Children From Methodist Home Present Program

A large crowd gathered at the Methodist church last Friday night and enjoyed a fine musical program presented by the choral club and the orchestra of the Methodist Children's Home, located near Waco, Texas.

In the group were twenty-four girls and four boys and their program consisted of several readings and musical numbers. Dr. Hubert Johnson, superintendent of the home, told of the work, activities, and training given the children at the home. The musical program was under direction of Miss Lucille Leifester, who is director of musical activities at the home.

The group is on tour, and have visited many cities in Texas during the past few weeks. Accompanied by Dr. and Mrs. Johnson and Miss Johnson, they are enroute to Clovis, N. Mex., to be present at the Western District Conference of the Methodist church, which will be held there this week end. The trip is being made in a large bus, which left Saturday morning for Marathon where the children will present a similar program.

SON TO THE OGLAS

James Hal Ogle is the name of a son born to Mr. and Mrs. J. V.
Ogle last Thursday afternoon in Williams Sanitarium, in Del Rio.
The little fellow weighed eight and three-fourths pounds, and is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. J. W.
Carruthers, Sr., who ranch southwest of Sanderson. Mr. and Mrs.
Ogle reside in Wink.

JOE PENNINGTON, VICTIM OF MISTAKEN IDENTITY IS KILLED HERE EARLY SUNDAY MORNING

In a tragedy that is deplored by this entire community, Joe Pennington, owner of the Pennington Drug Store, lost his life Sunday morning at about 12:30 o'clock.
Mr. Pennington, downtown until a short time before his death, had Frank Turner drive him home. The car was stopped at the Walter Grigsby home, which, according to Turner, Mr. Pennington said was his home. He got out, telling Turner, who lives in the far east part of town, to use the car and drive home, which Turner did.

Mr. Grigsby statement was that he and Mrs. Grigsby were awakened when some one stepped up on the back porch, and rattled the screen door. "I spoke to the person, unknown to me, asking him his business. There was no answer, but he continued to rattle the door. I then asked him to go away. The screen kept rattling, so I asked my wife to bring the gun, a shotgun, thinking the person would surely leave. I then loaded the gun, and again ordered him away. He kept jerking the screen, so I opened the house door and shot through the screen door, but only after I thought myself and wife were in danger. My wife and I then went to the courthouse across the street from our home and notified the Sheriff Lee Cook who, with Dr.
P. W. Mallory, were soon on the scene. The body was on the ground near the back step, face downward, and it was not until the sheriff turned the body over did I know it was Mr. Pennington.

Soon other officers arrived and at an inquest, after all facts were investigated, a verdict of accidental death was reached and filed of record.

The charge from a small bore shotgun entered Mr. Pennington's left breast. Death was instantaneous, according to reports.

Mr. Grigsby and Mr. Pennington were the best of friends. Both came from families listed as pioneer settlers in this section, and the tragedy has elicited the sincere sympathy of our people for the members of both families.

Joe Pennington, born July 2, 1906, in Del Rio, Texas, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jones Pennington, pioneer settlers of the Southwest, and the larger part of his life was spent in this section except for a few years in New Mexico, as a child, and several months in Douglas, Ariz., engaged in the drug business. For a number of years he was associated with his father in the drug business. On the death of his father Joe assumed full charge of the business for his mother until its sale several years ago.

He came to Sanderson on the first day of March, 1934, purchased the business which today bears his name, and which he had built into one of the best businesses in a wide area, by the application of strictly business methods and a courteous bearing at all times.
His friends were legion.
On December 29, 1933 he was united in marriage to Miss Elsie Loving in Warren, Arizona. Thru the short years of this union Mrs.
Pennington has been a true companion, his constant help in the business. The combination had much to do with the unusual success that was enjoyed in their business.

Besides the widow, Mr. Pennington is survived by his mother, Mrs. Jones Pennington of Alpine, a sister, Mrs. Drury Wood and a nephew, Charles Drury Wood III, of Alpine.
At impressive services held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Drury Wood in Alpine, with whom his mother Mrs. Jones Pennington lives, Miss Frances Mitchell sang "Sometime We'll Understand" and the choir sang "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere." The funeral sermon was preached by D. J. Murray, Presbyterian minister, formerly of Alpine, now residing in Lamesa, Texas. He was assisted in the services by Rev. F. R. Poage, pastor of the Alpine Methodist church.

