Wm. Wiley Escapes As Shots Run Wild

Accused Murderer of Leigh Harkey, At Liberty On $7,500 Bond

SCENE OF FIST FIGHT

Father Of Accused Treated For Minor Thumb Injury Later

Special Correspondence.
FT. STOCKTON, Sept. 16.—Blazing guns here Tuesday added new drama to the latest Trans-Pecos murder case, that of William Wiley, 26-year-old cowboy, charged with the death of Leigh Harkey, Sheffield ranchman. Wiley, who was slated for trial here Wednesday, escaped a volley of shots fired from a high powered rifle, when he ran for refuge and escaped untouched in a dramatic episode of revenge staged in the white sunlight of a brilliant late Summer day.

Jeff Harkey is at liberty on a $2,500 bond and Jim Harkey on a $1,000 bond, as a result of the occurrence at the east side of the court house here today. A special venire of 52 men and a regular venire of 48 men was called for Wednesday morning in the court of C. R. Sutton, district judge. A continuance of the trial is expected. Wiley is at liberty on a $7,500 bond.

Shots Fired

William Wiley, Ike Wiley, a brother, his father, Henry Wiley, and the defendant's grandfather, the latter of San Angelo, were said to have been sitting in a car at the side of the court house when another car drove up. In the latter car were Jim Harkey, Jeff Harkey and Houston McIntyre. One of the Harkey boys is related to have gone into the court house and then to have come out again. Then a fight began in which Henry Wiley, father of man accused of murder, grappled with Jim Harkey. After the struggle Wiley was treated for an injured thumb, said to have been injured by the impact of a revolver hammer. The thumb was believed to have been caught between the hammer and the firing pin of the gun. The gun was said to have been that of Harkey.

Then William Wiley began to run, bullets from a high-powered rifle fanning the air, but missing him. Jeff Harkey is said to have fired the shots which ranged from a distance of a few yards to 200. William Wiley escaped, ran into a Mexican store, and then Henry Wiley suffered bruises and cuts on the arms assertedly from being struck with a rifle. Judge Sutton and Hart Johnson, district attorney, came out and disarmed the men with the guns. Judge Sutton has ordered the grand jury reconvened for Thursday when today's fight will be investigated.

Sheepmen Set Convention Date

Sheep and Goat Raisers To Meet In Del Rio Dec. 16 and 17

At the Executive committee meeting of the Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association, held in Kerrville last Thursday, December 16 and 17 were the dates set for the annual convention to be held in Del Rio, marking the change of yearly meetings from summer to winter.

T. L. Drisdale of Juno was made chairman of the convention. Judge W. A. Whitten of San Angelo, president of the Wool Growers Central Storage Company and a member of the Livestock Sanitary Commission, presided at the meeting and reported that Texas had been freed of sheep scabies.

At this meeting, sixteen new members and one associate member were taken into the association. The financial report showed that the organization had a balance of $6,304.44.

The business sessions were held at the Kerr County courthouse. At noon a luncheon was given at the Blue Bonnet Hotel for the visitors by the Chamber of Commerce. Ally Beitel, chamber of commerce president; E. H. Prescott, president of the Rotary Club; Senator Julius Real of Kerrville, Judge Whitten of San Angelo and J. M. Jones of College Station were the speakers for the occasion.

Resolution adopted at this meeting included one of thanks to the packers for co-operation in handling pulled wool, one of thanks to T. B. Marksmanship is not the only matter that receives attention at Camp Perry, Ohio, where the national rifle matches are held. Police officers go there to get instruction in the best way to disarm desperadoes in hand-to-hand encounters and in similar work. One of them is here seen obtaining a little lesson in Ju-Jitsu from Capt. James F. Strain.

Sul Ross Ready for Opening Next Week

Many Added Improvements To Campus And Library; New Lights Strung

ALPINE, Sept. 17.—When the students of Sul Ross State Teachers College arrive in Alpine for registration on Monday and Tuesday, September 21 and 22, they will be greeted by a more beautiful campus and greatly improved building and other facilities.

The extensive campus park is to be well lighted this year, with 34 high-powered lamps being installed this week. These lights are placed on the gateways and at different points on the campus drives and the campus circle.

