COGITATIONS and APHORISMS of Jodok

I never did have a great admiration for Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, as regards her public activities while she was Mistress of the Whitehouse, the home of the President of the United States of America. Of course I knew nothing about Mrs. Roosevelt except what I read in the papers and magazines of her day, but it occurred to me that she frittered away a wonderful opportunity to do an immense amount of good for her country and the world during the more than a dozen years that she was, what is commonly termed, "The First Lady of the Land."

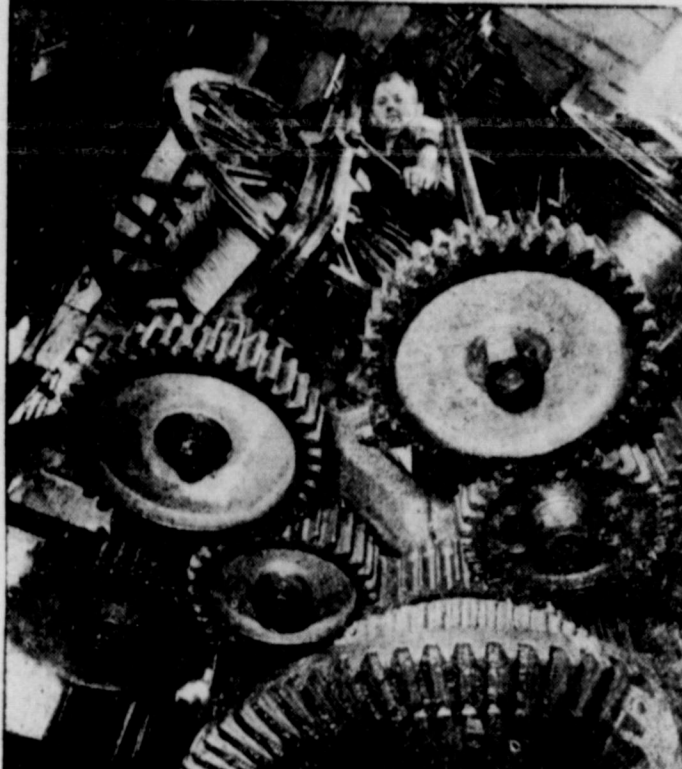

I read much about her behaviour and her sayings, and I do not remember that I ever read anything that built up for her any sort of a prestige in my mind, for her that I thought should enshrine her in the hearts of the people of her country, that is, in any way commensurate with the opportunity that was afforded her. But I never took advantage of any opportunity I may have had to see her personally. Had I done so, I might have made radical changes in my views concerning her, for personal contacts always has had a great deal to do with my preconceived opinions of any person.

But during the past few weeks, I have been reading a great deal about Mrs. Roosevelt's words and views that have made a radical change in my views concerning her ability and worthiness. My attention was called to this episode through a scorching criticism of her attitude in the matter of her sort of union between the church and the state, and the criticism was made by a high ranking churchman. I have mislaid the magazine in which I read the criticism and have even forgotten the name of the magazine, but I do remember the criticism was severe.

I am a great believer in the absolute, undeviating and permanent separation of church and state, in every form whatsoever, regardless of the theological beliefs or creeds of any division or subdivision whatsoever of the church. As I understand it, the various divisions of the church, or the various churches, as it is commonly expressed, is simply the theological opinions or beliefs of the members of the said church or churches, and I am bitterly opposed to any of them, or any part of it, regardless of which—receiving any, or the least mite of, either political or financial, support from the state. In my personal opinion there is but one "church," and it is a hell's blessing that it has been shattered into so many fragments, for if this had not occurred—I further believe—hell would be very sparsely populated: therefore I refer to it as "A hell's blessing."

Well, the matter that I am trying to get at—and I have no blame to lay at the door of any of these church fragments, regardless of the name—is that a high ranking ecclesiastic—and I cannot so much as recall his ecclesiastic rank—accused Mrs. Roosevelt of being prejudiced against his fragment of the church, and he made some remarks concerning her, that, in my opinion did not become a "gentleman," much less a high dignitary of any portion of the church, or of any social organization. It simply was not nice. This charge was made in a letter direct to Mrs. Roosevelt, as I remember it, but was also given to the press, and Mrs. Roosevelt let it be known that she had received the letter, but made no response to it for several days.

But when she did reply to her accuser, or adversary, as he might be termed, it was done in SMALL COG IN BIG MACHINE—Stephen Sivy is dwarfed amid the huge gears of this vertical layer machine in a Trenton, N. J., cable plant, but he's the guy who makes it go. The 10-ton machine is braiding 20 miles of wire rope for elevators in the UN Secretariat Building in New York. The elevators will transport an estimated 40,000 persons daily in the 39-story structure.

