VOTE ON NOMINATION SET FOR WEDNESDAY

Carswell Victory Posted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Judge G. Harrold Carswell's nomination to the Supreme Court won its first crucial test today as the Senate rejected a motion to return the nomination to the Judiciary Committee.

The vote was 52 to 44. The recomittal motion by Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., a leader of the opposition, was designed to kill the nomination of the 50-year-old Tallahassee, Fla., jurist.

The Senate now will vote Wednesday on confirmation of Carswell, the second Southerner nominated by President Nixon for the Supreme Court vacancy created nearly a year ago by the resignation of Justice Abe Fortas.

Nixon's first choice, Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr., of Greenville, S.C., was rejected by the Senate last November by a 35-45 vote.

Senate leaders of both parties said they expected defeat of Bayh's recomittal motion to be followed by confirmation of Carswell, although perhaps by a narrower margin.

Some senators who voted against recomittal said they would vote against Carswell's confirmation. They contended that returning it to committee would just be ducking the issue.

On the other hand, some senators who announced they favored returning the nomination to committee for further hearings said they would disclose later how they would vote on confirmation if the recomittal motion failed.

One of those who predicted confirmation was Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield.

The Montana Democrat, still declining to say how he will vote, had previously rated the outcome of the hard-fought battle over the Tallahassee, Fla., jurist's nomination a toss-up.

But today's vote was not on confirmation but on whether to send the nomination back to the Judiciary Committee, and Carswell supporters appeared to have victory on that important issue within their grasp.

An Associated Press poll prior to the start of today's vote showed 49 senators opposing a motion to recomittal—and kill—the nomination to the Judiciary Committee, 39 for and 10 uncommitted.

Since two senators could not make today's session, 49 may votes insured at least a tie, thus setting up a tie-breaking vote in favor of the nomination by the Senate's presiding officer—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

But failure of the recomittal motion by Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., does not necessarily mean Carswell, now a judge on the U.S. 5th Court of Appeals, will take the seat vacated nearly a year ago when Abe Fortas resigned under pressure.

By prior arrangement, a vote on the nomination itself was set for Wednesday in the event the recomittal vote fell short, and that test still is rated close.

Another weekend announcement against recomittal came from Hawaii Republican Sen. Hiram Fong.

Four Young Patrolmen Gunned Down

SAUGUS, Calif. (AP) — One of two men accused of killing four highway patrolmen in a gun battle committed suicide today, authorities reported. His body was found by a force of officers in gas masks and wearing black jackets who stormed a house where he had been sequestered for six hours.

For five hours he had held a hostage before releasing him unharmed. The other gunman, wounded by officers, was captured earlier in a canyon.

The four highway patrolmen were killed after they stopped a car whose occupants were reported to have brandished guns at motorists on a freeway. After the shootout, the two gunmen fled separately on foot.

Jack Wright Twining, 35, took refuge in the isolated house atop a hill in brushy country 35 miles north of Los Angeles about 4:15 a.m. and sporadically exchanged shots with a force of several score officers until his capture about 10:15 a.m.

The men fled in their red, late-model sedan as 40 customers in a nearby coffee house huddled on the floor. A car of that description was found about 10 minutes later on a dead-end street about a block from the shooting scene.

A highway patrol spokesman said the men apparently were armed with a shotgun and a .44-caliber magnum pistol and fled with the four officers' service revolvers.

The slain patrolmen were identified as Walter C. Frago, 23; Roger D. Gore, 22; James Edward Pence Jr., 25; and George M. Allyn, 24. All were married and lived in nearby communities.

Interest High In City Elections Set Tuesday

Tuesday is election day in Big Spring and other area cities, and, if the heavy turnout in Saturday's school trustee elections is an indication, voter interest should be high as residents go to the polls to select commissioners and councilmen to serve in city government.

Big Spring voters have a record 13 choices from which to choose three commissioners. Balloting starts at 8 a.m. Tuesday and will continue until 7 p.m. Five city fire stations will serve as polling places: downtown, North Side, Eleventh and Birdwell, Eighteenth at

The candidates in the order on the Big Spring ballot are: Arnold Marshall, incumbent mayor and transport company executive; Wade Choate, credit union manager; Tony Taroni, shipping supervisor; Jimmy Morehead, incumbent commissioner and transfer company executive; De Witt Bunn, investment counselor; Eddie Acri, finance company executive; Neel G. Barnaby, retired military; Dr. Halvard T. Hansen, chiropractor; Lowell N. Jones, soft drink company manager; E. L. Meeks, electronics repair; Don R. Brooks, radio announcer; Jack Pearson, motor lines terminal manager; O. T. Brewster, motel manager.

Commissioner Walter Stroup chose not to run for re-election and the places of Commissioners George Zachariah and Garner McAdams are uncontested this year.

By the deadline Friday afternoon, 41 local residents had cast absentee ballots. Mail-ins will be received until 10 p.m. tonight.

In Coahoma, three incumbents will face three challengers in the Tuesday election.

Tommy McFarland, M. S. Johnston, and Charles Parrish, all councilmen, are running against Bill Logsdon, H. L. Fraser and Phillip A. Wynn. No votes were cast absentee.

Coahoma Mayor Jack Cauble and Councilmen C. C. Harrison and Tommy Aberegg are not required to run this year.

Colorado City residents will select three councilmen from five candidates. The choices are Eddie Piland, incumbent, Finis L. May, J. O. Dockrey Sr., Abel Alvarez and Trevlyn Kelly. Absentee voting in Colorado City ended Thursday with nine votes cast.

There is only one candidate for each of the three Lamesa council seats to be decided this year. Incumbents John Palmore and Don Bryant are opposed to continue on the council and Joe Carroll is the only candidate for the place vacated by Wendell Strahan. Mayor Lloyd Cline and Councilman Douglas B. Black do not stand for election this year.

Stanton, Forsan and Westbrook held city elections Saturday in conjunction with the school races, and Ackerly voters will go to the polls April 18.

Laurie Shot Six Times

DENISON, Tex. (AP) — Authorities are working on the theory that the same person who killed Donna Marie Golish, 7, in September may be the same one who killed 11-year-old Laurie Stevens.

Police said Sunday that an autopsy revealed that the Stevens girl had not been raped although her body was mutilated. The body was returned to Denison Sunday following the autopsy in Dallas.

Both the Golish child, of nearby Sherman, and the Stevens girl were en route to their homes when they were apparently enticed or forced into automobiles. Laurie Stevens had been missing since Wednesday while on her way home from school. Searchers found her body hidden in heavy undergrowth near a dam. She had been shot three times.

The Sherman girl, although she had been run over by an automobile, was also found in a rural setting.

The Stevens child was reported missing by M. Sgt. David Grayson, whose wife the little girl was to stay with after school until her mother and stepfather returned from work.

Her mother is employed by Texas Instruments, near Sherman, and her stepfather, Jerry Morgan, is a truck driver for a Denison distributor.

Sgt. Grayson was with the party of searchers which discovered the nude body lying face down.

Her books and purse were found near her home in an eastern section of Denison. Her clothing was found Thursday in a northwestern part of Denison near the M-K-T Railroad yards.

Sheriff Woody Blanton said the autopsy showed the girl had been dead more than 50 hours when found. She had been shot six times, Blanton said.

Death Claims 'Dr. Sam'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Dr. Sam Sheppard, former Cleveland osteopath who was convicted and later acquitted of killing his first wife, died at his home here today.

His third wife, Colleen, said cause of death was not immediately learned.

"He died here at home," she said. "He had the flu for several days and apparently it was more than the flu but we didn't know this."

She said no doctor had seen Sheppard during the illness. "He wouldn't let us call anyone," she said. "He got sick two days . . . no really three days ago. We have no idea what caused the death."

