Know Your School

(That patrons may have better opportunity of really knowing their school this column will each week be given over to school news. It is the desire of the school executives that the patrons become better acquainted with the faculty, school methods and school aims.)

While everybody pauses in the rush of ordinary everyday life to give thanks for blessings that have come his way, the Sanderson School faculty contributes its message of appreciation and thankfulness to the general holiday feeling.

Almost all of the teachers are taking advantage of the holiday for out of town trips. Supt. E. J. Brannan, Mr. S. E. Nelson, Miss Dorothy Weatherby and Miss Gladine Bowers are attending the Texas State Teachers Convention, Dallas.

Just before the paper goes to press, we take this opportunity to express our gratitude to you for your helpful and co-operative attitude toward your children, your school, and the community.

W. H. McDONALD

The news of the death of W. H. McDonald was received by his friends in this city last Friday morning with much sadness. Mr. McDonald died Thursday night, Nov. 21, at 9:45, after a short illness.

William Henry McDonald was born in Bandera county, Texas, September 8, 1876, and was at the time of death in his 54th year. On January 4, 1899, he was united in marriage to Miss Rosa Stout, in Sutton county, Texas. Of this union twelve children were born, nine of whom are now living.

About 11 years ago Mr. McDonald gave his heart to God and became a member of the Church of Christ. He was a devout Christian and a kind father.

Burial took place Friday evening at 4 o'clock at the cemetery; Rev. R. E. Griffith of the Church of Christ conducted the burial service.

The Times joins with numerous friends in extending sympathy to the bereaved family.

J. M. Corder spent the week in Austin with Mrs. Corder and daughters.

LUNCHEON BRIDGE AS COURTESY TO MRS. METCALF

Outstanding among the social affairs given recently was the luncheon bridge at the home of Mrs. Clyde Griffith last Friday honoring Mrs. Hunter Metcalf of Marfa, who is the wife of Hunter Metcalf, District Governor of the 42nd district, Rotary International.

Following a palatable and well appointed luncheon consisting of chicken pie, fruit salad, olives, buttered hot rolls, hot coffee and pumpkin pie the Rotarians enjoyed the afternoon playing bridge. Mrs. J. E. Yates made the high score for the afternoon and was awarded a decorated menu book. Mrs. Metcalf was presented with a beautiful silk and lace dance handkerchief as guest prize.

The following Rotarians and invited guests enjoyed the delightful affair: Mesdames Hunter Metcalf, C. V. McKnight, A. E. Creigh Jr., James Kerr, R. S. Wilkinson, J. E. Yates, F. B. Carter, C. M. Breeding, Annie Ware and the hostess, Mrs. Clyde Griffith.

FEDERATION HOLDS MEETING AT ALPINE

The eleventh semi-annual meeting of the Davis Mountains Federation of Clubs was held in Alpine last Saturday when club women from this section of the country met at the Methodist church in that city.

Mrs. A. C. Spalding, president and Marathon club woman, presided at the meeting. Mrs. Bernal Slight, representing the El Progress Club of Alpine welcomed the visitors. Mrs. Jack Little of Shafter responded to the address.

A very interesting and worth while meeting was held and many interesting and worth while papers were given.

At the election of officers, which was held in the afternoon, Mrs. H. R. Laurence of this city was elected vice president at large.

The delegates were served a delicious turkey dinner at the Holland Hotel.

Those from here who attended the meeting were Mesdames Fred Montgomery, H. R. Laurence, R. S. Wilkinson and son and Addie Lee Boling.

FISH—JOHNSON

Announcements have been received telling of the marriage of Miss Mildred Johnson to Leroy Fish in San Antonio on Sunday, November 24.

Miss Johnson is the eldest daughter of Howard Johnson, prominent ranchman of this county. Following her graduation from high school she attended the University for two years. The past year she has been working in Austin for Scarbrough's Department store.

Mr. Fish comes of a prominent family of Kerr county. He is a geologist.

They will make their home in San Antonio at 202 Fifth Street. The Times joins with their many friends in extending best wishes to the young couple.

The cockatoo's not hard to please; he lives a life of lazy ease. His clothing always looks like new, for he has nothing much to do. He would not be so free from soil if he were forced to slave and toil.

His his apparel looks immense, they say he hasn't got much sense. He only has one suit to wear, but that is neither here nor there.

