American Planes Drop Surrender Leaflets Over Red Vietnam

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — U.S. cavalrymen battled Saturday to crush a Viet Cong force they estimated at battalion strength — 500 or so men — in a rugged coastal sector 300 miles northeast of Saigon. They radioed they had the enemy surrounded.

Nhon, on the South China Sea. A spokesman said interim reports after 12 hours of fighting told of moderate American losses, with 17 Viet Cong known dead.

A quirk showed up in the international controversy over midweek bombings that American authorities said were directed at — and limited to — railroad yards and a truck park on Hanoi's outskirts.

GUERRILLAS ATTACK Scattered fighting in the south was marked by another attack on Vietnamese government troops by the Viet Cong, who have seemed lately to be concentrating against them.

halt hostilities for 48 hours, briefing officers summarized Saturday's field reports: "A sizable guerrilla force attacked an understrength headquarters company of a government infantry battalion in the Mekong delta 66 miles southwest of Saigon. The company — estimated to total between 60 and 100 men — suffered heavy casualties.

Helicopters bore company after company of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division into the action, set off Saturday after a brush between a guerrilla squad and some of the flying horsemen 38 miles northwest of Qui PAPER WAR WAGED U.S. pilots waged war with paper over the Hanoi area Saturday. They loosed reams of surrender leaflets to drift with the wind on the North Vietnamese capital and other communities down the Red River. Bombers carried on elsewhere.

CHARGE IGNORED News agencies of the Soviet Union and East European Communist nations ignored Red China's charge that American planes had damaged heavily its Hanoi embassy Wednesday. Ordinarily giving full pay to Hanoi happenings, none mentioned the broadcast complaint from Pe-king. The U.S. command in Saigon has denied that American bombs fell within the city. North Vietnamese and Communist newsmen stationed in Hanoi say they did.

South Korea's Tiger Division

The American cavalrymen and the Viet Cong were engaged farther north. Cavalry detachments had been roving the area since Oct. 25 in a sweep called Operation Thayer II. In all they have reported killing 620 Communist troops, capturing 22 and seizing 144 weapons. Their own losses are officially classed as light.

Romney Says Budding Bid Blossoming

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP) — Michigan's Gov. George W. Romney said Saturday his budding but undeclared bid for the Republican presidential nomination had "moved faster than I had anticipated."

probably sometime after Christmas at his Texas ranch. Hughes said any Democratic governor who wanted to talk politics with the President would be invited.

CHRISTMAS BUYING RUSH Merchants happy as Yule spirit crowds stores with eager buyers

Tax Increase Dilemma Gives LBJ Headache

Vietnam Costs Carry Threat Of Inflation

Astrobugs Lost, Beyond Recovery

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two recent developments are pulling powerfully from opposite directions as President Johnson ponders whether to ask a tax increase in 1967 — as complex and difficult a decision as he has yet faced in the White House.

HONOLULU (AP) — A highly valued U.S. astrobug satellite was lost Saturday in space. It carried 10 million bug and plant specimens testing the effects man might experience on long-ranging flights in space.

Officially said the southern part of Austin was without electrical power from 4:15 p.m. until shortly before 5 p.m.

Fire Ravages NM Refinery

TATUM, N.M. (AP) — Only twisted pipelines and damaged vessels and tanks were left Saturday after a five-hour fire which ravaged the eastern portion of a Sinclair Oil and Refining Co. plant 12 miles east of Tatum Friday.

George Christian, White House press secretary, told newsmen at Austin, Tex., Saturday that Johnson "is always glad to see any governor at any time."

Christmas Business Brisk In Big Spring

Christmas business in Big Spring is ahead of last year and most stores anticipate a nice increase on their books by the time the holiday season ends.

enjoying good Christmas buying. Only one of the larger stores said that business was a little under last year. This store attributed part of this to the fact that fewer heavier articles were being bought.

ported heavy buying as a general rule. The post office has already reported a big increase in both incoming and outgoing mail.

On the one hand, a slight but clear slowdown in the economy is a strong argument against an increase which could aggravate the slowdown, perhaps even to the point of bringing on a recession.

On the other hand, there are Vietnam war costs running far higher than anticipated and carrying with them the threat of a gravely accelerated inflationary trend unless they are offset by a tax increase.

OUT OF CONTROL

The fire broke, spokesmen said, when a filter became overheated and ignited. The plant converts raw gasoline into butane and propane.

NO ANIMOSITY

"There was no animosity," said Iowa Gov. Harold E. Hughes, chairman of the Democratic caucus which blamed the party's election losses on an administration sentiment and assistance to the pace of Great Society expansion.

WARM WEATHER

The shopping centers also are enjoying good Christmas buying. One of the larger stores said that business was a little under last year.

'BEST EVER'

One mens' wear store said the Christmas trade was "the best ever" and anticipated the biggest volume the store has ever enjoyed.

FRUIT FLIES

With three days in the life of a fruit fly specimen amounting to years in a human life space, NASA scientists hoped for clues to judge what effects prolonged weightlessness and radiation would have on astronauts.

The mounting burst of home decorations, stepped-up shopping tempo, and seasonal music had another Christmas ally in the weather. The minimum of 14 degrees on Monday made it feel like Christmas with the day itself only one week away.

right. Not even the farmers would complain about some moisture now, for the cotton harvest is in the cleanup stages. At the end of the week, there were something like 32,000 bales ginned or on yards.

INSTEAD OF CARDS, GIFTS TO CHILDREN

The CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND neared the $1,000 mark today, thanks to a fine number of gifts. They came from a Brownie troop, from a trade organization, and from some people who made this Christmas gesture in lieu of sending local Christmas cards.

TOO PAINFUL

"I asked him — Peck — to expose to my view the manuscript of the story which I had never seen before," said Rifkind. "He was glad to exhibit it to me."

SNAPPED PICTURE

Photographers snapped a picture of Mrs. Kennedy leaving a building in the area. Rifkind said that in asking Mrs. Kennedy some questions he may have occasionally read her a few passages.

MRS. JFK REFUSES TO READ MANUSCRIPT

RELAXING, READING

"You'll know what tack our defense will take when you see our answer," said Greenbaum, Harper's counsel for 40 years. He was an Army brigadier general in World War II and is a former member of the U.S. delegation to the United Nations.

Shopping Days Left advertisement with a calendar graphic showing days remaining until Christmas. Includes text: 'CHRISTMAS SEALS fight TB and other RESPIRATORY DISEASES'.

As for cotton, producers here turned down the research and promotion $1-a-bale assessment proposal, but Texas farmers as a whole gave it more than the two-thirds majority, and so did producers nationally.

There is still time to enter the lighting contest. Perhaps several families need to round out their installations and will phone in their entries (no charge) to the Chamber of Commerce through Monday. Coahoma and Sand Springs are having their own contest, and entries should be called to Johnny Justiss, Coahoma Lions president.

Simon H. Rifkind, who filed a suit Friday in Manhattan Supreme Court on behalf of Mrs. Kennedy to block publication of the book, said he viewed the manuscript at the Wall Street office of David Peck, an attorney for Cowles Communications, one of the defendants.

Richard Goodwin, who was an assistant to the late President John F. Kennedy, arrived shortly after 1 p.m. at Peck's office. Mrs. Kennedy left the office with Goodwin about two hours later. Rifkind stayed on.

Greenbaum, 76, was spending the weekend at his Princeton, N.J., home relaxing and reading the court documents filed by the former First Lady.

Mrs. Kennedy asked the Supreme Court in Manhattan Friday to bar publication by Harper & Row and Look magazine of William Manchester's account of the assassination of President Kennedy and the events surrounding it.

No Change In Status Of Election Contest

Ray C. Nichols, county commissioner, whose re-election to that post is under contest in a petition filed by Winston Wrinkle, his Republican opponent, Nov. 8, has not filed an answer to the Wrinkle motion asking a check of the vote.

Attorneys say that Nichols has until Dec. 29 to take such action as he may elect. As of that date, if he wishes to oppose the contest, he must file a bond in the amount of two times the equivalent of two years salary as county commissioner. He can also file a reply if he desires.

Wrinkle will also have to post a bond in the same amount if he pursues the contest, attorneys say.

Should Nichols decide not to oppose the contest or to take part in any recheck of votes, he will probably be qualified as usual on Jan. 3 for a new term. After the contest, if allowed, has been completed — which lawyers estimate, could take months — should it develop that he was not elected the bond he has posted will be used to pay his successor the salary he drew as county commissioner in the interval.

Only eight votes separated the two candidates in the general election tabulations. Wrinkle is alleging that 14 persons whom he named in the motion for contest voted in voting Precinct 2 who were not legal residents of that box.

He alleges other errors may have occurred in the election due to the heavy vote, the long ballot and the inexperience of some of the election precinct workers.

Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, disqualified himself from hearing the contest when and if it develops. This will mean that he must get a fellow jurist from another county to sit in on the hearing. He has made no effort, he said, Friday, to find a substitute.

Nichols said recently that he has not as yet retained an attorney to represent him and that he had not made any definite decision on what his next step will be.

Mahon Sees Need For Spending Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the House Appropriations Committee said today he has detected "a pronounced grass roots demand" for reduced government spending. But he cautioned taxpayers not to expect drastic cutbacks.

"There just isn't too large an area where you can cut," Rep. George H. Mahon, D-Tex., said in an interview.

"The challenge facing the 90th Congress next year," Mahon added, "is to hold the line where possible and cut where possible so spending doesn't get out of line."

"We've got to give the war top priority and prune nondefense spending wherever we can."

Another key congressional Democrat, Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and assistant Democratic leader, said Vietnam war costs may produce a $20 billion deficit next fiscal year unless Johnson raises taxes or sharply cuts nondefense spending.

"This buildup for programs like medicare, aid to education and the war on poverty took decades," he added.

"What frightens me is what some of these new programs could cost if they continued to grow," Mahon said, noting that many of them have been given only initial financing.

"Congress should avoid further innovations," he said. "It should pass the necessary appropriation bills and go no farther in any significant way. This would give time for a shakedown in applying the new programs."

Mahon said he didn't think Congress would repeal any of the new programs because if it did the President would veto the action and the vetoes could not be overridden.

"It is unrealistic to expect the work of the 89th Congress to be undone by the 90th," he said. "But it should be reviewed and the brakes on spending for domestic programs should be applied judiciously."

Probate Term Is Revoked

Margarito Cuellar, who was given a four year probated sentence on a plea of guilty to murder without malice last April 14, must serve the sentence in state prison.

Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, sitting in Stanton, revoked the probation for Cuellar on Friday. Cuellar was placed in the Martin County jail and will be taken to the state prison to serve the four years. Cuellar had been arrested recently for DWI. This was a violation of the terms of his probation.

Cuellar was one of the first defendants in West Texas to take advantage of the new provision in the state criminal code which permits a guilty plea to a felony before the court without a jury. His was the first case in the 118th District Court to be handled by this method.

Cuellar was under indictment for the murder of Luis Aguilar on March 10, 1965. After testimony had been presented by the district attorney, Judge Caton accepted the plea of guilty of murder without malice and gave the defendant the probated sentence.

A NEW SERVICE

Moscow To Get Baby-Sitters

MOSCOW (AP)—Moscow will get its first baby sitter service next year.

Parents in the Soviet capital now have to rely on relatives or friends if they want to go out and leave the children at home. The custom of neighboring girls working as baby sitters is little known here.

With the organization set up, a telephone call will solve the problem. A sitter will come and stay until parents get back.

This is only one of several innovations aimed at making Moscow life easier.

Starting next year the Muscovite will be able to call for—

- A pianist to play at a wedding party.
- An interior decorator to give advice on improving the appearance of the family apartment.
- A student to tutor a child having trouble with school work.
- A dressmaker to alter clothes to conform to the newest style.
- Someone to look after the flowers and pets while the family is on vacation.
- A cook to prepare food for parties.
- A nurse to care for sick relatives.
- A small jazz orchestra for private dances.

The paper Evening Moscow, which announced the new services, said it has received many calls from readers which show how great the need is.

The postwar prosperity of the Soviet Union, compared with the Spartan days under Stalin, has created demand for services which once would have been contemptuously dismissed as bourgeois.

Major Expansion At Wolters Told

FT. WOLTERS, Tex. (AP)—The Army's private helicopter center here, which turns out fliers for the Vietnam war among other things, will undergo major expansion, Col. E. P. Fleming Jr., commandant of the U.S. Army Primary Helicopter School, reported Saturday.

Fleming's announcement followed a Defense Department decision to increase the number of Army helicopter pilots trained per month from 375 to 575.

BIG BUILDUP

Ft. Wolters will experience a 50 per cent increase in its student load. Under the expansion the students in residence will exceed 3,000.

The buildup will necessitate expansion of facilities at Wolters. Details of these needs are still being worked out but will include the construction of a third heliport, four additional tactical stage-fields and six refueling and autorotation areas.

FLEET INCREASED

Some of the other needs are living quarters, classroom and administrative space and mess halls. Certain existing facilities such as the post exchange and special services facilities will also be expanded.

The helicopter fleet will expand to about 1,150 aircraft, an increase of approximately 400.

Warrant officer candidate pilots undergo 20 weeks primary flight training here and officer student pilots undergo 16 weeks of training. Both take an additional 16 weeks advanced flight training at the Army Aviation School at Ft. Rucker, Ala.

Ex-Hubby Jailed In Contempt Case

Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, ordered Arthur Lewis to jail Friday for contempt of court.

Lewis was committed, under the order of the court, until he has purged himself of contempt by paying his ex-wife the $1,000 the court held he is in arrears in child support payments.

Judge Caton said that the defendant has made no payments for child support since the divorce and that actually he was $3,500 in arrears. His ex-wife had cited him for contempt. Neither Lewis nor Mrs. Lewis was represented by attorneys at the hearing.

Electrical Group Plan For Social

The Permian Basin Section of the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers and the Permian Basin Chapter of the Instrument Society of America will hold a joint Christmas banquet on Monday evening, Dec. 19, in the Cave Room of the Lincoln Hotel in Odessa. The evening will begin with a social hour at 6:30 p.m., followed by a buffet dinner at 7:30 p.m.

A film entitled "The Hidden Earth," dealing with a study of earthquakes and volcanoes and some basic questions concerning the structure of planet earth, will be shown.

Non-Farm Job Placements Up

Big Spring office of the Texas Employment Commission made more nonagricultural job placements in November this year than in 1965, but it placed 10 fewer workers on agricultural jobs, according to Leon Kinney, office manager.

There were 346 unemployment claims filed in November this year compared with 333 a year ago. The office had had 235 job openings listed last month and 245 a year ago.

New applications dropped last month to 157 compared with 200 in November 1965. State wide there was a drop of 46,000 in claims for unemployment compensation for the two months. In November 1965, the TEC paid out $2.8 million in unemployment claims. This past month payments were only $1.9 million.

YARBOROUGH DECLARES:

College Tuition Boost To Short Change Pupils

AUSTIN (AP) — Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., asserted Saturday that a proposed state college tuition hike would "give an edge to the enemy called ignorance."

"We are abdicating our responsibilities in Texas if we more than double the tax upon an education," Yarborough told high school and college pupils at a statewide youth conference of Southern and United Presbyterians.

Delhi Shakes

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—An earth tremor of moderate intensity shook Delhi and other cities of north central India for about 30 seconds early today (3:30 p.m. EST Friday). No damage or casualties were immediately reported.

He spoke at length about the recommendation last week of the Texas College Coordinating Board to raise tuition in state colleges by charging $7 a semester hour or about $105 for the normal class load instead of the present flat $50 a semester charge.

"This is a tax escalation in this state unmatched by any other tax escalation proposal," he asserted.

Yarborough claimed that "special interests in this state have been treated as sacred cows. They have not carried their share of the educational load. Now a board which is heavily weighed in favor of these interests seeks to place this tax burden upon the young students who will supply its own brains and manpower in the years ahead."

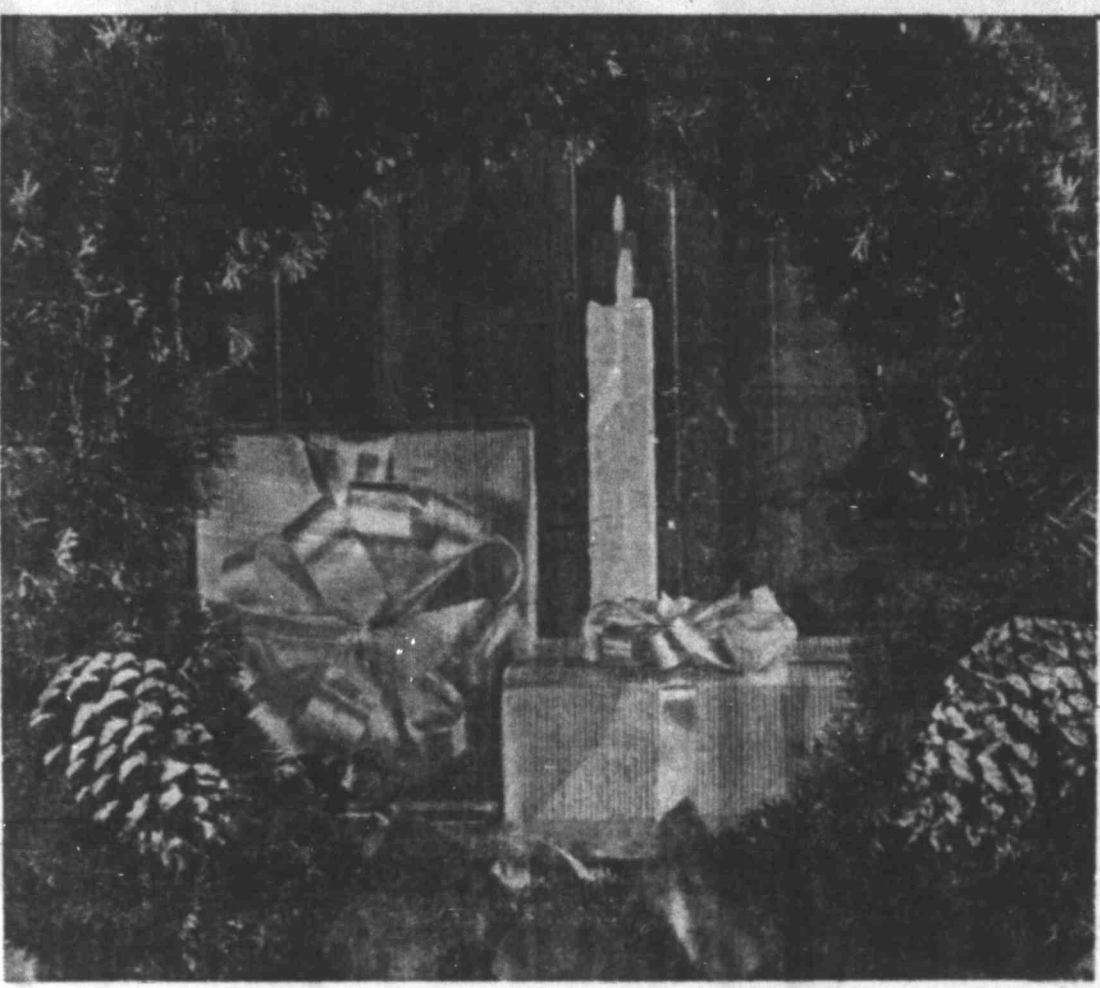

"This student tax is not really new money. It is the short-changing of the student who must give up a portion of his own funds, his scholarship money or his college loan that might have gone toward the purchase of needed books for his studies. We are not actually gaining money but only mortgaging the students instead of property, to the student's detriment."

