... WITHOUT THE HELP OF THE WOMAN I LOVE'

King's Abdication Caused Crisis

LONDON (AP)—It was a gloomy, winter's day, Dec. 11, 1936.

Over the radio came the sad voice of King Edward VIII, now the Duke of Windsor:

"I have found it impossible to carry the heavy burden of responsibility and to discharge my duties as king, as I would wish to do, without the help and support of the woman I love."

TWICE DIVORCED

The woman was American-born, twice-divorced Wallis Warfield Simpson.

The crisis shook Britons and threatened to undermine the monarchy.

Now, 30 years later, the British monarchy still stands, with Edward's niece, Elizabeth, reigning as queen. The abdication is merely another page in England's long and often turbulent history and is almost forgotten.

The Windsors themselves—their exile ended—drop in and out of London virtually unnoticed, with no official recognition.

The duke, 72, has called at Buckingham Palace since he abdicated—but always alone. His duchess, 70 has never been accepted in the royal circles.

The Windsors spend most of their time at their home just outside Paris. Their wanderings—to the United States, Italy, Spain, Austria and the south of France among the social set—have sometimes evoked pity among British friends.

ROMANTIC FIGURE

But to the British of his and other generations the aging duke will always remain the boyish romantic figure—the king who gave up his throne for the woman he loved.

He was a popular king for that short reign of 327 days.

Ever since abdication a row has raged hot and cold—did he go willingly or was he pushed? The duke has said himself that abdication was the only course open to him.

"I think I could have found not only political support but much public support for my position had I wished to make a struggle," he told an interviewer last July.

"But if I had permitted the politicians or encouraged the public to stand with me as Churchill and Beaverbrook wanted, I would have been forming—don't you see?—a king's party, a political party to serve my own private interests."

NOT WORTHY

"Had I done that, I would not have been a worthy king. So I decided, alone, to pay the price, which was clearly abdication. It was the only course which was at the same time right for me and right for Britain."

Winston Churchill, then in the political shadows, and Canadian-born Lord Beaverbrook, owner of the powerful Express group of newspapers, were the leaders of a save-the-king movement. Ranged against them was Conservative Party Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin and almost the entire British establishment, including the Church of England and Geoffrey Dawson, influential editor of the London Times.

News of the king's infatuation with Mrs. Simpson was promi-nently reported in American newspapers at the time.

But as the storm gathered, no mention of their relationship appeared in British newspapers. Then the Bishop of Bradford, in a talk to his diocesan conference on Dec. 1, 1936, let the cat out of the bag.

The Yorkshire Post, a provincial newspaper published in northern England, carried an editorial headed "The King and His People." The national newspapers took it up the next day and Baldwin felt he had to act.

ULTIMATUM

The stern, pipe-smoking prime minister issued an ultimatum that the king, then 42, should give up his proposed marriage to Mrs. Simpson—who, as a divorcee, was not acceptable to the church-monarchy tradition—or quit the throne.

Some commentators say the king was threatened and bullied into going.

Beaverbrook, however, once summed it up this way: "Who killed cock robin? Cock robin did."

Doctors Say Jack Ruby Has Cancer

Surgeons Call Tumor Malignant

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Jack Ruby, 55, former Dallas night club operator and slayer of Lee Harvey Oswald, has cancer, the site of which has not been determined, an official of Parkland Hospital said Saturday.

Ruby was taken to the hospital Friday for treatment of pneumonia.

Jim Maxwell, Parkland administrative assistant, said a lymph node biopsy was performed on Ruby under local anesthesia Saturday afternoon.

REVEALED TUMOR

"The lymph node revealed a tumor under microscopic examination," he said. "At this time the source of the tumor is unknown."

Surgeons at Parkland Hospital said the tumor was malignant. "He is a very sick man," said Dr. Jay Sanford, professor of internal medicine at Southwestern Medical School. Dr. Sanford heads a team of physicians working on Ruby.

Gunman Kills 2 New Yorkers

NEW YORK (AP)—A berserk gunman shot two passersby to death Saturday in a mid-Manhattan park before he was critically wounded by police bullets.

Among those credited with halting the early evening shooting in Bryant Park was patrolman John Gray, a Troy, N.Y. policeman in the city on a Christmas shopping tour.

The dead men were identified by police as Doran J. Norton, 64, of Manhattan, and Charles Linden Swan, 29, of Binghamton, N.Y.

The gunman was identified as Gustave D. Williams, 29, of South Ozone Park, Queens.

The park is located behind the public library and runs from Avenue of the Americas to Fifth Avenue between 40th and 42nd streets. It long has been a hang-out for Bowery bums and other undesirables who use the benches lining its spacious lawns for sleeping during the daytime as well as night.

The Troy patrolman, two other policemen and three probationary patrolmen fired on the gunman who was carrying a Springfield army rifle.

Hundreds of pedestrians were in the area when the shooting broke out. The park is surrounded by shops on three sides.

GOP Governors Fire Salvos At Johnson

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Republican governors pushed aside their differences over potential presidential candidates Saturday to mount a blistering attack on the Johnson administration. They said, "he is losing the confidence" of Americans.

ROMNEY

Winding up a two-day session in which significant support has developed—and some star holdouts have been recorded—for Michigan Gov. George Romney as the 1968 standard-bearer, the GOP state executives said in a policy statement:

"We believe that the American people are weary of warmed over solutions to the problems of the '60s; disillusioned with unfilled promises and concerned with inflation growing out of fiscal irresponsibility. In short the national administration is losing the confidence of the majority of our people. . . . Not only has the nation begun to question the direction in which this country is moving, it has demonstrated a profound and growing concern over the philosophy of the 'Great Society.'"

ney for a 30-minute chat behind the locked doors of a men's room, stuck in his position of neutrality in the presidential contest. He said he had no personal preference for the nomination and no presidential ambitions. But he added "California will face its responsibility to be a major voice in the national Republican party."

With references to the 1968 nomination he said:

"I don't know of any Republican who isn't acceptable." He said that includes Romney.

Reagan, however, was a star holdout along with Gov. James A. Rhodes of Ohio in the "Romney for president" league some colleagues were forming.

In separate talks with reporters, Reagan and Rhodes made it emphatic they are not going to commit themselves to anyone in the presidential nomination contest until they see how all the potential candidates perform in the next year or more.

Between them Reagan and Rhodes will command 144 of the 1968 GOP convention's 1,333 nominating votes. They had no commitments to go along with each other. But their hold-out attitude seemed to represent a substantial wait-and-see attitude among the 25 Republicans who will be running their states in 1967.

FAVORITE

Reagan, already a favorite of some conservative organizations for the presidential nomination, reiterated his position that he is not going to seek it. But he obviously did not intend to slam the door against future development.

Reagan apparently was making a favorable impression among his colleagues with witty remarks and his calls for party unity in the campaigning which will precede the Republican challenge to President Johnson's expected bid for a second elective term.

NEUTRAL

Reagan, who met with Romney and exploding population.

CONFIDENCE

The "contagious spirit of confidence" the governors and gubernatorial candidates emphasized among themselves emphasized the scramble of supporters to line up gubernatorial backing for Romney as the 1968 nominee and the resistance to any such early commitments.

Although Chairman John A. Love of Colorado said the governors avoided discussing foreign affairs in their meetings, Gov-

BUILD RECORD

Flexing their newly found political muscles, the governors said that as heads of the governing party in states representing about 60 per cent of the population they intend to make a record which will help guide the GOP to the White House in 1968.

To take advantage of what they said is "a fundamental change" in American thinking, they said they will take a local responsibility in efforts to solve "problems affecting quality of life in America."

They listed these as urban sprawl, health and mental health, job opportunities and training, air and water pollution, racial discrimination, transportation, conservation, economic deprivation, education

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

Our new residents got their initiation to a West Texas sand storm a bit early Friday. There was a foresta on Tuesday of things to come, and come it did with visibility north of town cut almost to zero. There will be more of this if fast-moving fronts hit before the current crop is out and land can be "put up" for the winter. Saturday was down to 22 degrees, a far cry from 80 degrees maximum (which set records) at mid-week.

These capers slowed down the cotton harvest, but most gins had backlog enough to keep busy for several days. Friday noon there had been ginned or brought to the gin a total of 41,000 bales. Most ginneries estimated (See THE WEEK, P. 10-A, C, 2)

Marines Killed By Own Bombs

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP)—Two American aerial bombs, intended to help clear enemy forces from the path of advancing U.S. Marines, exploded in a Marine company Saturday near a stony ridge known as the Rockpile. A spokesman said 16 Marines were killed and 11 wounded.

SIX BOMBS

The bombs were among six 250-pounders dropped by a Marine plane in response to a Leatherneck call for support in the drive, five miles south of the demilitarized zone.

The spokesman said they may have ricocheted from the rocks or there may have been a malfunction in their mechanisms. He reported the other four landed on suspected Communist positions.

WHERE MICHIGAN MAN'S BODY FOUND
 Officers checking into mysterious death of Norman Lee Yates

Two Quizzed In Man's Death

Two men, thought to have been with a 36-year-old man found dead on IS 20 a mile west of here at 5 a.m. Saturday, were taking polygraph tests in El Paso late Saturday.

Sheriff A. N. Standard initiated an area-wide hunt for the men Saturday, after witnesses in a local restaurant identified the dead man from pictures in his wallet and said he was with two others about 3 a.m. The three left the restaurant in a car pulling a horse trailer.

The two men were stopped by officers in Van Horn and Standard left about 8 a.m. Saturday to question them. Word received here near midnight indicated both men were taking the lie-detector tests, but the results would not be known until after some study.

The body was found by a passing truck driver at the edge of the pavement, and he had apparently been dead two or three hours.

Papers on the body identified the man as Norman Lee Yates, of Marquette, Mich. Letters indicated he was seeking work and was en route to California. He had $14 in cash.

Officers theorized Saturday that Yates was hitch-hiking and was struck by a hit-and-run driver. It appeared he had been walking westward and hit from the rear, the impact hurling him a considerable distance and off the side of the roadway. His injuries were on the back of his head and back.

Although skidmarks were found near the center of the pavement, there were no glass fragments to show a car might have been damaged by impact. Sheriff Standard, who was notified by the truck driver, and Walter Grice, justice of the peace, made the initial investigation. Grice ruled death was caused by a collision with a motor vehicle.

Standard called police in Marquette, and was told they would locate relatives. A brother-in-law, Bill Woodley, was found in Paducah, Ky.

The body was first taken to Valley-Pickle Funeral Home, and then was to be sent to Paducah, Ky., for burial by the Kennedy Funeral Home there.

A blood sample and the man's clothing were sent to the Department of Public Safety laboratory in Austin Saturday.

Dr. Roscoe B. Cowper was to examine the body Saturday night, and was prepared to perform an autopsy if requested.

New York's Foul, Stagnant Air Refuses To Blow Away

Motor and air traffic were disrupted in the New York City area and along much of the Atlantic seaboard Saturday by a foul combination of fog and stagnant warm air.

The blanket of polluted air crept over the heavily populated region just two weeks after Thanksgiving weekend smog crisis threw officials of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut into a tizzy.

POLLUTION

The U.S. Weather Bureau in New York City issued a warning that the possibility of "high air pollution" would continue until noon Sunday. By then a cold front was expected to move through and, along with scattered showers, "will bring relief from the stagnant conditions."

Airports in New York, Newark, Boston, Baltimore and Philadelphia were closed for varying periods during the early morning hours by the fog. Hundreds of flights were delayed or canceled.

Driving was hazardous throughout New York State, New Jersey and the New England states Saturday morning.

TURNPIKE CLOSED

The busy north-south New Jersey Turnpike—often a victim of fog—was closed for as much as 1½ hours in some places. Even when the 118-mile long turnpike was opened, visibility was so poor that speed limits were reduced as low as 35 miles an hour.

Some auto and pedestrian fatalities were blamed on the fog, including three in New Jersey and one in Pennsylvania.

Temperatures ranged into the 60s as the area had its third day of mild readings.

And the unseasonable mildness was part of the smog problem: a ceiling of warm air at about 1,000 feet was trapping the stagnant air below in New York City.

Breezes of less than 10 miles an hour were too gentle to brush away the smog cover.

INDEX RISES

The air pollution index in New York City rose to 39 late Friday and averaged in a range of 20 to 30 Saturday. Normal is 12 and the danger level is listed at 50.

New York City's air pollution commissioner, Austin Heller, ordered the department's laboratory to remain in operation over the weekend. He came to his office to check and see if the levels would reach a danger point.

Cold Mass Tightens Grip

A mass of frigid arctic air that sent the mercury plunging to 2 degrees above zero at Perryton at dawn was due to push across Texas and bring freezing weather to the Lower Rio Grande Valley by dawn Sunday.

Skies were clearing in the wake of the cold air mass as it pushed toward the Gulf but temperatures rose only a few degrees above freezing at points in the northern part of the state by afternoon Saturday.

The forecasts called for a clear and cold weekend in Texas with hard freezes in the northern and central portions of the state. The freeze predicted for the Lower Rio Grande Valley posed a threat to citrus and vegetable crops in that area. Scattered frost was forecast for the southern part of the state.

The 2 above zero reading at Perryton was recorded before dawn Saturday as the mercury dropped to 7 degrees at Dalhart, 11 at Amarillo and 13 at Lubbock. Brownsville's 48 was the highest overnight temperature recorded in the state.

Connally Wants Driver Training For All Youths

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally recommended Saturday that all young Texans be given a chance to take driver education and training as part of their regular public school study.

"Our present society is such that practically every student of today will drive an automobile throughout most of his life," Connally said in another of his budget recommendations to the 1967 Legislature.

"The time is here for the state to accept the responsibility of affording each such prospective new driver an opportunity to acquire the knowledge and skills necessary to safely and legally operate a motor vehicle on the streets as a part of our public school training program."

Connally proposed that state-wide institution of driver education and training courses be financed in 1967-69 by an appropriation of $3.5 million from the state's general revenue fund from driver's license fees.

Present law calls for two-thirds of Texas drivers' license fees to go to operation of the Department of Public Safety (DPS) while one-third goes into general revenue. The 1965 allocation to general revenue is about $4.5 million.

The governor's office said the re-allocation would not cause increased drivers fees or additional driver costs of any type.

If Texas does not meet requirements for participation in the federal highway safety program it will face possible loss of the $4.5 million in safety funds plus 10 per cent of the money.

The governor asked that the DPS be authorized to hire 355 more persons, including 214 new men would include 113 for the driver's license division to conduct 12 driver improvement schools in 60 locations, to give re-instatement examinations for suspended drivers and to give road tests for commercial and chauffeur license applicants.

The governor recommended a budget of $51.6 million in 1968 and 1969 for the DPS compared to the total of $35.7 million spent in 1966 and appropriated for 1967.

Connally recommended a to tal 1968-69 budget of $1.07 billion for state highway program costs, compared to $987 million in 1966-67.

He noted that Texas has the largest state highway system in the nation and by 1972 will have more miles of interstate highways than any other state.

"However," he said, "the pace in which the state has progressed in highway construction has not been matched with urban street construction and maintenance. Connecting arterial streets in metropolitan areas, city street construction, maintenance and policing remain one of the major budget items of local units of government."

POSTAL EMPLOYEES HEED OWN PLEAS

Employees of the Big Spring Post Office are setting an example Monday has been designated "Postal Employee's Christmas Mailing Day." Postmaster Frank Hardesty said Saturday.

By mailing their Christmas gifts and greetings early, local post office workers are highlighting their annual plea for cooperation from the public.

Postmaster Hardesty estimated that the total number of early mailings, if each of the 71 employees mailed 35 cards, would be 2,485.

Hardesty noted that if only 25 per cent of the people who receive the cards from postal employees responded immediately by mailing an average of 35 cards, then 21,740 more cards would be on their way earlier than normal this year.

DPS Asks Help To Save Some Marked For Death

AUSTIN — Forty-seven persons in Texas will be the focus of one of the most intensive traffic safety efforts ever to be expended during the Christmas holiday weekend, according to Department of Public Safety Director Col. Homer Garrison Jr.

The DPS will be concentrating its efforts more than ever down this toll as much as possible.

"We are issuing a personal invitation to each motorist, asking every individual to join the battle, and it must be considered a battle, for traffic has claimed more lives than have been lost in all the wars in which we have been engaged."

"Operation Deathwatch" will be conducted from 6 p.m., Friday, Dec. 23 through 11:59 p.m., Monday, Dec. 26, to focus attention on dangers involved in holiday travel. The present traffic trend indicates that 47 persons will die in traffic during this period.

The "Deathwatch" will resume for the New Year's weekend, beginning at 6 p.m., Friday, Dec. 30, and continuing through 11:59 p.m., Monday, Jan. 2. Indications for the New Year's period are that 36 persons will die in traffic accidents.

To supplement its enforcement activities, the DPS will place approximately 150 additional men from its other uniformed services on highway patrol duty. Every effort will be made to remove dangerous or irresponsible drivers from the highways for the safety of law-abiding motorists.

Too Wet To Pay

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Deputy Sheriff Jimmy Eubank said he had every intention of paying the parking ticket he got Friday during a downpour. "I carried it over to the Traffic Bureau to pay it," he said. "They looked at me and told me the ticket was too wet and for me to bring it back Monday after it had dried."

Factor Kin To Fibrosis Found

A Duke University researcher reported he has isolated a blood factor he believes is related to cystic fibrosis, one of the most common and serious health menaces to childhood.

The discovery—that gives new hope for treatment of the malady—was somewhat accidental and resulted from a hunch, said Dr. Alexander Spock, an assistant professor of pediatrics at Duke.

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Sunday, Dec. 11, 1966 3-A

The research, he said, succeeded in freeing from the blood a serum factor which he has linked to the faulty gene involved in cystic fibrosis.

The achievement makes possible recognition by a blood test of the unwitting carriers of the defect, estimated to be about five per cent of the U.S. population, Dr. Spock said. He said the development also opens the door to useful genetic counseling that can lead to prevention for the first time in the history of the disease.

By shedding new light on an abnormality that affects about one in every 1,000 new babies, Dr. Spock said, the findings provide clinicians with another means of confirming diagnosis of the disease. Until now, the only test available involved analysis of perspiration from a suspected victim's body for excessive salt.

Peace Hopes Guide Truce

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration believes an extension of the Christmas truce in Vietnam will be justified only if both sides in the conflict use the time to move toward ending the war.

Policymakers here doubt that the Communists have yet reached the point in combat losses where they are ready for actual steps either toward negotiation or toward scaling down the conflict. Officials are worried, therefore, about possible Communist maneuvers to prolong the cease-fire merely to gain time to reinforce and re-supply their units.

PRESSURE

Communist and non-Communist sources are expected to bring mounting pressure aimed at getting President Johnson to order a long pause in the bombing of North Vietnam. But he already has rejected such action unless it is matched by some comparable peace move on the part of the Communists.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk said in Saigon Saturday there has been no indication from the Communist side to show what his reaction will be to Pope Paul's suggestion that the combatants link up the planned Christmas and New Year's truces.

As far as the allies are concerned, Rusk summed up the situation this way:

"These things have to be done on the basis of what both sides are willing to do. We can't stop half the war."

Johnson may have to speak out on the situation in the next few days, to define once more basic U.S. interests and to avoid, as far as he can, being maneuvered into an embarrassing diplomatic spot and a potentially dangerous military position.

The whole issue was brought to a point for decision Thursday when Pope Paul appealed to the belligerents to extend their planned holiday truces into "a single continuous period of time, so that new ways may be explored of bringing about an honorable understanding putting an end to the conflict."

CONCERNED

However some authorities here are at least equally concerned about the possibility that stopping the whole war may be the major issue with which Johnson will shortly have to deal.

Military leaders have warned — and the President's diplomatic advisers seem generally to agree — that a halt in fighting on both sides at this stage of the conflict would assist only the Communists since they are the ones who are losing the fight now.

Brandt To Meet With De Gaulle

BERLIN (AP) — Newly appointed West German Foreign Minister Willy Brandt announced in a far-ranging speech Saturday that he will meet with French President Charles de Gaulle in Paris next Wednesday.

It was the first indication that the new West German "grand coalition" government will waste no time in pursuing its stated aim of patching up relations with France. At the same time, however, the former West Berlin mayor indicated West German policy will be more independent than before.

Brandt is vice chancellor and foreign minister in the new Bonn government that took office Dec. 1 under Christian Democrat Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger. Kiesinger has made it plain that a better relationship with Paris will be a primary aim of his government, while maintaining good relations with the United States.

Organization meeting). I will meet there my colleagues, the foreign ministers of the United States, Great Britain, France and other countries. I would like to disclose that I will meet with French President de Gaulle on Wednesday."

While not saying at whose initiative the De Gaulle meeting was scheduled, Brandt stated they would meet "because we want to make the serious attempt especially to develop anew German-French relationships and to fill the (German-French cooperation) treaty of January 1963 with as much political life as possible."

He said the No. 1 task of the new government is overcoming economic difficulties. After that, the primary concern is whether West Germany will become isolated or a partner to be taken seriously, "without our being taken over."

"We will take our people into our confidence," Brandt said, "abandoning the nonsense of coming back from Paris or Washington as though one is agreed on everything. Even in an alliance there are differences of opinion."

Seasickness Kills Naval Scientist

PORTSMOUTH, England (AP) — A British Naval scientist died of seasickness, a doctor testified at an inquest Thursday night on Gerald Rogers, 41, a senior scientific officer.

The coroner ruled that Rogers, who was doing one day's duty aboard the frigate HMS Wakeful, died from natural causes. Medical testimony was that he ruptured his gullet and that his death was the direct result of seasickness.

The last similar case reported was in America in 1919, said surgeon Lt. Cmdr. Henry Black-

NO QUESTION

U.S. officials said Saturday there's no question of what the U.S. response would be if a long holiday cease-fire could in fact be used to find "an honorable understanding" for peace. However the expectation here is that the Communists probably will try to get simply a breathing spell to regroup for more war.

The Communist and allied sides so far have declared a Christmas truce of 48 hours from Dec. 24 to Dec. 28 and a New Year's truce of 48 hours from Dec. 31 to Jan. 2. In addition the allies have called for a 96-hour halt in the fighting at the time of the Vietnamese new year, Tet, Feb. 8-12.

Pope Paul's proposal was open-ended and authorities here understand that the Vatican would like to see a cease-fire running from Dec. 24 through Feb. 12.

In his comment to newsmen in Saigon, Rusk presumably was talking particularly about a pause in U.S. bombing of North Vietnam without some reciprocal action by North Vietnam. He is known to have been concerned about pressures building up for a bombing pause comparable to the 37-day halt which

Yule Party Plans Announced By VA

A program of folk and Christmas music will highlight the annual Christmas party at the Veterans Administration Hospital, Thursday, according to Donald Van Meter, hospital director.

The program will be held from 7:30 p.m., with music by members of the Lubbock Music Club and the Allegro Music Club. A vocal trio consisting of D'Ann Marshall, Lorena Mayfield, Marion Nabers, with Virginia Cowan at the piano, will sing "When You're Smiling," "Side by Side," "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands," and "Maggie Blues."

