McElroy Says Deep Well Irrigation Will Pay Under Proper Management

Bluntly answering the question, "Will deep well pumping pay?" County Agent Lee McElroy today replied, "Yes—under proper management, as it has been proved in Parmer county."

Management, knowing when to water what and how much, in conjunction with the rainfall received, is the key to the whole irrigation idea, McElroy stressed here today. There is no way to ascertain how much crop a well will water, he added, since rainfall is variable. "Some years, 100 acres of row crop is all a 1,000-gallon well (which most of them are in Parmer County) can handle; at other times, the well will capably handle 100 acres of row crop and say, 40 acres of alfalfa."

Irrigation interest is increasing in the county, McElroy pointed out reporting that 32 wells were in operation during 1945 and the number has already been increased by 12 this year. He added, "more wells would be put in if the deep pumps were available."

Taken generally, most of the wells in this county are located in the southern and eastern part of the county, on the south side of the Amarillo highway. About one-third are on the north side of the highway. Cost of installation in the county varies from $4,000 in the east and south, where water is found at 150-200 feet, to $6,000-10,000 in the north portion, where wells generally run a good deal over 200 feet deep.

Production Increase Shown

Getting down to a discussion of production, McElroy cites Lubbock experiment station figures, which show an increase on hegarl of 39.3 bushels per acre during a period of three years under irrigation. The amount of water required for this increase was nine acre inches, applied during March, July, and August. August 15 is the critical time, as soil moisture is the lowest and grain sorghum is in the fruiting stage, he added.

Cotton receiving irrigation increased 149 lbs., lint cotton per acre with two irrigations, one in March and one in April. No other extra water should be added as delayed opening of bolls may reduce yields. The two waterings were three acre inches each, an acre inch being approximately 27,154 gallons of water. Under average conditions the cost of producing increase in yield can be estimated by the cost of applying the required number of acre inches.

Illustrating the advisability of irrigation, McElroy quotes the following as regards the 18 inches average rainfall on level land, stating that 31 percent comes in showers too small to all subsoil moisture, and the other 69 percent is divided as follows: 14 percent runs off or collects in low spots; 35 percent evaporates before being absorbed, and 20 percent soaks in to give permanent subsoil moisture. Of this last 20 percent, a good 3 percent is lost in cultivating with the plant actually using 17 percent, or three inches of what rain falls. The figures, he adds are from the Oklahoma Experiment Station.

Water requirements of plants, where none is lost by surface or run-off are: barely, four

ATTENDED DISTRICT MEETING

Friona ladies who attended the district meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association at Dalhart, last week, were Mmes. Glenn Reeve, Wesley Hardesty, and H. T. Magness. They report an interesting and worthwhile program.

LEGION MEETING

The American Legion will hold its regular meeting on Tuesday night of next week, May 7. A full attendance is desired.

DIAMOND SPARKLES

There is a ball game scheduled for the Friona diamond, Sunday, with the Hereford team. It is expected to be a well matched game.

Lefty Smith is expected to be on hand and help pitch. He pitched for Berger in the West Texas League in 1942.

Most of the Friona team will be young players and they all look like they will play winning games.

We hope to pick a playing manager and a business manager, captain, coach, secretary and treasurer, and we hope to match games with strong teams.

The Friona diamond will be in the southwest part of town, on the flat. Game time is 3:00 p. m. and we hope to have a large crowd out for the first game. It will be a free gate, only try to help out some when they pass the hat around.

The business houses have given to help buy playing equipment, and new suits. Next week we hope to give a list of all who have given to the fund. We also hope to see and hear more of the American Legion team. Be there, Sunday at 3 p. m.

WEATHER HERE

Weather here has been about on a par with that of the previous two or three weeks. Almost summer heat during the middle of the day, but cooler in the mornings and late evenings.

Otherwise, the monotonous dry spell was slightly broken by a very light sprinkle of rain about six o'clock Sunday afternoon, but scarcely enough to wet the pavements. This was followed by a light shower at about four o'clock Monday afternoon, when enough rain fell to lay the dust at Friona, but extended but a short distance north and west. The heavier appearance of clouds to the south and east indicated a good rain was falling farther out in those directions.

acre inches per ton of dry matter; alfalfa or clover, five acre inches per ton; grain sorghum, 2.3 acre inches per ton; and potatoes, 3.4 acre inches per ton. "The above figures," the agent added, "are based on actual soil moisture and are not the surface application. Plants requirement figures are from the University of Wisconsin." "All in all," McElroy concluded, "figures from experiment stations, as well as actual experience in this county, prove that deep well irrigation can and does pay off—always providing that proper management is exercised."

