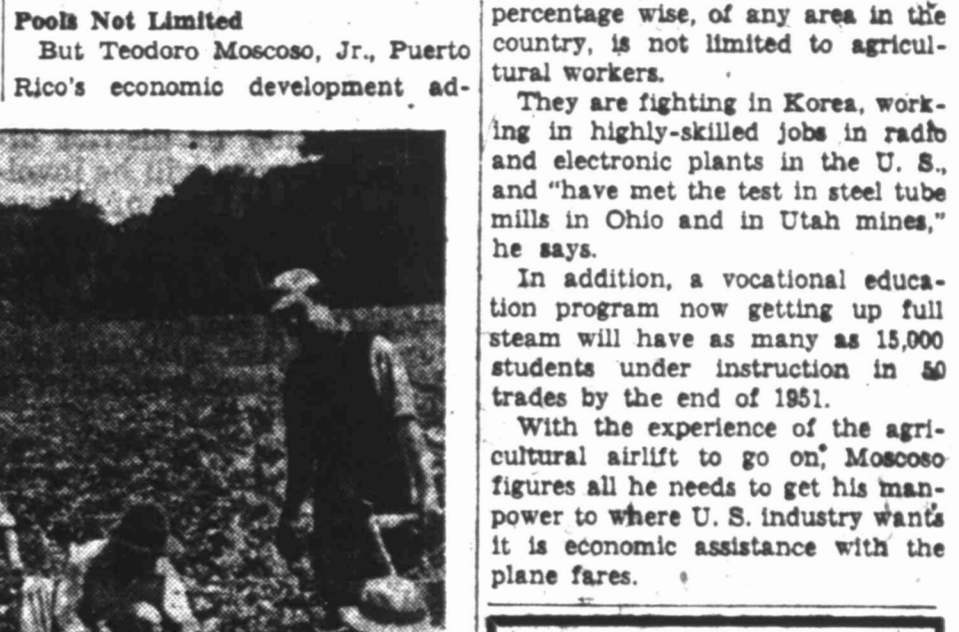

They are fighting in Korea, working in highly-skilled jobs in radio and electronic plants in the U. S., and "have met the test in steel tube mills in Ohio and in Utah mines," he says.

In addition, a vocational education program now getting up full steam will have as many as 15,000 students under instruction in 40 trades by the end of 1951.

With the experience of the agricultural airlift to go on, Moscoso figures all he needs to get his manpower to where U. S. industry wants it is economic assistance with the plane fares.

Puerto Ricans learn at home: These are students in a vocational program which eventually will enroll 15,000 men.

Puerto Ricans work in U. S.: These are agricultural workers, "air-lifted" to New Jersey for seasonal jobs at harvest time.

Greater Force For Peace

Russia has failed in its effort to hobble the United Nations General Assembly as it has hamstringing the Security Council.

By its overwhelming support of the Acheson plan, the UN's Political Committee has served dramatic notice on the Soviet Union that the free members of that body are determined to make the UN an effective agency against aggression.

Until Korea, it never had been that. Thanks to Russia's early season boycott, the UN was able to act boldly and without interference when the North Koreans launched their June offensive.

But Russia's return in August to the Security Council put the UN back on dead center again, with every prospect it would stay there and be helpless in the face of any new aggression Moscow might undertake.

That's where the Acheson plan came in. It's a program to hand responsibility for maintaining peace to the Assembly when the Council is unable to act. It provides that the Assembly can be summoned on 24 hours' call. Most importantly, it recommends that member countries keep armed forces in constant readiness to move against an aggressor.

Andrej Vishinsky, Soviet foreign minister, naturally doesn't like any arrangement that would let the UN do an effective job. So he's been haranguing against the Acheson plan all along.

Just before the program was approved in committee, Vishinsky complained that it would upset what he called the "primacy of the Security Council" in matters affecting the peace. The Russians always exhibit a touching concern for strict legal forms when they work to Soviet advantage.

Delegates from the free nations retorted that the "primacy of peace" is greater than that of the Security Council. That is the real key to UN thinking at this critical stage. The peace-loving world, having seen how well the UN can work in an emergency, doesn't want the agency to lose its new-found authority.

By translating this resolve into new strength for the Assembly, the UN well may have reached an historic turning point. No longer need it fear the impotence of the Security Council in a crisis. The veto, long the chief UN bogey, can not be interposed in the Assembly to block vital action.

Aside from its stirring response in the Korean situation, nothing the UN has done in its five years of life offers more promise for the future than this endorsement of the Acheson plan. It is a fitting commemoration of the UN's fifth anniversary.

Now To Finish The Job

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1950, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
Drew Pearson says: Dewey tried to get Hanley's famous letter burned; GOP bigwigs pressured Congressman Macy to give up Hanley's account of how Dewey eched him out of race; Dewey rowed with Macy at Saratoga.

WASHINGTON—When this hot and hectic election campaign is over, the weirdest story undoubtedly will be that of how Gov. Thomas E. Dewey bulldozed Lieut. Gov. Joe Hanley out of the New York gubernatorial race and his efforts to destroy the Hanley letter which followed.

Here are inside facts regarding this amazing story not hitherto published. The story began, of course, in late August when the polls showed Truman's political popularity at its lowest ebb and when Korean defeats were at their worst. At this time Winthrop Aldrich, head of the Chase National Bank, conferred in Bar Harbor, Me., with his brother-in-law, John D. Rockefeller, and as a result, Aldrich staged a luncheon of GOP bigwigs in his office, August 28, at which he laid down an ultimatum that Hanley must withdraw from the race and Dewey must be the gubernatorial candidate.

Otherwise, Aldrich bluntly warned, no campaign funds would be forthcoming. Since Aldrich has been the biggest single money-raiser for Dewey, this warning meant something. What Dewey's banking friends figured was that, with Truman popularity down and the Korean war going badly, the long-awaited opportunity to put their man in the White House was just around the corner. But there was one big complication. Since Dewey wanted to be drafted, he had to get Hanley—upon whom he had placed his blessing—to withdraw gracefully from the race.

Hanley's Mental Maelstrom
To the end Hanley was summoned to Dewey's apartment in the Roosevelt Hotel in New York, September 1, where Dewey, Congressman William Pfeiffer of Kenmore and Dean Taylor of Troy put the heat on him. The 74-year-old Hanley, however, long had looked forward to the honor of being governor, and did not withdraw gracefully. In fact, it was not until 2 a.m. that he finally gave in; then only after Dewey promised a $15,000 salary with the Throughway Commission and a $10,000 vice-presidency with one of the Rockefeller oil companies.

By 11 p.m. Hanley was so exhausted he had lost the sight of his one good eye, and when flown back to Albany in the morning, his eyes were bandaged and the tears streamed out from under the bandages. His daughter, Mrs. Josephine Wilcox, welcoming her father broke down.

"Why didn't they shoot him instead of doing this," she sobbed. GOP Meets At Saratoga
The next week the Republican state convention met in Saratoga to nominate, and on Tuesday, September 5, Jim Leary, close friend of and personal attorney for Hanley, tried to find Congressman Kingsland Macy, Macy, meeting with the Suffolk County delegation, could not be reached until later in the evening at the convention hall.

There Leary pulled him aside and under candlelight—the electricity having gone off—showed him a carbon copy of the famous Hanley letter, telling of the Dewey pledge to take care of Hanley's debts and future financial welfare if he withdrew from the race.

"Good God, what's this?" exclaimed Macy.
"You're going to get your copy in the morning," Leary explained. Apparently Leary had encouraged Hanley to write the letter, and had kept a copy. Next morning Macy received the original of the letter by messenger and was so fearful its contents might leak that he sent his secretary all the way to Long Island to have it photostated. She stood by while 12 photostats were made.

Macy then transmitted one copy each to Frank Gannett of the Gannett newspapers and Whitelaw Reid of the New York Herald Tribune, Reid, who was at Paul Smiths, N. Y., then telephoned Dewey at Saratoga and gave his assistant, Paul Lockwood, a summary of the letter. This was with the idea that Dewey, knowing of the Hanley letter in advance, might want to reconsider his plan to run for governor.

Dewey Storms
Dewey, however, remained outwardly unperturbed. But that night, around midnight, he sent word that he wanted to see Kingsland Macy about "the Hanley letter."
There followed a conference between Macy, Frank Moore, candidate for lieutenant governor, and Hanley's close friend, Ray Richmond. They urged Macy not to take the Hanley letter to the Dewey conference for fear the governor would seize it physically. So Macy gave it to Richmond for safekeeping.