Times Have Changed Since Phillips Hung Around Port

Back here on a business trip last week, J. D. Phillips turned it into something of a sentimental journey.

He looked up a few of the aviation bugs of a generation ago and drove out by where he landed as a passenger in the first plane to touch down where Webb AFB now is located.

Since he was a lad growing up here, Phillips has lived flying. Today, as one of Delta's ranking captains, he has some six million miles and nearly 25,000 flying hours to his credit.

By all odds he has eight years left before retirement at 60, and he intends to make the most of them. He regularly flies 30,000 to 35,000 miles a month. In today's gigantic DC-8 jet, he makes a round-trip trans-continental flight in less time than he went to Las Vegas, Nev., and return less than 10 years ago.

LIVES AT EULESS
Phillips, who carries the inevitable tag of "Curley" because the hair has slipped off the top of his head, lives at Euless, near Fort Worth, where he is a director in the Northeast National Bank. He and his wife, the former Geraldene (Jerry) McClendon have two daughters and a son.

He flies out of Dallas, zipping to Los Angeles, Calif., and then back to Atlanta, Ga., by mid-afternoon. He spends the night there, then goes to New York and back home by the next afternoon.

When he was a small lad, the town's landing field was the area approximately between the old high school stadium and the college. There was a barnstormer by the name of Harry Crudeson who let J. D. fool around the old Jenney. He was with Crudeson when he sat down on the 275-acre field which community leaders soon bought as a port site. By March 1, 1929, Howard Woodall put down the first TAT plane and Big Spring had air service.

Young Phillips hung around the municipal airport, the hangar and the American Airlines terminal every spare minute. He got to know Woodall and Homer Rader, now retired, Ira McGonabey, Stormy Mangrum and many other veteran pioneer pilots.

YOUNG TEACHER
Crudeson had given him a

J. D. PHILLIPS

touch of flying, but it was from Don Teele that he got his license. Soon he was working with such old timers as Tex Richards and had his own flying school. Among Phillips' pupils were the late W. K. (Bill) Edwards, the veteran Couden pilot, and Raymond Plunkett, now chief of American Airlines pilots at Fort Worth.

When the war came on, he went into service, and when the war was over, he joined Delta in 1945. Among his proud possessions is a membership in the O-X-5 Club, an exclusive group of men who learned to fly in old World War I Jenneys.

He's flown about everything in between up to the biggest transport in service today. Occasionally Phillips gets to talking with some of the "veteran" pilots and recalls something that leaves them with a blank look. Then he realizes that his 34 years of flying is longer than most of them have lived.

Flight Birthday Is Observed

KITTY HAWK, N. C. (AP)—Aviation paid its homage Saturday to Orville and Wilbur Wright, the Dayton, Ohio, bicycle shop operators who made powered flight's first brief ascent 63 years ago Saturday on North Carolina's windy outer banks.

In a flimsy biplane of thin wood, wired braces and treacherous gas engine, Orville soared 120 feet on the foot of a tall sand dune called Kill Devil Hill. There the air was born.

A group of F102 swept-wing Delta Dagger jets hissing at supersonic speeds flew across the site Saturday.

Wreaths were laid at the foot of the 65-foot Wright Brothers Memorial Monument.

SELDOM SCORE BONANZA

Television Providing Features For Theaters

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Much has been written about how the movie companies supply movies to television. Less publicized is the fact that television is also providing features for theaters.

This is nothing new. The film companies tried to cash in on the immense success of stars and programs in the new medium. Only one was a success. "Dragnet" was expanded to feature length and it grossed $5 million, a whopping figure in 1954.

SCANT SUCCESS

Other efforts failed. Warner Bros. starred Milton Berle, then Mr. Television, in "Always Leave Them Laughing," but he didn't. Features were made of "Our Miss Brooks," "The Lone Ranger," "The Goldbergs," etc., all with scant success.

Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz scored in "The Long, Long Trailer" at the peak of their television fame, though they did not play their "I Love Lucy" roles. Another film with the pair, "Forever Darling," was a failure.

Now the studios are taking another flier at mining film subjects from television. The most successful venture has been MGM's conversion of segments of "The Man From U.N.C.L.E." into big-screen attractions. The popularity of stars Robert Vaughn and David McCallum has helped push the features to greater income than some of the studio's regular movies.

'BATMAN' FLOPS

20th Century-Fox followed suit with a release of the first three segments of the defunct television series, "Blue Light," which starred Robert Goulet. They were released under the title, "I Deal in Danger." Fox also attempted a feature-length version of the freak hit, "Batman," but it failed to create bat-millions at the boxoffice.

Nor did Universal score impressively with its feature, "Munsters Go Home," filmed after the series had been canceled. Columbia aimed its cartoon feature, "The Man Called Flintstone," at the kiddie market with middling results.

With rare exceptions, these movies seldom score a bonanza at the nation's theaters. But they help fill the bottom half of double features. Theater men find feature products so scarce nowadays, they'll consider anything—even if it has played on television.

After the holiday glitter... will you have to borrow to pay the bills?

When all the packages are opened and all the pretty wrappings discarded... will you need a loan to pay for the fun? Repaying that loan will cost you a pretty penny in interest charges. But if you make the habit of saving, you will have the money when you need it. The difference between borrowing to pay the bills next Christmas and saving ahead and getting earnings on your savings can make a big difference in your holiday enjoyment. Saving makes the difference.

An official Texas historical marker to formally designate the route followed by Capt. Randolph B. Marcy to the "big spring" here has been received by Lee Porter, county judge.

C-City Purchases Hospital Property

COLORADO CITY (SC)—Colorado City purchased the Root Memorial Hospital facilities Friday night for a price of $365,000 from Charles Root, son of the hospital founder.

Bynum Given New Fina Job

DALLAS—Appointment of B. Doyle Bynum as manager of retail development in Fina's marketing department was announced here. Also, J. R. Taylor was named as supervisor of the construction and maintenance section.

The retail development department is responsible for all service station leases; real estate purchases; station design, construction and maintenance; and purchase of all station equipment.

Bynum joined Cosden Petroleum Corporation in April, 1952. After branded sales representative assignments in West Texas and New Mexico, he was named real estate manager. When Fina acquired all of the assets of Cosden in April, 1963, Bynum transferred to Dallas as real estate supervisor.

Vassar Might Move To Yale

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Trustees of Yale University and Vassar, the Poughkeepsie, N.Y., women's college, will study the feasibility of moving Vassar to New Haven.

The central question to be answered in the study is: Could Vassar move here and remain an independent college?

Vassar President Alan Simpson called the proposal "imaginative and exciting." Simpson said Vassar would have to determine whether its identity could be preserved, whether the proposed New Haven site was big enough, and "whether the prodigious human, legal and financial problems are surmountable."

be put in place until after the holidays. The 18 x 28-inch cast aluminum plate has a Swedish steel effect for durability and appearance. It was sponsored by the Texas Historical Survey Committee. The marker is now in the Howard County court room where it will remain in its original packing until such time as a ceremony to dedicate it can be arranged by Judge Porter and Ed Fisher, chairman of the Howard County Historical Survey committee.

The marker will be placed in the Big Spring City Park at a spot near the route Marcy probably followed in 1849.

When it is in place, it will be listed in all official tourist guides to help stimulate tourist trade and historical interest.

The marking of local historic sites and landmarks is a part of the five-year program of the Texas Historical Survey committee, whose program is officially called "RAMPS." This means Recordation, Appreciation, Marking, Preservation and Surveys of Texas history.

The program will ultimately mark 5,000 historic spots in Texas.

Inscription on the marker to be placed in the City Park: "Route of Marcy's Trail." Mapped by Captain Randolph Marcy, in charge of U.S. Army detail guarding citizens bound for California Gold Rush.

"Captain Marcy exploded theory that West Texas was a desert. In making his map, he traveled along a chain of springs and lakes known to Comanche guide, Manuel. In October 1849, reached the Big Spring—a site marked by the many converging Indian trails.

"From here he went northeast toward Red River. "Trail was later used by many emigrants, and was followed by a Transcontinental Railroad and Stagecoach line." (1966)

Whooping Crane Population Is Down By One

AUSTIN (AP) — Forty-three whooping cranes, one less than last year, have arrived at their winter feeding grounds on the Texas coast.

The Texas Wildlife Department said Friday that the rare cranes are getting supplementary wheat and milo because a norther pushed water from their favorite feeding grounds. The extra food was grown to insure the whoopers didn't eat food treated with pesticides.

Only five young were in the flock that flew from far northern Canada, the birds' breeding area, said Phil Morgan, manager of the Aransas National Wildlife refuge. Last winter's flock included eight young, he said.

Rep. Burleson To Assist In VA Ceremony

Congressman Omar Burleson, representative of the 17th Congressional District, will visit here Friday, when he and Mrs. Burleson will participate in a Christmas lighting ceremony at the VA hospital.

Although the Christmas displays were turned on last week, a 60-foot-tree of garlands and lights on the front of the building will be turned on for the first time by the visitors.

The Goliad Junior High School choir, under the direction of Mrs. Joseph Dawes, will open the program at 5 p.m. with 15 minutes of Christmas music in the main lobby. The congressman will bring a brief Christmas message to the hospitalized veterans gathered in the lobby around two white flocked trees decorated with gold and blue ornaments.

Following the singing of "Do You Hear What I Hear" by the choir, the assembly will go to the front of the hospital where Congressman and Mrs. Burleson will turn on the lights. The presentation of "O, Christmas Tree" by the choir will conclude over the hospital's radio system the ceremony.

The public is invited. Bed patients will hear the program as they distribute Christmas gifts to the veterans. Later, the hospital director and his wife and Mrs. Burleson will be guests at a reception hosted by Van Meter.

THE WEEK

the next few days, it's going to be slim pickings—maybe no pickings—for a hundred or more families. In other words, the Salvation Army desperately needs more money in its kettles.

Death removed the area's No. 1 oil pioneer unexpectedly last week. Fred Hyer, who discovered the Howard-Glasscock oil field in November 1925, was stricken fatally as he prepared to make an annual journey to Fort Worth for the Last Man's Club. Like many who find vast oil deposits, Fred Hyer never became fabulously wealthy (although he reaped comfortable rewards), but then it wouldn't have turned his head had he made millions. Fred Hyer was a real person, modest, friendly.

There were two tragedies in our vicinity. James Norman Yates, 35, apparently stepped out the rear of a horse trailer as it sped down I-20 and was killed in the fall. Friday Pedro Anaya, 18, who was born and reared at Ackerly, was killed when he fell into a seed truck and suffocated at Ackerly.

We had some interesting oil developments. Brown & Heath No. 1 Clayton, north of the Luck-Pot field in western Borden County, had free oil on a test from 8,224-425. Baxter No. 1 Glasscock, 10 miles southeast of Garden City was reported at a Clear Fork discovery at 5,109-154. At that depth, it sounds more like Dean or Wolfcamp to us.

Herman Smith took over the coaching reins last autumn of a team his predecessor said would be hard pressed to win a game. He won four, including two conference games, but that apparently wasn't enough. The school board, in an unannounced session, decided Herman wasn't a Duffy Daugherty. So applications are being taken for head coach and athletic director.

For the fourth consecutive time, the Prairie Pilot has been chosen as the best newspaper in Category II in the Air Training Command. To win this honor is something, but to keep repeating it is really something. The Webb AFB paper now will compete for the best in its size in the entire Air Force. Once it won that honor, too.

The Texas Water Rights Commission last week heard applications in Austin for sponsorship of a dam at Stacy on the Colorado River southeast of Paint Rock. San Angelo made the original plea, but there were others at the hearing. Consequently, the hearing was continued subject to call, which probably means nothing will be done for quite a long time.

Our young people gave good accounts of themselves. The high school drama department, on Monday and Wednesday, did a really fine job on "Our Town," the nostalgic Thornton Wilder play. The HCJC choir was outstanding in its Christmas concert Tuesday.

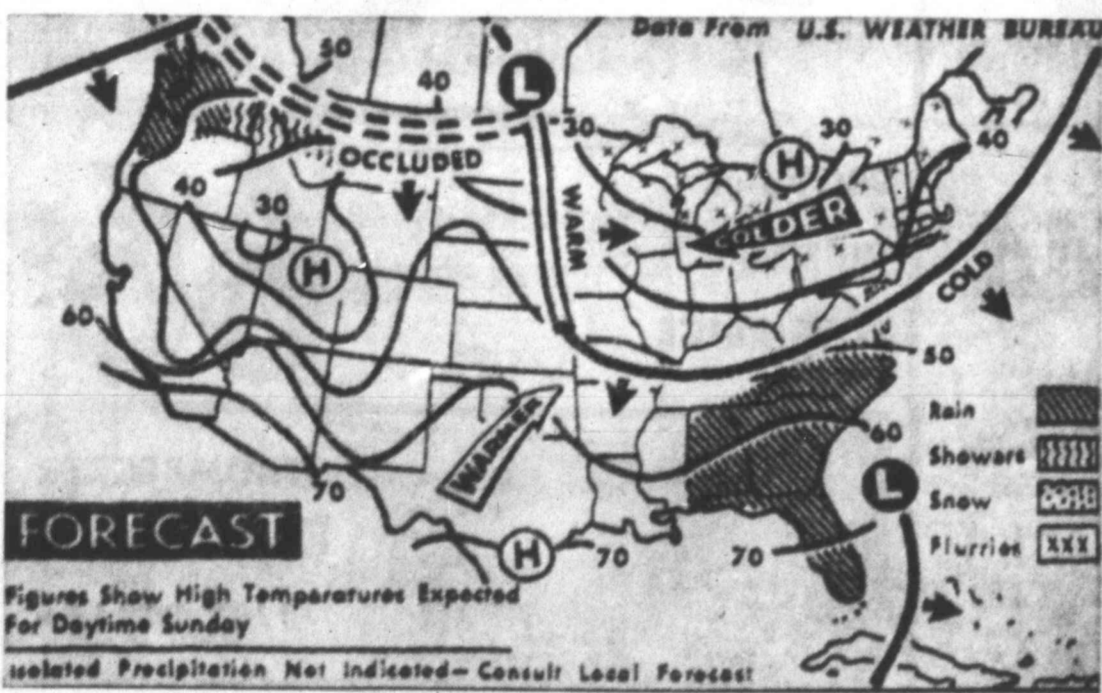

The City Commission voted to change the zoning on property at 25th and Birdwell to multi-dwelling last week. This climaxes a long struggle in which five hearings were had by the zoning board, and two appeals made to the commission.

Governor's Budget Calls For $65 Million In New Taxes

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally asked the 1967 Legislature Sunday for $911.5 million to cover major state spending in 1968-69—a request that would create a new tax need of at least $65 million.

There were indications from other sources that emergency appropriations to be asked by the governor may hike the need for new state revenue to $75 million.

Connally asked substantial salary raises for state employees but none for public school teachers.

$4.66 BILLION
The governor's proposed budget, mailed Thursday to all state senators and representatives, would spend $4.66 billion from all sources the next two fiscal years, including federal funds, compared to estimated 1966-67 expenditures of $3.95 billion. The coming two-year fiscal period, for which funds must be appropriated, begins Sept. 1, 1967.

The $911.5 million from the general revenue fund, which finances most of the state government's operations, compares with estimated 1966-67 general revenue spending of $621.5 million.

The governor's budget office has estimated that about $847 million in general revenue will be available in 1968-69, including expected income and a fiscal surplus of about $138 million.

BUDGET BOARD
Just last week the Legislative Budget Board, a joint Senate-House budgetary advisory group, recommended a general revenue budget of $835 million to fit their own estimate of that much available income.

The governor's budget includes $3.5 million for a state-wide driver education program which is not included in present spending or in the Legislative Board recommendation.

Connally recommended increased spending in every department of state government, particularly for education, state agencies and for state hospitals and special schools. Many of the details already have been announced in special releases or news conferences on various departments.

NEW PAY PLAN
The governor recommended a complete new pay plan that would give an average over-all salary increase of about 20 percent. Top state department heads, such as the comptroller, treasurer, land commissioner and director of the Department of Public Safety would get pay raises of several thousand dollars to $25,000 annually. The chief justice of the State Supreme Court and attorney general would be jumped from $20,000 and $22,500 to $27,500 each.

In the lower echelons, the governor's suggested increases would mean $636 more a year to some workers and as much as $4,954 more annually to others. He also urged merit salary increases based on performance of the best employees.

Other high lights of the governor's budget include:
—Increases of about $2,000 for judges of court of criminal appeals, associate justices of the Supreme Court and associate justices of the 13 courts of civil appeals.

