Know Your School

Supt. B. J. Brannan left yesterday to attend the sixtieth annual meeting of the National Educational Association, which will convene in Atlantic City, New Jersey, February 23-28. This gathering must be deemed marvelous in that it brings together in a joint session the educational giants of the land. The men and women who are in control of the educational destinies of the greatest Republic on earth will enter into an open discussion on the school problems of the day.

For Sanderson to be able to place its school administrators in a position to keep pace with the school officials of much larger and far more outstanding schools is not just a happen-so of community affairs. These local educational advancements come through the conscious efforts of men like W. E. Stirman, John Stovell, and A. D. Brown—men whose insight into the educational field is so keen and penetrating that they are eager to place before the children of Sanderson advantages enjoyed by children fortunate enough to be enrolled in the best systems of the nation.

For selecting men who can see beyond their own noses to serve on the local school board, Sanderson is to be congratulated. When school events become big enough and happen rapidly enough to give the children of Sanderson the public school education that is the legitimate right of every American boy and girl, Sanderson can reap the harvest and know that the sowers were the men of the school board who with broad vision planted their doctrine of equal opportunities in the hearts of the people.

The annual district basketball meet is taking place today and tomorrow in the Sul Ross gymnasium, Alpine. Sanderson has sent about a dozen boys to represent the high school. Whether or not they win the tournament is not the most important question concerning their going. Regardless of the outcome of the tournament as to champions or near champions, the local school authorities will feel satisfied, knowing that our players have practiced the finest ethics in playing the game.

There is in the heart of the human being the desire to win. Of course, it isn't possible for every one to win. So the next best thing is to be able to display either as winner or loser a commendable code of conduct. It has been the idea of our school authorities to place in the hearts of our players the ideals of clean sportsmanship. This has been as much a part of their teaching as the ins and outs of the game.

Sanderson school contestants have been congratulated several times for their exhibition of manly conduct while they were

MARKET SOLD

Greene Cooke of Ozona purchased this week the Stirman Market from Earl Stirman.

Mr. Cooke is an experienced market man having been in the business practically all his life. His father owns and operates a market in Ozona and Mr. Cooke has always been closely associated with the business. He states that he will handle only the best meats obtainable.

This week Mr. Cooke installed a patented barbecue house, the inventor of which is his father. By the first of next week he will have for sale barbecue meats and sausage.

He states that he will appreciate all business given him.

BARBER SHOP SOLD

A business deal was consummated last Saturday when the City Barber Shop owned by Fred Yates was sold to Eddie Weaver of Del Rio.

Mr. Weaver, who is an experienced barber took charge of the shop Monday.

EAGLES VICTORIOUS OVER WILDCATS

Last Thursday afternoon on the local basketball court the Eagles met and defeated the Del Rio Wildcats in two games, by scores of 13 to 15 and 13 to 20.

The first game was played at 10 o'clock. Both teams showed good training and the game was a fast one, the Eagles at the close having won by 2 points.

The second game was played at 5 p. m. and was equally as good as the first. Getting the lead from the start, the Wildcats were unable to overcome this lead, and the Eagles won their second game.

The line-up for Sanderson was as follows: Stationary guard, Jansa; center, Lattimore and Stovell; forwards, Haass, Smith, Ross and Henry; running guard, Green.

Mabry Ogle, a member of the Sanderson Eagles last year, was captain of the Del Rio team.

STOCKTON HAS CREAMERY

According to the last week's issue of the Fort Stockton Pioneer formal opening of a creamery plant was held in that city on Friday, February 7. During the short time that this creamery has been in existence it cannot supply the demand for its products. The officials are seeking to get additional supply from the nearby towns.

participating in meets.

Coach Younger has kept faith with the opinion that school authorities had of him in instilling in the hearts of the boys who have come under his training the principals and practice of laudable conduct.

TOURNAMENT BEING HELD

High School Clubs Competing for District Championship.

Today, (Friday) and Saturday the high school basketball teams of this section are in Alpine for the annual tournament to determine the district champions in basketball. There are fourteen counties in this district and there is expected to be at least a dozen teams in the tournament.