It also was decided that Macy should take a witness with him, and Charles Duryea, brother of the conservation commissioner, was summoned. By this time it was around 1 a.m., and Dewey was getting impatient. Finally Macy arrived at Dewey's suite with Moore and Duryea at about 1:30 a.m.

"We got into a jam on the bidding of this hand," confesses a New Orleans reader. "Obviously we shouldn't reach a slam, but we can't think of a logical way to avoid it." This is an interesting hand and an interesting problem. There is a way for good players to explore slam possibilities on hands of this type without getting to unmakeable slams.

When North bids three clubs he is clearly making a cue-bid. He may have the ace of clubs and he may be void of clubs. (In the actual hand, South has the ace of clubs and therefore knows that his partner is void of the suit; but North cannot be sure that his partner will be able to read the situation). North cannot, of course, have a real club suit. If he did, he would double two clubs for penalties instead of bidding three clubs.

When North bids four no-trump at his next turn, he is asking how many aces South has (Blackwood Convention). It is clear he could have done so without first going to the trouble of bidding three clubs. Why, then, did he first make that bid?

There can be only one answer: He wants to show that there are no losers in clubs and that he is interested only in the aces of the other three suits.

If South reads this message, he must give the negative response of five clubs, showing no ace outside of clubs. It was a mistake to bid five diamonds, showing one ace. With this sort of understanding, North can confidently bid a slam if South shows an ace; and can bid a grand slam if South shows two aces. If South shows no ace (as he should have, in the actual hand), North stops at five spades.

These hands don't come up very often, but they count for a lot of points when they do occur. It's wise to remember that when either partner makes a cue-bid, a later bid of four no-trump asks for aces outside of the cue-bid suit.

THE STORY: Aunt Maggie Thorne is smothered to death in her home. The police are suspicious. Peter, Leana's sister, is pushed down a stairway. "Not dinner, if that's what you mean," Mrs. Carstairs snapped. "I've quit."
"Quit?" Leana yelled. "But you can't, you—"
"I can and I have!" decisively. "No peroxide hussy can boss me around like I, was dig!"

Leana almost laughed. "What happened?" she asked through smothered giggles.
The housekeeper exchanged a long, knowing look with Jones. "I don't have to stay here!" she burst out defiantly. "Nobody can make me—"
"Purdy—if I don't want to I'll be next. Why shouldn't I be?"

"Why should you?" Leana countered, puzzled and a little bit frightened at this second burst of near-hysteria from staid, morose Mrs. Carstairs.
"Oh, Mart!" she murmured. "Mart, don't ever let me go! I—shakily—" might be afraid of you, too."
He kissed her again.

"How touching!"
Sondra, a lacy smile on her provocative lips, came into the hall. She tossed her mink jacket toward the halltree and paid no attention when it fell in a heap on the floor. "Little defenseless Leana with her books in a mink! Stop blushing, darling. It's so old-fashioned." She gave a frosty laugh. "Mart, Preston, you're a fool. Never marry a Thorne. They're all bad, I know."

She went off then, swinging her hips. Leana slipped her hand into Mart's.
Mart was still scowling at the stairs, as though he still saw Sondra's shapely legs climbing them.
CYNTHIA CARSTAIRS greeted Leana with obvious hostility when she finally found her—sitting beside Arthur Jones in the greenhouse. Old Arthur was still shaking his head over something Mrs. Carstairs had said.

"What's cooking?" Leana asked brightly.

★ THE DOCTOR SAYS ★

New Methods And Instruments Help Doctor In His Diagnosis

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

During the last 50 years or so a great many new methods have been developed for examining the human body and its various organs. The simple methods which have been used almost as long as medicine has been a profession involve the use of the doctor's own senses. They include what the doctor can see, what he can feel, what he can tell by thumping (which is used most commonly on the chest), and what he can hear—usually through an instrument called the stethoscope.

All these methods still are used by the physician, and are invaluable in making a diagnosis. Medical students are given long instruction in using their senses in these ways, and the really talented and experienced physician develops an almost uncanny skill in using his senses.

To these time-tested methods of physical examination there have been added a large number of special tests which aid the physician in making his diagnosis, deciding on the treatment, and following the results of the treatment.

One of the most important of these is the X-ray, which aids in so many ways. Practically no one tries to set a bone unless an X-ray has been made. The X-ray helps to make a diagnosis of tuberculosis earlier than almost any other method. It is used in the study of ulcer of the stomach and other disorders of the intestinal tract.

The physical examination today is not complete unless the blood pressure has been taken with the aid of an instrument, and unless samples of blood and urine have been obtained from the patient, looked at under the microscope, and subjected to certain special tests. At least three tests are applied to the blood: counting the white cells, counting the red cells, and testing the iron in the blood for anemia. Minimum tests of the urine include its examination for pus, for sugar (diabetes), and for abnormal protein (usually a sign of Bright's disease). In addition to these routine studies both blood and urine can be tested in many other ways for various chemical disturbances.

Other Tests Available

The physician has a great many other ingenious instruments and tests which he can utilize if the symptoms of the patient indicate that they are needed. A few of these may be mentioned: the electrocardiograph for the study of the heart, the basal metabolism for the study of the thyroid, examination of the spinal fluid for the study of the nervous system, and a new instrument for recording the brain waves which is useful in epilepsy and other disorders of the brain.

Just this brief mention of a few of the new methods of diagnosis which now are available show how much progress has been made in medical science, and how much better treatment can be received by the patient today than by his ancestors.

I WILL NOT LET ANYTHING MASTER ME

The will-to-live is the urge in everything. Everything lifts up strong hands after perfection. The urge for completion is perhaps the most insistent of all urges. Religion is rooted in this life urge—religion is the life urge turned qualitative. We want to live, not merely fully, but better. The will to live may turn into the mere will to power unless ruled by qualitative factors. The will to mastery may become the will to tyranny unless controlled by the will of God.

Paul suggested this will to mastery in these words: "All things are lawful for me? Yes, but I am not going to let anything master me." (I Corinthians 6:12 Moffatt.) That phrase, "I am not going to let anything master me," is one of the greatest phrases declaring a life purpose that has ever been uttered. The man who was completely mastered by the will of God said that he would not be mastered by anything. The opposite of that holds good: If you are not mastered by God you will be mastered by things, by yourself, by other persons, by circumstances, by the world, or by sorrows and disappointments.

Take the last two things that master us: the world, and sorrow and disappointments. Some are mastered by the world. It is usually a very slow and silent process. We scarcely know what is happening, but we are slowly mastered by a materialistic outlook. The story goes that a robin was offered a worm for a feather. The bird thought this a good bargain—it would save a lot of hunting for worms and he would not miss a feather. But one dreadful day the robin awoke to the fact that his feathers were gone and he could not fly. He had sold his power to fly for worms. He was earth-bound. The counterpart of that is happening all around us—the powers of soul, the ability to soar, are bartered for physical things. Soon the man is a dead soul surrounded by many things.

Then others are mastered by some bereavement or disappointment. They retreat into the kennel of life like a whipped dog. Life is too much for them. They are beaten. There they give themselves to inward self-pity. The will-to-live has become the will-to-complain-of-life.

O God, apart from Thee I am mastered by this, that, or the other. With Thee I am mastered by nothing—except Thee. Then I am free. Save me from being mastered by any sorrow or disappointment. Help me to rise, like an airplane, against resistance. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Texas JayCees Will Move Headquarters To Grand Prairie

DALLAS —(AP)— Grand Prairie—between Dallas and Fort Worth—is going to be the new state headquarters of the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce.

An offer of a free lot, an underwriter for an $18,000 building and an assist from the West Texas city of Levelland won the location for Grand Prairie—over Abilene and Bryan.

The city is to donate the lot, the Dallas JayCees and B. A. Stufflebame will underwrite the building and the Levelland club will pay the insurance on the building.

Abilene, state headquarters for the group for the last three years, offered to continue giving free office space, with taxes and insurance paid by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Bryan offered a five-year lease of an entire floor in a downtown office building, taxes and insurance paid; option on another five years, use of a penthouse ballroom, quarters at Texas A&M College's Student Union for JayCee officials—and hinted there would be free tickets to Aggie football games.

Levelland Club President George Price made the offer to pay the insurance after a delegate to the state directors meeting raised the question on the Grand Prairie offer.

