HIGH SCHOOL BAND TO VISIT HERE

Twenty-five Musicians of Lubbock to Be Here—Guests of Rotarians and C. of C.

The Lubbock High School Band bearing the good will and greetings of the city of Lubbock, will leave that city June 16 for a 3,053 mile jaunt. The band will be under the direction of James W. Crowley. Forty-six towns are included in the itinerary which comprise a swing through the southern and northern parts of Texas, Arizona and New Mexico. Sixty different concerts will be given on the tour.

The tour is to be made in the band bus, recently purchased for the group. Accompanying the group are Mrs. Crowley, who is to act as librarian of the music, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Brown and a member of the Girls' Reserve who is yet to be selected. Mr. Brown is to drive the band truck on the tour and act as business manager, while Mrs. Brown is to be ready to serve as nurse to the ailing youngsters.

This splendid band will be here Sunday, June 24, and the local Chamber of Commerce and the Rotary Club will be their hosts. More details of their visit will be made later and all of our citizens are looking forward to the concert to be given in this city by this splendid band.

OIL DEVELOPMENT IN TERRELL COUNTY.

Interest is being taken in this county at the present time toward the path of oil development. There are six wells drilling and it is contemplated that there will be at least half a dozen more to start in the near future. The oil and gas lease records show that the Peerless Oil & Gas Company recently leased ten and a half sections of land in Block D-10, Texas Central Railway Company survey in the vicinity of section 163 in said block. The Empire Gas & Fuel Company recently leased nine sections of land in Block 147 T. & St. L. Ry. Co. survey. The Mid-Sun Oil Corporation recently leased over 3,000 acres in block R-3, G. C. & S. F. Ry. Co. survey. The McElroy Ranch Co., Inc., recently leased over 10,000 acres in Block Y, and it is reported that part of this acreage will in all probability be assigned to the Franco Wyoming Oil Company with the view of drilling a well.

The Gilcrease Oil Company recently leased a couple of sections in the southern portion of the county, and it is reported that the Peerless Oil Company has leased eight sections in Block G-18, a few miles over the line in Brewster County, being about six miles south of section 163, Block D-10 in this county. The Deep Rock Oil Co., the Eastland Oil Company, the Ocean Petroleum Corporation, F. M. Pirtle, the Syndicate Oil Company, the Simms Oil, the Texas Pacific Coal and Oil Company, H. F. Wilcox Oil & Gas Company, and John Winemiller Corporation also recently recorded leases and assignments covering considerable acreage in this county.

It is reported that Keck No. 1, in the southeastern portion of the county, will be drilled by the Trans-Pecos Development Co.

Wednesday Bridge Club.

The Wednesday Bridge Club and a few guests were entertained last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. J. C. Green. Bouquets of dahlias and larkspur were effectively used as decorations.

There were four tables of players who enjoyed the afternoon playing bridge. High score for the afternoon was made by Mrs. H. R. Laurence, a jar of bath salts being the prize. Mrs. Pollard was the holder of second high score and was given a jar of talcum powder.

A plate lunch of chicken salad, potato chips, olives, sardines, mince, cake and ice tea was served to the following members and guests: Mesdames H. R. Laurence, S. S. Daggett, Max Bogusch, J. W. McKee, R. S. Wilkinson, L. H. Lemons, B. P. Frankha, Shellie Barnes, D. A. Pollard, C. M. Breeding, S. C. Bodkin, H. E. Fletcher, C. C. Foster and Mrs. Cardwell and Mrs. Burnside.

Mrs. J. C. Brown of Lubbock is visiting relatives here.