"Our library has been enlarged during the summer," said President Morelock, "and we expect to add 4,000 new volumes at an early date." The library now has 16,000 volumes, receives 126 weekly and monthly magazines, and eight daily newspapers.

The Library Auditorium, recently completed, is now fully equipped for every sort of concert, dramatic, and lyceum performance, including draperies for the doors and windows. A $3,000 Mason and Hamlin grand piano has also been added.

The girl's dormitory, a 104-room fireproof structure, one block from the campus, has been renovated throughout. The rooms have been redecorated, and a large parlor, which will serve as a social center, has been provided. The boys' dormitory also has been refurnished and redecorated throughout.

Kokernot Park, the 35-acre playground in which is located the beautiful student lodge, is to be the scene of much social activity during the long session. The college cafeteria, now finished and specially lighted and decorated, will also be used as a social center this year.

PRIZES OFFERED IN SEARCH FOR NATIVE TYPES TEXAS PECANS

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 17.—With the object of discovering, if possible, better native varieties of Texas pecans, J. H. Burkett, chief of pecan work in the department of agriculture, has announced he will award prizes totalling $35 for the best native varieties sent in to the department this fall.

Any variety which has not been propagated for sale will be eligible for one of six prizes, and anyone may enter.

Pecans will be judged in two classes: Fancy table nuts; and nuts adapted to commercial shelling. Prizes in each class are: First, $10; second, $5.00; and third, $2.50. To be eligible for a first prize in either class, the pecan, as an individual, must score superior to the best of the named varieties, considering both nut and tree.

This condition does not apply to second and third prizes. Winners, however, must be prepared to furnish scions free to the department of agriculture for testing. The tests will be under restrictions so as to protect the rights of the owner of the tree.

Burkett said he had been assured of co-operation from A. & M. College in making tests of any new varieties discovered, these tests to be made in conjunction with other projects now projected or under way.

The contest was initiated, he said, in the hope of locating better native varieties of pecans, with the thought that perhaps the best natives have not been discovered, and mediocre pecans should not be propagated if better are available. He declared the industry is in need of more better varieties than those now being propagated.

Anyone desiring to enter the contest should forward a quart of pecans to the pecan division of the state department of agriculture. All creditable nuts remaining after the judging will be placed on display in the department, under the name of the grower.

Entries will close January 1, but pecans should be sent in as soon as possible, Burkett said.

VETERAN WEST TEXAN DIES

Funeral Services Held For T. M. Sheley at Marathon Last Saturday

Funeral services were held in Marathon last Saturday afternoon for T. M. Sheley, pioneer West Texas ranchman who died Friday noon following a month's illness with cancer of the stomach.

T. M. Sheley was a native Texan having been born in Wilson County, August 5, 1868. For the past 30 years he had been in this section of the country and at the time of his death was engaged in the ranching industry at Tesnus, and was commissioner of Precinct 3, Brewster county. In 1903 he was converted and joined the Baptist church, being a devout member of that faith since. He was a well-liked man as was evidenced by the large number of friends from this section of the country who attended his funeral.

Funeral services were conducted in the home of Fred Clark at Marathon, by Mr. Sheley's pastor, the Rev. Ira Harrison, pastor of Sanderson Baptist church. The Masonic Lodge of Alpine, of which Mr. Sheley was a member, had charge of graveside services. The floral offering was large and beautiful, attesting the high esteem in which Mr. Sheley was held by those who knew him.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Esther Sheley, two sons, Terry, Jr., and Charlie Sheley of Tesnus; 3 brothers, Charlie Sheley of Hollywood, Calif., Offie Sheley of Laguna and Ira Sheley of Del Rio, Texas; two sisters, Mrs. Lydia Barksdale of Dryden and Mrs. Mollie Wilson of Del Rio, as well as numerous other relatives.

Active pall bearers were Dr. G. W. Worthington, Felix McCoy, Clarence Herd, Jack Bourland, S. N. Scott, and Charles Treadwell.

SAVING TIME

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

"It isn't the money one makes that counts," the proverb says, "but what one saves."

I am not so sure that the principle holds with reference to time. It isn't the time one saves that really matters, it is what one does with it.

Foreigners are amazed at the number and the complicated character of our time-saving devices which run from automatic typewriters that eliminate the hello girl to electric washing machines which make doing the family washing a brief morning delight.