Farm Bureau Convention Delegates Vote To Fight Farm Gasoline Tax

Farm Bureau representatives from all over the State of Texas heard organizational leaders laud the work of the group, hit Brannon's Agriculture Plan, outline lobby work against gasoline taxes and discuss the progress of the Bureau when they met at a State Convention in College Station this week.

Guyie Neal, farmer from Dawn Community was named official delegate from the Deaf Smith County. This is the first year of organization for this chapter.

Number one project for the next year is to continue the four year long fight against removing the farm gasoline tax exemption. Under present arrangements the farmer gets a refund for the money he spends on gasoline for such farm vehicles as tractors, combines, etc. since they are not used on the highways.

To increase revenue funds the state proposes to abolish this refund, charging the farmer tax money to maintain highways which he does not use that equipment on. The Farm Bureau will continue their fight against this bill.

Farm-to-Market Road Action
Positive action was taken on the farm-to-market road program too, at which time state president Walker Hammond, applauded the efforts of Deaf Smith County in working for their road project.

"If all counties had worked as earnestly on the goal as Deaf Smith did," said Hammond, "we would have been able to pass that farm to market bill."

"The organization also went on record as wholeheartedly opposed to the Brannon plan, which, they said was drawn up in Minneapolis, Minnesota, without one single farmer being consulted to help outline or direct policies, but with labor organizers there to speak for the welfare of their groups under these proposals," said Neal.

Resolutions Committee
Another part of the state wide program will be a resolutions committee established in each chapter which will begin to function when the membership drive is started next fall. This committee will hear the grievances and complaints of every farmer who wants a positive action on some project, a resume of these complaints will be sent regularly to state headquarters and from these individual plans will come the direct lobby action of the Farm Bureau.

"It is the organization's duty to serve the farmer," officials declared.

They outlined progress of the Bureau, comparing its work with other similar organizations. The National Association of Manufacturers, for instance, working for passage of six bills at this session of Congress succeeded in getting all of them passed, at an expenditure of some five million dollars.

Sixth on the list of successful organizations was the Farm Bureau, working for seven bills, who had all but two passed. "Costs," said Allen Kline, national president, "was a drop in the bucket compared to NAM expenditures."

SUFFERED APPENDICITIS
Mary Tom, the small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Spring, suffered an appendicitis at the local hospital Friday evening of last week. The little lady is getting along just fine and has been returned to her home.

Roy Hart Resigns Position On Star Accepts Lubbock Print Shop Offer

With last week's issue of the Friona Star, Roy Hart, who, for the past four or five months, has been manager and associate publisher of the Star, resigned his position as such and has severed his relations with all parts of the paper's activities and influence.

Following Roy's discharge from the armed service, in which he served about three years in overseas wars, he secured a position with the Hereford Brand, where he became a full-fledged printer and newspaper man and as such he served in the Brand office until he accepted the above named duties with the Friona Star. But being a young man and having his way to make in the world, he felt it his duty to himself to accept an offer of a more lucrative position with a commercial printing concern at Lubbock, the duties of which he will take up at the beginning of next week.

During his stay in Friona, which is his home town and place of his birth, and where his mother, Mrs. Grace Hart, and his sisters, Misses Wanda and Eida Hart still reside, he had departed himself as a model young man for morals and ability, and his decision to leave Friona is regretted by his many friends.

With Roy's going away, the management and direction of the Star's activities will for a time at least, fall upon the shoulders of the writer, who has been identified with the paper's activities these many years.

It is with considerable trepidation that I assume the duties of a young man by accepting this position that has been held by a young man of ability and energy, for my age is against me. But, with the aid and support of all the good people of the city and community, I will do my best to make the Star an interesting paper to our people and a constant aid in the building up of the city in all its interests.

Mr. Cutter is a large grain grower in Kansas and farms about three and a fourth sections of that fine Kansas land in wheat and Kaffir corn and other small grains but mostly wheat.

He expressed himself as greatly pleased with the Panhandle country, and especially with Friona, as appearing to him as one of the prettiest little cities he had visited. They departed for their home early Monday morning.

FRENCH DESERT WARRIORS PARADE—Standing in their saddles astride Arabian mounts, fierce Spahi warriors salute the French colors as they parade in Paris. Occasion for the demonstration was the 100th anniversary of their incorporation into the French army. Among the most colorful of all colonial troops, the Spahis are virtually unexcelled in horsemanship. They now constitute an important part of French military defenses in Africa.