AUXILIARY MEETS WITH MRS. JOE BROWN

The members of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Presbyterian church motored to the Joe F. Brown ranch home Tuesday where they were invited to spend the day. Mrs. Joe F. Brown, her mother, Mrs. M. J. Shurley, her sister, Miss Clara Shurley, and Mrs. Bozarth Brown acted as hostesses, and able hostesses indeed they were. A generous luncheon of creamed chicken, peas en patte, steamed potatoes, butter, jelly, iced tea, and pineapple cake was served at the noon hour to more than thirty guests. In the afternoon the regular business meeting was attended to, followed by the program on Christian Social Service under the leadership of Mrs. W. H. Savage with Mrs. Kernal and Mrs. Robertson assisting. The devotional period was led by Mrs. H. R. Laurence. The Auxiliary was glad to have as its guest Mrs. C. H. Armstrong, Methodist pastor's wife of Marathon. Shortly before the guests departed for their homes they were again invited into the dining room where they were delightfully refreshed with iced punch.

Next Monday, June 18, the Auxiliary will meet at the church for Bible study.

Bridge Party.

Vases of white dahlias and pink and white larkspurs formed the decorations for the prettily appointed bridge party given last Saturday afternoon by Mrs. D. A. Pollard at her home.

High score for the afternoon was made by Mrs. H. R. Laurence, a bath mat being the prize. The second prize, a jar of bath salts, went to Mrs. C. C. Foster while Mrs. J. C. Green drew the cut prize, a bath towel.

Refreshments of pink punch, green pineapple ice and angel food cake were served.

Box Supper.

The women of Dryden are giving a box supper Friday night, June 15, to raise money for the Presbyterian minister who preaches here.

We are giving a prize of $5 for the prettiest box, $2 for the second and $1 for the third. The boxes will be on sale for $1.50 at a stand in front of one of the stores.

Out of town judges have been selected who will judge the boxes at 9 p. m.

Come out and help us and encourage all the women you can to bring boxes. Help us advertise it. Put your name in the box.

THE KERR MERC. COMPANY

Church of Christ.

Speaking of creeds, there are many in the world. The assemblies that make the creeds that govern the various churches, are to change them as often as the times and notions of the people demand. Thus you see the value of having a creed that needs no revision. Our creed is the Bible and no creed but the Bible, hence no revision. It meets the needs of the whole world and not just a particular class of worshippers (Mk. 13:29-31). We shall be judged by it (Jno. 12:48). Our creed is the basis of unity (Jno. 17:20-21; Eph. 4:3-6).

Come, let us walk in the old paths and ye shall find rest for your souls (Jer. 6:16). "The Drawing Power of God," Sunday, 11 a. m.

WILL DIG UP OLD FORT OF MEXICO

Scientist Plans to Excavate Monte Alban.

Mexico City.—A party of investigators, headed by Alfonso Caso, archeologist, and Miguel D. de Mendizabal, ethnologist, representing the Mexican Historical Review, will begin a study, before the end of the current year, of the ancient fortified mountain city known as Monte Alban near the city of Oaxaca.

Monte Alban is part of the relics of strange prehistoric builders who modified entire mountain skylines by carved terraces and erecting pyramids until they looked like scallops on a petticoat. Practically nothing is known of the race that conceived the unique notion of leaving its mark notched on the upland horizon, and the archeological city was old and deserted when the Spanish came to subdue Oaxaca along with the rest of Mexico.

Looks Like Work of Moles. Today, swathed in its age-old padding of earth and vegetation, the site of Monte Alban, seen from its highest point, suggests the work of giant moles which burrowed and upheaved on a geometrical plan. The city whose angles are now curves, whose square pyramids are grassy mounds, and whose sunken terrace gardens are dimples in the earth, looks down upon modern green, and white and pink Oaxaca nestling in the sunny valley 1,000 feet below and five kilometers away.

The ridges are leveled off at different heights, and a series of mounds and terraces result that are as confusing in their number and extent as the layout of a large city. The mounds were flat-topped pyramids on which superstructures once stood, as stumps of walls sticking out of the covering of grass still show, and there are many remains of fortifying walls, forming battlements for terraces that overlooked the approaches to the mountain city.

There are series of sunken rectangular terraces surrounded by ancient structures raised on sloping sides that give the quadrangles the appearance of modern football fields with the grandstands all around. Piles of stone and weed-smothered earth left in the centers of these inclosures suggest that they were altars.

