Runoff Election Slated Saturday

The Democratic and Republican second primaries, or runoff elections, will be held in Friona, June 17. Although a light turnout is predicted due to the races on the precinct level in Friona, renewed interest is evident in the Congress and the State Legislature on his back when he was last here.

Both of the candidates appeared in Friona the week prior to the primary, but to no avail. This latest run did not appear to be as strong as that of two years ago. The two party representatives to the other man on the ballot, J.W. White and William Williams, said supply is not the issue, and defended his father, the American Agriculture Movement, present who chose to vote did so. The city presently has a $236,000 bond for the tower and the construction of a water tower and system. Friona now has seven producing wells which pump 24M gallons per day.

The city manager said the solution in the matter may be a construction of a water tower and mains. The city engineer projected the cost of the tower and the water system and other equipment will be $185,200.00 for the tower and the water system and other equipment.

We are confident that this year’s election will find the Democratic and Republican parties in a much better position than in the past. The reason for this is the strong interest shown by the people in their local government and the candidates who are willing to stand for election. The city manager was quoted as saying, "It’s hard enough to believe that this election will be the same as last year. The people are demanding their representation and they’re demanding it now."

Outland To Head Unit

Friona City Manager A.L. "Jake" Outland has announced that he will assume the responsibilities of Camp Chairman as well as Chairman for the Friona Salvation Army Service Unit.

As Camp Chairman, Mr. Outland will be responsible for selecting three other citizens to head the camp and will be required to attend the Salvation Army's Camp Hendrix at Matador July 1-8. All Texas communities are invited to send selected youths who would not otherwise get a chance to attend a summer camp. The Camp Hendrix is for boys aged 12 to 16.

To help with the boys, the Service Unit will need to secure volunteers to work as instructors, counselors and in other capacities. Volunteers will be offered an opportunity to help their community and themselves.

The Friona Service Unit guarantees a minimum of three days per week for service at camp and will have the opportunity to work with other groups in the city.

Hearing In June Vital To SWCD Program

Public views on the future of the conservation, grants to farmers, and related natural resources will be sought at a meeting to be held in the First State Bank at Bovina at 1:30 p.m. on June 15, according to Leroy Johnson, chairman of the Panola County Soil and Water Conservation District.

The meeting is in response to President Carter's urging of the Resources Conservation Act last November, which requires an appraisal and evaluation of the state and county soil and water conservation program.

The RCA act authorizes and empowers the Department of Agriculture to develop a national soil and water conservation program in cooperation with the public, our local soil and water conservation districts, the Texas State Soil and Water Conservation Board, and the Soil Conservation Service.

"This program will establish new direction for future soil and water conservation efforts in Texas based on current soil, water, and related resource availability," Johnson continued. "One point I want to clear out is that Districts in our county are working very closely with local landowners with voluntary conservation programs on their farms and ranches. We do not advocate any other approach since farm and ranch land is privately owned and we are proud of the farmers and ranchers who are making contributions to this conservation program."

For Nursing Home

The Prairie Aces Nursing Home broke ground on a $250,000 addition to its 80-bed facility on Thursday, according to administrator Jan Shurz. The facility, which has been serving the needs of the elderly for 38 years, is being expanded to accommodate an increased number of patients. The groundbreaking ceremony was attended by local officials and residents, marking the beginning of the construction phase for what will be a significant addition to the community's healthcare infrastructure.

City Joins Rate Fight

The City of Friona has joined with 15 other cities in a lawsuit against the South Plains Services Corporation (SPS), alleging that the company has not been providing adequate water pressure to the city. The lawsuit seeks to recover damages for the cost of additional water pressure equipment needed to maintain adequate pressure in the city's water system. The City Council has authorized its attorney to file the lawsuit on behalf of the city.

Absentee Vote Low

Absence of military personnel and individuals who are out of town on business, and the fact that the election is held on a Tuesday, were factors that helped keep the numbers of absentee ballots low in the recent election. Of the 200 registered voters in the city, only 15 cast absentee ballots. This was a significant decrease from the 50 absentee ballots cast in the last election.

Hobby Becomes Profitable Venture

Plants were a hobby for Phyllis Landrum, but now they are a good source of income for her. She started a plant nursery in her backyard and has been selling plants to customers in the area. Her business has been growing steadily, and she is now able to support her family with it.

Runoff...

For the first primary, Ross was ahead of Poerner by 100 votes in the Friona area, with 307 votes to Ross's 297. He also won the county, with 105 votes to Poerner's 100. Since there is only one race on the Democratic runoff ballot in the county, voters who did not vote in the primary will have no opportunity to vote in that race.

George Bush Discusses Campaign Issues Here

George Bush, Jr. spoke to a group of questioning farmers at Friona last Friday on his campaign swing through Parmer County. Discussion centered on topics concerning agriculture. The farmers, who were the first to express their concern in answering the farmer's economic condition is increasing the overseas market of agriculture products. He is also in favor of the reduction of importation of foreign beef when large domestic supplies are available and the selling of foreign beef.

"Maintaining a reason for inflation and the citizens are tired of it," Bush said.

Bush also spoke in favor of deregulation of gas. "Just like the farmers, energy producers need incentives," he said. "When the producers' costs are not regulated, the price they can charge is restricted.

Several farmers asked Bush what he thought of the American Agriculture Five Point Plan. Bush told the group he was not too fond of the plan because the market place should determine the price and farmers rigging the incentives don't help.

Bush supported the flexible market plan because the market place would determine the price. He said that his first choice for the farmers would be to stop government regulations and manipulation of the farmers.

Bush was then questioned about the role of the Trilateral Commission.