Burial was in the Alpine cemetry, where the body was laid to rest in the family plot by the side of his father, Jones Pennington, underneath a mound of flowers, mutely testifying the great esteem in which he was held, and the beautiful strains of that inspiring song "Rock of Ages," created a hope that no matter what sorrow and trials we are forced to endure, there is a Hope beyond to give us strength to go on.

Out-of-town relatives of the family who attended the funeral were Mrs. Nettie Groves, Garland, Texas; Mrs. B. A. Marcom, Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. John Loving, of Cananea, Mexico; W. C. Loving, Douglas, Arizona; Mr. and Mrs.
Jack Strickland, El Paso; Mrs. E.
F. Higgins, El Paso; Jones Barrett, Ryan, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs.
Roy Harold Groves and daughter, El Paso.
Active pallbearers were Bascom Price, El Paso; Bill Graham, Marfa; Ben Estes and Wallace Henshaw, Sanderson; P. D. Coulson, Alpine; Frankie Cockran of Fort Hancock.

Several places of business in this city were closed out of respect and about seventy-five of our citizens, friends of the family, attended the last rites in Alpine.

HAS TONSIL OPERATION

Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Grigsby and his mother, Mrs. Lee Grigsby, motored to San Antonio where, on last Saturday, Ervin underwent an operation for the removal of his tonsils. He stood the operation fine, and was able to return home Wednesday.

ATTEND RODEO

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Turk were visitors in Fort Stockton last Sunday, going over to attend the last day of the rodeo held in that city.
They report that a large crowd was on hand and that a good rodeo was held.

PRESBYTERIAL OF 7TH DIST. HOLDING MEET HERE TODAY

The conference of the Seventh District of Western Texas Presbyterial is holding an all-day meeting at the Presbyterian church today (Friday), with the following out-of-town speakers: Mrs. Joe B. Moore, president, of Port Lavaca; Miss Lila Brown of Cuero, Mrs. B. D. Kennedy of Seguin, and Dr. S. Brooks Mc-Lane, president of the Tex-Mex School at Kingsville.

$115 AT PRINCESS

A name was called last Monday night at the Princess Theatre requesting the owner to come forward and have forced upon him or her (it was her), a free gift of $120. The name was Miss Lena Brieker, but she was at home in the other end of the county, studying her lessons. The pot, getting top-heavy, the management decided to give away $20 anyway.
J. E. Davis was the lucky person, and, according to arithmetic, that leaves $115 as the award next Monday night.

TO SPEND WINTER HERE

Mrs. Zudah Hawes arrived in Sanderson last Saturday from Austin and plans to spend the winter here with relatives. Mrs.
Hawes, who is a sister of Mrs. C.
H. White, is visiting in the home of her nephew, Carlton White.

P.-T. A. Rounding Up Ghosts for Its Annual Halloween Frolic Next Week

IT'S A CHANCE TO GO PLACES, ANYHOW.

Some have greatness thrust upon them; others things they don't need. Such was the case last Thursday night when Mrs. S. J. Kellogg won in a drawing at a local store and was presented with a boy's bicycle. One kid, nervous in anticipation, quickly recovered from his disappointment and shouted: "Ah shucks, she can't ride it; draw again!" But that was against the rules. The question now, with Mrs. Kellogg is, what to do? An answer not being readily forthcoming, she took it home to ponder the situation, and find a solution. So-o-o, if you hear any undue rumblings in the next few days, don't mistake them for an earthquake, it may be Mrs. Kellogg learning to ride in the seclusion of her living room.

Auto Hurtles 75 Feet to Ravine; Occupants Live

It was not the steel body or any other safety feature of the modern car that saved Mr. and Mrs.
Geo. Fithian from sudden death last Sunday when the car which they were driving quit the road at the Big Hill curve, and plunged over the embankment, a drop of 75 feet to the ravine below. It was pure, simple luck, or, as many believe, their time had not come.
Riding a new Plymouth sedan, the couple were making a trip from Lordsburg, N. Mex., to Galveston, where Mr. Fithian, who is an air-conditioning engineer is to be employed. According to Mrs.
Fithian, the car was ascending the grade when the brakes suddenly locked heading the car toward the ravine, just a few feet away. The car, according to her statement ended over twice, then turned on end and rolled to the bottom of the ravine, upside down. Nothing can be salvaged from the wreck but three of the casings, according to reports.