The Eagles, who have won about 13 or 14 games and lost only 5 or 6, are expected to be a strong contender for the honors. In the tournament held at Rankin last week they came out in third place and Green, the captain, was selected as the best player. Coach Younger has certainly done his duty and has developed a good team. At one time Sanderson won the district meet and we are only hoping that this year they come out winners.

TO THE PUBLIC

I have purchased the Stirman Market and have assumed management.

I am an experienced market man having been associated in the business at Ozona.

I am installing this week a patented barbecue house and will have beginning next week barbecue meat and sausage.

Your business will be appreciated.

Greene Cooke.

A CORRECTION

Judge Henshaw has called our attention to a mistake made in last week's paper in regard to the tax valuation for this year.

We reported it as $1.60 on the $100 valuation, getting our figures from the minutes of the court. He states that the rate is $1.55 on the $100 valuation, making it 5 cents cheaper than last year, this difference being in the cut in the special road tax. Judge Henshaw stated that Commissioner R. E. Corder, from precinct 3, was the one who was responsible for this reduction.

RESIGNS AS SHERIFF

For reasons best known to himself, W. J. Banner tendered his resignation to the County Commissioners' Court as sheriff and tax collector last Saturday. The resignation is to take effect on April 1, as soon as his annual report is made and accepted.

As yet the Times has not heard of any one making application for the place. For the balance of the year there will not be much money in the office as the taxes are practically all collected and tax collecting will not start again until next October and the present salary paid the sheriff hardly justifies one in wanting the job.

INITIATION WEEK AT BAYLOR COLLEGE

Belton, Feb. 20. — Initiation Week at Baylor College for Women means a lot of embarrassment but also a lot of fun for those girls who are pledges to Royal Academia and Historical-Phila literary societies.

Miss Helen Watson of Sanderson, is one of the pledges to Historical-Phila literary society. And she is among those who have had to dress in all sorts of queer costumes and indulge in moth ball rolling contests and tooth brush drills on the campus.

The culmination of initiation week brings a formal pledge service, after which she will be a regular member of the society.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Pierson and children spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Higgins at their ranch near Dryden.

Houston Lady's Skin Nice and Clear Now

"My complexion used to show how bad I felt. Now it shows that I am free from those depressing headaches and nervous spells," says Mrs. Olive Walker, who lives at 2424 Morse St., in Houston.

"I suffered from constipation. I might say all my life, I couldn't throw off the wastes and they gave me headaches, and a very sallow complexion. Ever since I started taking Nature's Remedy, all that is gone. I reckon the real reason is that NR Tablets are so pleasant to take that I continued taking them long enough to get results."

NR Tablets are so effective because they soothe, sweeten and stimulate the stomach and bowels. Then the starch and sugar wastes from the food you eat can't remain in your system to form the acids which sour your stomach, blind your bowels and rob the blood of the red corpuscles it must have plenty of to keep you from losing weight and strength, and from becoming bilious, headachy, dyspeptic and rheumatic. This Little Girl Got Well Quick

"Just after her third birthday, my little daughter, Connie, had a serious attack of intestinal flu," says Mrs. H. W. Turnage, 217 Cadwalder St., San Antonio, Texas. "It left her very weak and pale. Her bowels wouldn't act right, she had no appetite and nothing agreed with her."

"Our physician told us to give her some California Fig Syrup. It made her pick up right away, and now she is as robust and happy as any child in our neighborhood. I give California Fig Syrup full credit for her wonderful condition. It is a great thing for children."

Children like the rich, fruity taste of California Fig Syrup, and you can give it to them as often as they need it, because it is purely vegetable. For over 50 years leading physicians have recommended it, and its overwhelming sales record of over four million bottles a year shows it gives satisfaction. Nothing compares with it as a gentle but certain laxative, and it goes further than this. It regulates the stomach and bowels and gives tone and strength to these organs so they continue to act normally, of their own accord.

There are many imitations of California Fig Syrup, so look for the name "California" on the carton to be sure you get the genuine.