Virginia Cowan will present a selection of accordion capers of "Twelfth Street Rag," "St. Louis Blues," "Down Yonder" and "South." "Star of the East" a vibra harp solo, will be presented by Gildwell Cole.

Gildwell Cole and D'Ann Marshall, will combine talents with a harp and guitar session, to play "On Top of Old Smokey," "Your Cheatin' Heart," "Tennessee Waltz," "Jealous Heart," "It Is No Secret," and "Have I Told You Lately That I Love You." Virginia Cowan will follow with a selection of ragtime tunes at the piano.

The entire group will join together to sing "Jingle Bells," "Silver Bells," "Winter Wonderland," "Joy to the World," "Deck the Halls," and "We Wish You a Merry Christmas."

A special recording from President Lyndon Johnson and National Commander of the American Legion will be played.

Van Meter will add his greetings to the volunteers and patients of the VA hospital, and Roscoe Cone will be master of ceremonies.

The program and refreshments will be sponsored by the VFW and auxiliary of District 7, Lubbock.

Texas Farmers, Ranchers Again Are Wanting Rains

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—The Christmas presents most desired by Texas farmers and ranchers is a statewide, soaking rain.
 Winds and temperatures aggravated the growing shortage of moisture which is becoming critical in many areas, John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, reported this week.
 Grazing prospects statewide declined but livestock, with feeding, are generally in good condition and dry grass is still available, the director said. Grain grazing is becoming limited except in irrigated areas and much of the late acreage has yet to come up to a stand.
HARVESTING NEAR END
 The harvesting of all major crops is nearing completion and the application of fertilizer are making good progress.
 Short moisture has about stopped the growth of dryland wheat in the Panhandle and feeding is on the increase. The cotton harvest is more than 75 per cent complete. The potato and carrot harvests in Castro County are continuing. Cattle and ranges generally were still in good condition.
 The cotton, sugar beet and castorbean harvests on the South Plains (Lubbock) are near completion. Soybean yields are good and farmers are busy preparing land but moisture is becoming short in most counties. Wheat needs rain. Cattle and ranges were in good condition.

SHOWERS
 Some showers have fallen over the Rolling Plains (Vernon) but rain is needed to get grains and range plants growing. The showers slowed the cotton harvest which is nearing completion in several counties. Grain grazing is limited. The guar harvest continues.
 Light rains last week helped small grains in the northeast sector of North Central Texas but general moisture is still critically short throughout the district. Late grain has not come up due to drought. A little cotton is yet to be harvested. Grass is dry but cattle are still in fair condition and feeding is under way.
 The lack of moisture is becoming serious in Northeast Texas where feeding is increasing. Oats and pastures are hurting for rain. Sweet potato yields for the district have been above average.

plentiful. Moisture is needed to get forage growing. Irrigated grains are doing well. Cotton and grain sorghum harvests are about over. Yields were below average. Labor is short. Hunters are harvesting an excellent crop of deer, turkeys and quail.
 There has been no let up in the dry weather in West Central Texas and grains are providing little or no grazing. The cotton harvest is about over; livestock are in good condition and dry grass still is plentiful but rain is needed to get forage going. Feeding is on a limited basis. Calving and lambing continues. The dry weather in Central

 The precision formation fliers will give a demonstration over Goodfellow Field at 2:30 p.m. Their base of operations, however, will be at Webb, and they will be billeted at Ramada Inn. After lunch here, the Thunderbirds will take off in time to meet their beginning time over the San Angelo base, then return here after the 30-minute show. They will remain overnight in Big Spring. The brief arrival show here will be over in plenty of time for spectators to attend the cantata at the base chapel.
Claims Sanctions Could Nip Regime
 LONDON (AP) — Foreign Secretary George Brown predicted today that United Nations sanctions against Rhodesia would bring down the rebellious white regime if they are enforced.
 The British leader, returning from New York where he put Britain's case for sanctions before the U.N. Security Council, said he was confident a practical and effective resolution would emerge as a result of his talks with African Commonwealth delegates.

Dear Abby

Look Like A Girl!

DEAR ABBY: All the boys confide in me like I was their mother or something. I don't mind listening because in the future I know I will have to do that quite often. (I plan to be a social worker or a nurse or something of that sort). The boys always ask my advice on how to get dates with girls they have a crush on and so forth.
 Is there some witty or catchy phrase I can throw out to let them know I am available? Also, my folks are taking me on a trip, and I would like to lose 30 pounds in three weeks. I'd sure like to look cute for the trip. Hurry your answer.

OUT OF IT
 DEAR OUT: One problem at a time, starting with the one that is probably responsible for the others. You can "slim down" by going on a serious diet under a doctor's supervision. But don't expect to shed 30 pounds in 21 days. It took you longer than that to pile it on.

Boys treat you like their mothers because you probably remind them of THEIRS. When you look more like a girl they want to date, they'll realize that you are "available," and you won't need a catchy phrase with which to catch them.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 19-year-old girl. When I was younger and still in school, my mother always said, "Make your bed." Sometimes I didn't have time, so I wouldn't. When my older sister married I got the room to myself and started taking more pride in it, so now I always make my bed. About two times a week I wake up to find my mother sleeping in the other twin bed.

She says she likes to have a break from my father's snoring so she comes in my room to sleep. I don't mind that, except she never makes her own bed so I'm stuck with it. She complains a lot about backaches and headaches, so if I don't do it, it doesn't get done. What do you suggest? UNPAID MAID

DEAR UNPAID: I suggest you make her bed and don't look for any medals. Be grateful for the chance to remove the wrinkles from your mother's bed. From the sound of your letter, you must have put a few in her brow.

DEAR ABBY: There is a certain lady in our neighborhood who calls me on the phone every afternoon and starts a nice long conversation. Now, Abby, I don't mind talking to this woman for a little while, but I can't spend two hours a day on the telephone with her.

When I say, "Well, dear, I'd better be going as I don't want to keep you from your work," she says, "O, that's okay, I don't have very much to do." And she goes right on talking. I hate to be rude, but how can I get off the phone without hurting her feelings?

NEEDS ADVICE
 DEAR NEEDS: Instead of saying, "I'd better be going as I don't want to keep you from

Fifty Thousand Bale Crop Seems Assured

By SAM BLACKBURN

Howard County's best per acre cotton crop continued to climb toward the 50,000 bale mark last week. As of noon Friday the gins of the county had ginned and on their yards awaiting ginning an aggregate of 43,327 bales.

Most gimmers feel the crop is about 80 per cent in. This would mean there are still 7,000 to 8,000 bales in the fields and, if the estimate is good, the 50,000 bale crop is a certain thing.

In view of the total planted acreage being slightly over 45,000, the production this year is little short of sensational for dryland farming. The crop is within a few hundred bales now of averaging a bale an acre and by the end of the season the average will be better than a bale.

NOTHING LIKE IT

Oldtimers in the cotton business say they have never seen dryland cotton in Howard County produce as it has in 1966.

Had the price been good this season the cotton growers would have reaped one of the richest harvests, both as to pounds and dollars, of their careers. As it is much of the cotton has gone at 18-19 cents, some as low as 15 cents a pound. However, benefit payments pushed the price back up to near normal—but only on that portion of the crop which is reflected in normal yields. The price licking has come on the bumper portion over normal yields.

Bad weather early last week and the sand and wind on Friday stalled harvesting to a considerable extent. It will result in cotton coming to gins weighing more. Most gins had more than enough unginned cotton awaiting their attention to keep them busy over the weekend.

HEAVY GINNING

Fairview gin continued to lead the field in the total bales ginned. At noon Friday it had processed 7,859 bales and 719 bales on the lot.

The three Big Spring gins have ginned and have ready for ginning 11,384 bales. The figures by gins — Big Spring Coop, ginned 4,327, on lot 500; Gular, 1,910 ginned; on lot 100; Planters, 3,900 ginned and 650 on the lot.

The three gins in Knott, where some of the finest cotton of the year has been produced, have ginned and have ready to gin, 9,275 bales. By gins, Knott Cooperative, 4,000 ginned, 800 on lot; Planters, 2,800 ginned, 150 on lot; Gular, 1,400 ginned and 125 on lot.

Luther's Planters has ginned 3,050 and had 500 bales waiting at noon Friday.

Coahoma's two gins have ginned and have ready to gin 4,712 bales. By gins, Gular, 1,800 ginned, 75 on lot; Acuff, 2,337 ginned and 500 on lot.

OUT BY CHRISTMAS

Lomax gin has ginned 4,115 bales and had 150 on the lot. This was a drop in waiting cotton compared to the average for last week.

Vincent gin has ginned 1,850 bales and had 90 on hand at noon Friday.

Bulk of the crop will be out of the way, assuming weather continues reasonably good, by Christmas, the gimmers believe. All of them anticipate they will be still operating on the final fragments of the crop through January.

Not only has the crop been exceptional, the weather which has prevailed since the stripping began has been—but for a few days—ideal. As a result, the strippers have levelled field after field. In most communities, much of the land is already plowed and readied for any winter or spring moisture that may fall.

Some gins said that the quality of the cotton is dropping slightly as each week passes.

Quota, Research Vote Is Light

How Howard County cotton growers voted on a proposal to finance research and development will not be known until Wednesday. However, it appears the vote is not heavy.

The county agricultural stabilization and conservation committee will meet Wednesday morning to canvass the mail ballots, together with those on marketing quotas, at the ASC office at Fourth and Lancaster.

"We haven't counted the total votes cast," said Gabe Hammack, in charge of the office. "We just dropped them in a box as they were delivered. I do not think it was a heavy vote."

The county committee will check the votes and certify the election to the state officials before noon.

The committee is comprised of Cecil Allred, chairman, Clay Reid and Lawrence Davis.

Both the proposed research and promotion program and the cotton quota issue must have received a two-thirds majority to be effective.

The research and promotion proposal would assess farmers $1 per bale on each bale of cotton they produced. (Refunds may be had on written request.) This money would be expended in research and promotional activities. The object, in view of the steadily dropping demand for cotton and the mounting surpluses, is to widen the market for the staple.

Sponsors of the program have pointed out that millions and millions of dollars have been spent and are being spent in finding new uses for synthetic fibers (the arch foe of cotton) where little has been expended in behalf of cotton.

If the plan was adopted and all of the cotton farmers joined in it, there could be as much as $50,000 a year from this county alone made available to seek new outlets for the crop and new uses to which the fiber could be put.

The marketing quota is an issue which farmers vote each year. Hammack said that one or both of the issues could win or, by the same token either or both could be defeated in the voting last week.

Demand for this kind of cotton has been on the increase, as is indicated by the fact that it was quoted at only six cents over the loan in October.

The article further states that some mills still have failed to cover their full cotton needs through the first half, and this would seem to mean that upward pressure on prices may continue.

According to the USDA catalog of cotton available for sale on Dec. 2, only 102,760 bales are on hand in the 1-3-32 inch or longer staples, and some cotton buyers maintain that much of this is either low micronaire, low strength, or undesirable for some other reason.

The DNR story quoted a top cotton buyer as saying "While the United States holds a tremendous amount of cotton, as far as American spinners and weavers are concerned, it will never be of any use because of poor quality."

It went on to cite mill executive statements to the effect that "The only way United States mills could use this cotton would be by slowing down the speed of their equipment. But this is impossible in view of the high cost of labor in this country."

In discussion of the high prices being paid for California cotton it is usually pointed out that its big advantage over similar cottons from other sections of the belt is the highly controlled conditions under which it is grown, harvested, ginned and marketed.

WTCC Slates Pre-Legislative Conferences

Jake Street, presently manager of the Dumas Chamber of Commerce, will assume new duties Jan. 1 as projects director for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce according to Jack G. Springer, WTCC executive vice president.

The projects director position is a new one in the WTCC. Street will have the responsibility of arranging details for special meetings, directing the organization and operation of special projects of the various committees and serving as an assistant to the executive vice president in the program of work.

A native of Arkansas, Street earned his BS degree in business administration and has completed management courses in the University of Houston.

Traffic Toll Up

AUSTIN (AP)—State police reported Saturday that 3,007 persons have died this year in Texas traffic, compared to 2,634 at this date a year ago.

Short Staple Excess Smaller

LUBBOCK — The amount of cotton stapling one inch and shorter in the U.S. carryover on Aug. 1, 1966, was 1.3 million bales less than was originally reported by USDA in its September estimate.

Revised figures were published by USDA in November, showing 7,022,367 bales one inch and shorter as opposed to 8,347,739 bales in the first report. This brings cotton one inch and shorter in the carryover down from 50.4 per cent of the total to 42.6 per cent.

There was an offsetting error in cotton with staples of 11-32 and 11-16 inches. The total for these two length categories was actually 8,411,574 bales, 50.7 per cent, instead of the 7,110,097 bales and 42.9 per cent of the total shown in the first report. Donald Johnson, executive vice president of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., said that this certainly does not solve the problem of too much unused short staple cotton, but it does make a significant change in the over-all picture. As soon as a tabulation error was discovered, USDA assured PCG that a revised report would be issued.

Stanley Rademaker, director of the Agriculture Marketing Service's Cotton Division, said the error was the result of a slight change in the warehouse sampling procedure used to compute quality distribution in the carryover.

HCJC Choir To Present Christmas Music Tuesday

Howard County Junior College's music department will present its annual Christmas concert Tuesday at 8 p.m., and a real treat seems in store. Those who heard Van Hale's direction of the "Messiah" at First Methodist Church last Sunday may have an inkling of what is coming. In fact, two of the passages from "The Messiah" will be included in Tuesday's program — "And the Glory of the Lord," plus the great "Hallelujah Chorus."

The program will be Christmas in theme, but not in the almost-100-familiar carols. There will be three soloists — Patsy Thompson and the choir in "Here Mid the Ass and Oxen Mild"; Mrs. Cecil Clemmer in "Gesu Bambino" and "Mary, Mary, Where is Your Baby"; and "Do You Hear What I Hear," Sheryl Gambill. Dana Rosene is the accompanist. Admission is $1 adults, 50 cents students, and proceeds go to the music scholarship fund to help some deserving music students attend HCJC.

After bucking a lot of obstacles, mostly those resulting from the Big Spring drama department is presenting "Our Town" Monday and Wednesday evenings in the HCJC auditorium. Dan Shockey, director, says that the cast has shaped up well and should turn in some excellent performances on the Pulitzer prize winning show, an all-time favorite. The move to the HCJC auditorium, with a substantially smaller seating space, will make matters easier, but this should warm audience response.

Ira Schantz, who formerly headed vocal training at HCJC before going to TCU, is thrilled in his work there. Here to sing the tenor solo in "Catullus Carmina," Schantz couldn't get over the performance of the Big Spring High School choir. "Just think," he said, "not so many years ago, interest was at such low ebb we didn't even have a high school choir." You'd never dream that now. Incidentally, his visit here last Tuesday was his first to sing since Schantz left here.

The fourth lecture of the current series at Midland Institute of Fine Arts Foundation will be from 2:15 p.m. - 3:35 p.m. today in the community room of the Commercial Bank and Trust Company. Arnold Leonard will lecture on Gilbert Stuard, perhaps best known for his unfinished portrait of George Washington.

The second in the San Angelo Symphony concert series will be heard Monday at 8:15 p.m. in the San Angelo city auditorium. On the program are Carol Mendotti's "Amahl Night and the Night Visitors" and Antonio Vivaldi's "Gloria." Several guest artists from the San Antonio Symphony will be featured, as will the San Angelo Central High School choral under direction of Ronald Bates. Dates for the Hemphill - Wells Sorantin contest have been set for Feb. 10-11 for keyboard instruments, orchestral instruments, strings and voice. Robert Mayer, 607 Seven West Two Building, San Angelo, can supply information.

Board Will Not Buy Or Condemn Land For Park

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas Parks and Wildlife commissioners have decided not to spend money from the private Lyndon B. Johnson State Park fund nor to use condemnation to obtain 399 acres added to the park site in January.

Chairman Will Odom, who also is trustee for the fund, said this does not mean, however, that the commission has abandoned its belief the land belongs in the park.

"I'm not going to attempt to buy it with funds contributed to the trustee. If anyone wants to buy it and contribute it, or if the legislature wants to buy it, it will be incorporated into the park," Odom said.

Part of the 399 acre addition is across Ranch Road 1 from the LBJ Ranch, as is a large part of the original park site.

"We will not ask condemnation of it. But I really think it belongs in the park and ought to be a part of it. . . . It would be a wonderful contribution or a wonderful thing for the legislature to do," Odom said.

The land, adjacent to the 254 acre site originally designated for the park Nov. 17, 1964, was added in an unannounced meeting of the commission Jan. 6.

Odom said the commission resolution adding the 399 acres to the park site has not been rescinded. He gave no reason for the decision not to seek condemnation or to use the private fund money to get the land.

Most of the original 254 acres have been acquired by the state. Now on appeal at Fredericksburg in Gillespie County Court is a special condemnation board's $82,500 award to Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sweeney for their 34 acres immediately across Ranch Road 1 from the LBJ Ranch.

The state contends the award was too high. The Sweeneys placed a still higher value on their property.

Odom said he hopes the park can be opened before the end of 1967. He said that no plans could be drawn, however, until all the land has been acquired. Part of the land already bought for the park includes 34 acres leased by Texas Broadcasting Co., owned by President Johnson's family business interests. The $325 a year lease agreement with Ernest High-tower was extended on Oct. 25, 1965, to Dec. 31, 1967. The land is across the road from the Johnson ranch.

Gillespie County Clerk Felix Scherer said he saw nothing in the deed conveying the High-tower land to the state to indicate the lease would continue after the land was added to the park.

"I did not know the lease was outstanding," Odom said.

The property still has an "LBJ Ranch" sign on it and whitefaced Herefords — the breed of cattle raised by the ranch—have been observed recently grazing on the land.

LETTER

Asks Help For Needy

To the Editor:

My organization, political in nature, is going to take time out from politics this Christmas to engage in the true Christmas spirit of giving. We plan to gather some canned goods, buy a ham or turkey and a few cartons of milk, and present this to a needy family as a Christmas gift. It's only one family, but next year, if our organization is larger, we plan to help several.

I have heard of several other organizations that are doing the same, or a similar thing, but there may be some which, in the rush of the holiday season, have forgotten others who may have nothing at all that is "special" for Christmas.

I urge to action all other organizations of Big Spring who have overlooked this opportunity to help. What we give may only seem to be a little, but to some it is a great deal.

EYE-STRAIN CAN CAUSE HEADACHES

Authorities have reported that some headaches are due to eye-strain and caused by the excessive effort necessary to overcome existing visual disturbances. The effort of seeing with poor, uncorrected vision can lead to fatigue, irritability and upset nerves.

About sixty-five per cent have visual troubles. Few people over forty have perfect vision. It is wise to have an eye examination about every two years. When medication is indicated we can fill any prescription. After using any eye preparation it is important the container be immediately closed to prevent dangerous contamination.

Dog Shoots Man

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—Freddie Lee Tate, 20, got shot in the knee Thursday and he says his dog did it.

Tate says he was sitting in the front seat of his car with a .22 caliber rifle by his side when the dog jumped from the back seat to the front and stepped on the trigger.

Tate was treated at a Shreveport, La., hospital and released.

MAKE YOUR LETTERS SAIL, USE ZIP CODE ON YOUR MAIL

Use of the ZIP code can put zip in Christmas mail, Postmaster Frank Hardesty reminded today.

More than eight billion pieces of mail will be handled by the postal system during the holiday season, and anything that will expedite the movement will be welcomed.

The ZIP code cuts down on the number of times a piece of mail must be sorted before reaching its destination, thus speeding it and lowering costs.

Probably the easiest method of getting ZIP codes is to check return addresses on mail you receive. Just copy them in your address book. The post office, however, will assist you in obtaining proper ZIP codes.

Hardesty had one final plea — "whatsoever thou doest, do it early, please."

What was so great about Alexander?

In the 4th century B.C. in the northern Egyptian city bearing his name, Alexander of Macedon founded a storehouse for wisdom, art and skills from the past. It attracted scholars from the whole western world and while called a library, it was actually one of the world's first universities.

This contribution alone earns Alexander his title, "the Great."

Today, few of us can found a college, but most of us, through our gifts, can keep one going. This, too, is a great thing.

Give to the college of your choice.

FACILITY WILL HANDLE BIG PLANES, THOUSANDS OF PEOPLE

Dallas-Fort Worth Plan Big For Airport

EDITOR'S NOTE: A fantastic airport of the future, an ultramodern facility able to handle the supersonic transports and giant jets of the 1970s. This is what Dallas-Fort Worth planners and civic leaders are pushing for a constitutional amendment to speed the project along. Here's what the experts say about the aviation wonder.

By MIKE COCHRAN
GRAPEVINE, Tex. (AP)—The year is 1972, and the huge jet sweeps low across the metropolitan maze and drops onto a runway two and a half miles long.

Perhaps 500 people pour from the plane as it halts at one of 100 gate positions along the two-mile terminal complex.

A "people mover" sweeps them through the terminal to a luggage counter, where almost instantly they claim 1,000 pieces of luggage.

Some linger in a vast array of fine restaurants, shops and lounges but most climb into 300 or 400 cars and taxis, then speed away on the top level of a three-level roadway system.

WORLD'S LARGEST
 Twenty minutes to the east is Dallas, 20 minutes to the west is Fort Worth. It is hard to tell where one city stops and the other begins.

This is the proposed North Texas regional airport, six years and $250 million from now, the largest and safest airport in the world.

About 100,000 people would shuffle in and out of the airport each day.

Between 16,000 and 25,000 employees would go to work at the huge air center daily. Millions of dollars would exchange hands each year.

Financial experts predict the facility would take in $21.5 million in 1973, its first full year of operation, and $30.2 million by 1980.

MONEY MAKER
 As envisioned, the airport would be a moneymaker that would pay for itself. The $216.7 million required for construction would come in revenue bonds, paid off by the year 2000.

"The revenue would make improbable any burdensome tax for the airport," contend proponents, and there are many.

The ambitious venture, still in the planning stage, already has accomplished what once seemed impossible. It ended much bitter rivalry between Dallas and Fort Worth.

"When I look back and see the progress that has been made in the past several years, it is truly incredible," said Ross Newmann, a Civil Aeronautics Board examiner.

NOW TOGETHER
 "I remember when I came down here to hold public hearings in the airport investigation of 1963, I couldn't even get the two cities together to agree on a joint site for the hearing.

"And look at them now! They are pulling together, side by side, in an enterprise that is going to produce the greatest airport this country has ever seen."

At the rate things are progressing, I predict that this great North Texas area will soon become one of the top traffic producing areas of the world.

With 18,000 to 20,000 acres, the airport would have nearly twice the territory of Dulles Airport in Washington, now the nation's largest.

By comparison, Great Southwest Airport in Fort Worth covers only 1,600 acres. Love Field in Dallas is packed into 1,200 acres.

Leaders of the two cities retained a New York consultant, and were told:

TRAFFIC
 "Every bit of planning on a facility of this type ultimately goes back to traffic projection. This is the starting point of everything we do."