AIMING FOR SKEET CROWN—Eleven-year-old Jack Rogers (above) of Palestine, Texas, has been shooting skeet for only nine months, but he will be a top competitor in the national skeet shoot opening in Dallas, Aug. 1. He won the state sub-junior title at Harlingen this year and broke the seven year old world's sub-junior record of 97 x 100 twice with a 98 x 100 at Galveston's Oleander shoot and at a club tournament at Palestine with a 99 x 100 on July 4th. Mrs. W. H. Arnold, 86-Yr-Old Woman, Has Used All Known Canning Methods

Winters, Tex. —At 86 she lives alone, does her own work and can compete with youthful folk in the art of canning. That is Mrs. W. H. Arnold of Winters. She has canned between five and ten thousand jars of fruit and vegetables during her lifetime. She makes jelly in the afternoon after washing in the morning.

"I've used every method of canning," she said. "Cans are easier, but I like jars better." Mrs. Arnold walks to town, to church and to visit friends. She thinks exercise keeps her up. "I've always had an active life," she said. "I don't believe I'd last long if I just sat down."

Intoxicated Driver Arrested By Deputy

Deputy Sheriff Charley Jones received a message Monday to be on the lookout for a car that was being driven by an intoxicated man on the road somewhere between Amarillo and Friona.

The car arrived in due time and the driver was taken in charge by Deputy Jones and the man, whose mode of driving was said to be scaring other motorists from the highway, was taken in charge by the law and was reported to be apparently in a considerable stage of intoxication. The car contained the man and his wife and seven children, reportedly hailing from Canadian and enroute to Carlsbad, New Mexico.

The man was taken before Judge Hamlin's court and was given a 30 day jail sentence, $50.00 in cash which he was found to possess was given to the wife and she was advised to take it and the car and children and return to Canadian.

Mother Can Go To College And Take Jr. Along

DENTON, Tex.—Texas State College for Women plans to make it easy for mothers to be a college student.

Beginning with the next fall session, opening Sept. 19, the college will set aside one of the smaller dormitories for mothers with children. Women who want to come to school can now bring Junior along.

Tried experimentally in the summer sessions, the plan is being put into effect permanently now in response to a demand from mothers who wish to attend during the regular term.

Graduates who wish to return for advanced degrees, and other women whose interest in getting further education in order to teach has been stimulated by the Gilmer-Aiken Bill, are among those expected to take advantage of the offer.

Further information can be obtained from the college registrar.

Back To School Check-Up Urged

AUSTIN, Texas—The month of September brings a return of school days, and thousands of Texas boys and girls will be returning to classrooms for the next nine months. Every one of these children, according to Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer, should be as free as possible from all physical defects that can be corrected, and protected against other diseases which frequently spread through classrooms.

A complete medical and dental pre-school check-up is of the utmost importance in getting the child ready for school. Eyes, nose, throat and teeth should be carefully examined, and all remediable defects corrected or placed under treatment. Such defects can lead to serious impairment of growth and progress academically, socially and emotionally.

Defects of hearing and vision handicap a child in his class work, and often result in the false impression that he is backward and unable to learn. Such defects can often be corrected, and the child is not only more progressive in his school work, but is a happier, better balanced individual as a result of being more socially acceptable.

Dental defects should be corrected not only for cosmetic reasons, but because good teeth enable a child to chew his food properly and thus promote good digestion and bodily nourishment.

"In addition to correcting such defects as already exist, young children should be protected by immunization against diseases, when possible," Dr. Cox said. "Immunization is safe and dependable, and every child is entitled to this protection against diseases."

Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Beene visited the Amarillo Horse Show Sunday.

NAVY ROCKET REVEALS NEW DATA—A Navy Aerobee rocket, at the right, zooms skyward from its shipboard launching platform some 700 miles off the west coast of South America. Instruments in the nose of the rocket revealed that cosmic ray intensity above the atmosphere at the geomagnetic equator is twice as great as had been estimated, a fact which scientists believe will prove valuable in the understanding of nuclear forces. The data was obtained at an altitude of more than 65 miles.

Fall Tomatoes Need Special Attention
 COLLEGE STATION—Fall tomatoes set out in July must receive special care if they are to produce a satisfactory crop, says J. F. Rosborough, extension horticulturist of Texas A&M College.
 Thorough watering or irrigation at regular intervals is a must unless there is sufficient rainfall to keep them well supplied with moisture, adds Rosborough. Weeds should be kept down. A good mulch covering will conserve moisture, help control weeds and grass and will help cool the ground. If a mulch is used, it isn't necessary to cultivate the soil.
 If you have some tomato plants which produced a spring crop, and the plants are still in a healthy, vigorous condition, it may be possible to re-use the plants. Look near the ground line for small sprouts that may be growing there at the present time, says Rosborough. Remove the old top and leave two or three of the young sprouts.

Texas Teacher's Attendance In Graduate School Reflects New Improved Financial Conditions

AUSTIN, Texas—Impact of the improved financial conditions for teachers under the new educational program for Texas has already been felt. A survey of sixteen private and state-supported colleges and universities by the Texas State Teachers Association shows an increased enrollment of graduate students this summer over last year of 2.957. All told, the sixteen schools have 9,599 students taking post-graduate work as compared with 6,642 last summer, an increase of 44.5 per cent.