Dr. Robert A. Evans, Franklin County Coroner, said Sheppard had been treating himself for flu. He would not comment on the cause of death. Sheppard, 45, had been living at the residence of his father-in-law, B. L. Strickland, since last summer.

Sheppard started about a year ago wrestling for charitable events and Strickland was his manager and wrestling partner.

He married Strickland's daughter, Colleen, 20, on Oct. 21 in Mexico.

Sheppard first made national news on July 4, 1954, when his pregnant first wife, Marilyn, was found brutally beaten to death in their plush Bay Village, Ohio, home just west of Cleveland.

Sheppard was convicted of second-degree murder in a widely publicized and controversial trial and was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Sheppard spent nearly 10 years in the Ohio Penitentiary while fighting his conviction. A U.S. District Court ordered his release on July 16, 1964. The U.S. Supreme Court ordered him freed on June 6, 1966, and ruled the state could try him again within a reasonable time.

At his second trial in Cleveland, defended by attorney F. Lee Bailey, Sheppard was acquitted on Nov. 16, 1966.

Welfare Setback

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court, on a 5-3 vote, upheld today the power of states to set a maximum limit on the amount of welfare assistance that goes to one family.

Justice Potter Stewart, giving the decision in a Maryland case, said: "The Constitution does not empower this court to second-guess state officials charged with the difficult responsibility of allocating limited public welfare funds among the myriad of potential recipients."

The ruling is a setback for advocates of the poor, who have been uniformly victorious in the high court in recent years.

Justices William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan Jr. and Thurgood Marshall, the court's liberal core, dissented from the majority decision.

Stewart said federal Social Security law gives each state great latitude in dispensing its available funds.

ELAINE RUFFIN

Cherri's Kin Captures Bee

Cherri Ingram, Big Spring's entrant in the regional spelling contest Saturday in Lubbock, went down to defeat in the first round, but, keeping the trophy in the family, Elaine Ruffin, Cherri's cousin from Colorado City, won the event.

Elaine, 13, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Ruffin and has been the Mitchell County representative the past four years. She won an expense-paid trip to Washington, D.C., and will compete there in the national contest June 1-6.

Elaine correctly spelled "conchology" to win the regional title. Cherri is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clay Ingram, 1906 Johnson. She met her downfall early in the contest with the word "deity." Mrs. Ruffin and Mrs. Ingram are cousins.

Industrial Team Gets Boost, New Site OK'd

The Big Spring Industrial Foundation was given an extra boost this morning, when the Big Spring City Commission approved its request for a 21.5 acre site at the IS 20 and SH 350 intersection.

Commissioners asked for and received assurances that the Foundation would provide (1) other property for cemetery expansion when it is needed and (2) new, suitable sites for baseball parks if the land on which the present baseball diamonds is required.

The commission met in City Hall for the 9 a.m. special session, at the request of the Foundation. A number of businessmen were on hand. "Interested citizens drew up the plans to use this site for industrial purposes," Don Womack, president of the Foundation, pointed out, "and the baseball program will be preserved."

The site has frontage on both IS 20 and on SH 350, and surrounds the Texas Highway Department location. At present, Womack said the Foundation is interested in the acreage fronting on SH 350.

He said the Foundation is negotiating with "one of the most substantial manufacturing concerns in the nation" and is convinced that being able to commit the site will enhance the local proposal and could be the determining factor in the company's decision to locate here.

One of the problems, Womack said, in attracting industry here has been a suitable site, and the request comes while the Foundation is negotiating with two active prospects.

George Zachariah, mayor pro tem, thanked the Foundation for its work in seeking new industry for the city, and in his motion to approve, the request asked that a legal contract be drawn spelling out the details of the agreement, showing specifically what property the city is to get in exchange.

Commissioner Garner McAdams, who seconded the motion, asked that there be a reversionary clause, in the event the Foundation does not use the property. City Attorney Herb Prouty and Womack agreed that the details could be worked out, and Zachariah's motion was approved unanimously. Commissioner Walter Stroup was the only member not on hand.

The ordinance to convey the deed to the Foundation was approved unanimously after the motion by Commissioner Jimmy Morehead, seconded by Zachariah.

Other points made by Womack in support of his request, included:

1. Any plant locating on the site will become a taxpayer of the city, county, school district, and junior college. He pointed out that the public agencies now receive no revenue at all from the site, and that the taxes should be a "sizable sum."

2. The company now negotiating with the Foundation plans to employ up to 350, and would provide jobs for many of the city and county unemployed.

3. More cemetery space will not be needed for many years, and even at that, the Foundation members feel the highway frontage is too valuable for such use. More adaptable property acreage will be provided for cemetery space when it is needed.

4. Only five acres, fronting on SH 350, is now needed for a factory space, but the Foundation wants the extra space for long-range planning purposes. The immediate request calls for extension of water and sewer lines, which will be costly to the Foundation, and for practical purposes can be designed for long range needs.

5. Adapting the land to productive use can mean a healthy surge to the local economy, benefiting the public agencies as well as the community as a whole. It will help the community to compete with other cities in attracting business investment and payrolls.

Dime Stamp Is Doomed?

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's proposal to raise the price of mailing a letter to a dime to help pay for the wage boost of mailmen and other government workers is doomed, according to Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield.

The 10-cent stamp doesn't stand a chance, Mansfield said in an interview. "They just won't go for a four-cent raise, especially in the one area which is returning a profit."

Dave Thomas, Star Grid Player Killed Saturday

Dave Thomas, 17, former varsity football player for the Big Spring High School Steers, was killed in a one-car accident Saturday night near Miami, Fla., while on his way home from work.

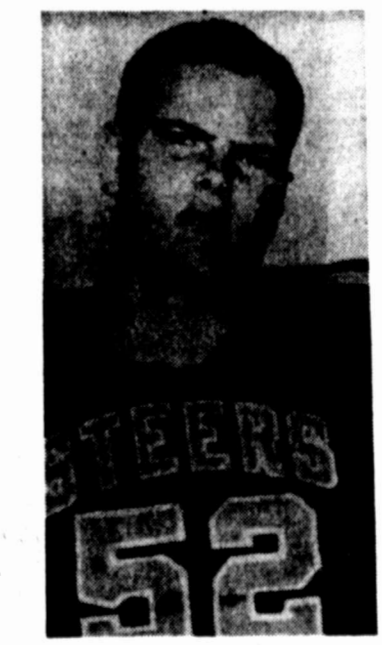

Funeral is pending at Bowe's Funeral Home in Tampa, Fla.

Dave graduated from BSHS in January and moved to Florida where his father, Sgt. Troy Thomas, is stationed at Perrin AFB. His mother, Mrs. George Phillips, lives in Tampa.

Dave was born Nov. 12, 1952, in Albuquerque, N.M. He moved here when he was in the eighth grade, and his father was stationed at Webb AFB until December, 1968.

When his family moved to Florida, Dave stayed in Big Spring with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Carroll, 2718 Larry, to finish the year. He spent the summer in Florida and then returned to Big Spring last fall to finish his last semester here. He was all-district center in football last fall.

Dave was planning to return to Big Spring in August to "work out" in football until time to start college at the University of Houston, where he had a four-year football scholarship.

In Florida he was working for a construction company during the day and for a service station at night. He was driving home from the service station when he apparently lost control of the car, according to reports received here.

Record Number Of Candidates Listed

Tuesday's city ballot will offer Big Spring voters more choices than they have had in the 44 year history of the city charter. The record 13 candidates are vying for three commission seats to be decided Tuesday as local residents go to the five city fire stations to vote their choices. The voting hours are 8 a.m. until 7 p.m.