The firm estimated 19 million passengers would flow in and out of the airport annually by 1985. Several months later the projected figure was 21 million.

Henry Newman, Southwestern director of the Federal Aviation Agency, said:

"The potential of the airport is almost staggering."

The 18,000-acre area is necessary, planners say, to provide at least minimum noise protection.

"The noise can be controlled really in only one way," Walter Prokosch, the New York consultant, said, "and that's by having a lot of room around the airport."

SIX RUNWAYS
 He said this is particularly important in the lanes that the aircraft use for landing and takeoff. Traffic forecasts indicate an initial requirement of four runways, and ultimate need of six.

"These runways," Prokosch said, "are intended to be 11,000 feet long to begin with in the primary north-south direction, but ultimate expansion of capability to 14,000 feet."

This new concept in airport design, it was noted, is necessary to meet the demands of the super aircraft which will, in the near future roll off the production lines.

"Giant jets and supersonic transports require giant facilities and supersonic airports," said Harding Lawrence, president of Braniff Airways.

BIGGER AND BIGGER
 "We are already feeling the need for hangars as big as football fields, for maintenance facilities and for engines not yet built, for training buildings, for terminals to handle the passengers of this supersonic age."

Already many of the nation's busiest and finest airports have discovered severe shortcomings and face staggering expansion costs.

One key example, Newman said, is Los Angeles, which needs a new runway.

"And to get that runway they need to go into residential areas where they estimate the cost in the neighborhood of $250,000 an acre."

American Airlines Chairman C. R. Smith said the position here is unique in creating an airport.

"We haven't any built-in concepts about the new airfield," he said. "We can do whatever is required because the planning isn't completed and the construction hasn't started."

And, noted Prokosch:

"All of the designs and actual details of levels of runways and so forth are being done with the projection in mind of ultimate capability of landing in zero weather conditions."

The terminal concept calls for a two mile long, slender building, several hundred feet wide and lined with shops and restaurants.

Prokosch said the concept of a central terminal is outmoded, creates bottlenecks and delays rapid movement of passengers and baggage from one airline to another.

"The whole terminal is a central building in effect, and each part of it is just as important as any other," he said. "We hope to have no long fingers, no long walking distances."

Prokosch said he has a small task force working on a device for swift movement of people and luggage—the "people mover," he calls it.

"We don't know of anything on the market now which satisfies this problem," he said.

Civic leaders of the two cities labored successfully for passage of a constitutional amendment to clear the way for creation of a bicounty or regional airport authority.

Newspapers In Italy Closed By Strikes

ROME (AP)—The chaos caused by a nationwide urban transport strike cleared Saturday and a few Italian newspapers emerged from a shutdown caused by striking journalists.

But most of the country's newspapers remained closed by a 48-hour journalist walkout called to back up contract demands for higher pay and a shorter work week.

The newspaper strike began at 6 a.m. Friday. In Rome today the city's biggest daily, Il Messaggero, hit the street anyway, followed by another morning paper, Il Tempo, the pro-Communist afternoon paper Paese Sera and the independent Giornale D'Italia.

Paese Sera insisted in a front-page editorial that it fully backed the strikers but felt compelled to publish because breaks in the strike front allowed other Rome dailies to appear.

The transport workers also struck for higher pay. Their walkout made the usual daily traffic chaos in Italy's large cities even worse, with Italians who normally take the bus or trolley switching to cars and trucks.

"Giant jets and supersonic transports require giant facilities and supersonic airports," said Harding Lawrence, president of Braniff Airways.

BIGGER AND BIGGER
 "We are already feeling the need for hangars as big as football fields, for maintenance facilities and for engines not yet built, for training buildings, for terminals to handle the passengers of this supersonic age."

Already many of the nation's busiest and finest airports have discovered severe shortcomings and face staggering expansion costs.

One key example, Newman said, is Los Angeles, which needs a new runway.

"And to get that runway they need to go into residential areas where they estimate the cost in the neighborhood of $250,000 an acre."

American Airlines Chairman C. R. Smith said the position here is unique in creating an airport.

"We haven't any built-in concepts about the new airfield," he said. "We can do whatever is required because the planning isn't completed and the construction hasn't started."

And, noted Prokosch:

"All of the designs and actual details of levels of runways and so forth are being done with the projection in mind of ultimate capability of landing in zero weather conditions."

The terminal concept calls for a two mile long, slender building, several hundred feet wide and lined with shops and restaurants.

Prokosch said the concept of a central terminal is outmoded, creates bottlenecks and delays rapid movement of passengers and baggage from one airline to another.

"The whole terminal is a central building in effect, and each part of it is just as important as any other," he said. "We hope to have no long fingers, no long walking distances."

Prokosch said he has a small task force working on a device for swift movement of people and luggage—the "people mover," he calls it.

"We don't know of anything on the market now which satisfies this problem," he said.

Civic leaders of the two cities labored successfully for passage of a constitutional amendment to clear the way for creation of a bicounty or regional airport authority.

Cosden

Cosden proudly salutes another of its 'SENIORS'

ROBERT BOADLE

Robert Boadle came to Cosden on October 24, 1951. From the yard he moved to the crude unit as helper, and it was his privilege to help bring on stream the BTX and paraxylene units. He also had experience at the alkyl unit and the cat cracker.

With the company's blessing he transferred his HCJC credits to the University of Texas in September 1956, and for 2 1/2 years around the calendar he pursued a course of study. Upon earning the BS degree in chemical engineering, he returned to Cosden as an engineer in the technical group. As senior process engineer, he is concerned with process design and troubleshooting. His work in Cosden's licensing program, from process design through startup and performance tests, has carried him on assignments as far away as Italy.

A native of Big Spring, Boadle spent three years in the Army during the period of the Korean conflict. It was while he was stationed in New York that he met Cynthia Anderson of Brattleboro, Vermont. They were married on April 7, 1951. That autumn he was discharged as a sergeant and six weeks later he joined Cosden.

Three daughters are the major interests of the Boadles. There's Martha, 14, who is a ninth grader at Goliad. Mona, 13, is a seventh grader at Goliad, and Marie, 11, attends sixth grade at Kentwood. Their residence at 2505 Fisher is literally due to the carpentry skill of Boadle and two friends.

Woodworking is another of his hobbies, and the sometimes fisherman enjoys deer hunting. The whole family likes camping, and they count on a week in the mountains of Colorado each year. Mrs. Boadle sews for herself and the children, and is a volunteer at the Rehabilitation Center.

A registered professional engineer in Texas, Boadle is affiliated with the Texas Society of Professional Engineers, the American Chemical Society and the Optimists. For the past year he has been secretary-treasurer of the Permian Section, American Institute of Chemical Engineers.

The Boadles are members of St. Thomas Catholic Church.

NEW PLANE BASED AT HOWARD COUNTY PORT B. G. Weaver, Bob Wash and Charles Wash WINGS

High Winds Slow Airport Activity

Two days of high winds and heavy dust discouraged much activity at the Howard County Airport during the week. Despite the inclement weather, some club flyers put some extra time on their log books on clearer days.

Only 15 transient pilots ventured through here during the week.

Big Spring Aircraft made four ambulance trips during the week, with Howard Loyd flying to Memphis, Tenn., Kansas City, Mo., and Dallas, and Ken Bates made the other trip to Dallas. In addition, the firm's airplanes were kept aloft much of the week, by Charlene Smith, Bob Herring, Harvey Adams (4), Tidwell, Mike Craddock, Warren Shulte, and Don Loyd.

Big Spring Flying Club planes were not quite so active, with flights listed by Ronnie Howard (2), Mrs. Charles Neefe (2), and Parker.

Howard County Flying Club reported both planes revving up frequently, flown by the Rev. Byron Orand (4), Al Hopson, Joe Herbert, Joe Dawes and Roy Caddell, Sam Dennis on a cross country, Keith Swim is due back on a cross country today, and Bates flew with Herbert to Amarillo on a cross country.

Texas Trade Shows A Drop

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas business activity dropped five per cent from September to October, with only four of 20 cities checked showing an increase, a University of Texas statistician said Saturday.

Moving up on the business barometer were Waco, 22 per cent, Corsicana, 10, and Beaumont and Tyler, each three per cent ahead of the previous month.

The state's four largest cities all showed declines: Fort Worth four per cent, San Antonio three, Houston two, and Dallas one per cent.

Although the statewide business decline was the second consecutive monthly decrease the seasonally adjusted index of 168.7 per cent was still the highest October figure in history and 10 per cent above October 1965.

This was reported by Dr. Francis B. May, consulting statistician for the Bureau of Business Research at the university.

May said "High wages, full employment of human and material resources, and inflation characterize the economies of Texas and the nation. "If the war intensifies, these characteristics... will intensify. Inflation will be contained only by strong fiscal restraints."

The other 12 Texas cities surveyed for business activity and their percentage of business decline in October from September:

Amarillo two per cent, Abilene seven, Austin three, Corpus Christi two, El Paso 12, Galveston 11, Laredo three, Lubbock 16, Port Arthur seven, San Angelo two, Texarkana three and Wichita Falls three.

The Lads Were A Bit Hasty

ASHLAND, Va. (AP) — Informed by Randolph-Macon College that their aged fraternity house was destined for destruction over the Christmas holidays, the men of Lambda Chi Alpha decided to strike the first blows themselves.

With bottle-throwing, hammer-wielding joy they broke windows and rammed gaping holes through the walls.

Meanwhile, plans to place a new dormitory on the Lambda Chi Alpha plot hit a snag, and college officials decided to leave the fraternity house standing "until further consultation."

Then they saw the wreckage. The official term for the chapter's status with the administration now is "social probation."

Dean of men Ira L. Andrews said, "It was a spontaneous outburst of exuberance — but unfortunately ill-timed."

Accused Pair Held Under Bond

TYLER (AP) — Two ex-convicts accused of a Hawkins, Tex., post office burglary were held Saturday in lieu of $10,000 bond each.

Officers arrested James E. Winn, 28, and Carlier Davis, 32, both of Dallas, Thursday night near the Hawkins post office.

Both were released from the state prison at Huntsville less than two weeks ago, authorities said.

American Held By Reds Gets To Talk Case

MOSCOW (AP) — A young American held in Leningrad on Soviet charges of theft and currency violation has discussed his case for the first time with a U.S. Embassy official, an embassy spokesman said Saturday.

The spokesman said Ray Buel Wortham, 25, of North Little Rock, Ark., met for 30 minutes Friday with Harlan G. Moen, the U.S. Embassy consul.

It was Moen's sixth meeting with Wortham since the Soviets arrested him Oct. 1, but in the five other meetings Soviet authorities refused to let Moen discuss the case with Wortham.

In Soviet practice, visits to a prisoner in jail are held in the presence of at least two prison officials who can break off the meeting if instructions are violated.

The embassy spokesman refused to disclose what either Moen or Wortham said about the case, Wortham was reported to be in good health.

Wortham and Craddock M. Gilmour Jr., 25, of Salt Lake City, Utah, face trial in Leningrad City Court Dec. 19 on charges of illegally changing about $70.

Gilmour, released on bail, is awaiting trial in Moscow.

Wortham also is charged with stealing a statue of an antique bear from a Leningrad hotel. He has been refused bail.

The currency violation charge carries a sentence of up to eight years on conviction and the theft charge a sentence of up to three years.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A picture showing almost the entire disc of the earth, taken from a height of 23,000 miles, was made public Saturday by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The photo was taken Friday by the new Application Technology Satellite —ATS— launched Tuesday night from Cape Kennedy, Fla., and transmitted to earth.

The satellite is moving toward a seemingly stationary position over the Pacific Ocean, and most of the picture is of that body of water, much of it covered with clouds.

Land areas which NASA identified in the picture include the southern portion of North America and Central America, and a section of the coast of Chile.

Teacher Leads Pupils To Safety As Ceiling Falls

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — An ominous noise overhead diverted Claudine Black's attention from her third-grade class at Linden School.

Looking up, the teacher saw the ceiling beginning to sag. With the calmness she used in many routine fire drills, Mrs. Black quickly ushered her 25 pupils from the room.

The last child was barely through the door Friday when more than a ton of plaster, acoustical tile and wire lath crashed onto the desks where the youngsters had been sitting.

Outside, Mrs. Black discovered 9-year-old Rhonda Bush was missing. The teacher's first thought was the child might be trapped in the rubble. Then she recalled the girl had been in a small room off the classroom, getting writing paper.

Shouting to Rhonda to remain where she was, Mrs. Black groped her way through un-shed dust, climbed over the rubble, and led the girl to safety.

"That teacher's calmness prevented any of those children's injury," said Principal Edward Meyers. "They got out safely, but not by much."

"Those children were under control every minute," Mrs. Black said. "It was like our fire drills. There was no panic."

Berliners March For Free Vietnam

BERLIN (AP) — Small groups broke off from a main body of demonstrators against the war in Vietnam Saturday and ran through downtown West Berlin streets yelling, "Join us, freedom for Vietnam."

Police on foot, in squad cars and on motorcycles moved up and down streets trying to move the groups back along a prescribed route of march.

Some of the pickets, most of them students and young workers, were put into police wagons.

The demonstration, with a rally in a downtown square, was sponsored by leftist youth groups. About 800 persons were estimated to have taken part.

Cancer Group Gives Smokers A Warning

WASHINGTON (AP)—A warning that the rapid rise in lung cancer cases and deaths may offset progress being made in control of other types of cancer was sounded Saturday night by the National Advisory Cancer Council.

"The National Advisory Cancer Council strongly recommends that more active steps be taken in calling public attention to the enormous man-made epidemic of lung cancer now extant in this country as a result of cigarette smoking," the council said.

"Abstinence from smoking affords the best protection against lung cancer at present," the council asserted.

Other, the first comprehensive report prepared by the council since it was established in 1937 says that although cancer is still on the increase in this country, more people are being cured than ever because of advances in medical science.

The U.S. Public Health Service released the report on the status and promise of cancer research and control.

"Cancer is on the increase, yet more people are being cured of it than ever before.

"Research has greatly expanded knowledge of the malignant process, yet the inception of cancer remains a mystery.

"In such a climate of paradox, assessment of progress calls for the delineation of net gains through advances in many different fields of scientific investigation, in professional education and training, in medical practice, and in public health and public education.

"Where progress lags in any of these areas, valuable ground is given up and the goal of ultimate conquest of cancer recedes farther into the shadow of doubt."

Describing the report as both authoritative and timely, Surgeon General William H. Stewart said: "At a time when conflicting claims and counter-claims about the treatment or cure of cancer are being given wide circulation there is need for an authoritative statement on which physicians, scientists and the general public may rely.

"I am sure that this report by the nation's top advisory body on cancer will admirably serve that purpose."

The report shows that 30 years ago there were 144,774 cancer deaths in this country, a death rate of 112.4 per 100,000 population. But it adds that the death rate for 1967 is expected to rise to 153 per 100,000, when an estimated 305,000 deaths will occur from cancer.

The cure rate, on the other hand, has improved since 1937 from less than one in four cancer patients surviving five years without evidence of the disease to a current rate of about 35 per cent.

Speaking of H.C.J.C., the retirement of Mrs. Johnnie Amos as an instructor in vocational nursing should be mentioned. She founded the course and taught for eight years. Well over 100 women have been added to nursing service as a result of her labors. Thus the shadow of a good nurse is lengthened.

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, meeting here last week, approved a policy statement (on the eve of a hearing) that San Angelo's application for local sponsorship of a dam at Stacy (below the Concho confluence with the Colorado River, is premature. Youth Parades In Germany Against U.S.

BERLIN (AP)—About 800 German youths, including a son of Vice Chancellor Willy Brandt, demonstrated in Berlin streets Saturday with songs, shouts and placards against the war in Vietnam.

Some who broke off from the prescribed route of march in an effort to recruit passers-by landed in police trucks.

Leftist youth groups sponsored the demonstration, with a rally in a downtown square, of students and young workers.

"Join us, freedom for Vietnam!" they shouted.

Among signs they carried were: "Americans Out of Vietnam," "God Created the Beginning, Johnson Created the End," "Stop Bombing North Vietnam," "Negotiate with the Viet Cong."

The Brandt family marcher was Peter Brandt, 18. His father, the former mayor of West Berlin, is foreign minister as well as deputy chancellor in the new West German government formed in Bonn on Dec. 1. The elder Brandt heads the Social Democrat party.

He was born March 31, 1887, in Germany and lived in Dawson County since 1925 as a farmer.

Rites will be said in the Grace Lutheran Church, with Rev. Douglas Robbins, officiating. Branon-Phillips Funeral Home will handle arrangements in the Spangenberg cemetery.

Base Report Boosts UF

Another sizable report from Webb AFB pushed the Howard County United Fund up a notch Saturday.

The total for the fund now stands at $103,830.57, which is more than ever given before on a regular campaign, is approximately 25 per cent short of the goal.

Reports through Friday showed an addition of $1,847.53. Included were $25 from out-of-town sources, $25 special gifts, $221.14 for the employees division, $1,396.89 from Webb, $40 from metropolitan, and $139.50 from area gifts.

The Web report pushed total contributions from the base to $12,583.12, or 13 per cent of the total so far raised.

UF officials said that the area gifts were just now beginning. In addition, there still remains a sizable amount of cleanup work on uncontacted cards.

Bulbs Could Be Dangerous

Someone may be stealing the light bulbs from the Christmas decorations downtown and they may be getting more than they bargained for, according to Carroll Davidson, Chamber of Commerce manager.

The Grady Henley Decorators of Lubbock were in the city most of last week checking on the decorations, due to the heavy winds that could have damaged the festive wreaths. Davidson said the crews discovered more than a dozen bulbs missing, and there was no evidence the bulbs may have fallen out or otherwise accidentally broken.

GIVE CHURCH THEIR BABY DOLL Girls Replace Stolen Infant

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP)—Two Catholic sisters gave their baby doll Saturday to replace a Christ child stolen from a Protestant church Nativity scene.

They thought up the idea themselves, and carried the doll in a brown paper bag to the pastor, a complete stranger.

"I'm really glad they were thoughtful enough to do it," said Mrs. Delmar Strutt of suburban Swissvale, mother of the girls, Marilyn, 10, and Mary Jane, 8.

What prompted them to give away their doll? Mary Jane, without hesitation, said: "Because they didn't have one."

The Christ child was stolen earlier this week from a Nativity scene outside Trinity Lutheran church in Swissvale.

The pastor, the Rev. George W.E. Nickelsburg, decided not to replace it. Instead, in its place he put a sign reading,

"The babe was stolen." Commenting on the girls' gift, the Rev. Mr. Nickelsburg said: "It was completely unthoughtful. I didn't even know the children before. I think it's illustrative of the fact that the Savior belongs not to one person but to all people."

Mrs. Strutt said: "The girls said something to me about it, but I was busy and wasn't listening. You know how kids are. I didn't pay attention but said, 'Okay, go ahead.'"

Navy Pilot Flies Back After Losing An Arm

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—When the 57mm antiaircraft shell burst close to the A4 Skyhawk, Cmdr. Wynne F. Foster heard "a loud bang and whoosh!"

"I felt a stinging sensation in my right elbow," he recalled Saturday in a naval publication.

I realized I had been hit and looked down at my right arm. The arm was missing from the elbow down and half my right forearm was lying on the starboard—right—console.

The story of Foster's reaction and subsequent survival is one of the most remarkable to come out of the war in Vietnam.

It occurred in July and was told for the first time Saturday in Approach, a monthly safety review published by the Naval Aviation Safety Center at the Norfolk Naval Air Station.

Lt. Cmdr. J.B. McDaniel, the publication's managing editor, said Foster wrote it to give hope to other American pilots in Vietnam faced with desperate situations.

Serving as an enlisted man in World War II, Foster re-entered the Navy in 1949 and flew 75 combat missions in Korea. Now he's being refitted with an artificial arm at Oakland, Calif., Naval Hospital.

Right after the flak burst, Foster recalled, "I had a hard time convincing myself that most of my right arm was missing, but when I tried to move the stick I was convinced. I took the stick with my left hand and started to head the aircraft back to sea."

He radioed his wingman but had been hit, broadcast a distress call and eased down "the nose of his plane to hold flying speed—most of the canopy had been blown away."

"The cockpit was quite a mess with flesh and blood splattered over the windshield and instrument panel. My arm didn't hurt but I was bleeding quite badly."

Foster thought he would pass out before he could fly back to his carrier, so he headed for the nearest "friendly"—a destroyer 30 miles seaward. He radioed for medical attention, and soon spotted the destroyer.

"Since I was feeling quite woozy and began to experience 'tunnel vision,' I decided to eject. I made sure my heels were on the deck, sat straight up and pulled the curtain with my left hand."

His parachute opened and he was floating toward the sea.

"The view was beautiful—blue ocean, white clouds and the destroyer was below. The war seemed a million miles away."

Store To Close Sundays, Ministers Won't Picket

HOUSTON (AP)—The management of a new Globe store in suburban Pasadena announced Saturday that the store would not open for business Sunday.

Earlier Saturday, some 30 ministers, businessmen and civic leaders met and decided that it would be premature to picket Sunday in their fight against sabbath shopping.

Forty ministers with congregations totaling 12,000 persons had pledged Friday to read a pulpit exhortation against sabbath shopping at their services Sunday.

The new Globe store already had announced plans to stay closed on Sundays in January and to let policy after that be determined by the company's directors at a meeting in Chicago.

The store spokesman said Saturday, "The store will not be open for Sunday business, even though general merchandise firms in the area are remaining open."

"We sincerely hope that other general merchandise stores and retailers in Pasadena and South Houston will follow our lead and remain closed this Sunday."

"It was never the original intention to have the Globe store open on Sunday," he added.

"The situation was forced when other retailers in the area opened for Sunday business recently."

The Globe spokesman declined to comment whether the store would reopen on Sundays if other stores failed to follow the lead.

The Pasadena Ministerial Alliance and Chamber of Commerce asked the City Council for a blue law against Sunday shopping last week, but were turned down.

WHOLESALE FOOD PRICES DECLINE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Labor Department says its wholesale price index, which sometimes signals the trend of retail prices, dropped last month for the second straight month.

The department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said Friday the November index dropped three-tenths of one per cent to 105.9 of its 1957-59 average. This means it cost $105.90 last month to purchase wholesale items worth $100 in the 1957-59 period.

The index declined six-tenths of one per cent in October.

George Huckabee, charged with DWI second offense, has entered a guilty plea to the charge in 118th District Court. Judge Ralph Caton fined him $250 and sentenced him to a year in the county jail. The jail sentence was probated on good behavior.

JACKIE'S SISTER TO BE ON STAGE

CHICAGO (AP)—Princess Lee Radziwill, the younger sister of Jacqueline Kennedy, will make her stage debut at a North Side Chicago theater next summer.

A spokesman for the Ivahoe Theater said Friday that Princess Radziwill will appear in "The Philadelphia Story" June 20 to July 16.

The spokesman said she has no acting experience, but has been studying drama.

U.N. Africans Fidgeting For Overthrow Of Rhodesians

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Africans were reported Saturday to be drafting a proposal that the U.N. Security Council deplore Britain's refusal to use force for the overthrow of Rhodesia's rebel white-minority regime.

