Westex Old Settlers Make Plans For Annual Re-Union

Pioneer Judge Jo A. P. Dickson To Appear on Program

Roofing And Flooring Of Arbor Add Convenience For Area's Pioneers

The stage is being set this week for the West Texas Old Settlers Association thirteenth annual re-union at Hank Smith Memorial Park, Mt. Blanco.

While the grounds are being put in condition and preparations made to handle the usually huge crowds that attend the annual observance of the birthday of the plains' first settler, attention was being given specially to the construction of roof and floor for a large part of the arbor. Roof and floor 20 by 60 feet through the center of the arbor will add to the convenience of the old timers themselves and to that of the speakers who address them. Additionally, it is pointed out, the new arrangement will make it possible for three sets of dancers to dance the old-fashioned square dance which has become a part of the re-union observance. W. A. Gound of Floydada completed the work on the arbor this week.

Prominent Speakers Due

Among the prominent speakers, it is announced, will be Judge Jo A. P. Dickson, who served a score or more of counties in this section in the nineties. Other speakers will include Jerry Sadler, Gerald C. Mann and Pink L. Parrish. A sound truck will be used to carry the voices of the speakers.

Buttons for the old timers this year will have a picture of the old Crosby county court house built at Estacado in 1887. Below the picture will appear the legend "First House of Justice on the plains, 1887."

Aside from the speaking and the reminiscences that always feature the two days of the re-union and the square dancing, fiddlers contests will be held daily at 2:30, and on the second day it is hoped to have a side saddle parade with riders dressed in pioneer costume. If enough entrants can be found and side saddles to accommodate them this is expected to be a very interesting event, R. B. Smith said, this week.

A feature that will be of interest to old-timers and reminiscent of a day long past, will be an old-fashioned chuck wagon barbecue dinner, the barbecue cooked under ground in the old-style way. L. H. Randolph will have charge of the chuck wagon.

Mrs. Evelyn Smith Lowrie, secretary-treasurer of the association, who is a granddaughter of Hank Smith for whom the park was named, yesterday said that an amateur hour has been arranged with prizes for the three best numbers. Also it is probable the Floydada quartette will sing. They have been invited to have a part on the program.

Curry This Short Horse Quickly Is Voters' Prospect

In Floyd county democratic voters will have a short ballot this year, save and except for several state issues to be named. When the county executive committee of the party completed their work last Saturday morning they made up the county portion of the ballot, and while it happens that every voter in the county will have a vote coming, only three races are involved and all of them for precinct offices.

In commissioners precinct 4: H. J. Nelson and C. M. Lyles will run off a contest for commissioner.

In precincts 2 and 3 Justice D. C. Lowe, incumbent and O. T. Prickett, will appear as candidates for justice of the peace at Lockney; and in precincts 1 and 4: W. L. Finley and Harold Terry are in the run off for public weigher.

West Texan in one of the important run-off campaigns is Judge James A. Stephens of Knox county who is asking for the office of Judge court of criminal appeals, unexpired term. Floyd county gave the judge a good vote in the first primary.

School Will Open In Floydada Sept. 5, Board Decides

Bus Deals With Five Districts Completed; Others Are Pending

Floydada public schools will open on Monday, September 5, members of the board of trustees voted at the meeting of the board Monday night. Plans for the opening will be made by Superintendent A. D. Cummings, with a good school year in prospect.

Two teaching places on the faculty now have vacancies, both in Andrews ward school. The last to be created was made so by the resignation of Miss Fannie Bolding, who will enter another line of endeavor, she told the board.

Bus Line Operations

Five common school districts and Floydada district came to an agreement last week-end over the operation of bus lines for transporting high school students. One bus will be operated for Sand Hill, Harmony and Blanco district pupils and the other for Starkey and McCoy.

At this time it seems probable that trustees of Center will arrange for their own transportation for bus service out of Floydada, and will send their scholars here.

Pending further negotiations Liberty, Cedar and Campbell have not signed contracts as yet for the line that it is anticipated will be operated for those schools. An effort will be made to reach an understanding as to financial arrangements and it is possible that Fairview district will join in this agreement.

Formal approval of a plan for Lakeview district to transport their school boys and girls to Floydada high was given by the county board Monday. Homer Newberry will operate the truck under a contract with Lakeview district.

Save Taxes Penalty On Cotton Crop

County Agent's Office Points Out Need For Checking Measurements

All producers who have certain knowledge that they have overplanted their cotton allotment are requested to recheck their measurements at once and if they intend not to be penalized by the cotton marketing quotas this cotton acreage in excess of their allotment should be destroyed immediately.

This is the warning issued out of the office of County Agent D. F. Bredthauer, who says that producers who do not want to be taxed for over-production and who expect to receive the cotton price adjustment payment for 1937, will find this an important matter.

Continuing the statement says: "Although supervisors are now in the fields checking all acreages in the county it is a definite fact that these maps will not be in the county office for compliance until after it comes to the point to destroy cotton and producers are reminded that when they have over-planted they will be subjected to a tax and if they are over-planted they will not be eligible to receive the cotton price adjustment payment.

"It is going to be an impossibility for this office to check compliance in time and notify producers of their cotton acreage until after cotton harvest time and so that no injustice can be done, producers are urged to recheck their cotton and plow up all over their allotment if they intend not to be taxed, and receive the cotton price adjustment payment for 1937."

Homer Steen served as president of the convention and R. F. Stovall secretary. The county convention was held in the district court room at 3 o'clock. It followed the meeting of the county committee, held in the forenoon when canvas of the returns of the election in the county was made and the results declared.

Dr. Smith & Smith within a few weeks will occupy the residence at 115 West Mississippi as a sanitarium after it has been completely overhauled and re-constructed on the interior. Dr. Geo. V. Smith said Wednesday afternoon.

However, he was sure that possession would be given at an early date. Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hopkins are occupants of the building, which was the property of Honoretha and Robert Ashley Childers before it was purchased by the Smith brothers.

The re-modeled building will have three patients rooms, an operating room, reception room and kitchenette, Dr. Smith said.

Farmers Want Cold Storage And Locker System Located At Floydada For Trade Area

Meeting Called For Saturday Afternoon 3 o'Clock To Talk Plant

Enthusiasm over the success of a cold storage and locker system now in operation in Plainview was brought home last Friday by a group of farmers, who visited the South Plains Co-operative Locker system. They called a meeting for Saturday afternoon, August 6 at 3 o'clock in the district court room, when they want farmers from all over this section to be present for the discussion of possibilities of a plant at Floydada.

