Reds Threaten Escape Beachhead

Two Zone Changes Deferred

Final action on two proposed zone classification changes was deferred by the City Council at hearings held in connection with its regular meeting Tuesday night. The proposals call for the changing from C to H classification of Block 6, Original Addition, and Blocks 24 and 44, Homestead Addition.

Several property owners spoke for and against the proposed changes, and the question of non-conforming useage of some of the property entered the discussion.

It finally was decided to defer action until certain non-conforming use violations can be cleared up and until the Planning and Zoning Commission can make a further study of the situation.

A. C. Caswell, John J. Redfern, Jr., and R. D. (Bob) Scruggs, members of the Planning and Zoning Commission, explained the position of the commission in recommending approval of the zone changes.

Protest Filed

A protest was entered by one property owner in the area on the grounds that he had not been officially notified of the hearing.

No opposition was voiced on the proposed changing in classification of the west half of Block 24 or Block 44.

A petition asking that use of the alley in Block 43, Homestead Addition, be restricted to normal alley useage, again came up for discussion after having been deferred at the November 30 meeting. Mayor Neely explained he had been advised by City Attorney John Perkins that alleys are public thoroughfares and that the only way traffic can be limited is by ordinance prohibiting traffic in an alley except that which is destined for some point within the alley. He said such action would have to be taken on a city-wide basis.

After considerable discussion, the city attorney was instructed to prepare such an ordinance for consideration at the next meeting.

FRIGHTENED REFUGEES FLEE NORTH KOREA—Wading with bare feet in the freezing Taedong River, tens of thousands of frightened Koreans made their way south before advancing Chinese Communist forces. Cries of children with frozen feet, lost from their parents, filled the air as NEA-Acme staff photographer Ed Hoffman took this dramatic picture south of Pyongyang. Refugees were forced to wade across when bridges were closed to them during the UN withdrawal.

Reds Spurn 13-Nation Peace Plan

LAKE SUCCESS—(P)—Russia Wednesday rejected an Asian-Arab plan for a Korean cease-fire, on the ground the United States and Britain would use a truce to prepare their forces for a new attack.

A statement by Jacob A. Malik dashed the hopes of UN delegates for acceptance of the 13-nation peace plan by the Chinese Communists, who adhere closely to Soviet policy.

Malik insisted there can be no peace in Korea until all UN troops are withdrawn.

"My delegation objects to and will vote against the draft resolution before the committee," Malik said. "We will object to the adoption of any resolution which has implicit in it the maintenance of foreign troops in Korea."

Malik spoke before the Political Committee of the United Nations Assembly which is considering an Asian-Arab proposal for a three-month truce to work out a cease-fire arrangement.

He told the committee he did not question the motives of the sponsoring countries, but it was clear the United States and Britain were interested only in stopping the fighting and not in solving outstanding Asian problems.

Tests Designed To Ease Traffic Snarl Ordered By Council

Experimental tests designed to ease the city's acute traffic situation and to speed up the flow of traffic in the downtown section were authorized by the City Council at a lengthy session Tuesday night.

The experiments will be conducted over a six-month period, under the supervision of the Department of Public Safety. Periodic studies of the results will be made.

Mayor William B. Neely and Councilmen J. W. McMillen, W. F. Heil, and H. E. Chiles, Jr., attended the session.

Parallel parking and four-lane traffic will be tested on certain streets which will be designated later. Changes in the timing of traffic lights also will be tried on certain through streets, with a study to be made of the overall traffic light system.

Left turns at certain intersections will be eliminated as will right turns on red lights. One-way traffic in downtown alleys also will be ordered.

Traffic Patrols

Traffic officers will be stationed in the test areas to determine the benefits of the changes, and the number of patrolmen in critical traffic spots will be increased. Short time parking also will be tried in some areas. The possibility of establishing off-street parking areas also will be investigated.

The flow of traffic into and through the residential areas also will come in for considerable study.

The county and the State Highway Department will be asked to expedite work on the development (Continued On Page Nine)

HST Radio Talk Slated Friday Night

WASHINGTON—(P)—Republican congressional leaders gave President Truman their full support Wednesday for a swift build-up of armed strength and said they agree "a dangerous emergency exists."

Their views were set out in a statement after a White House conference of congressional leaders of both parties.

The meeting followed an announcement that Truman will make a radio address to the American people at 9:30 p.m. (CST) Friday on the world crisis. It will be broadcast by all major networks and also will be televised. The "Voice of America" will carry the speech around the globe.

Senator Taft of Ohio, acting as spokesman for Republicans who attended the White House conference, dictated this statement to reporters:

"We agreed fully that a dangerous emergency exists for the people of the United States. We agreed with the President's general program for building up the armed services as rapidly as possible.

"As to the proposed declaration of a national emergency, we did not feel we were sufficiently advised as to the legal effect of such a declaration, or the program that must accompany it, to take a final position on that question . . ."

Senator Wherry (R-Nebr) told reporters he understands Truman will hold two or three more conferences before deciding about an emergency proclamation.

Meanwhile, draft calls for January and February almost were doubled. The Army Tuesday raised from 40,000 to 80,000 the number of men it wants from Selective Service in January and from 50,000 to 80,000 its call for February. The increase evidently was a forerunner of draft law changes next year. It applies to men 19 through 25, and many are exempt.

Evacuation Of Allied Troops Is Underway

TOKYO—(P)—Some 60,000 Allied troops were streaming across Hungnam's shell-pocked docks and beaches into evacuation ships Wednesday on a fighting pull-out from Northeast Korea.

Their destination was a top secret.

Massed Chinese Red troops—possibly 80,000—pressed threateningly against the tiny escape beachhead 130 miles deep in Communist territory.

American Doughboys on the evacuation defense perimeter hurled back a Chinese attack Wednesday morning in a three-hour fight. It was launched by Chinese wearing captured American uniforms.

U. S. 10th Corps officers expected heavier blows would come Wednesday night. They feared the Chinese would try to swarm in for a kill with massive attacks before the last American, British, Puerto Rican and South Korean troops got away.

Army Sgt. George Burdick of Lakeport, Calif., summed up the mood of weary troops: "We want to get the hell out of here. We weren't exactly beat. We were just fighting a lost cause against too damned many Chinese."

The evacuation began two days ago under military secrecy. It was orderly but hurried in the face of a mounting Chinese threat.

