MANY ENROLLED AT OPENING OF SCHOOL MON.

Large Number Of Patrons Out For Opening Exercises

A large number of patrons as well as friends were in attendance at the opening of the Public Schools of this city on Monday morning of this week. The huge auditorium was packed with children, parents and friends who were assembled at 9 o'clock at which time a brief program was held before the pupils were assigned to the rooms.

The opening number was the singing of America by the audience, following which Rev. Ira Harrison gave the invocation. Following this in a few words, but to the point, Dr. John V. McCall gave a very interesting and splendid address to the student body on their again taking up their school duties. Mrs. A. P. Uterback, President of the Parent-Teachers Association, gave a brief message as to what the P. T. A. is expected to do and announced Thursday October 6, at 4 p. m. as the date for the first meeting of the association. Ex-Officio Supt. G. J. Henchaw then spoke a few words of encouragement to the students, following a solo given by O. H. McAdams. Following Prof. Brannan's words of appreciation, Rev. Stradley gave the benediction. The recessional for the students to march to their rooms was played by Miss Bea McAdams, who is the pianist for the school.

The enrollment in school is far greater than at anytime and many new faces were seen among the student body. Quite a number of 6-year-old children will be in attendance as the board decided that those children who were 6 years old before the first of next January would be allowed to attend.

Due to the economic situation the teaching force had to be cut a little this year, but that will not affect the number of subjects taught as the teachers will have to double up on their work.

Continuance Is Granted In Case From Val Verde

Acting upon a defense motion, District Judge Lee Wallace Tuesday granted an application for a continuance in the case of Lawrence Latta, charged with murder, which was sent to Uvalde on a change of venue from Val Verde County.

The motion for continuance was based on the illness of Judge C. C. Belcher of Del Rio and Judge James Cornell of San Angelo of the defense counsel, both of whom were unable to attend court. The defense was represented by Will A. Morris of San Antonio and Judge G. B. Fenley of Uvalde. The State was represented by District Attorney Julian LaCrosse of Del Rio, County Attorney W. P. Wallace of Del Rio and District Attorney K. K. Woodley of Sabin.

Latta is charged with the murder of his wife in a Del Rio apartment house last March. The case was set for Feb. 13, 1933. A special venire of 100 had been summoned. Many witnesses also had been called in the case.

The arguments of the attorney consumed most of Tuesday, and no other cases were tried. Wednesday, high water in the various streams of this section prevented District Attorney K. K. Woodley and a number of the members of the week's jury panel from reaching Uvalde, and Judge Wallace dismissed the jury for the week.

The R. N. Allen and E. W. Hardgrave families, who have been spending the summer on the Allen Hardgrave ranch, have moved into town for the school term.

Vincent Bohlman returned to Los Angeles, Calif., last week where he will enter Loyola High School for the coming year.

COUNTY BUDGET IS ADOPTED BY COMMISSIONERS

Regular Monthly Meeting Held Monday Budget Cut Some

The amount estimated for expenditures for Terrell County as set in the budget for the year 1933 is $52,557.53 approval of which was given Monday by the Commissioners at their regular monthly meeting. This expenditure is subject to change when they set the tax rate in February 1933. However, if a change in the budget is made the law provides that it may be decreased but not increased. Estimated collection for 1933 were figured to be about $55,173.71.

The budget was made from the records of 1931 as to collections and expenditures that year. Other business transacted at the Commissioners meeting Monday was the approving and paying of bills that accrued and the tax rolls for 1932 of the Assessor Jim Nance were approved. All bids for fuel oils were rejected and new bids for this will be heard October 1, 1932.

Commissioners present at the meeting were W. E. Stirman, precinct 1; Eugene Peeples, precinct 2; J. C. Mitchell, precinct 3.

S. P. WORKER HURT IN FALL FROM BRIDGE

L. H. Attaway Is Thought Seriously Injured In Accident

L. H. Attaway, Sanderson, received serious head and back injuries in a fall from the Southern Pacific bridge at Devil's River Friday afternoon.