Comments of educators also show that passage of the Gilmer-Aikin bills, which completely reorganized the state school system, definitely has caused teachers to seek masters degrees or take refresher courses.

"Better prepared teachers will be reflected in more adequate education of our children," Charles H. Tennyson, director of public relations for the Teachers Association, said Saturday.

"Our survey of the colleges indicates that most of the students in the first summer term of the graduate schools are teachers. Under terms of the Gilmer-Aikin bills, teachers receive substantial pay increases, but those holding masters degrees and who have several years classroom experience are especially benefited."

The increase in post-graduate work in all sixteen of the colleges is especially outstanding, Tennyson pointed out, in view of the fact that in many of the schools enrollment for the summer courses other than graduate work decreased.

The University of Texas and Southern Methodist University, Dallas, are examples. The University's regular enrollment dropped nearly 600 when compared with last summer. Southern Methodist is down 200. Yet the University's postgraduate classes have 350 more students enrolled than last summer and SMU has 23.

The increased attendance is particularly heavy in the post-graduate classes of State Teachers Colleges and at North Texas State College, which was known until this spring as North Texas State Teachers College, Denton. North Texas State led in increased enrollment with 1,842 postgraduate students as compared with 758 last year, a hike of 143 per cent. Southwest Texas State Teachers College, San Marcos, has an increase of 85.9 per cent and Stephen F. Austin State Teachers College, Nacogdoches, has 73.7 per cent.

"Our institutions of higher learning certainly play an important part in the education of our children, their work being reflected down to even the smallest grade school pupils through the education they give our teachers," Tennyson commented.

"Assuredly, passage of the Gilmer-Aikin bills has stimulated enrollment in the colleges," said Anna L. Linn, registrar at Sul Ross State Teachers College, Alpine.

"Due largely to benefits of the G-A bill, there is a substantial increase in graduate students," wrote John S. White, registrar at Texas Western College, El Paso.

"It is very definitely indicated that increased salaries is affecting attendance in the summer schools," declared J. C. Matthews, dean of North Texas State.

"Has had a stimulating effect here," said Dean Frank Young, Teachers College, Commerce.

Alton B. Lee, registrar, Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, stated that the bills had much to do with the increased enrollment in both the graduate and undergraduate departments.

"It appears that as the G-A move out of the college the G-A's are moving in," Tennyson said.

Tumor Clinics Aid Control Of Cancer

DALLAS (Special) — Where would your doctor send you for a diagnosis, if he suspected that you had cancer?

"That is a question that few Texans can answer," Dr. William F. Mengert of Dallas, Chairman of the Committee on Projects and Allocation of Funds of the American Cancer Society, Texas Division, pointed out today, while discussing cancer control facilities in the state.

"Few Texans realize the great strides toward a control of cancer which have been achieved in Texas in just a few short years," Dr. Mengert continued. "Four organizations are devoting almost constant effort to improve cancer diagnostic and treatment facilities in the state, and their results have been very noteworthy. They have sponsored and assisted the establishment of 20 tumor clinics. It is to one of these tumor clinics that your doctor would send you for a diagnosis and treatment. These four organizations are also conducting a cancer educational program to warn Texans that cancer can be cured, if caught in time."

Dr. Mengert listed the four organizations as the American Cancer Society, Texas Division; the Cancer Committee of the State Medical Association of Texas; the State Board of Health; and M. D. Anderson Hospital for Cancer Research.

The 20 Texas tumor clinics which are doing so much to combat the nation's second major cause of death are as follows: The Potter County Medical Society Tumor Clinic, Amarillo; The Wichita County Medical Society Tumor Clinic, Wichita Falls; The El Paso County Medical Society Tumor Clinic, El Paso; Tarrant County Cancer Clinic at City-County Hospital, Fort Worth; Harris Hospital Tumor Clinic, Fort Worth; Baylor University Hospital Tumor Clinic, Dallas; Parkland Hospital Tumor Clinic, Dallas; St. Paul's Hospital Tumor Clinic, Dallas; Bowie-Hiller County Medical Society Tumor Clinic, Texarkana; three in Temple, located at King's Daughter Hospital, Scott and White Hospital, and the Veterans Administration Hospital; five in San Antonio—at Baptist Memorial Hos-

Causes Excitement Saturday Nite But He Didn't Get By With It

Some excitement was aroused here Saturday night and early Monday morning by the events related in the following story, the details of which were gathered somewhat at random, and are, therefore, fragmentary and our reporter does not vouch for their accuracy, but are, as we understand them, somewhat as follows:

Sometime during Saturday night a stranger in Priona, came upon two wayfaring boys, who had taken lodging for the night, on the benches in front of F. L. Spring's store. He awoke the boys and told them he was night watchman for Priona, and that they would have to give him five dollars each, or else.