In Communist Hands

The withdrawal from Hungnam will leave the last strong UN outpost in North Korea in Red hands. Across the peninsula in the West, the bulk of the Allied Eighth Army was dug in on a new defense line south of parallel 38, the old border between North and South Korea.

The defense perimeter stretched for a radius of 14 miles around the port, projecting Hungnam and its twin city of Hamhung, was miles inland.

The beachhead bristled with Allied artillery, mortars and tank guns. Warships of the UN fleet slid along the Sea of Japan coastal waters, hurling steel into the Red Chinese concentrations.

SW Lubbock Gets Deep Exploration

Standard Oil Company of Texas and Humble Oil & Refining Company are to start drilling in the near future at their No. 1 Fred McNabb which is slated to be a 10,500-foot wildcat to explore the Ellenburger in extreme Southwest Lubbock County.

The prospector is located 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 77, block 20, HE&WT survey.

That puts it almost on the north line of Lynn County, but according to recent surveys it is in Lubbock County.

Both Standard of Texas and Humble have extensive lease interests in the region adjacent to the location for the development.

Two Offsets Staked To Glasscock Opener

Hubbard S. Russell has staked east and west one-location stepouts to his No. 1 Wraga-Hendrickson, recently completed Spraberry discovery in extreme Central-West Glasscock County and two and eight-tenths miles east of production in the Tex-Harvey field of Central East Midland County.

The west offset location falls in Midland County, 663.1 feet from north and 676.7 feet from west lines of section 20, block 36, T-3-S, T&P survey.

It will be drilled as the Hubbard S. Russell No. 2-20 Wraga-Hendrickson.

The No. 3-20-B Wraga-Hendrickson will be drilled in Glasscock County, 663.1 feet from north and 678.7 feet from west lines of section 20, block 36, T-3-S, T&P survey.

Both prospectors are projected to 8,000 feet with rotary equipment. Drillsites are 19 miles southeast of Midland.

Additional Spraberry Pay Found In Midland

Ted Weiner and associates No. 1-4 O'Daniel, Central-East Midland County wildcat, one and one-quarter miles north of the Tex-Harvey field, has been completed for a daily initial production of 375 barrels of oil, flowing.

The production is coming from open holes in the Spraberry sand between the top of that formation at 7,980 feet and the total depth at 7,285 feet.

That zone had been hydrofractured. No water was reported with the oil which was produced on the potential test.

Location is 664.6 feet from south and 664.7 feet from west lines of section 4, block 37, S1 Wright survey. This new producer and discovery for additional Spraberry producing area in Central-East Midland County is 15 miles southeast of the city of Midland.

Shallow Wildcat Staked In Pecos

RKH Oil Company of Monahans has filed an application with the Railroad Commission of Texas requesting a permit to drill a 2,500-foot wildcat in North Pecos County.

The development will be RKH No. 1 J. W. Grant estate, (John A. Beyerly trustee).

Location is 2,310 feet from north-east and southeast lines of section 18, block 10, H&GN survey. That makes it six miles southwest of Imperial.

The location is adjacent to wells in the Pecos Valley High Gravity field which produce from pay above 1,800 feet. The No. 1 Grant estate is projected to 2,500 feet to test a deeper zone than the regular Pecos Valley High Gravity pay. That is what makes it a wildcat.

Casing Being Run In Midland Tester

C. W. Murchison and associates No. 1 Joe Canon, Southwest Midland County wildcat, one and three-quarters of a mile north and one-quarter of a mile east of the Pegasus multiphase field, is bottomed at 13,175 feet in the Ellenburger, which was entered at 13,122 feet, and is running casing and will make production tests and try to complete as an oil well and a major extension to the Pegasus producing area.

Location is 24 miles southwest of the city of Midland and 660 feet from south and east lines of section (Continued On Page Nine)

Coach Jones Gets Extended Contract; School Board Meets

The Midland School Board, at a regular meeting at the high school Tuesday night, approved the extension of Coach Thurman L. Jones' contract, purchased a block of land and approved the purchase of two school buses.

Board members also studied the first draft of the tentative school budget for 1951-52, purchased steel for the Zavala School expansion, and approved an order for brick to be used in the Sam Houston and Zavala projects.

One year was added to Jones' contract, which gives him a three-year pact to extend through the 1953-54 school year.

The new pact, which is an entire city block just north of Zavala, was purchased from Clinton Myrick and Boyd Laughlin for a consideration of $2,500.

The board also received a request from the Rev. Lewis O. Waterstreet, pastor of the new St. Andrews Presbyterian Church, for the church's use of Crockett School until September, 1951. The board members agreed to a tentative three-month period, and if school and church activities do not conflict the use of Crockett will probably be extended to September. St. Andrews can hold its first services at Crockett Sunday.

Textbook Committee

A textbook committee, which will study selection of texts to be used in 1951-52, was approved. The committee includes Monroe, Mrs. Grenade Peters, Mrs. June Klingon, Ruth Pearce, Mrs. Marion Standerfer, Kay Kendrick, Alafair Burton, Mrs. Bill Colvin and Mrs. Hollye Friberg.

Earl B. Newland and C. O. Torngson requested, on behalf of home owners on North Terrell Street, that the board go on record favoring the city's including North Terrell Street in its street paving plans. The board recorded a vote favoring the request.

Mrs. J. C. McDonald received the board's approval to teach in John M. Cowden Junior High School, and Lincoln Hanks was hired as a vocational agriculture teacher for Carver High School.

City Can Fight Tall Fires Now

The City Council Tuesday night awarded contracts for the purchase of $64,200 worth of new fire-fighting equipment, including a 100-foot ladder truck ($33,500), a 750-gallon pumper truck ($14,700), and two 500-gallon pumpers with 600-gallon booster tanks ($16,000).

The contracts were let to the American La France Company. Bids on the equipment were opened at a meeting held last month. Other bids were submitted by Seagraves, Mack, Four Wheel, and W. T. McClure Companies.

Half Park Plan Approved By City

A plan of beautifying and developing Half Park in South Midland was approved by the City Council at its meeting Tuesday night. The plan had been developed by the city's Parks Advisory Commission.

It was announced that the proposed plan also had been approved by Mrs. H. M. Half of Brookline, Mass., widow of the late Henry M. Half, pioneer Midland resident, who originally had deeded the land to the city.