Losing consciousness following a blow on the head, Attaway fell 26 feet from the flooring of the bridge to the ground. X-ray pictures to determine extent of his injuries will be made as soon as his condition permits, it was reported at the hospital.

Mr. Attaway is an old employe of the Southern Pacific, and is a member of the J. C. Hunt bridge crew.—Del Rio Evening News.

L. H. Attaway is a brother to Ted who is proprietor of the Sinclair Filling Station in this city. Late reports from his bedside were that he is getting along fairly well.

ANNUAL SESSION OF SUL ROSS COLLEGE OPENS SEPTEMBER 21

Sul Ross State Teachers College will begin its thirteenth Annual Session on September 21. An increase of at least 25 per cent in student enrollment, according to Dr. H. W. Morelock, is expected for the Fall Term. One of the most encouraging features is the large number of honor graduates applying for admission from the best high schools in West Texas.

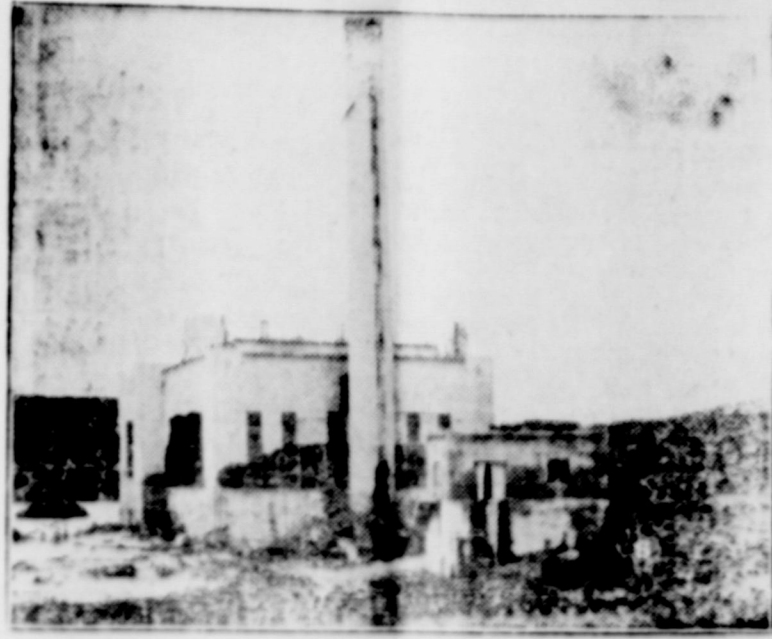

The price of room and board has dropped at least 25 per cent below that charged last year, and students are getting room and board for this fall in the best private boarding houses at $22.50 a month. Five-room Student Cottages will rent at $20.00 a month completely furnished.

Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Moore and children returned to their ranch home near here Sunday after being marooned in Del Rio several days due to high water. While in Del Rio they visited with Mrs. Moore's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Laughlin.

Mr. and Mrs. O. H. McAdams and daughters returned the latter part of last week from a visit with relatives in Sabin.

Mrs. W. F. Bohlman has returned from San Antonio where she spent the past week visiting.

$1,500,000 Power Plant Wrecked

Here is what remains of the $1,500,000 Central Power and Light Company's plant at Del Rio, Texas. The plant is located at the confluence of Devil's River and the Rio Grande. When the water hit the plant seven men working on the ground floor were trapped and spent the night atop the building.

Advise Ranchmen Not To Shear Short Wool This Fall

DEL RIO, Sept. 13.—Judge C. C. Belcher, wool man and ranchman is urging that ranchmen in this section do not shear their sheep this fall. "The 12-months wool is moving rapidly while short wool is not selling," Judge Belcher stated Saturday morning. "In fact, the use and demand of long wool over short wool is about the ratio of 25 to 1 in favor of long wool," Judge Belcher asserts.

An increase of about 5 cents a pound in long wool the last 40 days is brought to the attention of the producers. There is a carry-over of short wool for the last three years, Judge Belcher says, and he adds that some three weeks ago he was made an offer of 11 cents a pound on some short wool that he has stored in Boston. This is 7 cents a pound in Del Rio and this offer was made on short wool that has been stored shows the condition of the short wool market.