SHOES TO MATCH LATEST VANITY; RETURN TO NORMAL WAISTLINE

AN ADDED vanity has been brought into the program of dress for the school girl—colorful kid shoes. In issuing this call for footwear to match, fashion encourages youth to observe that same nicety of color values, which is so generally observed in the adult style world.

So, when the school-faring miss adopts her favorite color, according to the rules of the fashion game, she curately matched shade, jersey bands trimming the same.

The young woman who decides upon taffeta for her party frock shows that she is properly fabric-conscious. If she decides on red for the color, then again does the youthful sophisticate follow a fashion-wise course. Not only for evening wear is red an outstanding color, but it is in mode for day time as well. There's nothing in the way of a street outfit for must do so from head to foot, which is just what she did when she chose the winsome frock in the picture above. This girlish model is a one-piece which looks like a two-piece. It is of blue flannel, the upper plaid part being in three shades of blue on a cream ground. The Peter Pan collar is furnished at the throat with a blue silk matching one of the shades in the plaid. The shoes are navy kid in a one-strap model, with carefully styled leather heels.

This costume carried out in tones of green would be equally as effective and rich, for beautiful greens are exceedingly smart this season. There would be no difficulty in getting shoes in a handsome green to match, or a wine shade, for that matter, should the dress be developed in the deep-toned rooks.

For dressier occasions this plaid with plain frock could be carried out most charmingly in velvet, for plaid youth quite so swanky as an ensemble developed in red-toned tweed, with knitted slip-on blouse to match, the cloth generously furred in black or gray.

As an evening color red is the rage. Perfectly charming and immensely flattering are dresses of red net, coarse tulle, allover lace or taffeta, velvet or satin as the case may be. Paris creates many arresting gowns in this color, such as, for instance, a Chanel model which uses finely all-over-patterned red lace, most intricately manipulated in way of spiral tiers and a labyrinth of drapes which flutter gracefully about the shoulders.

The model in the picture below leaves no doubt as to the revived favor for waistlines. Of course it takes a slender girlish figure to carry with honors a highwaisted and full-skirted silhouette as is this. But that is how youth is proclaiming itself this season—by victoriously wearing velvets are easily available and they make up effectively with velvet in a solid color. By supplementing a frock of this type with a matching velvet jacket, the result would be an ensemble of super attractiveness. The costume might be topped with either a matching tam, combining the two velvets, or one of the new chenille crocheted berets would prove a crowning glory.

Very often the contrast in the material which goes to make up the frock is in the weave rather than the color. A happy combination widely featured this season is jersey with satin. As applied to the model pictured, jersey in some one of the popular wines, green, browns or blues would be used for the skirt portion, the blouse top being of satin in an ac-the quaint models which are the envy and the impossible for "fat, fair and forty." From the atelier of Lanvin comes this very lovely frock illustrated. It is developed of bright lusterful red bengal taffeta. Tiny twin plaques at the waistline with a multiplicity of godets worked into the skirt, give to this model a picturesque bouffancy.

As said before red is as fashionable a color for daytime wear as it is for evening. Such interesting combinations as black broadcloth and red satin occur in the afternoon mode in this wise—the coat is of the black cloth collared and furred with black carnal, the gown and the coat lining being of the red satin.

LIGHTS of NEW YORK

Simple—What?

Note on the simple life in New York—an advertisement clipped from a publication:

"To an exclusive few this announcement is directed. A lofty triplex of fifteen rooms designed for the discriminating person who desires a perfect and complete town house high in the clouds. This unusual suite occupies the entire 30th, 31st, and 32d topmost floors of the hotel—, New York's newest and swiftest apartment hotel. No other apartment suite in New York has its spacious grandeur, equaled only in the larger private homes. Rental, $45,000."

Make your own comment.

Excited

The trials of a dramatic critic are not limited always to seeing bad plays. At a recent opening the show's press agent halted a critic in order to present the producer—a newcomer in the game. The producer in turn presented the critic to Mrs. Producer—frightened-looking young woman with big, appealing eyes. "Oh," she sighed, "I've always heard how terrible critics are. If you only think as much of the play as I do . . ." And here emotion stifled the words in her throat. The producer interceded sympathetically. "Just feel her pulse," he offered. The critic dashed in to his seat. The play was quite bad.