AIRPORT NEWS

Lt. Dick Moore and wife, of Amarillo, were visitors at the Airport Sunday. Dick was one of Elvie Jennings' students in Army Primary. He is now stationed at the field at Amarillo.

Two men of Clovis flew over in a Fairchild Sunday, to visit relatives at Friona.

Glenn Stevick was out giving some of his friends a ride in the Ryan.

Raymond Adams was out working on his Cub, after which he tested it and now says it flies better than any plane on the field.

We finally saw that familiar face, belonging to Tiney Magness. Soon after he arrived the wind began to blow and everybody was put to work putting the planes in the hangars.

FRIONA'S BUILDING PROGRAM

The building program in this city is moving slowly but steadily forward and some day we will most surely have a goodly number of new houses.

Some of them are apparently nearing the stage of completion, as is the case with the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kater Crume, Forrest Osborn and Frank Truitt.

Dan Ethridge is gradually getting his home to a stage of comfortable living quarters, and quite a neat home it will be when completed.

About four of the F. S. Truitt houses on Block 48, are gradually arriving at the state of completion, with another with the frame work only erected.

M. H. Sylvester is pouring the material for the concrete floor of his new building this week. The building is 47 feet by 75 feet, has an oval or semi-circular roof, and has no supporting timbers on the inside, thus leaving the entire floor space for the machinery and equipment of the up-to-date machine shop that will be installed.

Great heaps of materials are on the ground for the building of a large building, on the northeast corner of Block 12, on the south side of the highway. It is rumored that this building, when completed, will house a modern equipped steam laundry.

It is rumored that the officials of the local community hospital will begin building operations within a few weeks. Rumor only!

Hospital Notes

Mr. Walker, the architect, was here Tuesday to show us more work he has done on the final steps of the building plans, and for a conference concerning the size of autoclave and X-Ray, as well as other details about the building. He and his workers are rushing the work as much as possible, and according to his word, within thirty or forty days plans should be completed and ready for a contract.

No doubt this seems slow to many of us, but let us remember that times are not normal, and that we have only been at the task since September. Perhaps our progress will turn out to be unusual after all. May we remind ourselves again to be patient and determined. Could we work on any thing so worthwhile?

J. E. Davis who was hospitalized here for several days has been taken to Dallas for further treatment.

Larry Welch, small son of Mr. and Mrs. France Welch, is in the

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE

Rev. E. E. Houlette was pleasantly surprised on his fifty-first birthday, April 25, 1946.

His children and twin brother, Eustace Houlette and family of Clovis, and Mr. and Mrs. George McLean of this city, came in at supper time and took over. After supper singing and visiting took the time until a late hour, when all departed, wishing many more returns of the day to the twins. There were twenty-four present.

H. C. Davis departed Tuesday for Caldwell, Idaho, where he goes to visit a daughter and her husband. Clay stated that he plans to be away until the coming winter, but may be back within a couple of months. He made arrangements for the Star to visit him each week while he is away.

COGITATIONS and APHORISMS of Jodok

It is most encouraging, enlivening, cheering and mollifying to people of a morose and peevish disposition, (and speaking from personal experience) to note the very great number of people who are lovers of poetry, and more so to one of the masculine persuasion, to further note that not, by any means, are these lovers of poetry all women.

But, just what is poetry? Is it more than the expression of sentiment either lofty and sublime, or that of a degenerating nature, in words so arranged as to produce a rhyme at the end of certain lines or, more properly speaking, verses, of written language.

As one sees it, poetry has, as it were, a soul, and is a living existence in its own behalf, has a power within itself for comforting sorrow, allaying grief, promoting happiness or defending the right. It brings its message in a manner or spirit of condolence or of uplifting praise and edification and for banishing or overcoming morosity, petulance and other debasing passions.