The supply of short wool is large and another clip would only lower the market value, Judge Belcher thinks. Shearing in the Del Rio country would not materially affect the market, it is pointed out, but shearing throughout the sheep country would. Wool men and wool house managers in San Angelo have also advised the ranchmen not to shear this fall. It is stated that many producers shear their flocks in San Angelo because of the needle grass. This pest gets into the hair of sheep that are carrying long wool and results in a heavy death loss. Such conditions do not prevail in the Del Rio country.

While the recent rains have been of untold value to the ranges, it also means that screw worms will appear in large numbers of freshly shorn stock and result in the death of many sheep, Judge Belcher concludes as further reason why he thinks it is inadvisable to shear this fall.

W. M. U. HAS MEETING

The W. M. U. of the Baptist Church met Monday afternoon for the regular Mission Study. After a short business session over which the president, Mrs. Duke presided Mrs. A. D. Brown taught the lesson and Mother Druse gave the devotional.

Nine members were present.

Mrs. O. T. Schupbach and daughter, Mabel have returned from a visit with relatives in Big Springs and El Paso. Accompanying them home was her sister-in-law, Mrs. Billy Bowden and Children from Big Springs.

Miss Kate Frazier, and sister, Mrs. Pat H. Beard of Tyler who have been visiting with friends in Alpine returned home last Friday Miss Frazier has resumed her duties as manager of the local Western Union Office.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Lee and family have gone to San Angelo where they will make their future home.

CULTURE CLUB TO MEET

The first meeting of the new year for the Sanderson Culture Club will be held next Friday, September 23rd, at the home of Mrs. A. E. Creigh Jr., at 3 p. m. All members are urged to be present.

Wardlaw Advises Ranchmen To Hold Lambs at 3 1/2 Cents

C. B. "Dutch" Wardlaw, ranchman and banker, had just sold 10,000 lambs for the Whitehead and Wardlaw interests. The lambs brought 3 1-2 cents a pound and were sold to Colorado feeders. The Abb Rose estate also sold 2,000 head for the same price.

There are many lamb buyers in this section now. Mr. Wardlaw is advising all ranchmen to refuse to take less than 3 1-2 cents a pound for their lambs.

There is a rising tendency in the market, and another man well informed in the sheep industry expressed the opinion Saturday that Texas lambs would be selling for 4 cents a pound by the first of October.—Del Rio Evening News.

Landmark Destroyed On Harrell Ranch By Big Flood Waters

The Seep well located about 8 miles east of the ranch home of Frank K. Harrell was completely destroyed and the windmill over it washed away by the flood waters that came down Sanderson canyon last week. Not that the water was so high, but the creek ran so long and washed out its banks until it finally reached the well taking the windmill with it and covering the well over with gravel till it cannot even be located.

The well has been there for a period of 24 years or more and it is said that when the late Charles Downie was herding his sheep thru that section of the country that he always camped near the place as the water that seeped up out of the ground was always so cool and refreshing.

When Mr. Harrell acquired the ranch he was told about the place and went and removed the huge rock that was kept over the place and in later years erected a windmill over the ground and built a concrete tank to hold the water that was pumped out of the well. Mr. Harrell had just recently repaired the windmill tower and repainted it.

He states that the creek bank is now within 8 feet of the concrete tank.

Dr. Fred R. Baker, eyesight specialist of San Angelo, paid his annual visit to this city on Tuesday of this week. He was accompanied by O. J. White also of San Angelo.

HIGHWAY, RAIL TRAFFIC FROM EAST RESUMED

Temporary Wooden Bridge Spans Devil's River

Train service on the T-&N-O was resumed from the East on Tuesday night when the west bound passenger train arrived that night. It was the first train service that Sanderson had had from San Antonio and Del Rio in practically two weeks.

The tracks and the bridge over Devil's River has been repaired and by Tuesday afternoon freight trains were coming in and much freight merchandise that had been delayed was being received by the merchants.