The 30,000 bakeries in the United States daily turn out an average of 1,668,800 loaves of bread per hour, 24 hours a day.

Many Veterans Of Last War Seek Elective Offices

WASHINGTON —(AP)— As in 1948, scores of veterans of the last world war are seeking public office in this year's elections.

Two stand out in particular as "headline" names. They are Brig. Gen. James P. S. Devereux, retired Marine and Rear Admiral John G. Crommelin, retired Navy flier.

"Jimmy" Devereux led the heroic defense of Wake Island early in the war. He is running for Congress from the Second Maryland District as a Republican. The Democratic candidate is incumbent Rep. William P. Bolton of Towson.

Chances Are Better
Devereux' chances are regarded by politicians as distinctly better than those of Admiral Crommelin who, as an Independent, is running against Senator Lister Hill in Democratic Alabama.

Crommelin as a captain commanded an aircraft carrier in the Pacific in the last war. He was furloughed at half pay early this year when he refused to heed an order from the Navy high command to stop his outspoken criticism of Pentagon policies regarding unification.

Admiral Louis E. Denfeld, ousted as chief of Naval operations in the same unification row, ran for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in Massachusetts in September, but lost to Arthur W. Coolidge.

Milestone in a Career!

We see it happen over and over again—and it's one of the greatest satisfactions we enjoy in this happy business of selling Cadillac cars.

It's when a man comes into possession of his first Cadillac—and we witness the wonderful, wonderful things it does for him.

We see his happiness as he places his order—not as the result of a sudden inspiration, but because he has gradually reached the conclusion that he has earned the right to the unquestioned best. A Cadillac buyer has his mind made up when he starts to move.

And then we see him on that happy day when his car is available for delivery—and he settles himself so proudly behind the wheel.

He's a little quizzical, we sometimes note. Could it be, he wonders, that he's anticipating a bit too much?

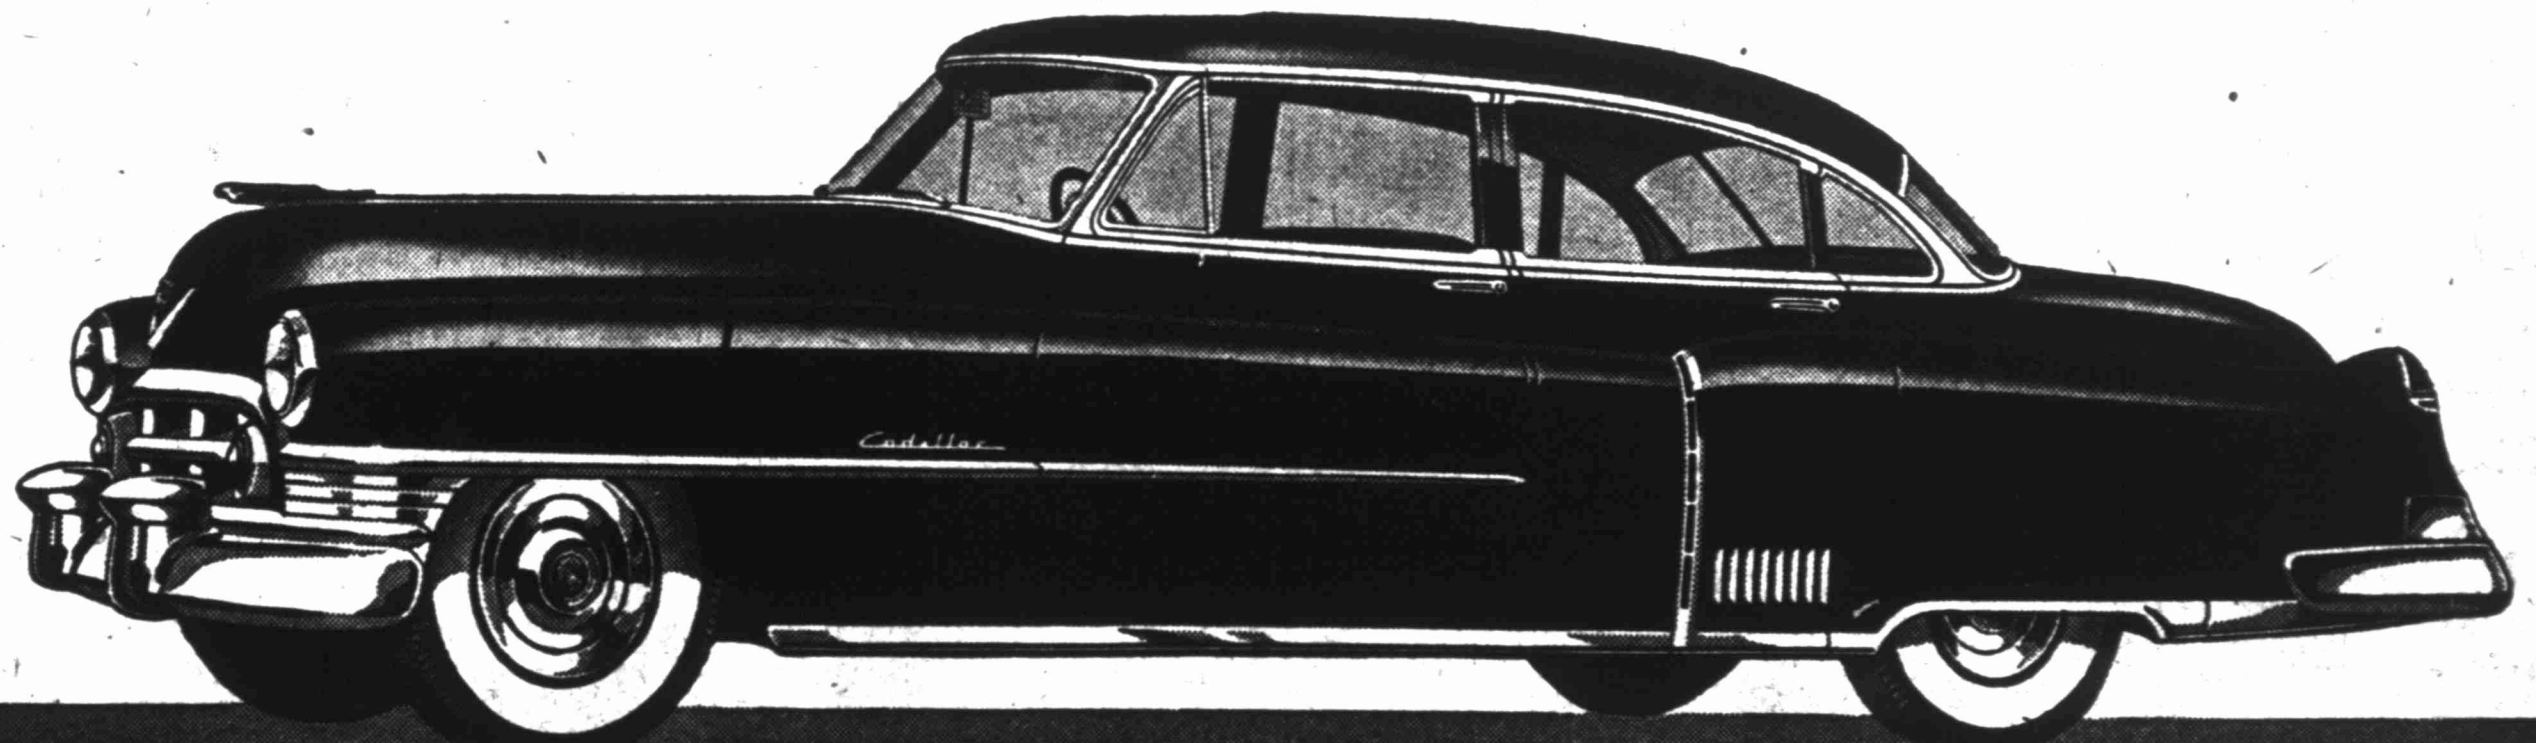

And then he's out in the street—headed for home the long way 'round. There are some things a man wants to try for himself—with no one near to watch him!

Those are thrilling days that follow. There's the first long ride with the family

... the first trip to the office, with a waiting delegation to admire his choice... and there's the time he learns, in an emergency, that his car is worth its whole price in safety alone.

And then, almost before he knows it, the odometer registers a thousand miles—and he's back to tell us all about it. And, perhaps, to grumble a little bit at giving it up for a checking over. It's hard to part from a great new love, even for a little while!