As a rule, but not always, it springs from a heart overflowing with love, sympathy and abnegation for the sake of the afflicted and otherwise less fortunate. This muse is used for the expression of all the finer passions rather than those that are crude and rough. The psalmist, sometimes referred to as the "Sweet Singer of Israel," use this spirit of poetry to pour out the fullness of his heart in his praises, adoration and reverence for The Most High, and he also includes his morosity and feelings of revenge and almost of detestation for his enemies, and for all whom HE thinks are not in tune with the will of the Creator. He also uses the muse to express his solicitude for the sinner, and his imprecations the willful evil and the disdainful.

It should not be understood that this harangue is putting forth the argument that everything is sometimes classed as poetry is good, clean, wholesome and uplifting, for such is not the case. There are many places where one may find scribbled words that express sentiments of the most degrading, disgusting and filthy that the mind of man is capable of; but it would require such stretching that it would probably crack the imagination, to call it poetry. As an old neighbor used to say—"There just haint no sich."

As is stated above, poetry is more, much more, than a jingle of rhymes. It is a spirit unto itself, but one cannot define it any more than he can define Life, Love, light, soul, truth and a long list of other virtues and passions. It is evidently cosmic in its origin and therefore sublime, and must be absorbed by the individual, rather than created within him, before he can exude or shed it abroad.

According to what has been stated above, some will say that it must be a God-given propensity. Yea, verily. In such a case the argument will arise, that more people are not endowed with than there are who have been so blest, therefore, it is an unjust decree on the part of this divine dispenser of gifts, that he is unfair or he would have equally endowed all his creatures in this respect.

Yea, verily, it does seem so at first thought, but verily, nay, nay. "Breathes there a man with soul so dead, who never to himself has said, "This is my own, my native land." If any such there be, then truly there is to be whom God has not given this appreciation of poetry. But the person suffering such an injustice has not yet been found. True, it may not appeal to him in the form of meter, rhythm or rhyming words, but he will be found to be blest with the spirit in some other form, for they are many and varied. We have heard of the music of the spheres, the song of the stars, the voice of spring and many other such expressions and all these are poetry in one form or another.

A very, very good friend says he cares nothing for poetry, but his wife is a great lover of it as expressed in meter and rhyme. Then, probably within the same conversation, he tells how he loves to watch the plants in his garden grow. How he loves to watch the inherent actions of his young chickens, and the shrewdness of the wild birds that come to share their food with them. How the spider in its garden digs its burrow or den in the ground then covers it with a roof of its own manufacture that keeps out the rain and intruding enemies, but the same roof raises easily and noiselessly when the sun shines brightly or when the owner wishes to come out to gather food or for exercise. He also loves to watch the trains of ants as they move from one lodging to a new one, and note their almost human intelligence that is expressed in more ways than one. Yet he does not like poetry and says it has no appeal to him. Deluded man.

It is probable that a book and more books could be written on the subject of poetry, so it is of little use to try to exhaust the subject here in this feeble fusion. Therefore the least we can do is to be grateful that such a sublime and delightful spirit has been shed here to bless and enoble a world so filled with evil tendencies.

We cannot avoid a feeling of regret that so many of the old masters of the art of poetry, have served their time and passed on to their reward, but in the same breath we can express our gratitude that they have so lived and left their works here with us for our unlimited benefit. Whether or not there are others being born with soggreat a share of the favors of this muse, one cannot knowingly say.

However, there are abundant evidences that some are born with the gift of rhyming, but whether or not they have been endowed with the gift of expressing poetry in that form, remains to be seen, and for just a little diversion, the following ironical sample is given:

"Papa Moses shot a skunk,
Mama Moses cooked a hunk,
Baby Moses ate a chunk—
"Holy Moses," how he stunk."
—Author Unknown

And now the time and space is all used up and scarcely a word of what was intended has been said. Too bad.

Bids Are Opened by REA for Construction Of 245 Miles of Line; Two Sub-Stations

Bids were opened Tuesday morning by the Deaf Smith County Rural Electric Cooperative for the construction of 245 miles of extensions and two new sub-stations.

Walco Engineering Construction Company of Tulsa was the low bidder on the project at $253,476.85. Reinhart and Donovan of Oklahoma City was second low, and the Electric Construction Company of Borger was third.

H. N. Roberts, resident engineer, of Lubbock has recommended acceptance of the low bid, according to project manager Leo Forrest. However, due to a question of certain clauses in the contracts, no contracts have been officially signed as yet, Forrest said, and the three low bids have been submitted to the REA for approval.

