At the conclusion of the program, Mrs. Rochat announced that a tea was to be given in the banquet room of the high school. The room was beautifully decorated with lavender flowers. Vases of the same color, and candlesticks containing yellow candles carried out the scheme of lavender and yellow. Mrs. Hugh Cox and Mrs. Earl Pierson presided at the tea table.

The December meeting will be held December 7, at 7:30 p. m. in the High School Auditorium. The subject for the December meeting will be "Birthday Greetings to the World." Mrs. A. F. Thrift is the leader.—Reporter.

THREE STEEL SPANS UP AT DEVIL'S RIVER

Work On New Bridge Moves According To Schedule

Nearly three of the six steel spans on the Devil's River bridge have been erected. Harold Morgan, superintendent of the Virginia Bridge and Steel Works holding the contract for the steel structure stated Monday that work was progressing according to schedule.

Approximately 25 men are engaged in erecting the steel Morgan said, most of them steel workers. The steel work on the bridge, 12 miles northwest of town, comprises six steel spans, two approaches and the flooring. The contract was let in May for $85,791.44.

The concrete work, seven piers and two abutments, has been completed for some time. Their cost was approximately $40,000.

In a little more than 15 days, Morgan stated, the concrete part of the flooring will be started. This part of the work will be done by L. A. Turner, who also holds the contract for the Sycamore bridges, 12 miles east of the city. In addition to the concrete part of the flooring, Turner will construct the concrete hand railing of the approaches it was pointed out.—Del Rio Evening News.

SERVICES HELD IN DEL RIO FOR ROSS STAFFORD

Del Rio Banker Is Found Dead Early Monday

DEL RIO, Nov. 7.—Brief services for Ross Stafford, 53, active vice president of the Del Rio National Bank, were held Tuesday morning at 9:30 at the Doran Funeral Home, the Rev. B. D. Kennedy of the First Presbyterian Church and the Rev. Chas. Nixon of the First Methodist Church officiating. Following the service, W. S. Stevenson left on the 10:25 eastbound train to accompany the body to Keokuk, Ia., where interment will be made from the home of his sister, Mrs. William N. Sage.

Mr. Stafford was found dead in his room at the St. Charles Hotel Monday morning. Death was attributed to heart disease.

Coming to Del Rio in 1926, Mr. Stafford because of his far sighted banking ability gained a reputation throughout West Texas. He came here to take over the reins of the Del Rio National Bank following the resignation of D. T. Wood. Prior to his Del Rio residence, Mr. Stafford was with the E. B. Chandler Company in San Antonio, Chicago Cattle Loan Company and the Melvin Traylor Bank of Chicago. He secured his early training on the Chicago livestock market as a commission man while working for his uncles.

O. H. McAdams and F. L. Burnside were Del Rio visitors Tuesday having gone down to attend funeral services which were held in that city for Ross Stafford, Del Rio banker, who was found dead Monday.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL DRIVE TO BE NOV. 11 TO 30

Chairman Urges Citizens To Put Drive Over

The dates November 11 to 30 have been set for the annual Roll Call of the Terrell County Chapter of the American Red Cross. Plans are being made to use enough volunteer workers this year to reach every adult in Terrell County, between Armistice Day and Thanksgiving.

Red Cross performance is necessarily gauged by the degree to which its work is supported by the public. When this year's membership campaign opens November 11, every adult of this and thousands of other communities will be extended an opportunity to join. The minimum annual membership fee is $1.00; the contributing membership is $5.00; sustaining, $10.00; and supporting, $25.00. Regardless of which amount is subscribed only 50 cents goes to the National Organization, the remainder being retained for local chapter services.

Miss Eva Chaffin has been appointed as local Red Cross chairman. The local Boy Scout Organization is assisting in publicity for this campaign and the Girl Reserve Club of the Sanderson High School are volunteering as membership workers.

Last fall, during the worst economic period this generation has experienced, nearly 4,000,000 persons enrolled in the National Red Cross. This year the enrollment appeal will be carried to the citizens of this country by a quarter-million volunteer workers, serving the 3,700 Red Cross Chapters in the United States. It is this voluntary spirit, coupled with humanitarian service and an ability to function efficiently, that keeps the Red Cross alive in the minds of the American people.

While rapid strides toward recovery have been made in many sections of the country during the recent months, local chapter officers of the American Red Cross urge that the public not be forgetful of the millions still unable to shift for themselves.