SYNOPSIS

Up the wild waters of the unknown Yellow-Leg, on a winter's hunt, journey Brock McCain and Gaspard Lecroix, his French-Cree comrade, with Flash, Brock's puppy and their dog team. After several battles with the stormy waters they arrive at a fork in the Yellow-Leg. Brock is severely injured in making a portage and Flash leads Gaspard to the unconscious youth. Gaspard tells Brock of his determination to find out who killed his father. Tracks are discovered and the two boys separate for scouting purposes. Brock is jumped by two Indians and a white man and knocked unconscious. He is held prisoner. Gaspard rescues him while his captors sleep. Gaspard believes these men killed his father and is prevented from killing them by Brock. While out alone Gaspard is shot from ambush by an Indian and kills his would-be-slayer. While out on his trap lines Brock is caught in a heavy snow storm. Gaspard finds him and the two start out on Brock's trap line. They kill enough deer and caribou to supply them with meat until spring.

CHAPTER X

The Stalk of the Dead

The day following, as the vanished sun rimmed indigo ridges with red and gold, tinting the white reaches of lake and muskeg with rose, the dogs were stopped a mile back of the main camp.

"We tak' no chance, dese day. Dose peop' not ambush us eef Gaspard Lecroix can help. I go an' have a look."

"Right enough! But Im going, too." The hunters wired the team to trees, then, separated by a hundred yards to block a possible surprise from hidden enemies, started a complete circle of the camp to cut any approaching trails. They had nearly completed their circuit, and were close to the decoy trail, made weeks before by Gaspard, when the halfbreed, who was ahead, walked swiftly forward and stopping, bent over the snow; then raised his hand and beckoned to Brock.

"One passed here and did not return," muttered Lecroix. "He wait for us."

First, the two, again widely separated, cautiously completed the circuit. No strange trail led from the camp. He was there. Hidden in some thicket of young spruce, near the tent, lay a Cree with a cocked rifle, waiting.

The forest was purple with dusk as the two friends agreed on a line of action and started their stalk. He had hidden himself—this unknown enemy—to shoot them in cold blood. Merciless as a lynx watching a rabbit run, he was waiting for their return from their trap-lines. They would show him equal mercy.

"Why not get Yellow-eye and Flash? They'll smell him out," Brock suggested.

"No!" had been Gaspard's decisive answer. "Een de dark, de dog weel yelp and warn heem, and he get away eef dey jump heem he might shoot or cut one wid de knife. I hunt dar Cree."

So they started, a hundred yards apart, to follow the trap-line in to the camp, for the one in ambush would wait, now, to shoot by the light of the fire of the returned hunters and would lie close by.

Fifty yards from the camp the moving shadows faded into black patches of scrub. An hour passed and the forest floor beneath the spruce was banked with blackness. Then from a great naked poplar beside the decoy trail floated the "Who, noo—noo—noo, whooo—noo!" of the horned owl.

Again, the hunting call of the winged assassin of the night broke the tense silence. Shortly, the answering voice of its mate drifted over the frozen spear heads of the black spruce. For a space, the frosted stars glittered above a soundless forest, then, again, the muffled threat to the little people of the snows waked the flitter night.

Shortly, like a ghost, a blur of black, due in the starlight, to dissolve in the blackness of a thicket.

"See anything?"

"No," came the whisper. "I hunt every place near de camp. We get de dog. Dey weel fin' heem."

"You bet they will! If he's still here."

Stealing back to where the impatient dogs chafed and whined at their feet at being thus deserted without food, Gaspard and Brock, each taking two on leash, returned to the hunt.

With repeated pats and whispered commands, "Go get 'em, Flash! Get 'em, Kena!" Brock released the straining huskies, who sensed that something was wrong—some animal near the camp they should hunt down in the blackness.

Mad with excitement the two huskies faded into the gloom, yelping at each plunge in the deep snow. Behind them stole Brock McCain, his knife loose in its sheath, his blue fingers gripping his cocked rifle. Beyond the camp, to the east, the thick yelp of Yellow-Eye mingled with the higher voice of Silt-Ear as Gaspard set them into the muck to hunt down the lurking enemy, and the forest was shortly a bedlam as the excited dogs thrashed through the deep snow yelping as they ran.

For a space, from the direction of the yelping, Brock knew that the dogs were beating aimlessly back and forth over a wide area; then the familiar snarl and fighting roar of Flash, not a hundred yards away, started his blood with a leap.

"Flash's got him!" From three directions the growls of Flash had drawn the separated huskies through the muck of the spruce, yelping as they ran. Then as the bounding Brock neared the spot where his dog was blindly fighting to the death against steel and lead, from the blackness the great husky bellowed forth his pean of victory.