Back-Pats

A pleasant little practice, which is the grown-up cousin of putting gold stars on schoolboys' report cards, has been established in the building industry. Carpenters, bricklayers, steamfitters and whatnot are decorated every so often by the New York building congress. For superior craftsmanship they receive certificates and gold buttons, and they are not ashamed to take them. The awards are made when a building job is nearing completion. Impressive exercises are held—usually just before lunch—in which representatives of the owners, the architects, the building congress and organized labor, cheer the boys on to making bigger and better buildings.

All in the Game

When Al Capone, the Chicago gangster with a large scar on his face, was cutting a wide social swath in Miami last winter, he met a young debutante at one of the parties. This young lady not knowing who he was, was very much impressed by the hard-boiled racketeer. On the bench the following day she was telling Mr. Charles Dillingham, the producer, about the attractive man she met the night before. "What was his name," said Mr. Dillingham.

"Capone," replied the young lady. "Oh, yes, I know him," replied Mr. Dillingham. "Did he have a large scar on his face?"

"Yes," answered the debutante, hopefully. "Of course," said Mr. Dillingham sarcastically, "you know how he got that? He is a great polo player and he was playing in a game in England when the prince of Wales hit him with a mallet and left that scar."

A $50,000 Golf Game

A well-known horseman whose colors are seen frequently in front at the New York tracks, in going to play a game of golf with another sportsman recently, tried to get a bookmaker on the telephone to make a bet on a horse which was quoted at thirty to one. He had difficulty in reaching the bookmaker, and his golfing companion, becoming impatient, said:

"Come on, let's play golf. I'll take your bet, that nag can't win anyway." The horseman agreed to this and bet one thousand dollars across the board. The horse won at thirty to one, and proportionately long prices for place and show, and it cost his friend in the neighborhood of $50,000 to settle it, which he did promptly. However, it proved to be an expensive golf game.

Rattler in Subway

New York.—Patrolman Charles A. Kennedy recently found a live rattlesnake in the Canal street station of the Lexington avenue subway. It had eight rattles, he said, and was about five and one-half feet long.

Woman Hunter, Left Behind, Shoots Deer

Missoula, Mont.—Mrs. Goldie Burch was a mere woman. No, she couldn't hunt with the men folks. She could help out best by watching the car—the men would go forth and "bring home the bacon"; her job would be to cook it.

And so Mrs. Burch stayed behind. The mighty male ninerods had hardly been lost from sight of the car when they were startled by a rifle shot followed by hysterical screams.

Fearing the worst, they rushed back to the auto and there, to their utter amazement, saw the "mere woman" standing over a 250-pound buck deer, shot from the car.

ONE-ARMED MAN IS EXPERT AUTO THIEF

Cripple Given Year Sentence for Two Thefts.

Brentwood, England.—Frederick Charles Elton, twenty-six, has proved that a man of spirit can overcome a physical handicap, even if he did it in criminal matters.

Elton, who has one arm, has just been sentenced to one year at hard labor for the following enterprises:

Stealing two motor cars. Breaking into a house and stealing a revolver. Possessing the revolver. Possessing the second of the two stolen cars. Driving without a license.

All of which occurred in more or less sequence and should have been enough charges to send away two two-armed men instead of one-one-armed man.

One-Legged Criminal.

The accomplishments of cripples in the field of crime have been remarkable. One of England's best house-breakers a generation or two ago was a one-legged man. He was a veritable captain of crime and led a gang. If the gang complained that a "job" looked too hard he was wont to scorn such hesitation and turn the trick all by himself.

The activity of Elton along the line of car stealing has brought up the subject of how the licensing authorities should treat applications for motor car or motor cycle licenses by persons who are otherwise afflicted. A great argument is still in progress about whether deaf and dumb persons should receive licenses. Those who oppose them say that the affliction prevents such from bearing signals or commands. Supporters of the deaf and dumb drivers say that their very defects make them extraordinarily vigilant about reading signs, watching crossroads, etc.

Runs Into Car.

Hard and fast rules for or against licensing would-be drivers who have physical defects are not difficult to lay down, even if they cause a vast amount of contention, but how shall the license authorities determine the mental qualities of an applicant? Not long ago, in England, a young man driving a motor cycle was in a collision and injured a man. The cyclist had become mentally confused over nothing at all and ran smack into a motor car.

When the cyclist was tried before a magistrate, his father admitted that the son was feeble minded and subject to fits, but he said he did not see that those defects should cause his son to lose the pleasure he derived from using his motor cycle. Nobody asked the father if he had any consideration for the persons who might be injured or killed by his mentally deficient son. Nobody ever asks questions about those injured by wrongdoers. The feeble minded youth still has his license and will probably be allowed to keep it because he has not been officially declared deficient, and he is not insane.

