LARGE CABBAGE PRODUCED IN LOCAL GARDEN

Mrs. J. W. McKee Has Garden That Produces Many Vegetables

Sanderson has a good soil and a wonderful climate that is adapted to the growing of most any kind of shrubbery, trees, or even to the producing of a garden if only we had plenty of water.

This is proven when one sees the garden that is in the yard of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McKee. Mrs. McKee states that she has no trouble in growing all kinds of vegetables, from the most hardy ones to those that are considered rather difficult to grow. They have a water well on their place and thus is assured of plenty of water regardless of whether it rains or not.

This week Mrs. McKee brought to our office a leaf from a head of cabbage which is certainly the largest yet and one that would be a subject for Ripley's Believe it or Not Column. This leaf measured 21 1-2 by 19 1-2 inches and the head of the cabbage from which it was taken measured 12 inches across.

Women Flyers Descend After Breaking Record

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 1. (AP)—Back to earth after spending ten days in the skies, Frances Marsalis and Helen Richey Saturday night laid claim to a new woman's refueling endurance flight record of 9 days, 21 hours and 42 minutes.

Almost exhausted, they brought their oil-spattered plane down to a perfect landing at the municipal airport at 10:45 a. m. after battling frequent rain squalls and choppy winds that plagued them during the final stages of their grueling test.

The women, happy but plainly showing fatigue, ended their arduous venture aloft just as a huge black cloud opened up with a downpour that drenched the cheering spectators who rushed out to greet them.

Mrs. Marsalis is a former Sanderson girl and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Carter of this city.

Mrs. Mata Wheeler returned to her home in Rocksprings Sunday after spending the Holidays here with Mrs. Grace Wheeler.

New Year Greeting Sent By Governor Miriam A. Ferguson

AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 1.—Greetings for the New Year were extended Texas citizens Saturday by Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson, who issued this statement:

"On the eve of a new year I want to extend greetings to the people of our State and to express my hope that the coming year may bring to our citizens a large measure of health and prosperity.

"Slowly but surely under the leadership of our great President our country is advancing toward recovery from the distressing conditions of the last few years. Let us as Texans look forward with hope and trust and justify the faith of our forebears of the Alamo and San Jacinto.

"In a few hours 1933 will have passed, but most of us will carry into the coming year many valuable lessons learned during the last twelve months. The distress which many of our people suffered has caused us to stop and consider. We have learned to share and to realize more than ever that no man can live for himself alone. Happiness and prosperity are worthless unless they are shared. If we can carry that belief and practice into our personal living 1934 will be a memorable year."

Mrs. James Kerr and sons returned the first of the week from San Antonio where they spent the Christmas holidays with relatives.

Mrs. W. J. Ferguson and children returned Monday from Greenville, Texas, where they spent the past week visiting relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Burnside have returned from a Holiday visit with relatives in Rogers, Texas.

Eagle Flights On Hotel in N. M. As Code into Effect

CARLSBAD, N. M., Jan. 2. (AP)—If this isn't a good omen for 1934 and the NRA, then Carlsbad hotel owners contend they don't know a good luck sign when they see one.

Bank Insurance Covers Bulk Of Nation's Deposits

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1. (AP)—President Roosevelt was informed Monday night that 97 per cent of the Nation's bank depositors would be insured under the new deposit insurance which becomes effective Tuesday.

Walter J. Cummings, chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, reported to Mr. Roosevelt deposits in 13,423 banks will be insured. He said only 141 banks had been found ineligible and predicted a number of them might be insured by making certain corrections.

Thus, Tuesday for the first time in American history depositors of sums up to $2,500 will be insured against loss.

After July 1 this insurance will be increased to $10,000.

"I congratulate you," wrote President Roosevelt in response to the report of Cummings, and E. G. Bennett and J. F. T. O'Connor, "because you have in these few months accomplished with complete success a gigantic task which the pessimists said could not possibly be done before Jan. 1. That 97 per cent of the bank depositors of the Nation are insured will give renewed faith."

"I am also happy to know of the fine co-operation to you by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. All National banks and members of the Federal Reserve System are automatically insured under the new Federal law.

To become members of the Federal insurance, guarantee State banks were required to meet rigid conditions by the Federal authorities.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation opened its vaults to sound institutions requiring additional backing.

GREETINGS TO 1934

The United States has come to the end of one of the most momentous years in its history. It has been a year in which vast and unprecedented experiments have been tried. It has been a year in which governmental problems and issues have, to a greater degree than at any time since the World War, engaged the attention of the public.