It may be stated, in announcing the organization's annual Roll Call, to be conducted between Armistice Day and Thanksgiving, it is now more important than ever that citizenship respond to the humanitarian call for support, not only to make it possible for the Red Cross to help others help themselves in times of economic stress, but to insure the future of the agency's normal activities which, after all, will mean more lasting contributions to serves.

Our community, state and nation have made encouraging steps toward recovery in the last half-year but in our eagerness to banish all thought of the suffering caused by business dislocation, we must not be numbing of those who still find it impossible to assume their full responsibilities. Danger lurks at the turning point in any national crisis.

Through its regular services the Red Cross makes health popular among millions, trains workers in First Aid, teaches proper care of the sick, urges preventive measures, assists war veterans and their families and answers promptly whenever and wherever disaster strikes. In peacetime as in war; in lean years as in more prosperous eras, the Red Cross carries on.

SMALL TOWNS

A Washington correspondent calls attention to the problem of making the NRA fit small businesses without causing them to blow up and fade out. In a moment of impatience, General Hugh S. Johnson, industrial administrator, is quoted as saying that an employer who can't pay $14 to $15 per week and maintain hours prescribed by the code, is too uneconomic and inefficient to keep in the industrial picture. In handling his big task, however, General Johnson should remember that all over this broad land are comparatively small towns, kept alive by comparatively small businesses. The trade volume does not make possible large overhead, nor are the expenses of an employee so great as those of one in a larger center. An employer in a rural community earns less and an employee requires less. The small town serves the convenience of a considerable area, and its perpetuation, with its small institutions as little impaired as possible, will be a source of material aid to future farm values. The small town has had a vital part in pushing back the frontier, in developing the country and in preserving the best in civilization, and the machinery of recovery should be handled in a way to save its businesses, though as a rule they may be small.—Herald, Wayne, Nebr.

A TALE WITH A MORAL

Story is told of a medieval village that decided to hold a great feast. To insure its success, a huge cask was built into which each participant agreed to pour a bottle of wine. "If I fill my bottle with water," soliloquized one, "and empty it into the barrel with the others, surely it won't be noticed." The big day arrived, and days inevitably do, and with all the villagers assembled the great cask was tapped. And lo! only water flowed forth. Each of the villagers also had reasoned, "My bit will not be missed."

Community feasts have gone out of style, but not the moral of this tale. It becomes particularly appropriate in this season of community chests and welfare relief drives.—Rotarian Magazine.

HISTORY STILL IN THE MAKING

History is still in the making. Today we are living in the most eventful time in all history. Old ways, old standards and old systems no longer can survive because they do not meet the needs of the day. No business, no community, state or nation can defy the law of progress by moving backward a generation. Progress and prosperity demands the cutting loose from all hampering precedent, and uniting our forces unselfishly to clear the ground for a new era.

You can't solve the transportation problems of an airplane by going back to ox carts and saddle bags.

For those who have eyes to see, this is the test of civilization—the trial of America's fitness to survive.—Star-Clipper, Traer, Ia.

RED CROSS RELIEF AIDS DISTRESSED IN 120 DISASTERS

Help Given in Fires, Floods, Earthquake and Epidemics Part of Year's Task

The American Red Cross has reached into the homes of six million families in the past year with unemployment and disaster relief, Chairman John Har-to Payne announced.

"As the year closed the organization continued in readiness to serve in the forthcoming winter at the point of greatest need and to adjust its service to meet the calls of the emergency of unemployment and disaster," Chairman Payne stated.

In a year of greatest economic distress in the nation's history, in which the Red Cross ably discharged a relief task in distributing flour and clothing to distressed families in all but six of the nation's 3,098 counties, the organization also was called into action in 120 disasters, of which 94 were within the borders of the United States.

Earthquake, floods, hurricanes, fires and other cataclysms visited death and destruction upon the lives and homes of thousands of people. Red Cross statistics showed that in the 120 disasters almost a thousand lives were lost, 148,340 homes were destroyed or damaged, 13,274 persons were injured, and Red Cross relief was given to 452,879 individuals.

In giving aid in these disasters, in its unemployment relief and in handling the distribution of government wheat and cotton, the Red Cross expended from its national treasury the sum of $1,070,284.

During one period of twelve weeks, 46 disasters occurred in 23 states. Red Cross disaster workers were hard pressed in meeting all of these needs occurring at once, but everywhere misery was promptly relieved.

