Name Loan Committee To Pass Upon Applications For R. F. C. Ranch Loans

DEL RIO, Oct. 11.—A loan committee to pass upon applications having been selected at a recent meeting of directors, the San Angelo branch of the R. F. C. Agricultural Credit Corporation is ready to function just as soon as official instructions are received from Washington.

Judge Roger Gillis, Del Rio returned from the directors meeting with the statement that the following were selected to serve as a loan committee:

Dwain Hughes, San Angelo, president of the San Angelo branch bank; G. C. Magruder, San Angelo, manager of the San Angelo office; Jax Cowden, Midland; Brown F. Lee, San Angelo; and a Mr. Davis of Sterling City.

District Committee

"The San Angelo branch bank is awaiting further instructions from Washington before proceedings with action upon applications for loans now on file, Gillis stated.

The San Angelo bank is a branch of the Tenth District Agricultural Credit Corporation, with headquarters in Fort Worth although each branch is understood to operate independently of the headquarters. The tenth district loan committee is composed of T. B. Yarbrough, regional president, A. E. Thomas, John T. Jones and Raymond Gee, all of Fort Worth; and F. F. Florence and Frank P. Holland, Dallas.

Branch banks are empowered to loan up to $100,000 without the action being subject to review by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, while loans over that amount must be approved by the R. F. C.

The San Angelo branch is still receiving applications for loans, and it has been stated by Mr. Magruder that these will be acted upon in the order of their receipt when word arrives from Washington for the West Texas unit to proceed.

REVISED PLANS APPROVED FOR RIVER BRIDGE

State And U. S. Board Agree On Revision Tentatively

Revised plans and specifications of the Devil's River highway bridge have been inspected and tentatively approved by G. G. Wickline, State Highway Bridge Engineer, Austin, and G. S. Vincent, Bridge Engineer from the Bureau of Public Roads in Fort Worth, E. E. Freeborough, resident engineer stated Friday morning.

The revised specifications call for two 52-foot 1-beam approach spans and six 175-foot steel trusses over the main channel of the river. The over-all length of the bridge will be 1,166 feet and the roadway will be 50 feet above the normal flow of the river.

The east end of the bridge will be anchored to a solid rock bluff and extend to within 100 yards of the Kirchgraber house, virtually across Devil's River canyon.

An unusual feature of the structure is the piers, which are of the massive concrete cylinder shaft type and said by highway officials to be probably the heaviest of their kind in the State of Texas. This type of pier is being used as the type calculated to best withstand the impact of water and debris in time of flood.

With the approval of the revised plans and specifications of the bridge by the Bureau of Public Roads at Fort Worth work on the bridge will be started as soon as the condition of the river permits.

ALPINE MAN TO MAKE RACE FOR LIEUT. GOV. IN '34

Senator Is Imperturbed By Friends To Make Race

ALPINE, Tex., Oct. 8.—Senator Benjamin F. Berkeley said this week that he had definitely decided to make the race for lieutenant-governor in the primaries two years from now, when questioned about recent press dispatches under an Austin date line to the effect that he was "now preparing to be in the race."

Senator Berkeley was imperturbed by various political leaders from different parts of the state to make the race when he was in attendance at the recent called session of the legislature, it has been learned here, included in this number of friends who would like to see the distinguished West Texan further honored are some of the state's outstanding and most influential statesmen, it was said.

The impression prevails that on account of the senator's long service and familiarity with legislative proceedings he would be an ideal selection as the presiding officer of the senate, a body he has served with distinction for the past eight years.

Moreover, the sentiment expressed at Austin while Senator Berkeley was there recently was that his election to the important post would afford an opportunity to give recognition to that portion of Texas which has never been honored with a lieutenant-governor. Also that it would be a very fine thing to honor one of the smallest cities of the state in this manner, most of the former lieutenant-governors for a number of years having come from the larger cities.

Senator Berkeley is laying plans to wage an active and intensive campaign when the opening gun is fired in the Democratic campaign two years from now.

PECOS BRIDGE GETS NEW COAT OF BLACK PAINT

Work Will Require Twelve Men For Many Weeks

Work of painting Southern Pacific high bridge on the Pecos River started Friday.

Twelve men suspended on scaffolds from the top of the structure will paint the entire bridge with a coating of black. Several weeks will be required to complete the job, railway officials stated.

The bridge is located 54 miles west of Del Rio and spans the Pecos River which winds its way through the rugged and rough canyons from New Mexico to empty into the Rio Grande several hundred miles south of its headwaters. The bridge is 321 feet above the water and measures in length 1,516 feet.