The strange part is, that Mr.
Fithian emerged from the wreck with only a broken leg, while his wife was unharmed, but in making the steep climb to the highway to secure help, she slipped and cut her leg on a boulder.

The accident occurred about 8 o'clock in the morning. Hardly had Mrs. Fithian reached the when Dick Corder, enroute to Ft.
Stockton arrived on the scene.
She explained their predicament and he returned to Sanderson, returning with a physician and several others who carried Mr. Fithian to the highway, and to Sanderson for treatment. Both Mr. and Mrs. Fithian left that evening by train for Del Rio where Mr. Fithian was placed in a sanitarium in that city.

TI BUILD NEW HOME

Mrs. S. J. Kellogg returned home yesterday morning after a visit in El Paso. The Kelloggs report that this week a contract was let for a fine home on Morningside Heights in that city. Construction will be of stone, fireproof throughout. Contractor P.
Roberts of that city started laying the foundation Thursday morning, and terms call for completion of the home in 100 working days.

TOUGH ON THINLY CLADS

Following a week or more of summer weather the thermometer took a nose dive to the low 40's Wednesday night, and cooler weather obtains as we go to press.
Thursday afternoon a precipitation from mist to heavy showers visited this immediate section.

REVIVAL MEETING

Claude McClung, evangelist of Fort Worth arrived here last Friday and that night began a series of gospel meetings at the Church of Christ which will continue through Sunday, Oct. 25th.
Two services are being held daily —10 a. m. and at 7:30 p. m. Good crowds are attending the meeting.

Column Right

Now comes Clayton Rand, editor of a Gulfport, Miss., paper and recently-elected head of the National Editorial Assn. To those not in the newspaper game the name means nothing, nor do editors know much about him, except as a certain specie of pest sent by some unholy hand to plague country editors with meandering ideas from a visionary brain—in the form of prose and verse—yes, it was "verse at times and yerat others." But the last straw, the one that broke, not only the back of the camel, but ours as well, was a booklet, packed with vitriolic attacks on the administration—under the title of "One Democrat to Another." Our available statistics, which go back as far as 1876, show that Mississippi, thru all those years took her democracy straight—and even swallowed Al Smith in 1928. The puzzle, ladies and gentlemen, is howinell he came to settle there, when, according to the records, there are 47 other states, and a few territories he could pick on. And Mr.
Rand is in position to know the policy, religious and political, of every paper in the nation. So, what's his reason for insulting 100 per cent Democratic papers with his bigoted ideas of how to run the country, and wherein the administration has failed. If there were two sides in the present campaign we'd readily read both.
But there isn't but one side. The G. O. P. windjammers have done nothing but pour out abuse on the honest efforts of the administration to alleviate a nation's misery. They promise to do the same thing, only in a DIFFERENT way. Roosevelt is tackling the problem straight from the shoulder; Landon would put it across with a few Dizzy Dean curves to befuddle the people. The country is prosperous at the present time, or else Big Business is making false reports. When the dark storm of depression hit, Republicans went to the storm-cellar.
Now they're crawling out, wondering if there ever was a storm—and want to take charge of and reap the harvest to which they are not entitled. They failed the nation in its distress—they were weighed in the balance and found wanting. "Save the Constitution" is their frenzied howl. Here's a test that any grade scholar can make: The very first paragraph of the U. S. Constitution reads as follows: "We, the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America." That one paragraph is the entire document in detail. Where was domestic tranquility in 1932, when parents wondered where their children next meal was to come from? What kind of shape was the general welfare in when Herbie Hoover, the man without a party, left the white house? Banks were tottering like ten-pins, you could borrow a nickel with a $20 gold-piece. By his moratorium on war debts he left the impression on European nations that we didn't need the money. Business-ness failed because capital was bottled, and some of our "money-lousy" plutocrats were making arrangements to carry their ill-gotten hoardings abroad. What a mess! Where's the mess today?
The New Deal administration adhered more closely to the Constitution than any of which we have record. How people forget!
P. S. That Rand book wouldn't even start the office fire this morning.