Reaching his dog with a few strides Brock fingered the trigger of his gun, thrust forward at a black mass in the snow.

"Flash! You got . . . By the Northern Lights—the bear trap!" Brock struck a match. With leg gripped by the toothed jaws of the bear trap, set in the decoy trail, lay the crumpled body of a Cree. Knotted in death, the frost-blackened face grimaced horribly as sightless eyes stared up at the boy who bent over it.

"So we've frozen our hands to stalk a dead man!" muttered Brock with a shiver of mingled pity and loathing, as he thrust his blue fingers inside his coat beneath the armpits to revive circulation, for the night was growing bitter. Then the excited huskies, followed closely by Gaspard, reached the trapped assassin.

"Ah-hah!" exclaimed the surprised halfbreed. "I pass not fifty yards from here when I circle de camp, but nevalre look for de trap."

"He must have been caught yesterday," said Brock. "In forty below, he'd freeze in a few minutes. Well, this camp is getting too hot for us. We've got to move."

The body was that of a short, middle-aged Cree. The gun which was cocked, was a 30-30 Winchester, commonly used in the country, but when Gaspard drew the knife from the bead-embroidered sheath, he gave an exclamation of surprise. "By gar," he gasped. "My fader's knife!"

"What? You're sure? You recognize it?"

"Yes; it ees de handle—dis cut here! And de same notch een de blade. He chipped eet on a stone."

For an interval, the kneeling figure of the son of Pierre Lecroix set as stiff as the frozen murderer, anchored to the inexorable vise of steel jaws. Then the small eyes glittered as they met his friend's sympathetic gaze.

"I go nord an' learn from dese peop' een de moon de de crust."

"Yes, old partner, we'll go north when the snow grows hard for good sledding. Now, come, let's feed the dogs and our own empty stomachs."

So returning to the camp, the friends left the thing in the snow that had come to destroy them—shoot them down ruthlessly from ambush. To Gaspard, these murderers of the father he had loved were so much vermin. Because they desired the Yellow-Leg country for their own they had wiped out Pierre Lecroix as one crushes the blackfly on one's face, and now would deal likewise with Brock and him. In the months on the headwaters he had become a fatalist. Never again did he hope to see the Starving river and the people at Hungry House. Some day before the wedges of the returning geese crossed the sky, he would go to join his father—some day, the Cree wolves of these white traders would take toll of Gaspard Lecroix for the men who had so mysteriously disappeared.

The following morning they pried down the spring with a spruce sapling, freeing the jaws of the bear trap, and buried the Cree in the snow. (TO BE CONTINUED.)

New Light Shed Upon Origin of Languages

It is now suggested that the student of language must look for origins in Africa. Doctor Marr, of the Russian Academy of Science, has announced that from the early Stone age, when peoples of African type picturesquely dotted the European fringe of the Mediterranean, language has been brought down with the retention of some of the Afro-oid elements and words. The Hottentot language was a highly sophisticated speech, instead of a crude and primitive one, although, perhaps, not as formidable as the agglutinative Tagalog of the Philippines. Hottentot seems likely now to charm etymologists away from the progenitor tongue of the Teuton and from Sanscrit. It may make the Scythian plains but tarrying spots for speech, rather than the homeland of modern related languages.

HELD YEARS IN SOVIET PRISONS

American Sailor at Last Free After Trying Experiences in Russia.

Riga, Latvia.—Clarence Carlson, an American sailor, arrived at Riga recently, after an extensive tour of Russia as the guest of the Soviet government. Like other American visitors, Carlson was provided with Cheka guides, but while the guides cost the tourists $6 per diem, the expenses of Carlson were provided free. He was also provided free railroad tickets, lodging and food during most of the travels.

This unusual generosity toward a visitor who was not an American delegate to the Communist internationale is explained by the fact that during his three years and three months' tour of Russia Carlson was in jail two years and eight months. The remaining seven months were spent flipping freights from one end of Russia to the other seeking escape.

Carlson's father, Ole, lives in Chicago, and he has requested his family to prepare the fatted calf, having developed an appetite in the last three years on the diet of the different prisons.

Visits 15 Prisons.

