Flow of New Well Adds Two Days to Swimming Week

A new well was completed last week on the John Clark place and is supplementing the first well in supplying water for the fine swimming pool recently completed by Mr. Clark.

Water from the first well was inadequate, and permitted use of the pool only two days a week. Draining, cleaning and refilling occupied the remaining days, as Mr. Clark is doing everything humanly possible to maintain the pool in strictly sanitary manner.

County Court is Now in Session

The regular term of county court, with Judge G. J. Henshaw presiding, has been in session this week, and will likely hold for two weeks, it was stated.

A light docket faces the court at this time, several misdemeanor cases waiting to be heard.

On Thursday there were three cases on the criminal docket set for trial. Also on the probate docket are several cases which, in all probability, will be heard at this term of the court.

With the view of gradually abolishing county administration of relief in Texas, as announced last week by State Relief Administrator, Adam R. Johnson, the business end of the county's administration was taken over by district administrators at a meeting held at the local relief office Tuesday evening.

At the conclusion of the meeting the personnel was reduced to one case supervisor, Mrs. Theresa Dawson being retained in that capacity. Checked-out by the district officers were L. A. Lowe, who had been county administrator since the beginning of the relief setup in Terrell county, and Miss Willie Mae Green, who was acting as certified officer.

At present, according to Mrs. Dawson, there are some 20 cases on the relief rolls of the county, and that unless works projects were put through to given employment, that a small amount of direct relief will be given; these specific cases.

Should tentative plans under Work Progress Administration in the county materialize, they will more than take care of the unemployment here, it was stated.

District officers attending the meeting Tuesday night were H. W. Axe, administrator; Miss Addie Henderson, case supervisor, and Kelsey Wylie, commodity supervisor.

The district office is located at San Angelo and the following counties make up what is known as District 19: Terrell, Pecos, Upton, Reagan, Irion, Tom Green, Crane, Crockett, Schleicher and Sutton.

Under the new setup allocations will continue to be made to counties, but funds will be disbursed from the district office. County relief boards will be continued as advisory bodies.

State Supt. Woods Address Heads of Schools at Alpine

R. D. Holt, who came here from Eldorado, Texas, as the newly-elected superintendent of the Sanderson public schools, attended a meeting of trustees, county superintendents, school superintendents and teachers held Monday, August 12, in the Sul Ross college auditorium at Alpine. The meeting was presided over by H. W. Morelock, president of the college.

Attending this meeting was L. A. Woods, state superintendent of public instruction, who spoke at the morning session, stressing the need for cooperation in the educational system of Texas. He also discussed at length the free text book amendment, which will be voted on at the special election August 24th. Standardization of schools was another subject of Mr. Woods' address.

Supt. Woods declared that the state educational system was now in the best shape financially than it has been in several years.

C. M. Elwell, of Bryan, deputy state superintendent, explained the county-wide setup for transportation as provided by statute, and also transfer provisions under the new high school tuition law. He also spoke on behalf of equalization of taxes.

Introduced to the assembly was Miss Mann, who is the new deputy state superintendent in this section, taking the place of J. T. H. Bickley, who was elected superintendent of the Iran schools.

Payne Will Seek Re-election As Representative

Stanford Payne of Del Rio, now serving his first term as representative from this district, was a visitor in Sanderson last Friday.

Young and progressive Mr. Payne made a very favorable impression on his colleagues during the legislative term just ended. Prior to adjournment 115 members of the lower house join in a petition urging Payne to make the race for commissioner of agriculture in 1936. When asked his intention by a Times representative Mr. Payne stated that he felt highly honored by the gesture, and deeply appreciated it, but at present had no intention of seeking the office of agricultural commissioner. He also stated that it is very likely he would be a candidate for re-election as representative.

Mr. Payne has been very active on behalf of his constituency, and at the last session of the legislature succeeded in securing for this section the largest appropriation it has ever received for the war on predatory animals.