Following, in the order on the ballot, is a brief summary of each of the candidates' announcements.

1. Mayor J. Arnold Marshall, commissioner since 1962 and mayor since 1966, has been a resident of Big Spring since 1940 and is owner-operator of H. W. Smith Transport Co. In announcing, he said, "We have made considerable progress in the municipal life in the past several years, and many programs are under way at the present time. I would like to continue working on these, as well as any new programs that may be forthcoming." He continued, "I believe my experience on the commission makes me qualified to understand and cope with all the many problems facing municipal government."

2. Wade Choate, native resident of Big Spring and manager of the Webb AFB Federal Credit Union since 1965, has served as Howard County Auditor and 11th District Clerk. "I have no preconceived opinions on the many problems facing the city governing body," he said. "I have served in several elective positions and I feel I am acquainted with many of the problems and obligations of public service."

3. Tony Taroni, shipping supervisor for the Sid Richardson Carbon Plant, has served actively in both the Rotarians and the American Legion. "I believe we need to be represented by an average tax-paying citizen, rather than those representing special interest groups," he said. "We need to put our city management back into the hands of the people."

4. Jimmy Morehead, lifetime resident and vice president of Morehead Transfer and Storage Co., has served two terms on the commission. "My only interest is serving Big Spring and making it a better place to live," Morehead said. "In considering matters brought before the commission, I have based my decisions on the facts and have acted for what I thought was the best for all of Big Spring."

5. De Witt Bunn, retired Air Force Officer and investment banker, came to Big Spring in the Air Force and decided to stay in 1967. "I want to do what I can to help give Big Spring an efficient and economical city government," he said. "I feel I can contribute something to the community, as a member of the city commission."

6. Eddie Acri, Big Spring resident since 1951 and president of Family Money Service Inc. is active in the Elks and YMCA, and in business organizations. Acri said, "I have studied our local governmental agencies especially that of the city government for several years. I believe that our high tax structure prohibits industries from coming to Big Spring and that this hurts older people who live on a small fixed income... and the small and middle income earners who have property."

7. Neel G. Barnaby, retired U.S. Navy Commander and 40-year resident of Big Spring, served in the Pacific during World War II and was employed as an engineer for Cossden Oil and Chemical Company here for many years. Barnaby said he feels that his qualifications for service on the City Commission are established since he has been a public works officer on Navy and Marine bases with permanent population of up to 85,000 people.

8. Dr. Halvard T. Hansen, chiropractor, has been active in civic and work here for several years. "We are extremely fortunate in that we have a city in which our wives, children as well as we, ourselves, can walk the streets with safety," he said. "I want to see that our police officers and firemen get the financial remuneration and support to which they are entitled."

9. Lowell N. Jones, manager of the Coca Cola Bottling Co here, has been a resident of Big Spring since 1961 and has worked on many civic projects. "If elected," Jones said, "I will make every effort to get the most for the taxpayer for his tax dollar. I am interested in the cooperation between all governing agencies and will work to combine all government functions where possible."

10. E. L. MEEKS, owner of an electronics repair shop and Big Spring resident since 1951, came to Big Spring as an employee of the Texas & Pacific Railway Co. and is a World War II veteran. Meeks said, "I have no contact with any special interest groups and I am 100 per cent behind the Chamber of Commerce to bring more industry to the Big Spring area. I am for efficiency and better working conditions for city government and employees."

11. Don R. Brooks, radio announcer and Texas resident for 31 years, came to Big Spring to stay eight years ago. "I would like to put the city operation in the hands of the representatives of the people," he said. "I want to try to strengthen and enforce the laws of narcotics control in Big Spring. The fire and police departments need a higher salary structure to keep and recruit better personnel."

12. O. T. Brewster, Holiday Inn manager and Big Spring resident since 1963, has been active in civic affairs since moving here from Arkansas where he served as a Justice of the Peace for more than 20 years. "I am not being backed by any political organization or group of people in this election and I will serve as a citizen to serve Big Spring to the best of my ability."

13. Jack Pearson, Valley Copperstate System terminal manager, has been a resident of Big Spring since 1946. He served under Gen. George Patton in World War II and was a prisoner of war for nine months during the conflict. He is now a member of the American Legion and VFW and is active in other civic affairs. The polling places for the city election will be the fire stations at Fourth and Nolan, Eighteenth and Main, Eleventh and Birdwell, North Main and Eighth, and Fourteenth and Air-base Road.

Candidates Trying To Put Excitement In Campaigns

By The Associated Press

With the May 2 primaries less than four weeks away, candidates for statewide political offices are trying to put life into generally lackluster campaigns. Republican gubernatorial candidate Paul Eggers said Sunday he is "in pretty good shape" against Gov. Preston Smith, but conceded that President Nixon's popularity in November will be important. Eggers said a recent poll for him showed Smith with 40 per cent, Eggers with 37 per cent and 23 per cent of the voters undecided.

ing for the GOP senatorial candidacy, criticized in a Dallas speech what he called Democratic spending. "A lot of what this Senate race is all about is a change in direction," Bush told supporters.

"A lot of what it is all about is a reaffirmation of values," Robert Morris, Bush's opponent in the Republican primary, said the United States cannot afford to let Southeast Asian countries fall to the Communists.

The only solution for the Vietnam war, he added, was for the United States to build "an all-Asia standby ground force" to be available when new aggressions arise.

Trucking Industry Hit By Rash Of Walkouts

By The Associated Press

The administration's efforts to end the air controllers' walkout showed slow progress today but its proposal to finance the postal workers pay hike appeared doomed. Wildcat strikes threatened a national trucking contract. The Federal Aviation Administration reported that 82 per cent of the controllers were back on the job but the "sick-out" continued to cripple operations in cities including New York, Chicago, Kansas City and San Francisco. Generally favorable weather Sunday helped ease the movement of end of vacation air traffic although airlines remained on curtailed schedules ordered by the FAA. Scattered wildcat walkouts by truck drivers continued today in cities including Los Angeles, Milwaukee, St. Louis, Cleveland, St. Paul, Minn., and Richmond, Ohio. In Chicago businesses stockpiled supplies against a possible strike by the city's 50,000 truck drivers. In 1967 when Chicago truckers rejected a national pact they walked out and took drivers in other cities with them. The national agreement reached last week between the Teamsters Union and trucking industry called for an increase of $1.10 an hour over three years.

Chicago drivers demanded $1.70 over the period. In Cleveland the men wanted a $2 an hour increase over the three year span. In Washington, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said President Nixon's proposal to raise the price of first-class postage to 10 cents to pay for the wage boost to mailmen was doomed. "I think the administration will have to cut expenditures more and we'll have to reduce appropriations more," Mansfield said. "I think we ought to look again at the defense budget and our commitments overseas."

The postal agreement reached after the nation's first postal strike, provided a two-step, 14 per cent wage boost—6 per cent for nearly all federal workers retroactive to Dec. 27, and 8 per cent more for mailmen if and when a post office reorganization bill becomes law. There were further indications that some postal workers were not satisfied. Pittsburgh letter carriers voted 315-289 Saturday to reject the pact and walk out if New York City carriers lead the way again.

Hashish Peddlers Pose New Woes In Belgrade

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — This country is fighting increasing use by young people of hashish smuggled in from the Middle East. It is a new problem for Yugoslavia. For years it has been a nonstop link on the main line of drug smuggling into Europe. There has been a wave of arrests of hashish peddlers in Belgrade. Police have reported student drug gatherings in basement hideouts. Nada Konstantinovic, 19-year-old high school girl, died in a cellar from an overdose of drugs. "The drug is not on the threshold," one Belgrade newspaper warned. "It has already entered the house."