Built in 1892 by the Southern Pacific Railway to eliminate 10 miles of grades and curves the expenditure reflected a decrease in cost of maintenance and increase in operating efficiency, railway officials found.

The original railway crossing of the Pecos was located near the Bullis Highway bridge.—Del Rio Evening News.

This next week several thousand head of lambs in the eastern part of Brewster County will be delivered to Chancellor, a shipping point on the Santa Fe, where they will be shipped to Kansas feed pens. It is reported that 3 1-4 to 3 1-2 cents a pound was paid for these lambs and that they will weigh heavy.

Some shearing is being done in the eastern part of the county while a few ranchmen will not shear until spring.

BREWSTER COUNTY GETS R. F. C. AID

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11. (AP)—The Reconstruction Corporation today made available $19,500 to the Governor of Texas for emergency relief use in Brewster County, from Oct. 1 to Dec. 31.

"Supporting data for the Governor's application," said the corporation announcement, "show that it has been the policy of the relief administration of Brewster County to give a minimum of direct relief but to stress the importance of work relief. County officials plan to expend a large part of the Federal Funds on work relief. Materials entering into work relief projects will, as in all work relief projects be supplied from local funds.

"It is pointed out that during September Brewster County suffered from unprecedented floods, 100 miles of lateral roads being damaged so badly as to be practically impassable. A number of bridges were washed out and damaged. It is claimed repair work to meet these conditions can be put on a work relief basis."

Mrs. Vance McLymont left Thursday afternoon for Del Rio. Mrs. McLymont will play the wedding march at the wedding of her cousin, Miss Frances Ross whose marriage takes place High Noon Saturday in Del Rio. Mrs. Annie McLymont and son Vance, will motor down Saturday for the wedding. Miss Ross is the niece of Mrs. Annie McLymont.

AN OPINION FROM ATTORNEY GENERAL ALLRED'S OFFICE

Since our last issue considerable talk and comment has been making the rounds in regards to our editorial about the County Treasurer's Quarterly report not being published by the Commissioners as required by law.

The matter of publishing the quarterly reports of the County Treasurer was taken up by the Editor, (at the request of some of the tax payers of Terrell County), with the Attorney General, James V. Allred and we are publishing below his letter which we think is a satisfactory answer.

September 13, 1932.

Mrs. Addie Lee Lemons Boling Sanderson Times Sanderson, Texas Dear Madam:

Receipt is acknowledged of your letter addressed to me personally, dated September 10, 1932, requesting an opinion as to "what a publisher may do in regard to the county treasurer's quarterly report and to the county clerk's annual report that the law requires to be published."

Under the provisions of Article 4399, Revised Civil Statutes, 1925, a copy of which is printed on the back of this letter, the Attorney General is prohibited from advising any other than certain state and county officers and then only in connection with their duties. I note you state in your letter that the grand jury, or some of the grand jurors, refused to go into the matter of the failure to publish the reports of these officials.

This department, in an opinion by Assistant Attorney General Homer C. DeWolfe dated March 3, 1932, addressed to the county attorney at Newton, Texas, held that the provisions of the statute requiring the commissioners' court to make publication of the "Quarterly Report" of the county treasurer in some newspaper, where there was a newspaper in the county, were mandatory. I am enclosing a copy of this opinion addressed to the county attorney at Newton for your information. I would suggest that you call immediately upon the county attorney and consult with him about it; and I direct your attention to Article 1609, Revised Civil Statutes, 1925, requiring the county clerk to publish reports, and to Article 2274, Revised Civil Statutes, 1911, which provided that the regular term of the commissioners' court should be held on the second Monday in February, May, August and November of each year. This article was amended in 1911 and is now Article 2348, Revised Civil Statutes, 1925, which provides for a regular meeting of the commissioners' court to be held on the second Monday in each month. I further call to your attention Article 1711, Revised Civil Statutes, 1925, providing that the county's treasurer shall make a detailed report of all moneys received and deposited by him to the commissioners' court at every regular term. This article was enacted at the time when the commissioners' court held quarterly meetings, and no change was made in the law when the statute was amended providing for the monthly regular meeting of the commissioners' court.

I further call to your attention, and to the attention of the county attorney, Article 1636, Revised Civil Statutes, 1925, which provides that the commissioners' court shall examine and approve the quarterly report of the county treasurer, and that the same shall be published in some newspaper, etc. I further call to your attention Article 394, Penal Code, 1925, dealing with the failure of the commissioners' court to publish these reports.

Your attention is further directed to the provisions of Article 29-a, Revised Civil Statutes, 1925, dealing with the legal rate that may be charged by newspapers for the publication of official notices and advertisements.

I believe that by reading these statutes your question will be answered. If the law has not been complied with, I suggest that you might take it up with the next grand jury.