Yes, it's a priceless privilege to watch all this. Makes a man feel that he's doing good.

Daddy Ringtail And Tar Baby

Mugwump Monkey was telling the story of the tar baby that was made of tar. Mugwump said that a fox or somebody was wanting to catch a sassy rabbit, but the rabbit always got away. Mr. Fox made a tar baby out of tar that was sticky all over. He put the tar baby out in the middle of an Elephant Path somewhere for Cousin

Rabbit to come along. Yessir, and pretty soon along came Cousin Rabbit. "Tar Baby," said Cousin Rabbit, "what you doing a-standing out here in the middle of the Elephant Path where an elephant might come along and squash you?"

"See here, Tar Baby," said Cousin Rabbit, "I like for people to speak when I do my speaking at them."

Tar Baby didn't say anything. Cousin Rabbit jumped in the air three times and bumped his heels together. He did it maybe to make the Tar Baby laugh. Tar Baby didn't laugh at all.

Cousin Rabbit knew what to do for the next try. He put his hands to his cheeks and pulled them out to be real big. He wiggled his tongue all to and stuck out his tongue all to look like a funny face. He did it for making Tar Baby laugh, and this time Tar Baby began to laugh so hard that tarry tears were rolling down his tarry face.

Cousin Rabbit frowned. He frowned some more for Tar Baby now to stop the laughing. He knew that Tar Baby couldn't laugh. Tar Baby was made of tar and sticky

Fuss Over Football Queen's Selection Shuts Down Schools

DECATUR, TENN. —(AP)—A dispute over selection of a high school football queen has closed all Meigs County schools and boiled up into a hot political fight.

State officials have decreed the schools, with 1,000 enrollment, will lose state funds unless the dispute is settled. The schools shut down Friday.

Annette Hipps, 16, won the beauty contest in which more than $800 was collected at a penny a vote. The money was to buy football team sweaters.

Science teacher D. B. Powell, who sponsored an unsuccessful candidate, protested. He declined to make public his grounds, but principal A. B. Culvahouse said Powell charged him with a "discrepancy" in accounting. Robert Culvahouse, the principal's brother, sponsored Miss Hipps.

Political lines were drawn. Powell is a Democrat and the Culvahouse brothers are Republicans.

Apologies Ordered
The county school board met and ordered Powell and A. B. Culvahouse to apologize. That failed to settle anything, and the principal and five teachers resigned.

The board then transferred Powell, and the faculty resignation was withdrawn. At a third meeting, the board transferred both principal Culvahouse and Powell. Six faculty changes also were ordered.

On Friday Supt. Dudley Culvahouse, brother of the high school teachers, closed all schools. He said three principals showed up at one grammar school that day and "turmoil and confusion" made it impossible to hold classes.

To Say 'Plenty'
Powell said Sunday he will "say plenty" after Tuesday's election. He added that the Culvahouses "are trying to elect Walter White as state representative. We're trying to elect Mary Shadov."

Miss Shadov, pretty and brunette, is Tennessee's only woman legislator. She, a Democrat, unseated White, a Republican, two years ago.

The woman candidate said she knows no reason why the dispute should involve the election "unless it's because I have said I will keep the election of board members in the hands of voters rather than placing it in the county court."

Foundation, Citing Poor Voting Record, Runs Drive To End Election Day Apathy

NOVEMBER SCENE: This woman, waiting while her name is checked on the list of registered voters, went to the polls in 1948 along with 52 per cent of the nation's eligible voters. Despite the fact it was a Presidential election, 4,000,000 other eligible voters stayed home, too lazy or thoughtless to vote.

NEW YORK —(NEA)—America's voting record is notoriously poor. During the 1948 Presidential election, only 52 per cent of the eligible voters bothered to go to the polls. That means that 44,000,000 people were too lazy or too thoughtless to vote.

The American Heritage Foundation, the group that sponsored the Freedom Train, is trying to do something about it. They've changed their slogan—"Freedom is Everybody's Job"—for the occasion, and are running a pre-election "Voting is Everybody's Job" campaign.

The resolution that many potential voters don't go to the polls because they feel that one vote won't do much good, anyway. Digging back into history, the Foundation has come up with several examples of single votes that changed the course of events.

On One Vote
Significantly enough, the very first test of America as a new-born nation revolved about one vote.

The nation's charter of liberty, the Resolution of the Declaration of Independence, was passed by the Continental Congress on July 2, 1776, when Caesar Rodney, a delegate from Delaware, rose from a sickbed and rode 80 miles on horseback through a stormy night to cast just one vote. That vote placed his state on the side of freedom and helped assure unanimous approval of all the colonies.

Within recent memory, the crucial balloting in the House of Representatives on continuation of selective service just prior to Pearl

AUSTIN —(AP)—Sherry Royster of Dallas showed some improvement overnight, Brackenridge Hospital reported Monday.

Miss Royster, 20, a student in Southern Methodist University, was one of three students injured when the special M-K-T train in which they were returning to Dallas became uncoupled north of here.

She and two others were thrown under the train.

Attendants at Brackenridge said that while Miss Royster was some better, she was "still a very sick girl." Her skull was fractured.

Wild Turkey On Comeback Trail

WASHINGTON —(AP)—The wild turkey is staging a comeback.

A dozen years ago the stock of this big game bird was very low.

But now, a Wildlife Service official told a reporter, wild turkeys are becoming more plentiful over a wide area of the United States.

The improvement mainly is the result of conservation steps, such as setting aside and improving special areas for the birds; trapping and transplanting, and raising wild turkeys at state game farms.

Habitat improvement has been undertaken in some 15 states. Leaders in this work are Virginia, Texas, Alabama, West Virginia and North Carolina.

Colorado last year had its first open season on turkeys in about 50 years.

Texas is the leader in trapping and transplanting wild turkeys.

The Wildlife Service gave this breakdown for 9,000 transplanted turkeys:

Arkansas 55 plus 400 game farm birds; Texas, 4,224 plus 137 farm birds; Louisiana, 306 farm birds only; and Oklahoma, 30 farm birds only.

State's Only Indian Reservation Located In Polk County Hills

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
Associated Press Staff

In the low, sandy hills of Eastern Polk County, Texas, is the state's only Indian reservation—domain of the Alabama and Couthattas tribes.

The reservation is 96 years old and was established through the influence of Sam Houston. Today there are between 300 and 400 Indians, predominantly Alabamas.

They live in small, modern-type homes scattered over 3,261 acres.

A small child visiting the reservation would be somewhat disappointed to see Indians walking around in store clothes, living in neat white cottages and listening with stolid faces to the radio, Milton Turner of the Beaumont Enterprise said.

But Turner was happy to find Chief Bronson Cooper Sylistine, chief of the Indians here in 1926, "sitting under a large oak tree meticulously carving a piece of iron-wood, which rapidly was taking the shape of a bow."

Here Since 1800
The Alabamas (they came from Alabama) and their kinmen, the Couthattas, have been in Texas since about 1800 and always were known for their friendly, peaceful ways. Today they are also known as good basketball players and recently two of them, Abeiler Alec and Clayton Sylistine were placed on the all-state high school basketball team.

There's a gymnasium on the reservation, also a church, hospital, and school. Most of the Indians are Presbyterians, through the efforts of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Currie and Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Chambers, Presbyterian missionaries.

Handicraft Abandoned
A majority of the Indian men work for large lumber companies. Some run their own businesses. They virtually have abandoned the art of handicraft. Too busy with other things.

Not on this reservation do you find such honored Indian names as Small Deer, Rain-In-The-Face, or Sun-In-The-Eyes. Instead mailboxes carry such names as Battise, Poneho, Abbey, Thompson, Bullock and Williams.

Guiding light of the reservation is the Indian agent, C. H. Jones, Jr., native of Polk County, graduate of Texas A&M (1938) and former lieutenant colonel in the U. S. Air Force. He has known and liked the Indians since his childhood, has been the agent since 1946, and devotes his full time to looking after their welfare.

SMU's Fall Stirs Texas-Oklahoma Cotton Bowl Talk

By WILL GRIMSLEY
NEW YORK—(AP)—The pieces of college football's bowl jig-saw puzzle began falling into place Monday, while Southern Methodist picked up the fragments of shattered title dreams.

The Mustangs' hopes of a national championship were dashed Saturday against a fierce Texas line which blunted SMU's famed attack and ground out a 23-20 upset victory at Austin.