A series of legal battles lasting 18 months, ended last Friday in Mexico City when the supreme court handed down a decision in favor of Dr. John R. Brinkley and which will allow the station to resume operations on Sept. 1, the News stated.

Fines amounting to more than 500,000 pesos assessed against the station were dismissed by the decision of the court. The same decision was rendered by the Federal court in Piedras Negras.

The engineers of the Frontier Broadcasting Company, owner of XER, will prepare the station for broadcasting immediately. Huge tubes, long ago dead, will be replaced, and other replacements, costing several thousand dollars, will be made, the News further stated.

The Lowdown on the Amendments

NOTE—The Times, with the full cooperation of Gerald C. Mann, Secretary of State presents herewith a digest of Constitutional Amendments to be voted on at the special election in August. They are presented solely that our readers may acquaint themselves with the provisions thereof, and with the distinct understanding that the Times or Mr. Mann is not to be placed in the position of opposing or endorsing any of them.

AMENDMENT NO. 6
Abolishing Fee System For Paying Officials

Two years ago a Senate investigating committee discovered a number of flagrant abuses of the fee system as practiced in Texas for recompensing certain public officials. The fee system was established and written into the Texas Constitution at a time when it was impossible to pay salaries and the theory was that an official was entitled to "all he could make." Since the Senate committee discovered and revealed the malpractices existing under the system there has been a demand for a Constitutional change on this score, according to Secretary of State Gerald C. Mann.

Proposed amendment No. 6 on the ballot provides that the fee system as a method of paying certain precinct, county and district officials shall be abolished in counties having 20,000 or more population according to the last Federal census. The Legislature will, if the amendment is adopted, set the salaries for officers now receiving fees in such counties. In counties of under 20,000 population the Commissioners Courts may put their county and predict officials on a salary basis if they so desire. The amendment does not specifically state who shall set the salaries of such officials in this case.

If this amendment is adopted all district officers must be compensated on a salary basis. The amendment provides that fees shall continue to be collected as at present, but they will go to the county instead of the officer. The evident purpose of this proposed amendment is to place as many public officials on straight salaries as is possible and thus abolish, insofar as is possible, the payment of officials through the present fee system.

Late News From the Seat of War

A BURLESQUE WITH SOME SERIOUSNESS
By KEN WOODMAN For Central Press

SCENE: Benito Mussolini, Dictator of Italy, and Haile Selassie, Emperor of Abyssinia, seated on a partially submerged bomb in the Ethiopian lowlands. Each is armed with a fly-swatter and they placidly exterminate insects during the discourse.

SELASSIE: I hope you understand, Benny, old kid, that I have nothing against you personally, in inciting my lions and tribesmen against your legions.

MUSSOLINI: Oh, quite, my good friend. And in my turn I sincerely trust you know that I bear you no personal ill-will.

MUSSOLINI: Spoken like a true emperor. But destiny or no destiny, I've got to make money out of this war.

SELASSIE: Gee, that tough! (He ponders a moment). Say, why don't you just borrow it from the United States?

MUSSOLINI: Capital idea; but it won't work.

SELASSIE: No? Why not?

MUSSOLINI: Well, we still owe them a little on that last war—you remember, the one with the Germans?

SELASSIE: Oh, yes; they used to talk about it in London so much.

MUSSOLINI: Don't mention that place. It's almost as bad as Geneva. Always sending some slick talker around to get a man to avoid his destiny, and hogging all the publicity.

SELASSIE: Wasn't it funny the way they tried to stop this war?

MUSSOLINI: Oh, they always do that. It gratifies their self-importance to stick their fingers in other people's business.

SELASSIE: Say, I'm sorry about that note I sent to Hull, the U. S. secretary of state.

MUSSOLINI: Forget it! I understand; a fellow has to go thru certain routines at a time like troublesome about it. They just sent one of their usual circular letters.

SELASSIE: You know these foreigners could really have stopped this war.

MUSSOLINI: (Alarmed) Huh? How?

SELASSIE: By shutting off all ammunition supplies.

MUSSOLINI: Say, listen here; don't you go to getting any wild ideas. So far things have been running right on schedule.