Clemency Refused Carrasco to Die In Chair Today

The last hope of a stay of execution or commutation of sentence in the case of Antonio Car-rasco, 38-year-old Mexican ranch hand, found guilty of murder in connection with the death of Mrs.
J. Riley Smith, near Van Horn, faded when, on Monday, Governor Alford stated he would not interfere. He is slated to die in the electric chair early this morning.
On June 2, 1934, Carrasco, employed on the Smith ranch, rode into Van Horn to secure help in extinguishing a blaze at the Smith ranch. The ranch home was in ruins where help arrived. After the ashes cooled to permit investigation, the charred bones of Mr. and Mrs. Smith were uncovered.
Circumstantial evidence was such that Carrasco was accused of the crime, and a confession was made by him at the time, it was reported. Later he repudiated the confession.

Elmo Banks, a negro, convicted of killing a Tahoka deputy sheriff, will die with Carrasco.

STILL DRILLING

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Goode, Sr., were in town Tuesday from their ranch and reported that crews are busy day and night drilling on the Goode No. 1 test well on their place. Also, that better progress is being made at present due to the softer structure that has been encountered. The test is a source of speculation and is being eagerly watched by oil interests in various sections of the state.

TO FATHER'S BEDSIDE

Mrs. J. W. Downum left Wednesday morning for Quitman, in response to a message telling of the sudden and serious illness of her father, A. J. Horton. She was accompanied as far as Monahans by Misses Audie and Quinnie McElroy who went to that city to meet an uncle from Oklahoma City, where she went by bus to Fort Worth, and by train from that city to Quitman.

Man in Detroit was mobbed for throwing feathers on Fr. Coughlin.
Ought to be shot for forgetting the tar.

Aged threaten a march to Austin to demand pensions. Any of them agile enough to finish the trip should be handed a pick and shovel and made dig ditches.

Norther hit yesterday; and every time one whistles we can't help thinking of Sally Rand. In the matter of clothes, however, Sally hasn't much on us, but she certainly hasn't a thing on herself.

Come in; it's raining!

- a sign of Poor Home Lighting

If your child squints while reading or studying at home, don't overlook it. For squinting is often a tell tale sign of poor lighting.

Guard your child's sight—and your own—with better light. In rooms where members of your family read, study or sew be sure there is plenty of light, well shaded and free from glare.

Poor home lighting can be corrected easily and inexpensively. Defective eyesight, on the other hand, is difficult to correct and sometimes costly. Play safe. Make sure that the lighting in your home conforms with safe seeing standards by having it measured with a Light Meter.

I. E. S. BETTER SIGHT LAMP 1 Wide opening at top throws light to ceiling, eliminating shadows. 2 Glass bowl softens light, prevents glare. 3 Wide shade plus extra height of lamp spreads light over wide area.

THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE

By Ethel Breg. It is said that the sun never sets on England's possessions. This is true, because of the English language being spoken throughout the British Commonwealth of Nations.

This language did not come from the inhabitants of Britain, or did it come from that tongue. It belongs to the Teutonic branch of the Indo-European family, and a sub-division of Low German which is a division of the West-German branch of the Teutonic group.

The history of our language divides into three periods. They are the Anglo-Saxon (449-1100), the Middle English (1100-1500), and Modern English (1500 to the present time).

When the Romans withdrew from Britain, after living there for more than 350 years, they left a few contributions to the language. A few of the words of Latin origin are altar, mass and psalm.

A second great influence of our language was during the Danish conquest. Four dialects were spoken—Kentish, Mercian, Northumbrian and the West Saxon. One of the oldest literary written in West Saxon is "Beowulf."

In 1066 came the conquest of the Duke of Normandy and for two centuries the French language was spoken.

The number of words in the English language at the present time estimate from 400,000 to 600,000. New words are being added constantly. The average person has a working vocabulary of 2,000 to 3,000 words. A child in his first year learns from ten to twenty-five words.

Eagles Humbled By Badger Squad To Tune of 31-6

The McCamey Badgers and the Sanderson Eagles, respectively, continued their winning and losing streaks last Saturday night as the Badgers took the Eagles, 31-6 on the McCamey grid. For the first time this year the local team found themselves outclassed.

McCamey put a team on the field that looked much like the district champions of a year ago. With nice ball totting by Belcher and Reynolds the Badgers counted twice in the first quarter, once in the second, and twice in the third. Only one try for the extra point was successful.