Diplomatic sources said that provision was among the African proposals drawn up for submission Monday as amendments to a pending British resolution that calls for a mandatory boycott of selected Rhodesian exports to end the 13-month rebellion.

Introducing the resolution Thursday, British Foreign Secretary George Brown said Britain would not oppose an acceptable amendment to include oil in the mandatory sanctions. But he warned against letting the situation "develop into a confrontation—economic or military—involving the whole of southern Africa."

His warning was taken to reflect Britain's fear of getting involved with the Rhodesians' neighbors, the Portuguese in Mozambique and the South Africans, and especially of having to break off the billion-dollar-a-year British trade with South Africa—a move that almost certainly would undermine the pound sterling.

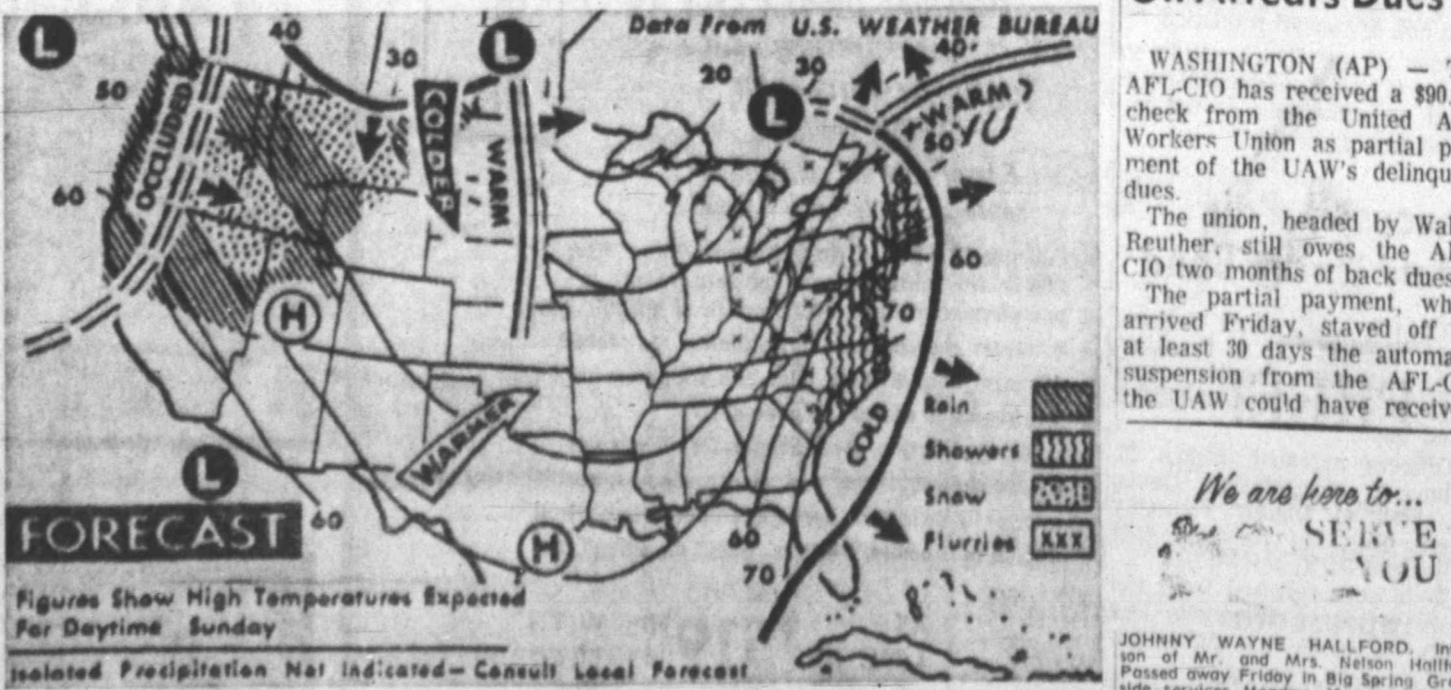

The British resolution would have the 15-nation council decide that all U.N. members "shall prevent" the import into their territories of Rhodesian asbestos, iron ore, chrome, pig iron, sugar, tobacco, copper, meat, meat products, hides, skins and leather.

It also says U.N. members shall prevent their nationals from shipping arms, ammunition, warplanes, military vehicles and the like to Rhodesia. It urges nonmembers to impose the same sanctions.

Smith Doesn't Anticipate Change In State Senate

By GARTH JONES
AUSTIN (AP) — Lt. Gov. Preston Smith sees the new Texas Senate — the first one based on one-man, one-vote redistricting — pretty much like the state senates of old.

"The new senators will be responsive to the people just like always," Smith said in an interview, "and they will not want to put any added burden on their people."

RELUCTANT

They'll want to provide the services that people want but they will be reluctant to tax. When the 60th Legislature meets Smith will begin serving his third term as lieutenant governor and presiding officer of the 31-member upper house. Previously he served three House terms and three Senate terms from his Lubbock district.

Some sources have predicted the 1967 Senate will be more "liberal" than any in previous years, principally because of redistricting which gives the big city counties more representation. Smith has said he counts only six "real liberals," nine "die-hard conservatives," and 16 middle-of-the-road senators.

RURAL

"In previous years we have had a predominantly rural Senate," he said, "but they worked with the senators from the cities. In my opinion you will see very little difference this time. There may be a lot of talk but the city and rural folk will work together."

The lieutenant governor says there is no doubt in his mind about the prime issues—"spending and taxing." "Frankly I am of the opinion that if we have the kind of surplus that is predicted we might be able to get by without a tax bill if we hold down on a lot of new spending," Smith said.

ADJUSTED

The state comptroller has made a tentative estimate of the expected surplus at the beginning of the next fiscal period, Sept. 1, 1967, at between $143 million and $215 million. The estimate will be adjusted monthly according to economic conditions, particularly sales tax collections.

"We will just have to wait and see how the situation develops. You can see there is a lot of difference between a $143 million and a $215 million surplus and that difference is what counts," he said.

Smith said he has "no definite feelings now" where additional revenue should come from if new taxes are needed. "On spending, I do think some sort of salary raise for our state employees should be the first priority."

OTHER BIDS

And on other spending requests:

Teachers pay raises — "If you judge the present by the past the school people usually get something of what they ask for. Their arguments are pretty convincing."

Permissive city sales taxes — "The legislature has to give cities some relief... but as to the type I want to wait and see what the governor recommends."

College tuition raises — "They are being discussed but they will be real difficult to pass in the senate."

Constitutional revision — "There are a lot of questions there... there is little reason to expect the next attempt to rewrite the constitution will not meet with the determined opposition of earlier efforts."

Annual sessions — "Unless there are a lot more arguments than I have heard I doubt if the people will support this due to the fact the governor can call a special session now at any time."

LITTLE NEED

Limiting conference committees strictly to adjustment of difference between the two houses on spending — "I see little need for any change. The present rules say they may meet to adjust any differences and if any senator or representative thinks the committee exceeded its authority he can raise a point of order. This has been sustained in our national Congress and should hold here too... I do say, as I have said before, that conference committee sessions should be open to the press."

Smith says he sees no need, at the present time, for a special session in addition to the regular 140-day session, as some observers have predicted.

IOCC MEETING

New Estimate Due Of Oil Reserves

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Oil conservationists from 33 states are to receive a new estimate of the nation's petroleum reserves next week.

A revised procedure for estimating proved reserves will be a major item for discussion at the annual meeting of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission. About 500 industry representatives and federal and state officials are to participate. In the discussions by the interstate body established by Congress in 1935 to serve as a forum on oil and gas conservation matters. The three-day meeting opens Monday.

Crude oil production trends, oil imports, production of petroleum from oil shale, and incentives aimed at stimulating the search for new oil reserves also will be discussed.

Heading the state delegations will be four governors. They are Gov. Henry Bellman, R-Okla., the compact's chairman and Govs. Samuel P. Goodard, D-Ariz., Tim M. Babcock, R-Mont., and Jack M. Campbell, D-N.M. Governors-elect Winthrop Rockefeller, R-Ark., and Robert Docking, D-Kan., also have indicated they may attend.

Two speakers are expected to ask the commission to accept major assignments in a new campaign to modernize and standardize the petroleum industry's statistical reports.

The American Petroleum Institute launched the campaign after several federal agencies indicated they might start their own programs on petroleum statistics.

The need for such information will be discussed Tuesday by Rear Adm. Onnie P. Lattu, director of the Interior Department's Office of Oil and Gas, and Robert C. Guess, president of Standard Oil Co. (Indiana) and chairman of the institute's committee on statistics.

Guess announced in November the institute's procedures for estimating recoverable crude oil reserves will be overhauled drastically, effective with the 1966 report to be released next spring.

Guess said, however, his committee has found there is little uniformity among states in gathering and reporting petroleum statistics. He is expected to elaborate Tuesday on this phase of the problem.

The new estimate of the nation's petroleum reserves will be made Monday by Paul D. Torrey, an Austin, Tex., petroleum engineer and geologist.

Torrey's report, in addition to estimating primary reserves recoverable through conventional methods, also will estimate reserves that can be produced through secondary recovery methods. It is in the area of secondary procedures that the institute plans to expand its definition of recoverable reserves.

The nation's proved crude reserves as of last Dec. 31 were estimated by the institute at $1.3 billion barrels. A broader definition of secondary reserves would have boosted this figure considerably.

Airmen Hurt In Collision

One airman received a fractured leg and another severe abrasions as the result of a motor scooter mishap at the intersection of Madison and Airport Road late Friday afternoon.

Airman 2.C. Robert C. Davies and Airman 2.C. Thomas W. Trautman, both of the 3560th USAF Hospital unit at Webb AFB, were riding the cycle that collided with a car driven by Ted Eugene Gartman, Sweetwater.

The servicemen were taken to the Webb hospital in a base ambulance. Airman Davies had multiple fractures on his right leg and was evacuated by air to Wilford Hall Hospital at Lackland AFB. Airman Trautman was treated for abrasions and was reported in satisfactory condition Saturday.

A three-year-old girl, Gloria Galan, received a cut lip in a mishap at Sycamore and Rosemont late Friday. She was a passenger in the car of Felix Galan Jr., 1204 Mulberry, which collided with a car driven by Norman Hughey, 1218 Mulberry.

Two other minor mishaps were reported. David G. Bradford, 2602 Carol, and Amelia Aguilar, 1210 W. 2nd, crashed at FM 700 and Birdwell Lane. Arthur B. Valdez, 1307 Lancaster, and the parked trailer of I. G. Hudson, 1412 11th Place, were involved in a collision.

WHITE CHRISTMAS MAY BE WHAT YOU MOSTLY DREAM

A "White Christmas" for Big Spring? The chances of such a development are remote. In fact, nearly any professional gambler would give long odds if anyone wanted to bet on the prospect.

Oldtimers agree there have been but two Christmases justly entitled to the designation of being "white." The books show there was a 6-inch snow on the ground on Dec. 25, 1939 — the all time high for the day — and a scanty inch of snow and sleet in evidence on Christmas in 1943.

Way back in 1909, it snowed on Dec. 18 and the weather notes indicate a few traces still were in evidence a week later. Snows also fell ahead of Christmas in 1918, and again in 1920. In 1911, there was a sifting of white on hand.

For the first 28 years that weather records were kept in Big Spring, the books show the community had 22 "clear" Christmases. The skies were cloudy in 1904, 1906, 1914, and 1917. Partly cloudy was the report for Christmas day in 1902, 1923 and 1927. But some of the clear days were frigid ones.

Traffic Crash Takes 3 Lives

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Three persons died Friday night in a collision of two cars, one of which had been in another accident moments before. The dead were Abe Jones of Belton and two Ft. Hood soldiers. Carolyn Hester, a prominent Texas folk singer, and three other persons were injured. One was Tommy Ray Williams, 28, of Belton, riding with Jones. The others were Ft. Hood soldiers, Joe Marz, 19, and Dale Kock, 20, in the car with Weaver and Friers. Officers said the Belton car in which Jones and Williams rode and another which Miss Hester and her father, of Waco, occupied collided on Interstate 35 about six miles south of here. Officers said that soon afterwards, the Belton car, continuing on the highway, veered across the median and was in collision with the car occupied by the four Ft. Hood soldiers. Only Miss Hester, who suffered a whiplash, was hurt in the first accident. Williams was in critical condition at Waco. The soldiers were taken to a Ft. Hood hospital.

Soviet To Build Nuclear Reactors

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union will build two new nuclear reactors in the Ukraine, each for the dual purpose of generating electricity and desalting sea water, Tass announced Saturday.

The announcement by the official Soviet news agency did not say when work would start on the reactors or when they would be ready.

Tass said a canal 58 miles long would be built from the Azov Sea to pump salt water to the new nuclear plants in the Donbas industrial area of the Ukraine. The idea is to supply both a new source of electric power for industry and a new source of fresh water supply.

The Russians are building a fast atomic reactor at Fort Shevchenko, on the coast of the Caspian Sea, that can be used for both purposes. It is supposed to be ready by 1969. The cost of desalting water at this plant is expected to be about $1 per 1,000 gallons of water.

The United States is building a $434.7-million atomic-powered facility south of Los Angeles to go into operation by 1971. This plant is supposed to be capable of desalting 150 million gallons of water a day, enough for a city the size of San Francisco. The cost at the American plant is expected to be between 20 and 30 cents per 1,000 gallons of water, a competitive rate.

Tass said the two new plants in the Ukraine would be able to produce together more than 130 million gallons of desalted water a day and 26 million kilowatt hours of electric power a day.

Lake Pollution Is Averted

LINDAU, Germany (AP) — Contamination of Lake Constance, the largest drinking water reservoir in Europe, through an oil pipeline leak has been averted, Bavarian authorities reported Saturday.

The leak in the Genoa to Ingolstadt pipeline was discovered Friday 7 1/2 miles from the lake. The oil fed into a stream which would eventually have carried it to the lake had fire brigades not dammed the stream.

A leak on Nov. 14 had brought temporary closing of the controversial pipeline, which went into operation in September after years of opposition by Lake Constance communities. They feared contamination and required the installation of special safeguards which cost the builder, Italy's state-owned oil company, an extra $37.5 million.

Only Slightly Injured After 4-Story Fall

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — A four-story fall from a Charleston hotel window Saturday apparently caused only slight injury to Paul L. Selby Jr., Morgantown, dean of the West Virginia University College of Law.

Selby, 42, fell from the window of his seventh-floor Daniel Boone Hotel room shortly before 10 a.m. and landed four floors below on the roof of the adjoining Montgomery Ward store building.

Selby was not visibly injured but was admitted to a hospital for X-ray examination. Police said the former Ohio State University blocking back told them:

"My back's sore. I feel like I just finished playing a football game."

Selby was in Charleston to speak at a legal education seminar sponsored by the West Virginia Bar Association.

F. W. McCullough, association executive secretary treasurer, said Selby told him he needed some papers from his car and wanted to spot its location in the hotel parking lot to see how far he would have to walk. It was raining.

McCullough said Selby related that he fell as he tried to lift a screen so he could put his head out the window.

REPORTS J. EDGAR HOOVER

Wiretapping Had Approval Of The Attorney General

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Any wiretapping and electronic eavesdropping done by the Federal Bureau of Investigation was with the attorney general's approval, according to FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

Hoover's statements, in a letter to Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, were quoted in news stories Saturday by Clark Mollenhoff of the Des Moines Register and Minneapolis Tribune Washington bureau.

ON BOBBY In the letter to Gross, Hoover placed full responsibility for the wiretapping and eavesdropping on Robert F. Kennedy, then attorney general and now Democratic senator from New York. "Mr. Kennedy, during his term of office, exhibited great interest in pursuing such matters, and, while in different metropolitan areas, not only listened to the results of microphone surveillance but raised questions relative to obtaining better equipment," Hoover wrote to Gross.

Gross had written Hoover earlier in the week questioning whether the FBI had acted with authority from the attorney-general in a number of instances, including eavesdropping on several Las Vegas gambling figures and on Fred B. Black Jr., one of the business associates of Robert G. (Bobby) Baker, former secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority.

'CONTROLLED MANNER' Hoover said wiretapping and electronic microphone surveillance were "always handled in a sparing carefully controlled manner" by the FBI, but he added the use of these devices "was obviously increased at Mr. Kennedy's insistence while he was in office."

In Washington, a spokesman for the FBI, confirming the correspondence between Hoover and Gross, would only say: "The letter (Hoover's) speaks for itself."

AUTHORIZED In a brief filed last July with the U.S. Supreme Court, the Justice Department said it authorized the FBI to eavesdrop on Black's hotel suite in 1963, when Kennedy was attorney general.

President Johnson on June 30, 1965, issued a memorandum prohibiting agencies of the executive branch from tapping wires except in cases related to internal national security, and then only with approval of the attorney general.

Green Bay Hammers Baltimore, 14-6

BALTIMORE (AP) — Elijah Pitts, who toiled in the shadow of Paul Hornung for years, scored two big touchdowns for Green Bay Saturday in a 14-0 victory over the stubborn Baltimore Colts, clinching the Western Conference title in the National Football League.

It was the fifth conference crown for the Packers in eight years since Vince Lombardi came West to take over the coaching job. The grueling battle was fought in a rainstorm that soaked most of the sell-out crowd of 60,238 at Memorial Stadium and turned the field into a mudbath.

Baltimore, making a desperate thrust, reached deep into Packer territory in the final minutes, but John Unitas fumbled and Dave Robinson recovered for Green Bay on the Packer 11. Green Bay then ran out the clock.

Baltimore took a 10-7 lead into the final quarter on a one-yard touchdown plunge by Tony Loric and a 26-yard field goal by Lou Michaels in the second period.

Pitts had put the Packers out front in the first quarter on a 42-yard pass from Bart Starr following a key interception by Willie Wood of a Unitas pass.

Rising to the occasion with another display of their old blood and thunder football, Green Bay marched 80 yards for the winning score, eating up the clock in the final quarter.

A 28-yard pass play from Bratkovski to Pitts, who made most of the yardage with a fine run after the catch, got the drive going. Jim Taylor and Pitts slammed into the line and Bratkovski found the veteran Max McGee on a pass that took Green Bay to the four. Pitts went over on the second of two thrusts.

Hawks Win 3rd Place In Odessa Tourney

ODESSA — Howard County Junior College flashed a return to form, despite a weakness for getting into foul trouble, and defeated Cisco College, 97-80, here Saturday night to win third place in the Odessa Basketball tournament.

Odessa College won the tournament by defeating New Mexico JC of Hobbs in the finals, 111-84. NMJC was playing without its star scorer and playmaker, Charles Criss, however, who was injured and didn't even suit out.

Paris copped consolation laurels by topping St. Phillips. Jack Hosley and Leon Smith of HCJC were named to the all-tournament team, along with Hurd and Heskett, Odessa; and Criss and Elmer Singletary, NMJC.

Hosley counted 21 points and Smith 20 in the third place game for HCJC. Bill Sinches had one of his best games for the Hawks, bucketing 25 points.

The four teams switch the scene of their operations to Odessa the following evening, where HCJC takes on Dallas Baptist in the opener and Odessa trounces Jacksonville Baptist in the afterpiece.

The Hawks wind up their pre-Christmas play in a tournament at Tishomingo, Okla., Dec. 19-20-21.

Nicklaus, Palmer Florida Champs

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP)—Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer won the world's richest golf tournament as partners Saturday, smashing par by a record 32 strokes to win $50,000 in the PGA National Team Championship.

In their first win as teammates, Palmer and Nicklaus combined for rounds of 63, 66, 63 and 64 for a 256, three strokes better than the score of Gay Brewer and Butch Baird in last year's inaugural.

Doug Sanders and Al Besse-link finished behind Palmer and Nicklaus with a 259 total. Ray Floyd and Billy Maxwell took third with 262.

The teams of Dave Hill and Charles Sifford, Tommy Aaron and Jack rule finished tied for fourth with 264.

Nine strokes back at 265 were Bert Yancey and Dudley Wyszong.

Palmer's $25,000 share of the purse gives him a record in total (official and unofficial) earnings for one season on the U.S. tour. He has collected $154,692 in both official and unofficial

Steers Win Snyder Cage Tournament

SNYDER — Big Spring won its tenth cage contest and captured championship honors in the Canyon Reef Basketball tournament for the second year in a row by topping the host school in the Saturday night finals, 67-59.

The Longhorns, who have lost only twice this season, returned to play at home Tuesday night, at which time they opposed Seminoles.

Big Spring's biggest lead of the game was 13 points. The Steers set the pace all the way, however. They hit 35 per cent of their shots from the court.

Brownwood won third place by defeating Brownfield, 69-53, while Phillips captured consolation laurels with an 81-60 success at the expense of Seminoles.

Three members of the Big Spring team were named to the all-tournament squad: Danny Clendenin, Wayne Johnson and Robert Jackson.

Others on the elite group were Jerry Timmons, Brownfield; Jimmy Carroll, Phillips; Eddie Malone, Seminole; David Davis and Rollin Hunter, both of Brownwood; and Tommy Bullard and Langston Powell, both of Snyder.

In their semifinal test, the Longhorns jumped off to an 11-point lead and were never headed on their way to a 93-59 victory over Class AAA Brownfield.

The Longhorns won relatively easy, even though they did not play up to their usual form. Big Spring hit 44 per cent of its shots from the court the first half and 41 per cent the final two quarters. Jackson and Wayne Johnson, with 15 each, were the leading rebounders for the Black and Gold.

At one stage in the game, the Steers led by as much as 19 points. Danny Clendenin and Johnson had 17 points each for Big Spring while Jackson contributed 15. Two of the Cubs also hit in double figures.

In first round play Friday, Big Spring waltzed by Breckenridge, 67-27, in a game that coach Don McDonald took the opportunity to look over all his talent.

Other first round games saw Brownfield edge Phillips, 60-33; Snyder race by Kermit, 82-71; and Brownwood outlast Seminole, 50-45.

Nine Steers' got into the scoring act and three of them hit in double figures. Wayne Johnson had 16 and Danny Clendenin 14 for Big Spring while Richard Green came in for 11.

The Steers limited the Buckaroos to seven points the first quarter and the losers were never able to hit in double figures in any one quarter and left the court with only four field goals.

Miami Battles Back To Topple Gobblers

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Quarterback Bill Miller engineered a 70-yard touchdown drive in the fourth quarter Saturday to give ninth-ranked Miami a 14-7 victory over Virginia Tech in the eighth annual Liberty Bowl.

The big play on the game-winning march was a 38-yard Miller-to-Jim Cox pass to Tech's five. Doug McGee lunged into the end zone four plays later from the one.

Tech scored early on a one-yard run by Tommy Francisco and Miami tied it 7-7 in the third period on a seven-yard pass from Miller to Joe Mira, brother of San Francisco 49er quarterback George Mira. The Liberty Bowl had a record paid attendance of 39,101, but only 25,012 showed up because of 36-degree temperatures and a light rain.

In the third quarter, Miami drove 47 yards to score, but the key was a 15-yard roughing-the-punter penalty which gave the Hurricanes new life at the Tech 26. Miller kept his team on the ground until he got to the seven, where he hit Mira with a touchdown pass.