The boys counted their money and found that they had but five dollars between them, and he self appointed watchman agreed to compromise for the five dollars and allow them to retain their sleeping quarters.

Later in the night a man made an attempt to hold up the local hospital and was foiled in his attempt, but made his get-away. It was still later, Frank A. Spring, cashier of the Priona State Bank, received a telephone call, stating that there was an attempt being made to rob his bank, and that the Farmer County Sheriff and a Highway Patrolman were on their way to Priona, and that he should be there also.

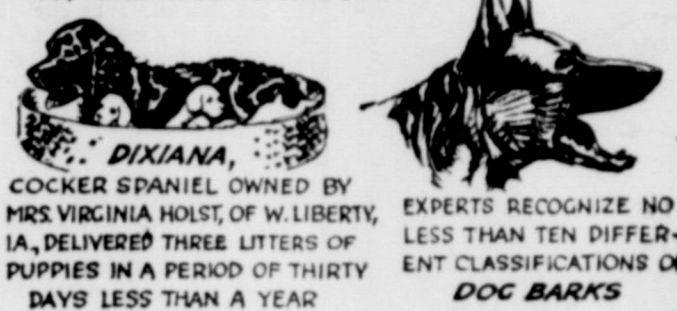

Mr. Spring got in his car and drove to the bank, but found no evidence of any robbery and no officers of the law. He did not park his car, but made a "U" turn at the junction of Main and Fifth Streets and was driving back up town, when a man ran out into the street and hailed him and wanted him to stop, but he refused to do so. Nothing more was heard of the affair that night, and in each occasion it was a young man and supposedly the same man.

Nothing more was seen or heard of the stranger until Monday morning about three o'clock, supposedly, the same man, entered the Santa Fe depot and bought a ticket for Amarillo and the agent phoned night watchman Pat Sissell, and deputy sheriff Charley Jones. Charley arrived first and took a look at the man and left. Pat arrived and did the same, then the stranger left, but just as the train was whistling in the "law" returned and took their station, one on each side of the track. As the train came to a stop, the stranger appeared again and made a rush for the train and boarded it. The law entered the train, one from each end, found the stranger, arrested him and took him to the jail at Farwell. Nothing more has been learned concerning the matter, except through rumor, which seems to reveal the fact that the stranger is a native of New Mexico, and was under the influence of vitamin "D" at the time of his arrest and has been released from custody.

23 Years Ago

In this column which we have been carrying in the Star for the past few months, we have been selecting items of news that appeared in the Star's columns during the year, 1926, but we find that when we reached the end of July of that year, our files are short of the issues for August, September, October and November, we are, therefore, giving you this week, a few items from the December issue for that year.

This column, it seems, is highly interesting to many of our readers, who have expressed their views concerning it, while others seem to think it outright silly. Such is probably the case with all newspaper features. In the case of the Star, it is probably the old timers, who lived here twenty-three years ago, that find in this column a theme for retrospection concerning the events and the names of the people who then lived at Priona.

December 3rd, 1926
One Dog in Parmer County:
The following clipping from "The State Line Tribune," shows that we have at least one honest man in Parmer County, and that he lives at Priona. (Quote) "The generally accepted rule of proving a statement is by the public records. So with this record to back us up, the Tribune makes the statement that there is only one dog in Parmer County, and that he is the property of Tom Jasper, of Priona. An investigation of the tax renditions of Parmer County reveals the fact that only one canine appears on the 1926 tax rolls. His value is placed at $5.00." (End Quote)

A Large Power Cornsheller Installed at Priona:
A large power cornsheller was unloaded here early in the week, as the property of J. H. Key, having been ordered for him by the Wilkinson Implement Company. This is, perhaps, the first cornsheller ever delivered in Priona, as the growing of corn here has been so limited in years past, that the services of a sheller has not been needed. It is said that Mr. Key will have enough shelling to do to keep him busy for quite a while and that he will make enough to pay for his machine and a nice sum beside.

Had A Dandy Hunting Trip:
G. D. Anderson, L. F. Lillard, F. N. Welch and Carl C. Maurer who spent fourteen days in Old Mexico on a hunting expedition returned Wednesday afternoon. The boys had a real time and came home laden with venison and a vast experience.

Suffered Broken Rib:
W. H. Warren met with a very painful accident, Saturday, which resulted in a broken rib. He has suffered severely since, and on Monday was forced to take to his bed.

Little Sam Weir is visiting his grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. Butcher, at Farwell.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wilkison and little daughter, Jacquelyn, drove to Amarillo on Tuesday of last week and attended the meeting of the Shriners, being held there at that time.