The peril to the nation's youth had been unexpected because Yugoslavs have never been addicted to the use of opium despite production of big poppy fields in Macedonia. Production there fell from 14,000 tons of raw opium in 1964 to 8,000 tons in 1968. Alkaloid of Skopje, the company authorized to produce opium for pharmaceutical use, buys up about one third of the crop. The rest disappears, most of it presumably smuggled out of the country. Demand is so small among Yugoslavs that the minor quantities sold directly in Macedonia go for three dinars or 24 cents a gram. Quantities of the drug which are seized from smugglers trying to take it out of the country are burned. Recently 700 pounds of drugs seized by customs officials were dumped into furnaces. Hashish is a form of marijuana, and this product smuggled into the country has caught on.

of Mineral Wells, grand chief of Texas; Mrs. A. L. Weatherford of Pampa, grand senior of Texas; Mrs. Choc Smith of Big Spring, grand junior of Texas; Mrs. I. V. Middleton of Lamesa, grand manager of Texas; and Mrs. Fred Walker of Weatherford, past grand chief of Texas.

Pythian Sisters Hold District Meeting Here On Saturday

Pythian Sisters, Sterling Temple No. 43, hosted the District 10 convention here Saturday with Mrs. W. L. Thompson, district deputy grand chief, as presiding officer.

The event, held at the Pythian Hall, drew 50 representatives from Big Spring, Lamesa, Midland, Tahoka, Pampa, Mineral Wells and Weatherford. Following registration, a luncheon was held at noon with the convention sessions beginning at 1:30 p.m.

The invocation was by Mrs. J. B. Oliver of Tahoka, with greetings extended by Mrs. Smith and the response by Mrs. I. V. Middleton of Lamesa. After the exemplification of lodge work and school of instruction, dignitaries introduced were Mrs. Truett McDonald of Mineral Wells, grand chief of Texas; Mrs. A. L. Weatherford of Pampa, grand senior of Texas; Mrs. Middleton, grand manager of Texas; and Mrs. Fred Walker of Weatherford, Mrs. Oliver and Mrs. Norman Jones, all past grand chiefs of Texas.

The group recessed at 4 p.m., reconvening at 6:30 p.m. for a banquet at Al's Barbecue where tables were decorated with arrangements of pink roses and small pink rosebuds were attached to pink programs.

The invocation was by Mrs. Jones, and Mrs. Charles Hering extended the welcome with

Present Program On Cystic Fibrosis

STANTON (SC) — Mrs. H. T. Hemphill, president of the Cystic Fibrosis Chapter of Odessa, will give a program, illustrated with slides to the Stanton Scale Steppers at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in Martin County Library. The program will include a question and answer period. The public is invited.

A LOVELIER YOU Spring Look Is Gleam From Head To Foot

By MARY SUE MILLER
By now most Lovelies have their spring outfits planned to the last stitch. But what about their spring faces? It seems that what goes on the back gets more attention than what goes on the face.

Why? If anything is your thing, it's your face. So why not look into the beauty trends that would cap your looks and thereby your fashions? Here we go:

"Gleam" is the word that sums it all up — gleam in the hair, the face, the body complexion. A gleam that comes from good health and good care.

LOVELINESS

A program of conditioning awakens light in the hair. It's magnified by new hairstyles that seem utterly uncontrived — unrolled and unteased — like topknots and loose flows.

A scrubbed face sparkled with bronze gels, gel rouge and see-through lipstick gleams, ma'am, and how. Because of second thoughts about tanning, more suntans will be faked and the fakesters will be better than ever. Eyes, no matter how wildly portrayed, are destined to look clear, deep and straight on. Makeup? Yes, but less. Eyebrows ditto.

As for the body complexion, it has to be kept in flawless repair through every bit of grooming lore there is, however repetitious or boring. Of course, exercise is the number one cosmetic, the homestretch to springtime loveliness.

NEW BEAUTY
For ways to keep past-30 skin smooth and dewy, order my leaflet, "New Beauty for Dry Skin." It tells in personalized steps how to cleanse, correct, protect and make up for dryness. To obtain your copy, write to Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope and 15 cents in coin.

response by Mrs. McDonald. Vocal selections were presented by Mrs. Melvin Newton and Mrs. J. B. Anderson.

The concluding session was held at Pythian Hall where Mrs. Thompson again presided and representatives of the various temples were introduced. Initial

Inspects Club In Stanton Tonight

Anniversary Reception Fetes T. M. Robinsons

The April 1 40th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Robinson, Route One, Aikerly, was observed Sunday with a reception in the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Odell (Wanda Lee) Roman, 2708 Coronado.

Other hosts were the couple's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Robinson, and their sons-in-law and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis N. (Carol) Strong Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Bruce (Joyce) Parker and Mr. and Mrs. Gary (Martha) Gaskins. The guest list included approximately 50.

Refreshments were served from a round cherry table covered with a white hand-crocheted cloth and centered Library with a three-tiered silver candelabrum holding red candles. The cake was decorated in red and white, and napkins and other decor carried out the red and white color scheme. Cake, punch and coffee were served with crystal and silver.

Tolbert Mitchell Robinson was born in Taylor County, coming to Howard County in 1917. He left for a short period and returned. He was a farmer, retiring in 1960. Mrs. Robinson is the former Ima Lee Durdin who was born in Reeves County and reared in Pecos.

The couple was married April 1, 1930, in Lovington, N.M., making their first home on a farm at Knott where they have resided since that time. They have 10 living grandchildren; one is deceased.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson hold membership in the First Baptist Church at Knott where Mr. Robinson has been a deacon for many years. They hold membership in the Howard County Farm Bureau and both have been very active in 4-H Club work. In earlier years, they were active members of the Odd Fellow and Rebecca lodges.

A Devotion For Today . . .

This is the day which the Lord has made; let us rejoice and be glad in it. (Psalm 118:24, RSV)
PRAYER: Our Father, we are indeed thankful for this day of life. Help us to live joyously that we may bring joy into the lives of others. In Christ's name we pray. Amen.
(From the 'Upper Room')

Well Qualified

Harold Wilder, presently coach at Abilene High School, has been selected to be the coach of Howard County Junior College. In accepting the recommendation of the athletic committee, trustees have chosen a man who is well equipped to continue the tradition of the Hawks.

Since the outset, HCJC teams have always been aggressive and competent, reflecting credit upon the school. Although it would be difficult to amass as impressive record of winning as has been the case here, winning has not been an obsessive goal.

Therefore, it is reassuring to have a continuity of philosophy of education, character, sportsmanship, and enthusiasm, undergirding the program. Fans can take pride in any team that stresses these virtues. Add to these demonstrated skill and hard work, and the victories will take care of themselves.

Important Choices

The city commission election in Big Spring has never drawn such a large field as is the case for Tuesday's election. There are 13 seeking three places on the commission.

This should indicate an unusual interest in the race and a correspondingly high turnout of voters. However, absentee voting, usually considered a fair barometer of voter participation, does not support a conclusion of much other than ordinary interest.

Your voice will be equal to that of two or three in the voting Tuesday, so you ought to make it an absolute must to vote.

There is another reason why you should make certain that you vote, and that is the size of the field itself. With such a large number seeking so few available places, there easily could be a fragmentation of voting. Thus, any organized block or group could, were it so turned, slip in with a minor fraction of the total vote.

The city is a major business spending a couple of million dollars a year and employing scores upon scores of people. It is important that there be good, experienced, substantial people serving on the city commission with the city as a whole as a sole objective of service.

David Lawrence Nixon And A Divided Congress

WASHINGTON — The country is experiencing the unfortunate effects of the national election of 1968 when 57 per cent of the voters cast their ballots against the Democratic administration, but the Democratic party was left in control of Congress and the committees in both houses.