Tourist traffic over Highway 90 was formally opened late Sunday afternoon when Arp Jolly of Marathon, drove his car slowly over the rock approaches which reach a quarter of a mile in length and tested the durability of the wooden structure used temporarily to span the river in its new channel.

San Antonio bound traffic is still being routed by the way of Eagle Pass due to the conditions of the Highway in the vicinity of Clime and Bracketville.

Work is progressing nicely on the Highway west of here in the vicinity of Longfellow where so much of the highway and bridge approaches were washed out.

Very little damage was done to the Highway under construction and the detour roads, which for a while were almost impassable are now in fair shape. Construction crews building the Highway west of Longfellow are again at work soon hope to catch up with the work lost and rush to completion the highway.

NEW BRAUNFELS SITE BOUGHT BY NEW FACTORY

Old Landa Oil Mill Plant Of 10 Acres Is Bought

NEW BRAUNFELS, Sept. 9.—A committee organizing the wool and mohair mill for New Braunfels this week purchased a location the former Landa Oil Mill property, consisting of approximately 10 acres, including several warehouse buildings constructed of rock, a factory building of concrete and several smaller buildings.

This property adjoins both the Missouri and Pacific and the M-K-T railroads, and the Comal River, and is located opposite the electric power plant.

DELPHIANS MEET

The Alpha Delphians held their first regular meeting Wednesday at the Kerr Hotel with the following members present Mesdames James Kerr, Joe Kerr, John Stovell, Clyde Griffith, H. C. Goldwire, G. Mussey, W. E. Lea, W. H. Savage, and Rufe Murrain. "Stories of Egyptian Literature," was the program of this lesson and was interestingly given by Mesdames Clyde Griffith, Gayle Mussey, W. H. Savage, James Kerr, John Stovell, W. E. Lea and Joe Kerr.—Reporter.

Rev. and Mrs. R. E. Griffith and family, who will make their future home in Humble, Texas, visited with friends here several days this week. Rev. Griffith was formerly pastor of the Church of Christ in this city. His son, Aylmer, who graduated from the local High School last year, left Wednesday for Abilene Christian College.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Brownlie returned to their home in El Paso on Monday following a week's visit here with Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Clatfelter and family.

Miss Mary Ellen Bohlman left Monday for Burton, Texas, where she will teach again this year.

STUCKEY NAMED AS HEAD SABINAL COMMERCE BODY

Ches Griffin New Director One Other To Be Elected

The first meeting of the board directors of the Chamber of Commerce since the election of officers two weeks ago was held at the club's offices Tuesday afternoon. Mr. H. M. Waldrip, the president, refused to accept the office for another year, and the directors whose names automatically were to be dropped from the directorate this year refused to let their names stand for another year, hence a new president was selected and other directors suggested. One of these new directors, Ches Griffin, was appointed and accepted the place, but the other one will be selected at the meeting to be held Thursday night of this week.

The new president of the Sabinal commercial club is Mr. H. L. Stuckey, the Southern Pacific agent. Mr. Stuckey has been in Sabinal about a year and is well and favorably known in the business circles of the city and the Chamber of Commerce feels fortunate in having him at its head for the coming year. It is predicted that the organization will continue to grow and develop under his leadership.

Mrs. Rosalie McCauley was re-elected as Secretary of the organization and will continue her efforts in the interest of the commercial life of the city. She has been in this office for only six months, but the report which she made at the recent meeting, and which is published in full in this week's issue of the Sentinel, shows her ability to fill the position. Mrs. McCauley says the Chamber of Commerce has splendid program outlined for the coming year and that if all work together as well in the future as they have in the past, great things can be accomplished.—Sabinal Sentinel.

Mr. and Mrs. Stuckey are former residents of this city and have many friends here who are glad to learn of his being elected as had of the Sabinal Commercial Club.

Receives Severe Injuries When Car Overturns

Mr. and Mrs. John Whistler received severe injuries and their two grandsons, when on Tuesday afternoon the Chevrolet coach they were in overturned on the Highway a few miles east of Dryden. The accident was due to a blowout in one of the tires and in trying to stop, Mrs. Whistler, who was driving, put on the brakes causing the car to turn around and turn over.