It was a defensive battle in which Miami gained only 163 yards in total offense and Tech only 111.

Tech got its touchdown when halfback Jim Richards blocked a Miami punt and Tech took over at the Miami 21. Francisco carried four straight times and scored from the one.

Richards had never rushed a punter until this game and he had not played since he broke his collarbone against Kentucky Oct. 8.

Cox, a junior end who caught 41 passes during the regular season, caught five for 77 yards and was voted the game's most valuable player.

Francisco was named the game's offensive back, with Virginia Tech's All-America Frank Loria chosen defensive back. Sophomore end Ted Hendricks of Miami was the outstanding defensive lineman.

Boston Can Move Nearer Playoffs

By The Associated Press

The Boston Patriots, sporting the league's top rusher and a brutal defensive squad, take their hopes for an American Football League division crown into Rice University Stadium today.

They can't clinch it. But a victory over the struggling Oilers would be another major step on the long road to the Super Bowl.

Here's the way it works: Boston has a 7-3-2 record with two games to play, including today's match with Houston. Buffalo is in second place in the Eastern Division with an 8-4-1 mark. The Bills are idle this weekend.

The Patriots can clinch it with a win and a tie, or with two ties. A Buffalo loss in its last game, against Denver next week, would let the Patriots take it on a loss and a tie.

The rest of the games are New York at San Diego, Denver at Oakland and Kansas City with the Western Division title in the bag, visiting Miami.

The Patriots' offensive machine-centered around fullback Jim Nance, quarterback Babe Parilli and flanker Gino Cappelletti has gained most of the notice in recent weeks, but coach Mike Holovac gives full credit to his defensive platoon, which has the league's best record against the rush—a miserly 69.1 yards a game.

"They've shown excellent execution," Halovac said after last week's key 14-3 victory over Buffalo.

Boston has lost just once in nine games, while Houston, 3-9, has found victories hard to come

Abilene Gets 3A Playoff

SWEETWATER, Tex. (AP) — McKinney, behind at the half on first downs in a 7-7 tie, blocked two kicks in the third period Saturday to beat Monahans 21-7 and advance to the finals of Class AAA schoolboy football.

McKinney plays Bridge City at Abilene next Saturday for the state championship.

McKinney scored in the first period as Robbie Clark climaxed a drive to go across from the Monahans one. Mickey Biggs kicked the extra point.

In the second quarter after Steve White recovered a McKinney fumble on the Lion 41, Monahans drove to the 16 from where Scott Snead raced around end for the touchdown.

Frank Peters converted and the teams went to the dressing room at the half with the score tied 7-7, penetrations even and Monahans leading in first downs 10-3.

After Monahans took the kickoff opening the second half the Lobos stalled on their own 36. Rusty Martin went back to kick and McKinney's line smashed through to block it. Tommy Lewis caught the ball on the run on the Monahans 11 and went on in for a touchdown. Biggs converted and McKinney led 14-7.

Later in the third period Snead was caught behind the line on third down and dumped for an 11-yard loss by Ronnie Gant. On a punt attempt Martin had his kick blocked and McKinney recovered on the Monahans 11. A play later Mike James crashed across from the one, Biggs kicked the extra point.

Longhorns Bomb Cowboys, 76-70

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas won its first basketball game over Oklahoma State since 1924 when it beat the Cowboys 76-70 Saturday.

Texas led all but about a minute early in the second half.

Texas broke out of a 49-49 tie with 11½ minutes to go and outscored the Cowboys 14-1 over the next four minutes to take a 13-point lead that an Oklahoma comeback couldn't quite overcome.

Oklahoma State was able to cut the margin to four points twice within the final two minutes.

Texas shot at 50.8 from the field, Oklahoma State 48.1.

Texas had five players in double figures, headed by Noel Stout's 21 points. Mike Tate led the Cowboys with 14.

Texas is now 3-1, Oklahoma State 2-3.

Aggie Probation Is Lifted By League

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Texas A&M's probation was lifted Saturday, thus clearing the decks of all rules violations in the Southwest Conference.

The Aggies were taken off an indefinite probation given them for football practice out of season and taking up athletic scholarships.

Sanctions also were voted when the probation was invoked a year ago, prohibiting Texas A&M from playing in bowl games. These sanctions were removed effective Jan. 16, 1967.

Action on the probation climaxed a quiet meeting of the faculty committee, governing body of the conference, with most of the news being produced by the coaches and athletic directors in their meeting Thursday.

At that time the coaches and athletic directors moved to cut down on the verbal abuse of football players when they considered charges that Jerry Levas, the Southern Methodist star, had been subjected to racial bars.

The coaches and athletic directors also made some changes in the officiating set up in an attempt to improve it.

Neither of these matters was taken up by the faculty committee, which indicated it thought the athletic directors and coaches had handled them satisfactorily.

Texas A&M also is on probation in the NCAA, which cannot remove it until next October when its infractions committee meets. However, in recent years the NCAA has been paralleling action of the Southwest Conference and there were no indications the NCAA wouldn't go along with the conference this time.

Removal of A&M from probation and a report that there were no complaints of rules violations on file brought to an end two and one-half years of turbulence during which four schools were put on probation and two were reprimanded for violation of recruiting rules.

SMU, Texas, Arkansas and A&M were the schools given probationary terms, the former and latter with sanctions invoked. Texas and Arkansas were taken off within a year while SMU was removed only last May, thus becoming eligible to play in the Cotton Bowl Dec. 31 against Georgia.

Texas Tech and Baylor were the schools giving reprimands. This means only Rice and Texas Christian escaped the dog house in the period.

Dr. Alan Chapman of Rice, president of the conference, said the removal of A&M from the list meant that officials had assured the conference that the school had satisfactorily revised its practices in the athletic program to meet the rules.

While there was no explosive news from the conference meeting, it did deal with interesting items ranging from making transfers eligible for varsity play without having to be junior college graduates to a discussion of Cotton Bowl affairs.

However, regarding the latter, the committee did not put on the agenda of the next May meeting the question of whether the conference football championship would be barred from participation in the Cotton Bowl in successive years. This had been submitted to the coaches and athletic directors by Arkansas.

"There was nothing specific regarding the Cotton Bowl put on the May agenda," said Howard Grubbs, conference secretary, "but the Cotton Bowl question is discussed."

Morgan State Is Winner, 14-6

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Favored Morgan State defeated West Chester State 14-6 in the Tangerine Bowl football game Saturday.

The victory gave the Baltimore school the NCAA Atlantic Regional College Division football championship and extended its winning streak to 18 straight over a two-year period.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Hunter Is Now At TWC

By TOMMY HART

Oliver Hunter, the New Rochelle, N.Y., sprinter, who was enrolled at HCJC but never ran in a meet because he became a scholastic casualty, popped up at Texas Western College in El Paso where he is making a good student.

Incidentally, Wayne Vandenberg, the Miners' new track mentor, traveled 30,000 miles all over the United States last summer to sign 35 of the top track and field athletes now active.

For that reason, look for TWC to come to the front in a hurry as a power on the cinders.

The emphasis is heavy on all athletics at the El Paso school.

Another TWC note: Don Haskins, coach of the TWC NCAA basketball champions, lectured at 13 basketball clinics in 12 states during the summer and turned down numerous other invitations to speak.

Coach L. L. (Red) Lewis, the HCJC track mentor, says his promising freshman sprinter, William Walker, has the smoothest stride of any runner he's ever seen — sheer poetry in motion.

The young man is having to work overtime to stay eligible, however.

When Lee Leonard, the HCJC sophomore, lets the ball go on his basketball free shots, he has both feet off the floor.

Willie Townes, the Dallas Cowboy rookie lineman (he's now down to 259 pounds) says that he has lost so much weight that his knees sound like they're full of corn flakes when he walks.

Since Texas Tech started fielding basketball teams, only two Big Springers have ever worn Red Raider colors.

They were Herb Curry (1937) and Gene Carpenter (1953-56). However, Verdell Turner, now the assistant coach at HCJC, played there in 1950-52.

Verdell attended high school in Lubbock.

Other area cagers who went on to Tech included Elvis Erwin, Stanton (1941-42) and Marshall Cook, Garden City (1934).

And Tech's greatest player in history, Dubby Malaise, lived here as a tot, at which time his dad, John, rigged up his first basket for him

WILLIAM WALKER

Maury Wills, then of the Los Angeles Dodgers and now of Pittsburgh, stole 34 bases last year but was thrown out trying to steal 28 times.

You can look for him to go every time he gets on base against the Dodgers next season.

The HCJC Jayhawks extend arms for a swinger's handshake, touching only the fingers and those very lightly, when coming back down court following a good basketball play.

Cleveland Williams figures he'll net $42,000 out of that recent fight with Cassius Clay and gives full credit to controversial Bud Adams as the man who made sure that he wasn't the 'fall guy' in pre-fight negotiations.

Paul Thomas, the 6-9 Big Spring High School graduate, is on full athletic scholarship at New Mexico JC in Hobbs.

When New Mexico JC knocked off South Plains of Levelland, it marked the first time in five years that coach Bill Powell's charges had failed to win their first four games of a given campaign.

Powell and South Plains can be forgiven for perhaps under-estimating the opposition, however.

The worst punishment devised for a cage mentor would be to play NMJC without any preparation or advance knowledge of the Thunderbirds and NMJC was playing its first game in history.

Michigan State plans to expand its football stadium to seat 100,001, which would make it one seat larger than the stadium of arch-rival Michigan.

Big Springer Jan Loudermilk's 22 free tosses for SMU in a 1962 game against TCU still stands as a Southwest Conference record.

Jan made 124 gratis pitches for the Mustangs that year, part of the 523 points he amassed all told.

Eddie LeBaron, 'color' man on the Dallas Cowboys telecasts, is now licensed to practice law in Nevada, Texas and California.

John S. Alessio, who owns race tracks at Del Mar near San Diego, Calif., Agua Caliente and Juarez, has announced that a $26 million development plan for the Del Mar track, with the idea of making it the "Riviera of the West."

The plan includes construction of a Marina adjacent to the track.

Only Don Drysdale and Whitey Ford among the active pitchers in baseball have fanned more big league batters than ex-Big Springer Camilo Pascual, now that Sandy Koufax has retired.

Pascual, recently acquired by the Washington Senators from Minnesota, has whiffed 1,885 since he went up.

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP) — Gary Mullins directed San Angelo to two touchdowns to overcome an early Carrollton Turner lead and the Angry Orange swept to a 41-15 victory Saturday to reach the final of Class AAAA schoolboy football. Fullback Terry Collins scored three touchdowns, Mullins two. Turner scored with 3:31 left in the first period to take a 7-0 lead, then Mullins went to work and got two touchdowns to shoot the Orange ahead. Two pass interceptions were turned into two more touchdowns and San Angelo had a 27-7 lead at the half. A crowd of 17,000 watched San Angelo surge into the finals for the first time since the state championship year of 1943. Turner managed to sandwich a second touchdown between two San Angelo scores in the second half but the handwriting was already on the ball. A big Bobcat line was the difference. San Angelo's ground attack completely dominated the game as the Bobcats picked up 347 yards and had 413 yards total offense. Mullins led the ball-carriers with 131 yards on 16 runs. Collins had 78. The Lions' offense came mostly on the passing of Bill Montgomery, who hit on 14 of 29 for 189 yards. But an alert San Angelo secondary picked off three passes and turned two of them into touchdowns to ice the game. Turner was limited to only four yards rushing by the rugged San Angelo line sparked by 240-pound Randy Stout. Charles Sadler scored one Turner touchdown on a one-yard plunge and Bill Montgomery passed 29 yards to Preslie Hodge for the other. Mark Dove got the final San Angelo touchdown.

Eight-Year-Old Rewarded

Phillip Ringener, 8, shown here with his bowling instructor, Jean Nicholson, received a patch and a letter of commendation recently for his feat of having posted the highest game score among TABY keglers in the state for the month of November. Young Phillip, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Ringener, recorded a scratch score of 170. He bowls in the Midget Bantam league here. He's been active in the sport less than two years and has an 84 average. North Dakota Decisions Parsons In Pecan Bowl

ABILENE, Tex. (AP)—University of North Dakota rode the passing arm of Corey Colehour to a 42-24 victory over Parsons in the third annual Pecan Bowl football game Saturday. Colehour, who is to play in the North-South all-star game next month, completed a record 22 of 37 attempts for 274 yards and four touchdowns. As was predicted the game was quite an offensive show with the Sioux racking up 438 yards in total offense and Parsons 307. North Dakota capitalized on fumble recoveries at the Parsons 13 and 14 to set up its first two touchdowns. Colehour hit Jim Conrad with a 13-yarder for the first, then Pete Forinsh, whose 11-yard run set up the score, went in from four yards out. Colehour then lofted a 43-yard scoring aerial to Jim Hester and Errol Mann added his third straight conversion for a 21-0 advantage. Parsons finally came alive with a 76-yard drive climaxed by Daynor Prince's one-yard sneak. John O'Dell made the kick and then added a 30-yard field goal in the third period to cut the deficit to 21-10. North Dakota expanded its lead to a comfortable 35-10 margin as Porinsh went three yards and then took a 43-yard pass from Colehour. A 67-yard kickoff return by Ed Tuttle set up a 14-yard scoring pass from Prince to Edgar Coleman. Parsons came right back to narrow the deficit to 35-24 on a four-yard scoring pass from Prince to Allen Marcelin. The North Dakotans weren't through and Colehour completed his dazzling exhibition with a 30-yard scoring toss to Bill Predovich. Mann then made his sixth straight conversion kick with 51 seconds left in the game.

Spring Branch Is Triumphant, 14-6

AUSTIN (AP) — A brilliant goal line stand with 4:30 to play and two second half touchdowns brought Spring Branch a 14-6 semifinale Class AAAA schoolboy football victory over San Antonio MacArthur Saturday. Spring Branch was clinging to a 7-6 lead when MacArthur reached the 11-yard line and a first down. A nine-yard run on first down carried the ball to the two, then Spring Branch, behind the defensive rush of end Charles Crawford, stopped MacArthur at that point. The winners added their second touchdown with 58 seconds to play on a 35-yard run by quarterback Don Wigginton. MacArthur, undefeated going into the game, carried a 6-0 lead into halftime. With 36 seconds remaining in the first quarter, Hal Hook flipped a 20-yard touchdown pass to Rick Oberlies to complete a 70-yard drive. The extra point kick was wide. Spring Branch matched that drive in the third period with halfback Jimmy Graf getting the tying score on a one-yard run. Graf's 31-yard run was the big play in the march. Travis Coombs' kick gave Spring Branch the go-ahead point. Then in the fourth quarter San Antonio drove 66 yards to the Spring Branch two-yard line but in three tries could not get the one yard needed for the first down. Wigginton led all ground gainers with 86 yards as Spring Branch picked up 222 yards in total offense. Graf added 63 rushing. San Antonio had 183 yards total offense with Dutch Riefler its leading rusher with 47 yards. Joe Achilles each intercepted a MacArthur pass.

Alou Winner Of Bat Title

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates continued to lead National League batters in 1966, only this time Matty Alou took the hitting crown instead of Roberto Clemente. Matty Alou hit .342, well ahead of his brother Felipe's second place .327 at Atlanta. Clemente, who won the batting crown in 1964 and 1965, batted .317 for a fourth-place tie with Richie Allen of Philadelphia. Ricardo Carty of Atlanta was third at .326. The Pirates, who have won the batting crown 19 times since 1900, also turned in the highest club batting average of .279. Meanwhile, Hank Aaron of Atlanta continued to hit the home runs and drive the runners across. He hit 44 homers to boost his total to 432—third among active National League players—and drove in 127 runs to take the league lead for the fourth time. After six years of leading the league in base stealing, Maury Wills lost that honor to Lou Brock of St. Louis. Brock stole 74 bases, while the injury-plagued Wills got away with it only 38 times and was caught on 24 occasions—more than anybody else in the league.

Vernon Coach Is Named To Group

AUSTIN (AP)—Pat Pattison, coach of Vernon, has been named chairman of the North all-star football selection committee for the Texas coaching school replacing R. M. (Pat) Patterson of Amarillo Tascosa, who resigned to become an assistant at the University of Texas. Patterson became ineligible to head the Texas High School Coaches Association committee when he left high school coaching. Emory Bellard of San Angelo, president of the association, named Pattison to the post and since the latter was already assistant chairman of the committee, moved Joe Simpson, coach of Richardson, to the assistant post. The coaching school will be at San Antonio in August.

Grid Great Sons To Be In Bowl

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Second generation bowl performers will meet when Southern Methodist plays Georgia in the Cotton Bowl Dec. 31. Sons of fathers whose post-season history includes performances in the major bowl games are key performers for the Methodists and Bulldogs. Southern Methodist has two players with bowl heritage in tackle John Kimbrough and guard David Shuford. Georgia contributes Billy Payne, a star pass-receiver. Kimbrough's father, Jarrin John of Texas A&M fame, played in the 1941 Cotton Bowl when the Texans beat Fordham 13-12. Shuford's father, Harry Shuford, played on the Southern Methodist team that appeared in the 1936 Rose Bowl against Stanford. Payne's father, Porter Payne, was on the Georgia team in the 1948 Gator Bowl and 1949 Orange Bowl games. In the latter Texas beat Georgia.

Ramos Is Traded To Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Pedro Ramos, a veteran right-hand reliever, was acquired Saturday by the Philadelphia Phillies from the New York Yankees for rookie Joe Verbanic. The 31-year-old Ramos, who posted a 3-9 record for the last-place Yankees in the American League last season, is expected to bolster the Phillies' weak bullpen. He saved 12 games and posted a 3.60 earned run average. The 23-year-old Verbanic, also a right-hander, was used as a reliever by the Phillies after reporting July 10 from San Diego of the Pacific Coast League. He appeared in 17 games, posting a 1-1 record and a 5.14 ERA. At San Diego, he was 8-1 in 22 games with a 2.67 ERA.

Jack Clayton Out

NATCHITOCHES, La. (AP)—Coach Jack Clayton, who guided Northwestern, La. State's football team to a 9-0 record and the Gulf State Conference title, resigned Saturday.

Walker, Davis Are Dismissed

STARKVILLE, Miss. (AP)—Mississippi State University fired Athletic Director Wade Walker and head football Coach Paul Davis Saturday.

Dr. W. L. Giles, MSU president who made the announcement, said school officials had come to conclusion that neither Walker nor Davis could succeed in their duties. The MSU Bulldogs had a dismal 2-8 record during the past season. The firings left open the question of who would guide the Southeastern Conference team next year. The firing of Walker had been rumored for some time, but the ouster of Davis was a surprise. Giles said Davis' contract, which expires Dec. 31, 1967, would be honored for pay purposes. Walker, a former All-American tackle at Oklahoma, came to Mississippi State as an assistant coach in 1954. He became head coach in 1954. During Walker's six years as head coach, the Bulldogs had a record of 22-32-2.

Redskins Are Likely To Create Problem

By JACK HAND
By The Associated Press

The Dallas Cowboys, seeking their first National Football League title, face the third big game in three weeks Sunday when they take on the bouncy Washington Redskins in the Cotton Bowl. Tom Landry's men disposed of Cleveland on Thanksgiving night and took over the undisputed Eastern Conference lead Sunday by knocking off St. Louis. One game ahead with two to play, the Cowboys must keep on winning to assure themselves of a berth in the title game. Dallas had trouble with Washington Nov. 13, finally beating the Redskins 31-30 on a field goal by Danny Villanueva with 15 seconds to go. Washington is coming off a bye after that 72-41 ramble over the New York Giants. St. Louis invades Atlanta to take on the aroused Falcons, who have won two of their last three, including an upset of Minnesota last week. The Cardinals, trying to put an offense together behind Terry Nofsinger, threw a scare into Dallas last Sunday but finally succumbed 31-17. St. Louis must beat Atlanta and knock off Cleveland while hoping for Dallas to stumble if they are to tie or win in the East. Cleveland, the third team with a mathematical shot at the Eastern title will be at Philadelphia, seeking its eighth consecutive win over the Eagles. The Browns rumbled over Philadelphia 27-7 on Nov. 13. Gale Sayers, who scored six touchdowns against San Francisco last December, gets another chance when the Chicago Bears play the 49ers at Kezar Stadium. They played a 30-30 tie Nov. 13 when Tommy Davis kicked a field goal with nine seconds to play. A victory will assure San Francisco of a 300 season. The Bears must finish with two straight triumphs to make the break-even mark. Detroit finishes its season a week ahead of the rest of the league, taking on Minnesota which has lost four straight. The Lions have dropped their last two, so these clubs will be fighting for the Western cellar. Detroit won the first game 32-31 when Garo Yepremian kicked six field goals. Two losing teams play at Yankee Stadium where the New York Giants will try to snap a six-game slump at the expense of the Pittsburgh Steelers, who have lost three in a row. They played a 34-34 tie way back on opening day, Sept. 11. The Steelers have Bill Nelsen back at quarterback after a knee operation. The Giants have hopes after scoring 81 points in their last two games, even if the other teams did score 121 points. Green Bay played at Baltimore Saturday and Los Angeles had the bye.

Texans Rout Coast Team

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Sophomore quarterback Eddie Valdez threw six touchdown passes and combined with his brilliant receiver, Margene Adkins, to shatter a raft of records Saturday as Henderson County of Texas smothered Pasadena City College, 40-13, in the Junior Rose Bowl football game.

Performing in the 21st annual and final inter-sectional game of this junior college classic, with 40,045 looking on, the visitors from Athens, Tex., came from behind in the second quarter with a dazzling show that continued until the final minutes. The six touchdowns passes erased the game record of three set in the inaugural contest in 1946 by Bev Wallace of Compton, Calif. Valdez also set records with 334 yards gained in the air and 77 on the ground for a personal total of 411. Adkins' 12 receptions and 199 yards also were new marks. California junior college officials have banned post-season bowl games of this sort after this year.

Ole Miss, Texas Are Old Hands In Bowls

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Mississippi and Texas each will be playing in their 15th post season football contest when they meet next Saturday in the eighth Bluebonnet Bowl game.

Both teams have appeared once before in the Houston classic but neither has posted a victory. Texas came the closest, battling Alabama to a 3-3 tie in 1960. Mississippi was upset by Tulsa, 14-7, in the 1964 game.

The Longhorns and Rebels have broken even in a pair of bowl games in which they played one another. Mississippi defeated Texas 39-7 in the 1958 Sugar Bowl and the Longhorns beat the Rebels 12-7 in the 1962 Cotton Bowl.

There have been no sellouts in the seven previous Bluebonnet Bowl games in the 70,000-seat Rice University stadium but Lou Hassell, chairman of the event, says early ticket sales indicate there will be this year if the weather is favorable.

The record crowd of 68,000 attended the 1960 Texas-Alabama game.

The game will be nationally televised by ABC and will start at 1:15 p.m. (CST). Each team is expected to receive more than $150,000, which Hassell says will be a Bluebonnet record.