The farmers who visited the Plainview plant went into details as to its possibilities. They are impressed that a cold storage and locker system installed in Floydada for the farmers of this trade territory would be a highly advantageous undertaking.

In the party who went to Plainview last Friday were L. A. Williams, of Harmony, T. E. Leach and W. H. Nelson of Baker, A. Jackson, and County Agricultural Agent D. F. Bredthauer. They decided to call the meeting for Saturday. It will be held for the purpose of explaining the advantages offered by this system.

R. C. Watson Succumbs At Home Here Sunday

Mississippi, Resident of Floyd County 27 Years, Victim Of Infirmities of Old Age

R. C. Watson, 85, resident of Floyd county since 1911, and until very recent years active in farming and other lines of business in the country, succumbed at his home in southwest Floydada late Sunday afternoon.

Funeral rites were held from the First Methodist church Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. F. A. Bell, pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian church here, assisted by Rev. Joseph L. Henson, of Lockney, officiated. Interment was made in Floydada cemetery. Harmon Funeral Home had charge of arrangements.

Mr. Watson had been in ill health for a year or more. The fatal attack occurred about 10 days ago. Failure of the heart to function was the immediate cause of death.

Survivors include his wife, four daughters, two sons, two brothers and two sisters, and a number of grandchildren. All the children and one of the brothers were here for the funeral, as were numerous other relatives and friends from out-of-town. Surviving daughters are Mrs. J. R. Evers, Mrs. C. E. Neil, Mrs. R. Born in Tishomingo county, Mississippi, in 1853 Mr. Watson moved to Pleasant Site, Alabama, at the age of 17, where he was married to Miss Alice Matthews, the wife who survives, in 1876. He moved to Hill county, Texas, in 1890, and to Floyd in 1911. He had been a member of the Presbyterian church more than sixty years.

Floyd Road Work Begins In September

Bids Also Being Received On Materials For Highway Warehouse Here

Encouraging news for Floydada and Floyd county good roads enthusiasts is contained in two announcements this week by Division Engineer G. M. Garrett of the state highway department.

Item 1: At last approval has been given to the construction of a maintenance division warehouse in Floydada for the road area served from this point. The department at Austin is taking bids now on material to be furnished for the job, and work will start probably next month.

Grounds were obtained last fall for the division quarters in the Starks addition, where all of Block 5 was added to the department. Hindrances of one kind and another had prevented carrying out the plans as quickly as was intended. A. J. Hamilton was moved here on September 1 as road maintenance foreman.

Next Letting September 6

Item 2: The $50,000 contract for construction of federal farm to market road north from Floydada on the Silverton highway has been recommended to be included in the next letting by the commission at Austin on September 6. Plans have already gone in to the state engineer's office for the construction.

Present cost of materials will not permit as many miles of construction as was hoped for earlier in the year, Mr. Garrett said. About 6 miles will be built, he thinks. However, it will be an excellently constructed piece of road, having a caliche base 34 feet wide with a double asphalt surface 22 feet wide. "It will be as good as or better road than you have on your east and west connection on Highway 28," he added.

Mr. Garrett said he had not been advised what action, if any, had been taken by the highway department on the application of Floyd county authorities for a WPA construction job leading further north on the Silverton highway. The commissioners court when they made their application told the highway commission they hoped to furnish jobs for more than a hundred men on the project if it were give approval.

ROAD BACK A ROUGH ONE

Those were interesting messages Floyd county farmers and businessmen sent to the tariff commission and the secretary of state last week.

Thirty years ago Joe Bailey told us what would happen if we kept up our crazy course in tariff and railroad legislation. He said the southwest would go broke trying to support the rest of the nation on an inequitable and iniquitous basis.

Now, we will attempt to undo the harm. Back east they fatten on preferential tariffs, preferential freight rates.

When the cards are stacked, as they have been for many years, it is easy to win if you know how they are stacked, easy to lose if you are on the other side.

The road back to a fair and equitable deal for the southwestern farmer is a rough one and troublous.

DAMS PUT ON THE SPOT

A war of words is raging around the Colorado River Authority, farmers downstream from the big Buchanan Dam near Llanos declaring their part of the flood on the Colorado was a man-made one.

How flood control may actually be accomplished is one of the things that are to be learned from such ventures where many millions of taxpayers money was spent.

Such a thing as a precinct convention, a county convention or a state convention where issues are fought out and "principles" established is as far from the mind of the present-day citizen as daylight is from dark.

A FARCE PERPETUATED

Such a thing as a precinct convention, a county convention or a state convention where issues are fought out and "principles" established is as far from the mind of the present-day citizen as daylight is from dark.

But it is evident that precinct convention, the county convention and even the state convention of the parties are headed for the same world inhabited by the dodo and the auk.

It doesn't make sense for a county convention to meet and solemnly declare they are willing for the candidate for governor to have his way, to save the country in whatsoever style or manner he would like, whatever his name or nationality.

What we mean is that the convention system, having been robbed of its power and usefulness, will sooner or later be discarded. What man wants to be a rubber stamp in advance?

LOOK WHO'S ASKING

GONE CRAZY UP NORTH?

There is so much money up north or back east, as you prefer to call Vermont, that they are loaning (on rockbound security) at very, very low rates of interest.

Asked if all the modern machinery for farming operations is being used in that part of the world, Mr. Payne could not recall seeing a combine harvester after he left the southwest. In fact, he was definitely of the opinion that no such machine was seen by him after he got as far north as Missouri or thereabout.

Could it be possible that anybody is making money out of farming, or whatever it is they do for a living, without a combine and a tractor and power lift plows? Anybody that does business in Floyd County, Texas knows you have to have these.

Did Judge Payne not look? Or are some old-fashioned persons running contrary to the times and still putting money in the bank? All the talent knows you have to have a lot of machinery and cut a wide swath with each and every machine.

THINGS CHANGE WITH THE TIMES

When Henry Watterson was in his prime there was no such thing as a man offering himself for high office without first having agreed with the representatives of the people as to the platform on which he would run. In a later day, we have revised the methods.

Times have changed a bit. T. J. Holbrook, of Galveston, beaten last week, can tell you so. He voted and worked for many a man who ran on a platform that was known before the candidate was known.