—Increased state money to match federal funds for crippled children's programs in hospitals and institutions.

FOR MENTALLY ILL
—Expand and continue state assistance to local communities for care of the mentally ill and mentally retarded in local hospitals. Continue state efforts to work with local sources in providing halfway houses and outpatient clinics for mental health patients. Appropriate $7.9 million for research and training in neuropsychiatry at the Houston Psychiatric Institute. Construct the Dallas Neuro-psychiatric Institute and the Institute for Human Growth and Development at Austin, as proposed previously. Expand facilities for mentally retarded at Corpus Christi and Lubbock schools.

—More juvenile parole officers recommended, along with construction of a new institution to house at least 240 delinquent girls at an undesignated site.

—A grant of $119,510 to continue screwworm eradication program.

NEW BUILDING
—Appropriation of $3 million for new state office building and about $1 million for property acquisition to expand Capitol complex.

—Granting of a request of $25,000 to renovate, landscape and illuminate the governor's mansion but not the $500,000 the Building Commission asked for a new mansion.

—Addition of six psychologists and five sociologists to treatment staff of the Department of Corrections but no money asked for a requested institution for the criminally insane.

—Finance an investigation of illegal and unethical practices in engineering as authorized by the last legislature.

—Establish the Fine Arts Commission as a permanent state agency with a $400,000 appropriation. Commission to absorb the archaeology division of the Building Commission.

PLANNING
—Expand the governor's office with emphasis on new divisions for long range planning, inter-departmental relationships, information programs and federal-state relations. The governor's chief assistant would be upped from $16,500 to $22,500 annually.

Give the Commission on Indian Affairs $1.3 million in general revenue funds for a $2.7 million state-federal project to help the Alabama-Coushatta Indians build and maintain reservation facilities to attract tourists and become self sustaining.

—Continued development of appropriate state parks with the comment by only 31 per cent of Texas' present park acreage is suitable for intensive recreation development. Connally said in his budget that he would ask the coming legislature to submit a $75 million ten-year bond program to voters in 1967 to acquire needed land for park expansion. The bonds would be financed by a charge of not less than $1 for each car entering recreational areas.

OIL AND GAS
—Addition of 36 employees to the oil and gas division of the Railroad Commission to enforce controls on pollution of water, both ground and surface, by oil and gas development.

—Addition of 214 new highway patrolmen plus other clerical and technical personnel for increased license surveillance including road tests for commercial and chauffeur licenses and retesting of the vision of all licenses every four years.

—Increase of fees for documents handled by the secretary of state to care for the deluge of instruments filed under the new Uniform Commercial Code.

—Establish four branch offices of the States Securities Board.

—Funds to add non-citizen residents of Texas to public assistance rolls as authorized by voters in a constitutional amendment. Additional funds for old age assistance, dependent children and disabled benefits recipients to match available federal funds. Make state funds available for participation in the medicare (title 18) program for the aged and set up a state welfare administration to participate in medicare (Title 19).

Summer Jobs At Base Liberalized
An announcement liberalizing conditions for the 1967 Summer Employment Program was made today by Warren A. Farrow, civilian personnel officer at Webb. Farrow's announcement read in part:

"The restriction on employment of sons and daughters of military members of the U.S. Forces and civilian employees has now been amended to allow employment, under certain conditions, of these applicants who qualify under Announcement Number 401, Office and Science Assistant Positions for clerical type work."

"Applicants must file their request to take the written test by Jan. 9, 1967, for the final examination which will be given Feb. 4. Contact the local U.S. Post Office or Civilian Personnel Office, Webb Air Force Base, for application forms and additional information."

Fresh From Viet Duty, Capt. Eggen At Webb

Capt. Leonard D. Eggen is working on his second duty tour and his third assignment at Webb. After an eight-year absence, including a year's flying service in Vietnam, the captain has returned to duty here.

Capt. Eggen is instructing students in instrument procedures and T-38 systems in the academics section of the 3561st Student Squadron. In common with many academics instructors, he also serves as a behind-the-lines T-38 instructor pilot. He is active in Webb's speaker bureau and was recently awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for his service in Vietnam.

The captain entered the flying training program at Webb in August, 1954 and received his wings a year later. Following instructor training at Craig AFB, Ala., Capt. Eggen returned to Webb. He was, from July, 1955 until June, 1958, a T-38 instructor pilot in the program here.

OTHER ASSIGNMENTS
From 1958 through 1961, Capt. Eggen was at Randolph AFB, teaching in the jet qualification course and pilot instructor training. He taught in undergraduate pilot training at Laughlin AFB from November, 1961 through May, 1963, then went to the F-102 school at Perrin AFB, and the F-101B school at Tyndall AFB, Fla. Following a year's duty at Oxnard AFB, Calif., the captain completed OIE training at Hurlbert, Fla. He went to Vietnam in June, 1965.

Capt. Eggen had varied duty in Vietnam. Assigned to a province, he served as advisor to the province chief, as air liaison officer and as a forward air controller (FAC).

One of his duties was to keep the province chief advised on air operations. Capt. Eggen (and other FACs) made visual reconnaissance flights, keeping his area under steady surveillance if the correlated information justified a strike, he called in fighters and directed them to targets. Afterwards, he made flights to evaluate results.

FLY OVER FORCES

For a division or sector operation, the captain flew over the ground troops to call in needed fighters.

"We knew the terrain and the order of battle, and we were in constant radio contact with the ground troops," he said. It was for one of these division operations that Capt. Eggen received the Distinguished Flying Cross.

"Two Vietnamese companies, accompanied by American advisers," he related, "were moving up the side of a steep, rocky mountain. They were having a rough time getting up. Viet Cong troops opened fire on them from well-entrenched positions. The Vietnamese troops were completely pinned down; even a slight leg movement would draw fire."

"It was my job to fly low over the battle area and show Viet Cong and friendly positions to the fighters. They were so close, normal marking was not possible. The fighters made two dry passes to be sure of their targets. They then dropped cluster bomb units, driving the VC to defensive positions. This let friendly troops withdraw from the trap."

On one occasion, he recalled, an outpost was attacked just as a flight of fighters checked in for an air strike at another location. Five minutes after the attack on the outpost began the fighters were dropping ordnance on the VC positions. There was an explosion and heavy casualties suffered by the attacking force.

"This," he continued, "is one of the chief things air power can do in the delta provinces. The Viet Cong can form no large units without being observed and attacked. Their activity is limited strictly to guerrilla-type warfare."

Grade, Volume Decline At Cotton Classing Units

ABILENE — Samples classed passed the 300,000 mark this week at the USDA Cotton Classing Office in Abilene. Officer in charge, B. B. Manly Jr. reports 44,000 bales were classed for the week ending Dec. 16 as compared to 52,000 for the previous week. This brings the seasons total classed to 307,000. About 12,500 bales were classed from Martin, Glasscock and Howard counties.

Consumer and Marketing statistics show grades for District One dropped again last week. Thirty-eight per cent was called spotted as compared to 32 per cent the preceding week. Sixteen per cent was reduced in grade because of bark. Predominant grades were 31 per cent middling light spotted, 23 per cent strict low middling light spotted, 23 per cent middling spotted, and 13 per cent strict low middling spotted.

Staple lengths were one per cent, 7-8; 18 per cent 29-32; 70 per cent 15-16, nine per cent 31-32; and two per cent 1 inch and longer.

Sixty-five per cent miked in the desirable 3.5-4.9 range. Others were one pct., 2.6 and below; five pct., 2.7-2.9; 15 pct., 3.0-3.2; and 13 pct., 3.3-3.4.

Prices on cotton dropped slightly last week. Middling light spotted cotton is selling at even to 40 points over government loan. Spotted cotton and lower light spotted grades are bringing up to 75 points over loan value.

LAMESA — Daily sample receipts declined last week at the USDA's Lamesa Classing Office, according to J. U. Dedear, officer in charge. The 23,500 samples classed during the week brought the season total to 167,000.

Grades declined some last week with strict low middling light spotted, 45 per cent of the total was classed as such. A further breakdown shows middling light spotted comprised 12 pct., low middling light spotted five pct., middling spotted 16 pct., and strict low middling spotted 13 pct.

A summary of the staple lengths shows 67 per cent was classed as 15-16 inch, 17 per cent 31-32 inch, 11 per cent 29-32 inch and two per cent 7-8 inch.

Micronaire readings were lower with seven pct. falling in the 2.6 or below category. Eighteen per cent was 2.7 through 2.9; 24 pct., 3.0 through 3.2; 16 pct., 3.3 through 3.4 and 35 pct., 3.5 or higher. Prices ranged 25 to 75 points over the loan.

Steers Claim Roswell Title

ROSWELL, N.M.—Big Spring responded with a tremendous team effort in the finals of the Roswell Invitational Basketball tournament after several regulars got in foul trouble and won over Roswell High, 67-63.

Robert Jackson put the Steers ahead to stay, at 61-59, with a bucket two minutes before the end. Richard Green followed with two points and Danny Clendenin clinched it with a two-pointer.

Roswell had reached the final with an exciting 70-69 victory over Clovis. Odessa Ector won third place by turning back Clovis 65-57.

Members of the all-tournament were Johnson and Jackson, both of Big Spring; Dwight Jarns, Jerry Johnson and Bill Miltstead, all of Roswell High; Clarence Redic and Larry Leek, both of Ector; Roy Davis and Dan Shelby, both of Clovis; Craig Anderson, NMMI; Robert Jackson, Midland High; and Benny Rogers, Roswell Godard.

Dunbar Slams Coahoma Five In Title Go

STANTON — Lubbock Dunbar, a Negro school, copped the boys' championship in the Stanton Invitational Basketball tournament by defeating Coahoma, 78-51, here Saturday night.

Coahoma had reached the final with a shocking upset at the expense of previously unbeaten Stanton, 51-49. Stanton recovered to win its 18th game of the year at the expense of Sands in the battle for third place, 78-63.

Tahoka captured consolation honors in the boys' bracket with a 60-52 success over Garden City.

Bob Blake had 22 points for Dunbar and Larry McKinney 13 for Coahoma in the championship game.

Stanton won the girls' division, defeating Flower Grove in the finals, 65-55. Janelle Tate counted 30 points for Stanton and Cindy Dykes 29 for Flower Grove.

Coahoma captured third place with a 43-41 triumph over Tahoka.

Flower Grove had reached the girls' finals with a 60-44 victory over Sands while Stanton was turning back Coahoma, 56-53.

In boys' semifinals, Dunbar routed Sands by a score of 99-42.

Seminfinals (Boys): LUBBOCK DUNBAR (98) — Hollins 74-42; Johnson 84-17; Phillips 84-20; C. Williams 62-14; Blalock 1-0-2; R. 4-8-8; Blake 2-0-4; Skel 2-0-4; Moore 1-0-1.

Mustangs Trip Midwestern 5

DALLAS (AP) — Southern Methodist's Denny Holman and Charles Beasley turned loose an almost flawless fast break and the Mustangs overcame stubborn Midwestern 59-74 in a non-conference basketball game Saturday night.

Midwestern, on the outside shooting of Jim Wall and Herman Cofer, jumped to a 19-0 lead early in the first half. The Holman-Beasley fast break combination went to work and the Mustangs went into halftime in front 45-41.

The Rebels made only two serious scoring threats. A fumble recovery set up the first chance late in the first period, but Jimmy Keyes' 43-yard field goal attempt was wide. A 65-yard third period threat was halted at the Texas eight, about two feet short of a first down.

It was the first time in 17 games the Rebels failed to score, and it was the second time in three years for a favored Mississippi team to lose in the Bluebonnet classic. Two years ago, the Rebels were bombed 14-7 by passes by Tulsa's Jerry Rhome.

Both Mississippi and Texas were playing in their 15th bowl game, including 10 straight for the Rebels. The victory boosted Texas' bowl game record to 9-4-2. The defeat dropped Mississippi's to 9-6.

An offside penalty figured prominently in the first Texas scoring drive. The Steers gave a fourth and one situation from their 20. Bradley got a punt away, but a Rebel was offside and the five-yard penalty gave the Steers new life with a first down at their 25.

Dallas Backs Into Title; Browns Rip St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Cleveland spotted St. Louis a 10-point lead, then roared back on the passing of Frank Ryan to thrash the Cardinals 38-10 Saturday and give Dallas the National Football League's Eastern Conference championship.

Dallas, which plays the Giants at New York Sunday, has a 9-3-1 record while Cleveland, now in second place in the Eastern Conference, has a 9-5 record.

Dallas will play Western Conference champion Green Bay at Dallas Jan. 1 for the NFL championship.

The loss, which was the fourth in the last five games for St. Louis, gives the Cardinals an 8-5-1 season record. St. Louis, which had been no lower than AUSTIN (AP) — San Angelo watched the clock tick off the first quarter. Ken Newman converted after the first tally as he did after the other two San Angelo scores.

Collins' second touchdown came with 9:33 remaining in the second period.

San Angelo's defense was so effective in the first half that Spring Branch could get only 16 yards rushing and three passing. It was midway through the second quarter before Spring Branch got its first first down.

As the final gun sounded, the San Angelo fans—most of them clad in orange attire—raced on the field and surrounded the Bobcat squad.

The Bobcats started off as if they would run away with the game, driving for 65 and 61 yards the first two times they had the ball. Collins made most of the yardage, scoring the first touchdown with 6:34 left in the

Laney Cook Leads Sonora To Rout Of Schulenburg

SAN MARCOS, Tex. (AP) — Sonora, led by the left-handed passing and fierce running of quarterback Laney Cook, crushed Schulenburg 40-14 Saturday night to win the state Class A schoolboy football championship.

Cook scored two touchdowns, one of them on a 52-yard run, intercepted three passes and peppered the Schulenburg secondary with pin-point passing.

Dennis Demel, Schulenburg quarterback, provided Sonora all the breaks the champions needed. Seven of Demel's passes were intercepted by the sharp Sonora defense, giving the West Texans good field position time after time.

But Demel sparkled on the field for the first Schulenburg touchdown and frequently pulled his team out of trouble with alert and speedy ball-carrying.

Cook's long run came four minutes into the second half. The big, senior quarterback kept the ball, circled right end, shrugged off two tacklers, cut back to the left and raced to the goal.

On the first play after the ensuing kickoff, a Demel pass was intercepted, giving Sonora possession on Schulenburg's 30. Mike Gosney punched over from the seven four plays later.

Early in the fourth quarter Ed Lee Renfro intercepted another Demel pass and raced it back 23 yards. Minutes later Cook went over from the three for Sonora's final touchdown.

Only the first quarter was a real contest.

Sonora scored on its second possession of the game, going 50 yards in five plays after Cook intercepted a Demel pass.

Renfro provided the big punch of the drive with a 24-yard run, and Cook then hit Noe Chavez with an 18-yard toss. Gosney carried over two plays later from the five.

Late in the same quarter, Demel took a Cook punt and the fleet, 145-pound quarterback cut to the sidelines, and then spurred 85 yards for a touchdown-to tie the score.

But Sonora, with Cook passing with machine-like accuracy and Gosney getting good yardage with every carry, came back quickly. The West Texans scored on each of their next possessions, going 75 yards in 13 plays on one drive and 86 yards in only seven plays on the next.

Cook and Renfro teamed up in the old chestnut, the Statue of AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Swift-striking Sweeny wore out a massive Granbury team in the second half Saturday night, beating the Pirates 29-7 for the State Class AA schoolboy football championship.

The Bulldogs, from the Gulf Coast southwest of Houston, spotted Granbury a 7-6 halftime lead before quarterback Jim Lindsey got his team moving.

It was Sweeny's first state title in its first trip to the finals and gave the Bulldogs a 14-0 season record. Granbury, near Fort Worth, finished with a 14-1 record, also gaining the final round for the first time.

Granbury, which had sailed through the playoff without a close call, opened the scoring when quarterback Jimmy Tidwell threw three yards to tailback James Hodges for a touchdown, climaxing a 37-yard drive. Jerrel Bolton kicked the extra point.

Sweeny, well stocked with players off George Washington Carver's 1965 Class A Negro state championship team, had trouble moving from scrimmage in the first half but broke Louis Helm, a 151-pound speedster, for a 57-yard punt return with 5:13 left in the second period.

Guard Tommy Durant blocked Sweeny's conversion attempt.

Boston Patriots Are Upset By New York

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Jets, making the most of Joe Namath's passes and Boston's errors, upended the Patriots 38-28 Saturday and prevented them from clinching the Eastern Division title in the American Football League. The loss dropped Boston's record to 8-4-2 and left Buffalo with an opportunity to clinch its third straight crown by beating Denver Sunday. The Bills, 8-4-1, and Patriots also could wind up in a tie, necessitating a playoff if Buffalo and Denver tie. Namath, having one of his best days of the season, hit for three touchdown passes, connecting with Don Maynard on 20- and eight-yard scoring pitches and hitting George Sauer with a 77-yarder that put it out of reach in the third quarter as the Jets' lead ballooned to 31-13. But it wasn't Namath alone that proved Boston's undoing.

HE WON'T QUIT

Halas Has Bad Year As Coach

CHICAGO (AP) — George S. Halas, pro football's swinging septuagenarian, closes his 40th Chicago Bear coaching season Sunday with something less than an explosion of glory. Halas, who turns 72 on Feb. 2, will witness only the eighth losing Bear season in the club's almost half-century existence—win, lose or draw in the Wrigley Field finale with the Minnesota Vikings.

The local press has been filled with What's Wrong with the Bears dissertations in the wake of a season's current 4-7-2 record, including the suggestion that Halas turn over the club to younger hands.

But all this is water on an old duck's back for Halas, the coach who can't be fired from the club he founded in 1920 as the Decatur (Ill.) Staleys.

"I wouldn't quit now, not after this season for which I alone, as head coach, am responsible," said Halas, "and I heard this song before—not so long ago, the season before we won the championship in 1963 and the season before we made such a great comeback just a year ago, in 1965."