"What do Americans do with all the time they save?" some one asked me not long ago. It is a question the answer to which is not so easily found.

The Galtons have scrapped their hot-air furnace and put in gas. It took so much time shoveling coal and taking out ashes and cleaning up the dirt which the sooty old coal furnace made, that Mrs. Galton was kept running up and down continually. The new heating apparatus is automatic, you know. All you have to do in the fall when the first cold spell comes on unexpectedly, is to light the pilot, turn on the gas, and there you are. A thermostat with the intelligence of a human being takes care of the rest. That is, maybe it does.

Mrs. Galton does not find that she has a great deal more time than she previously had. The clock which controls the thermostat has to be wound, and there are certain mechanical devices which have to be looked after and then she is afraid of an explosion, or that something will happen to the machinery, so she puts in a good deal of time worrying, or she runs up and down the cellar stairs to look things over almost as often as she did when she was shoveling coal, and she doesn't find that she has any more real leisure than she had before.

I have never been sure, for instance, that the time we are supposed to save by the use of the telephone is not more than offset by the time that is wasted by that same device.

I am afraid we waste as much time keeping time-saving devices in order as we save.

"Follow the Leader" with Ed Wynn Plays Tonight at Princess

Many Other Wholesome and Entertaining Pictures To Be Shown Next Week

If you awaken laughing tomorrow morning, then you, too, will have seen Ed Wynn in "Follow the Leader" at the Princess Theatre tonight, just as we are. Since seeing a preview of the picture, we've been laughing all day, and trying on our own hook those intriguing inventions and gadgets with which the giggling comedian is so handy. We've never had such a good time in a moving picture theatre before, and it will be many a day, likely, before we'll enjoy ourselves so much again.

Wynn's fooling is contagious, and, on the talking screen, he is, more than ever, "The Perfect Fool." Rarely, indeed, is such supreme fun-making, such honest laugh-making presented for the entertainment of an audience. We heartily recommend Ed Wynn for people of all ages, and this includes everybody from six to sixty.

The story of "Follow the Leader" centers around Wynn's comic antics, but a clever little romance, played by Ginger Rogers and Stanley Smith, looms up in the background with enjoyable effect. It's not a serious romance, just a boy-and-girl affair which adds point and flavor to the Wynn fooling.

Wynn, as an unwilling leader of a gang of good-natured and naive badmen, is put into many embarrassing situations as he is forced by his cohorts to get Ginger a stage engagement by hook or crook. He resorts to kidnapping the star of the show to bring this about, and gets himself into infinite difficulties by kidnapping the wrong girl. As a result of his activities, Ginger's romance goes on the rocks, and Wynn has to do a right-about-face to patch up the love affair.

The story depends so much on all the comedy talent Wynn brings to it that words can in no way do it justice. But the supporting cast fills in splendidly, with the bragging Lou Holtz, and a group of seasoned stage players in the group. See Wynn at the Princess theatre tonight and get yourself a good laugh, such as we are enjoying today.

"Westward Bound," starring Buddy Roosevelt, comes to the Princess Saturday night. Plenty of action, gun-smoke, rare romance and fighting escapades help to put the picture in the "top-rung" class of modern talking westerners. By all means, don't miss this opportunity of thrills!

Bebe Daniels, beloved wherever motion picture are known, comes to the Princess Theatre Monday and Tuesday next in Warner Bros. latest production, "My Past." Those who have seen the bright particular star of "Rio Rita," "Dixiana," and many other screen successes—declare that she has never exerted her bewitching charm to better effect than in the present picture, in which she plays the role of Doree Macy, an actress who is loved by two men, who are pals and business partners.

Ben Lyon, who, by the way, is Miss Daniels' husband, plays the young lover who is unhappily married to a wife who is quite as dissatisfied with him as he with her. Natalie Moorehead, with her usual sophistication, portrays the gallavranting wife. Doree's other suitor is played magnificently by Lewis Stone, who love, being that of an older man, finally causes him to give her to his young friend. Many complications block the way to this culmination, however—and Albert Gran furishes some delightful fun along the way. Other roles are made much of by Virginia Sale and Daisy Belmore. Pert Joan Blondell does some of her best character work as the soft-hearted friend with the hard-boiled veneer.