Mr. Watterson, in his valedictory, twenty years ago, told us in a voice as though from the tomb, we could expect what we have. The Holbrooks and that ilk are only the rearguard fighting against what they think of as the advancing tide of demagogues.

PREVENTING SPREAD OF DISEASE

It would seem to be a far-fetched and highly technical practice to make all transcontinental carriers, such as interstate buses and planes, get water only from cities having sources of supply which are certified as safe by a representative of the Bureau of Food and Drugs, or as it works out in practice, from the State Department of Health.

As a matter of fact, scientific men tell us, this service is not only good health practice but a very economical method of preventing spread of disease and epidemics.

Contaminated water, we are told, taken on a plane today in, let us say Cleveland, Ohio, could be the cause next week of an epidemic that would break out in New York City or Los Angeles, California. One such scourge could cost much more in a few weeks than the preventive measures cost in years.

As A Farm Woman Thinks

Nellie Will Spikes

Last week was crowded so full of happenings one thing more would have wedged the week in two. The revival meeting started—the new house—letters and meeting old friends and new.

Rev. L. L. Hill of Earth, our pastor of former days brought us God's message in all its beauty and simplicity. Messages of glowing beauty shining like jewels' words burning like fire purified our hearts and souls.

We listened to Mrs. Hill, to Rev. Woodrow Williams, our pastor and to Miss Edith Grimes from Floydada sing the old familiar hymns giving them a new beauty and a new joy.

Oh, as I listened I thought of all the pastors in the world and I likened them to the signs along the highway that guide our earthly ways to and fro over the country. Upright and staunch they stand. God's messengers: pointing out the highway to heaven. Warning us of the roads that are bad.

The new house is started but is now just at the tearing down stage. It is not very interesting. Piles of lumber, of dirt and rock. Ladders and nails strew the lawn. We have moved the kitchen and most of the things to the shack. But when I get over there I find I have left most of the things I needed at the house and the other way round.

Jerry, my son's wife sent some pictures of Patricia Ann and Carey. Pat had on her dress she wore as a flower girl at a wedding. She looked mighty sweet and I wanted to pick up my grandson and hug him to pieces.

Mrs. Reasoner and Mrs. Vige Smith made my visit to Floydada very pleasant last week. Mrs. Smith was once my neighbor. The Smith children went to school in a buggy. Ours in a hack. Before the children went to school they laid in a supply of rocks. Not because they were mad and didn't like each other, but because they were children.

Mrs. Louella Terry is visiting her relatives in Floydada. As we washed, she helped me, we reviewed days when she and Wilson and the twins played so happily together. Upstairs was a jail, the door on the stairs was bolted from the outside. One of the children was the sheriff the others were outlaws. Sugar was strewn on the cabinet where whiskey was made of colored, sweetened water. Things were stolen and sometimes the law breakers were chased around the lake.

"How did you stand the noise and our jumping and tearing things up?" Louella asked. But in those days if I had a book to read and a piece of lovely embroidery to do, the house could have been torn down over my head.

A pretty picture—Mrs. Lincoln, with her beautiful white hair and sweet face, kneeling over a bed of pink verbenas cutting a bouquet for me. Oh, Mrs. Lincoln you have given me love and cheer. Have been a friend when dark times of need came, making bright sunny hours spent with laughing and talking. Oh, I love you, Mrs. Lincoln.

I agree with R. C. Day and perhaps many more that we are sorry that Ed Holmes quit telling his troubles and varied experiences in a column of the Hesperian.

No, Ed Cox is not dead. True he is not where we can see him once in awhile. He has only gone a little further than the rest of us. His gay, happy laugh echoes in our hearts; his teasing ways make us still smile. His friendly words are deep in our memories. Ed came to visit us when we were young. Came to singings and his laugh chimed in with the singing. How he and Mrs. White sang, "Will There Be Any Stars in My Crown." Yes, I think there will be stars that twinkle and make happy laughing music. Stars cut from friendship and joy. Stars of pure gold and silver like our friend Ed's heart was made of. We would like to hear Ed's laugh and "hello" to us when he enters the pearly gates. We would feel so at home.

WASHINGTON LETTER BY SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

WASHINGTON—Most of Washington's summer program could be printed in two columns headed "Investigations" and "Prosecutions."

On Aug. 11 the House committee headed by Congressman Martin Dies of Texas will start investigating un-American activities. First to testify in the hearings will be representatives of the American Legion Veterans of Foreign Wars, the A. F. of L. and other organizations which have been investigating such activities independently.

Die's committee can uncover evidence that Communist activities in this country are financed by Soviet Russia, or Nazi activities by Germany, the hearings will be sensational.

The Justice Department, prosecuting monopolistic practices may move on next to the alleged violation of anti-trust laws in the beverage bottling industry. If a suit is brought, Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold and his staff will produce evidence they have been collecting and allege that there is a lack of competition in this business and that prices are too high.

A Federal investigation of motion picture companies was begun about two years ago. Recently suit was brought against eight major producers, on the ground that monopolistic practices drive independent movie houses out of business.

In the movie suit, however, the alleged control of theatres by production companies and the practice of block-booking of films, have been going on for years. If the big movie men will consent to divorce their production, distribution and ownership from their theatre ownership, and eliminate block-booking, Attorney General Cummings and Arnold probably will be glad to call off the prosecution, and so reduce by one the long list of pending investigations and prosecutions.

LEAVE FOR GULF COAST

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Simon and family left Monday for the Gulf Coast and intermediate points where they will spend several days on a vacation trip.

They will spend some time at both Galveston and Corpus Christi, according to their plans when they left Floydada.

BILL AND MRS. HAMS MAKE VACATION IN MISSISSIPPI

Bill Hams, of The Hesperian staff, with Mrs. Hams left the middle of last week for Jackson, Mississippi, where they are spending a vacation with Mr. Hams' father and other relatives.

They will see the national army war games on the gulf coast of Mississippi before their return home about Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Waddington and family are planning to leave sometime in this month for Roswell, New Mexico, where they will make their home.

Hot weather plays havoc with strained nerves—especially during election times—and one may easily give offense by some thoughtless remark or a careless gesture. No use to fly off the handle about nothing and feel like a fool afterwards—Quannah Tribune-Clief.