When the Moore McCormick steamer, Sagaporack, left Helsinki, Finland, on October 19, 1926, it also left Carlson enjoying the dry regime of Finland. A few days later Carlson jumped the Finnish-Russian border and landed in jail in Leningrad, where, after a four and a half months' imprisonment, he was banished for three years to Astrakhan.

Traveling in easy stages, accompanied by armed Chekist, Carlson visited fifteen prisons before arriving in Astrakhan two months later. Escaping, he flipped freights and was arrested three months later on the Latvian frontier. He then visited the jails of Smolensk, Minsk, Moscow, Orel, Tambov, and Saratov, before returning to Astrakhan, where the bolsheviks urged him to confess he was an American spy, promising him his freedom.

Hearing that other American sailors had been shot after making such confessions, Carlson refused and also refused to sign papers making him a Soviet citizen. Instead, his growing knowledge of Russia enabled him to inform the Chekists what he thought of their government, and he was banished to Uralsk, where, after a hunger strike, he was released and sent to Khrizhit Steppes.

Escapes Again.

Again escaping, he reached the Polish frontier and was again arrested and imprisoned at Kiev for four months before he was returned to Uralsk under guard. In the course of his travels through Russia Carlson reckons he has visited fifty prisons.

"The bolsheviks are planning everything in Russia after the American pattern," related Carlson. "They are also building so-called Americana prisons, supposedly following the architecture of our prisons. All the prisons in Russia are jammed with peasants who have failed to pay the extortionate grain tax and major jail executions are held three or four nights a week."

"The most trying experience was at Kiev when they fed me salt herring and black bread for a week without any water, trying to compel me to confess I was a spy."

He reports that the only people satisfied are the Chekists and the Communists, and an unusually large number of people are being executed by the new reign of terror which is further proof that the Communist rule is collapsing.

Carlson is twenty-nine years old. When he went to Russia he weighed 155 pounds, when he got out he weighed 118.

Bears Sleep in Winter? Hunters Say It Isn't So

Winnipeg, Man.—That fable of bears going to sleep when winter comes isn't so, three young hunters of Saskatchewan, Nat Grosser, Andy Glass and Blake Williams, have discovered.

They had marked down a bear's den at Haddock, subzero weather came and they knew Bruin was unconscious. So Nat was permitted to crawl into the den to haul Mr. Bear out.

But he did take the precaution to have the other boys grasp each one of his legs—just for instance, as he explained it.

That saved his life, that and the ability to make his getaway in nothing flat when he discovered his mistake.

He was well in the den when the outsiders heard a yell that might have come from a giant. They banied their friend out. Close behind was a big brown bear. When the beast got his eyes open the hunters were crossing the adjoining county line.

Way to Happiness Simple says California Physician

After 28 Years' Practice Describes Natural Treatment which Keeps People Well

"AFTER over 28 years of the study and practice of medicine, during which time I have treated and supervised the treatment of almost every variety of human illness," writes Dr. Martin J. Dobson of Los Angeles, "I believe I have discovered the greatest blessing that has been bestowed upon the human family. Statistics show that of all classes of persons, physicians and nurses live to a riper old age than any other class of people. I believe this is no doubt due to the fact that they know more about the importance of daily elimination.

Dr. Dobson's Discovery

"The remedy I am speaking of is colorless, tasteless, harmless to the most delicate alimentary tract, from infancy to old age. It is non-habit-forming, and it is essential to the smooth running efficiency of the human body, which needs lubrication just like any other machine.

"This remedy is Nujol.

"Most human ailments can be traced to the alimentary tract for either the main or the contributing cause, and most of these disorders can be prevented or cured through proper cleansing and regulating by the administration of Nujol as per instructions on the bottle and wrapper.

Nujol Laboratories considers privilege to publish Dr. Dobson's endorsement of Nujol.

Physicians and nurses themselves use and advise you to use Nujol regularly to clean the poisons out of your body (we all have them), cause these poisons are what makes us feel headachy, depressed, and our minds.

It is always safe to use Nujol because it is not a medicine; it contains absolutely no drugs; it causes no habit; it is non-fattening; it is harmless internal lubrication.