Both teams finished the season strong. Quarterback Bruce Newell, tailback Doug Cunningham and fullback Bobby Wade sparked Mississippi, a Southeastern Conference member, to an 8-2 record as the Rebels won their last six games. Losses were to undefeated Alabama and Georgia, both bowl-bound teams.

Texas, which tied for second place in the Southwest Conference, finished with a 6-4 record, winning four of its last five games. Sophomores such as quarterback Bill Bradley, tailback Chris Gilbert and defensive end Corby Robertson played a big part in the Longhorn's strong finish.

Mississippi, accepting its 10th straight post season contest, has an 8-6 bowl record, having played in the Sugar Bowl seven times, the Cotton Bowl twice, and once each in the Orange, Gator, Delta, Liberty and Bluebonnet.

Worster Star In 28-7 Win

By The Associated Press
Three teams reached the schoolboy football playoffs Friday.

Mighty Steve Worster scored all four touchdowns as Bridge City returned to the finals of Class AAA with a 28-7 victory over San Marcos.

Sweeney beat Bastrop 15-7 to attain the finals of Class AA.

Schulenburg has lost two games and tied one but still is in the Class A finals. It got there Friday night with a 24-14 decision over Rosebud.

Worster gained 163 yards on 33 carries in leading Bridge City to the finals of Class AAA, scoring on runs of four, two, two and three yards.

Jim Lindsey passed to Elmo Wright for two touchdowns as Sweeney took out Bastrop and rolled on undefeated and untied in Class AA. Wright also intercepted three Bastrop passes in the second half in helping keep Bastrop away from the Sweeney goal line.

Dennis Demele ran a kickoff back 90 yards for a touchdown and threw a six-yard scoring pass to Bruce Bost for another in sparking Schulenburg into the finals of Class A. A 30-yard field goal by Larry Marak and a six-yard dash by Larry Carroll accounted for the other Schulenburg scoring.

Athletic Director Charles R. Solberg said the 26-mile, 335-yard run would be held Feb. 18 along US 82 west of Artesia into the downtown area.

School President Dr. Thomas C. Stevens, 36, who finished 138th in a field of 278 in the five-mile event held Nov. 19, now is in training.

Asked if Stevens plans to complete the grueling race, Solberg replied, "I may be putting him on the spot, but he's working out and says he'll run."

The College of Artesia opened this fall and is working to claim the title of the nation's most physically fit institution of higher learning.

The five-mile run was a challenge to other colleges to not only better the time in which also to have a better percentage of participation from students — men and women — faculty members and administration.

Forty-five of the school's 63 coaches ran in the race, and Solberg said they were disconcerted to learn that the women's national cross-country championship was not as difficult.

Asked if Stevens plans to complete the grueling race, Solberg replied, "I may be putting him on the spot, but he's working out and says he'll run."

Dallas Can Clinch Tie For Grid Title

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys play the Washington Redskins in the Cotton Bowl Sunday seeking at least a tie for the championship of the Eastern Conference of the National Football League, but only the fans could wish for a repeat of the type game they played a month ago.

Dallas, leading the Eastern Conference by a game over St. Louis, can clinch a tie for the title by beating Washington even if St. Louis wins at Atlanta Sunday. Should St. Louis lose, Dallas would clinch the championship with New York still on the schedule.

Coach Tom Landry of Dallas isn't too hopeful that there might be an ease off from the previous fireworks and predicted a high scoring game. Landry said he considers the Washington offense, engineered by passing man Sonny Jurgensen, quite terrific and Jurgensen hard for a blitz to handle.

"He gets rid of the ball so quickly he's tough to blitz," said Landry, declaring he didn't plan to come anywhere close to last Sunday's effort when the Cowboys blitzed at the rate of about 40 per cent in beating St. Louis 31-17 to take over the conference lead.

"And this Charley Taylor is coming on like gangbusters," said Landry of the Washington split end who has been shifted from running back because he was "too quick and fast and his blockers couldn't keep up with him," according to Joe Blair, the Redskins publicity director.

Taylor is the 210-pound Texan in his third season with Washington who has caught 60 passes for 900 yards and nine touchdowns.

Dallas won that one 31-30 on Danny Villanueva's field goal in the last 18 seconds following a drive that started on the Dallas three, when all seemed lost. It was quite trying on the players and the coaches but the fans surely loved it.

President Of School Is Intent On Marathon Run

ARTESIA, N.M. (AP) — Not satisfied with a mere five-mile run in which students, faculty and administrators competed, the College of Artesia has announced plans to hold a marathon and the president of the school already is getting into shape for it.

Athletic Director Charles R. Solberg said the 26-mile, 335-yard run would be held Feb. 18 along US 82 west of Artesia into the downtown area.

School President Dr. Thomas C. Stevens, 36, who finished 138th in a field of 278 in the five-mile event held Nov. 19, now is in training.

Two Texans Included In Tennis Ratings

NEW YORK (AP) — For the second year in a row, Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., and Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., have been recommended for the 12 spots in the national tennis rankings.

The ranking committee submitted the list Saturday for approval by the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association in February.

Clark Graebner of Beachwood, Ohio, made the greatest gain in the men's division, climbing from 13th to third. He advanced farther than any other American in the U.S. championships—the quarter-finals. He was the outstanding individual player in the Davis Cup victory over Mexico but later was suspended for an unexplained reason.

Other newcomers to the top ten are Frank Froehling III of Coral Gables, Fla., up from 11th to sixth, and the veteran Vic Seixas, from no ranking at all to ninth. They replaced Ham Richardson, who dropped from sixth to 13th; Mike Belkin, No. 7, and Tom Edelsten, who dropped from the top ten.

Graebner and Ralston head the men's doubles rankings. Chauncey Steele and his son Chauncey III, head the father and son doubles.

Funk And Miller Team Up To Win Tag Team Match

The animal featured on Friday night's American Business Club wrestling show at the Municipal Auditorium proved to be more bull than bear but a semifinal tag match pitting Terry Funk and Dan Miller against Prof. Tom Tanaka and Dick Steinberg sent the fans home chuckling.

Tanaka works at being a villain. Steinberg found it hard to adopt the guise of a heavy but, given a little coaching from the wily Oriental, fairly well succeeded.

The two of them baited the crowd as well as Funk and Miller before striking their colors.

Tanaka lent Steinberg good co-operation before Dick was able to pin a groggy Funk for the opening fall in 6:30 minutes.

The collision of the two villains, who were often in the ring at the same time, so incensed Funk and Miller, that it resulted in a collision—of the evil doers' heads—later in the match.

The meeting of minds so addled Tanaka and Steinberg that Funk was able to even matters by forcing Steinberg to yell "uncle" with a leg strangle. That particular fall required 12:20 minutes.

In the deciding fall, Miller, although in an utter state of confusion, was flipped across Tanaka's prostrate form by Funk and adjudged the winner in 4:30 minutes.

The outcome, if patented, delighted the turnout of an estimated 700 and made everything that happened thereafter anticlimactic.

The bruin, an amiable creature called Victor, appeared briefly in the ring thereafter and had to be coaxed into engaging in a bear-hug or two with Funk. He departed for the safety of his cage in a short time for reasons which never were made clear.

Six men then appeared in a rally royal and Tanaka had his hand raised in victory as the sole survivor.

Bob Boyer was the first to go in the unique match but stayed around to serve as a frustrated peace mediator. Jack Cain, Miller and Funk were, in turn, eliminated, after which Funk ganged up on Steinberg from outside the ring to help Tanaka notch the win.

In one-fall opening matches, Miller and Tanaka snarled to a 15-minute draw while Boyer used a flip and a pin to dispose of the black-hearted Cain, just 15 seconds before the final bell was to clang.

Cain arose to put the slug on Boyer and dusted to the safety of the dressing room before the victor could take inventory of the situation.

Wesley Ballou Performed For 6-3 NMMI Broncos

Cadet Wesley Ballou, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley P. Ballou of 2501 Carol Drive, Big Spring, was a member of the 1966 New Mexico Military Institute football team.

Wesley, a regular on the 1965 Big Spring High School team, performed at tackle for the Cadets.

For the second straight season, the Roswell-based Broncos completed a very successful season under the guidance of Major Wilson Knapp. He a

WESLEY BALLOU

Coach and Institute Athletic Director.

The Broncos sported a 6-3 record with the season's close, winning their last four games in a row with a yearend burst of power. In these last winning contests, they won the NMMI-OMA Football Rifle Trophy for defeating Oklahoma Military Academy at Claremore, Okla., and the Petroleum Bowl Trophy for defeating Dixie College of Utah in the Petroleum Bowl at Farmington, N.M. Among the early season's defeats was a loss to the Taft Cougars of California, who rank among the top four in Junior College National Grid Selections this year. Taft met Cisco College of Texas in the first annual Wool Bowl in Roswell yesterday.

The Broncos this year featured a pro-type offense. Although they showed a very convincing ground game, particularly at mid-season, they relied mainly on a wide-open passing attack for their offensive power.

Their record for the season: NMMI 20, N. Oklahoma Jr. College 6; Taft Jr. College 32, NMMI 6; E. Arizona Jr. College 20, NMMI 7; NMMI 37, Trinidad Jr. College 28; Phoenix Jr. College 28, NMMI 25; NMMI 32, Connors Jr. College 20; NMMI 30, Oklahoma Military Academy 16; NMMI 23, Dixie College 6; NMMI 31, Ranger Jr. College 13.

Futurity Cash Due To Grow

RUDDOSO DOWNS, N. M. — "The dash for cash," says Ruddoso Racing Association president Willard Kruger of Santa Fe, "is likely to hit the $900,000 mark in 1968." Speaking of the Ruddoso Downs' All American Futurity, which is already the richest race in the world, Kruger states that new innovations set into the '68 All American assure it of being the most revolutionary race in history.

Kruger declares that the 10th annual running of the famous Ruddoso Downs quarter horse dash, scheduled for running on Labor Day weekend in 1968, will contain 30 cash awards, ranging from an estimated $100,000 to the winner, down to $4,000 for the 30th horse in the finals. In essence, says the track official, with a nominating fee of $2,000, conceivably, a colt can run in 30th place and still win back double his nominating fee.

The finals will be run in three series with the first series receiving some 75 per cent of the total purse.

In addition to the sensational graduated purse split, another "brand new" idea incorporated into the '68 All American is the awarding of cash awards to the nominators, breeders and trainers of the top four horses in the big race. As an example, the breeder of the winning two-year-old in the '68 All American will possibly get as much as $9,000 cash, while the nominator could receive some $15,000.

COUNTY MAN ENDS 43-YEAR OIL FIELD CAREER
Oran H. Vick retired after more than four decades of service

Oran Vick Ends Career As Pumper

By SAM BLACKBURN
Although Oran H. Vick has been "retired" for 10 days, he never realized how permanent it was, perhaps, until Friday night.
That was when his friends and fellow employees of the Sinclair Oil and Gas Company staged a big party in his honor at Coker's Restaurant. When the dinner was over and the Vicks had returned to their attractive home in the Sand Springs community, Vick really knew that his 43 years with Sinclair were officially over.
Vick has been in Howard County and in the Coahoma area, in particular, for 30 years but he had 13 years with Sinclair before he came here.
His first day's work with the company was on Nov. 30, 1923 in Damon. His first job was reoustabout. A year later, he began pumping. That has been his work with Sinclair ever since.
He has pumped most of those years in the East Howard County field and has seen that area pass through all of the stages that an oil field can.
Most of the years he and Mrs. Vick, whom he married in Angleton in 1925, have lived in Howard County in the East Howard field. They moved to Coahoma later and two years ago acquired their home in the Sand Springs community.
They have one son, Thomas Vick, who is following in his father's footsteps. Thomas has already added up 16 years service with Sinclair as a pumper in the same area where his father worked for more than three decades.
The son is a graduate of the Coahoma High School. He and his family live at 2305 Lynn, with their three sons.
Oran Vick isn't exactly certain what he will do with him-

Lea County, N.M., again at the top of the list, registered 33 working units, which is four more than on the earlier count. Pecos lost two to give it a total of 16 and was able to continue in second place.
The county-by-county survey, with previous totals in parenthesis, includes:

Mrs. R. R. McEwen Jr.

Office Orchid

Mrs. R. R. McEwen Jr. has always been "at home" in Texas. Born in Denton, she is the former Nettie Jean Carter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Carter, former local residents who now make their home in Abilene. Mrs. McEwen has spent most of her life in Big Spring where her grandparents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Dee Price, were pioneer ranchers.

Widowed in July of this year, she resides at 809 W. 14th, with her daughter, Diane, 20, a sophomore at Howard County Junior College, and two sons, Russ, 17, a high school senior, and Scott, 11, a student at Park Hill Elementary School. McEwen operated the McEwen Motor Company here for many years.

Mrs. McEwen met her late husband at a local Sub Deb presentation dance in 1938. They were married June 15, 1941. While her husband was overseas serving with the Air Force, she spent the war years as a clerk in the maintenance depot at Big Spring Bombardier School. When McEwen returned home, she quit work and didn't consider a business career until her brother, Charles E. Carter Jr., moved his insurance office here from Abilene in 1964. She worked part-time for him until she went to work for Kent Morgan in the fall of 1965. Morgan is president of South Mountain Inc., owners of Highland Shopping Center. The corporation also holds interest in motels, apartments, ranches and oil properties. Chub Jones is secretary-treasurer of the corporation.

During the years when she did not hold a job, Mrs. McEwen served on the Girl Scout and YMCA boards and gave her time to the various annual fund drives. She led a Girl Scout troop and was a Cub Scout den mother for both sons. She held offices in the Parent-Teacher Association, taught bridge at the YMCA, and is a charter member and past president of the 1948 Hyperion Club. Mrs. McEwen and her family are members of the First Methodist Church where, in the past, she taught a Sunday school class.

During the hours at home, she enjoys cooking of all kinds, and her favorite pastime is playing duplicate bridge.

Book Reviewed By Mrs. Harold Davis

Cohostesses were Mrs. W. P. Edwards Jr. and Mrs. Don Womack.

The book is a satire on married life, and views with humor the problems encountered by newlyweds in the adjustments they must make for harmonious living.

Tests Get Harder For Young Homemakers

As further proof there's nothing simple in the world of home-making, have a look of some test questions which appeared on a scholarship test taken by 17 Big Spring High School senior girls Tuesday afternoon.

- To blanch almonds, you would
- Chop them finely with a sharp, thin knife
 - loosen the skins by dipping them in boiling water
 - scrape the skins off with a grater
 - soak them overnight in a sweet sauce

Another question was in the important field of child care. Usually when a child swallows poison, vomiting should be induced. Which of the following poisons is an exception to this rule?

- roach powder
- arsenic
- lye
- barbiturates

There was a series involving the ability to translate words appearing on labels. One example follows:

- Dextrin, maltose, and lactose are commonly used in
- cosmetic preparations
 - treatment of tuberculosis
 - cleaning fluids
 - baby formulas

Another set of questions dealt with the matter of do-it-yourself jobs.

Suppose Janet is going to re-paint her living room. There are 800 square feet of wall and ceiling space to be painted. She estimates that one gallon of paint will cover 500 square feet, and she plans to put on two coats of paint. How much paint will she need?

- 3 gallons
- 3 gallons and 1 quart
- 3 gallons and 2 quarts
- 3 gallons and 3 quarts

And of course, there were questions on the family budget. One such item said:

- On the first of the month the balance in your checking account is $425. During the month you write checks totaling $673 and deposit $530. The bank charges a service fee of $2. And at the end of the month your bank balance is
- $148
 - $280
 - $325
 - $566

Learning 'Home' Work

Mrs. Grover Cunningham, home economics teacher at Big Spring Senior High School, looks on as Hilda Isles and Donna Merrick answer questions on a modern homemaking test which is being given nationally to senior girls.

Mrs. Wilbur Cunningham, home economics teacher, in charge. For the winners the rewards will be high. There's a total of $110,000 in scholarships available, and the nation's winner receives a $5,000 scholarship. A total of $9,000 will be distributed among runners up.

State winners will be awarded in $1,500 grants with $500 awards going to state runners-up. Their schools will be presented sets of Encyclopaedia Britannica, and local winners receive specially designed silver charms.

The grades from the test taken Tuesday will not be known until the latter part of June. Should a Big Spring girl receive the high score in the state, she and a school advisor will be guests on an expense-paid educational tour of historical shrines in Washington, D. C., and Colonial Williamsburg.

Judging for national honors is on the basis of the original test score plus personal observation and interviews during the tour. The program is the only national scholarship competition exclusively for high school senior girls.

Such is the world of home-making these days. It all goes to prove that things around the house are going from difficult to impossible.

Progressive Forum To Have Holiday Luncheon

The Big Spring Progressive Forum will hold a Christmas luncheon Dec. 16 with members of the hospitality committee as hostesses.

The announcement was made during a Thursday morning meeting at the home of Mrs. Max Green, 1902 Main, where Mrs. Roy Cederberg presided. She read a letter from the state hospital concerning the forum's plans to have a party for their "adopted" teenager.

Guest speaker was the Rev. Harold Rucker, assistant pastor of the First Methodist Church, who chose the topic, "The Origin of Santa Claus." He told how many of the customs connected with the holiday began and discussed traditional rituals still held in many countries.

Two new members were welcomed. They are Mrs. James Owens and Mrs. Don Priddy.

Mrs. Ernest Welch will be hostess for the Jan. 12 meeting.

Plan Wedding For Late January

The announcement is being made of the approaching marriage of Miss Opal Petty, 601 E. 15th, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Petty Sr. and George W. Homan, 500 Scurry. The couple plans to be married in late January.

The grades from the test taken Tuesday will not be known until the latter part of June. Should a Big Spring girl receive the high score in the state, she and a school advisor will be guests on an expense-paid educational tour of historical shrines in Washington, D. C., and Colonial Williamsburg.

WHEN UNCLE SAM WANTS HIM

Chaplain Speaks Out Urging Togetherness

EDITOR'S NOTE: Last in a four-part series by Marie Ryckman, staff writer for the Davison Journal, giving information of vital interest to hundreds of couples across the country with military service. Clearly written in their future. Very early in their young married lives many young men and their wives are facing what may be their first serious problem on wedding caspises — answering Uncle Sam's call. This may bring about separation, or new living surroundings, and very possibly financial hardships. However, there are trained people, military and civilian organizations, and even laws to make things easier.

By MARIE RYCKMAN
Dayton Journal Herald Staff Writer
DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Despite the practicalities of staying at home with parents or maintaining the home fires wherever they are while a husband is fulfilling his military obligations, there are many emotional reasons for going.

In 22 years as a base chaplain, Lt. Col. Freddie W. Carllock, now at Wright-Patterson field, has developed these views:

"Whether or not a wife goes along must depend on the individual. Some wives are able to go and stand the rigors of establishing a new home. Some are willing to sacrifice. Some have never known what it means to sacrifice.

"If the wife does decide to go, she should wait until her husband has been given a permanent assignment. He will usually know where this is to be several weeks before he completes his basic training. The wife should then write to Family Service Center on that installation regarding housing rentals, etc. The Family Service Center will send her a packet of information that should be helpful.

IN LOVE

"When people get married, it can be assumed that they want to be together. Most of the lads in the service love their wives enough that they don't want them to go through the rigors of living at lower standards. For this reason, they may not express their true feelings to them.

"Most of the boys still tell me that they want their wives with them and think they should be, but that they don't tell them so.

"Life is lonely enough for these boys, especially the married ones.

"When the wives are not with them, these men are put in the barracks. This makes them different individuals. They are not single or fancy free like most of the boys.

"They cannot sit and play solitaire all of the time.

"They are lonely.

"The single man misses his girl friend, but not nearly so much as the married man misses his wife. Even though, for the most part, the boys use the facilities offered to them on the base and spend their time writing home to their wives, there is still an abnormality about it.

LONELINESS

"Loneliness and homesickness are very real. In an overseas situation, where the man knows the wife can't join him, adjustment is not too difficult. "But while he is stationed and serving in the states where the wife could be with him, I think that the sacrifice her coming would mean to her would have to be extremely great for her to refuse to join him.

"Sometimes in his loneliness, a man without his wife may start running around with the single fellows — this sometimes leads to involvements that are not good. The same is true of the wife who remains at home. "Sometimes, when the wife does not go with her husband, the financial burden on the man gets too heavy. If the girl remains behind, he wants to support her and taxes himself too extremely to send money to her. "Most of the couples faced with the decision as to whether or not the wife should go are couples who have not been married very long.

"A new family is like having a new baby. This is a very important and enjoyable part of life. Even though this is the time when we possibly face most of the hardships, it's a time when we need to share them — as with a new child—the first months are always more difficult, require more attention, and yet, are the most enjoyable times.

"Marriage is the same way. This is the time of adjustment to marriage that must be experienced if the marriage is to be a permanent and happy one.

"These adjustments just can't be made with a pen or over the telephone. They are made by living together."

To Marry

Mrs. Theda Neill, 1614 Cardinal, and Ralph Neill Sr., 1209 Mulberry, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Theda Joanne, to Roy F. Broom Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy F. Broom Sr. of Bowie. The wedding is slated for Jan. 14 at Grace Baptist Church with the Rev. Roy Honea officiating.

Musicians Give P-TA Devotion

Religious songs of the season provided the devotion when the College Heights Parent-Teacher Association met Thursday at the school with Mrs. A. W. Gerhart presiding.

Glenn Faison, music director at the First Baptist Church, was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Faison as he sang, "Jesus, Jesus, Rest Your Head" and "Sweet Little Jesus Boy."

Details of the recent state P-TA meeting in Austin were given by J. A. Beam, principal; Mrs. B. R. Fletcher and Mrs. J. E. Swindell. Mrs. Fletcher gave the financial report, and the city council report was given by Mrs. Billy Plew.

Mrs. Gerhart urged members to volunteer their time for the Mothers' March slated Jan. 19. Mrs. Reagan Easley's first grade class won the room count, and 37 attended. The Jan. 12 meeting will be at the school.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

It's getting to feel a lot more like Christmas here now that we have had another brisk round of windy, sandy days and then the cold snap. This is generally the way these sandy days in the wintertime work out, and it sure beats a sandy day in hot weather. Wouldn't it be nice if some moisture came our way, and it turned out to be snowy for the holidays?

At St. Paul Lutheran Church, where the women are decorating their Christmas tree with Chrismos, it is explained that these objects bear the combination of Christ and monogram. The idea originated with Mrs. H. W. Spencer in Danville, Va. in 1857, and since then it has spread around the world. Over 6,000 churches have sent requests for a booklet, with patterns, which are sent at cost ($1.50). All over Europe, in Australia, the Amazon, Ethiopia and Vietnam, word comes of Christmas decorated trees. Mrs. Spencer got her idea from symbols used by early Christians—such as the triangle, the circle, the fish and cross, and she felt these would help people remember what Christmas is really about.

Among the hundreds of people to view the Carol Lighting program of the Christmas season at Texas Tech in Lubbock during the week were MRS. SUE HIPP and MRS. J. E. HOGAN with her guests of MRS. JANET BRIGMAN, Mrs. Hogan's daughter. Mrs. Hogan had taken her granddaughter, Jana Brigman, back to Lubbock after she had spent 10 days here with her grandparents.