The Eagles' lone marker came in the second quarter, when a 30-yard pass from Bogusch was fumbled by the Badger safety, to fall into the hand of Short who stepped over the goal line for the touchdown. The Eagles then, for the first time this year, missed their try for extra point.

The loss of Appel and Short in the first half hurt the Eagles' cause considerably. However, both boys will be in shape for the game here with Rankin tomorrow.

Bobbie Allen, Wilton Dishman and Hicks Canon played their first football game for old S. H. S. and all showed up well.

With the Eagle touchdown in the second quarter, they became the first team to score on McCamey this season. They have yet to be held scoreless.

Another disadvantage to the Sanderson team was that this was their first game under the lights.

Vote for Teachers' Retirement Fund

Teacher Retirement Fund is a public responsibility. It safeguards the welfare of the children.

It attracts and retains a better teaching personnel. It improves the teaching profession.

It benefits the public and the teacher. It is a business agreement between state and teacher.

It is an approved business and governmental practice. It is primarily an efficiency measure.

It is more desirable than a pension. The pending amendment makes possible a retirement law.

Interesting Points in Amendment. Senate Joint Resolution No. 18, "Proposing an amendment to the Constitution authorizing establishment of Teacher Retirement system," is the second amendment on the ballot to be voted on November 3.

All persons employed in public schools, colleges and universities supported wholly or partly by the State will be eligible for membership. It is further provided that no person who has not taught 20 years in the state of Texas is eligible for retirement benefits, but will be entitled to a refund of his part of the moneys paid into the fund. Recipients of retirement benefits are not eligible for any other form of pension or relief from the state.

The amount contributed by each person shall not exceed 5 per cent of the compensation received from the State during any one year and in no case shall it exceed $180.00 per year. The percentage rate of contributions by the teacher will be set by law. Whatever the amount the State will match it. This method is

IN THE WITCH'S CAULDRON

Note to Editor—I, myself, am a great admirer of Shakespeare. I really like the bloody way he does things. The only thing I wish is that I could see Karloff being a witch or something in one of 'em. Or it might be a good idea to bring him up to date. You could do it with a witch scene from "Macbeth." I've been thinking about it and wondering if something like that wouldn't make our Carnival pretty good.—Respectfully yours, T. S. A. P. S.—Of course, you don't have to print this, but I'm working for the Carnival, so you ought to.

Thrice the wind has howled around, Thrice the shooting-star has screamed— Now 'tis time for sheeted ghosts. 'Round about the cauldron go. Woe to him who stumps his toe. Bite an apple, if you can; Show the girls you are a man. Grab a black old alley cat. Drop it on a preacher's hat. Double, double, toil and trouble, Fires burn and cauldrons bubble. Shattered pumpkins strewn 'round, Pitfalls everywhere are found. Shadows flit from door to door. Doorbells ring and ring some more. Chairs and benches disappear, Ornaments corners queer. When at last they can be had By owners practically mad. Double, double, toil and trouble, Fire burn and cauldron bubble.

Fortune tellers sit in tents, Boys and girl all hie them thence Along with men and women too, Who their fortunes wish they knew. Here's the shout of the parade— What costumes these kids have made! There's a place to try you skill: Chunk the nigger with a pill. Fish here for a grand surprise— Luck for anyone who tries. Here's the grand finale found at last: Texas heroes now go past. Here's the Cass of tomorrow; (Come if you must beg or borrow)— Don your sheets and pillow cases, Halloween's no time for faces. Carnival's the thirty-first. Come and laugh until you burst. Double, double, toil and trouble, Fire burn and cauldron bubble.

What Does Your Father Do?

By Jack Bogusch

Who? Who are you? What does your father do? In order to settle an argument as to what father's occupation has the most sons and daughters in our local high school, two members of the Eagle News staff went through the school records and made several discoveries.

Miss X contended that ranchers contributed the larger portion than any other occupation, but Miss Y insisted that the railroad industry had produced most. So, after a careful check, we find that the ranching industry is still supreme in the Old West, or in the western school at least. Thirty-five per cent or more than one-third of the student body are sons and daughters of ranchers. The railroad was not far behind, however, having a 31 per cent score. This leaves 34 per cent coming from nearly twenty different professions. Therefore, Sanderson can truthfully be called a ranching and railroad town.