Support of the Red Cross work is through its annual roll call, conducted by chapters in the period from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day, November 11 to November 28. Every citizen who joins the Red Cross as a member aids in carrying relief to disaster victims and in other Red Cross services, such as preservation of life, child welfare through the Junior Red Cross, and direct service for the public health.

White Hyacinths . . . to feed the soul

A GREAT department store, one of the largest in the country, published a most unusual advertisement. "Buy something you don't need," it read. And there is a sound and worthy philosophy beneath that seemingly cold and calloused plea . . . a philosophy that has endured for centuries.

"If I had two leaves," wrote the Persian poet, Sadi of Shiraz, "I would sell one, and buy white hyacinths to feed my soul." And throughout all history, men have sold their leaves to buy white hyacinths.

We would modify the exhortation of the department store. Buy something you could do without, but something you very much want. . . . The antique chair you've been promising yourself, the new carpeting for the dining room. . . . the electric grandfather's clock, or the sterling silver.

Values were never so great, for the amount expended, as now. You have only to turn to the advertisements in this newspaper to be convinced. Here is written a story too important for you to miss. And very often you will find you may keep both leaves . . . and have your hyacinths as well.

GETTING READY FOR SUNDAY-SCHOOL

(By H. C. Goldwire)

Awake! Arise, dear Lady mine, Rise up with this bright day, and fine;

Prepare yourself for Sunday School, Where you will teach the Golden Rule.

There will gather clear-eyed kiddies Dressed in pretty caps and middies Ruddy faces, shining, fresh, Where soap and water had their wish;

Dressed in bright smiles madre-given, Supplied with pennies padre-riven, With care-free hearts and merry song,

As t'ward the church they skip along.

Their hearts are free from every worry; They are dreaming as they hurry To the little church and teacher that they love so well,

Dreaming of the smile she gives them As she with pleasant word receives them;

She shares their joy with sympathy that none but her can tell.

From you they'll hear no cult nor ism—, Neither creed nor catechism, But purest Truth of our Lord As you have found it in His word.

So 'rise, I say, and meet the sun: Your busiest day is now begun.

Arise and call that Billie Boy, The one who is your hope and joy The one who said he'd first be up, And light your fire, and bring a cup

Of steaming coffee to your bed, But that is only what he said; For now he's sleeping with the sleep

That only youth and health can keep; He's dreaming of a maiden fair With bright blue eyes and curling hair,

Of Mother's smile of approbation, Of Father's wearide toleration.

So up, I say! Up, up and going! The row's not hoed without the hoeing;

The pork is swine until it's dead By stroke of mallet on its head; The flesh is loss until it's cooked; The order's null that never booked Nor even does the Bible's word Extend for far without the sword.

So with keen knife you'll part the bread, And brown the toast on embers red;

You'll boil the coffee for your men You'll give them food and drink; and then

If help you need in all of this, The Poorer Half would be remiss If he should fail of offer said To sweep a room or make a bed.

So willing hand he gives in this— A pleasant word, a smile, a kiss— To speed you on your toilsome way

Of this, your busiest, busy day, I'll very quickly snap the beans, I'll turn the roast and pick the greens;

And now I'll try to crank the Ford That uncertain over-lord Who, with wilful "Yes" or "No", Says we stay, or Lets us go.

But thanks to ancient Dinosaur Who brings his great and ponderous power

Thru time to the propitious hour, And gives authoritative word To convince this stubborn Ford: For now it runs!—With seeming glee,

And sings a song of model "T".

So out she comes, that wondrous wife! Behind are household toil and strife!

RECIPES AND MENUS

By Department of Home Economics Texas State College for Women (CIA)

DENTON, Nov. 9.—The value of vegetables in the diet lies in the mineral salts, vitamins, and cellulose which they furnish in generous quantities.

The carbohydrates and protein contents of some vegetables still serves a purpose, but in the light of our present knowledge they assume less importance, since there are a number of other easily available sources of the food elements. Potatoes, of course, will be included in the dietary as a comparatively inexpensive and acceptable source of carbohydrate, as beans and peas will be of protein.

The mineral salts and vitamins both are destroyed to some extent by cooking. Heat alone effects certain of the vitamins and hot water dissolves most of the mineral salts quite readily. Raw vegetables, therefore, are to be preferred to cooked ones, and should be used wherever practical. Oftentimes they may be worked into the menu in the form of salads. When cooking of vegetables is necessary, the fundamental principle should consist of softening the cellulose and insuring as much as possible of the minerals and vitamins.