The top of the car was crushed and came down with such force striking Mr. and Mrs. Whistler on the head and shoulders, causing them to receive severe bruises. Their little grandson, Bobby Edwards, who was in the front seat with them, received a bruise on the side of his head; and John Lewis Whistler, their other grandson who was in the back seat was thrown clear of the car receiving a cut on the cheek.

The party was returning from Del Rio and just ahead of them was Mrs. Charlie Gregory and daughter who returned to the scene of the accident and carried Mrs. Whistler to Dryden where medical aide was summoned.

Mrs. Whistler, while confined to her bed, it is thought not to be seriously injured. Mr. Whistler is able to be up but still suffering from the shock.

The car a chevrolet 1931 coach which belonged to Buster Edwards their son-in-law, was badly damaged and caught on fire following the accident and was destroyed, before the flames could be put out.

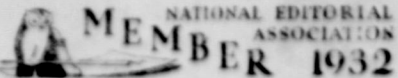

Miss Faye Mace returned last Saturday night from San Angelo where she has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Lucille Lee for several weeks.

WHY-MISREPRESENT

A man who deliberately misrepresents another has committed a grave offense. However, there have always been people in every community who delighted in leaving a false impression concerning some one, or business, etc.

Some people will misrepresent their competitor, thinking that they will be the gainer, and might be for awhile, but it will eventually become known, and when it does it always rebounds on the one who thus acted.

We have seen innocent people suffer on account of a misrepresentation of their character, and in various other ways, all on account of some misstatement of some envious person. There is a golden rule which it would be well for us all to follow: "If you can't say something good about your neighbor, don't say anything."

You take most campaigns for office, and there are always a few who will stoop to misrepresent their opponent. This is wrong, and one reason why we have never had any desire to be a candidate for office. You will hear one fellow speak, and you would think his opponent was the crookedest fellow in the world, and he will come along and tell you about the other fellow and you just don't know which one is telling the truth. In such cases, we wonder sometimes if they both are not right in their assertions. If they are, then both should go down in defeat.

Occasionally you will find a business man who will misrepresent his competitor, thinking he will get business that his competitor has been getting. He might succeed for a while, but when you find a fellow like this he will finally lose the confidence of the people; and when he does he is going to get a hard fall; and he deserves one and has it coming.

Let us be square with each other and when we say anything about anybody, let it be the truth.—The Democrat American, Sallisaw, Oklahoma.

HOARDED MONEY BENEFITS NO ONE

A certain man during his eighty years of life saved up $40,000 which he hoarded in tobacco cans, hiding them about his shack home. He denied himself the comforts of life, robbed his family of necessities as well as pleasures and real living, held himself aloof from his fellowmen, had nothing in common with neighbors, had no community interest. He just existed in a self centered, sub-normal pursuit of more money, which as he used it, was not worth as much as a single smile, an apple in the hands of a hungry child, or a bit of finery for some worthy girl. Then his shack caught fire, and his $40,000 went up in smoke. Money is valueless if it is not used. Put your money in a bank, or invest it. Put it to use, Kansas Republican, Newton Kansas.

J. R. BLACKWELDER

A SHORT SHORT STORY The Fued

BY PAUL HAWK

A tall hedge separated the spacious grounds surrounding Centre-vill's two prettiest homes. And there at that hedge Gregory Lansing, just arrived from four years' schooling in the East, found his father. Mr. Lansing's lean frame was quivering with rage. He seemed about to leap over the hedge. On the other side and no less angry, old Daniel Baldwin, squat and bald-headed, stood glaring upward at his tall antagonist.

The subject of this surprising and apoplectic debate, Gregory could not find out. It seemed to consist mostly in their vieing with each other in the application of such terms as "squatly little shrimp" and "skinny old reprobate."

"What was all the fireworks about mother?" Gregory asked, after he finally got them separated. "You four used to be together all the time before I left—and always making me entertain that darned little Valerie."