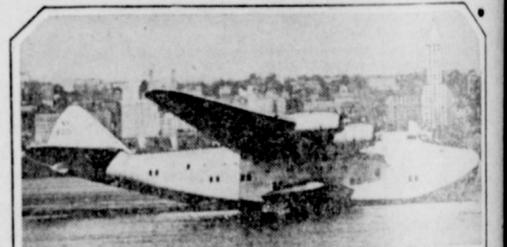

Reports from various sections of the country indicate that industrial productions and activity are now down to within a few points of the 1932 low-point. It is difficult to believe that this sad state of business can long persist, however. Business is always on the move, either surging forward or contracting. Like life, business does not stand still. Like the individual, business is able to rejuvenate itself and become strong and healthy after a period of sickness. Pent up demand for goods, injection of new methods and ideas into the business world, and general restoration of confidence in the future are the tonic which bring about trade recovery. These remedies are bound to work their cure in time. In fact many economists believe that recovery is even now in the making with its beneficial effects to take hold by fall.—Groom News.

Those who still believe in the ancient fallacy that the rich can pay the cost of government will be startled by a recent survey showing that if every one had to turn over to the government all income in excess of $5,000 a year the sum collected would pay only one fifth of the total cost of government—federal, state and local.—Happy Herald.

Talking will evidently not bring us out of the depression. If it would, we would certainly have been out long ago. May be if we all bucked down to doing a better job of our own work, and stopped talking, we would get some where. Certainly there would be a better feeling over the country.—McLean News.

Twenty years after the war 'to make the world safe for democracy' 35,000,000 out of Europe's 550,000,000 people are living under dictatorships in 12 European countries, and democracy is banished from four-fifths of the continental Europe. Woodrow Wilson must turn uneasy in his grave in the crypt of the National Cathedral in Washington at such a report.—Dalhart Texan.

Flying Atlantic Will Soon Be Mere Business Routine

REGULARLY scheduled passenger flights across the Atlantic! That much-talked-about and long-awaited aviation miracle is at hand. The British, German and French are making test flights across the ocean in planes designed for commercial use. By fall the conquest of the North Atlantic will be a business.

America will have an entrant, but she is in no great hurry to get into the race. In Seattle final testings of the Boeing 314 are being made. This world's largest plane, actually bigger than some of the ocean ships of the early explorers, will be operated by Pan-American Airways.

The 41-ton clipper, built at a cost of a million dollars, will fly across the Atlantic this fall; but it won't carry passengers until next year.

It's no small job testing such a behemoth. Getting the craft into the waters of Puget Sound was a real problem. The ship had to be turned sidewise, for her 152-foot wingspread was too great for the waterways. After that, the hundreds of phases of the ship's operation had to be tried. The engines were tested last. With all four of the 1500-horse

Flying Ants Take Charge Of His Home

Crosbyton Man Finally Calls Out Fire Department To The Rescue

Crosbyton Review.—Charles Metcalf, clerk in the T. George Dry Goods store, fought flying ants in his home on Sunday afternoon until he gave out, and then decided that something must be done about it so he turned in the fire alarm and brought the fire department to the rescue.

The ants invaded the home Sunday while the family was at church. They had completely covered the roof and were coming down the flue by the thousands, some being rolled together in balls as big as one's fist. They did not seem to be mad, Mr. Metcalf said, and did not show any particular fight. Mrs. Metcalf was the only one to receive a sting while the fight was on.

When the fire department arrived a hose was turned on the roof and the ants were soon washed off. The firemen then assisted in getting the insects out of the house. The ants returned again Monday afternoon to annoy the family, but not in as great a number as Sunday, Mr. Metcalf stated.

He said there were four or five ant beds in the yard and it is presumed this is where they originated.

Other Incidents Related
The experience of the Metcalfs brought to memory other incidents similar to this one. Ernest Smith said that ants got on his windmill tower one time and literally covered it, so that it was almost black. The ants were rolled into balls as large as your fists and hung down like a swarm of bees. Carl Ingram said he had a similar experience with the ants Sunday on his windmill.

Ingram brought up another insect story which happened here a few years ago. He said "Do you remember about the big black bug that invaded the streets and especially the court house some years ago? They were so thick that the city had to have them scooped up and hauled off in trucks." Ernest Smith backed off on this one. But the bug story happened to be true, as most of us can remember about the scoops and truck hauling them off.

Picture of a Man Falling 17 Floors—One of the most dramatic news pictures ever made, this photo shows John Ward falling to his death from the 17th floor of a New York hotel after keeping a crowd of 10,000 New Yorkers on edge for 11 hours while he paced the ledge outside the window of his room. Ward's body had just crashed through a steel and glass marquee when the picture was taken. Police and hotel attendants can be seen leaping out of the way.

hope, if I should have a husband also tonight, and should also bear sons;

13 Would ye tarry for them till they were grown? would ye stay for them from having husbands? nay, my daughters; for it grieveth me much, for your sakes, that the hand of the Lord is gone out against me.

14 And they lifted up their voice, and wept again; and Orpah kissed her mother in law, but Ruth clave unto her.

15 And she said, Behold, thy sister in law is gone back unto her people, and unto her gods; return thou after thy sister in law.

16 And Ruth said, Entreat me not to leave thee, or to return from following after thee: for whither thou goest, I will go; and where thou lodgest, I will lodge; thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God.

17 Where thou diest will I die, and there will I be buried: the Lord do so to me, and more also, if ought but death part thee and me.

18 When she saw that she was steadfastly minded to go with her then she left speaking unto her.

Time and Place: The date of the events of this lesson is not definitely fixed, but they took place probably in the 13th century B. C., between 1300 B. C. and 1200 B. C. Moab is the large district across the Jordan River, east of the Dead Sea, Gentile territory. Bethlehem is five miles south of Jerusalem.

A story of human devotion unexcelled in annals of literature is the story of Ruth. It begins with famine in the usually fertile land of Canaan. Because of a serious depression Elimelech, a farmer of Bethlehem, decided to go over into the country of Moab across the Jordan in search of better times. With him went his wife Naomi and his two sons, Mahlon and Chilion.

The family had not settled long in Moab when Elimelech died, and the two sons marrying Moabite women, the family seemed rooted in the new home. But 10 years later the two sons died, and now Naomi and her two daughters in law—Orpha and Ruth—were facing serious times.