Today, with challenging problems facing the country, both parties are divided. Leadership is lacking as the November election is awaited to see whether or not the people will endorse the President by giving his party a majority in the Senate and House.

MEANWHILE, there is timidity and procrastination — a hesitancy to adopt important legislation dealing with crucial questions. Rarely ever before have strikes and labor troubles been so extensive in the damage done or threatened. Yet Congress stands by and does little or nothing because the labor interests have managed to develop political strength in many districts and states so that, it is often claimed, labor unions dominate a sizable bloc of members of both houses of Congress.

A large-scale war began during the last administration. Wage and price controls should have been imposed. The cost of living has been rising steadily. Labor pressure for wage increases has intensified, forcing prices upward. The government has not stopped the spiral.

NOW THE CLIMAX has come. Public employees — in schools, airports, and post offices — have walked

Billy Graham

In your opinion, has the teenage rebellion gotten out of hand? Even some of our more liberal people seem to think so. I would be interested in getting your appraisal of this problem.

F. P. S.

I believe the current rebellion against the "establishment" is running out of steam, for the simple reason that most rebellious teenagers have no alternative to offer for the social conditions they are rebelling against. The problems of our society are basically spiritual and cannot be solved by the overthrow of our democracy as some advocate.

But, having said all that, I hope too that we can profit from the dissatisfaction of some of our youth with present conditions. Many of our generation have made serious mistakes, and we have not handed the new generation the right set of values. It is filled with crime, overemphasis on material things and the love of pleasure. Some of the rebellion of our youngsters is against these false values, and, in this, I am on their side. Our problems will never approach satisfactory resolution until some of our attitudes are changed, and until great segments of our adults awaken to the fact that "man shall not live by bread alone." The most healthy periods of human history have been when men recognize the sovereignty of God, the dignity of the individual, and the importance of hard work and of honesty with ourselves and others.

A rebellious movement can only be successful when it offers a superior alternative, and the current rebellion has failed to do this. It, perhaps is half right, but it is incomplete, and therefore, inadequate.

THE ONLY ANSWER

John Cunniff How The Value Of The Dollar Changes

NEW YORK (AP) — After five years of reporting a steady decline in the power of the dollar we are, mercifully, going to start afresh with figures that won't hurt nearly as much.

We are, that is, going to declare the dollar of 1967 as being worth 100 cents. During the past 10 years we have measured the value of our dollar in terms of the period 1957-1959 equalling 100 per cent. That made things look real bad.

For example, some distressing calculations reveal that at the close of 1969 the dollar was equal to only a bit more than 78 cents in terms of 1957-1959. But in terms of 1967 it was worth more than 90 cents.

What can be said of the rose — a rose is a rose is a rose — can't be said of the dollar. A dollar is as good as the base against which it is measured. And since inflation is a fact of life, there is a tendency for the dollar to be worth less as it is measured against a more distant base.

The government isn't changing the base period simply to get a fresh start or to disguise the deterioration in buying power, although inevitably those will be among the effects.

The real reason, it explained, is that statistics must remain pertinent for its economic indicators, such as the consumer price index and the index of industrial production. The base, therefore, is updated every decade.

The fact of the matter is that inflation is rarely absent from the economy in times of expansion. During recessions, of course, the dollar tends to hold its value, but the problem then is that too few people have enough of them.

As an economy expands it demands more workers and raw materials, and that usually means higher prices. More money gets into circulation also, and that permits customers to bid up prices.

The result is that while an economy booms, the value of its money sometimes slips. This often goes unnoticed while the purchasing power of workers continues to grow, the result of earning enough dollars to offset the erosion.

The question that more and more economists are wrestling with today is: Can inflation and dollar erosion be avoided?

The surest way to control the upward spiral of prices would be to toss the country into a depression. But that, of course, is not only impractical but unthinkable madness.

To Your Good Health Two Kinds Of Hormones

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: Could you explain the use of estrogen in menopause as compared with the pill for birth control? I am concerned as I take it for menopause. — D. J.

Dear Sir: Isn't the Pill made with the same hormones women have been taking for menopause? — Mrs. A.W.S.

Dear Doctor: I take female hormones for thin bones (osteoporosis). Is this dangerous? — T.B.

Dear Doctor: My doctor prescribed stilbestrol for the rest of my life. Now I've read about the hazards of the Pill. — E.Z.

"The Pill" is not the same as the hormones given to women in menopause. There are differences.

Birth control pills are a mixture of progesterone and estrogen. The former is dominant when pregnancy occurs, so what "the Pill" does is to raise the progesterone level continuously, thus creating a "pseudo pregnancy." This in turn prevents ovulation.

Whether progesterone is the sole factor involved in the alleged or reported complications of "the Pill" has not been definitely established so far as I can learn.

At any rate, progesterone is not used in the hormones given in menopause or because of osteoporosis. For that, estrogen is used, or, alternatively, stilbestrol which has a strong estrogen-like action, or chlorotrianisene, known as TACE, which also has strong estrogenic activity.

Apart from the absence of progesterone in these uses, there is another important difference. The hormones in this case are being used as "replacement therapy." That is, the menopausal woman's system has slowed down in its production of estrogen, so it becomes a matter of replacing, artificially, a substance which earlier had been present normally.

Therefore, from every present indication, the women who are taking hormones because of menopause have no cause to worry over the complications being charged against birth control pills.

Remember, also, that this estrogen therapy has been in use considerably longer than has "the Pill," without serious complications showing up. (Breast engorgement and soreness is the chief side effect noted with use of these preparations; and anyway that does not happen with all women.)

Recommended use of the menopausal estrogen (or its substitutes) is to give it on a cyclic basis — that is, take it for three weeks, then stop for a week, or some similar schedule. This is quite effective in minimizing side effects.

Primary use of the estrogen is to control or eliminate such menopause symptoms as hot flashes. It is also in wide use in treating osteoporosis, which is loss of density in the bones which may occur after menopause.

Many authorities believe it may be an important aid in lessening coronary artery disease (heart disease) in older women.

In any event, older women receiving hormones need not be disturbed by the furor which has surrounded "the Pill."

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 45 and starting the change of life. For two months I have had a bloody discharge about a week or so after my menstrual period. Could this be anything serious? — Mrs. C.

It might — or it might mean only some membrane change in the uterus. It certainly calls for examination by your doctor or gynecologist, with a Pap test.

Note to L.S.: No, Paget's disease and osteoporosis are not the same disease.

For a comprehensive discussion of how to cope with the change of life, including scores of pertinent questions and their answers, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald for his booklet, "Make Menopause Easier," enclosing 35 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to cover cost of printing and handling.

Around The Rim Snakes Have Parasite Trouble, Too

A rattlesnake hunt like the Big Spring Jaycees staged here recently can be many things to many people.

It can provide a source of revenue for the sponsors and rewards for those bringing in the trophies. The species displayed in the pits can fascinate the adults and horrify the small fry, most of whom have been taught to give the reptiles a wide berth.

THE MEAT of the snake can be prepared to supplement the diet of some gourmets and, of course, the venom of the creatures is taken to provide mankind with anti-toxins.

One person who regarded the hunt in an entirely different light was David Redwine, the chemistry and biology teacher at Forsan High School.

Redwine assigned himself to the task of bisecting the snakes after they had been dispatched and studying their vital organs for parasites. He found mites in abundance in many of the snakes.

THE TEACHER undertook such a task in order to complete research for a paper he is preparing as final work on his Master's degree in Science.

David is scheduled to return to Southern Methodist University this summer for eight weeks of study that should earn him that degree. The summer schooling was made possible through a government grant.

Redwine found that about one in every eight snakes he examined was afflicted with tapeworms, those flat, ribbon-like parasites which infest the intestines of man and animals alike.