But it is the charming femininity of Bebe Daniels which makes "My Past" so memorable a picture. This and the clean-cut performance of Lewis Stone as the middle-aged lover who so well understands that youth must and should win, and the dynamic portrayal of Ben Lyon as the young admirer of Doree.

Screen play and dialogue are by Charles Kenyon. Roy Del Ruth cleverly directed "My Past."

To the Princess comes a special all-talking (Spanish) picture on Wednesday next for one day only, "Las Estrelladas."

And now—! My! My! What a picture! The fabulous old lady who lived in a shoe, was just an indigent and restless myth, in comparison to Billy Kaplan.

Kaplan knows what troubles with children are; he happened to be assistant to Director Norman Taurog during the recording of "Skippy," famous funny "kid" and friends associated in the daily cartoon endeavors over the Percy Crosby by-line.

Day after day, Kaplan had dozens of children under his wing. He had to keep them happy and interested in work and off-duty. They had to be herded into classes for schooling when not working. They must have plenty to eat and not too much. They must have rest and recreation.

More than 100 children have been used in many of the scenes.

Fortunately, many of these children were selected when the company went on location at San Bernardino. Children of that city are not film-wise and therefore cause little trouble in their anxiety to please.

Kaplan's troubles, like those of the old lady who lived in the shoe, come from the five leading juvenile players. They are: Jackie Cooper, six-years old and the "Skippy" of the film; Robert Coogan, five-year-old brother of Jackie Coogan; Jackie Searl, Mitzi Green and Donald Haines.

Kaplan's job, day in and day out, was to temper the thrill-excursions with the stern business of maintaining a schedule, and the happy results attained are revealed in the spontaneous antics of the youngsters in the finished production: "Skippy," which will be shown at the Princess Theatre on next Thursday and Friday, September 25 and 26.

"HIS MAJESTY"

Woman's Most Precious Possession.

This picture shows a work in bronze by Daniel Chester French, exhibited at the Stockbridge Art Gallery. The title of the interesting bronze is "His Majesty," and the baby, needless to say, is HIS MAJESTY.

It is a fine statue, fine baby, fine mother.

The picture is printed to remind young women that on this earth there is no substitute for a happy marriage, and nothing whatever can be compared with a fine little baby.

No success, no "career," no flattery by the crowd can equal the delight that a mother finds in the possession of HER OWN CHILD.

No happiness can be compared to that of a mother who receives her new-born infant in her arms. Girls may not believe it, some of them, but they WILL believe it and KNOW IT, those of them that are fortunate enough to enjoy the experience of motherhood.

A baby can talk, a baby can grow as you grow, and grow around your heart, closer and closer, as it grows.

An infant can return your smile, with a lovelier smile, and with a love that will not change when you grow old and gray.

Remember that, young women, and marry.

A REAL KING!

WHISPERINGS

PSST! PSST! PSST! Have you—? You don't say! Well! Well! And away goes another reputation for life long honesty, decency, right living.

There isn't a more sinister, vicious, evil, advantage-taking method of spreading derogatory propaganda than through the Whispering Grapevine Route.

At times it rolls along apparently harmless as idle gossip. Then again as a thistle it turns over and over, gathering more rubbish through malignant contacts with venomous subjects which cling to it, until finally it becomes a giant prairie roller, a composite of all that is filthy and putrid in the community.

Fanned by the gale, the fastest runner cannot keep up with it. White-livered, black and white striped animals, who in order to further their own interests, or who delight in besmirching decent characters to the aroma of their own, start their whisperings by planting them deliberately at vulnerable peddling points, breathe the breath of life into their monsters, and then all theimps of Hell lash them on.

The old-time alleged powers of witchcraft were inconsequential, compared to the possibilities for character-slaying, embodied in the witchery of Dame Rumor, and yet today there are no stocks to fasten these vicious Rumor purveyors in, as objects of public contempt; no lashing posts at which to scourge them; no stakes at which to burn them.

Suicides, murders, bank failures, bankruptcies, home, church, and school wrecks are spectacles which rattle at the gate of Dame Rumor. Politicians work her overtime, and even in Washington's day she was so active, he declared he'd rather fight a whole army than one vicious rumor.