Pennsylvania Man Owns Rare Edison Product

Sunbury, Pa.—Prof. Harry L. Keefer of the faculty of Sunbury high school is the possessor of one of the six electric light globes first made by Thomas A. Edison in his pioneering work. Professor Keefer says that the globe came to him through E. A. Wardlow, who was secretary of the Edison Pioneers.

A few years ago Mr. Keefer organized a Thomas A. Edison Science club in this city, and he has been keeping well informed on the pioneer work of Mr. Edison in this locality. The local electric light plant was started here in 1882 by Thomas A. Edison, and he worked in it in 1883. The first dynamo used in the Edison lighting plant here are on exhibition in Dearborn, Mich. They were used here for many years and were sent to the Chicago World's Fair, after which they were stored in a city car barn. Later they were shipped to the Edison Pioneers.

In 1923, when Sunbury celebrated its sesquicentennial, Mr. Edison was invited to attend, and upon his arrival the city commemorated the fortieth anniversary of the first three-wire lighting system in the world by unveiling a tablet in front of the City hotel.

Woman Barber Says Men Are Not Cantankerous

Providence, R. I.—Opportunity for local males to get barbered by a member of the gentler sex will be offered when Mrs. Zulu Arnold, former beauty shop attendant, opens her barber shop here "for men only." Men, says Mrs. Arnold, are "more generous than women," "less vain" and "not so cantankerous." She believes and is willing to demonstrate that she can give as good a "shave and haircut" as any man.

Scientists Studying

Collection of Reptiles

San Francisco.—Scientists of the California Academy of Sciences are studying a rare collection of snakes and lizards, including a new-born family of forty-eight baby reptiles. The collection brought here on a South American vessel included a ten foot boa constrictor on whom the stork called en route and left the forty-eight frisky young boys.

Dallas Lady Knows How to Relieve Indigestion

"Ten years ago I started giving mother Nature's Remedy and she has kept away her spells of constipation, indigestion, sick headaches and pains in the back ever since," says Mrs. Arthur Brown of 2903 Reiger St., in Dallas.

That's because those little Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) soothe, sweeten, and stimulate the stomach and bowels. Then the starch and sugar wastes can't remain in your system to form those acids which bind the bowels, sour the stomach and rob the blood of the red corpuscles it must have plenty of to keep you from suffering pain, biliousness, headaches, indigestion and rheumatism. You can get NR tablets in the 25c box at any drug store. More than three million are used in a day.

Montana Wheat Farms

The largest wheat farm in Montana is one which produces about 600,000 bushels annually. There are others which produce from 150,000 to 200,000 bushels.

Children CRY for it

It may be the little stomach; it may be the bowels are sluggish. No matter what coats a child's tongue, its a safe and sensible precaution to give a few drops of Castoria. This gentle regulation of the little system soon sets things to rights. A pure vegetable preparation that can't harm a wee infant, but brings quick comfort—even when it is colic, diarrhea, or similar disturbance.

And don't forsake Castoria as the child grows older. If you want to raise boys and girls with strong systems that will ward off constipation, stick to good old Castoria; and give nothing stronger when there's any irregularity except on the advice of a doctor. Castoria is sold in every drugstore, and the genuine always bears Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper.

FLASH THE LEAD DOG

By GEORGE MARSH

Up the wild waters of the unknown Yellow-Leg, on a winter's hunt, journey Brock McCain and Gaspard Lecroix, his French-Cree comrade, with Flash, Brock's puppy and their dog team Brock's father had warned him of the danger of his trip. After several battles with the stormy waters they arrive at a fork in the Yellow-Leg. Brock is severely injured in making a portage and Flash leads Gaspard to the unconscious youth. The trappers race desperately to reach their destination before winter sets in. Flash engages in a desperate fight with a wolf and kills him.

CHAPTER IV—Continued

Before dawn, Brock left the disappointed Flash at the camp, fastened to a tree by a leg, for his wounded neck would bear no collar, while he started to look for caribou. As the eastern sky grayed then turned to a bitter blue, Brock, with his hood over his face, shivered in a clump of scrub spruce on the edge of a muskeg that reached away into the shadow. Here, at dawn, the caribou, if there were any in the vicinity, would come to dig the snow with their round-toed hoofs from the white reindeer moss which grows on the barrens of the north.