A TAPEWORM lets his carrier do all the foraging for food but reaps most of the benefits. A human being can be examined for such an infection and take measures to rid himself of the unwelcome visitor. A snake doesn't have the same privilege.

Redwine also found one snake which had 75 to 80 lung worms, infestations which, no doubt, would have shortened the life span of the victim considerably had he not had his unfortunate rendezvous with the hunter.

OTHERS WERE suffering from flukes, a trematode worm shaped not unlike a leaf, which invariably seeks out the liver. The fluke proves very destructive to sheep and can cause a disease known as "rot."

Still other parasites had caused cysts to form in mouth cavities of the snakes.

The reptile, of course, is very susceptible to such infestations because of his diet. He eats rabbits or rats whole, without taking the trouble of fetching them to the creek to cleanse them.

Redwine preserved the parasites in alcohol and will forward them to SMU for further research and discussion.

Burleson Reports Reds Out-Maneuver Us On Laos

WASHINGTON — The Communists in Southeast Asia are doing a pretty good job of manufacturing a false position for the United States.

By indicting the United States for aggressive acts in Laos they create another excuse for not negotiating. They have done nothing in Paris anyway but they use the more recent developments as claims of this being a new situation — a new front by America.

Actually the facts in Laos are neither new nor complicated beyond what they've been from the beginning.

THE WHOLE THING has always been one and the same ball of wax. The French knew this very well from their long experience in governing old French-Indo-China, Thailand (Sima), Laos, Cambodia and Vietnam.

As the national debate over advisory role in Laos intensifies, the Communists, as they have done in every other situation, exploit two fronts — in the area itself and the other in Washington.

BY CREATING the illusion that events in Laos are a new and complicated development they underscore the divisions in the United States Congress and particularly the bitter critics of our policy in the Senate. With some 30 members of the House of Representatives and a larger number percentage-wise in the Senate, criticizing all aspects of U.S. involvement in Southeast Asia, the Communists are able to point to these official statements as representing the general sentiments in this country.

opposed to our presence in any part of Southeast Asia and as a demand for total and immediate withdrawal.

THESE ARE THE voices who accuse our government of "imperialism." Many of them advocate disarmament, since they say military strength is to be used for imperialistic purposes only.

Strangely, they never point to the blatant invasion of South Vietnam by the northern Communists nor the violation of all agreements to maintain peace. They have called the conflict a civil war. Now all pretense of a Vietnam civil war has faded. The Communists are openly the aggressors in the South, in Cambodia and in Laos.

REELING FROM military defeat in South Vietnam, the Communists are simply falling back to a position in Laos, Cambodia and across the North Vietnam line from which they can gain time for consolidation to do the same thing they have been doing all along. It is a cheap way for them to gain time and to test the United States response. They can bide their time for large scale invasion.

Talk of neutralizing Cambodia and Laos is perfectly good. We should and we do not, will be willing to enter into negotiations looking for a settlement, either temporary or towards permanent. But it takes more than one to carry on a dialogue. We ceased the bombing of North Vietnam, offered to talk anywhere at any time. Nothing has come of it and likely nothing will until the intransigence of the Communists is broken.

Andrew Tully Carswell And His Private Club

WASHINGTON — In the matter of President Nixon's appointment of the undistinguished G. Harold Carswell to the Supreme Court, a reckless thought intrudes: Is all this yackety-yack about social relations between whites and blacks becoming a crashing bore?

IT IS A THOUGHT produced by the tea pot tempest over what seems to be uncontroversial evidence that Judge Carswell was an incorporator of a segregated Florida golf club back in uncivilized 1956. Carswell, of course, was less than candid about it. He first denied he was an incorporator or an officer of any description, then said maybe he was, and then said yes, he was. He contrived this turnaround only under persistent questioning before the Senate Judiciary Committee.

BUT TO ME this means only that Carswell wanted to climb to the bench of the highest court in the land and hesitated to say anything that might hurt his chances. His evasion, as a candidate for a post of the utmost sensitivity, invites at least criticism. Besides, he's not much of a judge, which should be the all-important consideration.

That having been said, I decline to join the shrill chorus which denounces Carswell for having belonged to a private club which barred Negroes. Such private clubs were a part of Dixie's way of life in distant 1956. For that matter, they still are in most Southern communities and — what is more significant — in most of the sanctimonious North.

ETHICALLY, it may not be nice to belong to a club whose doors are closed to persons of a certain race or creed or nationality, but I refuse to play God. Given the local situation, it was natural that Carswell should join that club and even donate $10 to it. It was also his right to do so, even as it is the right of distinguished citizens in other sections of the country to belong to private clubs which exclude Jews, or Catholics, or one-eyed paperhangers.

Indeed, in New York, New England, the Midwest and California some of our most sincere champions of civil rights belong to clubs protected by such covenants. Their children attend private schools which somehow never can find room for more than a few token Negroes or Jews or blue-eyed seventh sons of seventh sons.

NOT ONLY is there no law against this, it is not considered naughty — except, apparently, when a Southerner is involved. A man joins a private club to be among his "own kind," as the old Irish would say. He seeks the companionship of other rich men, other golf nuts, other Lithuanians or other grunts.

CARSWELL WAS NOT very bright in quibbling about the facts of his membership in that golf club. He should have told the Senators yessir he was an incorporator the first time he was asked about it. There might have been tongue-clucking among the Yankees, but the judge could always have inquired of Teddy Kennedy how many Negroes he hung around with when he was matriculating at the University of Virginia Law School. $50,000 Rice Fire

HOUSTON (AP) — Arson investigators today are checking a Sunday fire at Rice University which caused $50,000 damage to the office of the dean of students.
Dr. Frank Vandiver, acting Rice president, said the fire which apparently started in the private office of Dean Fred Wierum, destroyed "irreplaceable student records."

Uses His Car To Run Down One Kidnaper

PORTO ALEGRE, Brazil (AP) — The U.S. consul in Porto Alegre was recovering today from a slight wound suffered in thwarting a kidnap attempt. He used his car to run down one of his would-be kidnappers, and they let loose a hail of bullets as he escaped.
Curtis C. Cutter, a 41-year-old Korean War veteran, became the first diplomat in Latin America to personally defy a kidnap attempt since the wave of political abductions started last September. There have been eight previous kidnappings or attempted kidnappings in Latin American countries.
Cutter was driving home late Saturday night with his wife, Catherine, and a former State Department official, Hovey Clark, when a gang in a car intercepted them. Several men wearing dark glasses and carrying machine guns jumped out and headed toward Cutter's station wagon.
The consul stepped on the gas and pulled around the car blocking his path, hitting one of the men and dragging him on the bumper for several yards. The other kidnappers opened fire, wounding the consul slightly in the back, but he was able to drive to his home a few blocks away.
Police said the assailants, members of the leftist Armed Revolutionary Vanguard, picked up their injured comrade and escaped.
Guards were put on Cutter's hospital room, his home and the homes of other diplomats.
Appeals were broadcast over radio stations in the area for all doctors to report any cases of auto injuries they treat. Police said they found the car used by the attackers. They said it had been stolen last month.

Liza To Attend Despite Mishap

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Liza Minnelli, nominated for an Academy Award as best actress, says she will be able to attend the 42nd annual awards ceremony Tuesday night despite injuries from a motorcycle accident.
The 23-year-old daughter of the late Judy Garland was released from St. John's Hospital in Santa Monica Sunday after being treated for a shoulder fracture and facial cuts and bruises.
Miss Minnelli, who was nominated for her role in "The Sterile Cuckoo," was injured Friday night when a motorcycle in which she was a passenger hit an oil slick. The driver, Tony Bill, a friend, suffered minor injuries.

