Many Sign Pledge

"What are we to vote on August 26?" is being asked every day and for the information of the voters I shall try to explain each proposition without suggestion as to how to vote.

1. The question of the repeal of the 8th Amendment to the Constitution of the United States which forbids the sale of intoxicating liquors.

Two conventions were held recently, one representing the "wets" or those in favor of repeal and the other the "drys," against repeal. These conventions nominated 31 delegates and 31 alternates each. The names of these delegates will appear on your ballot and you may vote for either the wet bloc or the dry bloc. The delegates elected will hold a convention and decide whether or not Texas favors repeal and to certify their decision to the federal congress. If you favor repeal you are to vote for the wet bloc and if you oppose repeal you are to vote for the dry bloc.

2. The next question upon which you will be asked to cast your vote is whether or not the Texas constitution will be so modified as to permit the sale of malt or vinous liquors containing as much as 3.2 per cent alcohol in Texas. The federal congress has already passed a law that will permit the sale of beverages of 3.2 per cent alcoholic content, but our constitution forbids it. Therefore, before it can be legally sold in Texas, the Texas constitution must be modified, and that is the purpose of this amendment.

In some localities where prohibition was in effect when the state went dry there will also be held elections on this subject as applied to that particular precinct, town or county. For beer or against beer is the question to be decided.

3. The third question is to amend the Texas constitution so as to permit the legislature to issue bonds not to exceed twenty million dollars for the purpose of "furnishing relief and work to needy and distressed people and relieving the hardships resulting from unemployment." This question is submitted so as to enable Texas to participate in the distribution of federal relief funds. The federal government requires each state to furnish a certain amount of money to match federal funds and as Texas has no other funds available, the legislature decided to submit to the people the question as to whether or not we should issue bonds as needed but not to exceed twenty million dollars, for that purpose. You are to vote either "for the issuance of bonds" or "against the issuance of bonds."

4. The fourth is merely a corrective amendment to the one voted last year exempting $3000.00 homesteads from taxation, applicable only to counties where State taxes have been remitted and applies only to a few counties in the state, not affecting in any manner any county in this section.

5. The fifth and last question is an amendment to the state constitution permitting counties of 62,000 population and over to operate under a special home rule charter similar to the special charters granted to cities now. It would also permit the legislature to grant this privilege to smaller counties upon a majority vote of the people in the town and county, counted separately. You will be asked to vote either "for the adoption of the amendment granting home rule charters" or "against the adoption of the amendment granting home rule charters."

These five questions will be submitted to the voters of Texas on August 26 and the qualifications for Sanderson merchants and business men are signing up. Their response to the administration's appeal is already almost 100 per cent. The blue emblem is displayed in practically every business institution in the city as the Times goes to press this week.

The sentiment of most of this little city's business and professional men is strongly in favor of President Roosevelt's drive to end the depression. They express absolute faith in the President's intentions toward the "forgotten man."

While strict compliance with all the terms of the code will undoubtedly mean sacrifice and hardships for a time the majority of Sanderson's business men and citizens believe that their sacrifice will not be in vain.

Following is a list of the signers of the code so far as could be ascertained to date:

- Texas-Louisiana Power Company
- Carruthers Garage
- Sanderson Drug Company
- Kerr Mercantile Company
- Sanderson Mercantile Company
- Sanderson Times
- Border Service Station

Sanderson Public Schools To Open On Monday, Sept. 4th

TAX RATE FOR COMING YEAR SET BY BOARD

The State Rate Of 77 Cents On $100 Valuation Is Limit

The State Tax Board has fixed the State tax rate for the current year at 77 cents on the hundred dollar taxable value which is the constitutional limit.

Thirty five cents of the levy goes to the general fund, 35 cents to the school fund and 7 cents to Confederate pensions funds.

The State tax rate was fixed by the Automatic Tax Board comprising the governor, treasurer and comptroller.

The State Board of Education set the per capita apportionment for scholastics in the free public schools systems at $16 for the 1933-34 school year. This was the same per capita as for the past school term.

BEXAR OFFICER HERE TO GET MACHINE GUN

Negro And Gun He Stole Is Taken Back To San Antonio

Douglas Valentine, 23 year old negro, who was taken from a West bound freight train here two weeks ago by Sheriff Lee Cook and Capt. W. L. Barler of the U. S. Customs Department when it was discovered that he was carrying a sub-machine gun was returned to San Antonio by Bexar County officers last Saturday.