What This Should Mean to You In the last few weeks we have received over 5,000 letters from people over the world, telling us how Nujol has helped them to happiness and success by keeping their bodies eternally clean. You can buy Nujol in sealed packages at any drug store. It costs but a few cents, and will make you feel like a million dollars.

Start Nujol tonight. Use it regularly for two weeks, and learn joy and the happiness that comes from buoyant, zestful health!

Drugs Excite the Kidneys, Drink Water

Take Salts at First Sign of Bladder Irritation or Backache

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble because we often eat too much rich food. Our blood is filled with acids which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache, or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or if you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, begin drinking lots of good water and get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

You naturally hate partisans who are willing to injure the country in order to defeat the other party.

ILLNESS CANNOT KEEP THIS YOUTH FROM SCHOOL

Washington Youngster Has Tube In Back and Has Undergone 14 Operations.

Washington.—When the seventh grade pupils of the old Force-Adams school were transferred to become "charter pupils" of the new John Quincy Adams school, at Columbia road and Nineteenth street, twelve-year-old Leonard Rogers Smith was not to be left behind, tube or no tube in his back.

Although barely recovered from influenza and pneumonia and still limping from a stiff leg that resulted from illness two years ago, the boy insisted on registering on the day of the opening of the new school.

Daily he rides all the way from his home at 2933 F street to school on the street cars and then back again in the afternoon. He can't take part in any of the games of the other children, but that doesn't worry him. He's more concerned with keeping up with his class, anyway, and is doing just that in spite of his handicaps and enforced absences.

Last fall, shortly after the beginning of the school term, he contracted influenza which turned into pneumonia. Physicians at Children's hospital despaired of his life for the third time in his short span. The boy pulled through, however, perhaps by sheer determination to live. Part of a rib was removed and for months he will have to go about with a tube in his back.

A tube in the back is no new experience for Leonard. Two years ago he was ill with infected mastoid glands, septic pneumonia and pleurisy and the doctors had to remove part of another rib and insert a drain. This illness left his leg stiff, perhaps for life.

The boy's ill health began when he was stricken with scarlet fever at the age of six. Then five operations were necessary. When he was ten, physicians operated seven times and during his latest illness once, making a total of fourteen times he has been under the surgeon's knife.

Old Portuguese Man and Woman Have New Teeth

Lisbon, Portugal.—Nature has repeated a rare prank by twice producing new teeth in the mouths of aged Portuguese, once in the case of a woman of one hundred and five, who has one new tooth, and again for a man of ninety-eight, who has three new teeth.

Unfortunately for the theorists who hold that an ascetic manner of life is the only guarantee of health in old age, both of these exceptionally vital persons admit that they have not always followed the tenets of the apostles of temperance. The woman, Rosa de Silva Carreira, who lives near Oliveira de Azemeis, has been accustomed to wine ever since childhood. Married at twenty-eight, she has been a widow for 18 years. She has 10 sons and 2 daughters, 29 grandchildren, 31 great-grandchildren, 31 great-great-grandchildren, and 4 great-great-great-grandchildren. She lost her last tooth twenty years ago.

Luz de Oliveira is the ninety-eight-year-old man who has three new teeth. With the vivacity, strength, and general appearance of a man of forty, he enjoys the best of good health, and up to six months ago worked hard on his farm.

Officers Brown Make Bank Robbing Risky

Minneapolis.—Brown and Brown, the bank bandit busters, is the title fixed by Twin City newspapers upon two of Minnesota's leading peace officers. They are Earl Brown, "millionaire sheriff" and head of the state highway patrol, and Charles D. Brown, chief investigator for the Minnesota Bankers' Protective association.

A few weeks ago Charles Brown mowed down three bandits with a machine gun as they attempted to hold up the First National bank of Shakopee, while Earl Brown, almost single handed, captured four other bank robbers at Elk River after a running gun fight.

New Diesel Engines Tested in Germany

Berlin.—A Diesel-engined locomotive with 1,200 horse power has been tried out by the German railroad company in the vicinity of Stuttgart. The test, which followed six years of preparation, was declared a success. It was shown that the percentage of effective utilization of fuel was more than double that of the locomotives fired with coal, but because of the high price of oil and the great cost of producing Diesel engines the general introduction of these locomotives in the immediate future is considered problematic.