FOILS KIDNAPPERS — Curtis Cutter, above, U.S. consul in Porto Alegre, Brazil, foiled a kidnap attempt Sunday by ramming his car into the car of his attackers and then speeding off. The 41-year-old diplomat, whose parents reside in Sacramento, Calif., suffered a bullet wound in his arm during his escape.

Johnsons Worship With Nixons At White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — "We have been thinking of you in these services. We want you to know we are very happy you have returned in good health. You have been in our thoughts and prayers."
With these words President Nixon welcomed former President Lyndon B. Johnson back to the White House for Sunday worship services.
The former President, looking fit with a ruddy color, stood with Nixon after the service to receive the 300 guests. He and Lady Bird smiled, chatted, and appeared to be thoroughly enjoying themselves.
Johnson attended the wedding of columnist William S. White's daughter Saturday and had dinner that night at the home of his former White House assistant, Jack Valenti. Johnson was scheduled to return to the White House this morning for breakfast with Nixon and an informal talk about national affairs.
In the service itself, John Cardinal Krol, archbishop of Philadelphia, attacked crime and communism.
"As we seek more and more to cure the ills of society with merely material remedies," Krol said, "we run the danger of adopting, certainly not by design but by default, the false principles of the totalitarian societies whose actions we abhor without God... and absolute power will result in absolute corruption."

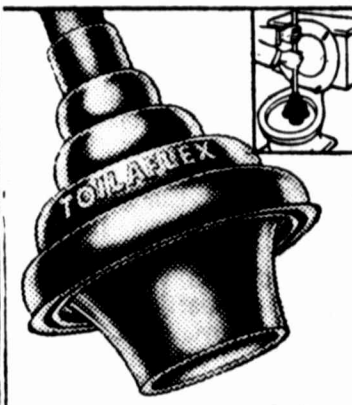

Cardinal Cushing Regains Strength

BOSTON (AP) — Richard Cardinal Cushing, who has been under hospital treatment since March 19 for what his doctor describes as a "resistant infection," is expected to go home within the next few days.
Dr. Richard Wright said the 74-year-old archbishop of the Boston Roman Catholic archdiocese "has improved and is regaining his strength."

Fuel Snag Slows Work On Rocket

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Specialists worked on a fuel pressure problem in the moon landing craft today, confident they can solve it without delaying Saturday's launching of Apollo 13, man's third lunar landing mission.
Space agency officials hoped to make a decision by midmorning whether to replace the bothersome system, which pressurizes the fuel tanks for the engine of the lunar lander. They were concerned because the pressures were higher than normal.
If the system has to be replaced, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration felt certain the job could be done in time to meet the scheduled launch time of 2:13 p.m. EST Saturday.
Launch Director Walter Kapryan ordered the countdown to begin on schedule at 10 p.m. Sunday after experts studied the pressurization problem throughout the day.
Kapryan reported the pressure had started to stabilize and that specialists had requested an additional 12 hours to study the problem.
The three astronauts who are to fly the mission—James A. Lovell Jr., Thomas K. Mattingly II, and Fred W. Haise Jr.—watched developments from their crew quarters five miles from the launch pad.
Their schedule today called for a physical examination and several hours in a spaceship simulator, practicing launch procedures and possible abort maneuvers in case of rocket trouble.

Independent Checking Of Mary Jo's Death Begins

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP) — A special session of the Dukes County Grand Jury convenes today amid doubt over its procedure in its independent investigation into the death last July 18 of Mary Jo Kopechne.
Miss Kopechne, 28, a former campaign secretary of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, died in a car driven by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass. The car plunged off a narrow bridge into a tidal pool on Chappaquiddick Island, which lies across a narrow strait from Edgartown, one of the towns on the island of Martha's Vineyard.
Kennedy, the youngest and only survivor of the four Kenney brothers, escaped, but delayed for 10 hours his report of the accident to island police. He subsequently pleaded guilty to a charge of leaving the scene of the accident without making himself known. He was given a jail term of two months, suspended on probation for a year.

The grand jury, which put off an inquiry last October because a District Court inquest was scheduled, is meeting in a special session on its own motion to investigate the accident. The procedure it will take is up to a majority vote of its 23 members.
Leslie H. Leland, 29, a Vineyard Haven druggist who is foreman of the grand jury, says he believes its first move should be to ask for the right to inspect the transcript of testimony and the report of District Court Judge James A. Boyle on last January's inquest.

Whether the grand jury asks for the transcript "is up to the entire grand jury. I don't know the legal procedure," Leland said Sunday. "This is why we have asked Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis to advise us on what we may want to do."
If the grand jury is denied access to the documents, it would have two avenues open: It could seek an appeal to the Massachu-

Arrested Man Dies, Officers Suspended

HOUSTON (AP) — Two Galena Park policemen who arrested a young Negro man who died in police custody were suspended Sunday night. Police Chief W.E. Cook acted after he met with an angry crowd of black residents.

Houston police chief Herman Short Saturday suspended two Houston officers in connection with the Saturday incident.

Galena Park is a Houston suburb.

Bobby Joe Conner, 24, was dead on arrival at a Houston hospital to which he was taken about two hours after his arrest on suspicion of car theft.

A companion, Larry Taylor, 23, underwent surgery for abdominal damage. He claimed officers made him and Conner lie on a table at the Galena Park station and stomped them.

An autopsy revealed Conner died of a ruptured liver.

Chief Cook and Galena Park Police Commissioner Claude Doss met with the noisy group Sunday night in packed city council chambers and first refused to suspend the two Galena Park officers.

The black citizen's group presented a petition that charged Conner's "tragic and unnecessary" death was caused by a "brutal and unprovoked attack upon him by law enforcement officers."

The petition demanded an investigation into the death by the FBI.

Dist. Atty. Carol Vance said his office was investigating the death and would present it to the Harris County grand jury as soon as possible.

Robert Lewis, treasurer of the black group, asked that the officers be suspended because "I don't feel safe with them in my neighborhood."

Cook replied that disciplinary action against the two officers should await the results of the grand jury investigation. He was booed and hissed by the audience.

Finally, Cook said he would suspend the two officers, W.E. Sanders and G.C. Brady. The two men, and the two Houston officers, A.N. Hill and J.A. McMahon, are white.

Sanders and Brady arrested Conner and Taylor about 4 a.m.

Sunday, Cook said. He said they noticed the car in which the two Negroes were riding had a burned out rear license plate light, tried to stop them, and chased them for half a mile before stopping them inside the Houston city limits.

Several Houston police units helped in the arrests of the two men who put up a brief struggle, Cook said. The suspects were then taken to the Galena Park police station, he said.

About two hours later, both men were rushed by police cars to the hospital but Conner was dead on arrival.

From his hospital bed, Taylor accused the police of stomping him during an interrogation.

"They kicked us in the stomach and stomped us with their boot heels," Taylor said. "We pleaded with them to stop, but they made us lie on a table and they stomped us."

When Houston Chief Short suspended the two Houston officers he said they "conducted themselves in a way that is not in keeping with the policies of this department. This is not the way we treat prisoners."

HIS ROAD TO VICTORY—Bible in hand, the Rev. Carl McIntire and his wife lead the "March for Victory" on Pennsylvania Avenue in Washington Saturday. McIntire said his parade was a demonstration for a military victory in Vietnam.

Rev. McIntire Says: 'This Is Our Day'

WASHINGTON (AP) — What ever other purpose it may have served, the March for Victory gave thousands of middle-aged and conservatively dressed Americans a chance to be heard.

"This is our day," said the Rev. Carl McIntire, the fundamentalist preacher and chief organizer of the event, who led the March Saturday down Pennsylvania Avenue to the Washington Monument. There, a loud speaker blared "at last, Americans have had their day in Washington."