Naomi, with her husband and her two sons gone, naturally thought of her old home near Bethlehem, and decided that she would go back. Her daughters-in-law went with her to the border of the country, though she urged them not to go with her but to return to their homes and find new husbands. Orpha, devoted but lacking the intensity of Ruth, kissed her mother-in-law farewell; but Ruth resisted every urging that she should go back, and in the famous words, "Entreat me not to leave thee," journeyed with her mother-in-law to Bethlehem.

Such devotions might have been natural on the part of a daughter toward her mother, or on the part of one of the same environment and race toward a beloved friend, but Ruth's devotion—as that of a daughter-in-law leaving her own home land—is remarkable. It is no wonder that such a firm spirit of devotion has found recognition in the sacred writings of the Jews.

Possibly in the glorification of Ruth there has been a tendency to forget the worth of Naomi. What a marvelous mother-in-law she must have been to evoke such devotion on part of two women who had married her sons in a strange land! We must realize also that in Ruth's fidelity there must have been something more than merely personal loyalty. She must have sensed in Naomi a quality of faith that led her to embrace the same religion and to share the same ideals.

We need not go into the latter part of the story of how Ruth gleaned in the fields of Bethlehem after the reapers, and found favor in the eyes of a kinsman of her husband who instructed the reapers to leave a little more than just the blades of wheat that were missed in harvesting. Suffice it to say that the story has a happy ending, and Ruth found some of the rewards of her faith and her fidelity.

It is a story of love and devotion between women, similar to that between men in the Bible story of David and Jonathan, and the story of Damon and Pythias.

WIND BLOWS DRAPES OVER LIGHTED LAMP; AND FIRE DAMAGES HOFFMAN HOME

As the Mr. and Mrs. John Hoffman sat on their lawn Sunday evening of last week, winds suddenly changing their course blew window drapes across a lighted lamp in the kitchen and before they could put out the blaze it had damaged paper, dining room furniture, drapes and crockery badly. They live five and a half miles north of Floydada.

The house had just recently been re-done before the blaze.

Ceta WMU Encampment Attendance Is Large

Three-Day Outing Enjoyed by Girls of District 9 Baptist W. M. U. Closed Last Night

Five hundred and sixty girls of District 9 Baptist W. M. U. attended the Ceta Canyon encampment Monday morning to Wednesday night. The Floydada contingent reached home last night after a wonderful three-day event.

Rev. and Mrs. Vernon Shaw of this city were camp registrars. They were accompanied by their son Kenneth. Much inspiration was received by the young ladies at the encampment through wise leadership afforded by their elders from over the area of District 9. Among the leaders present were Mrs. J. W. Ware, Dimmitt, who served as camp counselor, Rev. J. R. Hicks, Baptist pastor at Canyon, who served as camp pastor. There were more than 60 conversions and many recommitments, Mrs. Shaw said last night.

During the encampment Mrs. Shaw taught a YWA course, "The Larger Stewardship" and Rev. Shaw gave the principal message at the Tuesday morning service. Evelyn Hicks was on the Wednesday morning devotional program at the girls' hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Trussell, who were in Floydada during the revival closing last week, made the trip to Ceta Canyon with the Floydada group, and this morning departed for their home at Brownwood. They had charge of Tuesday night program.

Only two accidents marred the three-day encampment, neither of these proving serious. Tuesday night Madge Boyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Boyd of Plainview, fell from a 20-foot bluff. Her injuries first thought to be grave, were proven by x-ray examination not to be Wednesday afternoon late, following close of the camp, Mrs. Fay Whitener, of Levelland was injured in a car wreck near Tulla. The car overturned. She suffered broken ribs and rather severe lacerations.

In the Floydada party at the encampment, in addition to the pastor, his wife and son, Mrs. I. W. Hicks, Misses Evelyn, Mary Wilson and Lellafaye Hicks, Mrs. R. C. Henry, Vera Nell Marshall, Lellafaye Edith Shirey, Gene Sims, Florie Conway, Mrs. Virdene McCarty, Ruth and Doris Jordan of Center, and Ruth Hereford of Lubbock.

Jackson of Silverton. Junior study courses were taught by J. E. Rallsback of Levelland, Mrs. Mae Abbott of Bovina, missionary to the Mexicans in this district, and Mrs. D. C. Hamilton of Plainview. The two intermediate courses provided were taught by Mrs. C. C. Griffith, of Olton, and Mrs. W. H. Clark of Tulla. Mrs. J. W. Ware of Dimmitt taught the leaders course.

"Theme of the encampment was 'On a hilltop of vision,' based on the scripture, 'I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills from whence cometh my strength.'"

Home Canned Foods

(Prepared for the Hesperian by Mary Watson Jones, County Home Supervisor for Farm Security administration.)

The proper storing of canned food is a very important factor in efficient home management.

If the following suggestions are observed the chances for spoilage will be lessened and a convenient attractive pantry will result.

A storage room should be well ventilated, dry, clean, dark, free from odors, and cool, as a low storage temperature aide in preserving the quality of canned and stored foods.

Cellars, basements, "dougouts" and the "ventilated pantry," if properly constructed and ventilated, can be made to meet these requirements in Texas.

A ventilated pantry is one so constructed that the cool air which is stored up under the house is drawn slowly through the pantry during the day and keeps the foods in the pantry at approximately the same temperature as can be maintained in a cellar or other under ground storage place.

As important as the pantry itself are the containers and the way in which they are labeled and stored.

A well organized pantry makes meal planning easy because the general food divisions suggest the daily food need of the family.

As the top of any storage room is warmest and the bottom coolest, the following arrangement is suggested:

Top shelf—pickles, relishes, preserves, jellies and other sweets as they contain sugar and vinegar preservatives.

Next—fruits and tomatoes, and citrus, as they have natural acid preservative.

Below this—leafy, green, and yellow vegetables.

Other vegetables.

Canned meats should be placed on the lowest, and therefore coolest, shelf for canned foods.

SALT IN FIRE PAILS ENDS FREEZING AND MOSQUITOES

Fire pails kept full of water and hung conveniently near danger spots in the farm buildings make a simple form of fire fighting equipment for farms. One drawback is that the water is likely to freeze in winter and is likely to prove a breeding place for mosquitoes in summer.

A pound or more of common salt is each gallon of water will usually prevent freezing and mosquito breeding. When a farm building is at some distance from a water tank, a barrel holding 50 gallons or more of this strength of brine is a valuable supplement to fire pail.

More about fire safeguards for the farm is to be found in Farmers' bulletin 16643. A copy may be had from the United States Department of Agriculture in Washington, D. C.