Cafe Changes Hands:
The Market Cafe, on Main Street, which was founded and operated for the past few years by M. S. Weir is now in charge of Mr. Donaldson. The deal was consummated last week and Mr. Donaldson took charge December 1st. Mr. Donaldson also operates the Priona Hotel of which he has had charge for the past three months. Mr. Weir has not yet decided what business he will enter for the future.

(The advertisement for the week, which appeared at the top of the list in the advertising section is rather unique. At the top of the ad, there is a picture of an owl with only one eye open, and the slogan reads: "WE NEVER SLEEP. WE ALWAYS KEEP ONE EYE OPEN FOR BUSINESS." The picture and lettering for that part of the advertisement was drawn by Priona's, at that time, natural artist, Harold Schienker, now of Portales, New Mexico. The message contained in the advertisement reads as follows: "Our Owl is a Wise Old Bird. He says this Week: "Homemade goodies are good all the year. But seem a lot better as Christmas draws near." FOR THE BEST HOMEMADE GOODIES TRY OUR FLOUR, FLAVORS AND SPICES. Everything in groceries, gasolines, oils, grease, castings, tubes and accessories, and a smiling service. Proprietor, Hix Grocery, R. Some of the most susceptible plants to 2,4-D are: cotton, tomatoes, okra, vine crops such as cucumbers, sweet potatoes; legumes such as blackeye peas, peas, snapbeans, fruit trees, grapes, pecan trees and many ornamentals.

Neglected pastures and abandoned crop land overgrown with yankeeweed may need to be put back into cultivated crops for a time to control the weeds and re-establish the pasture.

FIRST FROZEN FOOD PLANT AT PLAINVIEW

Revolution In Eating Throughout Texas Has Given Greater Health To Everyone

College Station, Tex.—It used to be quite an event in Texas in the old days—that selling the first bale of cotton.

Best part was when Pa—coming back from the gin—pulled up the mules in front of the town's meat market. He'd crawl down from the wagon, prance into the market with cash money in his pocket, and order up a big bait of round steak for the whole family.

He'd get a few bones for the dogs, too.

That was about the only beef the family had all year. The rest of the time it ate salt pork. An occasional chicken got the axe to provide a little fresh protein.

What a change a few years make!

The Texas extension service about 1930 began teaching farm families new facts about the food they grew—about how a person with a well-fed feeling may be near starvation because of improper diet. In other words, he might be missing some food elements which his body badly needed.

It wasn't and isn't always a matter of low income. Diseases caused by improper diet are found in home of the well-to-do as well as in share-cropper's shanties.

For instance: In 1940 the state nutrition council found more than 1,300 pellagra cases in Texas. Pellagra is caused by diet deficiencies. And even by 1940, farm families' diets had improved remarkably over previous years.

Eight years later, in 1948 there were only 440 cases.

In a recent booklet, "The New Agriculture," published by the extension service, the agency says the diet improvement was a matter of changing long-established food habits, of education.

The extension service began this education but it was the housewife who had the final job. She had to educate her family.

The homemaker of the decade ago was required to learn the Texas Food Standard, a publication explaining about proper diet. Then she had to change her buying and menu habits. Most important she schemed and cajoled her family into dropping old prejudices against some foods and into learning to like other items.

Today her daughter doesn't have that trouble. She will serve a balanced meal as a matter of course.

An instance of changed food habits is meat. The average Texas family used to eat three times as much pork as beef. Now it's down about half and half, which is where nutritionists say it should be.

Hand in hand with education have come new methods of food preserving, without which education would be useless.

The first food was canned in a semi-fresh state in 1799. It was only a partial success. Texas had a major part in the world food picture half a century later. It came through a famous Texas colonist, Gail Borden, a New Yorker. He came to the Lone Star State as a member of Stephen F. Austin's colony about 1833 and supervised the surveying of Galveston harbor.

Borden became concerned about the milk supply and developed a process of canning milk—a move that not only benefited the world but founded a great industrial firm.

Canning improvement continued but there were handicaps. Only 20 years ago, an extension service bulletin on canning warned of food sense of smell.

After World War I, commercial food canning increased, and so did home canning.

The extension service appointed a nutrition specialist in 1924—the first state to do so. In 1931, after diet surveys, one of the most intensive educational campaigns ever conducted in Texas got under way. That's when modern diet practices really began in the state.

To Plainview goes credit for the greatest step yet in food preservation for farm folk in Texas. In 1939 the first frozen food locker plant in the state was constructed there. Two other plants were opened that year.

Still it rains for which we are thankful. On the 26th and 27th of July we received nine-tenths of an inch in two rains, and last night we received three-tenths with heavy winds and electric display. Four and a half inches of rain in this community during July.

Crops are looking fine most everywhere.