Hunter Is Wounded by Goose He Had Killed

San Francisco.—W. F. Speedy of Pittsburg, Calif., killed a goose, but the goose had its revenge. It shot off Speedy's left hand. Speedy, with a group of companions, had bagged several geese and was about to quit the hunt recently when a flock sailed overhead. Speedy fired and one goose fell. It dropped into a neighboring blind, striking the trigger of another hunter's gun and discharging it. The charge tore off Speedy's hand.

An Ailing CHILD

Are you prepared to render first aid and quick comfort the moment your youngster has an upset of any sort? Could you do the right thing—immediately—though the emergency came without warning—perhaps tonight? Castoria is a mother's standby at such times. There is nothing like it in emergencies, and nothing better for everyday use. For a sudden attack of colic, or the gentle relief of constipation; to allay a feverish condition, or to soothe a fretful baby that can't sleep. This pure vegetable preparation is always ready to ease an ailing youngster. It is just as harmless as the recipe on the wrapper reads. If you see Chas. H. Fletcher's signature, it is genuine Castoria. It is harmless to the smallest infant; doctors will tell you so. You can tell from the recipe on the wrapper how mild it is, and how good for little systems. But continue with Castoria until a child is grown.

Blackboards of translucent ground glass lighted from behind are proposed as a substitute for the usual black surface familiar to every school child. DEATON BUYS RANCH NEAR SANDERSON

Clyde Deaton of this city has contracted for the purchase of 18,000 acres of land located about 25 miles southwest of this city in Brewster County. This land is being purchased from the Light and Jones estate of Alpine.

Mr. Deaton has about 2400 goats on the ranch now and expects to move in 1200 more in the near future. The consideration was not made public.

Sheriff W. J. Banner returned last Thursday from Elizabethtown, Ky., where he went for a man that was indicted by the last grand jury. Before he left for that city, Sheriff Banner was wired by the sheriff of that place that the man was there and would be placed under arrest. Upon reaching the city he was told by the sheriff, a brother-in-law of the man wanted, that he had evaded arrest. However, the new officers that were coming in promised Sheriff Banner that they would help in every way to get the accused man.

Ed Downie came in Wednesday from San Antonio to look after business interests here.

THE CENSUS REPORTS FOR ABSENT FAMILIES

Census Bureau makes special provision for enumeration of families planning to be away from home during the month of April.

The Fifteenth Decennial Census of the United States will be taken during the month of April. The enumeration will be made by a force of about 100,000 enumerators who will go from house to house and secure the information required for the census. Every person is to be enumerated, so far as possible, at his "usual place of abode" or the place where he usually lives. Where individual members of a family are away from home at the time the census is taken they will be reported to the enumerator by other members of the family.

For cases where it is known in advance that the whole family will be away from home at that time, special provision has been made by the Director of the Census in the form of an absent family schedule which is to be filled out by some responsible member of the family in advance of the census date and transmitted to the local Supervisor of the Census. A copy of this schedule can be secured by application to Mr. W. H. Case, 1202 Mills Building, El Paso, Texas, who is the Census Supervisor for this district.

Families planning to be away during the month of April leaving the home closed or with no one in charge who is qualified to give the census information to the enumerator, are urged to obtain one of these schedules at once and to fill it out and send it to Mr. W. H. Case at the earliest possible date. Or if the house is left in charge of a servant who will be sure to be at home when the enumerator calls, the schedule may be left with such servant for delivery to the enumerator. The information furnished on this schedule will be treated as confidential and will be used only for the tabulation of statistics which will not reveal any information with regard to individuals or families.

There will be taken immediately a Census of Distribution and Manufacturers. This will be of great importance to all merchants and producers of all sorts. While they will be individually required to give certain confidential information, it will be handled by the Bureau as mass statistics, which is hoped to eliminate the tremendous waste between the cost of production and the cost to the consumer.

For this county, Terrell, Mrs. Theresa Dawson has been appointed to enumerate this Distribution and Manufacturers Census. She will begin her work just as soon as the supervisor receives the supplies and can get them in her hands.

Know Your School

Searching efforts to stamp out illiteracy in the United States have been instigated by persons of unusual prominence in the nation's life. Within recent months the nation has been amazed to learn of the ignorance prevailing among the mountaineers near President Hoover's summer camp at Rapidan, Va. The situation gained nationwide notice because Rapidan is less than 100 miles from the nation's capital and because the president himself took an interest in the problem.