There were nine bidders on the project. In addition to those named, they were Telcamp Electric Company of Dallas, Eugene Ashe Electric Company of Fort Worth, H. B. Zachry Co. of San Antonio, Broome Electric Company of Amarillo, Gable Electric Service Company of Dallas, and Taylor and Montgomery of Lubbock.

Bids were opened at the annual meeting of members of the Cooperative at ten o'clock Tuesday morning.

The contracts call for construction of 215 miles of single phase line, 19 miles of 3-phase line for irrigation service, 11 miles of tie lines, 42 irrigation banks, one 3,000 KVA sub-station located 6 miles south of Hereford, and a 600 KVA sub-station located south of the city limits of Dimmitt.

The longest extension will be 150 miles in Castro and south Parmer counties serving the Bethel-Flagg community areas. There are short taps scattered throughout the project in Deaf Smith and Parmer counties, and one extension south of Nazareth is included.

Largest Cattle Sale In Years Brings $170,000

One of the largest cattle transactions in recent years was recorded here this week when 41 cars of steers went to Kansas City Producers and were re-sold to a buyer in New York. The total transaction was close to $170,000, and the cattle brought $15.50 in the final sale.

The bulk shipment was made by L. B. Godwin, but also included eight cars sold by Cecil Guseman. The Godwin steers were exceptionally large bringing close to $150 each.

SUNDAY LESSON

Simon's Strength Came From Jesus' Friendship, Prayer

The International Sunday School
Scripture: John 1:42; Mark 8:27-29; Luke 22:34-37, 61-62; John 21:15-17; Acts 9:40

There are some men who are so settled and uniform in their ways and habits, so fixed in character and psychological reactions, that their attitudes and actions in any situation could be predicted.

There are other men whose characters and actions are as unpredictable as New England weather. Pent up within them are great forces and possibilities for good or for evil. They may become great builders and benefactors; or they may become ruthless destroyers.

Peter was of this unpredictable sort, strongly impulsive and intense, ready to risk everything on a great adventure; easily discouraged.

His name was Simon, but Jesus called him Peter, that is, "a rock," perhaps in playful allusion to his unrocklike character.

"Simon, Simon," said Jesus, "Satan hath desired to have you that he may sift thee as wheat; but I have prayed for thee, that thy faith fail not; and when thou art converted, strengthen thy brethren." (Luke 22:31-32.) That is the key to the life history of Peter. Jesus was his friend.

So Jesus prayed for him, and that was Peter's source of power.

The braggart, boasting that though all men might deny Jesus, yet would not he, and then thrice denying that he knew Him, became the penitent Peter, weeping bitterly, and the humble Peter, confident but no longer boastful, assuring his Master, "Lord, thou knowest all things; thou knowest that I love thee."

This was the Peter who had found the faith that could not fail—the same Peter who stood up on the Day of Pentecost and preached the bold and courageous sermon under which three thousand were saved, and he could defy his enemies with the plain words, "We ought to obey God rather than men."

And the Christ who prayed for Peter prays for us all. What men we might be, if we would let God work out in us the answer to that prayer!

Harry Schultz Is Candidate for District Judge

Harry Schultz, in a letter from Fort Lewis, Washington, where he is stationed as an officer in the Judge Advocate General's department of the army, has authorized The Brand to announce his candidacy for the office of District Judge of the 69th Judicial district, subject to the Democratic primary in July.

A summary of his record and platform follows:

Because I have been in the army the past five years and absent from the district, it is necessary, in announcing as a candidate for the office of District Judge of the 69th Judicial District, to introduce myself to many of you by briefly relating my background and my qualifications for that office.

I am nearly 44 years old, married and have one daughter. I am a Presbyterian, and have been a resident of Dalhart the past 23 years. While in my second year of high school it was necessary for me to take a night job with the Rock Island Railroad in order to help other members of my family and to continue my schooling. I am still on the roster of its employees. In my spare time I pursued my interest in law by home study.

... Grapefruit Go Squoosh!

This smashup at Phoenix, Ariz., involved a passenger car and a truck loaded with grapefruit. Better drive carefully for the other fellow as well as yourself.

With such money as I could save and borrow I attended Cumberland University Law School at Lebanon, Tennessee, and then was admitted to the bar in Texas in 1926.