SMU, like Texas, however, remained a leading candidate for one of the top post-season bowl assignments.

In whipping the Mustangs, Texas became a stout favorite for the Southwest Conference crown and the Cotton Bowl role that goes along with it.

SMU lost little of its glitter in the savagely played game with its aroused neighbor. It's hard to forget that the Mustangs hold the only decision over Ohio State, being acclaimed in some quarters as the best in the land.

Long Distance Look
Here's a long distance look at the bowls, subject, of course, to late November revision:

Rose at Pasadena, Calif. — California vs. Illinois.
Sugar at New Orleans—Kentucky vs. Southern Methodist.
Cotton at Dallas — Texas vs. Oklahoma.

Orange at Miami — Miami (Fla.) vs. Tennessee or Clemson.
California and Illinois pit in a sledgehammer lick for the rich Pasadena game with important victories Saturday.

Pappy Waldorf's Golden Bears flashed unexpected air might to beat favored Washington 14-7 at Seattle. It was the seventh straight conquest without defeat for the Californians.

Illinois, beaten only by Wisconsin, subdued Michigan. Big Ten champion in a snow storm at Ann Arbor 7-0. Ohio State is ineligible to return to the coast under the conference rule that permits a team to go to the Rose Bowl only once in three years.

California has another rugged obstacle this week in up-and-coming UCLA, winner of its last three games. Illinois meets Iowa, 13-0 conqueror of Minnesota.

Kentucky Good Bet
Unbeaten and untied Kentucky looks like a good bet to carry Dixie's banner in the Sugar Bowl against either SMU or Oklahoma. The Sooners have been New Orleans' feature attraction for the last two years and the sponsors may want a change of scenery. This would bring in the high-powered Mustangs.

It also probably would throw the Sooners into the Cotton or Orange Bowls—most likely the Cotton because of Southwest pressure for a return meeting with Texas. Oklahoma defeated Texas 14-13 October 14.

Kentucky won its eighth straight game by upending Florida 46-6 Saturday. The Wildcats, not pressed all year, play Mississippi State next. Oklahoma stretched its string of victories to 27 by repelling Colorado 27-18, cracking Cornell's winning record of the early Twenties.

Miami is a natural for the Orange Bowl if it can maintain its unbeaten-untied pace. The Hurricanes play Louisville Friday night.

Tennessee, Clemson and Washington and Lee are other strong possibilities for the Southern bowls.

Army repeatedly spurns bowl bids although there is talk the Cadets may be pressured this year into playing in the President's Cup affair, a new one, at Washington.

Big Red Machine Is Coming, Bulldogs

This is a warning: The Big Red is coming over Saturday. The Big Red is that wild Broncho Midland hasn't been able to ride for nine straight years.

Yes, it's Midland against Odessa in the standout football game of the week in Texas schoolboy circles. They go together in Memorial Stadium here at 2:30 p.m. Saturday.

The largest crowd ever to see a football game here will be watching. Among other things, it is a 3-AA conference game. Midland has a chance. You bet your life, Midland has a good chance. The 1950 Bulldogs have arrived. They hit a peak for the season Friday night when they blasted Big Spring 54-7. Odessa rested.

Odessa has been behind locked gates for two weeks in preparation for Midland. Joe Coleman will shoot the works, don't ever forget it. Tugboat will be ready for him. Armistice Day classic! That's putting it too mildly. Holiday, brother, it is the day!

Midland long has waited for the manpower, the skill, the coaching to match Odessa. This year we have it. And we have the spirit, the desire! Just 48 minutes.

Just 48 minutes, Bulldogs. That is all the time you have. Odessa has the same 48 minutes. The site of the battle is your own Memorial Stadium. Make a vow. Do it for Tugboat, yourself, and a supporting student body and citizen-fans. Give more than you ever gave before—beat Odessa.

It won't be Big Spring out there. It won't be Mineral Wells or Brownwood. It will be Odessa. Odessa! Odessa! Odessa!

The proud Red Spirits want this one. And they want it badly. They are saying the season is just beginning. They intend to win District 3-AA and Midland is in the way.

It all adds up to one more great contest. The mighty T-formation Odessa Bronchos vs. the "we can win this one" single-wing Midland Bulldogs. Odessa has speed, granted. But Midland has power and spirit. Be That Team.

May the best team win. Bulldogs, be that team! Midland planned to get right to work Monday. Coaches said "A regular Monday workout is planned. We will go over both our offense and our defense. And we will begin mixing up our Odessa Plan."

The Bulldogs came out of the Big Spring game in fine shape and with the usual bruises and lacerations. The deadline for naming finalists in Class A Grid Races.

The deadline for naming finalists in Class A high school football is less than two weeks away, but so far only three clubs can start making playoff plans.

There are a few formalities—like finishing the schedule—for several others but at least one—District Four—can be decided this week. Most will hang in doubt until after November 17.

Sinton, in District 29, New Braunfels (24) and Shamrock (2) are set. Sinton finished its district schedule with a clean slate. New Braunfels and Shamrock have one game left to play, but even if they lost, it will boost the top records.

Littlefield, defending state champion and one of ten undefeated, untied teams in this division, could win its district by thumping Level-land this week.

LaVega, in District 20, has only to meet Mart. If it should lose, there's a chance it could be tied by Gatesville, a team it walloped soundly. The district probably would award the title to LaVega.

Some District Fuzzlers. District committees may have a headache deciding champions in one or two districts. The big puzzle could be District 11, where Newcastle and Birdville may deadlock. Sulphur Springs was the only undefeated, untied team to tumble last week, and Pleasant Grove the only unbeaten but tied team to fall.

Mt. Vernon licked Sulphur Springs 28-7 and became an odds-on favorite to take the title in District 15. Irving licked Pleasant Grove 27-13.

Games this week include Phillips-Herford; Shamrock-Wellington; Kermit-Wink; Coleman-Balling; Eastland-Ranger; Bonham-Terrell; Jacksonville - New London; Huntsville - Crockett; Mexia - Franklin; Lampasas-San Saba; Aldine-Alvin; Karnes City-Edna; Weslaco - Donna; Uvalde-Pearsall.

Border Loop's New Mexico U To Meet Army On Saturday
PHOENIX, ARIZ.—(AP)—The national football spotlight will be on a Border Conference team Saturday, New Mexico University, with 2-4 conference and a 2-8 season record, plays Army at West Point. Arizona downed New Mexico 38-0 Saturday. This week the Wildcats are hosts to Arizona State College at Tempe.

West Texas State practically clinched the Border Conference championship Saturday with a 40-12 victory over Texas Western at El Paso. This week West Texas is idle. It has only one conference game left, with Hardin-Simmons University November 18.

Hardin-Simmons meets Texas Western Saturday at El Paso. Tech fell before Rice Saturday 13-7. This week Tech takes on Tulsa at Lubbock.

DOWN Sports Lane

Our boy, Larry King is sick. Nothing serious, his dad says—just the flu. Anyway, he's abed and we will try to pinch-hit a paragraph or two for him.

Larry missed SPORTSLANE about being so excited at the whopping Midland victory over Big Spring. Now we won't say that KING'S ROW was excited himself, but we think his flu attack has allied germs.

Congrats to John Kennedy, MHS halfback, who ran 49 yards for a touchdown Friday night last—the first time he ever carried the ball.

We know some "little" girls in Midland, who are great Texas Aggie fans. The other day when that good old Baylor line wrecked Bob Smith and Company, some "little" boys sent the girls a sympathy card. You know one of those condoling things for a moment of great sorrow.

But you know women. They won't be beaten. The "little" girls sent in the names of the boys to A&M and now the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas is sending reams of literature to the boys—believing them to be vitally interested in A&M.

Our friend, Slim Newton, has driven a taxi about as far as we want Midland to amass yardage against Odessa. It seems that Slim never has seen Midland lose a game. Yes, he was out there Friday night.

Brother, somebody ought to see that Slim gets a good seat for that Midland-Odessa battle Saturday.

Slim remembers how he used to watch Gordon English mow 'em down. He says English was one of the hardest tacklers MHS ever had.

The late Gordon has a little brother on this year's Bulldog eleven. That would be Pete, who isn't so little either and who likes to tackle like his big brother. Pete is injured at the moment.

It won't be long until "picking" time, again. By "picking," we mean selection of the "all-teams." These include everything from all-beautiful to all-ponderous.