"I have nothing to do with the Trilateral Commission," he said. "I don't know anything about the Trilateral Commission.

"My father has been accused of being unAmerican. I don't know anything about the Trilateral Commission, but the Trilateral Commission exists because the farmer..." Bush said.

Bush said he is totally against a one-world government and that the sovereignty of the U.S. is vital. "If I'm not shooting straight with you, tell me," he said. "My job, first and foremost, is to represent you. If I don't, throw me out.

The farmers told Bush that politicians were now telling the farmers what is best for them. "They've thrown us out," the farmers said.

Bush said the farmers were now telling the farmers what is best for them. "They've thrown us out," the farmers said.

Democratic presidential hopeful George Bush was interviewed by a Senator luncheon at the Lubbock Club on 5th Street.

For the purposes of agriculture he was in favor of a fairer way to tax than the income tax, he said. "The more a person buys, the richer he is," he said. "The more tax that person would pay.

Farmers said that Bush supported the flexible market plan because he felt the market place would determine the price of American agriculture. "Just like the farmers, energy producers need incentives," he said.

"They've thrown us out," the farmers said. "We've been told that the farmers what is best for them.

"There is no way the government can continue to tax the middle class," Bush said. Bush supported the flexible market plan because he felt the market place would determine the price of American agriculture. "Just like the farmers, energy producers need incentives," he said.

Presented As A Public Service By
H.H. Horton, Jr.
It's great to be home! We returned home mid-March, and had painted the new house at 3002 Samhill. We had a lot of work to do, and a lot of snow in the area as well. A major snowstorm occurred, and we had to remove the snow from the roof and the garage roof. We also had to remove the snow from the driveway and the sidewalk. The snow was very deep, and we had to use a snowblower to clear the driveway. The snowstorm was quite a challenge, and we had to work hard to get the house ready for winter.

RETURNING... Two months later, the weather improved, and we began to work on the new house. We painted the exterior, repaired the roof, and installed new windows. We also added a new deck to the back of the house, and added a new bathroom. We made a lot of progress, and were able to move into the new house in May. We were very happy to be home, and we enjoyed spending time with our family and friends.

On The Farm In Parmer County
By Seth Ralston
County Agent

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service in cooperation with the Texas Soybean Association and the Texas County Extension Agent, announces Seth Ralston, County Extension Agent, to be a superior producer of soybeans in the Parmer County Soybean Contest. Benefits of the contest will go to the Texas 60 Bushel Soybean Club or the County Chamber of Commerce. A trip for two to Acapulco, Mexico, will be awarded to the champion producer.

The contest is designed as an educational and recreational tool to stimulate interest in soybean production. The contest is open to all producers interested in soybeans, but each producer may enter only one entry per entire acreage. The contest will run through the month of August with entry forms and contest rules available at the County Extension Office.

Committee members executing the contest must do so by August 15. Entry forms and contest rules are available at the County Extension Office.

Each entrant must grow at least 25 acres of soybeans and designate at least 2 acres to the harvest. The results may be only one entry per entire acreage.

The contest will be supervised by a three-man County Soybean Contest Committee, which will determine the winner based on superior yields of soybeans within the industry to increase production, efficiency, and utilization of individuals who achieve superior yields.

Farmers interested in entering the contest must do so by August 15. Entry forms and contest rules are available at the County Extension Office.

TORNADO SHOT...This striking photograph of a funnel cloud was made by former Star editor Dave McReynolds, now publisher of the Stratford Star, when the cloud menaced the city of Stratford on May 4. McReynolds was standing in the middle of State Street when he made the picture. The funnel was 1.2 miles west of town when the picture was made. The white stuff on the ground was hail. Fortunately, no property damage resulted from the funnel, which filled back into the cloud after being washed out by a thunderstorm.

Around The House

By Laura Jacobs

Chances are the car hasn't been washed during winter months. How, in freezing rain, sleet and snow, does one keep a car in proper shape? Well, it's easier than you think.

Begin a spring spruce-up by expecting care for damage. When special attention is needed. Then start an overall washing with detergent or soap such as applied with a clean sponge or cloth. Start by washing the top and work down to the wheels. Hose dry. Dry entire surface with a clean, soft cloth. A second washing may be necessary. If embedded dirt and debris remain, try using an auto wax with built-in cleaner. Remove a stiff brush helps clean grime.

A typical top needs extra care. Apply wash with a soft-bristled brush. Remove softened soil with a clean cloth or sponge. Wash again. Air dry. For dirt particles, apply a mild, foaming cleaner. Following the cleaner, wash with a soft cloth. Stainless steel or chrome trim needs only washing and drying, unless dull or corroded. If so, a special chrome cleaner designed to remove rust and stains also adds luster. Do not use on aluminum. Treat aluminum bumpers and trim to simple wash care or employ a presoaked wax.

Consider professional steam cleaning of wheel housings, bumpers, spoilers, tail pipes and brackets. If damaging scratches appear on the underbody,

Give windows the nice over inside and out with sulfur or a special window cleaner.

After washing, wash all parts, check the tires, touch-up chips, nuts and scratches, and fill small punctures in the tires with particular attention to the contact area. The more heat that an automobile tire generates, the more that tire will expand. An old tire, a tire that has been run at high temperatures, will expand, and the tire will not cool down as quickly as a new tire as the load on the tire is increased. A stiff tire will have a longer life than a soft tire.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Bill,

I just want to take this opportunity to drop you a note to tell you how much I appreciate your endorse­ment of the Star and 4.Editor Dave McReynolds.

If the freezer or refrigerator is located near to the range under a heating duct or exposed to direct sunlight, consider moving the appliance to a cooler location. The more heat that is retained in an automobile, the more that automobile will expand.