For the first time since government was founded, there has been sweeping legislation to control the wages and hours of the entire working population, and the competitive methods of virtually all industry. A dramatic and frankly experimental effort to solve the farmers' problems has become part of the law of the land.

To say that these efforts have been entire successes is to close our eyes to facts. To say that they have failed is to be unjust. They have fallen between these extremes. Men have been put to work by the hundreds of thousands--men who had had little or no work for two or three years, and had been forced to suffer the ignominy of organized charity in order to keep their families and themselves from utter privation.

And in other fields the Administration has much on which it can honestly pride itself. It has started a program whereby the transportation difficulties of the country may eventually be solved. It has done a good job in solidifying and safeguarding the banking structure. It has attempted to protect the public against stock swindlers and fly-by-night promoters, who reaped so fine a harvest in the boom years and even after. It has created machinery seeking to encourage home financing and private construction.

This is all on the credit side of the ledger. The entries on the debit side are not less important--and it does the country and the Administration no service to overlook them. All great experimental movements breed errors--and Mr. Roosevelt and his advisors would have been a great deal more than human had they avoided them. It is unquestionably true that, in working to bring recovery, methods have been adopted, and laws passed, which will make arid some of the springs from whence recovery must eventually flow.

Again in the securities act, certain provisions have made it impossible to issue legitimate industrial securities--thus depriving business of capital it sorely needs, depriving workers of potential jobs, and depriving the public of a place to put its money where it can do essential work.

In brief, government, and the voting public, must not forget that private initiative and enterprise are still the most important of national attributes. Government can do much to cure depression but after recovery has commenced, it is industry and capital which will provide jobs, taxes, payrolls, progress. The public purse is not bottomless. It can be more easily exhausted than we know.

In summing up, the American people have the best of reasons for looking to the future with confidence. The country is still here. The land is no less fertile than it was. Its industries are no less great. Its individual spirit is no less potent. Its intellectual capacity is no smaller. Factories, utilities, railroads, insurance companies, mines, banks, farms-- they are still here, and they will be doing business as usual when new forces, new changes, of which we know nothing now, have usurped the center of the stage.

So--greetings to 1934!--Industrial News Review.

COMMENTABLE COMMENTS

VICTORS IN HARDSHIPS--Arctic ice and jungle are not more destructive than the depression is to its victims. But there are those who meet its worst with the high heart of such explorers as Stefansson, Eigenmann, Akeley--the spirit which through a million years has kept man on the dangerous earth alive and victorious.--William Lowe Bryan in the Rotarian Magazine.

A NEW MARKET.--The improved wage conditions that the NRA is bringing to the lowest paid workers in the United States will likely bring a new market for low-priced goods of a leisure or luxury type; it will undoubtedly shift markets somewhat, just as enclosed automobiles shifted the underwear market, or as aromatically improved hosiery is shifting at present the market for women's medium-priced hose.--Dr. Donald A. what we knew a long ago regarding man, is equally true about business. No business is self-sufficient, much of its success depends upon others. No business can succeed without taking others into consideration. If a manufacturer or producer tries to outsell his competitor by unfair means, both will suffer.--Warner S. PREVENTION BETTER THAN CURE.--It is good citizenry as well as common sense to give a thought to the boy before he has gone seriously wrong, rather than to mete out heavy--and expensive--punishment after he has been convicted of crime.--From an Editorial in the Rotarian Magazine.

"People are crying that the depression is terrible, that they cannot get as much to eat as formerly. I believe if they will just grasp Opportunity by the horn and put forth every effort there is no reason for their pantry shelves to be empty, their children crying for food, and their husbands out of sort." So speaks Mrs. O. C. Barlow, a Kaufman county farm wife who has 984 quarts of fruits, vegetables and meats on her pantry shelves as a result of her work as a home demonstration club 4-H pantry demonstrator at Prairieville.

Twenty-eight Nolan county 4-H club boys put baby beeves on home grown rations of ground milo heads, bundle sorghum and cottonseed meal in November in preparation for a cattle show May 15th.

From a 2-acre pecan orchard put out 18 years ago, but which really started 7 years ago when he began top working unprofitable trees to improved varieties, S. R. Buchanan of Saratoga, Hardin county, has sold $200 worth of pecans and has several hundred pounds on hand to sell, the county agent reports.

A local canning record has been established by Mrs. Y. R. Gaither, home demonstration club 4-H pantry demonstrator in Johnson county. She has 1633 containers of food. Everything in the pantry was produced on the farm except 1-2 bushel of apples.

