Periwinkle House

By OPIE READ

NOTHER tale of the old South by America's greatest story-teller. Mr. Read is the last of the able novelists born prior to the Civil war. He was old enough during that conflict to have a clear recollection of it and to retain some accurate impressions of ante-cellum times. As a re-sult, he has been the romantic historian par excellence of Dixie.

"Periwinkle House" is not a long novel; rather, a novelette, but it is the latest work of Opic Read and therefore an event in literature. It contains some new manifestations of the author's humor and philosophy, some character types, a love story, and a treatment of episodes, all entirely different from anything heretofore written by him. Reading it is like turning back the pages of time and going into an earlier and more romantic period.

STATE DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM ADOPTED

Anti-Klan Planks Are Not Included in Platform. To Back Prohibition.

San Antonio, Tex.-Adoption of a platform condemning the present republican administration and its proposed Fordney-McCumber tariff, denouncing the Esch-Cummins transportation act and committing the party to a strict enforcement of prohibition laws, and formal nomination of Earle B. Mayfield for the United States senate. Governor Pat M. Neff for that office, and State Senator T. W. Davidson for lieutenant governor, concluded the work of the state democratic convention, which adjourned sine die Wednesday afternoon.

Efforts of a minority of the platform committee to split the convention on the Ku Klux Klan issue failed when the motion to table the report brought in by them attacking the klan was carried by the overwhelming majority of 6911/2 to 1351/4 votes.

BOLL WEEVIL DOES DAMAGE TO COTTON

Bugaboo of Southern Planters Has Record Year in Destroying Cotton Crop.

Washington.-The boll weevil, destroyer of potential wealth in cotton and bugaboo of the cotton grower, had a record year and did itself proud in the fields of the South last year by preventing production of 6,277,000 bales of cotton which with the seed that would have been ginned, was worth $610,341,000 based on farm prices of Dec. 1 last.

A careful study of the damages to cotton by the boll weevil and other causes has just been concluded by the department of agriculture, whose report shows that during the thirteen years, 1909-1921, the hypothetical value of the prevented production of cotton from all causes totaled $11,473,599,000. Of that amount the boll weevil damage amounted to $3,102,152,000. The farm value of cotton, including seed, produced in those thirteen years aggregated $15,646,523,000 or an average of $1,203,578,700 a year.

Actual production of cotton in those thirteen years aggregated 159,648,000 bales, while damage from all sources aggregated 109,423,000 bales, of which the boll weevil is credited with preventing production of 28,776,000 bales. The potential production of cotton in the United States for those years therefore aggregated 269,082,000 bales of an average of 20,698,615 bales yearly, while the reduction of the crops because of the damage from all sources average 8,418,000 bales annually and the boll weevil's average toll 2,213,538 bales yearly. From point of loss in production through all causes 1921 was a record year. The estimated potential production aggregates 18,666,000 bales. prevented production being 10,712,000 bales, for which the boll weevil was responsible for 6,277,000 bales. The actual production was 7,954,000 bales. Prevented production, therefore, far exceeded the actual crop and the weevil caused a reduction equal to 79 per cent of the actual crop. The loss from all causes in 1921 was 163.1 pounds per acre. The nearest approach to that figure was in 1909 when the loss was 144.9 pounds per acre, and the smallest loss was in 1911 with 91.5 pounds.

BEE INDUSTRY IN WEST TEXAS IS EXPANDING

Stamford, Tex.-The territory embraced by the activities of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, seventyfour counties in number, produce annually approximately 1,143,127 pounds of honey and 19,207 pounds of beeswax, valued at $3,476,000, according to the research department of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. The figures are based on the government cen-

The research department explains that the figures in the foregoing statement do not include those for the production of honey by wild bees, which, it is asserted, may be assumed as immense. In some western counties cliffs and caves of streams are tenanted by these busy bees, storing up ton after ton of honey for consumption in win-"I'm going to measure the distance ter by their "armies." Near Austin, I jumped. I believe I exceeded my years ago, bees were extremely populous, inhabitating the numerous caves along the Colorado and tributaries. Such conditions obtain to a more or less degree on the Llano, San Saba, Concho and other streams.

Whole System Is Benefited by Tanlac

Thousands of frail, nervous people and convalescents everywhere have testified to the remerkable power of Tanlac in bringing back their health, etrength and working efficiency. It eems to quickly invigorate the constitution, and is a powerful foe of weakness. Mrs. George G. Owen, of Salem, Oregon, says:

RUNOFF PRIMARY VOTE CANVASSED

The Lead of Mayfield Over Ferguson Is Cut Down Somewhat.

San Antonio, Tex.-Earle B. Mayfield's majority over James E. Ferguson for United States senator was cut to 43,791 on the face of the official canvass of returns announced this week by Joseph W. Hale, secretary of the state democratic executive com-

Mayfield's official vote was 270,184, while the total number of votes tabulated for Ferguson came to 226,393. Only 197 counties sent in their report. Fifty-five were missing in spite of the fact that Secretary Hale has for days past sent out not only blank forms, but also letters and telegrams urging every county to make its report. In the list of fifty-five missing counties are approximately half a dozen that held no second primary, while three others are unorganized. The real total of missing counties, therefore, is about forty-six.

The official tabulation in the other three state races is as follows: Davidson 280,783, Billie Mayfield 196,100; Terrell 265,457, Garrett 108,451; Marre 224,369, Bentley 227,826. Some of the largest countles in Texas, from the standpoint of voting strength, were included in the list of those counties not reporting to the canvassing committee.

Those counties which failed to send in a report were as follows: Andrews, Angelina, Bee, Borden, Briscoe, Brewster, Burnet, Burleson, Clay, Chambers, Cochran, Coleman, Crane, Crockett, Culberson, Dawson, Deaf Smith, Denton, Dimmitt, Erath, Gaines, Gray, Hamilton, Hansford, Hidalgo, Hill, Hunt, Hutchinson, Jack, Jackson, Jim Hogg, Jones, King, Lamb, Lamar, Limestone, Live Oak, Lynn, Marion, McMullen, Menard, Mils, Montgomery, Moore, Motley, Nolen, Ochiltree, Oldham, Reagan, Red River, Sutton, Victoria, Wilson, Wood and Yoakum.