Both in 1963, when the Bears beat the New York Giants for the National Football League title, and in 1965, when the Bears rallied to win nine of their last 11 games, Halas was voted NFL coach of the year in The Associated Press poll.

"It was only two years ago, in 1964, that we finished 5-9," commented Halas. "There also was a hue and cry after we finished 5-9 in 1962."

"So you see, we're used to running the gantlet and there's an encouraging pattern for odd years which is making me look forward to 1967."

What the record book doesn't show and the taciturn Halas is reluctant to mention is that 1966 was a year of bitter and sad blows to this pioneer of pro football, who has won eight NFL titles and whose Bears have topped the standings 12 times. His beloved wife, Min, died of a heart attack last Feb. 14 when Halas was at a league meeting at Palm Beach, Fla.

A month earlier, Halas' top aide, George Allen, quit the Bears to become head coach of the Los Angeles Rams. Halas made his point in a court suit that Allen breached his Bear contract. Halas then withdrew the suit which, under the Halas code, actually was for breach of loyalty which the elder foot-

McDaniel Sets NAAIA Record For Catches

KANSAS CITY (AP) — David McDaniel of Mississippi Valley State, averaged 137.3 yards a game on pass receptions to break the record, National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics football statistics showed.

McDaniel topped the mark of 129.2 set by Spencer Gordon of Southern Oregon last year.

McDaniel, a 6-foot-3, 197-pound end, caught 65 passes for 1,236 yards and seven touchdowns.

Jim Baier, River Falls State Wis., is the NAAIA's new rushing champion with 1,585 yards in nine games. He averaged 176.1 yards a game on the ground.

Carl Garrett, New Mexico Highlands, scored 138 points for the scoring title and missed the single-season record by only eight points when he was blanked by Waynesburg, Pa., in the Champion Bowl semifinals.

Waynesburg edged New Mexico Highland 30-27, then defeated Whitewater State, Wis., 42-21, in the Champion Bowl at Tulsa, Okla.

Al Tyler, Livingstone, N.C., is tops in total offense and passing. He averaged 249.9 yards a game in total offense and 246 in passing on 174 completions of 338 attempts for 29 touchdowns and 2,460 yards. Don Dockroft, Adams State, Colo., was the leading punter with a 48-yard average, and John Outlaw, Jackson State, Miss., was the leader in punt returns with a 27.4 average.

In total offense, New Mexico Highlands led with an average of 441.6 yards per game. Total defense honors went to Defiance, Ohio, which limited foes to an average of 136.1 yards a game.

Eli Ace Tops All-America

NEW YORK (AP) — Don Schollander of Yale University and the Santa Clara Swim Club heads the Amateur Athletic Union All-America Men's Swimming Team announced Saturday.

Schollander, winner of four gold medals in the 1964 Olympics, was selected in six individual freestyle events, 100, 200 and 500 yards plus 100, 200 and 400 meters. In addition, he was chosen for all three relays, the 300 and 400 yards and the medley.

Dick Roth, Stanford freshman, was the only other swimmer to retain a place on the AAU All-America squad. He was named for the 400-meter individual medley.

Charles Hickey of Indiana University placed for all four backstroke events and Ken Morton of the Los Angeles Athletic Club for all four events in the breaststroke.

Mike Burton of Arden Hills, Calif., was chosen for the 1,500-meter freestyle. Ross Wales of Youngstown, Ohio, for the 100-meter butterfly, Philip Houser of Los Angeles for the 200-meter butterfly, Greg Buckingham of the Santa Clara S.C. for the 200-meter individual medley, and Dana Curtis of Houston for long distance.

Diving honors went to Bernie Wrightston of the University of Arizona in the one-meter event; Ken Sitzberger of Indiana in the three-meter and Dick Gilbert, also of Indiana, in platform diving.

The meet will be conducted in two divisions, with AAAA schools grouped in Division I and AAA teams in Division II. The relays will be sponsored by the Snyder public schools.

RECORD IN 1966 WAS GAUDY 12-1

Meet Pitcher Jim Nash; He's In A Big Hurry

By The Associated Press

The meter on the Detroit taxicab read $7.50 and Jim Nash, after checking his wallet and change pocket, came up with only $8.

"Driver," said the 21-year-old rookie pitcher in a hurry to report to the Kansas City Athletics, "your meter and my money aren't going to come out even. You better let me off at the next bus stop."

The cabbie dropped his 215-pound 6-foot-5 passenger and was kind enough to leave his fare with 25 cents for a bus.

"I never knew it was such a long ride from the Detroit airport to the hotel," said Nash. "The meter just kept clicking off dimes, about one for every tenth of a mile. When I got to the hotel I had to borrow $1 because I hadn't eaten all day. I went out and bought two or three hotdogs."

Jim Nash is the rookie who compiled a phenomenal 12-1 record for Kansas City the last half of the 1966 season. But the story of him reporting for his first big league chance without a cent in his pocket really began the day before in Charlotte, N. C. "I had been pitching for Mobile and we got into Charlotte after a 13-hour bus ride," explains the native of Hawthorne,

Nev. now living in Marietta, Ga. That night Mobile manager John McNamara said:

"You're reporting to Kansas City in Detroit tomorrow. But before you leave you ought to treat the boys. That left me with eight dollars. The next day I got my plane ticket and was off."

Two days later, on July 3, Nash beat the Tigers for his first big league victory. On Aug. 14 he three-hit the Minnesota Twins for his seventh straight win.

His only defeat came against the Yankees when he gave up five runs in three innings. He won his last five decisions to become the top rookie right hander of the year.

"I have no thoughts of matching my 12-1 record," says Nash in discussing his future. "If it had been, say 12 and 4 or 5, I'd think I could match it. But losing only one game the last three months. That's hard to top. But my goal is to win 20 games."

The Athletics signed Nash out of Sprayberry High in Marietta, Ga., in 1963.

Thai Cyclist Cops Two Gold Medals

BANGKOK (AP) — Japan put the finishing touches on a sweep of all 28 swimming gold medals at the Asian Games Saturday and then added medals in cycling, shooting and lawn tennis.

But the Japanese had to share some of the glory with a Thai cyclist, who won two golds in one day, and with a South Korean army sergeant, who out-classed an Israeli marksman in a record setting rifle duel.

Altogether, 12 more gold medals were handed out and the Japanese bagged seven to raise their overall count in eight days of competition to 69. Their closest rival, South Korea, added two for a total of nine. Host Thailand won three Saturday to move into third in the gold medal race with eight.

In water polo, the Japanese team wound up with an undefeated record in four games as it beat Singapore 9-3. Singapore got the silver medal, Indonesia the bronze.

A Japanese university student, Masanori Tsuji, won a gold medal in the 10,000 meters massed start track cycling event.

However, the star of the day's cycling was a Thai bank clerk, Preeda Chullamondhol, who won the 1,000-meter individual time trial track test in the morning and the 800-meter massed start race in the afternoon.

In the small bore rifle prone shooting contest for individuals, South Korean army sergeant Cho Wha-il and Israeli Nehemia Sikra made identical scores of 585 out of a possible 600, both breaking the old Asian Games' record of 584.

Choo won the gold medal because he had the best score — 98 out of 100 — in the last series. Sikra had 96.

Japan's other gold medal Saturday was won in the mixed doubles lawn tennis by Miss Reiko Miyagi and Koji Watanabe.

At least one assistant mentor here may be interviewed for the position. He has indicated he planned to look into the job.

The 1966 Longhorns finished with a 4-6 won-lost record, first time that the school has dropped below the .500 level in six seasons. Smith, however, was raised by board members and fans alike for the over-all effort the club made. When 1966 workouts opened, the squad was virtually without experienced personnel. The 1966 Steers were particularly rugged on defense.

Smith was paid $10,500 for the one season he served as head coach.

Felts, Currie Will Seek Out Men For Head Post

Jimmy Felts and Jerry Currie have been named a two-man screening committee to seek applicants for the head coaching job at Big Spring High School, vacated the past week by Herman Smith. Both Felts and Currie are members of the board of education.

Felts said he and Currie planned to move with expediency to seek out promising talent and ask the men hiring for interviews.

The job is wide open at the present time, Felts said, but the board would prefer a man with some experience as a head coach.

Inevitably, Spike Dykes' name was mentioned in connection with the position but whether he would be invited here for an interview was not known. Formerly head coach at Coahoma, where he produced two district champions in as many seasons, Spike has been head coach at Belton, a AAA school, the past year.

No deadline has been established for the naming of a coach. However, the consensus on the board is that an undue delay would damage the athletic program at the local school.

The school suffered a severe drop in football receipts, estimated to be in excess of $10,000, the past season and that may have been a contributing factor in the board's decision to seek a change at the top. The deficit must be made up out of the General Fund.

In years past, spring football workouts have opened here in May but the new coach will be permitted to start anytime he chooses.

Vaught Lauds Steers' Play

HOUSTON (AP) — Ole Miss Coach Johnny Vaught said after his team's 19-0 loss to Texas in the Bluebonnet Bowl Saturday that "They beat us in every department. Both their offensive and defensive lines tore us up real well."

Texas Coach Darrell Royal said he was "surprised at everything." He added it was his team's "best defensive effort." Texas tailback Chris Gilbert, the Houston sophomore who was voted the most valuable offensive player after setting Bluebonnet records of 156 yards rushing on 26 carries said "Everybody made great blocks out there."

It was the first shutout Vaught has suffered in his last 11 bowl visits. The last was the 21-0 loss to Navy in the 1955 Sugar Bowl. It also was the second time Ole Miss had come to the Houston bowl favored, only to lose. Tulsa beat the Rebs 14-7 in 1964.

Vaught said there was nothing unexpected about the Texas game plan, except the quality of its execution.

Coaches Playing Annual Game Of Musical Chairs

By The Associated Press

Lou Saban, on top of the American Football League when he left, is returning — at the bottom.

"There can be little left to conquer in professional football," Saban said on the second day of this year when he left the Buffalo Bills after coaching them to two consecutive AFL championships.

The day after he left the Bills, Saban agreed to a four-year contract to coach at the University of Maryland.

The school announced his resignation Friday, and at the same time, the Denver Broncos, in last place in the AFL's Western Division, said Saban had agreed to terms of a 10-year contract to be both coach and general manager.

In other coaching appointments Frank Rodgers was named to the Kansas job and Vince Gibson was given the task of starting Kansas State on the right road after two winless seasons.

The Broncos would not disclose the salary that helped draw the 45-year-old Saban back to pro football, but owner Gerald H. Phipps said it puts him "in the upper levels of pro football coaches."

Following his prosperity at Buffalo, Saban found out again what it was like to have a loser as Maryland finished with a 4-6 record. He might not find the Broncos much different — at least not at first.

In other coaching developments, Bill Dooley, an assistant at Georgia, turned down the head job at Mississippi State and then was reported to be the choice at North Carolina. Johnny Majors, an Arkansas assistant, was said to be the new No. 1 candidate at Mississippi State.

Steve Museu, meanwhile, was retained as head coach at Idaho.

Pro-Am Is Dropped

HOUSTON—The Houston Golf Association has created "camera days" and has scheduled an elaborate clinic as part of the Houston Champions International golf tournament at Champions Golf Club next May 4-7, president Jim Womack has announced.

The new events will replace the Pro-Amateur section of the tournament, which has been abolished at the suggestion of many players and tournament officials.

"With cameras barred from the course during the four days of play, we thought our spectators might enjoy the opportunity to shoot pictures as they see fit on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday," Womack said.

"PGA officials and many of the players tell us the golfers will cooperate fully in this project, and we are sure our spectators will enjoy the clinic, which will feature many top stars giving demonstrations of the shots they play best," the HGA president said.

The clinics, conducted entirely by players, have been a popular feature at many tournaments throughout the country. They have not been held here for several years because of the conflict with the Pro-Am.

Boss' Son To Seek Fourth Track Win

EL PASO—The sprint champion of the fall-winter meeting will be on the line Sunday as seven speed merchants, including the sensational Boss' Son, meet in the $2,000 Las Cruces Handicap at six furlongs.

Boss' Son, Sprint King of Caliente and an un-crowned eight-seventy champ at Sunland, is a triple winner here this season and has yet to be out of the money. He finished third behind Hoby and Silken Star in the Dona Ana Handicap at one mile.

Under the guidance of his regular pilot, Al Herrera, "The Boss" turned in one of the most stunning performances ever witnessed at Sunland last week. Breaking last in a field of eight at 870 yards, he looped his opposition swinging into the stretch and with rare gameness ran down his field one by one getting up in the final stride to win in a photo.

Co-owned and trained by Dapper Edsel Williams, who is currently enjoying a prolonged win streak, Boss' Son is expected to rule a solid choice in the wagering Sunday.

Off-spring of Santa Anita's multiple stakes winner Terran, "The Boss" has been asked to pack 124 pounds, highest impost assigned a horse at the meeting. He will be conceding from five to sixteen pounds to his six select rivals. The able Al Herrera will make up the bulk of his 124 pound package.

Although Prestridge Stable's Todo Corazon has never won a stakes race at Sunland Park, he has yet to be defeated at any distance here. Plagued with injuries since his two-year-old year, he has been lightly raced, but won his seasonal debut in easy fashion.

Blessed with intense early speed, Todo Corazon is capable of blitzing on the front end or coming from behind. Racing strategy could play an important role in the outcome. Jockey David Whited replaces Lowell (Bucky) Kreider who will be sitting on the bench at the request of the Sunland Board of Stewards.

Another speed threat is J. R. Kirkland's Prayer Cap who comes off a corking five length win. The Kentucky bred miss has the speed to threaten the top pair and she will undoubtedly be pushing whoever elects to set the pace. She has won a pair of races this year and appears primed for her best effort. She will carry 117 pounds and Danny Whited.

Dark horse in the race is Robert Hester's Cheapers David who will start under a feather 113 pounds. He is an agile sprinter as well as route horse and looms the upset-factor. If any of his swift rivals stop for air at midstretch, "David" will undoubtedly be right there to gun them down.

Louella Patton's Nettle Abbey is another who does her running through the stretch but she faces a stern test Sunday. Her rider will be Jack Brown.

Alfredo Urias' Scorpions Lassie defied the odds-board last week and scored at odds of better than 100-1. The hard hitting mare will probably be more respected Sunday although she faces a monumental task.

Greek Island completes the field, and he also, will be carrying the hopes of the long shot players.

The supporting feature, The Feliz Navidad Purse has attracted a full field of three-year-olds who will meet at six furlongs.

Tiger Gains Upset Win

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Tiger, the old gaffer who appeared all washed up eight months ago, today had a fresh career ahead of him as light heavyweight champion of the world at age 37.

The first fighting business ahead for the valiant ring warrior from Nigeria probably will be a return bout with Jose Torres, the 30-year-old New Yorker he upset and dethroned Friday night on a popular and unanimous 15-round decision at Madison Square Garden.

"I'll fight anybody," said the jubilant, former middleweight king. "It's up to my managers."

Torres, who had predicted he would win every round and then knock out Tiger, said "I thought I won the fight even though I fought a bad fight, a very bad fight."

"I knew he was talk, talk all the time," said Tiger. "I knew I could beat him. I was much stronger at 167 pounds."

Odessa In Front

EL PASO — Odessa High held off Ysleta Eastwood in a basketball game here Friday night, 63-53. The win was the eighth in 11 starts for the Bronchos.

LEVELLAND — West Texas State's freshmen staged a mild upset by defeating South Plains College, 77-74, here Friday night.

Early in the contest, the home team led by as much as 12 points but by halftime the West Texans were in charge, 37-30.

Bob Fullerton scored 26 points for South Plains while Johnny Burkhalter had 21 for West Texas.

The loss was South Plains' fifth in ten starts.

Dallas, Giants Meet In NFL Headliner

NEW YORK (AP) — Dallas throws its high-powered offense against the New York Giants' weak defense Sunday, but the Cowboys didn't know until Saturday just how important their final game of the regular National Football League season would be.

The Cowboys had to wait until Saturday's game between Cleveland and St. Louis to find out whether they would have to beat the Giants, or hold them to a tie, in order to win the Eastern Conference title — the first in Dallas' seven-year existence.

If the Cardinals lost to the Browns or tied, the Cowboys would have the title. But if the Cardinals won, Dallas could gain the title by downing the Giants Sunday.

Based on the first 13 games of the season, there seemed little doubt that Dallas could do anything but beat the Giants.

The Cowboys have averaged 33 points a game while New York has allowed 37. The 484 points the Giants have given up are the most ever permitted in NFL history and 188 of those

Gibson Assumes Manhattan Post

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP) — Vince Gibson, assistant football coach at Tennessee, was named Friday head coach at Kansas State University.

His appointment was announced by President James A. McCain. Gibson was introduced to a news conference by athletic director H.B. (Bobe) Lee.

The appointment is for four years. No salary was announced.

He succeeds Doug Weaver, who resigned in November after seven unsuccessful years.

Jayhawks Shaded By Tribe, 73-71

ODESSA — In a game that went right down to the wire, Dallas Baptist defeated HCJC, 73-71, in the first part of a basketball doubleheader here Friday night.

Jacksonville Baptist College downed Odessa's Wranglers, 85-85, in the second portion of the twin bill.

BILL SINCHES

Bill Sinches led the Hawks to their near-upset over nationally-ranked Dallas Baptist, scoring 23 points. Dave (The Rave) Nash counted 24 for the Indians, who now are 11-2 for the year.

The defeat was the fourth of the season for HCJC, compared to eight victories.

HCJC led by as much as seven points in the first half and at the intermission was out front, 33-32.

Dallas Baptist caught up two minutes deep in the second half. After that, the lead changed hands nine times and the score was deadlocked on seven occasions.

Dallas ultimately built a four-point lead in the final moments and HCJC wasn't able to move up again.

The Jayhawks take part in a tournament at Murray State college in Tishomingo, Okla., Dec. 19-20-21.

HC had three players in double figures against Dallas, Leon Smith accounting for 18 points while Jack Hosley and Dallas this season, the Giants lost 32-7.