Brock waited until the sun lifted to turn the expanse of snow before him into a shimmering plain of fire. It was no use; there were no deer within sight. After breakfast he would make a wide circle and follow the freshest tracks he could find, for he had resolved not to leave Flash and go back to the main camp for grub.

When he had heated and skinned out the fur which he had brought in the night before, he talked to his dog in a useless attempt to soothe him in his disappointment at being tied up in camp when Brock took the trail.

He spent another day on the trail of the caribou, but, although he saw a hand crossing the barren at a great distance and followed numerous fresh trails, he never came up with them. He was approaching his camp and wondering if Flash had broken loose by gnawing his wire leash, when he was surprised by a chorus of yelps.

"Hello, there! Got worried, did you?" he called to his partner. The dogs of the team, wired to separate teams, joined Flash in a vociferous welcome.

"Hello, Kona, Yellow-Eye, Silt-Ear, old socks! How're the pups?" Then not seeing a fire in the hole in the snow and receiving no answer from Gaspard, he knew that his partner had arrived early and was off on a hunt of his own. Brock built up the fire and started a good supper with the beans and caribou steak which he found on Gaspard's sled. As the early dusk filled the spruce with purple shadows, the sleeping dogs waked to the creek of snow-shoes on the dry November snow.

"Well, you old villain!" cried Brock, as Gaspard appeared, doubled under the tenderloin and haunches of a yearling caribou. "I hunted for two days and didn't get a shot, and you go out and get one in an hour!"

Gaspard tipped his heavy load into the snow—later to be strung up out of the reach of the dogs. "Wal," he said with a grin, "what you do to poor Flash?"

Brock described the fight with the wolf.

"So dat pup kill de old wolf, eh? Eet tak' good dog to do dat. Wen you not come home one sleep back, I tink you hurt, mebbe."

"You mean she might have mated with a wolf?"

"Ah-hah!"

"And you're sure it was her track?"

"I would know eet anywhere."

Brock thrilled to the possibilities of the situation. A dog of the lost Pierre Lecroix—alive in the headwater country! "Then your father must have been right here—last winter?" he said, excitedly.

Slowly the half-breed rose, and dropping his mitten on the thing which held it to the neck of his caribou-skin capote, drew his skinning knife from his sash. Dramatically thrusting the hand gripping the knife above his head, he spoke, as if taking an oath, while the younger youth sat wide-eyed:

"Eet dese men are een dis countrie, before de snow fade een April, I weel mak dem tell me how he died."

The fixed purpose, the bitter hatred, in the face of his friend, as the firelight touched his knotted features, filled the youth who watched with awe. Brock knew that Gaspard Lecroix would never start on the trail home without ensing his mind as to the fate of his father. It certainly looked like an exciting winter if these people were north of the big lake. It might be that Gaspard and Brock McCain, also, would leave their homes in the Yellow-Leg country. Involuntarily, Brock shivered at the gloomy thought.

"But how are you going to make them tell?" demanded Brock.

For a long space Gaspard's half-shut eyes stared into the fire. Then he said: "Eet I find one alone, on hees trap-line, dere are way to mak' heem talk." And he again drew his skinning knife, and suggestively ran a calloused thumb along its edge.

A few days later, Gaspard and Brock, leaving their dogs wired to trees at camp to avoid their yelping, started on a two days' scout through the country to the north of the big lake. Obsessed by the discovery of the dog tracks in the snow, the memory of his father gave Gaspard no rest. And, moreover, for their own safety it was necessary to learn if the men who had made the tracks on the lake shores were still in the country.

Circling the upper end of the lake ten miles to the west, for they had no intention of leaving a trail across the white level which could be detected from the ridges to the north, Gaspard and Brock traveled through the back country. But that night as they dug a fire hole in the heart of a spruce swamp and roasted their caribou steak, they were in frank disagreement.

"I don't think there's a soul within a hundred miles to the north of us, argued the skeptical Brock. "We must have made forty miles today and we haven't seen a shoe track."

"They are on de lower lak' or the river," grunted the stubborn Gaspard. "We fin dem tomorrow."

Brock looked hard at his friend. "You really believe they are in the country?"

Gaspard nodded.

"Why?"

"From dat high ridge back dere, to-day, I see smoke."