One week later, Valerie arrived home from the finishing school she had been attending. She also found the two old men at the hedge shouting and fuming at each other. She caught hold of her father's coat tail and dragged him away.

"A nice reception for the returning offspring!" she scolded him. "What's the matter, anyway?" "That—that—" Mr. Baldwin spluttered inarticulately; then he whirled and shook his finger in Valerie's face and looked up at her fiercely. "And I don't want any of my family having anything to do with any of his! Understand? If I catch you with that young upstart of his'n—"

Valerie tossed her head. "Humph!" she said. "Mr. Lansing strode purposefully into the house, still raging. "That Valerie Baldwin's back," he announced to Gregory, "An' let me tell you something. If I ever catch you even talking to her, I'll disinherit you!"

"Humph!" said Gregory. The next time the battle at the hedge was resumed, both Valerie and Gregory went to act as pacifiers. Both started to speak; then they stopped and stared. The Valerie that Gregory knew had been a chubby, freckled kid with stringy hair—a regular nuisance because his mother had made him play with her. This Valerie was tall. She wore clothes that must have come straight from Paris. She had a delicate, transparent skin. She had golden-brown hair. She results. Then, at a luncheon one afternoon when they had slipped away carrying a lunch basket, Gregory said, "Val, I'm gettin' tired of this sneaking out to see you. But I can't get the the governor to give in."

She looked at him in a way that made his heart leap at the thought he had. "I can't get mine to quit quarrelling either," she told him.

Gregory's heart did another somersault as he leaped forward. "I know a way," he said huskily. "Tell me," she commanded breathlessly, her eyes on his.

"Let's elope!" "Let's she said. "But how—" "Leave that to me," Gregory said masterfully.

It was romantic carrying a ladder to her window. Gregory thought. But it was practical, too, for it would be ticklish business if they were discovered. But they weren't. At midnight exactly, they eased out of the driveway in Gregory's car, which he had slipped out of the garage before going for her.

At exactly five seconds after midnight, two figures emerged from the hedge. They stood there, the tall one and the short one, peering after the departing car until they saw the tail light come on and then disappear around a corner. The two figures executed a little dance. "Oh boy! Did they fall for it hard, Ben?" exclaimed Mr. Baldwin.

"Did they?" exulted Mr. Lansing. "And they never woulda married if their mothers kept thrusting them at each other like they used to, I'm glad I thought of us gettin' mad, Dan."

"You mean you're glad we thought," Dan said affectionately, punching Mr. Lansing in the ribs. "Let's open that bottle."

Aristophanes Stands Bewildered

Aristophanes remarked of women, 2300 years ago, "They dip their wool into hot water, according to the ancient plan, all of them without exception, and never make the slightest innovation. They sit and cook as of old. They carry upon their heads as of old." Could you summon Aristophanes into our today—he would stand appalled at the speed of women's present innovations.

Just about everything you are accustomed to becomes out-moded, discarded, in an incredibly brief time. Ways of cooking, serving, traveling; of keeping clean, healthy, beautiful, young—these are the modern tasks, "as of old." But science in alliance with factories and kitchens keeps new ways coming along so fast that poor old Aristophanes and those soft-sandaled women would be breathless with keeping up. Yet you are used to swift change... used to comforts that a short while ago were luxuries... that a little day from now will seem Grecian-quaint themselves. From advertisements in your newspaper you reap news of these ways to live healthfully, richly, advantageously—youth!

Sit and cook as of old? Carry upon your head as of old? No, you carry IN your head knowledge of the best that is buyable. Advertisements give you easy, happy surveys of new ways. Glance over all the advertisements you can, every chance you have.

EVENTS OF SOCIETY

SECRET-SHURLEY

Miss Mildred Shurley of Barksdale and Elton Secrest of Sanderson were quietly married in Rock-springs Saturday. They left immediately for their new home near Sanderson. Both young people are well known here and have a host of friends who wish them much success and Happiness.—Barksdale Items in Uvalde Leader-News

Miss Shurley is a niece of Mrs. Joe F. Brown of this city and spent most of the summer here visiting at the Brown Ranch. Mr. Secrest is employed on the H. C. Goldwire ranch located in the western part of the county. The young couple arrived at the Goldwire ranch last Friday where they will make their home.