Dallas quarterback Don Meredith, who suffered a concussion last week, was pronounced ready for this week's contest and wouldn't mind repeating his first-game performance against New York. In that one Meredith threw for five touchdowns and 358 yards.

Three of those scoring tosses went to Dan Reeves, who was rushed into the Dallas' opener, when Mel Renfro was hurt. Reeves hasn't left the line-up since.

Instead he has rushed for 726 yards, caught passes for 551 more and scored 16 touchdowns, most in the league.

The Giants don't think Sunday is the right time of Dallas the right time.

In other NFL finales, Green Bay is at Los Angeles, Baltimore at San Francisco, Philadelphia at Washington, and Pittsburgh at Atlanta.

Lobos Surprise Miners, 71-62

By The Associated Press

"New Mexico will be meaner than a sore-footed Indian doing a rain dance."

Eddie Mullens, publicity director for Texas Western's national collegiate basketball champions, said that before the fifth-ranked Lobos from Albuquerque battled the second-ranked Miners in El Paso Friday night.

He was right, too. The Lobos handed the Miners their first defeat of the season 71-62 at a tone for blowing a 20-point lead and losing the Miners in overtime last season.

"This is our greatest win in my five years at New Mexico," said Bob King, coach of the Lobos.

Seattle, top independent in the Pacific Northwest, also was victorious in an 85-83 overtime victory over seventh-ranked Brigham Young, the only other team in The Associated Press Top Ten to see action.

Speedy Sophs Are Rivals At Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — The Cotton Bowl football game is only two weeks away but the big play potential already is a conversation piece. It involves a couple of sophomores.

Foremost is Jerry Levias, the do-everything Southern Methodist player who was credited with winning six of the eight games going to the Methodists in their drive to the Southwest Conference championship.

But there'll be a young fellow from Georgia who might match the personal heroics of Levias-Kent Lawrence, who, like Levias, is a 9.5 sprinter, and also, like Levias, has made a specialty of going for distance.

The fabulous campaign of Levias already is well known to Texas football fans — taking a touchdown pass with only nine seconds left to beat Rice, returning a punt 83 yards to whip Texas A&M, taking a kickoff back 100 yards against Baylor, then setting up the winning field goal with a pass-reception, and taking a 68-yard pass to shock Texas Christian into defeat.

Lawrence set the tempo for Georgia in the season-end showdown with Georgia Tech as he raced a punt back 70 yards for the game's first touchdown. Earlier he had returned a kickoff 87 yards against Virginia Military and run 30 yards from scrimmage for a touchdown against North Carolina.

Neither Southern Methodist nor Georgia was noted as a passing team, yet Southern Methodist counted 11 touchdowns through the air. Levias collaborated with Mac White and Mike Livingston on two 68-yard scoring passes and he tossed one himself for 47 yards to Larry Jernigan.

Georgia's Kirby Moore threw only four touchdown passes but they were good for distance—56 and 52 yards being the longest. Big scoring plays may be the rule instead of the exception when Southern Methodist and Georgia hook up in the Cotton Bowl Dec. 31.

Badgers Defeat Conquistadors

AMARILLO — Amarillo College gained revenge for an earlier defeat by topping Dodge City, Kansas, 94-77, here Friday night.

The win was the fifth in nine starts for the Badgers while the Conquistadors are 5-5.

Dodge City had beaten Amarillo, 82-72, in Dodge City earlier in the year.

Amarillo has drawn Paris, Texas, as a first round opponent in the Murray State (Okla.) tournament, which starts Monday.

Charles Wells paced Amarillo with 24 points. Lynn Simmons helped with 15 points while Jesse Baza and Mickey Vaclav had ten each.

Wyoming To Seek Fourth Bowl Win

EL PASO (AP) — While much of the nation suffers through typical winter weather, fans are trying to avoid the sun for the Sun Bowl football game next Saturday between Wyoming and Florida State.

Yankees Appear Likely To Make Major Effort

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Yankees haven't fared well in the North-South college all-star football game, and North coach Eddie Crowder has drawn heavily on Notre Dame and Michigan State talent this year in an effort to improve the record.

Going into the Shrine's 18th game, Dec. 26 in the Orange Bowl, the North has won six, lost 11 and played one tie.

Crowder recruited four players from Notre Dame's national champions and five, including All-America defensive end Bubba Smith, from No. 2 Michigan State.

These and four of his own Colorado players will make up half of the 26-man North squad.

Carroll Williams, who set a career record of 2,603 yards passing at Xavier, and Bernie McCall, second best all-time total offense producer at Colorado with 3,057 yards, likely will alternate as the North's quarterbacks.

Among their receivers will be Neal Sweeney, Tulsa flanker who caught 140 passes for 1,650 yards the last two seasons.

Crowder's recruits also include the nation's top punters, Donald Cockroft at Adams State, and Bruce Sullivan of Illinois, who broke the Big Ten record with six interceptions for 193 yards.

With eight teams in the South playing in other bowls, the Shrine picked from 14 other teams before filling its roster. Houston, tops the list with four representatives and Miami sends three.

But there'll be two spectacular quarterbacks on the South squad coached by Darrell Royal of Texas.

Hank Washington of West Texas State led the nation in total offense and in two seasons has hit 282 of 524 passes for 3,510 yards and 26 touchdowns. Bo Burris of Houston hit for 23 touchdowns this year and was near the 2,000 mark in total offense.

Bulwarking the South defense will be All-America cornerback Tom Beier and tackle Gene Trosch of Miami, standouts in one of the nation's most feared defenses this season.

more end Ron Sellers caught 55 passes for 874 yards.

Wyoming, unbeaten in three previous Sun Bowl games, won the national rushing defense title by allowing only 385 yards in 10 games.

Tackles Ron Billingsley, 251 pounds, and Mike Dirks, 221, and middle guard Jerry Durling, 214, led the Wyoming defense which gave up only 60 points. The three combined for 138 unassisted tackles.

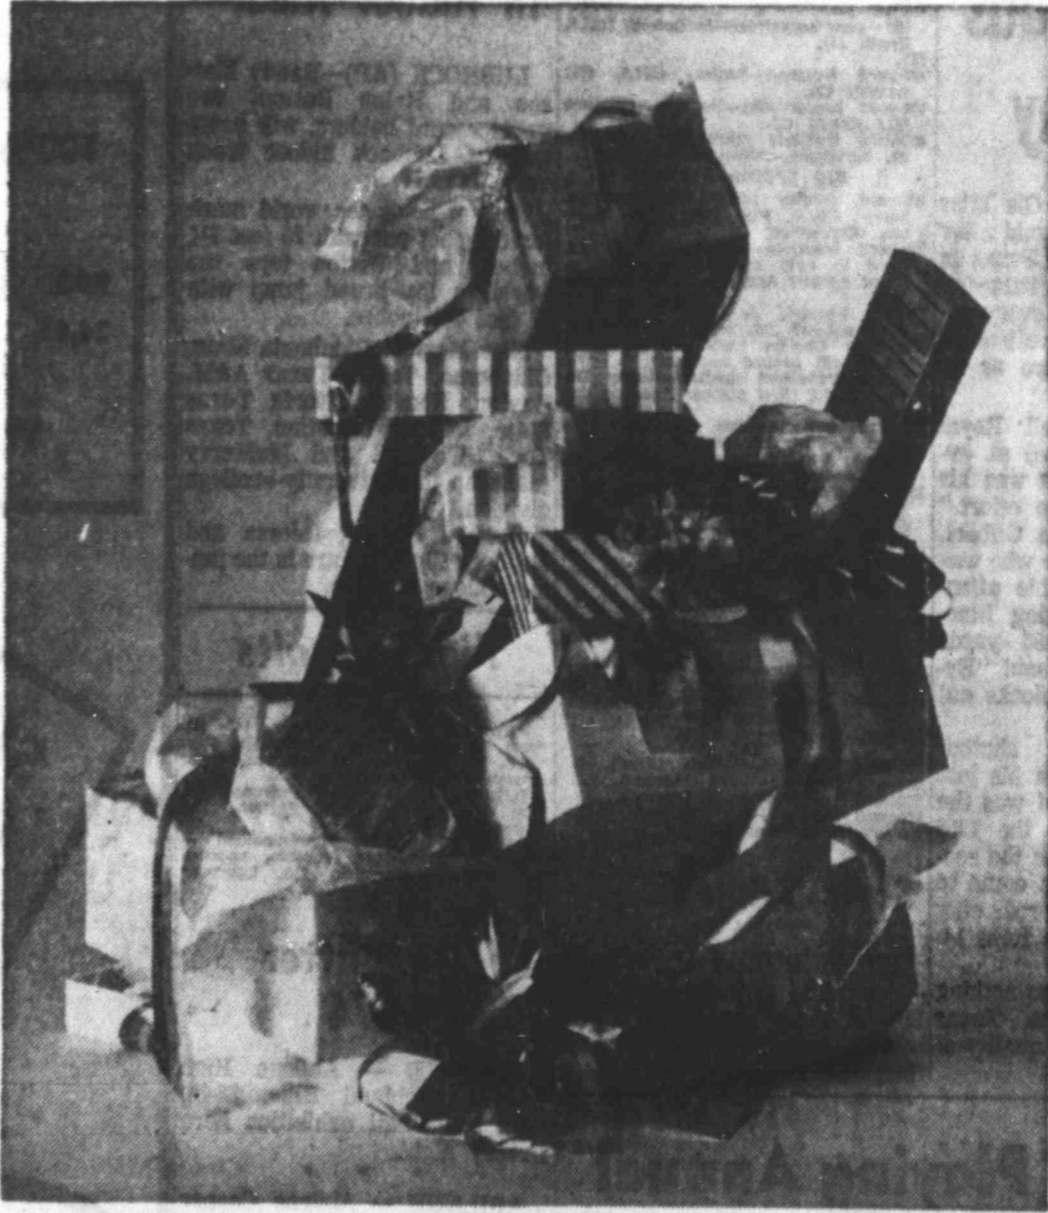

Quarterback Rick Egloff paced the Cowpokes with 1,440 yards total offense. Halfback Jim Kluck gained 597 yards. DePoyster was high scorer with 71 points, including 13 field goals.

Western Athletic Conference champion Wyoming lost only to Colorado State 12-10. Florida State was beaten by Syracuse, Florida, Houston and Virginia Tech. Among the Seminole victims were Liberty Bowl champions Miami and Mississippi State.

After the holiday glitter... will you have to borrow to pay the bills?

When all the packages are opened and all the pretty wrappings discarded... will you need a loan to pay for the fun? Repaying that loan will cost you a pretty penny in interest charges. But if you make the habit of saving, you will have the money when you need it. The difference between borrowing to pay the bills next Christmas and saving ahead and getting earnings on your savings can make a big difference in your holiday enjoyment. Saving makes the difference.

BIG SPRING SAVINGS ASSOCIATION

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Why Not High School Refs?

By TOMMY HART

Don McDonald, the Big Spring High School cage mentor, probably won't take his Steers to the Snyder tournament again next year, even though the locals have won there the past two years.

WALLY LEMM

Don reasons his club will benefit more from competition against AAAA clubs, not that AAA schools don't field some fine aggregations. He's weighing the possibility of entering a tournament in the Fort Worth area, could even have his own tournament. Big Spring hasn't hosted such a meet in years. McDonald, incidentally, coached Scotty Brown, one of the University of Texas' better cagers, in high school at Sherman. Brown, red-shirted last year principally because he was carrying too much weight, wears contact lenses. Wally Lemm, coach of the Houston Oilers, has let it be known that every player on his team, including quarterback Don Trull, is available for a trade. Yogi Anderson, the former BSHS football guard, was used primarily as a member of the kickoff team at Cisco Junior College the past season. Some of the Southwest Conference football officials were roundly criticized the past season—J. T. King of Texas Tech said he thought it would be a good idea to exchange arbiters with the Big Eight. A better plan probably would be to revitalize the ranks of the present corps of officials with some new blood from the high school ranks. Abb Curtis, the chief of the SWC arbiters, maintains a tight, little band of whistle-tooters and has the final say on who to hire. Naturally, some of Abb's pets are kept in the ranks. The Southwest Conference is still prone to treat West Texas as if it were hostile country. Sam Coker, who stayed quite active in sports promotions when he lived in Midland, now does a lot of traveling for a utilities concern in Fort Worth, trying to bring industry to Texas.

Shell Oil Company, starting the buildup for its TV series, "Shell's Wonderful World of Golf," brought in Jimmy Demaret to speak to several writers and commentators in Dallas on the program last week. Demaret told his audience (of which this writer was a part) that he thought that Mickey Wright is the finest woman's linkster in history, and he's seen them all in action. The colorful Jimmy also revealed that much of the galleries which follow the play of the golf principals in their overseas filming has to be paid—that's the reason you're apt to see comely blondes and nomads in their native dress lurking in the background of the series, which begins in January. Demaret describes the play-by-play in the matches, with help from Gene Sarazen. Demaret has grown so affluent in recent years, he flies his own plane around the country and is the picture of the prosperous business man. Tom King, the assistant football coach here, ventured to Austin this weekend to watch two high school playoff games. Billy Dale recently was named the outstanding back on the 1966 Odessa Permian football team, a development that should not have been surprising. Billy was one of the best gridgers ever to wear Permian colors. The New York Jets of the AFL haven't won a game on the West Coast in four seasons now. Virginia Tech, who lost to Miami in this year's Liberty Bowl game, will meet Oklahoma State University in 1971 and again in '72. It will be OSU's first grid outing with a team east of the Mississippi since the Pokes defeated Army at West Point (12-7) in 1962. Gloria Garcia, the HCJC cager, was a tennis star in high school at Barstow. When Forsan's Buffalo Queens prospered in the recent basketball tournament at Hardin-Simmons in Abilene, coach Don Stevens was rewarded with a watch—and the gift was very timely, without trying to make a pun. Stevens' old sundial wanted to work a five-day week. The Chicago White Sox and the Chicago Cubs will play an exhibition game in Oklahoma City at 2:30 p.m., April 7.

Boston Nearing Claim To Gangland Murder Capital

BOSTON (AP) — Supt. of Police Herbert Mulloney shook his head. He had been around a long time, come up from the ranks, seen everything. But the hand-drawn chart on the office wall reminded him there was always something new.

"Greater Boston Homicides" was printed at the top of the chart.

A rub-out list. It gave the name, place, time, background and manner of execution of men who had been killed in classical gangland style assassinations which were in vogue during the Capone heyday in Chicago.

40TH CASE

"They are popping guys off like ping pong balls," says Mulloney.

The 40th name was entered on this chart of runaway gangland warfare the other day. The first entry was dated March 15, 1964. This amounts to one gangster slaying about every three weeks, a rate that challenges the record of Chicago or any other American city since World War II. Chicago had 15 in 1961, 14 in 1962, and a few others each year since.

Only a handful of the Boston murders have been solved, as is typical of gangland slayings.

Is Boston the new murder town, U.S.A.? Are the hoodlums involved in a grim roulette in which anyone's number may suddenly come up, or is there a Mr. Big, a Capone-come-lately, calling the shots? What's behind this epidemic of beatings, shootings, stabbings, torture?

RANKLES

The comparison to Chicago rankies many proper Bostonians. They have visions of Prohibition era days that seem right out of grade B movies. The streets turned into shooting galleries as speeding black limousines pass a target, guns blazing; strutting gunmen so impudent they'd calmly kill a marked man on a busy public street; assassins skilled in bizarre murders, such as dumping a man into a lake with his feet embedded in concrete.

HILJACKERS

Wilfred T. Delaney, a tailgater — elsewhere, the term is hijacker — and Harold Hannon, a tailgater and armed robber, were fished from Boston harbor Aug. 20, 1964. Delaney had been beaten and dumped into the harbor, where he drowned. Hannon was strangled, trussed and thrown into the water. They were rubbed out, reportedly, for robbing bookies and burglarizing their homes. Another of the charted victims, Francis Benjamin, an armed robber, was decapitated May 4, 1964. William J. Treannie, a burglar and strongarm man, was found dismembered in a vacant lot Nov. 13, 1964.

HAD RECORD

Lindenbaum was listed in police files as a jewel robber and a loan shark, and Steve Hughes as a rackets strong arm man. Four months earlier, Steve Hughes was shot five times when he and his brother, Cornelius, were ambushed in Revere. Connie Hughes was killed.

The cool, cold-blooded gunman who isn't afraid to put away a victim in broad daylight was at work at 7:57 a.m., Oct.

21, 1965, when he confronted Edward (Punchy) McLaughlin at a bus stop in West Roxbury. Punchy, who was on his way to the murder trial of his brother, George, was holding a brown paper bag with his one good hand. Most of the other hand had been shot away in one of two attempts to kill him during the prior year. The gunman at the bus stop calmly fired five shots at Punchy, scoring with each one. Punchy's bag contained a gun.

Tax Office Will Be Open Friday

Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, county tax assessor-collector, said today that her office will be open for business on next Friday afternoon for the convenience of anyone who need to see about tax matters.

The courthouse, except for the sheriff's office, will be closed Friday noon Dec. 23 through Monday for the Christmas holiday.

Mrs. LeFevre said that the employees of her office who will be on duty on Friday afternoon will have the morning of Dec. 27 off to make up for the extra work.

Court Rules Against Estes

EL PASO (AP)—U.S. District Court officials received word Friday that the U.S. 5th Court of Civil Appeals at New Orleans has ruled that Billie Sol Estes is not a pauper.

In trying to set aside his conviction and 15 year prison term, Estes' lawyers had tried to continue his appeal as a pauper to save several thousand dollars in transcript and other fees.

U.S. Atty. Jamie Boyd had argued before the appeals court that $196,000 of known assets of the one-time Texas promoter had never been accounted for by a court appointed trustee.

Boyd also claimed that Estes' wife receives $1,500 a month from a Pecos company and that the family maintains a fine home and two expensive automobiles at Abilene, Tex.

Estes is in Leavenworth, Kan., federal prison.