SELASSIE: Oh there's no danger of anything like that happening. I was just saying "if." Every country is out for all it can get. Those who don't want land want money.

MUSSOLINI: Well, the League of Nations could have stopped it, too, if it had functioned as it was supposed to after they got rid of those Wilson ideals.

SELASSIE: Whaddaya mean?

MUSSOLINI: Why, the League could have handed Ethiopia over to me peaceful like and retired you on a pension.

SELASSIE: Huh, do you think I want to retire without a war record? I'm not the king of Siam. Besides, look how many speeches I've had published free all over the world.

MUSSOLINI: We could have fixed you up an interview, with photographers and everything.

SELASSIE: Nuts! I'm getting into history not the newsreels.

MUSSOLINI: Roosevelt? Say, he has an election coming up. See what happens when you permit elections? You're not boss.

SELASSIE: Yes, the Americans are a funny people. They actually try to practice some theories like elections and peace.

MUSSOLINI: Anyhow, I'm glad we've had this little talk. But you've got to understand, you started this war by being in my way.

SELASSIE: My good fellow, I'm far to well educated to pronounce your name muscle-inny, but you're going to have a precarious, not to say tough time, muscling in here.

MUSSOLINI: But, look here, Selassie, a dictator has to live up to his name, and if he isn't ferocious how long do you think his legions would cheer for him? Besides you've killed my peaceful soldiers who had stepped across the line just to pick some cactus specimens. Dang these flies! (He swats a particularly vicious bug, striking the percussion cap on the bomb, which explodes, blowing them both back to their respective headquarters where they are greeted with tumultuous cheers).

Mr. and Mrs. John Dittler and children, who ranch in Val Verde county, were visitors here during the rodeo with Mr. and Mrs. Al Fawcett and daughter.

When Homer S. Cummings, U. S. Attorney General, designated St. Paul as the "poison spot of crime," Wallace Jamie, 27, crime student, walked into St. Paul's public safety building and asked permission to hang around as a sideline spectator, to watch the police force in action. Jamie watched and worked with the knowledge he had obtained at the U. of Chicago and Northwestern university crime schools, and then brought several of his own devices into action. Through a monitor system he tapped all the telephone wires in the public safety building and rigged up an instrument to record conversations of police officials. Inside of lamps and telephones he inserted microphones connected with his own office and recording machine. He established a close link between the officials of the police department and the crime element. The biggest shakeup in St. Paul's turbulent police history ensued, and now he has been named deputy commissioner of public safety by H. E. Warren, commissioner.

YOU DON'T HAVE TO "BREAK IN"
THE FORD V-8

You can drive it 50 miles an hour the day you buy it.

THE FORD V-8 is ready for normal driving when you buy it. There is no tedious period of breaking-in for 500 or 1000 miles. You can drive it up to 50 miles an hour the first day. And after the first hundred miles you can drive it as fast as you desire.
That means greater motoring enjoyment for every motorist. It is especially important to motorists who are thinking about a new car for a vacation trip—to physicians, salesmen and all those who use a car for business. Instead of dragging along at slow speeds for days, you can make good time from the start.

The reason for this is as important as the result. The Ford V-8 needs no breaking-in because of unusual accuracy in the manufacture of moving parts and the smoothness of bearing surfaces. Clearances are correct when you buy the car. It is not necessary to depend on a long wearing-in period to eliminate tightness and insure smooth running. Longer life, greater economy and better performance are bound to result from such precision methods. The Ford V-8 gives you fine-car construction along with fine-car performance, comfort, safety and beauty.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

By JULIAN CAPERS, JR.

Austin.—A lurid and amazing story of violence and trickery utilized by hot oil operators to outwit and evade the efforts of the Texas railroad commission to curb the flow of illegally produced oil in east Texas, was revealed here this week. The occasion was the transfer of the hearings of the house oil investigation committee, headed by Rep. Augustin Celaya, Brownsville, to Austin. The $1000 investigation of the billion dollar oil industry gathered leads in east Texas, then brought them here where Rail Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson, and Commissioners Lon Smith and C. V. Terrell testified for four days.