Breakfast: Hot baked apples, sausage cakes, popovers, coffee, and milk.

Luncheon: Tuna fish salad, corn pudding, graham muffins, floating island custard, tea, milk.

Dinner: Stuffed beef heart, glazed sweet potatoes, buttered turnips, cold slaw, tapioca cream, coffee.

Breakfast: Farina with raisins, top milk, poached eggs, toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon: Cold meat, tomato and celery salad, bread, butter, hot gingerbread and whipped cream, tea, milk.

Dinner: Roast mutton, brown gravy, creamed cauliflower, currant jelly, bread, lemon sponge with custard sauce, coffee.

Creamed Cauliflower: 1 head cauliflower, 2 T butter, 2 T flour, 1 c milk, 1-2 c water in which cauliflower was cooked, 1-2 t salt, dash of pepper. Soak a solid head of cauliflower in cold salted water for about 1 hour. Then wash thoroughly, wrap in cheesecloth, and cook in boiling salted water until tender. When sufficiently cooked, drain, and make a sauce of other ingredients. Place the cauliflower in a vegetable dish, pour the white sauce over it, and serve hot.

Tomato and Celery Salad: 6 tomatoes, 2 c celery diced, 1-3 to 1-2 c mayonnaise, lettuce leaves. Select firm tomatoes of a good size, scald, peel and chill. Cut a slice from the top of each, and scoop out all the seeds and soft pulp, being careful not to break the sides. Cut celery into small dice, mix it with mayonnaise dressing, fill the shells with mixture, place one teaspoon dressing on top of each tomato and serve individually on a bed of lettuce leaves placing three or four small leaves on each plate and the tomato in the center.

Glazed Sweet Potatoes: 6 sweet potatoes, salt, pepper, butter, 1 c brown sugar, 1-4 c water. Boil potatoes without paring, when tender drain, strip off skins. Make syrup by boiling sugar, water. Cut each potato into half, dip each piece into syrup, lay it in a greased baking dish. Season with salt, pepper, butter. When all potato is in dish pour over it any syrup that remains, bake in quick oven until potatoes are brown.

Sammy Cohen Dives— But Not So Fancy

Although Sammy Cohen is called upon to make several comic dives into a swimming pool in Fox Film's "Sailor's Luck," the popular dialect comedian is actually one of the best exponents of this art in Hollywood.

Sammy learned to dive when he was a youngster and has kept his skill through his long career as a film comedian. While making the swimming pool sequences, Sammy kept the entire company entertained during lunch hours with his one-and-one-halves and other fancy dives. Sammy is cast in the role of a wise-cracking glib in "Sailor's Luck" which stars James Dunn and Sally Eilers and comes on November 10-11 to the Princess Theatre.

S. L. Eldridge, of Sabinal who has ranching interests in this county, was a business visitor in the city several days this week.

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

(From Industrial News Review)

Happenings That Affect the Dinner Pails, Dividend Checks and Tax Bills of Every Individual. National and International Problems Inseparable From Local Welfare.

It is now expected that the New Year will see the approval of all the industrial codes. That will mean that the National Recovery Administration has completed its first great task. At this writing, 59 codes, covering the basic industries, have been approved. One-hundred thirty-seven being revised. Forty seven are scheduled for early hearings. By the time this is read the retail code, which was one of the most difficult, will have been approved unless an unlooked-for problem crops up. Most interesting feature of this code is that it will eliminate selling at less than inventory cost, a practice which has been prevalent, especially among large stores, which advertise "leaders" at less than cost in the hope that customers buying them will buy other goods on which profit is made. Very small stores, in towns of bottom-bracket population, will be immune to code provisions.

One important NRA problem is going to be the attitude of the press. Here's where the recovery administration made a possibly far-reaching mistake. When General Johnson excluded two reporters from his conference, because he didn't like what they had been writing about NRA, he was doing the unprecedented. Then he put his foot in deeper by advocating a licensing system for papers, and just about every metropolitan editor in the country ran for his typewriter. On top of that, an NRA representative in the South called on the editor of a medium-sized paper, told him if he didn't stop making unfriendly comments on NRA labor provisions, he'd find himself in trouble. The editor spoke up in his paper and found the whole press, including the most zealous supporters of the Roosevelt program, behind him. This threatened press censorship is vitally important, and sparks are going to fly when it really comes to a head.