Crowd estimates varied. Washington Police Chief Jerry V. Wilson set the number at 10,000 to 15,000. Federal Park Police estimated about 40,000, while McIntire said 50,000 persons marched. About 25,000 persons were estimated to have walked the same route in the November Moratorium Day protest against the Vietnam war.

Unlike last fall's youthful demonstrators with their long hair and unorthodox clothes, the weekend crowd was mostly over 30, had above-the-ear hair cuts, and wore their Sunday-best outfits. Some held Bibles, American and Confederate flags. They sang hymns, "America," "Dixie" and "God Bless America."

The event was billed by McIntire as a demonstration for military victory in Vietnam—an answer to last fall's antiwar marches.

However, a number of conservative themes shared the spotlight, with speakers and banners calling for prayer and Bible reading in school, an end to desegregation, sex education, legalized abortion and "Godless Communism."

To some it was a religious revival as they inquired about the souls of those they met in the throng. The devout who encountered unbelievers proclaimed, "you got to hit 'em with the word."

The radio evangelist had declared before the march that it was a challenge to President Nixon's program of gradual withdrawal from Vietnam as well as the get-out-now demands of the peace demonstrators.

"It constitutes an uprising and breakthrough from the so-called silent majority to tell the President that the silent majority is not really with him," McIntire said.

At the rally, speaker after speaker called for military triumph in Vietnam and a "holy war against Communism."

"It is time for our nation to take off its mantle of sackcloth and assume the leadership the world expects of us," said Georgia's Gov. Lester Maddox.

Rep. John R. Larick, D-La., told the cheering mass military leaders claim they can win the war in six to eight weeks "if the hands of the fighting men were untied."

The only noticeable incident came when about 30 brown shirted members of the National Socialist White People's Party—formerly the American Nazi Party—showed up with signs reading "Drop Nixon on Hanoi" and "Marxism is Jewish."

One party member and a spectator were arrested after a scuffle. At least two other arrests were reported.

DEAD DRUNK

LONDON (AP) — The undertakers wheeled David Wallace into a mortuary, then saw him move.

Wallace was drunk, not dead.

His friends had called the undertakers Sunday as a joke after Wallace, 25, had one too many and passed out.

He was not amused. "I might have been buried alive if nobody saw me move," he said. "I shudder to think about it."

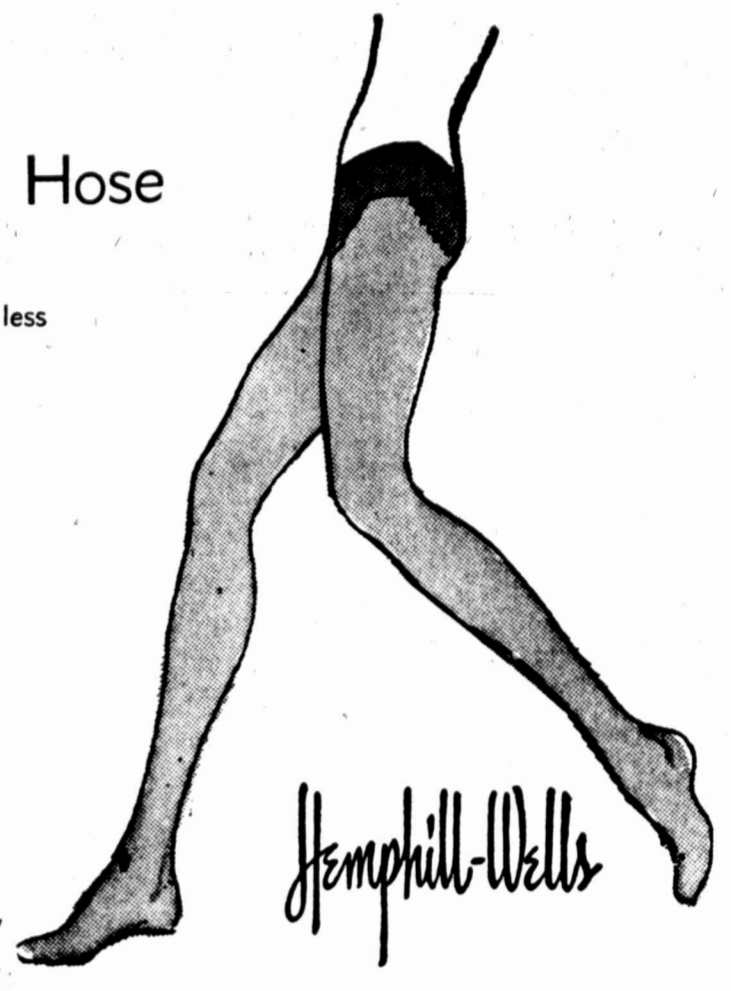

The undertakers were not amused either. They sent Wallace a bill for the funeral he missed.

Triumphs May Be Impetus For New Brown Power Push

CRYSTAL CITY, Tex. (AP) — Mexican-American election victories here and in nearby Cotulla may provide the catalyst for a Brown Power political push in other South Texas areas.

Jose Angel Gutierrez, who engineered a successful Mexican-American bid for three school board posts here, make no secret of his goal to "make many more Crystal Cities anywhere and everywhere that chicanos (Mexican-Americans) want them."

The former state chairman of the Mexican-American Youth Organization (MAYO), Gutierrez and two other Mexican-Americans running with him won election to the school board here Saturday. Their campaign grew out of a Mexican-American school boycott here last December.

In Cotulla, meanwhile, Alfredo Zamora Jr. became the first Mexican-American elected mayor there in at least 30 years.

Zamora defeated Mayor Paul Cotulla of the family that founded the small, predominantly Mexican-American town. Cotulla had been mayor eight years.

Gutierrez, 25, said he would assist any Mexican-American groups "trying to improve their schools, city government, county government—anything."

As of 1960, he said, Mexican-Americans were in the majority in 21 Texas counties.

Gutierrez recently organized a Mexican-American third political party, the Raza Unida party, here and in nearby Cotulla and Carrizo Springs.

The elections in Crystal City and Cotulla were the first political tests for the fledgling party, which plans to field candidates for county elections next fall. A Raza Unida party also has been formed at Edinburg in far South Texas.

Crystal City school board president E.F. Mayer viewed the Gutierrez slate's victory this way: "These other communities better wake up, or they'll be facing the same thing."

The third party effort, he said, could spread in South Texas and affect not only school elections but the "whole political makeup of the communities involved."

Zavala County Judge Irl Taylor of Crystal City, who faces a Raza Unida opponent in next fall's election, said the Gutierrez victory "most certainly" added momentum to the third party effort.

He predicted similar activities in other areas heavily populated by Mexican-Americans, "now that they've got somebody to lead them and know that they can do it."

"This is a rerun of what happened here in 1963, which started the chicano revolution in the Southwest," Gutierrez boasted of his election to the school board.

Billy Graham Shuns Politics For 15 Years

HAMBURG, Germany (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham says despite his hobnobbing with U.S. presidents he has not discussed politics for more than 15 years.

Dr. Graham, holding a week's crusade in Dortmund, told news magazine Der Spiegel: "I also refuse to talk about (John) Kennedy, (Lyndon) Johnson, and (Richard) Nixon, who were or are my friends."

Graham was asked how he felt the political-religious problems in Northern Ireland could be solved.

"I would in any case consider a spiritual awakening a contribution to the solution of the problems, if not a complete one," he said. "I have refused to speak about politics for more than 15 years."

Asked if he had remained anti-Communist, Dr. Graham answered: "That is a difficult question. For years I have not spoken about that. I can not go around the world and say who is right and who is not right."