No systematic excavations have been made in Monte Alban, but the evidence of occasional haphazard ones is significant. A pyramid structure that has been probed by a series of tunnels in a search for hidden treasure reveals that it is built up of seven artificial levels of broken stone filled with earth and capped by pavements of lime concrete.

The recent earthquake which shook all Mexico brought down some of the rock, filling parts of these tunnels. In the sides of several terraces or mounds there are ancient sepulchers that have been sacked, but the corbelled stone-lined vaults remain, showing their great similarity to Maya architecture farther south. Narrow entrances leading to the tombs are picture galleries lined with stone slabs carved with human figures that perhaps represented persons who were buried there in ancient times.

Dispute Over Ownership. Some people in the region claim that Monte Alban was the fortified borderland between the land of the Zapotecs, who built the ancient city of Mitla, some seventy kilometers away, and the Mixtecs, to whom Monte Alban is ascribed, especially by modern Mixtecs living in the villages below. On the other hand, modern Zapotecs claim Monte Alban as theirs.

Mitla and Monte Alban, although very close together, are radically apart in style and perhaps in the time of their building. Mitla is one of the few archeological cities known in middle America that is not built on a series of pyramids as substructure, and there is only one true pyramid on the site. Mitla's most striking feature is the geometrical mosaics of stone that make up its wall panels and friezes, which show a Mexican or northern influence.

Monte Alban, on the other hand, is built entirely on pyramids and terraces, and shows in its corbelled vaults and carved stones a strong Maya influence. Dr. Manuel Gamio, leading Mexican scientist, believes it possible that Monte Alban may even have been a young Maya city during one of the early steps in the evolution of that race, or may at least be an important link in its history. There seems no doubt that the enormous amount of information there is ready to tap in the many well-known but unexplored archeological sites of Mexico will some day clear up many points in American prehistory.

SURVEY TRAFFIC LANES IN PACIFIC

Lines for Use by All Steamers Suggested.

Washington.—An American plan to lay off definite east and west traffic lanes in the vast Pacific will be presented at the international conference for the safety of life at sea in London next year. Traffic regulation in the crowded Atlantic was organized at the last London conference in October, 1924. Since then, winter and summer, ships of all nations have followed across the north Atlantic the charted routes that were suggested then by the hydrographic office of the United States navy and adopted by 18 British, Dutch, French, German and American steamship lines.

There are seven transatlantic routes or "tracks," the three more southern, lettered A to C, being from American ports and the other four, D to G, from Canadian. Definite seasons are allotted for the use of each. A, for example, the extra southern track, is used from March to July; B, the southern track, from March to September, and C, the northern track, from September to February. The familiar rule, "Keep to the right," is followed on all but one of the twenty-mile-wide Atlantic lanes, east-bound traffic using the southern ten miles of each and west-bound using the northern ten miles. On one Canadian route, from Halifax, the order is reversed.

Danger of collisions between east-bound and west-bound vessels has never been so great in the Pacific as in the Atlantic because of the smaller volume of traffic and the greater size of the ocean. Several years ago, however, the navy hydrographic office charted east and west routes from Seattle and Portland to Yokohama by way of Honolulu, and it is thought that the time has come to present them for international acceptance.

The routes from Portland and Seattle would follow approximately the line of the great circle to Yokohama, and vessels passing each other would keep to the right, as in the Atlantic. But in the Honolulu to Yokohama lanes this order would be reversed and vessels would keep to the left, as in the automobile traffic of London and Ontario. This is due to the fact that the west-bound route has been charted far to the south of the east-bound in order to take advantage of the Japan current. By heading toward the north after leaving Yokohama, east-bound vessels are helped by the north-flowing current, and by approaching from the south, west-bound ones are not hindered by it.