Mrs. Half approved a change in deed restrictions permitting the erection of a Fire Department substation on the park property, and forwarded a check for $1,000 to be used in developing the park.

The council adopted a resolution expressing appreciation to Mrs. Half for her cooperation and generous contribution.

The property is adjacent to the South Elementary School. It includes seven lots in one block and three lots in another block.

The first reminders to persons who have not forwarded their checks for Christmas Seals will be placed in the mails Wednesday and Thursday, officials announced. They urged everyone who has not contributed to do so promptly.

The TB Association receives its sole support from the sale of Christmas Seals.

Six Men Fined For Hunting Violations

Six men, including two visitors from Mississippi, were fined $25 by Peace Justice Joseph Seymour Tuesday on charges of violating state hunting laws.

The two Mississippians were fined when they pleaded guilty to charges of hunting quail without a non-resident license.

Two of the others were charged with hunting quail out of season and two with hunting with an unlicensed shotgun.

The charges were filed by Robert S. Ewins, state game warden in this district.

Oil Compact Group Told Of Bottleneck

HOUSTON—(P)—Getting materials for oil production is the chief job of the Petroleum Administration for Defense, Bruce K. Brown, deputy administrator, told delegates to the Interstate Oil Compact Commission annual meeting here Wednesday.

There are two problems in defense work, he said. One is getting the petroleum out of the ground and the other is getting its products where they are needed.

Transportation already has become a bottleneck, he said, and may become more serious.

Santa Fe, N. M., was picked as the site for the Spring meet of the compact commission. It will be held in April or May.

Carey Says Farmers' Income Is Declining

DALLAS—(P)—James B. Carey, a CIO leader, said Wednesday farmers and wage earners are receiving a decreasing amount of the national income while corporation profits climb.

Carey, secretary-treasurer of the powerful labor union, spoke at the annual convention of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

He called General Motors profits "absolutely incredible." He told the farm leaders a major reason for the cost of farm machinery is that "International Harvester profits have risen 800 per cent in 10 years, while (John) Deere and Allis-Chalmers profits in the same period rose 500 per cent.

Rep. Poague (D-Tex) told the federation members the U. S. Army should be opened to enlistments from the Germans and Japanese.

C. Of C. Director Terms Determined At Committee Meet

Terms of office for the 40 directors of the Midland Chamber of Commerce were determined by "drawing" at a meeting of the organization's Executive Committee Tuesday afternoon. President Robert L. Wood presided at the session.

Under the new director election method adopted by Chamber members at a meeting Tuesday noon, 13 of the 40 directors will retire each year, with their successors to be named for three-year terms by ballot of the membership at large. The retiring president automatically becomes vice president.

The Tuesday afternoon "drawing" was to determine which of the present directors will retire this year, and which will serve one and two-year terms.

Retiring Directors

Directors who will retire this year are James N. Allison, R. M. Barrow, J. M. Cox, W. H. Crenshaw, H. Winston Hull, Dr. H. B. Johnson, C. C. Keith, John B. Mills, R. L. Miller, Henry Murphy, Sherwood O'Neal, Bert Ryan and V. C. Maley.

The one-year directors are S. M. Erskine, Fred Fromhold, Barney G. Grafs, Barney Greathouse, Gerome Grayum, Charles A. Hayes, A. A. Jones, Paul McHargue, Clarence Schaubauer, Jr., Tom Sealy, M. C. Ulmer, R. D. (Bob) Scruggs and Bill Collyns.

The two-year directors are C. E. (Bud) Bissell, John P. Butler, W. Lionel Craven, Paul Davis, Charles R. Ervin, Harlan Howell, Harry Murray, Roy Parks, Sr., H. B. Schauer, O. W. Sisco, M. L. Webb, Jack Wilkinson and Jack Wleker.

The retiring directors will serve as a nominating committee to select 26 nominees whose names will be submitted in ballot form to all Chamber members. Ballots must be mailed not later than December 22. Final Meet Set

Under the former arrangement, directors were elected for one-year terms by voice vote of members attending the annual membership meeting in January of each year.

The 1950 directors will be the guests of President Wood at a breakfast at 7:30 a.m. Wednesday, December 20, in Hotel Schaubauer. It will be the final meeting of the year.

Christmas Spirit Growing In Schools Of System; Various Units Slat Programs

The Christmas spirit is growing in the schools of Midland as students make plans for Christmas programs and anticipate the holidays.
"The White Christmas" project, sponsored by the Goodfellows, is one of the major projects of the school system. Each school takes part in the program. In each "home" room or advisory room is placed a basket to receive the all-white wrapped gifts. Non-perishable food is the most popular item. These gifts go to the Goodfellows, who take them to needy families at Christmas. The "White Christmas" gifts will be presented to the Goodfellows in special assemblies on, or before December 19.
Annual Pageant
It has become a custom the last day before school dismisses for the holidays to let each room have a party. This custom will be observed this year throughout the system. The children will vote for the party and will have a voice in its planning. The home room mothers usually furnish refreshments for the parties. Gifts, if they are exchanged, are handled by name-drawing. Students are discouraged from bringing gifts to the teacher at school.
The evening of December 19, the 11th school will have its annual Christmas pageant under the direction of Miss Verna Harris. Miss Inez Parker's art students will prepare the stage. R. C. Michner's choral groups will add musical effects to the program which is planned for the high school auditorium. Curtain time is 8 p.m.
Other schools to have special programs include the Latin American and North Elementary Schools. The Nativity scene will be enacted at the Latin American School December 20. Time will be 10 a.m. North Elementary will have a musical program on the evening of December 21 with the fourth, fifth and sixth grades presenting it. Mrs. Doris Aldridge is director.
The fourth and fifth grades of West Elementary presented a Christmas program to the P-TA December 12.
The second grade at North Elementary will present a group of Christmas plays in assembly December 20. Time will be 3 p.m.
South Elementary will have an assembly program with a Christmas theme December 22.
Schools will be dismissed for the Christmas holiday at 4 p.m. December 22. Classes will be resumed the morning of January 2.