In addition to viewing the spectacular 10th annual lighting ceremony Mrs. Hipp and Mrs. Hogan also visited the exhibit of paintings depicting the U.S. Air Force, 40 of which were selected from among 2,500 to be shown by the USAF for its annual tour.

WMS Holds Prayer For Missions

WESTBROOK (SC) — The annual Week of Prayer for Foreign Missions ended Friday at the Baptist Church where members of the Woman's Missionary Society held the observance. The week's theme was "Behold the Lamb of God."

Monday's program, "Behold Him as Healer," was presented by Mrs. Homer Rice; Tuesday's program, "Behold Him as Teacher," was given by Mrs. Paul Byrd, and the Wednesday program, "Behold Him as Preacher," was presented during the prayer service by Mrs. C. E. Hanne and Mrs. Allis Clemmer. Mrs. Hoyt Roberts was in charge of the Thursday program, "Behold Him as Savior," and Friday's program by Mrs. Floyd Rice was entitled "Behold, My Eyes Have Seen Thy Salvation."

The church has set $832.67 as the goal for the Lottie Moon Christmas offering for the foreign missions. Members were reminded that Southern Baptists are seeking to put 5,000 missionaries in overseas mission fields as soon as possible. In mid-summer of 1966, there were 2,189 missionaries in 62 countries.

Don't neglect to use those TB Christmas seals on your Christmas mail. They are not only attractive but they spread a good message. Be sure to send in your donation... it helps defray the expense of taking care of problems arising with tuberculosis, emphysema and other respiratory diseases. As a matter of fact, the seal sale is the only source of income the TB Association has... so your donation to the cause is needed. And don't mutilate the tape with your name which was on the envelope your stamps came in. You are credited with the donation when that tape is left on the envelope that you return the gift in.

With all the Christmas visitors and the visits to relatives our Big Spring people will be making during the next few weeks, we at The Herald would like to know who you are expecting or where you and the family will be to observe Christmas. Call us at The Herald or at AM 3-2542 any time.

WEBB WINDSOCK

Charles and Bob Wash are now the owners of the first Cherokee Six to be based at the Howard County Airport.

This sleek plane will carry six people in comfort, plus 200 pounds of baggage.

The craft is powered by a 260-hp Lycoming engine and has a cruising speed of 160 miles per hour. The range, fully loaded, is in excess of 1,000 miles. There is a baggage compartment between the motor and cockpit, and there is one aft of the passengers. The seats are in tandem with an aisle from front to back of the compartment, and a passenger can walk from front to back in comfort.

Both Charles Wash and Bob Wash, who are associated with their father, C. V. Wash, in the Forsan Well Service, are student pilots being checked out in the Six by B. G. Weaver, instructor.

Weather cut sharply into operations at the airport last week. An early week blow cut operations to a minimum, then Friday's bona fide sand storm halted everything. The flying has been slow the past week for the Webb Aero Club. All the members said good-bye to Nan Rider and wished the best of luck on the change of station.

Flying the Cessna 150s were Doug Swartz, Lloyd Barnett, Gale Andrews, Bob Brown, Tom Thomas, Wes Pearce and John Dinger. Up in the 172 were Bob Brown, John Vucci and Phil Brown.

There will not be a general membership meeting in December. But we wish all a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

The 3560th Pilot Training Wing has been presented with the Civil Air Patrol public service citation for outstanding support rendered the CAP in the past year.

Col. George E. Franks, base commander, was presented the certificate by CAP Cadet Kenneth D. Lawhon, cadet squadron commander of the Big Spring Cadet Flight A.

A cake, decorated to depict 25 years of faithful, volunteer service by the nation wide organization to the United States, was served by C.S.C. Paula LeFebvre and C.S.C. Gilbert J. Santiago to the 50 guests. Other honored guests included Lt. Col. James P. Van Pelt, base executive officer, Maj. Richard A. Gray, chief of academics and Arnold Marshall, mayor of the City of Big Spring.

STEWARDESSES FLYING HIGH

Girls Have Own Peace Corps

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON AP Newsfeatures Writer

"June 28, 1966. Moon Khong Laos . . . A distraught mother stood on my doorstep in the middle of the night with a screaming baby in her arms. They had traveled all day. The child's ear was badly swollen and some horrible-looking gook (black magic potent) was smeared over his head.

"All night, by flashlight, Dr. Davis and I forced medicine into the little body. By sunrise the baby's fever finally broke."

"June 29, 1966 . . . Took a boat to the village to attend a pregnant woman. The child was born dead. Returned home to find a crowd at the door. A Chinese fellow had sawed off three fingers and was bleeding profusely. Dr. D. and I administered anesthesia and for 2 1/2 hours operated on the hand (again by candlelight). I spent the rest of the night between catnaps feeding the sick baby." These notations are two of 90 such in the diary of Joah Hveda. Occupation: airline stewardess.

At the same time another airline stewardess, Dorothy Justice, was also a long way from her usual coffee-tea or milk routine in the clouds—she was in Vientiane, Laos, teaching school.

FEET ON GROUND

Both are now back in their jobs at Eastern Airlines while two other stewardesses from their company are making plans to pack away their Don Loper uniforms for blue jeans and three months of unpaid, primitive living in Laos.

Since 1961 when the Stewardess program of the Thomas A. Dooley Foundation was organized by his mother, Mrs. Agnes W. Dooley, pretty young ladies such as Joan and Dorothy have been exchanging their glamorous air jobs for a chance to have a hand in carrying on the work of the famous American doctor who worked among the backward peoples. Two Pan-American stewardesses — Marlean Thompson and Beth Wilkins, were the first to respond. Altogether 40 such women from seven cooperating airlines have left jobs and salaries behind for three months to be jeep drivers, nurses' aids, teachers, anything needed—and everything is—in orphanages and hospitals in distant places.

EXPERIENCES

It sounds unfair, giving so much and getting so little. But Joan, a 22-year-old brunette back on the cloud route again, is a bubbling example that worthwhile experiences are more valuable to some than money.

A candid girl, Joan does not gloss over hardships or disappointments.

"I got depressed at being so far away. I lost communication with everything on that tiny island (on the Mekong River). News from anywhere was two or three weeks old and that was frightening," recalled the pretty girl from Rosemont, N. J.

Home was a leaky, wooden house on stilts. Water Buffalo crawled under it to sleep. When it rained her bed was soaking wet. Because she lived and ate like the Laotians, though not a tourist, the people lost their fear of the strange girl with the white skin and wide eyes.

"I worried about getting sick at first," Joan said. "But after a while I figured, oh well, whatever I might get could probably be cured."

FOND TIES

Until it finally wore out, Joan kept a seed bracelet around her wrist, a token of the affection between the Laotians and the girl who did not speak their tongue.

It was made at a baci, a ceremony where a tribal chanter calls upon all the souls of the body, then invites the circle of guests to tie wish strings to her arm. (A midwife wished her a Lao baby in the stomach).

Joan brought home numerous souvenirs and many fascinating adventures to relate. But what she felt was most important was the subtle, emotional changes in herself.

"I have a patience and understanding I didn't have before. I feel so much more aware of myself in terms of the world at large. Yes, of course, I want to go back."

Bleaching Hint Saves Wash Day

Here's a simple step-saving trick. Since liquid chlorine bleach should be diluted with water before adding to clothes in your washer, use a bottle as a measure next time you bleach! Take a bottle and pour in the correct measured amount of bleach.

Then take a water-proof marker and draw a line on the bottle where the bleach comes to. Fill the rest of the bottle with water before pouring into the washing machine. Thereafter you can reuse the marked bottle as a substitute for a measuring cup. If your machine is equipped with an automatic bleach dispenser, just follow washer directions.

Leather Chairs Rated Durable

Leather upholstery can be rated as a good "buy" because it is comfortable, durable, and practical. Leather cannot absorb stains, needs no slipcovers, and can be cleaned like new by wiping with soap or detergent suds, and should never be polished. All these considerations are important when selecting home decor.

YOUNG MODERNS ON BUDGET

Here's How To Go Antique Shopping

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Many young newlyweds travel the auction circuit hoping to find furnishings to lend distinction to their homes.

For most young people, the answer is the not-so-old piece. It helps furnish a home on a lean budget with solid looking furniture and accessories that can be painted, antiqued, reupholstered. And they can have fun doing it.

But one must learn how to bid to avoid being trapped into a "bargain."

First, attend the exhibition of the sale merchandise, marking down all items in which you have some interest, what you think they are worth and what you can afford to pay.

If a chair frame is good but the chair needs to be reupholstered, make a note of it. If a table is gouged or scratched, or needs slight repairs, make a note of it. (Veto anything that requires big repairs you can't do young.)

When you return home, add up the figures and see whether the amount you'd spend is within the framework of your budget. If you are over your money goal, cross out the least important items. The important thing is to decide that you will not go over your budget.

Well, maybe, on that one extra bid if you do not get a chance to bid your maximum on the last round.

The thing auctioneers seem to have in common is that they save good things for a big crowd. Always arrive early, just in case the auctioneer's best-laid plans go astray.

A rainy, windy, foggy or steamy hot day will put him in a different frame of mind, in that case, the auction is outdoors. He may well want to get rid of everything early if a thunderstorm is imminent. Things you've earmarked may be just the things to go early, and you may get a tremendous bargain.

Resist the temptation to respond when the auctioneer asks "Who will give me $25 or $50 to start this..." When he brings it down to a realistic figure, someone will begin bidding. If no one does, be "it", providing it looks as if he is not going to put it down.

The object is to get it down to your level.

An auctioneer will often mention that a large collection—trivets, horse brasses, whale oil lamps—is a "lot" with bidder's choice. In that case, the first bidder should know old trivets, if the auctioneer permits three or six to be selected. When he puts the items up again, they should not bring as large a bid because it is assumed that the best of the lot has been selected by the first bidder.

One stands a better chance to get a fair deal at auctions that include some really fine furniture, even though you cannot bid on those things. An auctioneer handling choice items values his reputation and will tell the true condition of the finest thing and its age. If the auction is merely an assortment of stuff in disrepair, naturally he cannot go into detail or he wouldn't sell anything.

You are on your own.

It's a good idea not to set your heart on anything. If you don't get it, forget it. Some little thing may look so attractive by comparison to other offerings, that it will bring a bigger price than anyone anticipates. Some people will pay far more than an object is worth too, if they want it to fill out a set of chairs, china or silver.

Center Point To Install Officers

The Center Point Home Demonstration Club will meet Tuesday at 1 p.m. at Furr's Cafeteria for lunch and the installation of new officers. Mrs. Delaine Crawford, HD agent, will be the installing officer, and a gift exchange will follow.

Iranian Student Highest In Class

By SAM BLACKBURN

You have to meet Ahmed Azan Falaik El Mustafa and talk to him a while to recognize what a most unusual young man he is.

While it is illuminating to be told that Ahmed, a Jordanian Air Force cadet who has been in training at Webb for jet flying, has now earned not only his wings but also the distinction of being highest man of Class 67-D academically, that's just a little of the story.

DEEPER

You have to back a little deeper to realize what Ahmed has accomplished is worthy of emulation by young fellows of his age anywhere in the world. On Dec. 2, Ahmed proudly watched as the coveted wings were pinned to his uniform. It was a big day for Ahmed. Not only was he now a qualified pilot of supersonic jets, he was also 21 years old. It was his birthday.

Further, he was the first Arab nation Air Force student ever to rate top honors academically in an Air Force training class. He was in competition with 49 other fellows, most of whom were Americans and nearly 100 per cent of whom were graduates of some of the finest colleges in the country. Ahmed is not a college graduate.

SMALL FARM

"I was born on a small Jordan farm about half way between two tiny villages called Samir and Harima," explains Ahmed. "My father is a farmer. There are 15 in my family — my parents, my brothers and sisters, my brothers-in-law and sisters-in-law and their children. We all lived on the farm." He concedes that things were pretty rough at times and also quite crowded. There were no schools worthy of the name in either Samir or Harima. The closest school was in the city of Irbid, about 10 miles, over rough roads, from his father's farm.

"When I was 10," he said, "my brother, who was five years older, and I walked to Irbid. We found a place where we could live. We cooked our own food, washed and mended our clothes. On weekends we would walk back to our parents' farm." The father provided food for his two sons and what little money he could spare.

GAVE UP

rolled in school. Four years later, the brother gave up. Ahmed had found a small room and continued his studies, eking out a meager existence as best he could. After eight years, he completed what might be compared to a high school education in this country.

Before he had a chance to consider how or if he might go to college, the Jordanian government called him up for the Air Force.

"There were 600 of us called up," said Ahmed. "I was No. 512."

The 600 were subjected to exhaustive tests and examinations — mostly oral — on subjects of all sorts. When it was over, Ahmed recalls, there were only 12 of the 600 still on hand. He was one of the 12.

"They took us to a hospital," he said, "and we were there all day. They gave us tests and examinations. When the day ended there were only three of us still on the list." He and his two companions were sent to the United States for Air Force training.

LANGUAGE

They were assigned to Lackland Air Base for three months of intensive language training — and it is amazing how efficient Ahmed has become in English, which is about as far afield from the Jordan tongue as one can imagine.

"When I left Jordan," says Ahmed, "I knew nothing of airplanes."

One of his companions was sent to a base in Oklahoma.

He and Samir Ahmed Mustafa Samikari came to Webb. That was a year and 14 months ago. Their first assignment was at the Howard County Airport, where both learned to fly the light aircraft used in the pre-jet program.

"I had much help," explains the modest young Ahmed. "The instructors have helped me a great deal. My first instructor did very much for me." When the pre-jet training ended, the two Jordanians began work with their fellow allied nation students and the American cadets in Class 67-D.

TO ARIZONA

Now Ahmed, proudly wearing his wings but with no bars on his shoulders to indicate his rank, (he will not be given his rating as an officer until he gets back home) is waiting dispatch to Williams AFB at Phoenix, Ariz. He is to report in at Williams Jan. 3. There he will learn to fly even faster than he flew here. He has made many friends here, he said. One of his favorite Big Spring families is that of District Judge Ralph Catons, where he has visited many times, have sim- plified and Americanized his lengthy Jordan name to "Jer- son, who is in charge of the allied nations (his fellow Jordan student) out- rated me as a flier." Capt. Sorrenson said Ahmed was in the upper 10 of the 50 students in the class.

"MY FATHER'S FARM IS RIGHT THERE" Ahmed El Mustafa, young Jordanite, has had remarkable career

SINCE 1965 Ahmed last saw his home vil- lage on Aug. 24, 1965. He does not know when he will be home again.

But when he does, the Jordan Air Force stands to have a very alert, intelligent and able young flier to handle its jet planes.

Coahoma Schools To Recess Friday

Coahoma school children will be out for the Christmas holi- days four days earlier than their fellows in the Big Spring and Forsan schools, according to Walker Bailey, county school superintendent.

He has been advised that the Coahoma schools will follow their usual custom and close down operations on Dec. 16. The classes resume on Jan. 3.

Big Spring Independent School District and the Forsan Independent School districts will continue classes to Dec. 21, Bailey said. They also will re- sume classes on Jan. 3.

Small Town Study Group To Look At U.S. Policy

Seven members of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce's Small Town Task Force will meet with executives of 25 federal agencies in Washington Monday, Dec. 12.

C. L. Cooke, Fort Worth, chairman of the group, will lead the discussions in the House Appropriations hearing room. Purpose of the meeting with the federal agencies is to examine the services available from federal agencies which would be helpful to the small towns of West Texas.

Cooke pointed out that the Task Force was not seeking federal aid or grants for the communities. He said that the information received at the conferences will be made available to officials in the small towns being studied by the Task Force. Any decision to make application for federal funds would be made on a local level he emphasized.

Members of the Task Force attending the conferences include Maxie Davie, Fort Worth; James D. Murphy, Abilene; C. W. Brown, McCamey; Dick Morrow, Fort Stockton; Bill Marquardt, Fort Worth and Luther May of Olney. Three other members of the panel may join them Monday.

Federal agencies who will meet with the WTCC committee include those from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Department of Housing and Urban Development, Department of Commerce, Department of Agriculture, Department of the Interior, the Executive Offices of the President, Farm Credit Administration and Small Business Administration.

Congressman George Mahon, Lubbock, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, made arrangements for the meetings.

"Many of the federal agencies have services and assistance which can be of tremendous help to the small towns," Cooke said as he was leaving for Washington. "We intend to make ourselves acquainted with these services so that we will be in a better position at our hearings in January and February to assist the small towns in the solutions of some of their problems."

Conferences will last all day Monday and if necessary, the group will reconvene Tuesday morning for further sessions.

All the small towns, those under 12,000 population, in West Texas will be examined by the Task Force during the next few weeks. Pilot studies have been under way for the past two weeks in 15 of the small towns. Results of these studies are being collated in an effort to improve procedures in later studies.

OFF THE BEATEN TRAIL

Massacre Sparked Drive That Crushed Cherokees

By ED SYERS

"At long last," declares Houston's Jack Slover Davis, "I've found a reader's query I know something about." He details a near-forgotten but pivotal page in East Texas pioneer - Indian history—the 1838 Killough Massacre, near Jacksonville.

"Cherokee County originally was part of a strong Indian Confederacy known to Spaniards as 'Tejas' but waning with the years and finally displaced by the proud, westward-driven Cherokee. These, Spain promised good title in what is now Smith, Rusk, Gregg and Van Zandt counties, early as 1819. Years passed; still, just promises.

"During the Texas Revolution, Sam Houston kept them neutral with assurance his Republic would clear Cherokee title (and meant the treaty he signed). The Texas Senate in late 1837 voided an aghast Houston's promise. Cherokee? Something snapped!

"Young bucks drummed their dark war pole. Even then the wise old heads counseled patience and peace. Then one spark changed history and wrote off the Texas Cherokee.

"Skip to the Isaac Killoughs, who came by wagon from Alabama—all the families of four sons, two daughters, were happily settled Christmas 1837, farming near today's Jacksonville.

"By next August, the lonely Killough outpost read the signs of Indian warpath, moved temporarily to old Nacogdoches for safety. Fall looked better; back they came for harvest.

"Oct. 5, 1838, part of the family started across a creek to help Nathaniel Killough pull his corn—so little yet to do, they left their guns. The ambush exploded in the red gold forests, and almost to a man they were shot, chopped, clubbed down screaming.

"Nathaniel escaped, creeping his wife and baby to a friendly Indian lodge, then, with an Indian horse, to Lacy's Fort, near today's Alto. In terror, the women who'd seen it take their men, struggled three days to the fort—again sheltered by friendly Indians.

"Nathaniel Killough came back to bury 18 dead and begin what, even today, is Texas' Killough Family Reunion, from across America.

"But who were the butchers? Renegades, not Cherokee, avowed that nation's elders.

"An Indian - furious Texas wouldn't believe, marched to crush the Cherokees the following summer, drove them utterly from ground the Indian thought was his, by white man's treaty.

Was it the Cherokee who struck that spark? To the fighting, desperate end, he denied it. But who reasons, when a backlash explodes?

seum hobbyist-curator: "A full display of the steam machinery of the late 1800's to century-turn—all in running order—the power world your granddad knew.

"The engines range from a giant Corliss type with a 9,000-pound flywheel—15 feet high and 125 horsepower—to a Japanese miniature you can hold in your hand. Museum's open daily. Sundays are 'live steam days'—everything fired and running."

MAILBOX

(Write OBT, care of the Big Spring Herald, Box 1431, or Ingram, Texas, 78025. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped, addressed envelope). Killen's Jack C. Joyner: "You wrote of Slaughter's Long-S Ranch . . . it was part of my family's lives for many years. My uncle John Joyner was general manager of the Slaughter spread, my dad worked as a cowboy there . . ."

Re strange burials recently queried, Normandy's C. L.: "I think the man buried astride his horse was at Castroville (near San Antonio) but am not sure of details . . ." and Banquette's Bob Hedgpeath submits the alleged epitaph of one of Texas' earliest, ripsnorting buckskinner, Brazoria Country's Brit Bailey: "When I die, bury me standin' up and facin' west. I've never looked up to any man yet and after I've gone, I don't want anybody sayin': 'Here LIES old Brit Bailey.'"

A Devotional For The Day

As cold waters to a thirsty soul, so is good news from a far country. (Proverbs 25:25)
PRAYER: O God, we thank Thee for the redemption foretold by the prophets and fulfilled by the coming of Thy Son, the Savior. Lead us to accept His spirit as the ruling force in our lives. This prayer we offer in His name. Amen. (From the "Upper Room")

Whittling Down To Size

There is now pending a motion to contest the election results in a county commissioner's race. While this has nothing to do with this case, per se, or with the ruling or adjudication of the matter, it does point up something else that merits attention.

That is the need for a realistic look at the size of voting boxes.

Originally, the township was divided into four voting boxes. At one time this accounted for about half the county's vote, but over the years urbanization has concentrated population within the city. While there has been some division of the city voting boxes, this has not kept up with population growth.

One of the city voting boxes contains over 1,800 voters or nearly one-fifth of the county's potential. Another has only slightly less still another has one-sixth of the total. The three of them have half of the potential of the entire county.

There are no arbitrary standards by which the size of a voting precinct is determined, but it seems to us that when a potential passes 1,000, delays are being invited if not assured. Actually, a total less than that might be much more desirable.

Our present system was dictated by convenience or necessity, for there were not many places where elections could be held. But today there are ample public places within most of the larger boxes which could be used as voting locations. Indeed, churches and residences are used in many instances.

Perhaps we have a selfish interest in this because waiting long hours for a few large boxes to come in can become both tiresome and expensive. The same could be said by workers who henceforth may expect some extra pay for those long, long hours. Next August when the time comes for fixing precinct lines, there should be utmost consideration to breaking some boxes down to manageable proportions.

Way To Christmas Spirit

A long, long time ago the Salvation Army turned its soup pot into a means of multiplying the potential for Christmas Cheer among the unfortunate and the down and out.

Kettles were hung from tripods with a sign, "Keep the Kettle Boiling." This has been symbolic with the Christmas season as the Salvation Army tries to muster enough funds to meet the needs.

This special charity of love at the season of the Savior's birth anniversary is over and above the regular operations of the Salvation Army.

Every penny put into this is a love offering — an offering of gratitude, if you please — from those of us able to share with others.

So, we hope that as you pass the Salvation Army Christmas booths or kettles you will wear a personal ring of appeal in the jungle of the bell. James the Apostle tells us that it does little good to feel sorry for people or to say "God Bless You" unless we are willing to do something. This is one way to give substance to your Christmas spirit.

That Strange, New Odor

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. — Smog, which was once the big attraction of Los Angeles, Calif., can now be found all over the country from Butte, Mont., to New York City. And people are getting so used to polluted air that it's very difficult for them to breathe anything else.

I've been out lecturing this week and one of my stops was Flagstaff, Ariz., which is about 7,000 miles above sea level.

AS SOON AS I got off the plane I smelled something peculiar.

"What's that smell?" I asked the man who met me at the plane.

"I don't smell anything," he replied.

"There's a definite odor that I'm not familiar with," I said.

