Swede Nilsen, 1006 East 26th Street, Houston, Texas, now claims he is the hottest hardware salesman in town. Swede says that in order for a man to do a top-notch job of selling he has to really feel good, and Swede says he is now taking a necklace and a basketball for have its annual Christmas dance at HADACOL, and believes he has Christmas. never felt better. He found that by taking HADACOL he overcame deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin Christmas.

Here is Mr. Nilsen's statement: "Before I started taking HADACOL Army in California. Love." -that was a good bit ago-I was just plain lazy. I felt groggy and tired all the time. Seems like it was hard for me even to lift my feet. When a man feels that way he naturally doesn't do good work. What really gave me a bad time was my eating habits-I would go all day sometimes without a square meal. What really was strange was that while I was so listless and sleepy during the day-I couldn't sleep at night. Imagine rolling and tossing and cat-napping all night long. But that's all changed since I have been taking HADACOL. I guess I've taken from 6 to 10 bottles of HADACOLand believe you me, there is no comparison now to the way I used to feel—I feel fine! HADACOL certainly is wonderful. I get a wonderful night's sleep—and eat—why I swear I eat everything in sight. Yes. sir. HADACOL sure is wonderful. And you can bet your life I recommend HADACOL to all my friends."

HADACOL is simply remarkable in the way it has helped folks of all ages-yes, thousands of men, women and children who have been plagued with deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron. HADACOL is that wonderful new preparation promising blessed relief for stomach distress, nervousness, if caused by an upset stomach, vague aches and pains or a general run-down condition when they are due to such defi-

HADACOL helps build up the hemoglobin content of your blood (when Iron is needed) to carry these precious Vitamins and Minerals to every part of your body.

HADACOL Can Help You

Don't go through life putting up with a stomach that is easily upset. that causes you gas pains, heartburn, sour risings after meals, a stomach that will not digest food properly; yes, if due to lack of Vita-mins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron, you can overcome the deficiencies which are causing these miseries by taking HADACOL, which contains those precious Vitamins.

Start taking HADACOL right sway and if you do not get the results you expect your money will be immediately refunded. HADACOL costs only $1.25 for a trial size botile. Universal Military Service

James Bryant Conant, eminent scientist and president of Harvard University, is one of the sanest, most hardheaded men in American life. He had a part in producing the atomic bomb and long has been a key adviser on defense issues.

So when he speaks out, his words ought to command respect and careful study. In the current issue of Look magazine, Conant calls for immediate enactment by Congress of a law requiring every young man in America to undergo two years of actual military service.

Conant believes this service should begin when a man reaches the age of 18, or upon his graduation from high school. He would not limit duty to able-bodied men but provide that the physically unfit should serve in other capacities.

He would allow no deferments or exemptions for college students or anyone else. He says the difficulties of trying to exempt from the draft certain types of students already have proved formidable.

Conant feels that, since service would be required of all men, it is better for them to get it over with before they begin post-high school education or take jobs. That will avoid the interruption to their training that is widely cited as a chief argument against universal duty.

As head of a great university. Conant is thoroughly aware his proposal would strike a stiff blow at higher education in America. It would defer advanced training for many men at the very time U. S. colleges are in the throes of the worst financial crisis of their history.

It is a mark of Conant's courage in facing reality that he nevertheless should make the proposal. He declares: "I, for one, have with much reluctance come to the conclusion that such sacrifices are demanded by the extreme from you," remarked Bridges, in an exist but still seemed to think that peril which the free world faces."

Why has he offered so drastic a remedy? Because he accepts.competent estimates that the United States must get and keep under arms from 3,000,000 to 3,500,000 men. He accepts the reasoning of many experts that such a force position. is necessary so that we may maintain sizable numbers of combat troops in full readiness upon the continent of political parties have made toward

Behind these notions lies the basic conviction that Joe Martin of Massachusetts, seem-Europe, because of its tremendous industrial potential, must be kept out of Russian hands at all costs. We must President, offered to submit his disdo what we can to rearm Europe, we must ask them to do senting statement to Truman for his all they can for themselves; but we must be prepared in the end to shoulder a large part of the combat burden ourselves. Our own national survival demands it.

Conant believes we can't possibly muster that kind of manpower either with a regular draft or universal military in other parts of the world. Russia training (this latter requires no actual military service). He is not alone in his beliefs. Many top men in Washington have concluded that UMS, not UMT, is the real need of engrossed with China. the hour.

If there is a satisfactory alternative to Conant's proposal, it has not yet been offered. And it would seem in- questions. He seemed especially anxcumbent on any who oppose this plan to come up with another which can guarantee to the nation in the same foolproof fashion the creation of a great reservoir of trained Taft and Wherry, however, deand service-hardened fighting men.

"It can't be far now," said Bucky. "Soon we'll be out of the lights and then it will be a clear race back to Santa Land. Ready?"

Before Lonesome Boy could re-ply there was a terrible roar behind them. Turning, the saw the giant of many colors running towards them. Furious that Bucky had dared to turn the Jindian loose, the giant roared through the great Aurora Borealis.

Bucky and Lonesome Boy dug their neels into their horses and sped away. It was hard to tell whether they ran so fast to escape the giant or to win the race for Santa Land

The giant gathered ribbons of color in his huge fists and shook them after the fleeing boys. The ribbon ends snapped like riding whips and sent waves of color zigzagging around the frightened horses' legs.

The cowboy and Jindian bent over their horses and raced as man or boy has never raced before. At last they passed through a flaming sheet and were out of the Northern Lights and beyond the reach of the angry giant.

Now in a clear race Lonesome Boy and Bucky rode side by side across the snowy plains. On and on they raced and no one could have said who would win. N Santa Land the Jindian race.

Why this should be is anyone's guess, but it would seem good sense for the person who reacts unfavorably to tobacco, or who has some disease in which smoking is known to be harmful; to give up the habit.

This is easier said than done, and many people write to inquire how they can stop smoking. Unfortunately, there is no easy way, and about all that can be suggested is the use of will power, and perhaps the substitution of some other motion such as chewing gum. Medicines, such as the alpha lobeline which was in vogue several years ago, have not worked out very successfully or have proved dangerous.

The sporting world is confronted with the same problems it faced this time nine years ago, in 1941. A national emergency has once again placed sports in an uncertain position. Many officials in both collegiate and professional ranks are tottering on the brink of doubt and uncertainity.