Youth Learns You Can't Win, Speeding

An 18-year-old Terminal carpenter's apprentice should be learning some of these days that it definitely does not pay to drive fast.
"I don't know why I do it," he mumbled Tuesday as he was brought in for the fourth time in less than six months.
He was snared Tuesday by Col. Milan Plavick, director of the Midland department of public safety, who spied him speeding, narrowly avoiding an accident, on the Midland-Odessa highway.
He was fined $100 by Judge J. M. DeArmond in corporation court.
When it was over, the youngster figured out what the last six months had cost him.
It totaled $184 in fines and a loss of two weeks from his job.

Keefe Braselle and his Norma are trying to scotch the divorce rumor. "It couldn't happen," he said on the set of "It's a Great County." "It's a great marriage."
Sam Goldwyn is interested in Harry Essex's "House of Ivory" for Joan Evans. It's about a doll with a fathe complex.
A sneak of "Valentino" in Pasadena has Producer Eddie Small talking to Patricia Medina about another film.
Buddy Baer, just back from Rome and "Quo Vadis," met Joe Prisco at the Brown Derby.
"What did you do in the picture?" asked Joe.
"I play a gladiator," said Baer.
"That's Hollywood," groaned Joe.
"A guy makes a livin' for years with his fists and then they shove him into a movie as a doggone musician."

Texans Plan Big Gas Exploration Project In Utah

SALT LAKE CITY —(AP)—Texans propose to spend up to $10,000,000 drilling for gas in Southeast Utah.
D. H. Byrd, of Dallas, president of Byrd-Frost, Inc., said the wells will be sunk in two years if the Utah Public Service Commission grants the Utah Natural Gas Company permission to build a $32,000,000 pipeline from the area to Salt Lake City.
Joseph C. Gordon, Dallas engineer, said Southeast Utah fields could supply the 380-mile, 16-inch line for 20 years. Kenneth M. Willson, consulting geologist for Byrd, said the line could tap supplies in Northern New Mexico not now committed to the El Paso Natural Gas Company.

BIG CHRISTMAS DANCE
Featured with Denny Beckner and his Mad Cap Merry-makers at the formal opening of the dining room and ball room of the Ranchland Hill Country Club will be little "Miss Twin-kletoes" Betsy Ross, a petite, though dynamic singer and dancer of distinction. Starting with the Dorothy Hill dancers at the Edgewater Hotel in Chicago, Miss Ross has now combined her great vocal talent with her twinkling toes and developed into a virtual showstopper. With a stinging style all her own and combination tap and ballet numbers by herself and with Denny Beckner, she makes a bid for more than her share of attention. Beckner says, "Betsy Ross has no connection with the flag as far as I know. She can't sew, but boy, can she cut a rug!"
Miss Ross is just one of the many features to be presented at the BIG CHRISTMAS DANCE. Members, make your plans now.

No Austerity For U. S. Seen

Oddly enough, just when it looks like we'll be asked to produce more guns, some of our economists are telling us we still can have a lot of butter, too.
Not long ago we consoled ourselves with the thought that civilian cutbacks then in sight would, after all, turn the economic clock back only to 1949, a very good year.
A bigger war, if it should come, certainly would compel stiffer cutbacks. But again, that seems to be no cause for great gloom. There's no British-style austerity in view yet.
Arno Johnson, economist of the J. Walter Thompson advertising firm, recalls how it was at the start of World War II. The viewers with alarm said we'd have to chop civilian goods and services from the $72,000,000,000 level of 1940 to the $56,000,000,000 level of the lowest depression year.

But they were wrong. What really happened was this: The United States stepped up its production pace enough to turn out $100,000,000,000 in war goods in 1944 and $112,000,000,000 in civilian output as well.
Johnson thinks we can do it again. He says we can produce eight per cent more goods in 1951, sufficient for a full defense program and a five per cent hike in our living standards.
Even more optimistic than he, Leon Keyserling, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, told investment bankers in California the other day that defense activity will spur the U. S. economy to a 75 per cent increase in production by 1955. That comes to around 15 per cent a year.

Even if the forecasts are too hopeful, the record during World War II is strong promise that we won't slide to unbearable depths of sacrifice. That is, unless we become involved in a long drawn out global war with Russia.
There's another side to this guns-or-butter problem, too. It's quite plain from past war experience that we on the home front never really have had it tough. Until we have, we ought to be more understanding than we have been toward the people of Europe who have lived through two great wars.

We must hope that in the end they will choose to fight for freedom again if it is necessary. But we can't altogether blame them for being sick of short rations and bombs. Our criticisms would ring a little truer if we'd sampled austerity ourselves. So long as we have it fairly easy, we must exhibit extreme patience with others less fortunate.

It's Disenchanted

A man hunting for cues to the popular mood might be vaguely disturbed at some of the little signs that crop up now and then in the realm of the arts.
For example, last year a play came to Broadway bearing the hopeful title of "The Enchanted." It was a box-office flop. This year there's a new novel out called "The Disenchanted." It's a roaring success.
If you dwell on that long enough, you can get pretty gloomy.