Be seriously, we contend it will be hard to pick out the MHS Bulldogs who will be afforded all-district honors. Not that these Bulldogs don't have the stuff. They do. But they are just a team—all for one, and one for all—no stars.

Some of the senior performers are more apt to make the grade but boys with more years could. Take your pick in that scrapping MHS line. When you start picking one, you have to pick most of them—Byerley, O'Neal, Coker, Wood, etc. and etc.

We plan to go to bat for some of these Bulldogs to make the all-district team and the all-state as well. Midland has one of the best teams in the state and should this year receive much consideration at "picking" time.

Much will depend on the performance of the Purple boys in the Odessa, Lubbock and Lamesa games—all conference battles.

The committee from the Texas Sports Writers Association to select the all-state Class AA team this year already has started its work. Out in our section, A. C. Green of the Abilene Reporter-News, Ben Peeler of the Odessa American, and Hugh Welch of the San Angelo Standard-Times, are the "eyes."

We mentioned the line. We will mention the backs. Midland has its standouts although team play is stressed. Brooks, Burris, Thomas, Crowley, Gilmore et al—brother, you pick 'em.

ROUNDUP UP THE STRAYS...
The Rev. Vernon Yearby says the good Lord left the Methodists Saturday and gave his attention to the Baptists. As a result, Texas beat SMU and Baylor beat TCU.

Many railbirds think a couple of those fast scatsbacks from the Bulldogs B should be moved up, to the varsity. . . . But Tugboat knows what he is about. . . . There's the case of M. A. Rose, who really can gin. . . . But he has two more seasons and 'is not quite seasoned for the roughness of a Class AA game. . . . Ditto for Harold Robbins. . . . The battle call at TU this week is "Remember 1941". . . . That was the year, the magazine boys were derailed by the Jerry Brulins. . . . And like an elephant, they don't forget in the Southwest Conference. . . . Ask SMU. . . . There is some question which team will win the state in Class A football. . . . We can't point you to the winner right now but 10-1 it will be a West Texas outfit. . . . In renewing its oldest rivalry this week, McMurry College will be facing a school McMurry never was able to defeat before the war—Howard Payne. . . . The series started in 1927 and it was 1934 before McMurry scored. . . . But that was BB, "Before Brad". . . . A photographer was lining up some of football's most famous figures for a picture at the Hall of Fame gathering the other day. . . . A grey-haired little man, catching the spirit of the occasion, plunked himself down on Big Pudge Heflinger's knee. . . . "Hey, you're spoiling the picture and, who are you?" the photographer asked the little one. . . . It was Edgar Allen Poe (not the poet) who was good enough to be All-America among the bushy-haired behemoths in the old days. . . . He played at Princeton and was a rival of Heff. . . . Both were named on the first All-America outfit. . . . They were the "lives" of the old times at the picture taking. . . . Ever see a Bulldog hamstringing a Broncho, 30 for strays.

Odessa At Midland Saturday Is Tops On Schoolboy Menu

By The Associated Press
It's all-out conference play this week in the Class AA division of Texas schoolboy football. Every district will have games bearing strongly on championships.

Six undefeated, untied teams remain in the state. Last week the list of elevens with perfect records was trimmed by one. Galena Park was blasted 34-0 by Bay-town, which took over the undisputed lead in District 12.

Teams worrying about protecting unbeaten strings are Pampa, Breckenridge, Texarkana, Cleburne, Port Arthur and Corsicana. Pampa gets a traditional foe as conference play starts in District 1. The Harvesters clash with Amarillo.

The feature battle of the week will be the joust of Odessa and Midland at Midland Saturday. Midland and Lubbock are undefeated in District 3 conference play. Odessa, one of the favorites, will be making its start.

There are 37 games on the week's schedule, 31 of them of conference nature.

Six Leaders Established
Undisputed leaders have been established in six districts. Bowie (El Paso) rides the top rung in District 4, Denison in District 7, Texarkana in District 9, Lufkin in District 10, Baytown in District 12 and San Benito in District 16.

The big upset of last week was the fall of Sherman before Paris 13-0. Sherman was the District 7 favorite. Paris has lost five of seven games this season; one of them in conference play.

The state's big four — Port Arthur, Corsicana, Breckenridge and Texarkana — rolled along. Texarkana had the toughest row to hoe. The Tigers beat Marshall 14-0 to become top-heavy favorites for the District 9 championship.

Port Arthur beat Orange 36-6, Corsicana won over Waxahachie 27-4 and Breckenridge whipped Westwood 41-0.

Sul Ross Lobos Clinch At Least Tie In Lone Star
By The Associated Press
The Lone Star Conference football race may be cut to a two-team affair this week.

Sul Ross, which already has clinched at least a tie for the championship, doesn't have a conference game but East Texas State, also undefeated, takes on one-time-loser Stephen F. Austin at Nacogoches Friday.

Southwest Texas State and Sam Houston State, tied for the cellar with two losses and no victories, get together at Huntsville Saturday.

Sul Ross plays New Mexico Western at Alpine.

Last week Sul Ross socked Stephen F. Austin 34-7.

Southwest Texas beat East Texas Baptist 31-14 while East Texas lost to Howard Payne 23-6 and Sam Houston lost to Midwestern 23-20.

Jack Kyle of Sam Houston continues to lead the scoring. He has 64 points.

The former United States mint at Carson City, Nev., which coined gold and silver until 1893, now is a museum.

More Pay Is Found In Stonewall Extender

Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware No. 1 W. F. Edwards, South-west Stonewall County wildcat, 15 miles southeast of Aspermont has found more possible oil pay section in the Pennsylvania line.

The project ran a drillstem test at 5,248-72 feet. The tool was open two hours. Recovery was 180 feet of heavily oil and gas cut drilling mud and 30 feet of slightly oil and gas cut mud. There were no signs of water.

Open flowing bottom hole pressure was zero. Shut-in bottom hole pressure, after 15 minutes was 1,975 pounds. The prospector is to core 20 feet deeper and take another drillstem test.

A previous drillstem test at 5,220-51 feet, recovered 100 feet of oil and gas cut mud during a two hour period.

Top of the lime is at approximately 5,218 feet.

Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 318, block 2, H&C survey. That makes the project 12 miles north of Rotan, in Central-North Fisher County, which is the closest town.

U. S. May Tell Reds To Cease Sending Troops Or Lose Dam

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The United States may tell Communist China to stop sending troops to aid the Korean Reds or face destruction of the great Sulho Dam, a major source of power for China.

The report that such a warning is under serious consideration came simultaneously with release of a special communique from Gen. Douglas MacArthur, United Nations commander in the Far East, noting the presence of "alien Communist forces" in the Korean fighting.

Any such threat against the installations presumably would be accompanied by assurances that if the Chinese Communists refrain from further intervention the agreements under which Manchuria and Korea share the Sulho power will be observed and maintained.

The dam, on the Yalu River which forms the Korea-Manchuria border for a long distance, is within easy reach of American bombers. It has a power capacity of 700,000 kilowatts. That is about two-thirds the capacity of the Hoover Dam on the Colorado River. It was built during the Japanese occupation of Manchuria.

Any combined warning-assurance on the Sulho installations would be given on the assumption that Chinese fears for the power facilities may be the main reason why Red forces from the north now are fighting in Korea.

If such a move is made it is considered likely to go through the United Nations, which is sponsoring the action against North Korean Communist aggressors.

Truman Dedicates Liberty Replica With Plea For Heavy Vote

INDEPENDENCE, MO.—(AP)—President Truman declared Monday "The free nations will not let Communist imperialism swallow up free peoples one by one."

The President's address was prepared for a ceremony dedicating a replica of the Liberty Bell. The replica was made by the people of Anney, France, and presented to Independence by Anney's mayor, Georges Volland.

"Korea is proof that freedom can survive if the peoples who cherish it stand together," Truman said. "The common victory against aggression in Korea is evidence that the free nations will not let Communist imperialism swallow up free peoples one by one."

Truman, who came home to cast his ballot, appealed for a big vote Tuesday in the national elections, plugged gains of the Democratic National Administration since 1933 and warned of "Communist imperialism."

The tribunal, after a three-week hearing, framed three new charges of abetting the commission of treason by giving comfort (showing sympathy) to the rebels. The maximum penalty is deportation for life, the minimum to 10 years imprisonment.