Investigation developed the fact that Valentine had stolen the machine gun from a police emergency car in that city while he was a trusty in that city jail. He had been released to pick cotton, according to the reports of San Antonio officers, but evidently decided to go adventuring with a machine gun instead. At any rate he appropriated the bullet spreader from the emergency car driven by patrolman Lonnie Crow, and, according to news stories in the San Antonio Express, that officer cruised about the Alamo city for several days before discovering that his "typewriter" was missing.

After being arrested here Valentine told Sheriff Lee Cook that he had served two terms in the San Quentin penitentiary.

WOOL SOLD AT 26 CENTS

ROCKSPRINGS, Aug. 5.—Averaging 26 cents a pound, a 50,000 pound accumulation of short and long wool was sold by the Edwards County Wool and Mohair Warehouse company to Walter Ragsdale, purchasing for Tom Richey, today.

Reduction in the local post office were as follows, according to postmaster Lee Roy Grigsby: Postmaster's salary reduced from $175 to $127.50; clerks from $95 to $62.01.

The Sanderson Public Schools will open for the 1933-34 school year on Monday, September 4, according to an announcement given to the Times editor this week by Supt., B. J. Brannan.

On the opening day assembly will be held in the High School Auditorium at 9 o'clock at which time a program will be given.

The board of trustees has passed the ruling that for the current year children who are six years of age before the first of January will be admitted free to the public schools provided they enter the first day of school.

Sanderson schools will hold the full nine months term.

The faculty for the ensuing year will be announced at a later date.

REGULAR TERM COUNTY COURT IS IN SESSION

Few Cases On Docket To Be Heard This Session

The regular term of County Court convened on Monday of this week with Judge G. J. Henshaw, presiding. A very light docket faces the court at this session and many of the cases on the docket are probate ones and some of them have been carried over from term to term.

Tuesday, on the probate docket, the petition was heard for the probate of the last will and testament of the late P. F. Sullivan. The petition, which was granted, was presented by Denny Sullivan, son of the late rancher.

Only one case has been heard on the civil docket and this was the suit for debt brought by the Kerr Mercantile Company against W. R. Qualtrough. Judgment was granted in this case.

The criminal docket reveals that the case of Carlos De Leon, charged with theft by bailee, was dismissed.

The Court by law may be in session three weeks.

MILLS FOR MOHAIR

"The whole wool and mohair industry could conveniently be 'nested' in Texas," remarks the Dallas News in commenting on a New Braunfels-San Antonio project for establishing a mohair plant and mill at the Comal County capital.

The fact that Texas year in and year out produces 80 per cent of the entire American mohair crop, 40 per cent of its wool, is a factor. A deterrent is that the woolen industry is made up of several component parts, each necessary to the others, and that these "parts" have existed for many years in New England.

So long as that condition continues as it is, securing of capital for extensive development of wool and mohair spinning plants in Texas will be difficult. But, once the ice is broken and the industry started and established at or near the principal source of supply, the economic fallacy of shipping the raw wool 2,000 miles or more for even the preliminary processing will be of such tremendous disadvantage that we shall see repeated the begonia that the Southeast brought about in the cotton textile industry.

Southern cotton mills demonstrated forcibly the advantage that proximity to supply holds. The Southeast is dotted with mills that were either moved from New England or organized by New England mill owners in order to compete with Southern mills, after Southern mills had demonstrated what they could do. It probably will require a similar demonstration in the wool and mohair industry. A fact that should put all of Texas behind any movement that is a start toward that demonstration. —Progressive Texans Inc.

NEW RULES

The United States' National Recovery Act is a bold stroke. Overnight, it brands as outlaws those parasitic interests which have long fringed legitimate business and numbed the hands of men who would play the game by rules and based on fairness to employee, management, and consumer. It stamps with approval the policy of industries and concerns that operate on the principle that business was made to serve man.

Business and professional men who have convictions on the subject of commercial bribery, fair prices, honest products, and living wages for workers, now have their innings. Whether their cause is to be vindicated and a new deal permanently written into economics depends, in large measure, on their response to the challenge. Codes of practice and ethics are to be written by someone. By whom if not them?—The Rotarian Magazine.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Mansfield and son, Talley, of the West-Pyle ranch, left Monday for San Antonio and Pleasanton where they will visit relatives.