McDONNELL-FLETCHER

A. A. "Son" McDonnell of Dryden and Miss Ora Lee Fletcher of Alpine were quietly married in Alpine last Friday evening at the Baptist Parsonage, Rev. Buren Sparks officiating. Witnessing the ceremony were Miss Ruby Fletcher, sister of the bride, and Miss Edith Wise.

The bride, a former resident of this city, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Fletcher, who until recently made their home in Valentine, but now a resident of Alpine. She is a sister of Mrs. Charlie Rogers and H. E. Fletcher of this city.

The groom, who is the son of Mrs. Lulu McDonnell Smith of Dryden, is an employee of the A. F. Buchanan Store at Dryden.

Following a short honeymoon trip to Valentine they returned to Dryden Tuesday afternoon to make their home and are receiving the congratulations and best wishes of their many friends.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

On last Saturday afternoon in his home Master Billy Savage celebrated his fourth birthday with a number of his little friends as guests. Much joy was had by both host and guests alike in the opening of gift packages after which the children enjoyed a number of games together. Then the group gathered on the lawn around a table upon which stood a gaily decorated birthday cake, with its four candles surrounded by a great circle of gingerbread boys. Billy's mother, Mrs. W. H. Savage, assisted by his grandmother, Mrs. Jack W. McKee, served the boys and girls with ice cream cones and cake. While they were seated in a group enjoying their refreshments, they were entertained by stories told them by Mrs. B. J. Brannan and Mrs. Clyde Griffith. At the conclusion of the "Story of the Gingerbread Boy," each was given a "gingerbread boy" to carry home with him.

Recalls Lentzel Murder And Big Bend Exploration

The Times is in receipt of the following communications from one of our subscribers at Marathon telling of his recollection of the Lentzel murder and of the exploration of the Big Bend, both articles of which we recently had a news story about in this paper.

Marathon, Texas, September 6, 1932.

Sanderson Times, Sanderson, Texas. Dear Editor:

I have read with great interest all of your articles recently published regarding the unsolved mystery of the disappearance of one Chris Lentzel.

I was personally acquainted with Chris and also knew Green and Sheppard, who were indicted by Pecos County for his murder.

I was serving on Brewster County District Court at the Spring term in 1902 when Green and Sheppard cases came to trial, they being transferred there from Pecos County. Their cases were thrown out of Court because of the lack of evidence, primarily the lack of a dead man.

I heard Sheppard commenting on the case afterwards and if he was not innocent, he had an unlimited supply of "gall."

However Pecos County did have some very strong circumstantial evidence could they ever have found Lentzel's body.

One Mr. Thornberry, a Cattleman's Association Inspector for Pecos County, who seemed to figure very prominently in the case in some way immediately sought the protection of Brewster County's Sheriff, Doc Gourley requesting to be locked up in jail to keep Green from killing him.

I agree with Ranger Captain Wright of Marfa as to the time of Lentzel's disappearance. Also Capt. Hamer again has his wires crossed regarding the third man being indicted for the murder, if so, he was not present at Alpine for trial and Capt. Hamer's statement is the first I ever heard of a third party to the murder.

I was in the employ of Pecos County Sheriff Bob Neighbors in the Spring and Summer of 1901, drilling a well at Round Mountain in Pecos County on the old Smith and Scarborough ranch when neighbors, his deputy, Lon Sanders, came by our camp with their state convict returning from one of their hunts for Lentzel's body. I think everybody agrees that the body was never found and the skeleton recently found on Independence Canyon is just as likely to be the answer thereto as any other.

L. S. DICKSON.

Marathon, Texas, September 6, 1932.

Sanderson Times, Sanderson Texas. Dear Editor:

Regarding your article in your last issue about uncharted and unexplored canyons of the Rio Grande, I beg to state that old Uncle Ben McMahon of Del Rio, negotiated this river in trail-boats, that is one boat tied behind the other, all by his lonesome for years trapping Beaver.