Very truly yours, James V. Allred, Attorney General of Texas

Here is also a copy of the letter of opinion that the Assistant Attorney Homer C. DeWolfe, dated March 3, 1932, wrote to the County Attorney at Newton, Texas. It too is self explanatory.

March 3rd, 1932.

Hon. W. H. Hall County Attorney Newton, Texas Dear Sir:

Your letter of February 27th addressed to Attorney General Allred has been referred to the writer for attention. Your inquiries read as follows:

"We want your opinion on the following—is it compulsory for the commissioners court of each county to have county treasurer's report published as provided for in Article 1636, Revised Civil Statutes 1925."

"Is it compulsory for the commissioners and county judge required to make and file oaths as required by Article No. 1636 Revised Statutes 1925."

The questions submitted by you are anything but easy, due to subsequent acts of the Legislature since the passage of what is now Article 1336, Revised Civil Statutes of 1925, which article was originally passed in 1897.

Article 2274, Revised Civil Statutes of 1911 provides that the regular term of the commissioners court shall be held on the second Monday in February, May, August and November in each year. This was amended in 1911 and is what is now Article 2348, Revised Civil Statutes of 1925, which reads as follows:

"The regular terms of the commissioners court shall be commenced and held at the court house on the second Monday of each month throughout the year and may continue in session one week; provided the court need not hold more than one session each quarter if the business of the court does not demand a session. Any session may adjourn at any time the business of the court is disposed of. Special terms may be called by the county judge or three of the commissioners, and may continue in session until the business is completed."

It is to be noted that this article provides for a monthly meeting of the commissioners court, instead of quarterly as was true before 1911.

Article 1711, Revised Civil Statutes of 1925, provides that the county treasurer shall make a detailed report of all moneys received and deposited by him, etc., to the commissioners court at every regular term. This article was enacted at the time when the commissioners court held quarterly meetings, and no change was made in it when the law was amended so as to provide for the monthly meetings. Nowhere in the statutes is the county treasurer required to make a quarterly report, other than is mentioned in Article 1711, yet we find the quarterly report of the county treasurer referred to in numerous articles of the statutes besides Article 1636.

Article 1654 requires the auditor to examine the quarterly report of the county treasurer, and Article 396, of the Penal Code, sets out what is Article 1636, of the Revised Civil Statutes of 1925, and then provides that "any county judge, county commissioner, or county clerk who shall negligently or intentionally fail or refuse to comply with the requirements of this article, shall be fined not less than twenty-five nor more than five-hundred dollars."

It is also to be noted that the county depository law was passed in 1905 and subsequent to the enactment of both Article 1636, Revised Civil Statutes of 1925, and Article 396, of the Penal Code. A part of the depository law is now Article 2549, Revised Civil Statutes of 1925, and which article provides, in part, that the bond of such county depository or depositories shall stand as security for all -county funds.

In view of this language, the commissioners court would no longer actually count all of the money and assets belonging to the county, but would count only that money which the treasurer had not deposited in the depository, which sum or sums so counted would be added to that shown to have been previously deposited by the treasurer, in accordance with law, in the depository and unexpended.

It is the writer's opinion that the language contained in Article 1636, reading as follows:

"Prior to the adjournment of each regular term of the court the county judge and each commissioner shall make affidavit that the requirements of this article have been in all things fully complied with by them at said term of said court," etc., should be construed to mean the regular term each quarter and not the regular term each month, due to the fact that at the time this article was enacted, the commissioners court only had authority to meet quarterly.

Under Article 398, Penal Code, 1925, the commissioners court would have authority to require the county treasurer to furnish them a detailed statement of the financial condition of the county. The court should not be required to execute the affidavits and publish said report, except quarterly, as provided in Article 1636, Revised Civil Statutes of 1925.

While the statutes referred to in this matter are somewhat scrambled, as can be seen from the above discussions, the writer feels constrained to answer each of your questions in the affirmative in view of the language contained in the last sentence of Article 1636, Revised Civil Statutes of 1925, and the provisions of Article 396, of the Penal Code.

Yours very truly (Signed) Homer C. DeWolfe Assistant Attorney General

A SHORT SHORT STORY JOKER WILD

BY PAUL HAWK

Cronin tossed a piece of bread at a curious lizard and settled back in the shade.

"Look here, Pab," he laughed, waving a newspaper toward his companion, who was trying to sleep and scare off flies at the same time. "It says 'Mam pays off $20,000 debt of bankrupt business woman to get her to marry him.' Now ain't that a hot one? Sounds like a fairy tale to me!"