Improved Uniform International Sunday School Lesson

Lesson for December 1 THE CHRISTIAN HOME IN A MODERN WORLD

LESSON TEXT—Deut. 6:3-9; Matt. 19:3-9; Luke 2:40-52; 24:28-32; Eph. 6:1-9; 1 Tim. 1:3-5; 11 Tim. 14:15; Luke 2:10-12

GOLDEN TEXT—Honor thy father and thy mother.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Pleasing God in Our Home.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Pleasing God in Our Home.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Living as Christians at Home.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Christian Home: Its Helps and Hindrances.

Instead of an exposition of the printed text, as suggested by the lesson committee, it will be better to make a synthetic study of the salient points of the several reference texts proposed by the committee.

1. The Makers of the Home (Matt. 19:3-9)

The home is a divine institution. Its makers are the man and the woman joined together in holy wedlock according to God's primary law—one man for one woman and one woman for one man.

1. The union is so vital that God declared the man and the woman to be one flesh (Gen. 2:24).

2. Divorce was not in God's thought for man (v. 6).

It was only permitted because of sin (v. 8). Divorce has the disapproval of God and right thinking men and women.

3. Fornication the one and only ground for divorce (v. 9).

Lawlessness of the divorce laws causes the Christian to hang his head in shame.

1. The Ideal Child (Luke 2:40-52)

Marriage has as its primary purpose the propagation of the race. Children are to be desired and expected. Christ stands as the ideal child in the home.

Wins Wife as First Prize!

If you don't think your whole life can be changed by chance, read this. It is the story of a young man who was pretty well down and out, but he figured he might win a prize if he took some advice.

"As far back as I can remember I had been a weakling," says Mr. Calvin L. Floyd of Orlando, Florida. "A headache, it seemed, was to be my life companion. I was always dizzy in the mornings. Nothing I ate seemed good for me. Then I attended a health lecture in a sanatorium and the physician talked on 'faulty elimination.' That was certainly my trouble. One of the patients asked him about Nujol. He recommended it highly. I decided to try one bottle to see if there was anything in what he said about natural lubrication for the human body.

Many a life changed by a message like this one.

"Long before I had finished the first bottle my 'companion-headache' was gone. No more tired out feeling. I got a real kick out of life now. By the way, I almost forgot to tell you I found a new life companion, too!"

Perfectly simple, wasn't it? Mr. Floyd just learned the normal natural way to get rid of bodily poisons (we all have them) and nature did the rest. Why shouldn't you be well?

Nujol is not a medicine. It contains no drugs. It is effective, so you will be "regular as clock-work." You can buy it at all good drug stores in sealed packages for less than the price of a couple of good cigars.

Begin today. Millions have found that Nujol makes all the difference in the world. Nujol will make you feel fine and you can prove it.

VISIT OF ROTARY GOVERNOR

Hon Hunter Metcalfe, Governor of the 42nd District of Rotary International, paid the Rotary Club of Sanderson an official visit on the 22nd of November. Governor Metcalfe was accompanied by Mrs. Metcalfe. The dining room was tastefully decorated with the colors of Rotary International and a delightful luncheon was served. Miss Noble sang for the club accompanied at the piano by Miss Robinson.

Governor Metcalfe addressed the club on the responsibilities of Rotary to the community and the splendid results of Rotary association to the individual business man of the community.

During the luncheon the "Black Diamond" Orchestra regaled the club with several numbers.

Governor Metcalfe, following the luncheon, went into executive session with the Board of Directors of the Club and later in the afternoon visited our public schools, delivering a splendid address to the student body.

First Snow Falls

The first snow of the season fell here last Friday morning. The fall was very light and lasted only a few minutes melting as soon as it touched the ground.

The weather has been very unsettled for some time. Skies have been hazy and the temperature standing around the freezing point several times.

A young man, giving his name as Oran Duncan of Alpine, was taken off of 103 here Sunday morning by customs officers Barlor and Cook. The young man had two new suit cases containing 80 pints of liquor. He was carried to Del Rio Monday where he made bond before a U. S. Commissioner.

O. H. McAdams was a business visitor in Sabinal Tuesday.

FOR SALE—One trailer, one coal heater, one wood heater, and one Corona portable typewriter.

See Mrs. S. J. Dempsey.

Lee Cook and Captain Barlor last Thursday returned to the rightful owners in old Mexico a bunch of cattle. This was the second lot of cattle within the past few weeks to be returned to their owners across the river by these officers.