Clara Alice Bell, the third grade has many interesting things in its room. One is a bouquet of pampa grass that Bill Savage brought, another a carrot from nearly twenty different professions.

GRADES

First Grade

Carrie Mae Turner and Billy Carter brought flowers on Monday and Tuesday. Joe William Mussey brought a shell.

Benjamin Carpenter spent the week end in San Antonio. He went to Brackenridge Park while there and gave the children an interesting report about the lions in the park.

Miss Lee, teacher, spent the week end in Alpine. She visited the McDonald observatory in connection with the nature study of the class. She brought back some giant grasshoppers, some brilliantly colored grasshoppers, two kinds of cedar and some pine.

The class began the study of a new reader last week which it is enjoying.

Third Grade

The 3rd grade has many interesting things in its room. One is a bouquet of pampa grass that Bill Savage brought, another a carrot from nearly twenty different professions. Therefore, Sanderson can truthfully be called a ranching and railroad town.

The third grade is studying about trains. Mr. Savage came to our room and told us about old and new trains, and helped us in this study. The grade is making a train book. We are writing stories to put in our books.

Ticket Contest In Full Swing for Rankin Game

The ticket sales campaign began before the Big Lake football game among the classes in high school is under way again this week before the game tomorrow with Rankin on the local field. Classes are sponsoring this sale, and the winning class with the highest percentage at the end of the football season will be entertained with a picnic. The freshman class won the standing for the Big Lake game.

Rules of the campaign are that the classes have a 100 per cent participation within their own bounds. That is, each member of the class must be at the game by purchase of a ticket, work in the pep squad, in the band, or on the football team. The other rule is that the class members sell as many tickets as possible and the class selling the most tickets and with a 100 per cent participation wins the prize.

The ticket sales in the individual classes are being sponsored by the class sponsor and the president of the class is chairman of general sales in the class. The class members report to the class president who, in turn reports to the sponsor. The classes met on Tuesday afternoon and were given their quota of tickets by their sponsors.

The tickets sell for the usual price: 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for school children.

Red Devils From Rankin - Eagles Clash Tomorrow

The Rankin Red Devils and the Sanderson Eagles will clash tomorrow on the local gridiron at 2:30. So far this season, the both teams have failed to mark up a victory, so when they meet it will be just as good a game as one between teams who haven't lost a game.

This year Rankin had had over 200 points scored against them. Sanderson opponents have scored but 62 points. Rankin has never crossed an opponent's goal line this season, while Sanderson has scored at least one touchdown in every game played. So, if there's anything in figures the Eagles should run the Red Devils ragged.

During the past week Coach Smith has been putting his charges through gruelling workouts, specializing in blocking which has been weak in previous games. They have also worked hard on their aerial game, and seem to have that department of offense down "pat." With Jack doing the flinging, and Shorty, Rafael and J. Allen on the receiving end, we have a combination that is going to give Rankin trouble tomorrow.

It looks like no matter where Jack throws the ball one of this trio manage to be there waiting for it. In every game this season the Eagle have put up a hard battle, and we sure they won't fail their supporters tomorrow.

Be at American Legion Park tomorrow at 2:30, bring a friend or a carload and help cheer the Eagles to victory.

The probable lineup: Druse and Allen, ends; Kerr and R. Loehausen, tackles; Billings and Appel guards; Sullivan, center; in the backfield will be Bogusch, Haines, Fierro and Short. Substitutes—backfield, Dishman; linemen, R. Chandler, Canon, and B. Allen.

VOLLEYBALLS MARK TIME

Volleyball has not started yet, but will begin as soon as the girls get settled and find a period in which to practice. Last year the girls went to Fort Stockton and participated in the district games.

Miss Ruth Howell, last year's sponsor of volleyball, is now teaching in Eldorado. Sponsor this year will be Mrs. Leona Ulbricht, home economics teacher. She is from San Antonio.

when grown will be a sub-sister on some newspaper staff. Has a liking for 'em tall, fair, and handsome. Her hobby is being the editor of the "Eagle News." She likes to hear Bing Crosby sing "Me and the Moon," and never misses a Fred McMurray movie. Her favorite pastime is Monopoly.

Faith may create mountains as well as move them.