No Fishing Around Floydada? Blanco Furnishes Fish Fry

Who says Floydada doesn't have good fishing right at home? Tuesday morning Mrs. Dora Reagan and her sister, Miss Rose Childers of Abilene, who came Friday for a visit, decided the weather was just right for fishing so they went to the Country club to indulge in the sport for the morning. Trying their luck for a time they decided to spend the day.

The two caught between twelve and fifteen pounds of fish with eight or ten cat fish measuring fourteen or fifteen inches in length. Late that afternoon they were so enthused over their catch they had a fish fry, then brought enough fish home for the next day and a divide with the neighbors.

Their guests for the fish fry were Mr. and Mrs. John Reagan and Mrs. Reagan's niece, Miss Ruth Payne of Ralls, Mr. and Mrs. W. U. White and son, Bob, Miss Honerhea and Robert Ashley Childers.

Mrs. Reagan intimated they were about ready to challenge some of the fishermen, who travel long distances and return home with tall stories.

S. T. Harris Believes He Has Found The Ant "Cure" For This Area

Simple Business Of Killing Out A Bed Of Ants When You Get The Right Idea, He Says

How to be rid of that big ant bed out on the edge of the lawn or under the walk has worried many a resident of Floydada and residents of most all of the south plains country as well.

And now comes S. T. Harris, last year winner of the award for the most attractive station and grounds on the highways of Floyd county, who believes he has the solution and a very simple one, if correctly followed. Also it is not one consisting of "drugs or chemicals or stinking mixtures of one kind or another," to quote the station man.

Follow these directions and see what result you get: First, turn the garden hose on the ant nest after scooping out a gallon or two of dirt to make a slight depression over it. Do not run the water fast but let it run slowly for two or three hours to completely fill the underground trails and soak up the surrounding ground. Then pour in a half gallon or gallon of kerosene, which, as the water recedes, will find its way into all the underground trailways, kill all the grown ants, the little ants and the eggs,—and there you are, rid of the ants, and just that simple.

Mr. Harris killed out a bed of ants right under his walk two years ago and they have never re-appeared although he had tried all the "remedies" and failed time after time prior to that. He has killed another bed or two close by in the same way this spring. The rather skeptical reporter wondered aloud if the ants stayed killed and Mr. Harris assured him they had.

"Just pass it on for what it is worth. It is not a complicated job and there is nothing to buy but a nickel's worth of kerosene," Mr. Harris said, and he had the evidence of where the ant beds used to be but are no more to substantiate his suggestion.

CHEESE IN THE DIET

There is a case on record of a young man who lived for two years on a daily diet consisting of one-half pound of cheese, a one-pound loaf of whole wheat bread and two pounds of fruit. While this limited diet might prove monotonous to some people, it is possible to utilize cheese as the easiest method of providing important food value, varying the diet, and simplifying meal preparation. For there are more than 200 distinctive varieties of cheese listed by the department of agriculture, ranging from the smooth, delicately flavored cream cheese, which may be given to very young children, to the sharp tancy cheese which is especially popular with men. Fortunately, almost every type can be purchased in packaged form, in sizes that are convenient for large and small families, making it possible to enjoy a wide variety.

Cheese can be used as a main dish; in salads or sandwiches; as a sauce for vegetables; as a dessert. It is desirable at the same time to serve bulky foods, such as fruits and vegetables. Cheese may also be combined advantageously with carbohydrate foods. This is because the balanced diet requires more carbohydrates than protein. And cheese is essentially a protein food, interchangeable with meats and fish.

GULF OF MEXICO MIGHT BE CIRCLED BY HIGHWAY

A highway 4,000 miles in length, encircling the Gulf of Mexico, is pictured by E. W. James of the Bureau of Public Roads as a dream of today that may be a reality tomorrow. The opening of the Overseas highway from the Florida mainland to Key West leaves only a few links to complete such a highway.

From Key West to Havana, a distance of 100 miles, the tourist would go by ferry. Thence he would traverse about one-fifth the length of Cuba to again ferry a distance of 180 miles to the Yucatan Peninsula in Mexico. Through roads do not yet exist in Yucatan but there are no serious obstacles to road construction. A road through Yucatan connecting with the improved Mexican highway system near Vera Cruz would close the only big gap in the route encircling the Gulf. About 600 miles of new road would have to be built. From Vera Cruz there already are modern roads to Mexico City and the United States, and along the Gulf coast to where the route begins.

IRRIGATION FARMER PAYS TOLL TO MOISTURE WASTERS

In irrigated regions—especially in the West—water is valuable. After it is brought to the farm at great expense. Studies by the United States Bureau of Agricultural engineering show that much of this water is wasted by native wild plants growing in and along ditches and canals carrying water to crops.

Such moisture wasters as willows, alders, cottonwoods, tules, and cattails often absorb and evaporate more water than an equal area in a crop. A thick stand along a small stream or irrigation ditch may drink it dry so that it ceases to flow.

Tules and cattails the engineers report, use more water than is evaporated from an exposed water surface, so that the shading of the water by the foliage and the checking of breezes over the surface do not result in a saving of water. These water-loving plants growing with their roots in water used as much as 93 acre-inches of water in a year—the equivalent of 93 inches of rainfall. Tules growing in a tank outside the swamp consumed 272 inches of water in a year.

Fred Nabors visited in DeLeon with his mother and other relatives the first of the week.

CHOOSE COLD DRINKS CAREFULLY

A cold drink is comforting on a hot day. And in addition, sweetened beverages help to relieve fatigue, for their carbohydrate content supplies available energy. Sugar is the least heating of the energy producing foods, for less than one-sixteenth of the energy it supplies to the body is converted into heat. The rest goes into brain and muscle power.

Therefore, one good way to prevent needless fatigue in summer is to take a cool, moderately sweetened drink whenever you feel tired during the day. This will satisfy thirst and ward off exhaustion like a rest by the road after a long hard tramp.

Too highly sweetened beverages, however, may be heating to the body, though they are cooling to the palate. For this reason, it is advisable for homemakers to mix their own cool drinks so that they can control the amount of sweetening used. It is possible to buy inexpensive packaged beverage crystals in a variety of flavors, which make delicious, refreshing and cooling drinks for general family use. One of these contains added vitamin D, and as the sugar is added by the home-maker you can be the judge of how much to use. This is an excellent idea, especially in households where there are children, for the home-made drink satisfies thirst, provides needed energy and discourages them from buying bottled beverages of doubtful purity.