DEAR ABBY

10 Rules For Wives

In response to the overwhelming number of requests to reprint my TEN COMMANDMENTS FOR 20TH-CENTURY WIVES, which was the forerunner of my recently published TEN COMMANDMENTS FOR 20TH-CENTURY HUSBANDS, I hereby comply:

1. Defile not thy body neither with excessive foods, tobacco nor alcohol, that thy days may be long in the house which thy husband provideth for thee.
2. Putteth thy husband before thy mother, thy father, thy daughter, and thy son, for he is thy lifelong companion.
3. Thou shalt not nag.
4. Permit no one to tell thee that thou art having a hard time of it; neither thy mother, thy sister, nor thy neighbor, for the Judge will not hold her guiltless who letteth another disparage her husband.
5. Thou shalt not withhold affection from thy husband, for every man loveth to be loved.
6. Forget not the virtue of cleanliness and modest attire.
7. Forgive with grace, for who among us does not need forgiveness?
8. Remember that the frank approval of thy husband is worth more to thee than the admiring glances of a hundred strangers.
9. Keep thy home in good order, for out of it cometh the joys of thy old age.
10. Honor the Lord thy God all the days of thy life, and thy children will rise up and call thee blessed.

Truly yours,

Moms Protest Bra Initiative

PLYMOUTH, England (AP) — The mothers of Plymouth rose up in protest today against a young marine lieutenant who ordered 20 tough commandos into the streets to gather panties and bras as a test of soldierly initiative.

Each man returned with the trophies.

The Marines issued a hasty apology to the Mothers' Union and other parental organizations.

The 21-year-old lieutenant was not named, but Marine sources said he was called on the carpet by his commanding officer and told to curb his initiative.

The 20 commandos were sent from Stonehouse Barracks with six hours to each get a pair of panties, a bra, a picture of a nude girl and various other items.

Criminal Appeals Court Enlarging To 5 Members

AUSTIN (AP) — The three-judge Texas Court of Criminal Appeals will increase to five members Jan. 1 with swearing-in ceremonies scheduled for three judges, including one who defeated incumbent Judge W. T. McDonald in the May 7 Democratic primary.

Voters authorized the increase in a constitutional amendment approved in the November general election.

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Sunday, Dec. 18, 1966 9-B

Cheaper in the long run.

Gas will never cost you much. (You'll get about 27 miles to the gallon.) And the amount of oil you use is like a drop in the bucket. (It only takes 27 quarts and almost never needs more between changes.) And the engine is air-cooled, so you don't have to spend a red cent for anti-freeze or rust inhibitors. And you get more than your money's worth out of a set of tires (around 40,000 miles). But don't think buying a new Volkswagen is just another get-rich-quick scheme. You have to wait until the second set of tires wear out.

YOUR Horoscope Forecast for Tomorrow

By Carroll Righter

SUNDAY
GENERAL TENDENCIES You may need a considerable amount of rest to recover from all the stress and strain of recent activities; also to prepare for the equally strenuous events about to occur during the coming week. Pull little mental strain subsidiary you did all those who are less rugged and self-sufficient than yourself.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Be clever in scheduling your time since you must first complete what you have started and yet have time to get into new interests. Avoid one who wants to stop your progress. Use your own will power.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) You are torn between constructive and destructive thoughts; be sure you give the former the edge and accomplish a great deal. Increase harmony and success. Don't forget to attend church services, lectures, etc.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Don't be of words' point with a partner over some minor matter, since you have had much success in the past. Avoid alliances that only take away from your prestige and success. Don't be fooled by such individuals.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Any physical work that you need to do should be handled early since the afternoon is fine for meeting and interesting persons. Get ahead socially. Get rid of conflicting ideas.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 23) Clarify your thinking since one you love can give you one kind of advice while another, an associate, gives just the opposite. Your intuition should be accurate. Use good judgment.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) Don't be employed if you are not sure that you are not handling home affairs properly—your own to good advantage. Work on those plans you have in mind. Get OK of kin you are in.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) Both business and home problems can be disturbing if you do not think and act objectively. Realize their import. Let this be a day for first studying all properly. Go along with ideas of others amicably, though nobody seems to agree with each other.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) Although recreation is important, spend some time thinking out how to increase your abundance soon. Male feels you are being too extravagant and that some reason be more economical and all good.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Concentrate on how to go after what you desire, yet do not forget your plans, routines. Arguments can ensue concerning what others feel is right. You are on the side of right, so be diplomatic.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Forget that private worry and step out to see persons you are fond of and friends that are difficult during busy weeks. Schedule your time so that you confer with some expert and carry through your ideas properly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You need not spend a great deal of money in order to get your first studio in matters, as a friend suggests. Do not arrive at vital decisions now. Await a better day since the predicted conditions with the personal, and you are not sure of yourself.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Be sure to encourage a most circumventive money or other matter, and if it is severely, especially higher-ups who mean a good deal to you. Increase good will instead with higher-ups. Do this via the radio.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he, or she, will be one of those very fortunate individuals who will do everything possible to assist others who are in trouble or sick. Start the education along medical, philosophical, nursing lines or the military for best results. Put mechanical devices during the lifetime. Your property requires much rest early in life and should learn to speak only when it is necessary.

MONDAY
GENERAL TENDENCIES: Until sundown you need to be very, very careful in what you do that concerns any official, executive or person who has any important place in your life. However, the evening brings you a chance to see one who you can do to improve your mood with pleasures and those from far away and who are very influential.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You had better wait until evening before putting some new plan to work and it will then have every possibility of success. Clear up problematical affairs early. Otherwise, there could be quite an impediment to your progress.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Think big if you want to get big and reach the goals you have set for yourself. Make it your business to contact business. Show interest in the affairs of others you like. Give them a helping hand wherever you can.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You must handle certain duties first before being or associate gives you further backing you desire. Put mechanical devices to work and improve quality of your own duties. Please higher-ups equitably.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Although you have reached a state-made in your job, some excellent new idea could brighten the whole picture admirably. Show gratitude for assistance from others. You can advance more quickly, also.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 23) Get away from serious study and work for awhile and go out for amusement that will

Rites Monday For P. Anaya

Pedro Anaya, 18, who was killed in an accident at an Ackerly gin early Friday morning, did not strike his head on a girder on the cotton seed hopper as reported, according to Donald Brownwood, gin manager of Ackerly Co-op No. 2.

Anaya, Brownfield said, suffocated under the cotton seed after he had slipped or jumped from an overhead girder under which the truck passed to be loaded with seed.

Lindy Oldfield, deputy sheriff who was at the scene, had said that he understood Anaya had fallen when the truck moved forward and the deputy mistakenly believed that the youth had struck his head on some projection.

Brownfield said that Anaya was above the truck sitting on a cross member which supported the seed hopper. As was reported, he was calling out from time to time to the driver to move up as the truck bed filled with seed, to keep the load even.

Brownfield said that for some reason Anaya seems to have fallen into the truck and to have been buried under the flood of cotton seed pouring out of the overhead hopper.

Services for Anaya will be at 10 a.m. Monday in the Sacred Heart of Mary Catholic Church with burial in the City Cemetery.

River-Welch Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

YOUNG PEOPLE POINT the way to sharing by collecting hundreds of cans of food which will be distributed to local families during the holidays. Shown here are four members of the band who are helping with the project. They are Jimmy Griffin, Dwight Fortson, Sandy Tonn and Sally Miller.

THE TRADITIONAL TREE is a beautiful sight to four patients at the Big Spring State Hospital and members of the Junior Womans Forum who are assisting them with their Christmas shopping. In working with the patients, the forum group has taken the name of the "Downtowners" and regularly bring patients to town for shopping, visiting and entertainment. Patients in this group are those who will soon be returning to community life.

EVERY LITTLE GIRL wishes for a doll at Christmastime, and every mother hopes the wish can come true. Many local women answer the call each year when the Salvation Army asks for help in providing the dolls with new, pretty dresses. Among those who have been sewing on the small garments are these members of the Center Point Home Demonstration Club. They are Mrs. J. R. Petty, Mrs. Alden Ryan, Mrs. T. A. Melton, Mrs. W. L. Eggleston, Mrs. Bob Wren and Mrs. G. R. Simmons.

"Caring At Christmas"

The season is near, and the glow of the Christmas star lights hearts all over the land. For all, there is a thing for which to rejoice, but for some, the helping hand of a neighbor is needed to put food on the holiday table and a toy in the hand of a child. Big Spring has opened its heart and held out its hand so that none will be forgotten - and all may know the joy of giving.

GOOD SCOUTS always have a good deed to do - and what is better than bringing cheer to the less fortunate? These Girl Scouts and their leaders are doing their share by collecting food, toys and clothing for local distribution. WARMTH FOR WINTER NIGHTS is the gift of the Sew and Chatter Club. This group, like several others, spend their time during the year stitching on quilts which are given at Christmas to those who need them. From left are Mrs. S. R. Nobles, Mrs. C. Y. Clinkscapes and Mrs. C. M. Weaver.

Wedding Held On Saturday

Miss Judith Ann Johnson exchanged wedding vows with Airman I.C. Harold R. Smith Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in the Berea Baptist Church. The Rev. Bill O'Dell officiated for the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of J. M. Johnson, 1501 Runnels, and Mrs. Leslie Johnson of Dallas. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Smith, Rock Hill, S. C.

Arrangements of white chrysanthemums, gladioli and greenery graced the altar. Mrs. Vaughn Martin, pianist, presented traditional wedding selections and accompanied C. R. Carroll as he sang "Whither Thou Goest."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length dress of white velveteen. The modified Empire design featured long, petal point sleeves fastened with seed pearls. Her short veil of illusion was attached to a circle hat; and, for her bouquet, she carried white carnations atop a white Bible.

Miss Beth Johnson, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a red velveteen sheath dress with long sleeves and carried a bouquet of red and white carnations.

S. Sgt. Donald L. Huber was best man, and ushers were Airman I.C. Calvin E. Goodin and Ronald Sutphen.

For a wedding trip to Rock Hill, S. C., the bride wore a two-piece blue suit with black accessories. The couple will reside at 1501 Runnels.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring Senior High School. She was a member of the National Honor Society, the Latin Club, the Future Homemakers of America and vice president of the Shorthand Club. She attended the Methodist School of Nursing in Lubbock and is presently employed at the Retail Merchants Association. The bridegroom graduated from Rock Hill High School and is presently stationed at Webb AFB.

A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jones, 1407 Eleventh Place, where the honored couple, the bride's parents and attendants welcomed guests.

The refreshment table was covered with a white lace cloth over a red underlay and centered with an arrangement of red and white carnations. Milk glass candle holders with white tapers flanked the white cake.

Miss Karen Miller was in charge of the register. Members of the house party were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Blassingame, Mrs. Rita Freitag, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Sutphen, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hubert.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Carroll and Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Carroll, all of Dallas; and Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Stevenson, Fort Worth. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Clark, 2103 Morrison, was the scene of a Friday evening rehearsal dinner. Twelve guests attended, and the honored couple presented gifts to the attendants.

The party room at Furr's Cafeteria was the scene of a luncheon held Thursday at noon for members of the Big Spring Progressive Forum. Twelve attended.

Afterward, the group reconvened at the home of Mrs. C. K. Orr, 2907 Goliad, and exchanged gifts before a lighted fireplace in a room decorated for the holiday season.

Refreshments of cake and coffee were served by Mrs. Orr, Mrs. D. G. Whitten and Mrs. Horace Rankin.

The next meeting will be Jan. 12 in the home of Mrs. Ernest Welch, 605 Bucknell.

Woman's Forum Has Christmas Luncheon

Christmas customs of other lands was the program theme for the Woman's Forum Friday when members and three guests met for a luncheon and gift exchange at the Cosden Country Club.

Mrs. Wayne Vaughn told of the Christmas customs in English-speaking countries as opposed with those of other nationalities. She touched on England, France, Switzerland, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Germany, Spain, Italy, Guatemala, Nicaragua and Mexico.

Mrs. L. B. Maulden, president, gave her greeting to the club and Mrs. Charles Sweeney was in charge of the program. She announced that the January meeting will be a workshop at the home of Mrs. Cecil McDonald. It will begin at 10 a.m., and a covered dish luncheon will be served at noon.

Table decorations for the luncheon were fashioned with poinsettias, some in a massive arrangement flanked by red sat in trimmed white candles on the head table, and others for the side tables were held in gold felt boots.

Three guests were Mrs. Robert F. Polk, Mrs. Lucian Jones and Mrs. Gus Brandon of Cross Plains.

Members were reminded of the party for the patients at the Big Spring State Hospital which will begin at 7 p.m. on Tuesday.

Following the program gifts were exchanged by the members. Twenty-five attended.

Astrophysicists Are Getting Much Prettier

By JEAN HELLER
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Susan Kayser is a young, attractive housewife, a very down-to-earth girl in many ways. But her mind is a million light years away.

It should be. That's what she gets paid for.

In addition to wife, homemaker and cook, Susan Kayser, 26, is Dr. Susan Kayser, astrophysicist.

Dr. Kayser doesn't look like a woman who would be particularly interested in the physical and chemical workings of the universe, but she thinks like one. "I've had a lot of practice," she says. "Astronomy has always been my hobby, more or less since I was in the third grade."

It's more than a hobby now, however. She spends most of her professional, scientific time probing possible reasons for the appearance of so many cool bright stars in Galaxy NGC 6822, more than 1.8 billion light years away.

Dr. Kayser first discovered the presence of the huge numbers of cool bright stars when she was doing a thesis on the California Institute of Technology—a thesis that brought her earlier this year the first Ph.D. Cal Tech has ever awarded to a woman in astrophysics.

Her discovery about NGC 6822 is important for a number of complex scientific reasons, but it boils down to the fact that bright stars are thought to spend as little as one-tenth of one per cent of their multi-billion-year lives in the cool-bright phase. So there should not be too many of them there at any given time.

But in Dr. Kayser's galaxy, at least, there are lots of them, and she wants to know why—possibly because it's of importance to earthlings, but more so just because "it's important to know what's going on."

Finding out what's going on is a preoccupation of several members of Dr. Kayser's family. Her two brothers are in engineering physics and biochemistry.

Her husband, Boris, is an assistant professor of physics at the State University at Stony Brook, on Long Island. They met while they were still in high school.

"We won a contest together," Dr. Kayser says. Naturally, it was a science contest. Ironically, while Dr. Kayser—the wife—studies the vastness of outer space at Manhattan's Yeshiva University, Dr. Kayser—the husband—is exploring nature's smallest world, elementary particles.

Miss Delores Howard Weds Lt. D. E. Bash

MRS. DOUGLAS E. BASH

Miss Delores Howard became the bride of Lt. Douglas E. Bash Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in a double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Leo K. Gee in the First Methodist Church.

Vows were exchanged before an altar table graced with a large spray of white gladioli, chrysanthemums and pompons. Emerald green ferns were flanked by seven-branched candelabra, and the cross at the back of the altar was accented with a 15-branched candelabrum.

Jack Hendrix of Odessa, organist, presented a prelude of nuptial selections including "March In D" by Bach and accompanied Mrs. Carl Bradley, sister of the bride, as she sang "Bach's 'Treat Me Not to Leave Thee.'" The postlude was "Trumpet Voltaire" by Purcell.

PARENTS
Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Howard, 1500 Lancaster, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl M. Bash of Columbus, Ohio.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her brother, Lynn L. Howard, the bride wore a formal A-line dress of imported French white brocade with rolled collar and long, fitted sleeves. The matching sleeveless Pandora coat formed a chapel train, and her open pillbox headpiece held a shoulder-length veil of illusion.

The bridal bouquet was a cascade of white gladioli backed with olive green velvet leaves and showered with stephanotis and satin streamers.
Mrs. Ann Howard Hatch, niece of the bride was the honor attendant, and Miss Pricilla Riordan was the bridesmaid. They were identically dressed in long olive green gowns with Watteau styling at the back and bows accenting the front bodice. Each carried a bouquet of green and gold grape clusters tied with moss green velvet.

The best man was Lt. John W. Hamner of Tuscaloosa, Ala., and ushers were Lt. Larry Lindseth of Great Falls, Mont., and Lt. Paul Bishop of Des Moines, Iowa.

RECEPTION
The couple was honored, following the ceremony, with a reception in the Blue Room at Cosden Country Club. With them in receiving guests were their parents and the feminine attendants. Guests were registered by Mrs. Jack Parrish, and members of the house party were Mrs. Ira Bigham, Mrs. C. M. Weaver, Mrs. E. L. Terry, Mrs. Edgar Phillips, Mrs. K. H. McGibbon, Mrs. Fred McGowan, Mrs. Bill McIlvain, Mrs. Cass Hill, Mrs. H. V. Crocker and Mrs. John Hamner.

Immediately after the reception, Lt. and Mrs. Bash left for McGuire AFB in New Jersey en route to their new home at Hahn AFB, Germany.

Mrs. Bash is a graduate of Big Spring Senior High School and attended Howard County Junior College and Southern Methodist University. She has been employed by the State National Bank. Lt. Bash is a graduate of Ohio State University and completed his pilot training at Webb AFB.

Junior Members Take Pilgrimage To Homes

A pilgrimage to see holiday decorations in members homes was the highlight of the Thursday evening meeting of the Junior Women's Forum.

The 19 attending met at the home of Mrs. Oakley Hagood, 518 Scott, for a short business meeting preceding the tour. Introduced as guests were Mrs. David Davidson and Mrs. Ray Webb. The members approved plans to make cash donations to Project Hope and to the Cheer Fund.

GIRL SCOUTS WRAP GIFTS

Senior Girl Scout Troop 378 is sponsoring a gift-wrapping booth in the mall at Highland Shopping Center. The booth is a fund-raising project with proceeds to be used to finance out-of-town trips. The booth is open on weekdays from 4 to 9 p.m., and on Saturdays, from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Charges start at 25 cents a box and a selection of Christmas paper and ribbon is offered. Mrs. Richard Atkins is the troop sponsor.

The members visited six homes on their tour. The first home was that of Mrs. Don Wiley, 2308 Lynn. The home reflected the theme of an old fashioned Christmas with many decorations being made of native West Texas plants sprayed in an array of colors.