A small farm poultry flock, if properly managed, is still a good paying investment, says the county agent in Blanco county, who points to the year's records of four demonstrators. A total of 929 hens laid an average of 137 1-2 cents per dozen. Total income per hen was 84 cents.

MESDAMES NANCE AND HARRELL ENTERTAIN

One of the most pleasant and delightful bridge parties given in some time was on last Friday afternoon when Mesdames Austin Nance and Kendrick Harrell entertained with bridge at the Kerr Hotel.

The Christmas decorations were carried out in the tallies and refreshments.

The following were bidden guests for the afternoon: Mesdames Joe Kerr, Clyde Griffith, LeeRoy Grigsby, Lee McCue, J. C. Green, J. W. McKee, Will Savage, James Sharp, A. P. Utterback, Frank Robertson, Carlton White, J. W. Happle, W. A. Banner, S. S. Daggett, Max Bogusch, C. P. Peavey, P. C. Coates, Jr., Jim Nance, Buck Pyle, H. E. Fletcher, D. A. Pollard, T. D. Moore, C. M. Breeding, L. A. Lowe and Misses Kate Sharp, Anna Mitchell, Helen Burrows, Willie Mae Green, Mary Alice Happle, Kathleen Sullivan and Frances Laughlin.

A pewter basket was the high score prize that went to Mrs. Joe Kerr. A small pewter pitcher and tray went to Mrs. J. C. Green for second high score. Cut prizes for each table were wall plaques and were won by Mesdames James Sharp, Buck Pyle, J. W. McKee, Frank Robertson, Jim Nance, A. P. Utterback, Carlton White and Miss Helen Burrows.

A salad plate of tomatoes stuffed with chicken salad, cheese bread rounds, olives, individual cake and coffee was served.—Reported.

DENTON, Jan. 4.—For the homemaker who has not had scientific training in foods and nutrition it is often a problem to provide meals which will give the family the required food nutrients. In a general way we know that minerals and vitamins are essential but there are other factors which should be understood. A certain amount of protein is desirable and fats and carbohydrates are essential in any normal diet. How to be sure these are included in proper amounts is the problem.

A rather easy way to check the menus for the day to determine if one has included the necessary foods is to use the following standard. For each day it is wise to serve two fruits, two vegetables other than potatoes, an egg in some form, a meat or its substitute, as some cheese dish, some whole grain cereal, a pint of milk for adults and a quart for each child. It is better if one of the fruits is fresh and if one of the vegetables is green. Following this guide and then using as much variety as the season and cost will permit will assure a well balanced diet. Menus representative of such meals are given below.

Breakfast: Oranges sliced, whole grain cereal, toast, eggs, coffee.

Luncheon: Peanut butter soup, toast sticks, cabbage and celery salad, tutti-frutti gingerbread, milk.

Dinner: Pot roast, potatoes, carrots, tomato salad, bread, baked apples, coffee.

Breakfast: Stewed apricots, bran flakes with cream, muffins, conserve, coffee.

Breakfast: Orange juice, Graham nut muffins, bacon, preserves, coffee.

Dinner: Baked fresh ham, gravy, baked potatoes, green string beans, grilled tomatoes, celery, olives, hot rolls, pickled peach salad, trifle, candies, nuts, coffee.

Supper: Date waffles, syrup, baked apples, coffee.

Mock Plum Pudding: 1 c grated potato, 1 c grated carrot, 1 tsp. soda, 1 c brown sugar, 1 c flour, 1-4 tsp salt, 1-2 c milk, 1 c raisins. Grind the raw vegetables in a food chopper. Add soda to the potatoes. Mix all the ingredients and steam 3 1-2 hours. Serve with a lemon sauce.

Trifle: Dry cake slices, 2 c soft custards, 3-4 c preserves, 1 1-2 c tart fruit juice, 1-2 c cream whipped 1-2 c nuts. Spread the preserves between the slices of cake, pour the fruit juice over the cake and let stand several hours. Pour over this the cold custard. Spread whipped cream over the custard and sprinkle with nuts just before serving.

Date Waffles: 2 c flour, 2 tsp. sugar, 4 tsp. baking powder, 1 tsp. salt, 2 eggs, 1 3-4 c milk, 4 tsp. fat, 1 c chopped dates. Combine dry ingredients, add dates. Add egg yolks, milk and melted fat. Stir only until smooth. Fold in beaten egg whites and bake.

Chester Morris A Modern Cave Man In "King For A Night"

Chester Morris, who will be seen in the role of "Kil William" in the picture King for a Night which will be shown at the Princess Theatre Friday and Saturday, January 5-6, doesn't like the way that Dorothy Granger has been treating him and another young man in his home town of Masonville. When he is absolutely sure that she has been playing his rival, Terrance Ray, against him, he mashes an ice cream Sundae in her face.