Miss Bonnera Stephens of Lubbock spent Sunday with her father, Will Stephens and family.

ADAPTED STRAINS CREATE NEW WORK FOR SEEDSMEN

"Plant adapted seed" is good practical advice for most farmers, but the reverse warning, "Don't plant adapted seed," is just as practical for some growers who produce seed for the market.

Planting adapted seed has become more important to farmers recently as breeders have developed tailor-made strains of field, pasture, and vegetable plants, bred or selected to do best under specific conditions of soil and climate, and resistant to plant diseases. Farmers who grow seed for sale to neighbors find more advantage than ever in planting the best adapted varieties. Hybrid seed corn is a conspicuous example of how good adaptation means bushels in the crib.

Seed grown for distant market is different. Many plants do not seed well where they grow best, and vice versa. Development of adapted strains puts it up to the seed specialist to grow for seed the variety that will do best on the farms where the seed is to be planted.

Some Oregon growers have long specialized in red clover for seed. But H. A. Scotch, of the Bureau of Plant Industry, recently emphasized the need for them to weed out the common Oregon red clover, and to plant instead the seed of selected eastern blends that resist clover diseases common in the east. This eastern clover may not make a heavy crop in the west, but certified seed from the crop will find a good market because it is what the eastern growers must have if they are to grow clover in spite of the diseases that would attack plants of Oregon common.

Regulations for Hunters are Uniform

Department Issues Bulletin For Benefit Of Interested Sportsmen

STIN, Aug. 3—Dove hunters in Texas will not be subjected to a host of conflicting regulations such as those of last year, the department announced.

Compared to those of last year, 1938 regulations are fairly uniform. The combined state and federal laws covering both mourning and white-winged doves provide the following open seasons:

September 1 to October 31 for mourning doves in the counties of Yoakum, Terry, Lynn, Comal, Kent, Stonewall, Haskell, Beckmorton, Young, Jack, Wise, Brown, Collin, and Hunt, and all counties north thereof, and the counties of Parker, Tarrant, Dallas, Tarrant, Kaufman, Johnson, Hopkins, Delta and Franklin.

The remainder of the state the season on both species is from September 15 to November 15. In the Texas-Mexican railway in the Rio Grande valley, however, the open season for mourning doves is from September 1 to October 31 and for shooting each week during the open season will be allowed on Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday—but this exception is not applicable to Webb and Borden counties.

The hours for shooting mourning doves are from 7 a. m. to sunset. Neither species may be shot with a weapon other than a shotgun, and shall not be larger than No. 10 shot. If it is a repeating or automatic shotgun it must be permanently plugged to a three-shell capacity.

The daily bag limit is 15 in the aggregate of both mourning doves and white-wings. The possession limit also is 15 in the aggregate of both species. Bating of doves of either species is prohibited by federal regulations. Under new federal migratory waterfowl regulations announced recently Texas duck hunters will have 45-day open season this year compared to a 30-day open season in 1937, and in addition may shoot a limited number of species hitherto restricted.

The open season on ducks and geese, Wilson's snipe or jacksnipe, and coot, is from November 15 to December 29.

The open season on rails and gallinules, except coot, is from September 1 to November 30.

Not only has the open season on ducks and geese been lengthened, but the possession limits have been increased to 10 in the aggregate.

The bag limit on ducks, except the wood duck, is 10 in the aggregate of all kinds, the same as last season, but the possession limit has been doubled to 20 in the aggregate.

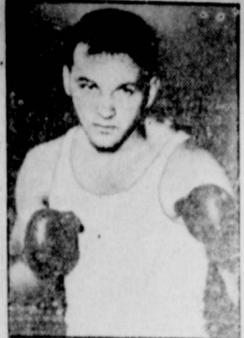

This season hunters may take three canvasbacks, redheads, buff-breasted or ruddy ducks in their daily bag, or an aggregate of three birds of the different species. The possession limit for these ducks is six or any single species, or six in the aggregate.

The daily bag limit on geese and brant is five in the aggregate of all kinds, and the possession limit has been increased to 10 in the aggregate.

The daily bag limit on rails and gallinules, except coot and coot, is continued at 15 in the aggregate of all kinds. The possession limit is the same.

Bag limits for some of the other migratory game birds are Sora, 15; coot, 25; Wilson's snipe or jacksnipe, 15. In each case the possession limit may not exceed the daily bag limit. A new federal regulation added this year forbids the rallying of coot for hunting.

As was the case last year, waterfowl and coot may be hunted in season from 7 a. m. to 4 p. m. Not more than two days' bag

Pride Urged In Patron's Mail Boxes

Postmaster Tells Of Clean Up Rural Mail Box Week August 1-6

Pride in the rural mail box, the invaluable possession of the farm, is urged this week by Postmaster Barbara H. Smith, with the launching of a campaign known as "Clean Up Rural Mail Box Week." August 1-6.

The mail box, once the family's one and almost only contact with the outside world, until the advent of the automobile and the radio, is coming back into its own. Post office department authorities have turned their attention to the rural mail boxes in an effort to improve a condition that has been reported as acute. Here are some of the things that will be urged:

Every rural mail patron will be urged to replace old, weather beaten mail boxes with new ones. He will be asked to straighten the wobbly standard on which the mail box sets, if it has started drooping, to repaint the box and make the lettering clearer, and cut weeds and improve grounds around the box. Rural mail carriers will join in the campaign here.

"The condition of the mail box is really a serious matter," post office authorities are quoted as saying. "The box is the receptacle for millions of dollars worth of money orders, documents and invaluable letters."

If the box is so antique as to be unsightly, the subscriber will be urged to obtain a new one. These are in two sizes, a small No. 1 box and a larger No. 2 box for parcel post packages.

"Unserviceable and unsightly rural mail boxes both retard the delivery of mail and detract from the natural scenic beauty of the highway," it is pointed out. "It is the desire of the post office department not only to correct the unsatisfactory situation but also to encourage all rural mail patrons to possess pride in their boxes."

Mrs. R. L. Trice and her brother S. E. Brewer left Tuesday for Electra for a visit with their father J. R. Brewer who has been ill. At present he is much improved and the son and daughters, plans were indefinite as to how long they would be gone.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Rankin and daughter, Leota, of Elk City, Oklahoma, were guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Henderson and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Tubbs. Mrs. Rankin is a sister to Mrs. Tubbs and Mr. Henderson.