The story of the fight of the "G" men to curb and destroy the midwest gangs of criminals is no more interesting than the detailed chronicle of the efforts of the rail commission's agents to halt the illegal operations of a group of about 100 oil and refinery operators who have persistently defied the law in east Texas. Mr. Thompson told in detail how the hot oil operators had utilized every known trick and invented some new ones. Shrewd lawyers, fattening from the tremendous profits from "hot oil" have aided and abetted the criminal operators at every stage. He told how some of the group of 25 refinery operators had evaded injunctions by transferring their property overnight to new owners every time the courts would join one set of operators, how, when that tack was plugged, they armed themselves, and openly defied the rail commission agents, refusing them entrance to their refineries, and instructing their employees to refuse to give their names, when evidence of violation of injunction orders was sought.

"We solved that by posting our men around the refineries where they peeped thru windows and obtained descriptions of the men who were working in defiance of the court's orders; then we swore out John Doe warrants, accompanied the sheriff to the scene, and pointed out the violators," Thompson said.

When legal trickery failed some operators resorted to the practice of posting an automobile loaded with armed thugs in front of and behind each truck leaving the refinery dock with illegal oil. When rail commission agents tried to stop these trucks to arrest the drivers, these thugs blocked their cars off the highway, threatened the agents with guns, and rushed the trucks through. Thompson appealed to the state adjutant and rangers rushed to east Texas, and soon stopped that.

"Railroad commission agents are not empowered by law to carry firearms," Thompson pointed out. Thompson's testimony showed that with additional funds granted at the last session of the legislature, the commission has been able to expand the force, to hire experts for various technical duties and has reduced the flow of hot oil about 7000 barrels daily. Operation of refineries running exclusively on hot oil has been completely halted by cooperation of the rail commission and the attorney general, he said. Illustrating the methods resorted to by the hot oil operators, Rep. Sidley Latham of the committee, exhibited a copy of a telegram he said was sent to the Kilgore office of the commission, instructing the man in charge to grant a tender to 132,000 barrels of oil for one concern. It was signed by the names of Thompson and Smith.

"The signatures are forgeries," said Thompson. "We never order tenders approved, except on explicit court orders. That's what we've never yet overruled the tender board." Latham said that a tender for the oil was granted by the Kilgore office on strength of that faked telegram.

Latham declared the committee found evidence of an inadequate system of bookkeeping and record keeping in the Kilgore office. Thompson agreed with him that it should be strengthened, and stated that the commission had hired expert accountants to revamp the system, as soon as the legislature made available the funds for the work.

"We have done the best we could under great difficulties," Thompson said. "At times, we have had only 40 employees in east Texas, to watch the operation of 18,000 oil wells and 34 refineries."

Rep. Latham began a line of questioning with reference to the commission's personnel in east

Rodeo to Be Held At Balmorhea Aug. 31, & Sept. 1

Henry Jones and Bill Kingston of Balmorhea were in Sanderson yesterday in the interest of the rodeo that will be held there on August 31 and Sept. 1. Those interested can get literature and information at the Times office.

Rodeos at Balmorhea, in past years, have proven a success from every angle. In past years ropers and riders have been attracted from every section of Texas, due to the fact that nobody is barred, and judges are selected by the contestants.

Thirty or forty big black mule steers, and as many calves have been secured for this year's show, and Messrs. Jones and Kingston says they are plenty wild.

Admission to the rodeo is 75c, and the ticket is good for all day an dalso to the free barbecue that is served at noon. The menu at the barbecue will be beef, goat, frijoles, coffee, pickles and salads. If you've never attended a barbecue at Balmorhea you've missed a lot.

Those who do not care to attend rodeos on account of the heat and dust will be interested to know that the grounds at Balmorhea, adjoining Head Springs, will be irrigated before each program.