Called to the stand Monday to hear the charges read aloud, the surgeon, who for 25 years has healed Burmese sick and trained doctors, pleaded innocent to each count in a firm, clear voice.

Pressed in a giant vice turned by Ho Chi Minh's Communist-led Vietminh forces, the diminishing French beachhead around Hanoi gradually is being confined to the densely populated Red River delta, in which live 6,000,000 of North Vietnam's 10,000,000 people.

French Army Headquarters said its forces had withdrawn from Hung-ho, a main post 40 miles northwest of Hanoi, and from an entire series of smaller fortified positions extending 30 miles south of Hung-ho.

SAIGON.—(AP)—France's foothold in North Indochina continued to shrink Monday as the French announced abandonment of the defense system in the foothills region on three sides of Hanoi, the Northern capital.

President Syngman Rhee of the Republic of Korea said he believes Soviet Russia ordered the Chinese Reds into Korea.

Diplomats predicted the United States might ask the UN Security Council to act.

In Kansas City, a spokesman of President Truman had no comment.

World capitals viewed the tense situation with mounting concern.

Fifty-three non-Communist nations are sponsors of the UN's first armed peace enforcement action, waged against North Koreans who invaded the republic June 25.

With Russian arms
A number of these countries have supplied troops, air units and warships for the Korean action.

Theoretically, Red Korea has fought alone. Actually, her troops were armed with vast amounts of Russian weapons. Russian-made planes have fought Allied air power.

And the Red Chinese fighting in Korea already have been estimated at between three and six divisions.

Their appearance last week drove back the plunging surge of Allied forces toward the Manchurian border. One South Korean regiment already had reached the boundary.

An American tank-led column then was within a few miles of Manchuria.

But Allied troops in the northwest Monday were waging a grim defensive fight on the Chongchon River less than 50 miles from the old Red Korean capital of Pyongyang.

This represented a retreat of 50 miles or more in the face of heavy Communist attacks.

In the northeast, however, an American regiment was striking in zero weather within 24 miles of the Manchurian border. This force reported no Red resistance.

MacArthur said the Communist aggressor has massed "a great concentration of possible reinforcing divisions with adequate supply behind the privileged sanctuary of the adjacent Manchurian border."

Admitted Military Intelligence has estimated 300,000 Chinese Red forces along the Manchurian border. One million Communist troops are estimated to be within striking distance.

Russell Brines, Associated Press Tokyo correspondent, said MacArthur in his unusual signed communique plainly was asking United Nations authority to bomb Manchurian air fields, supply bases and communications.

Germany's Reds Report The News

BERLIN.—(AP)—Communist newspapers in the Soviet zone carried these headlines Monday on the new Korean crisis:

"China decided on self-defense."
"Help for Korea."
"Manchurian frontier territory to become watery waste."
"Attempt on Yalu power plant."
"Wild threats against China."

Treason Charges Against 'Burma Surgeon' Reduced

RANGOON, BURMA.—(AP)—A special tribunal Monday reduced treason charges against American Dr. George S. Seagrave, making him subject only to banishment for life or a prison sentence if he is found guilty.

One treason charge previously against the 53-year-old surgeon—accused of aiding rebel Karen tribesmen—carried the death penalty on conviction.

The tribunal, after a three-week hearing, framed three new charges of abetting the commission of treason by giving comfort (showing sympathy) to the rebels. The maximum penalty is deportation for life, the minimum to 10 years imprisonment.

Called to the stand Monday to hear the charges read aloud, the surgeon, who for 25 years has healed Burmese sick and trained doctors, pleaded innocent to each count in a firm, clear voice.

Union Reiterates Pledge To Support Strike Against Bell

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Joseph A. Beirne, president of the CIO Communications Workers of America (CWA), Sunday night reiterated his union's support of a threatened coast-to-coast Bell Telephone Equipment Workers' strike set for next Thursday.

Beirne, whose CWA represents most of Bell's 300,000 personnel, spoke from Washington over the American Broadcasting Company network.

In his prepared address, the union leader said the CWA "faced by arbitrary and anti-union management in the telephone industry, is once more being forced into strike action."

The threatened walkout is set for 6 a.m. November 9.

Stock Prices Skid As Reaction To Korean War News

NEW YORK.—(AP)—Stock prices skidded downward at top speed in early trading Monday, apparently in reaction to the latest Korean developments.

Big blocks of stock were thrown on the market for sale at losses running to more than $4 a share. The high-speed ticker quickly lagged under the crush of business.

Traders evidently took a gloomy view of weekend news developments, in particular General MacArthur's charge of Communist intervention in North Korea.

Among the losers were Chrysler, Jones & Laughlin, Sinclair Oil, Bethlehem Steel, U. S. Steel, General Motors, American Telephone, Radio Corporation, Republic Steel, Goodrich and Boeing Aircraft.

MacArthur—

Marine drive towards that dam failed to gain ground for the fourth consecutive day, U. S. Tenth Corps headquarters announced.

In the farthest northeast sector, elements of the South Korean Capital Division plunged 18 miles north of the town of Kichu, putting them 105 miles from the frontier of Soviet Siberia. This was the only appreciable Allied gain of the day.

Elements of the U. S. Seventh Division, also in the extreme northeast, dug in on the frigid south banks of the Ungui River and sent out patrols to seek the enemy in two-below-zero weather.

Generally Grim Picture
This generally grim picture of the Korean war, after victory had been well within grasp of the United Nations' forces, was attributed by General MacArthur, the UN commander, to intervention of Chinese Communist troops.

"The United Nations forces are meeting a new foe," MacArthur said in a special report transmitted at Lake Success by the chief U. S. delegate, Warren R. Austin.

"The United Nations are presently in hostile contact with Chinese Communist military units," the report said. It gave a detailed account of specific Chinese Red units which have been identified.

In an extraordinary communique issued only a few hours earlier MacArthur referred only to "alien Communist forces" and branded their intervention in Korea as "one of the most offensive acts of international lawlessness" in history.

"The UN commander's communique said a 'great concentration' of Communist divisions was massed in Manchuria. He called this threat 'a matter of the gravest international significance.'"

Third World War
Sources close to him spoke even more ominously. They said the start of a third world war may hinge on Red China's reaction to MacArthur's accusation.

Communist China might not answer MacArthur, they said, except by sending in more Red divisions.

President Syngman Rhee of the Republic of Korea said he believes Soviet Russia ordered the Chinese Reds into Korea.

Diplomats predicted the United States might ask the UN Security Council to act.

In Kansas City, a spokesman of President Truman had no comment.

World capitals viewed the tense situation with mounting concern.

Looks Like Cake, Ice Cream, Too, For 'Ears' Tol

No, you can't best Midland folks for generosity.

It looks as if the little negro girl will get her "ears" for her birthday and some ice cream and cake as well.

Since a published appeal for help to provide a hearing aid for Betty Jo Dennis, who is deaf and dumb, the money has come rolling in.

Contributions approximate $150. And still good Midlanders continue to give. One fellow stuffed two dollars in the pocket of a reporter with the word "you know who, the little girl." A kind woman came into the newspaper office and said: "My little girl's birthday is the same day as the little negro girl's, here's a contribution, small but heartfelt."

Contributions since the last report include: Tom Nix, who increased his from $1 to $5; from Colbert's $2.31; Mr. Wilson at Supprex Laundry $3. "For girl's ears," $2 anonymous; $2 anonymous. It was erroneously stated in Sunday's article that one contribution was $2 from Brewer-Raines. Mrs. Raines is not a contributor.

One citizen called on the telephone at a reporter's home Sunday and said: "We want to give, we will be in to see you."

That's the Midland spirit.

Kiwanians See Film On Mexico

Members of the Kiwanis Club were entertained with a color film of Mexico Monday at their meeting in Hotel Scharbau.

The film was presented through the courtesy of the Gulf Oil Corporation.

President Albert Kelly told club members the Kiwanis minstrel had played before more than 2,000 persons during its presentation recently.

A complete financial report on the show, he said, will probably be ready for next Monday's meeting.

Three Blasts Rock San Antonio Sector

SAN ANTONIO.—(AP)—Quick work on the part of firemen held loss to an estimated $1500 when fire broke out at the Phoenix Refining Company warehouse here early Monday.

Three explosions, which occurred soon after six loaded gasoline trucks had pulled away from the plant, shook the southeast portion of the city.

Raymond Russell, president of the company, said the fire and explosions were caused by gas overflowing from a blending tank and coming in contact with a boiler.