Great "Smelt Stallion" Immortalized in Stone

Nikolaiken, East Prussia.—By erecting at the Nikolaiken bridge a pillar crowned with the so-called "smelt stallion" or "king of the smelts," the city council has commemorated an ancient myth connected with the city's history. Nikolaiken is situated near the great Spirding lake, which is noted for its smelt fishery. According to the ancient saga, a fisherman of the city once succeeded in catching the "Stinthenst" (literally "smelt stallion") the king of the smelts. The wise city fathers refused to let it be killed, and instead fastened it to the city bridge by a chain. Thereupon all the smelts came to their king and became easy prey for the fishermen. It is this "king" who has now been immortalized in stone.

Beggar Tots Present Problem to Schools

Tokyo, Japan.—In Japan the law requires that beggars' children, as well as the more prosperous, must receive a certain amount of education. The Tokyo municipality has discovered that there are more than 100 mendicant youths in the capital who are "playing hooky" from school, and has done everything possible to induce these children to attend the primary grades, but with little success. Most of the parents of these youngsters use their children for begging on the streets and are not anxious to have them in school. The beggar youths average about 10 cents a day, in addition to the food they are able to beg. Erection of a special school for these children is now under consideration.

Crops Grow in Day in Tropical Alaska

Seattle, Wash.—Folks, here's the place to put in your spring garden. Up in the "tropical" belt in the Laredo district of Alaska, where British Columbia touches Yukon territory, Fred Perry declares crops grow in 24 hours.

A number of florists and truck gardeners are planning an excursion into the region to investigate reports. It is said certain kinds of vegetables, such as lettuce and radishes, reach prodigious size in 24 to 30 hours owing to the earth being warm and filled with fertilizing qualities. The extensive valley is surrounded by high hills in which hot springs continually emit steaming water and mist.

Burden of Unemployment to Be Relieved by Decrease of Population

By DEAN INGE, St. Paul's Cathedral, London.

HOUSES in 1950 will be childless and servantless. The whole face of the country will be spotted with bungalow growths, within which childless couples will sleep, after racing about the roads in their little motor cars. As in America, the typical house will be servantless. Meals will be brought in from a delicatessen shop and heated by a gas or electric cooker. The art of supplying standardized needs by pressing buttons will be carried to great perfection.

The population will, I think, begin to decrease slowly about 1950. The increase at present is entirely due to the preponderance of young lives in the population, which keeps the crude death rate (about 12 per 1,000) very much below the real death rate (about 18 per 1,000). A decline in numbers would relieve the terrible burden of unemployment, which in part at least is clearly due to overproduction, and a little more elbow room would be very desirable.

Social equality will go further even than economic equality. Education is rapidly removing the dialectical differences which in England, perhaps more than in other countries, accentuates social barriers. Now that gentlemen's sons are in hundreds becoming floorwalkers and what not, while the sons of workmen are entering the professions through the county council schools and state subsidies, a man's occupation will soon be no indication of the position of his family.

Best Work in Name of Christianity Is in Line of One's Daily Activity

By REV. C. R. BROWN, Dean Yale Divinity School.

Pious gestures of religion are easy enough, but it is much harder to perform the little tasks that come up every day. Pilgrimages, missions and such acts of devotion are all well and good, but the best work done in the name of Christianity is that which persons do in the line of their daily activity, in their contacts with the people with whom they live.

When Christ had cured the insane man, when, as the New Testament story goes, He had cast the devils out of the body of the man and transferred them to a herd of swine, the man asked Jesus to let him become a disciple and help Him in His work of spreading the Gospel. But Jesus refused him, saying that he could serve best by returning to his home and demonstrating to his neighbors that he had been cured by faith. And that is what the man did.

The religious life of a college student is an example that I might cite. The student thinks of his daily grind of studying, writing papers and reading the books that are assigned as a thing entirely apart from his religion. If he works in a mission house on Sunday night, or goes out to take communion on a high hill at sunrise Easter morning, he thinks the obligations of his religious life have been met.

But such things are only incidental to religion. Religion does not dwell out in the suburbs and come into town only once or twice a week. It is something that should be inherent in one, inspiring all his actions.