Adjoining the rodeo grounds is one of the best bathing pavilions in the state, and one mile distant is Balmorhea lake, stocked with bass, crappie and catfish, where one can spend several hours trying their luck.

Here's a chance for an outing among the best people on earth.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. Ray Caldwell and nephew Lewis William Lemons returned last Saturday from St. Louis where they had been visiting relatives for several weeks.

Texas, pointing out that the records showed some of the employees had formerly been farmers, one an undertaker, another a dancing teacher. His questioning apparently was intended to infer criticism of the commission, but he quickly dropped this line of questioning when Thompson said: "Most of these are jobs paying around $112 a month. The duties are to watch highways for trucks, and to guard refineries to see how much they are producing. Honesty and common sense are the chief qualifications, more important than technical training or experience in the oil business. Perhaps the former undertaker would be useful in locating 'dead wells.'"

Thompson offered to discharge all the employees mentioned by Latham if the committee desired, but Latham quickly dodged any such responsibility.

"We don't want to get anybody's job," said the Longview legislator. Thompson had previously mentioned that members of the legislature wrote many letters of recommendation to the commissioners for applicants for jobs with the commission.

PERSONAL MENTION

While feeding his pigs Hiram Bumstead fell into the pen and killed a hog. His fall frightened a mule standing near and the mule kicked a calf to death. Mr. Bumstead was badly hurt. When the doctor came on a hurry call he drove over the family dog and killed it. Some killing for the Bumstead family in one day!—Vernon Register.

Some one drained the radiator of the Babcock auto on Friday night while the family were attending a movie. Luckily they discovered it in time, before the engine got hot enough to do any damage. Any one who would do a trick like that would kick a lamb in the face.—McCall Bulletin.

Voters to Pass On Additional 15c Levy for Schools

On Aug. 24 the voters of Terrell county will have the opportunity of voting upon an issue that will have an important bearing upon the welfare of the public schools of the county. They will be asked to grant the commissioners' court the right to levy an additional 15 cents local maintenance school taxes for the support of our schools. The election was called by County Judge G. J. Henshaw on July 25 after a petition signed by the required number of qualified voters was presented to him.

Since the reduction of the taxable valuations of Terrell county by approximately one million dollars, additional revenue must, of necessity, be provided if the schools are to function efficiently and maintain their present rating with the State Department of Education and on the Southern Association list of schools. The two principal sources of revenue for the public schools in Terrell county are from local taxes and from the State apportionment of $17.50 per capita. The income from the Terrell county school land, located in Gaines county, is practically nothing. Usually the State apportionment is counted upon to supply only about one-third of the school funds in this section of Texas.

At the present time the tax rate for maintenance purposes for the schools of this county is 40¢ on the $100 valuation. Since the valuations for the county has been reduced by approximately a million dollars over last year, and since the schools are already thousands of dollars in debt from past school years, it is obvious that additional revenue must be provided. The only possible source of revenue is for the tax rate to be raised from 40¢ for maintenance to 55¢, or an increase of 15¢ on the $100 valuation.

The school budgets have been cut to the point where further reductions will actually hurt the schools badly and greatly reduce their efficiency. Teachers have been forced to discount their vouchers in the past, and face the same prospect in the future—the discount as present being as high as 8 per cent. Economy in the expenditure of the school fund is to be practiced strictly.

There are now 18 teachers in the public schools of Terrell county. Their total salaries for the year now amounts to approximately $20,000, or an average annual salary of $1,176—less a discount of 8%.

Presiding judges appointed to hold elections Aug. 24 are as follows:

W. J. Ferguson, Sanderson; A. F. Buchanan, Dryden; Cecil Arvin, Headquarters Ranch, and D. H. Cunningham, Independence School House.

Mrs. Grace Wheeler came in last Thursday from San Antonio where she is taking a course in beauty culture, and spent this week here with relatives while attending to business matters.

Clarence Hunter and Charlie Bill Bell who visited here for the past two weeks with their aunt, Mrs. J. C. Green, returned to their home in Valentine Thursday morning.