Later, when he becomes a successful popular idol in New York City, he finds that the girl he loves, Alice White, has been two-timing him. He gets a confession from her and then lands a right hook which sends her sprawling, completely unconscious.

Miss White has been on the wrong end of several blows recently, and has even been in the hospital for treatment from screen blows. Why do they seem to like to sock Alice? She is now under contract to Universal, and this is her first featured role.

Judge W. A. Hadden who was enroute to his home in Fort Stockton following a Holiday visit in San Antonio, visited in the city Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Snead, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Snead of Robert Lee, Texas, and Miss Iva Snead of Fort Davis were guests here on Sunday and Monday of this week with their son and brother, T. D. Snead and family.

DESCRIBES FARM ADJUSTMENT PLAN

Agricultural College President Says Federal Program Seeks to Coordinate Production with Reduced Exports

The Federal farm adjustment program is partly guided by the belief that export of agricultural commodities will not soon recover its volume of five or ten years ago, in the opinion of F. D. Farrell, President Kansas Agricultural College, writing in the August issue of the American Bankers Association Journal.

"Nobody knows whether the farm adjustment program will succeed," writes Mr. Farrell. "Its sponsors describe it frankly as an experiment. It seeks to specialize agriculture at least to the extent that farmers, in what is believed to be the public interest, will restrain their production activities and that processors, distributors and consumers will contribute something toward paying farmers for exercising this restraint. The adjustment programs definitely are based on the fact that prices are determined primarily by supply and demand. They also are based on the assumption that the export business in agricultural commodities will not soon return to its volume of five or ten years ago.

Dependence on Public Support
"The plan offers wheat price insurance for 1932, 1933, and 1934, for the domestically consumed portion of the wheat crop. The insured price is to be sufficiently high to give the domestically consumed portion of the wheat crop pre-war purchasing power, if the plan is as effective as its sponsors hope it will be, the reduction in supply may influence wheat prices so that the entire wheat crop will have pre-war purchasing power.

"If the adjustment program succeeds, its launching probably will mark the end of an era of extreme individualism in agriculture in the United States," says Mr. Farrell.

"Recent fundamental changes led Secretary Wallace to say, 'What we really have to do is to change the whole psychology of the people of the United States. This is a large order. It involves the whole program of farm adjustment as well as the larger national economic program, of which farm adjustment is a part. If the people decline to participate in the program to the extent necessary to give the experiment a fair trial, we shall never know whether farm adjustment as now proposed would have succeeded or not if it had been given a fair trial."

Miss Mattierue Newton has returned to Denton to resume her studies at C. I. A. following a visit here during the Holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Newton.

Marion county farmers are said by the county agent to be planting more home orchards this winter than at any time in 20 years.

AIRDROME NEWS (BY JACK BELL)

How long does it take to go from here to San Antonio, six hours? Well I'm here to brag about a chap that made it in one hour and seven minutes: flat-yes sir, three and one-half miles per minute. A low wing pursuit typed P-26, Pratt and Whitney super charged engine of 525HP traveling at 250 MPH and piloted by Lieutenant Rogers of Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio, did the trick. The latest thing in a fighting ship of that type it was streamlined down to the last bolt. Its measurement from propeller to fin wasn't more than fifteen feet and its wing spread was about twenty feet. We couldn't help but marvel at the speed of the thing a wonder how it felt (sailing so fast) so we cornered the pilot whose words were to the effect that there is very little difference traveling at a hundred and two hundred and fifty miles per hour, provided (1) that there is sufficient protection from the wind, (2) that you are high enough so that your visibility is increased, (3) that you have enough confidence in your compass (if you are going any distance), (4) that you have enough clothing to withstand the cold upper air. Lt. Rogers left Dayton at noon December 27th and arrived in San Antonio 6:30 p. m. same date where he remained overnight. He arrived here in the morning of December 28th and planned on eating dinner in Los Angeles.

The Rev. and Mrs. T. M. Taylor of the Methodist Church, Sanderson, visited Mrs. Richardson and the airdrome December 29th. Although we doubt that Bro. Taylor reads this column, we'll take this means of letting him know that we appreciated his visit and interest. We are anxious to have more visitors and will do our best to acquaint them with our activities. After all it is your money that is spent here so come down and see what's being done with it.