Well, They Had Fair Warning

DREW PEARSON ON THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Drew Pearson says: Truman-Attlee swap World War I stories at secret stag dinner; Republicans reluctant to go on record against Acheson; Congressman Sabath advises Truman on Korea.
WASHINGTON — The press of the world speculated last week about what President Truman was saying to Prime Minister Attlee during a highly secret stag dinner at the British Embassy.
The dinner lasted until 12:15 a.m.—unusually late for Truman to be out. At the dinner were some of the most important British-American advisers—Secretary of State Acheson, Secretary of Defense Marshall, Secretary of Treasury Snyder, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Omar Bradley, Field Marshal Sir William Slim, Lord Tedder, Sir Roger Makins and Averell Harriman, special adviser to the White House.
After the dinner was over, those present greeted newspapermen with a blunt "no comment." However, here is what actually happened behind the sacrosanct doors of the British Embassy.
"Capt. Harry Truman, once of the U. S. Field Artillery, and 'Mac,' Clement Attlee, once of His Majesty's Infantry, spent most of the evening swapping stories about World War I. Truman served in the Missouri National Guard which was active in the campaign of the Vosges Mountains. Attlee enlisted in the British Army, was wounded at Gallipoli, reenlisted and came out with the rank of major.
Despite the presence of the top-ranking generals in the British and American armies, "Captain" Truman and "Major" Attlee devoted part of their time to cussing out generals.
War On Acheson
Here is some of the closed-door Republican debate when GOP policymakers haggled over the question of a formal resolution to remove Dean Acheson as secretary of State.
Taft argued that any formal Republican statement should deal with policy not personalities. Millikin also doubted the wisdom of putting the Republican Party on record against Acheson; while even Wherry, who never has hesitated to raise his voice against the secretary of State, preferred to keep hands off a formal resolution.
"Everybody knows how I feel," the Nebraska snarled. "If a resolution comes out with my blessing, it will hurt rather than help it."
Senator Ives of New York, who read the text of a proposed resolution, drew sharp attack in regard to one paragraph of his statement.
"We are compelled to point out, Ives read, 'that unless this change in administration personnel which we here recommend is made, our efforts to cooperate must prove futile and national disunity and lack of confidence are likely to increase.'
Millikin protested that his was an "implied threat" that Truman must fire Acheson—or else. Taft also criticized the threatening tone, and Ives agreed it should be struck out.
Millikin then remarked that the resolution would probably make President Truman "more determined than ever" to keep Acheson.
"If we have to consider the President's backbones every time we make a decision, we better give up as a party," shot back Ives.
Massachusetts Senator Leverett Saltonstall objected to the poor timing of the resolution, while President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee were making great policy decisions. A Republican pronouncement against Acheson at this time, warned Saltonstall, might undermine British confidence in the United States.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service
Most bridge players think of an "end play" with exaggerated respect. They're so sure that only a great expert can execute an end play that they never try to stage one themselves. That's foolish, because they are really pretty easy. In fact, as today's hand shows, it's possible to fall right into an end play without any planning at all.
East won the opening club lead with the ace and returned the deuce of diamonds. It would have been pretty bad for South if he had played a low diamond; West would win, lead to the diamond ace, and ruff the third round of the suit.

However, South was in no doubt about the location of the ace of diamonds. East had opened the diamonds for his opening bid. Even if East were suspected of making a very light opening bid, it was still impossible for West to hold the ace of diamonds. His opening lead showed strength in clubs, and he surely would have raised to two clubs if he had also held the ace of diamonds.
So South put up the king of diamonds, and West dropped the jack. South still didn't see how he was going to avoid the loss of two diamonds and a spade, in addition to the club that the enemy had already taken. However, South was a man who liked to play a hand out, so he proceeded.
Declarer simply drew two rounds of trumps, cashed the ace and king of spades, and then gave up a spade trick. This was all very straightforward, and without any deliberate plan. But South suddenly discovered he had executed a very fine end play.
The only cards left in West's hand were the jack of diamonds and some clubs. He led the jack of diamonds, properly enough, but East didn't dare overtake with the ace of diamonds—for fear of setting up South's ten. The result was that West had to lead one of his clubs, and that gave declarer a chance to ruff in dummy while discarding the ten of diamonds from his hand.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

Washington War Jitters Are No Help In Korean Crisis

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON — The atmosphere in Washington could not possibly be worse for finding a sensible solution to the Korean crisis.
From the outside, it appeared that President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee of Great Britain were in agreement on main principles. They were covering not only the military collapse in Korea.

They also were trying to solve a broad range of political and economic questions that related to the two countries, and to the whole of Europe as well. Matters which the two heads of state could not resolve themselves were being given to teams of experts for their advice, with every assurance of ultimate solution.
By contrast, the scene in the United States Senate was anything but assuring. The Senate is supposed to be the calm, deliberative branch of the U. S. Congress. Yet its members revealed a bad case of jitters that amounted almost to panic.

Republican Senator James P. Kem of Missouri introduced a resolution on behalf of 20 Republican senators, requesting the President to make no commitments that could not be reviewed by the Senate in treaty form. Senator Kem said he wanted to prevent a second Yalta or Potsdam.
What this overlooks, however, is the fact that Soviet Russia or its Premier Stalin are not parties to the Truman-Attlee talks. This is supposed to be an agreement between American and British allies for their own safety and well-being.
Senator Irving M. Ives, always in the past one of the calmest and sanest of the Republican senators, gave in to public clamor and announced he would introduce a resolution demanding the resignation of Secretary of State Dean Acheson.
Coming right at a time when Acheson was in the middle of the American-British negotiations, this could hardly inspire any British confidence in the U. S. position. Prime Minister Attlee himself publicly had expressed his government's confidence in Acheson, but that of course had no bearing on the Senate.
3. Republican Senator Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin made a speech in the Senate in which he called for the resignation as secretary of Defense of Gen. George C. Marshall. McCarthy's reason was because of General Marshall's "advanced age."
General Marshall is 70.
So, it might be pointed out, is Gen. Douglas MacArthur.
Demands for the resignation of General MacArthur—voiced by Senator Harley M. Kilgore of West Virginia, and other Democrats in Washington, throughout this country and in Europe—are every bit as deplorable as this latest attack on General Marshall. When generals are fighting with their backs to the wall with everything they have, a stab in the back is no help.
Now freedom of speech is a valuable thing and the unlimited and unrestricted debate in the Senate is something to be cherished. In this instance, it is expressing what many of the people at home are thinking. They are writing and wiring their congressmen and senators in Washington in increasing numbers, asking for the resignation of Secretary Acheson. This demand now takes on the proportions of an organized campaign.

A few Republicans—not for attribution nor quotation—quietly urged caution. Their reasoning was simply that increased Republican demands for Acheson's resignation would only stiffen President Truman's determination to keep him. So the issue was thrown into the Republican policy committee of the Senate, for resolution there.
Voice Of Reason Muted
It was noteworthy, however, that there was no clear voice in either party of the Senate outlining a course that made complete sense. Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan used to exercise that leadership. So far, no one has taken his place.
When the people are confused and frightened, calm leadership and clear thinking alone can quiet them. The frantic demands of Senator Owen Brewster of Maine, urging that the atomic bomb be dropped—anywhere—only increase the chances of precipitating World War III.
Misquotation by unidentified senators after a briefing by Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Chiefs of Staff, spread the false rumor that American and United Nations forces would be evacuated from a Korean Dunkirk. General Bradley later had to deny it, making the lawmakers liable.

If Communist fifth columnists were at large in the land, spreading terror by rumor and false report, they could do no more damage. This kind of a Washington leads only towards worse chaos. Everyone has a right to ask, "When will they start working together?"