"Aw, I dunno," Pab said, between yawns. "I guess if a guy was in love and that was the only way he could marry the girl—the only way—he'd part with the dough. Anybody would if he really had it bad." Cronin snorted. "Not this body. I'm different!"

"Yeah? Just you wait. When it does hit you—um, um how pitiful you'll be! All these 'different' guys are."

"Bunk!" said Cronin, picking up his instrument. "Well, this is helping the grand cause of geological surveying any. Lets to work." Pab sauntered down the road. Cronin sighted through the instrument, waving his hand until the rod came in sight. He was busy with his calculations when he heard a shout. A lean-looking farmer was hanging on the fence, his team and plow standing near.

"Whatcha doin'?" he queried mildly.

Cronin looked him over. "Oh, we're surveying the road," he said solemnly. "They're going to widen it. You'll have to move your fence back about—let's see—about two feet."

"You don't say!" ejaculated the farmer.

Cronin could hardly wait to get to his partner.

"An' when I told him that, the poor simp drove of home with his team. He was going after a post-hole digger. Hot?" Cronin finished telling Pab.

They roared with laughter, slapping each other on the back.

"Almost as good as that time you told that guy I broke my leg and was lying over on a hill two miles away," Pab gasped between spasms of laughter, "and he went and got the doctor."

With the long, tireless stride of an experienced walker, Cronin could cover many miles in a day. Pab, however, had to have his breathing spells now and then.

"Whew! I'm out," he panted as Cronin caught up with him.

"Oh well, we're 'bout done here anyway. This country hasn't got any more oil than a desert sand bank. That Edgton Formation plays out long before it gets here."

"I won't be sorry. I could use a day or two in the big town."

A horseman approached, looked at their equipment, and dismounted.

"Geologist, eh?" he asked.

"Yes sir."

"This is my ranch around here," said the man, with a wide sweep of his hand. "I been aimin' to send for one of you fellows. I got just what you're lookin' for."

AUXILIARY MEETS

The Presbyterian Auxiliary met Monday with Mrs. W. R. Holland. Mrs. John Stovell led an interesting program on "Five of our Noted Home Missionaries."

Plans were made for the District Conference of this end of Western Texas Presbyterian Church October 24th and 25th. Mrs. George M. Smith of Brownsville is to be the chief speaker. Rocksprings, Del Rio and Uvalde will send representatives to this meeting.

Mrs. J. W. McKee and Mrs. Joe Nichols were appointed to purchase fall clothes for our orphan at Itasca.

Mrs. Holland served pumpkin pie with whipped cream and coffee to the members and visitors.

sent. And I can't break a promise, can I?"

He loved her even more for that. All impatience, he set out at once for her home.

Her father was the man of the "oil" spring.

"Why, hello there. Say, I'm going to drill for that oil all right."

For the first time, Cronin remembered his advice to the rancher. He turned pale. "Er—yes, sir—but could you—"

"I know," the rancher said kindly. "Mary's already told me. Guess you thought it was funny havin' to ask me. But Mary deserves the best fellow in the world." He looked at his crippled arm. "I didn't want her hitched to some joker fellow. They never turn out good."

Key fingers gripped Cronin's heart. "Otherwise her choice is bound to be good. How're you fixed?"

"Well, I have a good job," Cronin stammered, "and I've even saved about ten thousand dollars. That would start us."

"Say!" exclaimed Mary's father. "Here's your chance. Put in with me on this well. I've always wanted a son for a partner," he said wistfully.

Cold sweat covered Cronin's forehead. "B—but what if there's no oil?" he finally managed to say.

"No oil?" But you told me— Suspicion began to cloud the rancher's face. "Was you jokin' about that?" he demanded gruffly.

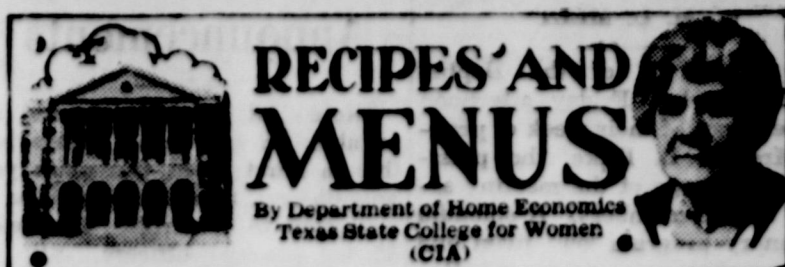

"Oh no—no, I never joke!" Cronin denied shakily.

The older man still looked at him intently. "I guess I better make this a test of your good faith. Why," he exclaimed angrily, "if you're a man who would cause another to lose a fortune—"

Blindly, Cronin signed away his bank balance to get to marry the girl.

There was, of course, no oil.