Bill Terry came up from Plainview Sunday morning with Rev. and Mrs. Russell Bill is a friend of Lloyd Messenger. They were in college together at Wayland. Rev. Russell preached at Baptist Church in absence of Rev. Allen, who has been holding meetings. Bill was a dinner guest of Lloyd Sunday, and in the evening Lloyd drove to Plainview and will return today.

Electricity was off this forenoon and George and Ralph had to milk cows by hand.

Most all the farmers of this community have their stubble ground plowed over once, and their summer-tilled ground plowed the second time. It has been too wet in some places to plow. One can see lights at night all over the country where they are plowing day and night.

FAST COMMANDER EXPRESSES THANKS

The past commander of American Legion Post No. 206, Friona, Texas, 1946-49, wishes to thank all persons and all Legionnaires for their efforts, time, all donations and co-operation in making the Legion better and in getting the building in a presentable stage.

The new officers were elected Monday night, and I am sure they will all do a good job during their term of office. Lots of work has been done on the building and a lot more needs to be done for a better Legion home.

The new officers were selected by ballot, approved by the members of the Legion. There were some 45 out of 103 to determine the officers for his year.

The names of the officers that were elected will be found in another article in this issue of the Star.

I hope we can have a big and better membership for next year.

The last war slowed locker plant construction somewhat, but it revived after peace came. As of last year, there were 524 such plants in the state.

As electric service spread to farms, the home storage unit became a fixture in many homes.

In 1948, county home demonstration agents reported 18,059 home frozen food units were owned by Texas farm and ranch families, a 50 per cent increase over 1947. Almost 11,500,000 (m) pounds of meat and fish were stored by farm families in commercial and home freezers in 1948, about twice as much as was stored by any other method. And home demonstration and 4-H club members froze more than 3,200,000 (m) pounds of fruits and vegetables.

The extension service booklets cities Mrs. Pat McDonough, West Oso, Nueces County, as an example of what can be stored in food lockers. Her 1948 list totaled more than 2,000 pounds.

Here's the amazing variety of foods Mrs. McDonough stored: Mutton, beef, doves, venison, javelina, geese, chickens, quail, oysters, fish, bacon, sausages, souse, ham, rabbits, stew, salmon croquettes, hamburger loaf, sandwich spread, spinach, squash, pumpkin, sweet potatoes, green beans, corn, okra, cauliflower, strawberries, cherries, apples, peaches, rhubarb.

To inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the Community, State, and Nation

—From the Preamble to the Constitution of The American Legion

Every program of The American Legion is in support of the idea that we shall depend upon the rule of the ballot rather than that of the bullet. The individual obligation is met year after year by the members of the Legion Post.

If WE ARE to build a better Nation we must do it by developing better individuals. This obligation to us of the Legion is an individual matter. We cannot afford to sit back and let George do it. The influence of one life well lived in service to humanity will do more to help bring the Kingdom of Heaven here upon earth than the speeches, laws, and regimentation of all time. If we are to bring about a harmonious balance in our community, state, and national life we must all develop a harmonious balance in our own lives.

Along with our vital World War II activities, the numerous educational, social, and recreational activities of Legion activity offer opportunity to all for individual service. Let us all accept this challenge as an individual obligation and volunteer our services whenever needed. The individual contribution is all-important.

New Bulletin Tells Grain Storage Ideas

COLLEGE STATION — The new bulletin C-266, Grain Storage for Texas, is new and chock full of helpful ideas on grain storage structures for Texas. The publication was prepared by W. S. Allen, extension agricultural engineer-buildings of Texas A&M College.

On-the-farm storage is due to be a very important part of every Texas grain producer's farming operations for a long time and Allen says storage structures should be built with this fact in mind. Build them to last. The cheapest structure you can build is the one that will still be usable and safe ten or fifteen years from now, he adds.

Here are a few things you should remember, Allen says. Low moisture content is necessary for prolonged, safe storage of grain. Construct a strong, durable building. Eliminate entrance points for moisture and insects. Provide for fumigation, if necessary. Rat proof your grain structure, locate it for convenience on a firm, dry site and don't forget to plan an easy way to get the grain in and out of it.

If you need grain storage on your farm, Allen suggests that you visit your local county agricultural agent—talk over the situation with him—and get a copy of the new bulletin. You can probably find the answers to a lot of the questions that you'd like to know in C-266, Grain Storage for Texas.

1. When was the first school established in America?
2. How did the term "to shed crocodile tears" get its meaning?
3. When did ice cream lovers taste their first sundae?

4. What does the word "holiday" take its meaning from?

5. When was the first serial story published in an American newspaper?

Answers to TEST YOUR I. Q.