"Oh, you must be talking about the fresh air. A lot of people come out here who have never smelled fresh air before."

"What's it supposed to do?" I asked suspiciously.

"NOTHING. YOU just breathe it like any other kind of air. It's supposed to be good for your lungs." "I've heard that story before," I said. "How come if it's so good your eyes aren't watering?"

I looked around and everything appeared crystal clear. It was a strange sensation and made me feel very uncomfortable.

MY HOST, sensing this, tried to be reassuring. "Please don't worry about it. Tests have proved that you can breathe fresh air day and night without it doing any harm to the body."

"You're just saying that because you don't want me to leave," I said. "Nobody who has lived in a major city can stand fresh air for a very long time."

"Well, if the fresh air bothers you, why don't you put a handkerchief over your nose and breathe through your mouth?"

"Okay, I'll try it. But if I'd known I was coming to a place that had nothing but fresh air I would have brought a surgical mask."

"WE DROVE in silence. About 15 minutes later he asked, 'How do you feel now?'"

"Okay, I guess, but I sure miss sneezing. How come there's no air pollution around here?"

"Flagstaff can't seem to attract industry. I guess we're really behind the times. The only smoke we get is when the Indians start signaling each other. But the wind seems to blow it away."

"THE FRESH AIR was making me feel dizzy. 'Isn't there a diesel bus around here that I could breathe into for a couple of hours?'"

"Not this time of day. I might be able to find a truck for you."

We found a truck driver and by slipping him $5, he let me put my head near his exhaust pipe for a half-hour. I was immediately revived and able to give my speech.

Nobody was as happy to leave Flagstaff as I was. My next stop was Los Angeles and when I got off the plane I took one big deep breath of the smog-filled air. My eyes started to water. I began to sneeze, and I felt like a new man again.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Rep. Melvin Laird, R-Wis., is not a fan of "creative federalism," the new problem-solving game that is catching on in Washington. He says Wisconsin taxpayers put in $1.46 on federal grant-in-aid programs for every $1 they get back.

Wisconsin wouldn't kick, he says, if the grants were doing a good job. A new 527-page volume from the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare lists 190 programs designed to alleviate everything from crime in the streets to disease in the slums. Yet "crime continues to rise, education continues to be inadequate, slums continue to exist and grow worse, more Americans go on the welfare rolls, and government services on the state and local level continue to be underfinanced and in many cases ineffective," Laird says.

The reason the federally contrived programs are doomed to failure before they begin, Laird declares, is that "the proponents of special federal aid fail to realize that a general solution devised in Washington may very well help the situation in Milwaukee, but that same solution may compound the problem in New York."

The ones best situated to handle the problems in Dallas and Chicago are the city councils and administrative staffs of the respective cities. They need money, to be sure, but they do not need restrictive guidelines from bureaucrats thousands of miles from the scene.

Sales Showing Soft Spots In Economy

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Lagging sales caused manufacturers of automobiles and appliances to cut back production and lay off workers during the week.

There also was a rash of price increases in a variety of industries.

Soft spots in the economy became more evident as the question of a tax increase in 1967 remained up in the air.

General Motors Corp. put into effect the first step of its two-stage production cut totaling 8.3 per cent. The No. 1 auto maker laid off 4,000 men at assembly plants in Atlanta, Ga., St. Louis, Mo., Arlington, Tex., and Willow Run, Mich.

It said more layoffs were planned by Jan. 9 at seven other plants. GM has 23 assembly plants in the United States.

Chrysler Corp. said it would lay off 600 workers Jan. 3, including 450 in Detroit and 200 in Los Angeles.

A Ford Motor Co. spokesman said he saw nothing to indicate that there will be layoffs. He added that there had been some substantial cuts in overtime at some plants but that others still were operating on a six-day week.

American Motors Corp. said it had no immediate plans for layoffs but that it was considering ways of cutting costs.

General Electric Co. indicated it would halt production in its household refrigerator department and dishwasher and disposal department for five days, beginning Dec. 15, at its Appliance Park facility in Louisville, Ky.

The closedown will affect about 4,000 workers in the refrigerator department and more than 1,000 in the dishwasher and disposal department.

A GE spokesman said the production cutbacks were necessary to "bring about a balance between our factory inventories and factory sales."

job appliance producer, will close its St. Joseph, Mich., home laundry equipment plant on Dec. 19, five days earlier than originally planned. The plant was scheduled to close for about a week after Dec. 23 to allow for a normal inventory check, a company spokesman said. The extra five-day close-down at the plant, which employs about 1,300, is being scheduled because "we have a little more inventory than we should have," the spokesman said.

Although layoffs were spreading, they hardly made a dent in the almost full employment picture which has seen the unemployment rate fall to the lowest level in years.

REDUCE INVENTORIES
Two of the Big Three automakers announced production cuts that would put the December industrywide production figure at least 70,000 vehicles below that of December 1965.

General Motors said its decline would be about 14 per cent, or 63,000 vehicles below a year ago. Chrysler announced it planned to produce 140,000 cars this month, compared with 146,000 in December of last year.

A Ford spokesman said it expected to produce fewer cars this December than it did last year, but he gave no figures. American Motors announced an increase of about 2,000 cars over the year earlier level.

Auto production for the week was estimated at 199,400 passenger cars, down 2.45 per cent from 204,491 the previous week and off six per cent from 212,918 a year ago. Sales of domestic-made cars in November totaled 745,670, a decline of seven per cent from 800,330 a year earlier.

SOME PRICE HIKES
Price increases were announced for a wide variety of products that included chemicals, utility equipment, stainless steel, flooring, refractory brick, sulphur and gypsum building materials.

Sales in November by major retail chains set records for the month and year to date, but rates of rise, as in September and October, continued to run well below the sharp gains shown early in the year.

Steel production took its sharpest drop in nearly 10 months during the week. Output fell 3.6 per cent to 2,436,000 tons from 2,528,000 tons the previous week.

Tells Of Secret Trip Into China

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—A former vice marshal of the Indonesian air force has testified he made a secret trip to Communist China during the undeclared war between India and Pakistan in September 1965 to discuss joint assistance for Pakistan.

Muljono Herlambang did not say whether military help for Pakistan against India was discussed, or what the outcome of the talks was.

To Your Good Health Man Has A 'Jolt' As He Falls Asleep

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: I go along fine all day until I lie down to sleep. Then just before deep sleep I am brought awake by a surge or jolt within myself. It is not a pain. What causes such a thing? — J. W.

It is rather difficult, as doubtless you realize, for me to try to discuss all the odd symptoms which come up. For exact answers you must depend on your physician.

Keep that qualification in mind when I say that your painless surge or jolt is probably a form of muscle spasm, and is not particularly uncommon as a person falls asleep.

You relax — and then your muscles suddenly tighten briefly. There is the jolt. It does no harm but can be somewhat disconcerting.

Various factors may enter into this? The type of work you do; the comfort of your bed; a flicker of a dream state; stimulation before retiring, as from excessive smoking or coffee; what you may have on your mind as you fall asleep.

It may be a nuisance, but people usually fall asleep readily enough after one of these brief muscular jolts, and I suspect that the cause is a harmless one.

Dear Dr. Molner: Should I be worried about germs when I heat and re-heat baby food two or three times? The jars don't state whether it is safe.

Also, when a mother nurses should pills be taken before, during or after she stops nursing? I'm sure I'm going to have trouble "drying up." — MRS. L. S.

On the baby food: Keep it refrigerated between servings. The heating in addition will destroy germs. Use a clean spoon to keep from introducing germs into the jar. With those few rules you need have no fear.

Your second question may have more than one meaning so I'll answer both. A nursing mother should take as little medication as possible; only what your doctor specifically advises. If you mean contraceptive pills, do not take them until you stop nursing, as they can have an effect on the baby. When you stop nursing the breasts will begin to dry up, since continued lactation (milk production) depends on continued nursing. If the breasts do not dry readily, medication can be given to hasten the process.

NOTE to Mrs. C. M.: The International Center on Population Problems rates the foam type of contraceptives as fairly well down the list in effectiveness. Their rating: Five stars (perfect) for sponges; four stars for "the pills"; three stars for the various physical devices (sheaths, diaphragms and I.U.D.'s), and the same rating for rhythm when used on the basis of a temperature chart; two stars for foams, withdrawal, or rhythm by calendar only; one star for the douche.

Acne is one of the most terrible problems of growing up. If you are afflicted with this aggravation, or if you have children who are, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald for a copy of his helpful and comforting booklet, "Acne — The Teenage Problem." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Around The Rim 'Dear Friends: 'Twas A Great Year'

The Christmas cards are rolling in, and all are warmly welcome.

Seems there is a growing trend to include in the traditional holiday greeting an annual report on the doings of all the family. You know, those letters, done in mimeograph, so that all friends will have the same knowledge at the same time, and the letter-writing for the entire year will be disposed of.

USUALLY, these are cheerful accounts of what has happened to various members of the family since the round-robin letter of last Christmas.

Like, for instance, "Father got elected treasurer of the Rotary Club, and was he ever proud! Gwyn, the eldest one (and my, how she's grown!) is looking forward to her coming out party next year. Eddie, the next, is just two merit badges away from his Eagle Scout tests, and is working mighty hard. Chuckie, the youngest, is more interested in frogs than in being a Cub Scout.

"AND THE WHOLE family had a delightful three weeks last summer at Faraway Beach, and wish you all could have been with us. Mother just continues to run to her meetings and chauffeur the kids."

Well, this makes a nice recitation, even if a bit on the journalistic side. It occurred to me that I could send out a month-by-month report on my own, if I could get around to it:

JANUARY—We had hoped to make a little skiing jaunt into the New Mexico mountains, but the pipes froze and burst under one side of the house, and the plumber's bill was $154.80, and that took care of that.

February—We thought a quick two or three days to the Coast would be fine, but the pipes froze and burst under the other side of the house, and the plumber's bill was $122.20 (less pipe), and that took care of that.

MARCH—It looked like the time to get away from the dust storms for a few days, but the transmission dropped out of the car, and the repair bill was $196.40, and that took care of that.

April—This was the spring that we really were going to grow a fine garden, but Father split his foot with the hoe, and the medical bill was $54.80, and that took care of the garden.

May—Our lawn was beginning to come out beautifully, until we discovered what the experts said was crab grass. That took care of the lawn.

JUNE—We had hoped to go see a baseball game or two, but three screens fell off the windows. Forget the bill, but that took care of that.

July—We usually enjoy cookouts, but Father burned not only the steaks but his hand the first try, and that took care of that.

August—We had planned a few swimming sessions, but Mother lost her water wings, and that took care of that.

SEPTEMBER, October and November—Father was watching the football games on TV, and that took care of that.

December—Had planned a big holiday party, but Father tabulated the Christmas bills in advance, and that took care of that.

It's been a great year for us. Hope you have had the same. —BOB WHIPKEY

New Concept Of TV Programming

WASHINGTON — If television is a "vast wasteland," as Newton Minow said when he was chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, it is also a tangle of deeply entrenched interests. As they take the first steps toward a decision that must be reached some time in the coming year, The commissioners know they are moving through a field booby-trapped on every hand with the threat of imminent explosion as the penalty for a single misstep.

IT BEGAN when McGeorge Bundy, president of the Ford Foundation, threw out a proposal for a revolutionary change in the balance of TV programming. Or it seemed revolutionary to the three networks that have been quite happy with their highly profitable commercial operation.

What Bundy proposed was a domestic satellite system, similar to the transatlantic and the transpacific satellites, that would be operated on a nonprofit basis. The networks would pay for using the satellite to relay their programs across the country and the money would go to support a greatly expanded educational network with resources that would mean imaginative and stimulating programs.

THIS FANTASTIC new medium of television, Bundy was in effect saying, has been monopolized for the mass audience. The three networks turn out programs so alike it is hard to tell one from another, and increasingly they have fallen back on old movies. But there is another audience that would like something more than Westerns and mystery spoofs, and we think it's time that audience get a break.

AS BUNDY surely knew, his proposal touched off the widest controversy. Should we, the commercial TV interests asked, be called on to support a competitor to our payments to a domestic satellite corporation? And what about the investment of A.T.&T.

in the microwave stations that currently relay programs across the country? What about the semi-governmental, semi-private Comsat Corporation operating the ocean satellites for profit and presumably with a stake in a domestic satellite system?

The FCC is now receiving written statements from all the interested parties. About 40 lengthy analyses have already been filed. The next step will be public hearings that promise to go on for a long time.

BUT CONGRESS has already got into the act, since it is obvious that the FCC all on its own cannot make the final determination. Sen. John O. Pastore of Rhode Island has held hearings before his communications subcommittee, with most of the principal witnesses walking gingerly through the tangle of conflicting interests. In the course of these hearings Pastore threw out an idea calculated to strike chills into an industry that has been a fantastic money-maker. Why not, he suggested, a TVA in space, referring to the Tennessee Valley Authority, the government agency that generates and distributes electric power on the yardstick theory.

"There's a precedent," Pastore said. "Space is a natural resource. And it belongs to the people. It's something to think about."

A LOT OF thinking is being done about where this will all end. But having caused such a stir it seems unlikely that the Ford plan will simply die away. Already the foundation has put $100,000,000 into educational TV and in addition about $10,000,000 a year goes into sustaining the fourth network existing on such a precarious budget that it falls far short of the technical excellence of the commercial nets. If Bundy's Broadcasters Nonprofit Satellite Service could get going educational television would finally be established on a sound basis.

Looking Ahead On The Budget

WASHINGTON—President Johnson faces an almost impossible choice. He has been hinting at a tax increase, but he knows it may be unpopular. The budget is going to be way out of balance, and the President realizes the need for substantial cuts in spending. But he doesn't relish the prospect of criticism that would come from all the different groups and organizations which are anxious to keep federal money flowing in their own direction.

MR. JOHNSON could, of course, blame the whole budget situation on the Vietnam war. He told a news conference this past week that he is going to ask for about 10 billion dollars more for this purpose. This, however, is a small part of the 140 billions of spending in the next fiscal year which administration officials have been prophesying in recent weeks.

Mr. Johnson's difficulty arises largely from the fact that he cannot control the national economy just by government action. His advisers have repeatedly told him that deficits are harmless and that government spending is a good means of keeping the economy healthy.

BUT, WHILE slowdowns in some fields of business have occurred and the estimates being made now show that outlays for plant and equipment will not increase as much this year as last, the durable-goods industries nevertheless are still enjoying a fairly substantial rise over past years. The so-called boom in spending affects various industries differently, but, on the whole, the economy is not as yet on the brink of trouble. The real difficulty emerges because there are no signs yet that a constructive policy of budget reduction is to be applied.

MR. JOHNSON knows as well as do his advisers that threats to the economy also come from the irresponsible use of power in regulating wages as well as prices. Much of the furor about the high interest rates would never have occurred if the administration itself had not contributed to the so-called "overheating" of the economy through excessive spending.

The remedy doesn't lie in reckless cuts in the budget that would hurt the economy. Perhaps a solution may be developed by a plan to achieve a five-year program of stability, during which wages would be held at their present levels and prices would be kept down, too.

THE PRESIDENT doesn't have at present any power under law to fix wages and prices, and up to now has relied upon unofficial persuasion. This has not proved successful. An alternative would be the announcement of a program of stabilization to which both labor and management would be requested to agree in advance. This would offer hope for a few years of stability during which other remedial measures might be taken by deferring some expenditures and spreading them out over more years.

AS FOR A TAX increase, there are more disadvantages than advantages to the idea. The President cannot be sure that the psychological impact of a tax increase would not be harmful and might even prove discouraging to businesses depending upon the buying power of the consumer.

As the President ponders the various maneuvers that he can make in the future, he is mostly concerned with the political effects of any move he undertakes. This is why Mr. Johnson faces an almost impossible dilemma.

The Comforts of Home

To our forefathers, this was living at its best . . . but the hard chair, the iron pot and the open grate would not be our idea of comfort!

Today kitchens sparkle with bright, easy-to-clean metals, and cupboards are filled with helpful appliances. We relax in foam-padded chairs and sleep on spring-filled mattresses. Almost every aspect of modern life is slanted toward speed and convenience.

Man, with his marvelous God-created brain, has overcome many obstacles, and there seems to be no limit to his inventiveness. God has given us a world full of possibilities, and minds that constantly seek to improve our environment.

But to make the most of our opportunities, we must ever develop and renew the resolute "faith of our fathers." Come to church and with others receive that heritage of inspiration and light.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ...

... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

High School Offers Prize Winning Play

Thornton Wilder's Pulitzer Prize-winning drama, "Our Town," upcoming theatrical endeavor of the Big Spring High School Drama Department, will be presented Monday and Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Howard County Junior College Auditorium.

The drama department has been responsible for a number of theatrical presentations in the past few years. The present department director, Dan Shockey, joined the high school staff in 1962, and has directed all productions since that time.

The department produced "Arsenic and Old Lace," "Cannibal Stew" (an original play), and Shakespeare's "Hamlet" and "Macbeth." Shockey directed each of the three musical productions, "Oklahoma," "The Music Man," and "South Pacific," which were the combined efforts of the drama and choral departments.

Supper Theatre was introduced to the Big Spring public by the department, with such productions as "The Long Christmas Dinner," "The Pot Boiler," and "Wilbur's Wild Night."

"Our Town" is a major production using a large cast of high school students and unusual production techniques. Pantomime, lighting, and sound effects replace props and scenery. The play portrays life in a small American town in the early 1900's. It's warmth and humanity appeal to all ages. Tickets will be sold at the door at $1 for adults and 75 cents for students.

'Umbrellas' Hit Broadway

NEW YORK (AP) — A stage version of "The Umbrellas of Cherbourg," a hit French film in 1964, is being planned for Broadway next season.

Irwin Shaw, playwright and novelist, is discussing adaptation of the book. The movie's basic musical score, by Michel Legrand, is to be retained and additional material provided by him.

Smart Girls?

NEW YORK (AP) — Chorus girls beautiful but dumb? Not any more, according to a recent survey.

Twenty-two girls taking part in an industrial show were asked questions about their educational qualifications. More than half were college graduates, one-fourth had knowledge of a foreign language, and each was spending an average of $26.20 a week for lessons in singing, dancing and acting.

Coburn Has Off-Beat Part As A Con Man

The heroes of today's movies are anything but the matinee idols of yesterday. They are as off beat in their looks, in fact, as the roles in which they appear.

James Coburn, for example, has a rough-hewn face and great personal magnetism, both just right for the anti-hero sort of role that he plays in "Dead Heat on a Merry-Go-Round," at the Ritz in Eastman color.

In the suspense comedy, which concerns the ingenious robbery of a Los Angeles airport bank just as a plane carrying a Soviet premier on an official visit is touching down, Coburn plays a smooth-talking confidence man who charms girls only to dump them once they no longer are useful to his schemes. As a con man, he assumes a wide variety of characterizations and dialects in single-minded pursuit of his bank-heist objective.

Now hot as a fire cracker in motion picture circles as a result of his performance in "Our Man Flint," in which he played a domestic James Bond sort of character, Coburn likes to feel that his career can now take off in the same general direction as that of Humphrey Bogart or James Cagney.

"They were the good bad guys," he continued. "Rough, tough individuals attractive to women. And, like me, they were character actors before they became stars."

Also, like them, Coburn turned to pictures only after receiving a thorough grounding in his craft on the stage, starting with a summer theater production of "Billy Budd" in La Jolla after graduating from Los Angeles City College. The Nebraska-born Coburn found sporadic work in television commercials. Coburn quickly became established in live television shows, served as resident leading man with a summer theater in Detroit, and then tackled Hollywood.

Following a series of minor TV appearances, Coburn was given his first motion picture part in "Ride Lonesome," a western starring Randolph Scott at Columbia. This initial film credit won him bigger featured roles in television and in films. His work in "The Magnificent Seven" and "The Great Escape," led Coburn to featured roles in "Charade," "The Americanization of Emily," "The Loved One," and "Major Dundee." Then came stardom, with "Our Man Flint," "What Did You Do in the War, Daddy?" and now, "Dead Heat on a Merry-Go-Round."

Charlie Brown Due For Christmas

There's a Charlie Brown way of pitching the ever-popular high, hanging curve ball that guarantees failure. There's a Charlie Brown Halloween trick-or-treat technique that attracts rocks instead of candy.

And then there's "A Charlie Brown Christmas" philosophy that wins awards and that is rapidly making good ' Charlie Brown the ingenious spokesman for those who seek the true spirit of the holiday.

The animated color cartoon special that marked the television debut of Charlie Brown and the other "Peanuts" characters from the popular Charles M. Schulz syndicated comic strip last season will be rebroadcast today on the CBS television network.

After its premiere last December, "A Charlie Brown Christmas" won a George Foster Peabody Award in the children's program category and won an Emmy as the outstanding children's feature from members of the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences.

Written by Schulz, with a special musical score composed and performed by Vince Guaraldi, the story tells of Charlie Brown's search for the real meaning of Christmas.

Amid the sound of pre-Christmas jingle bells, he hears some false notes—the jangle of cash registers, the cacophony of greed and selfishness. When Charlie Brown's beagle buddy, Snoopy, enters a home-decorating contest for a monetary prize, he rebels. Surely, Charlie Brown persists, there's more to Christmas than this. Somewhere, there's a deeper meaning to it, and he sets out to find it.

He pays a visit to Lucy Van Pelt, the self-styled child psychologist, who prescribes "involvement" in holiday activities as a panacea for Charlie Brown's worries. He becomes a director of the neighborhood Christmas pageant, but the result of this brave foray into creative drama is a typical Charlie Brown record — instant failure.

It is Linus, the little blanket-toting philosopher, who finally sets things right for Charlie, Snoopy and all the Peanuts people.

New Techniques Used For Filming

That fact is signalled by a variety of interest-stirring film techniques such as Pop Art, Op Art, animation and superimposition which start the picture. Norman Panama, producer-director of the new release, due to open Sunday at the Ritz Theatre, chose sparkling screen techniques as the way to give his movie a contemporary look and, at the same time, plunge onlookers into the racy story of "Not With My Wife, You Don't!" The new comedy in Technicolor is Panama's first venture as a producer after 25 years as one of Hollywood's most successful and imaginative writer-directors. He is also co-author of the original story and the screenplay of "Not With My Wife."

In one form or another, "Not With My Wife" was in some stage of production for more than two years, commencing with special footage shot over the principal cities of Europe and ending with work at the March Air Force Base and the Warner Bros. lot in California. Tony Curtis, Virna Lisi and George C. Scott are the stars and the principals of "Not With My Wife" and together enact the giggle-making story of two friendly but competitive Air Force officers and their activities with an Italian beauty who is loved by both.

As Tom Ferris, a general's aide who values his wife and his career about equally, Tony Curtis makes his third recent starring appearance for Warner Bros. He was lately seen in that studio's "The Great Race" and "Sex and the Single Girl."

Virna Lisi, the beautiful Italian blonde, came from European films a few years back to star with Jack Lemmon in "How To Murder Your Wife" and stayed to star with Frank Sinatra in "Assault on a Queen." Now she plays an ever-loving but wayward wife who wants two of everything.