American Man Has Become Mere Cog in Nation's Vast Industrial Machine

By W. J. TURNER, English Journalist.

It would be possible without very much distortion to depict America as offering something analogous to the harem system of Asia, but reversed; and in America it is the men who are in the harem.

The American man is kept for breeding and for making money; he has no real part in the social, intellectual and spiritual life of the country. All day long and often far into the night he sits at his desk or rushes through the streets like an automaton.

He is a smaller or a greater cog, or at best a dynamo, in the industrial machine and he is kept blindly in motion by the ceaseless pressure of the industrial system whose only goal is the filling of every square mile of the continent with farms, factories or skyscrapers. When there is not an acre of waste land from the Atlantic to the Pacific oceans, then, but only then, will the pressure be lessened and the speed slacken.

And what then? What is to be done when, from New York to San Francisco, the entire country is nothing but wheat, bacon, textiles, machinery and skyscrapers? Nobody knows; nobody dares even to pause to put that question.

Religious Customs and Festivals Only a Mixture of Magic and Myth

By WILLIAM BROWN, Deposed Episcopal Bishop.

Jesus Christ as a divinity is wholly a myth. If He ever lived as a man, there are no historical facts of His life. The customs and festivals associated with religion are nothing but a mixture of magic and myth. The priests of Christianity are the successors of the magicians of pagan times.

The only difference between the pagan magician and the modern priest is that the magician was attempting to work miracles in the real world to save humanity from actual dangers while the priest is trying to save mythical immortal souls in a mythical life after death from a mythical hell.

Science is the real Christ that will redeem the world from slavery. The progress of humanity has been gained through slavery, oppression and war. Science brings to mankind a new mastery of the world that renders such methods of progress obsolete.

Discoveries of Modern Science Reveal Abiding Spiritual Message of Bible

By CHAPLAIN KNOX, Columbia University.

There are those who are deeply concerned today about the Bible. They fear that its authority and influence have been lessened by the discoveries of modern science. They fear that modern Biblical study disturbs faith.

But the Bible has not been taken away. All that has been removed is a limited and hampering conception of it which concealed its full truth, and we are enabled now to see its greater and abiding spiritual message. "It is the letter that killeth but the spirit giveth life."

Read the story of creation in Genesis as a literal statement of scientific fact, and one is left in perplexity. Read it for the spiritual teaching for which it was written, and the story will have a permanent value.

BRET HARTE HERO FOUND IN SWEDEN

Original of Arizona Peter Is Old and Blind.

Stockholm.—The original of Arizona Peter, Swedish hero of one of Bret Harte's stories, has been discovered by a Swedish newspaper to be still alive. He is living in the village of Smedjebacken in his native province. The old Wild West hero is, however, totally blind. His real name is Per Erik Astroem, and he is now seventy years old.

Aastroem left Sweden in the early '80s for the West, where he, like many other Swedes, entered the United States garrison service.

Arizona Peter earned a reputation for enterprise and daring. Once when he found a Sioux chief half unconscious, bound and gagged, he got off his horse and saved the Indian. The sweetheart of Astroem, however, was in Sweden, and, wishing to marry her, he got her a position at a neighboring farm, owned by a Scotch woman.

Shortly after her arrival she and her mistress were captured in their home by a plundering band and carried off. Accompanied by Grey Bear, Sioux chief, Astroem dashed across the Mexican border, surprised the brigands and rescued the women.

He then rode away and halted on the slope of a narrow canyon through which the robbers had to pass, as Bret Harte tells the story. There the Swede and the Indian shot down 50 of their foes.

One day Astroem struck a copper vein in the mountains, and soon a group of engineers and miners began to exploit the find. But his fiancée deserted him to marry one of the mining engineers.

In grief Astroem returned to Sweden, where he found work as a stone-cutter. Through an explosion he lost the sight of both his eyes. Since then he has been a brushmaker.