General belief is that Mr. Roosevelt is heartily in favor of a free press—that his mistake is in not holding tight enough rein on some of his assistants.

One fine afternoon back in 1913 an obscure prince was shot in the equally obscure city of Sarajevo. To most of the world the event simply meant one more scarehead and nothing more. Then armies began mobilizing. Lights burned late in chancelleries. The British Navy set out for maneuvers several weeks ahead of the normal time. And the greatest war in history was underway. Matters are not especially different in Europe now. Hitler's withdrawal of Germany from the League conference, has sent the greatest scare since those 1913 days through premiers and emperors, congresses and parliaments. The Hitler position is that the Versailles treaty is unbearable—that the refusal to meet Germany on an equal basis so far as armaments especially, are concerned, thrusts the blame onto the other powers and that whatever happens will be their fault. Position of the other powers is more vague than that, and more confused. But they definitely fear Germany. Theoretically she has no army, save a small Reichswehr made up of picked men in for long terms. Practically, she has a great army, consisting of Hitler's brown shirts, which, under command of schooled Reichswehr officers, is powerful indeed. Her great lack is the weapons of offense—artillery, tanks, planes.

Final decision may be left to France, which has most at stake. Many European statesmen believe it is time to declare a preventative war on Germany, crush her absolutely and unseat Hitler, before she has time to prepare. Smaller countries are alarmed—harricades are rising on the Swiss frontier, and her small, but first-class army received increased appropriations, went into harsh training. There is a link of nations around Germany of which but one, France, is great—the others however, by cumulative action, could make it very unpleasant for Hitler.

So far as the United States is concerned, these events are of only economic importance. Roosevelt policy will doubtless be to keep hands off—even in case of war, to pursue complete and dispassionate neutrality. It's Europe's affair—and the fires are burning faster daily.

Speaking of fires, the U. S. has one of its own. It's consuming the prairie country. Not a literal blaze it is in the minds and hearts of farmers, who believe the AAA has failed to aid them; have watched their purchasing power, in many instances go sharply down while other prices went sharply up. The Administration is frankly worried as the farm strike movement grows, takes in more farmers, more kinds of products, more states. Milo Reno, who can be both a fire eater and a fire maker, came into sight again with his Farm Holiday Association, told his followers to buy nothing, sell nothing, pay no taxes and no debts, until selling price at least reached cost price. Two governors expressed themselves as being in sympathy with farmers' strike.

Whole future of the Administration farm program is at stake and strongest efforts will be given to bringing order from chaos.

REMARKABLE NEW INVENTION MAKES SAFEST TIRE EVER BUILT 3 TIMES SAFER FROM BLOWOUTS. . . NO EXTRA COST!

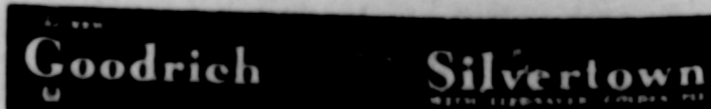

This is probably the most vital single announcement ever made about a tire. It's the story of a life-saving invention. An invention that will save thousands of lives. . . maybe your life . . . and prevent thousands and thousands of those accidents that maim and cripple people. For years auto speeds have been increasing. The whole nation is hitting it up. Big car or small, they go 70 now. A mile-a-minute is simply America's diet today!

And when the speedometer reads 40, 50, 60 and 70—mile after mile . . . the heat inside the tire carcass becomes terrific. Rubber and fabric begin to separate. A blister starts . . . inside the tire, where you can't see it . . . and grows. Like an insidious tumor, it gets bigger and bigger . . . Until BANG! A blow-out! The rim hits the road . . . And a terrible darg sets in . . . Like some unseen monster pulling your car off the highway!

So somebody simply HAD to build a safer tire. One that would stand the terrific strain of modern high-speed motors.

To protect you from blow-outs, every new Goodrich Safety Silvertown Tire has the amazing new Life-Saver Golden Ply. This new invention resists terrific heat—fabric and rubber don't separate. Thus blisters don't form inside the tire. Blow-outs are prevented by overcoming the very cause of blow-outs before they start.

At grueling speed on the world's fastest track, the New Goodrich Safety Silvertown Tire with the Life-Saver Golden Ply lasted three times as long as first quality tires that did have this