By SAM ASHBURN San Angelo Morning Times

Monte Corder of Sanderson shipped 1,200 fat lambs out of about 2,600 head of lambs from his Sanderson ranch this year and has sold the remainder to Russell Menzies. Alex Mitchell sold Menzies about 2,500, after shipping 900 head to the fat market. Joe Graham, Collins Coates, also sold to Menzies. Some of the fat lambs have weighed from 55 to 77 pounds and Mr. Appel had some on the Fort Worth market Monday.

Alex Mitchell of Sanderson at the St. Angelus Sunday, said the Sanderson Wool and Mohair Commission Company of Sanderson is not advising its customers to shear their sheep this fall, neither is it telling them not to shear. They have not had a nibble on mohair yet, he said. Mr. Mitchell is one of the founders of the Wool Growers Central Storage Company, and like the late Bob Hattie, is a native of Scotland.

The late A. G. Anderson of Pecos County often used to have several hundred tons of sotol cut and put in his barns. It keeps indefinitely.

Range conditions are good all the way from Fort Stockton to Sanderson.

Albert Appel of Sanderson has shipped 1,800 fat lambs this year out of less than 3,500. He got a rain in June and again the other day.

FARM ACCOUNTING CONTEST LAUNCHED

Bankers Evolve Plan for Stimulating Important Aid to Farm Success

THE Cache county, Utah, bankers recently added a stimulus to banker-farmer cooperative work by launching a farm accounting contest. At a meeting of the Clearing House Association the project was put before the bankers, and methods and plans formulated.

Each bank in the county agreed to enroll a minimum of five farmers in the farm accounting project. The names of the farmers when enrolled will be sent to the Secretary of the Clearing House, and also to the Extension Division of the Utah State Agricultural College. The bankers agree to cooperate and keep in close touch with each farmer they enroll so as to insure the completion of a maximum number. The bank which succeeds at the conclusion of the contest in enrolling the largest number of farmers completing the project will be given a special recognition at the annual meeting.

The banks of Cache county have agreed to subscribe to an award fund, which will be presented to five winners as follows: first prize, $25.00; second prize, $20.00; third prize, $15.00; fourth prize, $12.50; fifth prize, $7.50.

Recognition for Good Farming
In addition to the cash prizes, every farmer customer enrolled, who scores sixty per cent or more, will be awarded a special certificate issued by the Clearing House Association and the Extension Service jointly in cooperation with the Agricultural Committee of the Utah Bankers Association.

The scoring will be done on the following basis:
Farm and home account records (accurate and complete) 30%
Success of year's operations as brought out in the summary of the year's business 30%
General appearance of farm and improvements and condition of livestock and poultry (judging to be done during the summer months) 30%
The contest will end December 31, 1928. The judges will be the County Agent, the County Key Banker, a representative of the Clearing House Association, and two representatives selected by the Extension Division of the College.

Mrs. John Hayre and son Jack, left Tuesday morning for San Antonio where Jack will undergo medical treatment for sinus trouble.

FOR FAILURE PROOF BANKING STRUCTURE

Speaker Outlines Threefold Cooperation Between Bankers, Government Officials and the Public to Maintain Bank Standards

TWO elements beside the bankers themselves are required in order to give the nation universally the type of banking it should have, Francis H. Stinson, president of the American Bankers Association, declared in a recent address. He said that the efficiency of government officials upon whom the people rely to supervise the banks properly, and the patronage of the people themselves are factors in the kind of banks a community shall have.

"There can be no question that the people of the United States should have banks immune from failure and wholly free from bad or questionable banking," Mr. Stinson said. "It is not enough, as President Roosevelt has said, that while some bankers had been incompetent or dishonest, this was not true in the vast majority of our banks. A situation should exist in which there is not even a small minority of bankers open to question. There should be no room for dishonesty or incompetency to exercise any influence in banking anywhere."

"While bad faith and bad management enter the human factor in all types of business, their effects in banking should be surrounded by such special safeguards as to render them no longer a factor in bank failures. The responsibility for bringing this about, however, cannot rest upon the bankers alone, for the means to accomplish it are not wholly in their hands. There are other essential elements."

"One is the efficiency of government supervision. Since we rely so greatly upon supervision, it may, unless it is of the highest order in safeguarding the public interest, create a sense of false security. Supervision should render bad banking impossible, but it has failed to do so. There was supervision by presumably the highest type of bank supervisors in every one of the instances of questionable banking that has shocked the attention of the country during the past three years. Therefore a thorough strengthening of supervision is clearly called for if the people are to rely on it to the fullest extent for the protection of their interests."