Soon thereafter I started to practice law. The people of Dallam County have been most kind to me by electing me four times as their County Attorney, and once as their County Judge and Ex-officio Superintendent of Schools. Meanwhile I had also become interested in military law. By several hundred hours of home study I qualified

For District Judge

Harry Schultz of Dalhart, former Dallam County judge and officer in the Judge Advocate General's Department of the U. S. Army, has announced his candidacy for the office of District Judge. A statement of his candidacy and platform appears on page 8.

for and was commissioned in 1936 as a Reserve Officer in the Judge Advocate General's Department of the U. S. Army. The commission obligated me to serve on active duty in the army for the duration of any emergency or war.

When the national emergency developed in 1941, I was ordered to active duty in the army in the month of May. This necessitated my resigning as County Judge of Dallam County. The national emergency conditions that have still existed since the fighting has ended are now rapidly coming to an end.

For nearly two years I served as Staff Judge Advocate at Camp Wolters, and the past three years I have been Staff Judge Advocate of the 2nd Infantry Division. My duties have always been those of legal advisor to all military personnel—from the newest private to Lieutenant General. During this time the "Indian head Division" served about two years in the E. T. O., and it was in combat from D day plus one to V. E. Day. On V. J. Day we happened to be in the United States enroute to the Pacific to help wind up that war.

During my service overseas, in six different countries, I had occasion to observe so much evidence of oppression and injustice in all degrees and forms, that it will always stand uppermost in my mind that our liberties and justice cannot be too zealously guarded and preserved. Among my daily duties, it has been my privilege and pleasure as legal assistance officer, to assist everyone in the military service needing the assistance of a lawyer in connection with personal problems. Most of those problems have been the same kind that people normally have in civilian life, but they were complicated by the circumstances connected with the individual being then in the military service, or overseas, or both.

Because of my long legal experience in civilian life, I am thoroughly familiar with the problems of the people of the district. From my military service I understand the problems of those now serving in the armed forces and those who have served in becoming readjusted to civilian life.

"In many ways the success in meeting the problems of the returning veteran will be the acid test of our democracy." (Report of Bernard M. Baruch to the President.)

I expect to make a thorough campaign and to meet every possible voter in the district. Meanwhile if you believe that I am qualified and worthy of serving you as District Judge, I will be grateful for your support and vote in the Democratic primaries in July.

Highway Patrol To Crack Down On Drivers Without State Licenses

Spurred by the recent wave of traffic accidents and fatalities in the Panhandle, the Texas Department of Public Safety has ordered highway patrolmen to make a thorough check of auto drivers to see that driver's licenses are in order, according to Patrolman J. C. Reece.

A considerable number of licenses have expired and have not been renewed, Reece said, all drivers who are not carrying valid licenses are warned to get them at once.

Examinations for drivers licenses are held each Tuesday at the County Courtroom in Hereford. An examiner is on duty in the courtroom every Tuesday to take applications for drivers licenses and to give the required examinations.

Ex-servicemen are permitted to drive without a license for a period not to exceed 6 months after discharge, but should carry a copy of their discharge papers with them at all times until a valid state driver's license has been secured.

"The highway patrol has received orders to arrest every person driving a motor vehicle on a public highway who does not have the required class of Driver's License," Reece said.

Wayne B. Stark, Jr., who is in the service and stationed at Georgetown, where he is attending a government school, spent the Easter holidays here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne B. Stark, Sr., who carried him back to his post in the car.

Hop Lewis, formerly of the Sea Bees, arrived home this week.

Mrs. Jess Sparkman of Amarillo, spent a part of last week here in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Glenn Reeve, and looked after her boys while she was in attendance at the P-TA meeting at Dalhart.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hudson and boys, Derrell, Buddy and Jack, of Clovis, visited friends here, Sunday evening.

ANSWERS TO Test Your I. Q.

1. No. It was brought from Europe, and cross-breeding with fowl from the Far East, original home of the hen, has made many American breeds superior to similar breeds in other lands.
2. Engulfment by lava. Hilo lies near the great volcano Mauna Loa, and was threatened with extinction in 1936.
3. A fish, drawn in earth or traced in the air. Symbol was chosen because the initial letters of the Greek words "Jesus Christ, God's Son, Saviour" when combined spelled ichthos, Greek word for fish.
4. 1,000,000 tons a month, to feed 100,000,000 people.
5. About 350,000. Botanists believe there are around 150,000 varieties remaining undiscovered.