Dillard Scott who for the past two weeks has been in bed with bronchitis and fever is up and thought to be on the road to recovery. He will not be able to return to work for several days however.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hinson and children, Emmett Earl, Herschell and Beth, spent Sunday in Lubbock visiting with Mr. Hinson's sister, Mrs. S. S. Alcorn and family.

Hesperian Opens New Quaker Oats Advertising Drive

Selected to participate in the new national advertisement campaign on Quaker Oats, the Hesperian today prints the first of a series of eight advertisements that are being run in support of this product in the Floyd County market.

Other advertising media chosen by The Quaker Oats Company for this new campaign include 400 daily newspapers, a large list of Sunday newspaper rotogravure sections and two magazines widely distributed with newspapers, "The American Weekly" and "This Week."

Local grocers are cooperating with this extensive drive to publicize the health benefits and economy of Quaker Oats as a year-round cereal. Oatmeal is nature's richest, economical food source of Thiamin (Vitamin B), the food element that is essential for sound nerves and good digestion. In fact, scientific research has shown that without Thiamin good health is impossible. Thiamin is not stored in the body. This means everybody should have fresh daily supplies, say dietetic authorities.

Mothers who have been impressed by the healthy growth and sound progress of those world-famous Canadian Misses, the Dionne Quins, will be interested in learning that Thiamin is richly contained in oatmeal. Throughout the critical growing period, oatmeal has been an important part of the Quins' diet. In fact, Quaker Oats is the brand of oatmeal given full approval by authorities in charge of the Quins care and feeding.

Don't put up with useless PAIN

Get rid of it

When functional pains of men-struation are severe, take CARDUL. If it doesn't benefit you, consult a physician. Don't neglect such pains. They depress the tone of the nerves, cause sleeplessness, loss of appetite, wear out your resistance.

Get a bottle of Cardul and see whether it will help you, as thousands of women have said it helped them.

Besides easing certain pains, Cardul aids in building up the whole system by helping women to get more strength from the food they eat.

HOME DOLLARS "Blown Away" MAKE COMMUNITY

"Dust Bowls"

The forces of soil erosion have scattered and destroyed the rich agricultural wealth of many sections.

In the same way, dollars "blown away" in needless outside buying can cause serious damage to the prosperity of any community.

Randall Dam Project Excites Interest Of Local Men Wednesday

Group Of Floyd County Business Men, Officials See Work Under Way Near Umbarger

That the Randall county dam project, now under construction with water backing up from a nine hundred foot dam fifty feet high and with roads and paths through it being laid out to make it a great recreation center, is something really elaborate and worthwhile, is the report of a contingent of Floydada chamber of commerce representatives, who visited the dam project yesterday. The trip was made in company with Commissioner A. S. Cummings and Judge-elect G. C. Tubbs. Judge Tom W. Deen, on account of illness in his family, could not make the trip. Randall county authorities visited the dam project with the Floyd county visitors. Interest here centers on the possibility of a similar project on Blanco canyon, where it is hoped to get construction of a dam. T. P. Collins, Marvin English, G. L. Kirk, Conner Oden, with the county officials named, made the visit at the Umbarger dam site. Every member of the party was impressed with the thorough job

County Board Names New Dist. Trustees, Plan More Meetings

Floyd county school board in session Monday heard several discussions of local school problems, named two new school trustees and re-classified three schools. Harry Hartman and John Smitherman, of South Plains, were appointed trustees there to succeed Wilbur Wilson and A. W. Martin, respectively resigned, and the South Plains school was re-classified to teach 9 grades. At the same meeting Lakeview was re-classified to teach 9 grades and Campbell to teach 6. Approval of a bus driving contract for Lakeview with Homer Newberry

Cotton Progress Good; Half-Grown Boll Found In Field South Of Town

Progress of the cotton crop in Floyd and neighboring counties the past week has been exceptionally good. Stalks are building up compactly and fruiting heavily is the general report. Both irrigated and unirrigated cotton are fruiting very satisfactorily, the heat wave adding to the fine appearance of the plant. While all cotton is not so far advanced in the area, an indication of how it is doing is given in the finding of a fully half grown boll of cotton in one of the J. Matt Harder fields twelve miles south of town. Bill Scott brought the boll to The Hesperian office for display. The short acreage of cotton in this country will fruit all it can mature in the next two or three weeks, it is believed, and generally the moisture under the ground is ample to carry the crop through for some time.

was given. Newberry will transfer high school students to Floydada under his agreement. A special meeting on next Monday and one the following Monday beginning at 2 o'clock will be held by the board. Approval of the superintendent's office budget and the hearing of transfer protests, which must be made in August, will have the attention of the body J. F. Dollar, Judge J. W. Howard and J. T. McLain were members of the board present for the meeting. Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Rosson and son, Barry, of Lubbock, are here for a visit of several days with Mrs. Rosson's mother, Mrs. A. D. White and other relatives. Mr. Rosson will go to the Veterans Hospital at Albuquerque New Mexico for treatment while they are on a vacation.

J. S. Collins was in town Tuesday after a week's illness due to extraction of several teeth. Urin Howard of Lubbock visited today and Friday with his sister Mrs. John Reagan and Mr. Reagan.

Good Feed Crop

Equally as good as the cotton report is the outlook for feed crops. There is a big variance in the age of the fields of maize, hedges and alfalfa. While many thousands of acres are maturing, more thousands are still young and could be affected by a bad August season. However, roughage in great abundance is in prospect and an ample crop of heads appears certain.

Good Looking Checks Turn Out To Be Phoney Here And At Lockney

Two Floydada business men and at least one Lockney firm would like to meet a man who has at least three names and who has $23 each of their money, obtained by the use of highly spurious but very good appearing checks. Written on a mill and feed company in Fort Worth, the checks were made out for wages, but no such mill exists the holders of the checks learned after the checks had been returned here. The false instruments were passed here and at Lockney on about July 16.

County Attorney Winfred P. Newsome has been conferring with the check holders and checking up in Fort Worth in an attempt to trace down the check passer. He used two names in Floydada and another at Lockney. According to hearsay he also operated in Hale county towns on the same or the following day. Each one of the checks was for $23.

Funds for the Floyd county schools was expected to reach Floydada today, it was said at the First National bank. That portion of the funds for Floydada Independent School district was received yesterday.