13 Lucky Guys

THE STORY: Sgt. Eddie Bagstrom is one of a squad trapped in a battle. In his home town he is usually called by his dog Duke, who can see things human beings can't, and Margie Lou, the girl Eddie fell in love with after he was dead. But a local writer, contact, has designs on Margie Lou.
XXI
DUKE was waiting for Eddie when he went through the exit gate. He had gone home for supper as ordered but now he was definitely free for the evening.
Joe had decided to stay at the yards for a while. He was fascinated by the business of putting barges together like pre-fabricated houses. Eddie was not so interested. Besides he wanted to do a little plain and fancy working. Being separated from the object of his affections by the barrier of death was trouble enough. Besides that he had a rival who was able to do everything which Eddie himself could not. And whose intentions were certainly not particularly honorable, if one were to believe Max's own boastful statements.
Eddie whistled Duke to heel and started to walk back to town. It was a long trek but Eddie thought better on his feet and besides it would be a treat to Duke.
Eddie pretended that he didn't know where he was going but he didn't fool anyone, even himself, certainly not Duke who, after this long ramble, led the way unerringly to Margie Lou's house.
In spite of having killed all the time possible on the trip it was still too early for Margie Lou to be through work. She wouldn't be home until after midnight on this run which was an emergency half-time shift scheduled merely to take care of the peak night traffic load, patrons of places of amusement downtown and the graveyard shift going on and the swing shift coming off out at the westworks.

down on his knees and laid his ear over Aunt Ellen's heart. After a moment he said, "Very little heart trouble, but considerable bourbon trouble."
He spied a bottle on the stand beside the bed. Getting to his feet he sniffed at the bottle and picked up some paper that had obviously been a round in the bottle. "Um. Heart medicine with the compiments of Max. Will send more when this is gone. Max must be a friend of the old lady's."
"I guess so." Eddie didn't want to tell him the truth. "We ought to get her back into bed somehow."
"Why? On a hot night like this she won't catch cold on the floor. Besides we can't lift her anyway. I don't know what relation she is to you, Sergeant, but there's nothing to worry about even if it's your mother. She's just tighter'n a boiled owl, that's all."
Eddie had to be content with that. The Medical Corps captain took his leave.
MARGIE LOU came home in a little while. She had considerable trouble getting in the front door without admitting Duke who thought his duty to Eddie demanded his presence inside. Eddie told him to shut up and lie down. But Margie Lou didn't notice that.
Finding her Aunt Ellen on the floor did not upset Margie Lou so much as Eddie had feared that it might. Getting her back into bed, however, was something else again and she never would have been able to do it if Max Lengel had not arrived to help.
Max regarded Aunt Ellen's insensible condition with ill-concealed satisfaction. "She'll sleep like a baby for hours. You and me can have as much time as we want all to ourselves."
Margie Lou asked Max to wait outside where she promised to join him soon. Eddie, in as neat a dilemma as what relation she is to you, Sergeant, but there's nothing to worry about even if it's your mother. She's just tighter'n a boiled owl, that's all."
Eddie had to be content with that. The Medical Corps captain took his leave.
"I wonder," he said, "if she's dying. I wish I could get a doctor here some way."
"If you want a physician's opinion, Sergeant," said the Medical Corps Captain who quite naturally turned up at that moment "I can assure you that the lady is not dying."
"She's got heart trouble," Eddie told him.

DADDY RINGTAIL

By WESLEY DAVIS

LONELY HOURS SEEM LESS DREARY WHEN YOU'RE CHEWING FRIENDLY, CHEERY WRIGLEY'S SPEARMINT

Daddy Ringtail And Man In The Moon

The campfire had burned down to a cherry-red bed of coals. Our friends, Daddy Ringtail, the Huffen, and Mugwump, had eaten a fine supper, and now they were lying about all wrapped in their blankets, happy with gentle talk of the stars and moon and the nightwind.

Said the Huffen Puffen, the friendly wolf: "Is there really a man in the moon?"

"We heard you Huffen," Daddy Ringtail answered, "and of course there's a man in the moon."

Right away then, and immediately the Huffen was wanting to know what the Man in the Moon looked like. Could you see his shoulders, or only his face? Was he wearing a hat? Did he have a smile?

Mugwump laughed out loud at all these questions, but Daddy Ringtail reminded the Huffen that people never see the Man in the Moon unless they have eyes that want to see him. Oh, but the Huffen was quite, quite sure that he had eyes that wanted to see the Man in the Moon, and so Daddy Ringtail explained while the Huffen watched the moon to see.

"The whole moon really is the man's head. What a big, round, and jolly face he has. He is looking at us. We can see his eyes, and his nose, and big smile for a mouth. Oh, we have to look and look very carefully at the moon to see the Man in the Moon. We have to have eyes that want to see him.

"Huffen Puffen, do you see him now?" whispered Daddy Ringtail. "The Huffen sees him, he does," whispered the Huffen.

Mugwump didn't whisper anything. Mugwump now was fast asleep. Oh, yes, because sleeping always is happy to do, when you've looked and looked at the Man in the Moon. Happy day!

And then there were games, which everyone hugely enjoyed.

Mr. Norman Christopher, 2244 Cumberland, Houston, Texas, works for the Water Contract Division of the city of Houston, and he says the house tops aren't high enough nor the days long enough for him to praise HADACOL. He says since he has been taking HADACOL he feels mighty good. He found his system was deficient in Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron.

Mr. Christopher says: "After I got out of the Army I was underweight, nervous, couldn't sleep and had a terrible time getting food to agree with me. When I would wake up in the morning I would always be sick at my stomach—I could never eat breakfast—imagine having to wait until noon before eating the first meal of the day. Even then just a few mouthfuls of food would fill me up. At night I couldn't sleep—I would just roll and toss all night. I felt miserable. Nothing seemed to help me until I started taking HADACOL. After the third bottle of HADACOL I could tell a difference in my eating and sleeping habits. Now after a year's time of taking HADACOL I have gained almost 20 pounds. I sleep well—and the most wonderful thing—I can enjoy 3 full meals a day. There is no way I can describe the tremendous improvement in my appetite. I have started my wife taking HADACOL and she, too, is feeling wonderful. If there is anybody who doubts my word about what I have said about HADACOL, they should have seen me before I started taking HADACOL. I sincerely recommend HADACOL to all my friends and urge them to take HADACOL."