1. The first school in America was set up in 1633.
2. "Crocodile tears" got its meaning of hypocrisy from the tale of ancient travelers that crocodiles moan and sigh to allure persons to their vicinity, and even shed tears while devouring them.
3. A soda fountain at Ithaca, N. Y., served the first ice cream sundae in 1897.
4. "Holiday" was originally "Holy Day." The word form became corrupted through the years. The days were originally ones set aside by the church as religious festivals.
5. "The Pennsylvania Gazette" published a serial entitled "Religious Courtship," and written by Danis. Defoe at Philadelphia in 1729.

McFarland-Jones Vows Exchanged Here Friday

The First Baptist Church at Friona was the scene for the recent marriage of Miss Charline McFarland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. McFarland of this city to Roy Lee Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Jones of Spearman. Vows were exchanged Friday morning, July 22, at ten o'clock with the Rev. T. B. Allen, pastor of the church, officiating at the double ring service.

White trellises entwined with huckleberry vine formed the background for the altar, which was decorated with white gladioli and Marconi daisies, and flanked by candelabra, bearing cathedral tapers. Wedding vases filled with white gladioli and two ferns on white colonades completed the formal setting.

Preceding the ceremony, Harry Bulls of Earth played a medley of nuptial selections. Mrs. Howard Martin of Clovis sang "At Dawning" and "Through the Years," accompanied by Mr. Bulls. Mr. Bulls sang, "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Roy V. Miller. "Clair de Lune," formed the background music for the service and the traditional wedding marches were used.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in white tulle, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, fitted bodice and full skirt of ballerina length. Her shoulder-length veil of French illusion, fell from a coronet of lilies of the valley, and she wore matching mits.

For something old she wore a Sterling sweetheart bracelet, a gift from her father to her mother before they were married. For something borrowed, she wore a single strand of pearls belonging to her sister, Mrs. Roy Clements. Her flowers were a colonial bouquet of rubrum lilies and foliage with satin streamers.

Miss Lora Mae McFarland, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, wearing a dress of green embroidered organdy, styled with a semi-bustle and full ballerina-length skirt. She wore matching mits and her halo was French illusion with lilies of the valley. She carried a corsage of Marconi daisies and caladium leaves with green satin streamers.

Junior bridesmaid was Miss Sally Osborn. Her ballerina length dress was of pink organdy and she wore roses in her hair.

Larry Crouse, of Clovis, was best man and M. C. Osborn was groomsmen. Ushers were Charles Ed Osborn and John McFarland.

Mrs. McFarland chose yellow lilies for her daughter's wedding, and Mrs. Jones, mother of the bridegroom, was attired in a navy blue sheath. Their corsages were of Esther Reed daisies.

Following the ceremony a reception honoring the bridal couple was held at the Friona Club House. The serving table was centered with a double-ring wedding cake, flanked by cupid statuettes on lace hearts, encircled with pink rosebuds. Appointments were in crystal and silver. Tall vases of white gladioli completed the decorations in the serving room.

Serving were Miss Gladys Dawson of Tulla, Miss Imogene

MRS. ROY LEE JONES

Bagwell of Claude, Mrs. R. D. Stalcup of Clovis, and Mrs. W. R. McBrayer of Lubbock. Others assisting were Mesdames S. H. Osborn, Claude Osborn, R. H. McFarland, J. G. McFarland and M. L. McFarland. Mrs. Roy Clements presided at the guest book.

For a wedding trip to Colorado the bride traveled in a wheat linen suit with matching hat and dark accessories. Upon their return the couple will be home at Lovington, New Mexico, where Mr. Jones will be employed at principal of the Junior High School.

Mrs. Jones was graduated from Friona High School and Texas Technological College at Lubbock. She has taught music in the Clovis public schools for the past six years. She is a member of the Delta Kappa Gamma sorority and the Clyde Barton Guild. She has been assistant director of the choir at the Central Baptist Church.

Mr. Jones was graduated from the Pampa High School and the West Texas State College at Canyon. He has received credits from the Southern Methodist University at Dallas and the University of Colorado at Boulder, Colorado. Since his discharge from the army he has been employed as a teacher and football coach in the Clovis High School.

• Agricultural leaders of Oklahoma and Texas are conducting a concerted drive against stinking smut of wheat by encouraging cleaning and treating of seed before planting this fall.

Inspecting the official poster of the campaign which will be displayed by county agents, grain elevators and others throughout the Winter Wheat Belt are: K. E. Soles, left, Secretary of the Texas-Oklahoma Wheat Improvement Program; Dr. A. M. Schishuber, center, Agronomist of the Oklahoma Experiment Station; and Fred Dines, Agricultural Service Manager of Burris Panhandle Elevators at Amarillo, Texas and an operator of several seed cleaning and treating units in the Texas Panhandle.

Benefits of seed treatment, such as better stands and higher yields, usually return farmers ten times or more the cost of treatment—in addition to controlling stinking smut or bunt.