"A New England Christmas" was the theme of the Howard Churchill home, 2717 Cindy. Mrs. Churchill used a miniature sugar village as one of her decorations.

Mrs. Bob Galbraith's home, 2601 Ann, was decorated with popcorn strings and a large nut wreath over the fireplace. "Boys Town U.S.A." was the theme of the Joe Harton home at 3300 Cornell. The decorations featured a miniature train running around a festive Christmas tree.

The Morris Rhodes plan to have a "Fireside Christmas" at their home, 1711 Alabama. The highlight of the decorations will be a tablecloth made of red yarn and adorned with poinsettias and green candles.

Mrs. Louis McKnight, 2307 Marshall, was hostess for the refreshment hour. Her home featured a drummer boy replica used for a Christmas greeting holder.

Experiences Related By Viet Nam Veteran

Lt. Charles Hastings was guest speaker during the Thursday evening meeting of the Mother's Club of the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church. The members met in the parish hall with Mrs. Luis Casillas presiding.

Lt. Hastings, who is stationed at Webb AFB, spoke on his recent tour of duty in Vietnam. He described the customs of the country and of American influence among the people.

Mrs. F. K. Broyles reported that the church library, which has been closed for inventory and repair work, will reopen on Jan. 9.

Members were also reminded that a children's Christmas party and a visit from Santa Claus will be held Dec. 22 at the school.

Sister Emerita introduced members of the seventh and eighth grade home economics class who described their work in making scarves, purses and bookmarkers.

Refreshments were served from a table centered with a large red candle surrounded by pine cones and greenery.

Foam Cushions Improve Chairs

The latest thing in modern furniture is "wire wicker," furniture styled like the popular wicker designs, but made of wire instead of willow.

The strong wires are spaced relatively far apart giving the furniture a light, airy, see-through effect.

Ample cushions of latex foam rubber top the wire frame and make it comfortable.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length dress of white lace over satin. The dress had a fitted bodice and long, petal point sleeves. Her shoulder-length veil of illusion fell from a crown of lace adorned with seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white cymbidium orchids and blue carnations atop a white Bible.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the honored couple, parents and attendants welcomed guests.

The refreshment table was covered by a satin cloth with a skirt of net ruffles. The centerpiece was an arrangement of orchids and satin streamers. The three-tiered wedding cake was decorated with confection roses and topped with a miniature bride and groom.

TAKE A YEAR TO PAY BLUM'S EASY WAY NO INTEREST OR CARRYING CHARGE!

A not-so-funny thing happened on the way to Christmas last year.

We ran out of Accutron® timepieces. So the customers who came in at the last minute had to settle for a conventional watch. Some didn't. And we know why.

All conventional watches—wind, self-wind and electric—keep time by the gyrations of a balance wheel. It splits a second into 5 parts. But Accutron is not a watch. It's a precise timepiece that keeps time through the vibrations of a tiny tuning fork. The tuning fork splits each second into 360 equal parts.

And keeps time so accurate, we guarantee monthly accuracy within 60 seconds*—which averages out to about 2 seconds a day.

Every second counts during December days. Because what happened last year could happen again. So run in before we run out.

By LUCILLE PICKLE

It's just a week away, and before we know it, the week will be gone and Santa Claus will be here with all those things you always wanted... if the money held out.

For many people the fact that their family will be together is Christmas gift enough.

MR. and MRS. BILL McILVAIN who live on the Wilkerson ranch west of Big Spring, are happy to have their son and his wife, MR. and MRS. BILLY G. McILVAIN, who live in Burley, Idaho, here for two weeks. The younger couple is expected to arrive this afternoon and it will be her first trip to Texas.

On Christmas Day the McIlvains are hosting a big dinner at which her five sisters and their families will be guests. The sisters are MRS. FRED McGOWAN, MRS. RITA LEWIS, MRS. W. L. OSBORNE, MRS. WILLIS McDONALD, and MRS. GRADY HODNETT.

MRS. LEWIS VALE and her three children, left Friday by air for Cincinnati, Ohio, where they will be met by her parents who will take them on to their home in Batesville, Ind. The family will be in Batesville during the holiday season. The husband and father, CAPT. VALE, is serving in the Air Force in Thailand.

PAM LURTING, daughter of DR. and MRS. FRED LURTING, arrived Thursday evening from Columbia, Mo., where she is a student in Stephens College.

If you were a member of the class of '31 at Big Spring High School you will probably remember ROBERT TIDWELL for several reasons. A more important one is the fact that he was one of the more intelligent members of the group and also that he was a fine fellow. Recently one of the class members, DR. CLYDE THOMAS, read a short article in a newspaper telling of a Robert Tidwell who had been advanced to a position equaling a vice presidency in the Du Pont Company in Wilmington, Del. On the chance it might be our Mr. Tidwell, he wrote a letter asking him if by any chance he might be the one who graduated with the '31 class. He was delighted to receive a long letter from Tidwell who was indeed the one who had finished here. He asked about a number of his former classmates and was pleased to have been remembered by Dr. Thomas.

The granddaughter of two Big Spring families will be in a fine spot this afternoon when the half period of the LA Rams and Green Bay Packer game comes around. She is VIRGINIA DELL LEE, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Swan Lee of Odessa. She is a member of the Permian High School band and is a flutist. She will be the young lady in third position at the beginning of the R when the band spells out "RAMS." Her grandparents here are MRS. MYRTLE LEE and MR. and MRS. A. E. WALKER.

Hyperion Club Told Customs

The Blue Room of Cosden Country Club was the scene of the Thursday afternoon meeting of the 1948 Hyperion Club hosted by Mrs. Choc Jones and Mrs. M. M. Edwards.

Mrs. Robert Stripling presided during the brief business session, and a donation was made to the Cheer Fund. Also, the group planned a Christmas gift for Oiva Knuutilla, the foreign exchange student at Big Spring Senior High School, and to assist with the Dec. 20 party at the state hospital. Mrs. Jones presented the program, "Christmas in America," in which she described customs for the celebration in different parts of the country. She noted that in the nation's capital, Christmas means "The Pageant of Peace" which was inaugurated in 1954 when the first national Christmas tree was lighted by President Dwight Eisenhower. Each year the tree comes from a different state and is at least 65 feet tall.

"America's traditional public caroling and candle-lit windows can be traced to Beacon Hill," she said. Even today Bostonians shun artificial lighting and hold to the use of a single candle for the window. Strolling groups still sing and ring bells in Louisburg Square.

Mrs. Jones explained that the Yule Log was introduced in America by the Colonists who settled in Virginia. They brought with them the custom of feasting and merrymaking from England. Many places in the South singing Christmas tree programs. The living tree is formed of over 100 singers standing in a metal frame to form the tree's shape.

In the West, the custom of using luminarias at Christmas is becoming wide-spread. El Paso has done this for many years to light the mountains for the season.

Nineteen attended and were served by Mrs. Stripling from a polished table centered with an arrangement of aqua candles and gold baubles and leaves. A silver coffee service was used.

County Gathers Over Fifty Thousand Bales

By SAM BLACKBURN
Howard County's 1966 cotton crop was near the 53,000 bale mark at noon Friday, and ginners estimated there were several thousand bales yet to be processed before the crop is all in.

The 12 gins operating in the county had ginned 48,735 bales through Friday morning. At that time there were 3,990 bales on the gin lots. More cotton was still coming in although the ginners said that the rush was over and a marked slowing down had been noted.

Combined total of cotton ginned and on the lot stood at 52,726 Friday.

BEST YET
In view of the county's relatively small acreage — only 45,000 acres — the production this year has beaten all existing per-acre records. There have been larger cotton crops in bales ginned but these bales came from as much as two or three times the acreage planted to cotton this year.

Most ginners said that the crop is 90 per cent—or better—harvested. They hope to wind up the crop proper by Christmas Day. Some gins are already scheduling a three-day holiday for the Yule—and are straining every effort to have empty gin

Parties, Variety Program To Climax Hospital Yuletide

Tuesday evening will see the climax to a round of Christmas parties at the Big Spring State Hospital.

Twenty-eight groups and organizations will host separate parties on the various units in alternate shifts at 6:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. This will permit patients to witness a variety show at the Allred Auditorium while parties are not in progress at their units.

Several yule affairs were held during the past week, including the HCJC Hawk Players presentation of "A Child Is Born." This was directed by Clark Frayser, Vicki Smith and James Stricklin, the latter serving as narrator. Jackie Jones and Sonny Moser were the stars.

DRUM SET
Wednesday the musical group headed by Ace Ball, and the American Legion, announced that a set of drums has been ordered for the hospital. In addition to furnishing music for the weekly dance, the two sponsors have been raising funds for the drums. Christmas refreshments were distributed at the affair.

Patients put on a pageant Friday in the Allred Building for the staff and other patients, staging "Night Before Christmas." This was directed by Frank Wharton, music therapist, assisted by Mrs. Walter Widger, volunteer.

Saturday afternoon Allied Students at Webb AFB, as a gesture of appreciation for the manner in which the community has received them, put on a two-hour Christmas party for adolescent patients.

A contest in door decorations has been under way, and a $35 prize for unit improvements will go to the winner. Mrs. Ramona Herbert, Mrs. Raymond Washburn and Mrs. Herbert Doering of the Tip Tops, were to be the judges.

VARIETY SHOW
The variety show Tuesday will feature the pupils of Mrs. Ora Burson in dance routines; the Barber Shop quartet group from Midland, headed by James Gambino, concertmaster for the Midland symphony; some Latin-American songs and dances.

Among the groups hosting the unit parties, where they will serve refreshments and present brief programs, are, according to Mary Cochran, coordinator of volunteer services: EAS (Alpha Chi chapter), Graduate Nurses, Evening Lions, Coahoma Lions, Downtown Lions, Knights of Pythias, Air-

The traditional Midnight Mass for Catholics will be said at the Base Chapel with Chaplain Thomas D. Holland as celebrant. Christmas carol singing will begin at 11:30 p.m.

Christmas Day and New Year's Masses will be said at 9 a.m. and 12:15 p.m. both holidays.

Pre-Christmas confessions for Catholics will be Dec. 22 and 23 at 9 to 11 a.m. and 2-5 p.m. Saturday confessions will be Dec. 24 from 3 to 5 p.m. There will not be a Christmas Eve confession.

Protestant services on Christmas Eve will begin at 7:30 p.m. Chaplain Robert Deming will conduct the candle light services. His sermon is entitled "God With Us—Emanuel." Christmas Day services will be at 10 and 11 a.m. Chaplain Deming's topic for these services will be "God Has Spoken To Us." Sunday school will be held Christmas Day.

The people of the Chapel will be giving Christmas food boxes to 12 Air Force families in the area Dec. 22. The families were selected with the help of the squadrons.

Protestant New Year's services will be at 10 and 11 a.m. Holy Communion will be served at both services.

A Devotional For The Day

"Behold, a young woman shall conceive and bear a son, and shall call his name Immanuel." (Isaiah 7:14, RSV)

PRAYER: Heavenly Father, we are grateful that in Jesus Christ Thou hast shown us the depth of Thy love. As Thy Son confronts us anew in this glorious season, may we hear Him say, "He who has seen me has seen the Father." In His name we pray. Amen.

Immortality Of An Idea

The test of Walt Disney's greatness is that what he created will live long after him, and will continue to bless young and old alike for years and years to come.

Walt Disney had that speck of immortality which began in an idea, and that idea unfolded into an art.

His animations for the movies were the essence of simplicity, although as the techniques advanced, there came to be exquisite and breath-taking sequences. There was in his characters an innocence that shone all the more brightly in a tarnished world, and a freshness that revived a cynical generation.

He brought sophistication to the heart throb, but he kept the warmth and emotion of it. He looked out on the world in wide-eyed wonderment. He told the stories which always will delight children, and he dreamed others that were even better.

Why, Walt Disney made us still believe in fairies, and even in talking creatures who somehow enunciated again the virtues of right and decency and love.

Fred Hyer's Discovery

Those who knew Fred Hyer but not his background would never dream that he was the man who opened the way to the fabulous oil boom here in the late 20's.

But it was his venturesome spirit that led to drilling a wildcat well out in a dry hole wilderness with the result that the great wealth of the Howard-Glasscock field was tapped.

Of course, in time someone would have discovered the fabulous field, but this is like saying that someone would have learned to fly had not the Wright brothers done it. The fact is that Fred Hyer did stake his money and his know-how on that which looked like a good chance—and it paid off.

He sold out most of his seven sections of leases, and although this probably cost him millions of dollars, he never regretted it, at least not with any bitterness. A one-man oilfield was no good, Fred Hyer always said.

It should go without saying that this community and area owes much to the memory of Fred Hyer and his discovery. There certainly should be erected a suitable historical marker. Surely oil companies which made millions of dollars out of the field in the 40 years following his discovery ought to be willing to join in the erection of some stately or suitable monument.

The First Telephone Was 'Bugged'

WASHINGTON — Just when things were getting dull in Washington, Robert Kennedy, the former attorney general, and J. Edgar Hoover, the head of the FBI, plunged headlong into a bitter brouhaha over who gave permission to bug certain elements of our society while violating their constitutional rights.

It is not general knowledge but the bugging of telephones has been going on in the United States for almost 100 years.

THE FIRST known case of the government bugging someone took place on March 10, 1876, in the laboratories of Alexander Graham Bell in Boston, Mass. Bell had been working for some time on a new speaking device which he called the telephone. In the next room was his assistant, Tom Watson. One day Bell said into his mouthpiece, "Watson, come here, I want you."

Watson rushed into the next room, threw his arms around Bell and the telephone was born.

BUT UNBEKNOWNST to both Watson and Bell, a third person was listening in on their conversation. It was a young government investigator named J. E. Hoover, who was out to make a name for himself in the Justice Department.

J. E. took the next train for Washington. Breathlessly he rushed in to see President Grant's attorney general who happened to be a man named Edwards Pierrepont. In the presence of department officials he played the primitive, crackling tape for them.

Atty. Gen. Pierrepont couldn't believe his ears. "What hath God wrought?" he said.

J. E. said, "You have heard a tape of the first conversation ever bugged on a telephone."

"What the hell's a telephone?" the attorney general wanted to know.

"IT'S A NEW invention by some Scotsman named Alexander Graham Bell. He wasn't a citizen, so I was very curious as to what he was up to. I think 'Watson, come here, I want you,' is some sort of code, but I haven't had time to break it down yet."

"But what good is bugging a telephone?" the attorney general demanded.

"I'd rather put it another way, sir. What good is a telephone if it isn't bugged? Don't you see what this invention means? If there are going to be telephones we can listen in on them and we can catch spies and crooks and Communists and bookies and juvenile delinquents and even lawyers."

"I DON'T KNOW, J. E. The whole thing smells unconstitutional to me," the attorney general said.

"But how else are we going to get the rats if we don't bug them on the telephone?" J. E. demanded.

"I'm the attorney general of the United States, J. E., and I can't condone wire tapping of any kind unless it's in the national interest. On the other hand, if I didn't know about it, then I wouldn't be condoning it. Would I?"

"EXACTLY MY thoughts, sir. Just sign this letter saying you don't know anything about me tapping telephones and it will be all the authority I need."

Little did Edwards Pierrepont know when he signed the letter that every other attorney general after him would sign a similar letter until this year when the Supreme Court wanted to know what was going on.

Alexander Graham Bell may have invented the telephone, but it was young J. E. Hoover who really made the invention pay off for law-abiding Americans everywhere.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

President Johnson's recent surgery provoked renewed interest and concern over the question of presidential disability and succession.

The 25th amendment, dealing with the problem of determining presidential disability, was proposed to Congress July 7, 1965. To become effective it, as is the case of any amendment to the U.S. Constitution, must be ratified by 38 states. So far 31 states have ratified the 25th amendment.

President Johnson and Vice President Hubert Humphrey have an agreement under which the vice president would become Acting President in the event of the President's disability.

This type of agreement was first made by Eisenhower and Nixon.

Under the agreement with President Johnson, Humphrey would become Acting President either on orders from the President after "appropriate" consultation.

Under the 25th amendment the vice president becomes Acting President when the President informs Congress that he is unable to perform his duties or when the vice president and a majority of the Cabinet or other body designated by Congress to inform Congress the President is disabled.

The President, after being disabled, resumes his powers after the President informs Congress he is able to resume his power. The amendment also provides for filling a vacancy in the vice presidency.

Economy Moving At Slower Pace

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The business boom has lost more of its zip.

Statistics announced during the week reflected the economy's slower pace.

Industrial production declined, the gain in personal income slowed, the cutback in automobile production spread, output dipped, retail sales fell, and wholesale prices declined.

However, government economists said this wasn't all bad news. They said the developments show that the economy is returning to a much more sustainable pace after a worrisome surge earlier this year.

The Federal Reserve Board reported that industrial production declined in November as steel and auto output fell.

The production index declined 0.3 point to 158.3 per cent of the 1957-59 average from October's record level.

LARGEST IN YEAR

The decline was the largest drop since the 0.8-point decline in September 1965.

Iron and steel production, the report showed, declined for the fourth consecutive month. At 134 per cent, the iron and steel index was down three points from the month before.

Auto production fell more steeply, to 167 per cent in November from 177.8 per cent in October.

Ford Motor Co. and American Motors Corp. joined General Motors Corp. and Chrysler Corp. in announcing production cutbacks over the next few weeks because of lagging sales.

Ford will reduce December and January production schedules by about 22,000 cars. American Motors said it would cut back production in the next two weeks, but gave no figures.

PERSONAL INCOME UP

New car sales in the first 10 days of December fell 11 per cent from a year earlier. Deliveries totaled 222,931, down from 249,394 the year before.

Personal income in November was at a record annual rate of $397.6 billion, up $3.2 billion, but the advance was narrower than the $4.4 billion rise in October.

Steel production dropped for

LOSING ZIP

- Steel output dips to 71.4 per cent of capacity
- Auto sales down 10 pct., affects retail sales
- Wholesale index dip attributed to farm price drop
- Inventories gain at more rapid rate in October
- Personal income rises, but at a slower pace

the week to its lowest level since last January. Indications were that it would continue to fall in the coming week and some mills expected no recovery for the rest of December.