The worst enemy of prosperity, the outstanding enemy of progress, the foe of harmony, the greatest enemy of happiness, and the biggest liar in the universe, Dame Rumor is a wanton who refuses to come out and fight in the open.

She is sneaking, cowardly, snake-like; an object for fear and abhorrence, that should be crushed, squelched, choked, and hurled back into the depths of the bottomless pit from which she dared to emerge, because of the Satanic efforts of her masters.—Leader, Pipestone, Minnesota.

WORRY

WORRY IS AN unhealthy condition of normal mind and is a direct manifestation of fear. Probably one of the richest gifts with which we are endowed is the power of imagination. Yet imagination is a most prolific source of fear.

The chronic worrier usually has an over-active imagination—an imagination out of control. Our specific worries may be slightly different, but in the main they have the same basic characteristics.

I listen to the troubles of others and they seem to be largely imaginary and trivial. Then I think of my own and I realize that my troubles can be correctly classified about the same way.

We do not rid ourselves of worry by evading our responsibilities, nor by crawling out from under our normal load. The first step away from worry is to courageously and honestly face our problems and to segregate the real from the imaginary. As the prospector must learn to distinguish between gold and "fool's gold," so must we learn to distinguish between real problems and worries.

Thus we take stock of our so-called "troubles" and see how many we can discard. First in this list should come the worries in anticipation of events possible to happen and which usually do not. The remainder can be classified in the order of their importance and eliminated as fast as possible.

In these times the successful man has no time to worry. He is too busy thinking and working out constructive ways to solve his problems. He has learned to control his thoughts—which is the secret of the elimination of worry.—John J. Thomas, Pres. The Lloyd-Thomas Co., in "Angles of Business."

Civil Service Applicants Anxious to Learn Ratings

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—The Civil Service Commission stated today that a considerable number of persons who competed in the file clerk examination held throughout the country in the latter part of August are already making inquiry regarding their ratings.

Officials explained that this was the largest civil service examination ever held, approximately 29,000 persons being examined.

Because of the large number of applicants in this examination and because of the volume of the work of the Civil Service Commission at this time, it was estimated that it will be at least two or three months before reports of rating will be ready.

The Commission has instructed its examiners throughout the country to request competitors for Government positions not to make premature inquiries about their ratings inasmuch as such inquiries increase the volume of the work. Rating reports are mailed in every instance as soon as possible.

Mrs. Ira Harrison and Mrs. Gayle Mussey were shopping visitors in Del Rio Tuesday.

POTPOURRI

First to Use Petroleum

Petroleum was familiar to Indians inhabiting western Pennsylvania when white men first came in contact with them. Instead of burning it they used it as a body ointment, believing that it gave them strength and athletic valor. Occasionally they burned small quantities in religious ceremonies to drive away evil spirits.

An "Ace" . . . on every count, is this fine open coil type. It might be termed the modern coil spring for it was developed from that popular kind . . . yet it has been so vastly improved that you would hardly recognize it . . . More coils than in most springs, and each of just the right resiliency. Small governor springs prevent all side-sway. No rocking or tilting. Angle-iron top binding prevents tearing of sheets. Finished in a beautiful robin's-egg blue and priced no higher than ordinary springs.

Will You Let
Your Child's Eyes
Limp Through Life?

NOTICE the next time you are in a crowd of people how many of them are wearing glasses.

Why is it that so many eyes are defective? In a great many cases it is because of poor lighting and improper use of the eyes in childhood.

If you permit your child to read, to study, or even to play where there is not enough light or where there is blinding glare you are making a mistake that may be disastrous. Take care now to prevent your child's eyes from limping through life.

Good light cannot be obtained from bare lamps, or lamps improperly shaded. Use good light to eliminate harsh contrasts—between bright and dark areas.

Enjoy the benefit of plenty of light, for it is inexpensive, and new eyes cannot be bought for any price.

Let our home lighting specialist tell you how to arrange your lamps, and get the full value of the light you buy. This service is free.

We shall be glad to send you a free copy of our interesting booklet, "How to Light Your Home." Phone or write us today.

A colored man in a small town in Virginia, by thrift unusual for one of his race, saved $500, which he carried in a checking account in a negro bank. His Richmond banker advised him to wire for an explanation, and this answer was received:
