Rogers Role in "Handy Andy" Unusual Robt. Taylor Has Romantic Role Lead

When Will Rogers, a sa small town druggist, retired, sets out to play so he can go back to work, lightning paced action, comical capers and bright young romance amid the carnival excitement of the New Orleans Mardi Gras is the hilarious rule in "Handy Andy," 20th Century-Fox picture at the Princess Theatre tonight and Saturday, October 22 and 23.

There's a method, however, in the erstwhile laconic comedian's venture into broad humor. The more he enters into the spirit of the New Orleans Mardi Gras, which is the background for some of the more hilarious sequences, the more chance there is for Robert Taylor's romancing. Consequently Will doffs for a few ex-cruciatingly funny moments his quiet demeanor to insure happiness for his daughter, played by Mary Carlisle.

The story opens when the easy-going pharmacist is nagged out of the work that is such fun to him by his social-aspiring wife Peggy Wood. He finally quits to become a pest around the house, and a scarecrow on the golf links, where his attempts to learn the game rival his most hilarious moments.

Not satisfied with the home-town society, although she is trying hard to marry her daughter off to the unattractive scion of the leading family, the wife gets an invitation to visit some snooty friends in New Orleans, and succeeds in taking her rebellious husband there only when he realizes that the trip will leave the coast clear for the real romance between his daughter and Taylor.

The Mardi Gras spirit does something, to Will's normally stable spirit, and it is a wild conclusion that sends him back to his prescription counter and smooths up things for the young couple.

"Easy Living" is Brilliant. Well Played Comedy

A comedy which ranks among the smartest pictures of this or any other season is that which brings Jean Arthur, Edward Arnold and Ray Milland to the Princess Theatre Monday night, October 25—"Easy Living," a new story by Preston Sturges.

The story concerns a stenographer, played by Miss Arthur, who suddenly and unexpectedly gets a sable coat valued at $50,000 and then has to live up to it. Like the man in Mark Twain's story who found he didn't have any money as long as he had a check for a million pounds, Miss Arthur finds the town wide open to her. Hotels, fashionable shops and dealers in expensive cars shower her with gifts. She becomes the talk of the town. All doors are open to her—there is only one drawback, she has the money to buy herself a square meal. She goes to the automat and tries to "snag" a meal and meets Milland, a millionaire playboy trying to make a go of it on his own as a bus boy. He is the son of Arnold, the man who unwittingly bestowed the coat on Miss Arthur, and with whom her name becomes linked. It is love at first sight.

The rest of the story is a fast-moving, racy and breezy account of how Miss Arthur's coat caused a Will Street crisis, almost caused a shakeup in the Police Department, brought together a man and wife who quarrelled and were seeking a divorce, save a hotel from bankruptcy, and won Miss Arthur a husband.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Wilson of Marathon spent Saturday here visiting her sister, Mrs. Tom Parson.

Mrs. Ben Dawson was a visitor in Del Rio Friday and Saturday.

Deanna Durbin Stars With Stokowski In Bright Comedy "100 Men & a Girl"

Deanna Durbin who rose to screen fame in "3 Smart Girls," will be starred in her second picture, a comedy drama "100 Men and a Girl," which is coming to the Princess next Wednesday and Thursday, October 27 and 28.

Featured with Miss Durbin is Leopold Stokowski, famous conductor of the Philadelphia Symphony orchestra.

An unusual cast surrounds Deanna. Adolphe Menjou is seen as her father, a musician who, with 100 fellow artists, seeks recognition of talent and chance for a livelihood. Alice Brady is portrayed as the society matron who promises Deanna to sponsor the orchestra. Then the rich woman flounces off to Europe and leaves Eugene Pallette as Alice Brady's husband, has the situation placed squarely before him on his shiny mahogany desk by Deanna. Her eloquent statement of the 100 men's dilemma causes him to sponsor the orchestra, providing Stokowski will conduct it.

Nothing daunted, Deanna goes to Stokowski. She charms him first with her singing. He agrees to hear the orchestra and finds they are excellent musicians, and

APPROACHING MARRIAGE IS ANNOUNCED

A lovely affair on Sunday afternoon was the coffee given by Mrs. J. E. Costello, announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Eleanor, to D. C. Thrift of Ft. Stockton, the wedding to take place Dec. 20. Mrs. Costello made the announcement by letting a white kitten out of a silver cloth bag. Around the kitten's neck was tied a card bearing the words, "Eleanor and D. C., December 20th—Uvalde Leader-News Oct. 15."

D. C., son of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Thrift, is well and favorably known in Sanderson, and has many friends whose best wishes are extended. At present D. C. is employed with an oil company in Houston.

Noble Thoughts They are never alone that are accompanied with noble thoughts.

The story sweeps to its climax—carrying human drama, delightful comedy and memorable music to a rhythmic crest. Stokowski has devised a new method of recording music which gives the effect of sound in perspective.