He would ship his boats to Marfa and have them freighted by wagon to Presidio and take to the river there and spend all winter floating down to Del Rio.

In the winter or fall of 1897 he unloaded his boats at Marathon and freighted them to Boquilla's and by wagons that were freighted ore at that time from Boquilla's to Marathon. Ben Marley handled the boats at that time for Uncle Ben.

Also these canyons were negotiated in boats by Col. Gano of the G4 cattle ranch fame. He established his G4 ranch on Terlingua creek in the early eighties, his head-quarter ranch being located just north up Terlingua creek from the now present site of The Chisos Mining Company's Quicksilver mines and at the west end of Eggshell Mountain.

Mr. Gano went down the river in boats surveying and plating all the River front surveys of land and also surveying and charting every crook and turn and meander of the river for the State Land Office and these survey notes are to be found in said Land Office files today and officially have never been improved or changed.

It was my privilege to accompany a company of surveyors in 1901 to the mouth of Regan Canyon and we found Mr. Gano's land corners surveys and all local meanders of the river absolutely correct.

... SUCCESSFUL HOMEMAKING By RUTH MAVIS STONE

HONEY COOKIES SWEETEN THE SCHOOL LUNCH BOX

One of these days the efforts of the busy little bee are going to be appreciated for what they are really worth, and when that day comes we'll all of us be eating more honey than we do at present. Honey is a natural sugar, pure, wholesome, and nourishing. It can safely be given to even young children and is an ideal way of sweetening much of their food.

For the children's lunch box or for ordinary table service, try making them honey cookies. They satisfy their natural craving for a bit of something sweet after the rest of the meal, and add a considerable amount of nourishment. The recipe calls also for brown sugar, which gives a richer flavor; butter, a good source of the vitamin A, chopped nuts and raisins, supplying energy and nourishment, and the honey. Another important factor from the health standpoint is the self-rising flour. Self-rising flour is flour with the baking powder and salt added. This baking powder is made of monocalcium-phosphate and soda. Bones and teeth are largely composed of calcium (or lime) and phosphorus, so you can see how important it is for the growing child to have a sufficient amount of those minerals. Both of these minerals are supplied in a good form in self-rising flour.

Self-rising flour is economical because it requires no additional baking powder. It is also a great time saver. There's the time saving in measuring and sifting (you sift self-rising flour only once), and time saving in stirring. Cookies made with self-rising soft wheat flour should be put together gently, quickly, and with a light touch. Too much stirring and beating will make any soft wheat product heavy. From start to finish you can make these self-rising cookies in eight minutes, which would ordinarily require fifteen to put together. Every mother who has ever snatched time out of the air in order to make a batch of cookies knows that this is a saving worth while.

The recipe is as follows:
Honey Cookies.
1/2 cup brown sugar 1/2 cup seeded raisins
1/2 cup strained fine cut fine honey 1/2 cup finely chopped nuts
1 egg 1/2 cup butter 1 teaspoonful mace
3/4 cups self-rising flour or nutmeg

Mix the sugar, egg and shortening together. Beat until thoroughly blended. Add other ingredients in order given, roll and cut. Bake in moderate (350 degrees F.) oven for about 20 minutes. You will find these will cut much better if you allow them to chill thoroughly or stand over night before cutting.

If you have to buy shelled nuts for the cookies, get the broken pieces. They are just as fresh and good, and the saving is considerable.

I noticed the Alpine Avalanche sometime ago carried an article claiming the honor for Dr. Phillips of being the first man to ever go through the grand canyon of the Rio Grande by boat. This was in 1906. I do not know if Gano went through and charted this canyon or not but he did find his mouth on down the river and I do know that Uncle Ben McMahon did go through this canyon by boats years before this.

Yours for correction L. S. DICKSON.

(Editor's Note:) We are glad to make this correction and regret that, due to interrupted mail service these letters were not received by us in time for publication in our issue of September 9th.