Footwalks around the tanks were caught on fire. One contained gasoline and the other kerosene, Russell said.

Czechoslovakians Want More Milk Bars

PRAGUE—(AP)—The milk bars of Czechoslovakia, admittedly behind those of some other countries, are trying hard to catch up. Not more than a half dozen cities in the whole country have such places, and the capital, Prague, has only three. Others are being planned. They sell a popular specialty consisting of fruit nestling in a dish of whipped cream, but their ice cream until lately has come in only one flavor—vanilla. Now chocolate and coffee have been introduced, and soon pineapple and other flavors will be put on the market.

BRITISH EXPORT MORE

LONDON—(AP)—British exports are averaging 17 per cent more this year than the 1949 monthly average. Monthly imports are also up 12 per cent on the 1949 averages, the board of trade reported.

Long May It Wave—'The Stomach Ache'

PASADENA, CALIF.—(AP)—It was hot and Clyde Patsch, 70, was parched. He reached into his icebox for a bottle of ice water and downed a glassful. At a hospital, where they pumped his stomach after he complained of an ache, they informed him he'd guzzled a neutralizing preparation for permanent waves. How did it taste? "Not bad at all," said the oldest as he left for home.

RAID SIREN MISSING

ASHTABULA, O.—(AP)—Ashtabula police listen to sirens with suspicion these days. The city's $400 air raid siren, purchased during World War II, is missing. Officials said a new one would cost two-fifths of the present $1,000 civilian defense budget.

In the time, an uncontrollable mob was pushing and grabbing for the bills.

"ONE CARROT" RING—Wayne Wicklander of Mantowoc, Wis., got a ringer when he dug up this carrot in his garden. The carrot, seen enlarged in inset, had grown through a badly-tarnished gold ring. The stone, possibly a diamond, was missing.

Civil Defense Program Enlists Civilian Trucks For Transport In Time Of Disaster

NEWARK, N. J.—(NEA)—Mayor Ralph Villani of Newark has come up with what is being praised as one of the newest and most practical civilian defense ideas which federal officials have been offered in recent months. It is a blueprint for making all civilian trucks available for emergency transportation in time of disaster. The idea was born last May 19 in the wake of the disastrous ammunition explosion at South Amboy, N. J. A Newark brewery formed a convoy of 200 of its trucks and an ambulance and placed it at the disposal of state police and rescue workers.

This emergency transportation aided tremendously in getting medical supplies and other emergency equipment to the scene and in helping carry wounded to hospitals. Gesture Successful It was such a successful gesture that the Newark firm—P. Ballantine and Sons—has formed two mobile disaster relief units on a permanent basis. One is at the disposal of state civil defense authorities in New Jersey. The second is being created for the District of Columbia.

This setup, which Mayor Ralph Villani is pushing through the National Conference of Mayors, is being suggested for every city in the U. S. for war and peacetime emergencies.

Disaster relief experience has established that a shortage of transportation often hampers organizations doing the relief work. It isn't practical for any community or state agency to maintain sufficient trucks, cars and ambulances to cope with the most extensive devastation that can be conceived.

Carl W. Badenhouse, president of Ballantine and author of the idea, emphasizes that the units are designed only to supplement existing facilities of police and other official relief agencies. Cited As Example The Newark unit, which is being cited as the example to follow, is divided into three groups of vehicles. The first group is known as the "spot convoy" and is ready to move from the plant 10 minutes after a call by disaster relief authorities.

It consists of 10 trucks, three supervisor's coupes, and one ambulance. It is manned by 11 drivers and three supervisors, employees who have received training in basic disaster relief duties. The trucks in the spot convoy have equipment cases containing blankets, stretchers, pick axes, first aid kits, and fuses or flares. The second group of the unit consists of 40 vehicles of various kinds. The third group, for use in major disasters involving mass evacuation of the civilian population, would put a minimum of 100 trucks on the road.

These would include trucks suitable for conversion into field ambulances or emergency field hospitals, to work in cooperation with other civilian or military relief units. The immediate availability of this industrial transportation is assured by a carefully planned system of communication from authorized civil defense authorities to the plant transportation dispatcher and to plant executives with authority to order the convoy into action. The system, all outlined in the blueprint offered to the mayors, puts full control of the vehicles in hands of the relief officials.

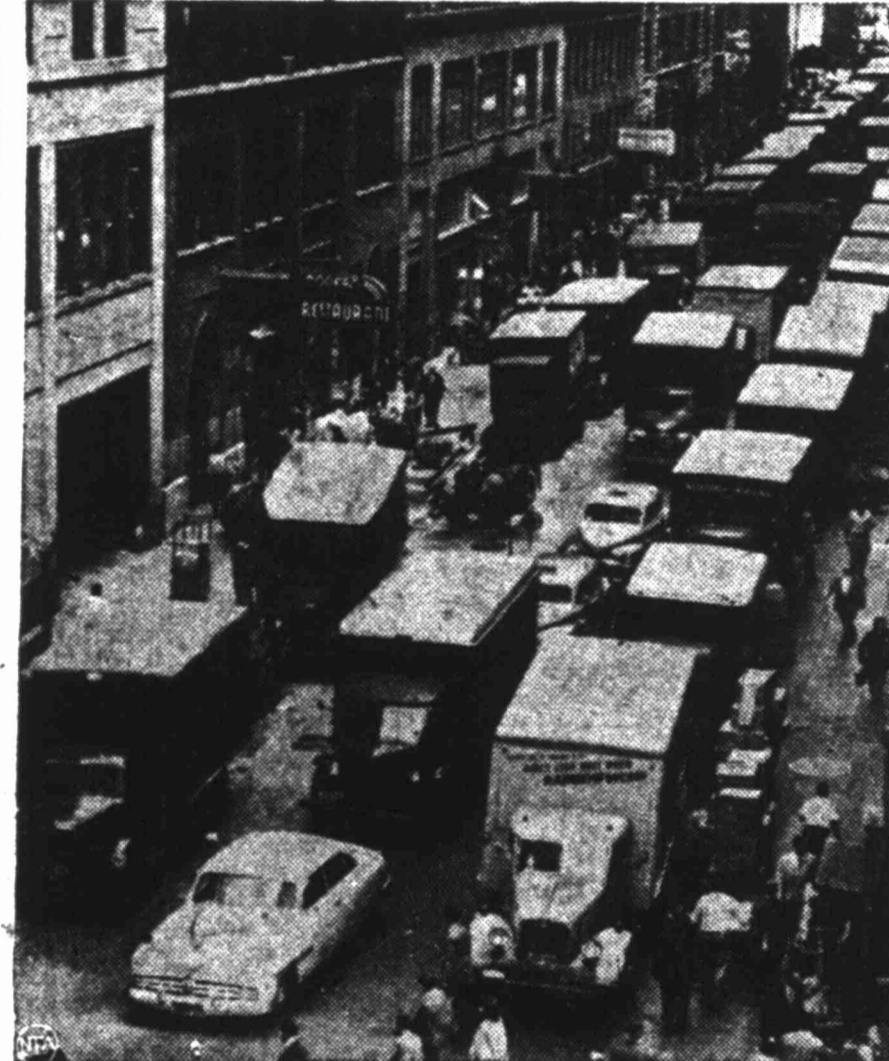

The Newark plan is elaborate because of the large number of trucks used by the brewing company. Backers point out that a large number of vehicles is not necessary in order for an industrial organization to participate. Pools of individually owned trucks for emergency use could be formed.

No Hope For 48 On Airliner, Says French Spokesman

CHAMONIX, FRANCE.—(AP)—A French mountaineer authority said Monday there was "absolutely no hope" of finding any survivors of the Air India Constellation which crashed into Mont Blanc Friday with 48 persons aboard.

Maj. Jacques Flottard, commander of the French Army Mountain School here, said after a reconnaissance flight over the wreckage that the plane had disintegrated on crashing and was strewn over a wide area on both sides of the French-Italian frontier.

Swiss fliers spotted the wreckage Sunday on the 15,781-foot Alpine peak, Western Europe's highest. Flottard said the plane crashed at a height of about 15,000 feet. A 27-man patrol from Flottard's school Monday began the hazardous ascent towards the wreckage.

The plane, enroute to London from Bombay on a charter flight was carrying 40 East Indian seamen to man a cargo vessel in England. All of the crew of eight were Indians except the British Pilot, Capt. Alan Saitt.