RESOLUTION.

Whereas, it having pleased our Heavenly Father to call from her earthly abode the mother of our beloved sisters Mary King and Octavio Downie

Be it therefore, resolved: That we, the members of Sanderson Chapter No. 136 Order of the Eastern Star extend to our bereaved sisters our deepest sympathy and may they realize that our God is too wise to err, too good to be unkind, and may they with a trusting faith leave it all to Him, knowing that "He doeth all things well," and that he will comfort and lighten the burden of all who put their trust in Him.

"We must not think of them as dead.

All the loved that we used to know:

Every road has a turn ahead. Out of our sight awhile they go. Out of sight around the bend— But we shall meet at the journey's end."

Be it further resolved, that a copy of the resolutions be sent to our bereaved sisters, a copy be spread on the minutes of the Chapter and a copy be published in the Sanderson Times.

THE CENSUS REPORTS FOR ABSENT FAMILIES

Census Bureau makes special provision for enumeration of families planning to be away from home during the month of April.

The Fifteenth Decennial Census of the United States will be taken during the month of April. The enumeration will be made by a force of about 100,000 enumerators who will go from house to house and secure the information required for the census. Every person is to be enumerated, so far as possible, at his "usual place of abode" or the place where he usually lives. Where individual members of a family are away from home at the time the census is taken they will be reported to the enumerator by other members of the family.

For cases where it is known in advance that the whole family will be away from home at that time, special provision has been made by the Director of the Census in the form of an absent family schedule which is to be filled out by some responsible member of the family in advance of the census date and transmitted to the local Supervisor of the Census. A copy of this schedule can be secured by application to Mr. W. H. Case, 1202 Mills Building, El Paso, Texas, who is the Census Supervisor for this district.

Families planning to be away during the month of April leaving the home closed or with no one in charge who is qualified to give the census information to the enumerator, are urged to obtain one of these schedules at once and to fill it out and send it to Mr. W. H. Case at the earliest possible date. Or if the house is left in charge of a servant who will be sure to be at home when the enumerator calls, the schedule may be left with such servant for delivery to the enumerator. The information furnished on this schedule will be treated as confidential and will be used only for the tabulation of statistics which will not reveal any information with regard to individuals or families.

There will be taken immediately a Census of Distribution and Manufacturers. This will be of great importance to all merchants and producers of all sorts. While they will be individually required to give certain confidential information, it will be handled by the Bureau as mass statistics, which is hoped to eliminate the tremendous waste between the cost of production and the cost to the consumer.

For this county, Terrell, Mrs. Theresa Dawson has been appointed to enumerate this Distribution and Manufacturers Census. She will begin her work just as soon as the supervisor receives the supplies and can get them in her hands.

NEWS AND HAPPENINGS OF DRYDEN AIRDROME

During the past two weeks has been a busy time for the personnel of the airdrome. All students of the advance flying school of Kelly Field made a cross-country flight to El Paso and returned. Each flight of students had from one to four instructors with them flying in separate aircraft.

Out of all the aircraft making trips this way, there was only two mishaps, one broke a wing at El Paso, and the other broke a connecting rod and was forced to land at Hinds Ranch, eight miles north of Langtry. A new engine was brought to this station in a bombing plane by Lt. Boyden of Kelly Field. He brought with him three mechanics to install the new engine. Lt. Boyden also had with him the wing for the aircraft at El Paso. While landing at this station he had a flat tire and was forced to remain over night at this station while a new tire was being brought to him. Lt. Baxter came with a new tire the following morning in another bombing plane and upon changing tires Lt. Baxter returned to Kelly Field and Lt. Boyden departed for El Paso.

Lt. Boyden returned the following day and stayed until the new engine was installed in the bomber. He made several flights to the Hinds Ranch while here and when ready Lt. Schram of Kelly Field, with Sgt. Wallace as passenger, flew to this station and Lts. Schram and Boyden flew the bomber back to Kelly Field. Sgt. Wallace flew the bomber that Lt. Boyden had been flying and Lt. Schram also returned.

On February 2, Lt. O'Connell,