Potato-Tomato Union Good Graft for Farms

St. Louis.—A "good graft" (not of the political variety) which anyone may try and which will reward a little patience with a double crop is described in a recent bulletin of the Missouri Botanical garden. It consists of a tomato vine grafted on a potato stock, which yields tomato fruits above and potato tubers below. The graft is fairly easy to make, it is stated, requiring no more skill than is needed for a similar operation on an apple twig. Apparently the first one on record was made over a century ago by an amateur scientist named De Tchudi, who reported his experiments to the Horticultural Institute at Fromont, in France.

Neither partner in this double plant body seems to have any influence on the other. The tomatoes are like those of sister plants grown on their own roots, and the potatoes differ in no way from those grown in the ordinary way from other eyes cut from the same parent tuber.

Alaskan Governor Plans to Cover Domain in Plane

Juneau, Alaska.—It is impossible for Gov. George A. Parks of Alaska to visit every part of the big territory during one summer so he has adopted the ultra up-to-date method of seeing the country by airplane. June 1, accompanied by Malcolm Elliott, territorial commissioner, and R. J. Sommers, highway engineer, he left here on a flight that will overlook every important settlement and future highway site in the Northland. The three officials will come down at all of the 48 landing fields in Alaska for inspection and rest. The trip will include flights over reindeer herds and fur seal rookeries, mines, Mount McKinley, the Yukon, and Kuskokwim rivers, fisheries, and pulp mills.

Turks Protest Women in Tobacco Industry

Constantinople.—Women have become the cause of labor unrest for the first time in Turkish history in a stormy meeting of the men laborers in the tobacco factories here.

The men demanded that the thousands of Turkish women now working in the factories be dismissed and woman labor be henceforth prohibited because of their willingness to work at wages running from one-half to one-third the sum demanded by the men.

The woman tobacco manipulators earn an average of 50 cents a day.

Peltzer's Home Town Has Bogey-Man Clock

Steetin, Germany.—This home town of Otto Peltzer, the great clockmaker, has one of the most unique tower clocks in Germany.

In the center of its huge dial there is the terrifying face of a bearded man who every second rolls his eyes from right to left like a bogey man. In his open mouth he holds a metal plate on which the day of the month is recorded.

The clock adorns the tower of the castle once inhabited by the dukes of Pomerania, and now devoted to municipal purposes. It bears the inscription 1736.

Weaver by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your County, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in the nearest county where a newspaper is published, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Terrell County, to be holden at the Courthouse thereof, in Sanderson, Texas, on the second Monday in July, A. D. 1928, the same being the 9th day of July, A. D. 1928, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 5th day of June, A. D. 1928, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court as No. 1719, wherein Peggy Mary Weaver is plaintiff, and S. A. Weaver is defendant, and said petition alleging that on or about August 28, 1927, plaintiff was legally married to defendant, and lived with him as his wife until on or about May 27, 1928, when said defendant's treatment of plaintiff became unbearable and plaintiff separated herself from defendant and has not lived with defendant since said date.

Plaintiff says that during all the time she lived with defendant she conducted herself with propriety and managed the household affairs with prudence and economy, and at all times treated her said husband with kindness and forbearance.
But that defendant, disregarding the solemnity of his marriage vows and his obligations to treat plaintiff with kindness and attention, about four months after their marriage, commenced a course of unkind, harsh and tyrannical conduct toward her; in April, 1928, defendant cursed plaintiff, abused and called plaintiff vile names and twice slapped her face with sufficient force to make her nose bleed and cause her extreme pain.

That on or about May 1, 1928, defendant cursed and abused plaintiff and struck plaintiff in the eye with his fist with such force that plaintiff's face and eyes were blackened and stayed black for about one month afterwards.
Wherefore plaintiff prays the court that defendant be duly cited to appear and answer herein and that on final hearing hereof she have judgment dissolving said marriage relations and restoring her maiden name of Peggy Mary Bates and for costs of suit and for such other and further relief, special and general, in law and in equity, to which she may show herself entitled.

Herein fail not, and have you before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.
Given under my hand and the seal of said Court, at office in Sanderson, Texas, this 11th day of June, A. D. 1928.