All Ages Can Be Helped

HADACOL is simply remarkable the way it has helped folks of all ages—yes, thousands of men, women and children who have deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron. HADACOL is that wonderful new preparation—promising blessed relief for stomach distress, nervousness, if caused by an upset stomach, vague aches and pains, or a general run-down condition, when they are due to such deficiencies.

Remember, HADACOL is not a quick-acting product that only attacks the symptoms of the miseries, but actually relieves the real cause of pains and aches due to such deficiencies. Yes, and continued use of HADACOL helps prevent the miseries from coming back.

Start Taking HADACOL Now

Don't go through life putting up with a stomach that is easily upset, that causes you gas pains, heartburn, sour risings after meals; a stomach that will not digest food properly; yes, if due to lack of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron, you can overcome the deficiencies which are causing these miseries by taking HADACOL which contains those precious Vitamins.

Start taking HADACOL right away, and if you do not get the results you expect your money will be immediately refunded. HADACOL costs only $1.25 for a trial-size bottle. Large family or hospital size, $9.50.

There is only one true and genuine HADACOL. If your druggist does not have HADACOL, order it direct from The LeBlanc Corporation, Lafayette, Louisiana.

House Passes Bill Which Would Aid Pecos Area Farmers

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Long staple cotton growers in the Southwest, particularly in the Pecos area of West Texas, stood to benefit Wednesday under a bill passed in the House under leadership of Rep. Regan (D-Texas).

The Senate still has to act on the bill to wave marketing quota penalties on long staple. These amount to about 15 cents a pound.

Regan said early freezes on irrigated lands caused technical infractions of the cotton control program. The bad weather, he said, forced picking of the long staple cotton while it still was in the boll. This caused it to be handled by "saw" type gins instead of roller types normally used for long staple.

Club Owners Will Choose Chandler Successor Soon

By JOE REICHLER

ST. PETERSBURG, FLA. —(P)— The major league club owners, determined to remove Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler without becoming involved in legal entanglements, will select a new commissioner as soon as possible.

Uncertain whether they can force Chandler from office before the end of his term, the owners are hopeful the naming of a successor soon will prompt the commissioner to "see the futility of it all" and resign. Meanwhile, Chandler remains commissioner.

An attempt to buy up Chandler's contract failed when the commissioner reiterated his determination to stick to the $65,000-a-year job until his five-year contract expires May 1, 1952.

The owners voted Tuesday to select a new commissioner to replace the former governor and U. S. senator from Kentucky. This unprecedented action was taken in a special meeting after a series of conferences involving the 16 club presidents, both league heads and a bevy of lawyers. This followed by about 20 hours the failure of the club owners to vote Chandler a new contract.

Chandler, who succeeded the late Judge Kennesaw Mountain Landis in 1945, appeared in person before the owners to make a plea for his job. Emerging from the momentous session 15 minutes later, Chandler refused to comment. Later, however, he said:

Tells Whole Story
"I went in and told them the whole story. I did not recede from my stand earlier in the day."

Despite the drastic setback, Chandler Tuesday night continued his annual custom of playing host to the club officials at a dinner which went off without a hitch. The commissioner seemed his old self, living up to his nickname of "Happy."

The only owners among those who attended the meetings but who were missing from the banquet were Fred Saigh of St. Louis and Horace Stoneham of the New York Giants. Both clubs had representatives however.

Cheered by his well-wishers with such remarks as "Don't give up, Happy," and "Keep your chin up," he replied, "I've never backed down from a fight in my life and I don't intend to retreat now."

To Name Committees
In the meantime club owners said committees would be named soon to consider candidates for the job. Dan Topping, president of the

MHS Cagers Tip Pecos Quintets

Coach John Higdon's ball-hawking 'B' five and Coach F. D. (Red) Rutledge's fast-breaking varsity quintet teamed up for a double win here Tuesday night, bouncing the Pecos High School cagers in a pair of games.

With Bobby Culpepper and Jesse Hatfield hitting for 15 and 13 points respectively, the 'B' five took a 30-22 game from the invading Eagles. Dale Stice rimmed 12 points to lead the Midland varsity to a 38-29 win over the big Eagles.

Pecos broke out in front early in the varsity contest, and Midland did not score until the Eagles were in front 6-0 with five minutes of the game gone. Ralph Brooks and Stice hit for Midland in the first half, but Pecos maintained a lead until seconds before the end of the first half when Stice flipped in a one-hander to tie it up at 17-11.

Midland moved in front in the third quarter and never was behind again, although the score remained close until the final minutes when Stice and Johnson teamed for goals that sewed up the game for Midland. John Van Buskirk played a fine floor game for Midland, making some nice passes. Patterson led Pecos scorers with 10 tallies.

Not wanting to hurt anyone, Higdon played reserves the last half and Pecos edged in on the score but Eagles efforts fell short by eight points—30 to 22.

Sugar Robinson Wilbur Wood Win Writers' Awards

NEW YORK —(P)— Welterweight champion Ray Robinson and Wilbur Wood, veteran sportswriter and former sports editor of the New York Sun, Wednesday were named to receive the two top awards of the New York Boxing Writers Association.

Sugar Ray will be awarded the Edward J. Neil memorial plaque for having done the most for boxing during the year. Wood, a boxer and baseball writer from 1913 until this year, was chosen for the James J. Walker memorial award for "long and meritorious service" to boxing.

Robinson enhanced his reputation by donating his purse and risking his title in a fight for the Damon Runyan Cancer Fund. He defeated Charles Fusari in Jersey City, N. J., August 9.

Wood, who retired when the Sun was purchased by the World-Telegram last January, earned an enviable reputation in his many years as a sports writer and editor. Boxing was his favorite sport and he was known as "the watchdog of boxing."

tion 15, block 41, T&P survey, T-4-E. It has already shown as a discovery of flowing natural production from the Pennsylvania at 10,370-578 feet. It made oil at the rate of 25-30 barrels per hour during a drillstem test.

A drillstem test in the Ellenburger at 13,100-152 feet recovered 5,500 feet of clean oil, 3,800 feet of oil and gas cut mud and the 2,000-foot water blanket. There was no formation water.

The section between 13,152 feet and the total depth at 13,175 feet and the total depth at 13,175 feet and drilled was drilled through and not tested.

The casing is to be cemented on bottom and then hole will be drilled a little deeper before the completion activity is started.