A Ford transport with eleven occupants dropped in for gas, oil and a rest. This ship is a product of the Ford Motor Company and at this time is the largest transport in the service. Compared with other ships its speed is nothing to harp about, but it does give you a sense of security that seems to lack in other transports. The Ford is all Duraluminum with three engines, two of which are capable of flying the ship in an emergency.

Work at the Airdrome, which had been suspended during the Holidays, was resumed January 2nd. Information is at hand that enough money is available to cement our Hangar floor and aprons leading from the doors of the hangar to such a length that would permit enough room for a ship to land or take off during inclement weather. No dope on the date this work will start but Sgt. Richardson assures me that he'll let me know when he receives his instructions.

Three brand new Keystone bombers from the San Antonio air depot at Duncan Field arrived here 1 p. m. December 30th. Each of these ships was crewed by 1 pilot and 1 mechanic. Their destination was Rockwell Field, Calif., where they will be received by the 11th Bombardment Squadron to be used in connection with 1934 tactical maneuvers. Two Wright Cyclone 600 horsepower engines 3 bladed propellers furnished the driving power of these enormous mechanical birds allowing them to cruise at 140 miles per hour. The war time crew of these airplanes consist of 1 pilot, 1 mechanic, 1 radio operator and 2 machine gunners. A 50 cal. machine gun is mounted for the front cockpit, commonly known as the "meat-can" and a similar gun is mounted for the rear cockpit. Two 30 cal. machine guns are mounted on the fuselage, at a 45 degree angle and manned by either the pilot or mechanic. In addition to the above, twenty-four 50 pounds bombs, 12 in the fuselage and 12 in the bomb-racks which are fixed under the wings, or one 1,000 pound bomb can be suspended on a special rack under the fuselage. Five gas tanks-3 on the top wings and 2 on the lower wings-holds 400 gallons of gasoline which is dissipated at the rate of 70 gallons an hour for both engines. An individual oil tank for each engine holds 46 quarts. This oil is changed every 30 hours (flying time). Ninety-five per cent of this oil is reclaimed, scientific tests having proven that this oil is equal to new oil. The process of reclamation is infinite.

A very nice compliment from Mrs. A. F. Buchanan of Dryden who says that she reads and enjoys this column. She further consoled us by saying that she appreciated the task in connection with keeping up this weekly chatter. Since this writer is getting to be a short-timer (5 days to be exact) he thinks it is fitting to take this means of telling both Mr. and Mrs. Buchanan that it has been a pleasure knowing and dealing with them. In fact, Mr. Buchanan was the source of a lot of interesting and informative information to me. For that, and many other favors, I feel that I was fortunate in knowing them.

If the Sergeants plans mature we are going to have a regular garden of Eden here. It is Sgt. Richardson's intention to plant evergreen trees along the highway in front of the airport. The Sergeant is of the opinion that anykind of flowers and trees will grow here provided they get enough water. A garden in the rear of the Sergeants quarters will be used for experimental purposes. His present plans are to cover the gasoline pumphouse with shrubbery and line shade trees along the walks. Fertile soil will be brought up from the draw, at the southern end of the field, and placed next to each of the buildings here to be planted with a variety of shrubs. All of the men here are very anxious to co-operate with the Sergeant in this undertaking.

And now that the Holidays are over we wonder how the neighborhood children amuse themselves. With school out it seemed that most of them were up here either looking over the numerous airplanes that stop here during the day, or watch our radio equipment in action, but mainly to visit with the Richardson children. A party everynight, one of which was given by Miss Constance Richardson here, took up most of their time—that is talking and planning for them. In fact our only excitement and enthusiasm for the incoming year was offered by these kids in the form of a lusty cheer from about twenty healthy lungs. We had them all over the place and at the time, we thought they were a lot of trouble yet we do miss them. I'm not the only one that misses them because Mrs. Richardson's boy, 3 years old, insisted that a lunch be fixed for him and faithfully awaited the coming of the school bus, heartbroken when they wouldn't let him on.

Due to the fact that orders on my departure will arrive shortly I want to take this opportunity of saying good-bye to my friends. This column will be taken over by a person better qualified to write and whose news, I'm sure, will be just as interesting and because I'm in this sentimental mood now--feeling myself shipping etc.--I'll just grab my newspaper, check the latest price on gold and convince myself that a good cry isn't what I need.

B. T. Corder, of Fort Stockton, was a business visitor in the city several days this week.

Mrs. A. J. Horton left Thursday for Crystal City where she will visit her sister Mrs. J. D. Mounts before returning to her home in Quitman Texas. Mrs. Horton has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. W. Downum at the Kerr Hotel for the past several weeks.