New Plants In Europe

Chicago (AP) — The Common Market is getting a bigger share of U.S. foreign plants.

Foreign outlays by American firms, consisting of foreign plant and equipment expenditures, are expected to reach $9.2 billion by the end of 1966. It represents a rise of 21 per cent over the previous year.

The six Common Market countries, Belgium, France, Italy, Luxembourg, the Netherlands and West Germany, will receive an investment of about $1.4 billion, a 40 per cent increase over 1965 outlays.

That 'Left' Feeling

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — For a short time, John Zimmerman was all alone in a 19-story office building. He didn't like it.

It was 3 a.m. when he left his office, found that the elevator wasn't working and walked down 10 flights of stairs only to find both street floor doors locked.

He didn't have the necessary coins to operate the pay phone in the lobby and said he was starting to get jittery when someone shook a door. It was a merchant policeman who rescued him.

"I wanted crowds of people around me," Zimmerman said, "crowds of people. Everything in town was closed so I went home and woke my wife and kids."

Health Problems Of Younger People

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 11 and full of black and blues, and this is ugly for a girl. At the slightest bump I get deep purple bruises. Is there a reason for this?—S.R.V.

Of course there's a reason. The question is WHICH reason. A bruise is bleeding underneath the skin—we have a vast network of capillaries, or very tiny blood vessels. A bump hard enough to break some of them lets a little blood leak from them, and that is the black and blue mark.

Sometimes a person has unusually fragile capillaries, gets a black and blue spot from a bump that wouldn't bother someone else.

Or the blood may not have enough particles called platelets, which are important in causing it to clot when a vessel is broken. Therefore such a person bleeds longer and the black and blue spot is bigger. He or she will also bleed more from a cut. A special study of the blood is necessary to see if this is the situation.

Calcium is also essential in healing these small breaks (or big ones, of course). Milk has a lot of calcium, and most youngsters drink plenty of it. Among older folks, bruising is excessive sometimes because they don't get enough calcium.

Finally, Vitamin C (from tomato juice or orange or other citrus fruits) has a good deal to do with the strength of the capillaries, so if you aren't getting enough of it, you will be better off by drinking some juice every day.

Your parents should have your bruising checked by the doctor; it may not be serious and if the exact cause can be diagnosed, there is excellent chance of correcting it.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a girl of 11. My mother makes me go to bed at 9 o'clock and then complains when I wake up at 7:15 in the morning. She says that is too early. I have tried to reason with her but she just says "I know what's best." Don't you think she's wrong?—S.M.

I don't like to say that mother is wrong. Growing girls need sleep, and I'm not at all pleased with the way some stay up much too late.

However, 10 hours (from 9 p.m. to 7 a.m.) is a reasonable amount for a girl of your age, and I do wish your mother would agree that so long as you go to bed at a reasonable time, you should be allowed to get up when you've had your sleep. When people wake up, they wake up.

Never take a chance on diabetes! For better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald for a copy of the booklet, "Diabetes — The Sneaky Disease." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Because of the tremendous volume of mail received daily, Dr. Molner regrets that he cannot answer individual letters, but whenever possible he uses readers' questions in his column.

Around The Rim

Holiday Triumph — The Tree's Up

"Putting up" the Christmas tree, I have discovered through years of compounded agony, requires more than ordinary talents. The skills of a cabinet maker, of a journeyman electrician and of a certified home-decorating expert, all have to be melded into one. The fact that the red-bit, permanent tree is so gaining in popularity stems from the fact that this combination of skills is missing among most of us.

WE CLING to the old-fashioned type tree around our place, for well, for sentimental reasons, I suppose. But there comes a limit to how far sentiment can go, and next year may be it.

The problem started, this year, with buying the tree. It looked like a well bushed-out affair, rich green and nicely rounded. There was no discovering, of course, until we got it home that the trunk was crooked, so that the tree, regardless of repairs, would stand a little anti-godlin.

THE BUTT wasn't straight, and when I took saw in hand to remedy this defect, I ripped off only three different chunks to achieve the perpendicular. If that's the word. By that time, the trunk wouldn't fit into the patented, sturdy, non-collapsible treeholder, so this called for the craft of a metalsmith. You don't find metalsmiths in every block, you know.

Since the shrub made like the tower of Pisa, no holder in the world would have kept the thing upright. About the only solution I saw was to nail it to the floor, but the Dream Girl, revealing in new carpet, took a dim view of this.

BUT SAY, with four bruised knuckles, one lost finger nail and a sprained wrist, the tree got put up, even if it did list to the leeward.

There ought to be a way to put that uppermost angel adornment on the tip of the tree before it goes up. But no. And if your step-ladder is not satisfactory, the only way to attach this ornament is after falling into the tree three times. This is hard on the branches, and tends to destroy the symmetry of the tree.

I USED to be a believer in standing back and toss the icicles, letting them fall in random disarray. But the Dream Girl doesn't go along with this, either. So, the gew-gaws are attached only after both forearms are scratched and bleeding, and all fingers scream for Band-Aids.

IT'S THE LIGHTS that finally put you in the hospital. After they're strung in stately pattern, all you have to do is crawl underneath the tree, wrap yourself around the base (all but tipping the thing over in the process), and stretch to reach the wallplug. If there is no strike of lightning and a flash of sparks, you have it made. There is always a flash of sparks at our house.

But, back from the doctor's office, and well swathed in bandages, I can look on the tottering, sickly thing in the corner, and say "Well, we got 'er up again." And that's a holiday triumph.

GOP Needs Constructive Program

WASHINGTON — Republican governors and leaders in Congress are giving the impression that they are more interested at the moment in selecting a presidential candidate for 1968 than they are in interpreting the will of the people as expressed in the elections last month. Instead of beginning to organize a constructive opposition which will affect the course of legislation in the next two years, they seem to be concerned primarily with evaluating the respective ambitions of potential candidates.

ACTUALLY, the Republicans really don't have a united party yet—only a lot of splinter groups. The voting in the recent elections reflected the opposition of the country to many of the things the Johnson administration and the Democratic majority in Congress have been doing in the last two years. But, even so, none of the potential candidates of the Republican party for the presidency has ventured to articulate the wishes of the people and to dedicate himself to the causes which prompted so many millions of people to vote against the Democratic party a month ago.

THUS, FOR EXAMPLE, not much has been said publicly about the abuse of power by the administration's officials—both in the Department of Justice and in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare—in applying the laws of Congress on the "civil rights" issue. Nor have Republicans analyzed for the people what the continued failure of the administration to approximate a balanced budget can mean to the nation's monetary unit. Yet within the past few weeks the administration has "leaked" hints that it is going to spend many billions more next year than it has in any preceding year.

CERTAINLY THE country is concerned about a possible tax increase. Republican leaders, however, haven't joined together to express a viewpoint that would reflect the thinking of the entire nation—which is that it is better for the government to economize than to keep on spending, and that it is better to stimulate the collection of more tax receipts by a solid fiscal policy than it is to raise tax rates and disrupt the economy.

The electorate is just as much worried now as it was a few weeks ago about the behavior of the administration on various issues. But very little has been said here, for instance, about any plan to tackle the crime problem on a nationwide basis.

THE AMERICAN people in the recent elections registered protests on many issues, not the least of which was the rising cost-of-living and the depreciation in the purchasing power of the dollar.

It is unusual for a party that gained as many seats in Congress and as many governorships as did the Republicans in the elections last month to spend the 30 days thereafter in relative silence, avoiding outspoken comments on the principal issues of the day.

THE "CIVIL RIGHTS" controversy, for example, is deep-seated and affects many more millions of voters in the North and West than is generally realized. But the cautious politicians prefer to bypass it. They are not recommending corrective measures that should be taken to prevent a repetition.

It is of less concern now to know who the Republican presidential candidate is going to be in 1968 than what kind of public sentiment can be built up in the next two years by the party itself.

People Bitter About The War

WASHINGTON — Since the roof fell in on the Democrats on Nov. 8 post-mortems have been raining down from every quarter. Democratic apologues and Republican critics looking for the explanations, whether in the economy, the white backlash or the inevitable off-year decline following a landslide Presidential victory, can suit their own prejudices.

ALMOST WITHOUT exception, in the view of this observer, they ignore or play down what is possibly the primary reason for the defeat — the deep undercurrent of discontent with the constantly enlarging war in Vietnam. Even the latest Louis Harris survey, showing approval of the President's handling of the war down to a low of 42 per cent, may not reflect the extent of the discontent and distrust. High prices, high interest rates, the collapse of the housing industry—these and other troubles are traced back to the war as a root cause.

MUCH OF THE discontent over Vietnam relates to the conviction of widespread inequities in the draft. The poor are fighting the war while the well-to-do can keep their sons in school and thereby escape the draft. Out of concern for being thought unpatriotic this is rarely articulated in any public fashion, perhaps not even to a poll-taker. Yet there is reason to believe the feeling is widely held.

Much of the mail coming to me since Nov. 8 reflects these attitudes. A woman reader in California expressed it with great forthrightness. We did not, she wrote, vote for Ronald Reagan; we voted against Gov. Edmund G. Brown, the Johnson administration and the war in Vietnam.

ONE CAN HEAR this same judgment from serious political observers out in the country. The unpopular war coupled with a growing distrust of the Johnson personality — the unceasing efforts of a super-salesman to endear himself to all of the people all of the time — are having a telling effect.

In 1952 and in the Congressional election two years later Republican propaganda leaned heavily on "the three Democrat wars." Casualties in World War I, World War II and the Korean War were added up and scored against the party that had been in power when each of these wars began. President Johnson has several times sought to trace the origins of the Vietnamese war back to a letter sent by President Eisenhower in 1954 offering aid and support to the government in Saigon.

BUT FOR most Americans this is likely to seem a technical claim, since as late as the fall of 1963 the number of Americans in Vietnam as "advisers" was 16,000. Although he had raised the ante, President Kennedy had consistently held that the war must be fought in the south by the Vietnamese themselves. The great escalation took place beginning in the spring of 1965 when the choice seemed to be defeat or a massive movement of Americans into the war zone. This has converted the conflict in all but name to an American war.

FORMER Vice President Richard M. Nixon, with his sharp eye firmly fixed on '68, has said that if the war is not ended during the coming year nothing can prevent the Republican party from becoming the party of peace. And dolorous Democrats are saying privately that if the war continues into '68 the President cannot be re-elected.

AN EYE ON THE WORLD

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The fascination of a globe... let the eye roam over the world map... notice the different countries and continents... try to imagine what life must be like in each of these places.

Yes, every spot on the globe has its particular need. Sometimes it is a need felt in that one place alone. Yet, in a sense, every place is the same, for all countries are made up of people. And all people have the same basic needs.

One of these needs is faith — faith in a God who also has an eye on our world — faith in a God who sustains us, and who gives meaning to time and eternity. Your own life has this need. You can answer that need by attending church, and discovering the strength and joy which come through regular worship.

Christmas Lights That Glow From Within

'THE NIGHT OF THE GRIZZLY' Danger threatens every corner

Grizzly Provides Match For Walker

When a man is six feet and six inches and weighs 235 pounds, like Clint Walker, who is there for him to tangle with? No man in his right mind is going to cross him, and if Clint goes after anyone, whatever the provocation, he's the bully.

What in real life is a standoff is a major problem on the screen. In outdoor adventure stories, the villain must get his just desserts and in "The Night of the Grizzly," opening Thursday, at the Ritz Theatre, Walker, producer Burt Dunne and writer Warren Douglas feel they have devised a screenplay with a foolproof heavy, a grizzly bear.

"It's the first time I ever felt like a midget," says Walker of his eight-foot, 1000-odd-pound antagonist.

"Man-to-man with Clint, no one's got a chance. But man-to-bear, that's matchmaking!" says producer Dunne proudly.

"I'm just glad they didn't write any scenes between me and that miserable monster," is all Martha Hyer can say.

True to the spirit of good moviemaking, Walker does eventually conquer the bear, but at least no one can accuse him of picking on someone smaller. In one of the most furious encounters ever screened, Clint needs a gun, a knife, fists and frontier versions of karate and judo, along with a little luck, before he is finally able to convert his opponent into a rug.

"We can, truthfully say the fur flew," chortles director Joseph Pevney.

There are other brawls in the film, but each one has been meticulously tailored so that the star isn't able to take advantage of his size where a single, hostile, unarmed man is involved. For example, Clint disposes of small-town, junior-grade badman Ron Ely with a swat of the backhand. Of course, when Leo Gordon, as a disagreeable bounty hunter, tries to exterminate Walker with knife, gun-but and steel bear trap, the script does let Clint get a bit more physical.

"And," says writer Douglas almost apologetically, "we do give Clint a chance to play rough in a pool-hall brawl when three toughs jump him.

"We had to reshoot that entire sequence," he goes on. "The first time, Walker smashed up the whole set as well as his three enemies.

think reading it would do all people much good."

Whenever I see the lights of Christmas, I recall most strongly three instances where I felt I had seen something of the source. I am sure you know many more. But these three shine brightest among my memories.

One is a friend in Austin. Each Christmas season he undertakes a several-day search for youngsters to whom he gives, with his name quietly unknown. He does not add to his packages any burden for the youngster that implies charity.

A second is in Dallas. A friend there calls his work "Givers Anonymous." He works through schools to find the needy. From helpful stores and parents come gifts to augment his own. His project is sizable to yet remain silent. His only requirement is that the gift, Christmas Day, is from parent to child.

That, of course, is the greatest gift he can give — self respect.

Strongest of all my recollections is from Victoria—not too many years ago.

It was a little restaurant, where the highways bend north. The windows sweated, for it was unseasonably cold. The place was uncrowded; the townspeople already home. Just a few travelers stopped for dinner, then homeward for their own Christmas Eve.

I was one: late, hurried. Across at a solitary table by the wall was another — a preoccupied man, dark-suited, eating with his paper propped against the sugar tumbler behind his steak and coffee.

But in the center of the restaurant, one table was crowded. They were a stairstep family. The way they were brushed and scrubbed and sitting stiffly unaccustomed there, you could tell this dinner was their Christmas.

You could tell, watching the father, seamed face, gnarled hands and weathered neck wrinking his carefully clean collar—that he had close-figured the costs for eight meals: the ones with more impressive names, but with prices just above minimum; and that he would have just barely enough for the bill—and the tip grade demanded.

You could tell he had balanced everything and concluded this was the very best Christmas he could make. You knew he wished they hadn't put him at the center table—he would so much rather have been off to the side—but that would be the last thing he could let his children see in him.

He didn't have to worry; he owned a million dollars' pride in those kids' eyes. You wished he could see it as his starch-dressed wife could see it. When the littlest spilled something on that clean tablecloth they had carefully guarded, even the rebuke in her eyes was gentle.

I finished, started for the cashier's counter. The family dinner was moving slowly as you like your good dreams, so I circled wide.

I had to wait at the counter. The preoccupied man from across had taken time settling his bill, and he seemed impatient with the girl. Then he was out of earshot. Then he was gone, hurriedly top-coated and hat-jammed through the door. When I went up, she just stood there, shaking her head.

She held two ten dollar bills. "He bought their dinner!" She shook her head again. "He said that man wouldn't like it. He said I better not say a word. Then he just walked out."

"Who is he?"

"Mister, I never saw him before. You better believe me, he looked like he'd get mad if I told them he did it."

I paid my bill, not looking back at the Christmas family. "What are you going to tell them?"

"I'll just tell 'em . . ." she crammed the money in the cash drawer. " . . . I'll tell 'em we got a raffle they won. And Christmas Eve's dinner's on the house." She closed the drawer with sudden resolution.

"And Christmas dinner, too!"

Comedy Due At Drive-In

With babies as the subject and the name of the game hunting for a father, "Promise Her Anything" has all the riotous ingredients of first class comedy. Starring Leslie Caron, Warren Beatty, and Bob Cummings, the film, which opens today at the Jet Theatre, can boast of a fine cast of multi-talented performers.

Harley Rummel (Warren Beatty), an art film-oriented cineamateur, who makes his daily bread directing stag movies, is immediately attracted to his new neighbor, Michele O'Brien (Leslie Caron), and in spite of himself, to her ingratiating 18-month-old baby, John Thomas. Michele is a widow who works for the child-hating Cummings, the world's most noted child psychologist.

Harley is under pressure from his producer (Keenan Wynn) to come up with some block-busting moneymakers. His various gimmicks (strip-tease versions of "To Tell the Truth," "Open End," etc.) are not making it in the stag reel market. His brainstorm is to use a baby to counterpoint the wider elements in the movies.

To get John Thomas as his super-star, he offers babysitting services to Michele. She, of course, is unaware of Harley's occupation.

'THE GUNS OF NAVARONE' Making plans for war

'Guns Of Navarone' Dues Tuesday At Ritz

After almost seven months of filming on location in Greece and in England, writer-producer Carl Foreman finally was able to "fire" his spectacular motion picture prop, "The Guns of Navarone," hailed by critics and audiences the world over as a great high adventure. The "guns" supposedly are destroyed by an Allied commando team headed by Gregory Peck and including David Niven, Anthony Quinn and their costars, Stanley Baker, Anthony Quayle, Irene Papas, Gia Scala and James Darren at the Ritz Theatre, in CinemaScope and Eastman Color. But Foreman got a bang out of pressing the right button himself.

"The Guns of Navarone," as described in Alistair MacLean's best-selling novel, are embedded deep in a cave on the side of an island cliff; they cannot be destroyed by plane or ship and they prevent the British navy from using a vital Aegean Sea strait.

Final filming on the multi-million dollar production took place on one of the largest outdoor sets ever constructed. The massive structure stretched over an area of almost two acres, representing a rocky cliff penetrated by a long tunnel in the center of which are several levels used for supplies and ammunition. It contained a big hydraulic elevator and two giant guns, each 81 feet long and weighing 20 tons apiece. This super-structure, towering 140 feet into the air, was built of tubular steel and timber, with a coating of material designed to provide a replica of the rocky exterior that protects the guns.