Completion Try Due For Schleicher Test

Westbrook Oil Corporation No. 1 A. L. Baugh, Central Schleicher County wildcat, four miles north of the Page-Strawn field, is bottomed at 5,700 feet in the Strawn lime and shale.

It is to cement 5 1/2-inch casing on bottom and then perforate and test and try to complete a gas-distillate producer from the Strawn formation.

After topping the Strawn at 5,734 feet, with an elevation of 2,364 feet the wildcat drilled to 5,750 feet and took a drillstem test at 5,735-50 feet.

The section showed for an estimated 200,000 cubic feet of gas per day.

Best Gas Show

Another drillstem test was run at 5,738-50 feet. A gas volume of 900-1,000 cubic feet per day, with a small amount of distillate was developed.

The venture deepened to 5,790 feet and a five-hour drillstem test was run with a packer at 5,770 feet. Recovery was 1,000 feet of salt water with a small amount of gas.

It is understood that operator plans to perforate the casing opposite the section which showed that gas and distillate and try to complete as a producer.

Location is 467 feet from south and east lines of the northwest quarter of section 8, block M, GH&SA survey. That makes it one-half of a mile south and one mile east of the Ohio Oil Company No. 1-A A. L. Baugh, a small pumper from the Strawn.

All 10th Corps units were reported safely out of North Korea or leaving the Hungnam-Hamhung beachhead.

These included the long unrepeated U.S. Seventh Division's 17th Regimental Combat Team. This outfit was stretched along the Manchurian border at the Yalu River around Hyesanjin when the Chinese Reds struck November 25 in overwhelming masses.

A 10th Corps spokesman said the 17th had reached the beachhead two days ago. Details of its icy withdrawal from the Yalu—a retreat of 80 air miles but many more by twisting roads through snow-choked mountain passes—were not made known.

Also safe were elements of the South Korean Third and Capital divisions which had struck to within 40 miles of Soviet Siberia. Some were evacuated by sea from the far north. Others retreated down the coastal highway to Hamhung.

"Your city government has saved you money and increased its efficiency by sound business leadership and the employment of high-type and capable employees," H. E. (Eddie) Chiles told members of the Midland Lions Club at a luncheon meeting Wednesday in Hotel Scharbauer.

Chiles is a member of the city council. He gave a financial accounting of city government for the fiscal year 1949-50 as compared with 1948-49. He said great savings had been effected despite personnel had been out. He said reorganization of the city's business departments had much to do with the savings and efficiency.

Santa and the COWBOY
By LUCRECE HUDGINS

SYNOPSIS: In Santa Land, Santa Claus is troubled by Jindians, who are not good and friendly like Indians today. George Sanders, 7, also known as "Kid Buckaroo, Terror of the West," flies on the back of a bird to Santa Land to help Santa. He arrives just as the Jindians have stolen Dasher, Santa's best reindeer. Santa's helpers think Bucky is a Jindian.

CHAPTER SEVEN
BUCKY TO THE RESCUE

"KID BUCKAROO, Terror of the West!" exclaimed Tweedleknies when Bucky gave his name. "What kind of a Jindian is that?"

"I'm not a Jindian," protested Bucky. He was close to tears. "I'm a cowboy."

"Cowboy!" The Santa Land workers shouted. "Whoever heard of a cowboy with no guns, no lasso—not even a horse?"

Bucky told them his story. How he'd heard they had Indians at Santa Land and he'd come to fight them. How he'd lost all his weapons on the way but come on anyway to help if he could.

"You do have Indians here, don't you?" he pleaded. "Real fighting Indians?"

"Not Indians, Jindians," snapped Tweedleknies. "They are silly creatures. I'm not afraid of them."

Swoosh! Zing! a slender arrow shot from the dark, lifted Tweedleknies' night cap from his head and pinned it to the ground ten yards away.

Tweedleknies' legs shook. "I'm only scared half to death," he growled. Another arrow whipped from the dark and landed at Santa's feet. The fairy folk screamed with fear and ran to hide. Bucky cried, "Look, it has a message on it!"

Santa picked up the arrow. Yes there was a paper fastened to its tip. Santa unrolled it and read: "Us come to make peace."

Santa put his arm around Bucky. "Maybe you have brought us luck," he smiled. "I think the Jindians want to make peace. Come get warm in the house. Tweedleknies will bring in the Jindians when they come. I hope they have Dasher with them."

Mrs. Claus met them at the door. "You poor boy!" she exclaimed when Santa had told her who Bucky was. Now a cowboy is a pretty tough character as everyone knows but Mrs. Claus didn't care about cowboys. She just cared about the real boy underneath. She washed Bucky's face and hands. She hugged him and warmed him and finally gave him a walloping dinner—bigger and better than Thanksgiving and Christmas dinner rolled into one.

"We come to steal all your deer. Burn your shops. Chase you away."

And the wonderful old lady was just starting him to bed when Patrick Tweedleknies leaped into the room crying, "Here they come!"

A HUGE feather-dressed Jindian entered the cottage. He was followed by a young boy, solemn and handsome, with a single feather in his head band.

Bucky's eyes popped with excitement. Real Jindians! Warlike Jindians! Oh, if he had his weapons now he would show them something!

The Jindian chief spoke. "Me Chief Hurricane. This Lonesome Boy, my son."

Santa said, "I'm glad you have come. We will have peace."

Chief Hurricane shook his head. "No peace," he grunted. "We come to say we steal all your deer. Burn your shops. Chase you away. We fix things so nobody have Christmas again."

Santa's heart was filled with sorrow. He knew the Jindians were fierce and powerful. What could he do to stop them?

Suddenly a voice cried, "Oh, no you won't!"

Chief Hurricane turned in astonishment. Bucky stood with hands on his hips glaring at the great Jindian chief.

"I'm Kid Buckaroo, Terror of the West," he snapped. "I can outstride you and outshoot you. Now you just get out of here."

Santa turned pale. Mrs. Claus clasped her hands. Tweedleknies swallowed half his tongue. And Bucky, well, to tell the truth, Bucky's legs were so weak with fright he was ready to topple over.

"Ha!" shouted Chief Hurricane. "Prove it!"

Santa turned Bucky's face up. "Can you prove it?" he asked softly.

Bucky tried to speak. But his voice wouldn't come. He tried to whisper but couldn't even find a whisper. Finally he just nodded his head. But oh! how he wished he'd never spoken at all!
