Seems that at times running a newspaper is about like being a bartender--that is all you hear is other folk's troubles. Well that part is ok, and we're used to it I reckon. But--seems that of late we have done a few things, or rather, haven't done a few things, that have added to some of the troubles of other folks. A point in the matter includes the running of names of those folks who manage to end up in the local city and county court-rooms for one reason or the other.

As many of you all will remember for over two years The Star carried a list of names each week which was referred to in the local coffee houses as the "criminal columns." The column was called "In the Courts."

In this column appeared all the offenders which found themselves facing the judge in the local corporation and justice of the peace courts.

Well to make a long story short the column sorta died a natural death a few months ago.

But--here we came with another problem.

You all know that when a case gets into the county courts down at Farwell we carry as complete a report of it as possible. Well, in one particular instance that has come to our attention we carried such a story that came out of the county court, but--really it wasn't fair because some other folks were involved in the proceedings and had been tried in our local jp court in Friona.

So, it ended up with one person getting all the glare of the publicity while the others were never mentioned.

So, as we take about $4,000 a year from subscribers in Farmer county in exchange for printing the news here we feel it is our place to print this news.

We don't try to make the news, just print it.

So, in the future if your name appears in this column we apologize in advance for we feel that to give everyone a fair shake we must again print this part of the week's happenings.

Beginning with this issue the column "In the Courts" will be carried every week in The Star.

Back to things more interesting, or at least a little bit more comical, last week the firemen were supposed to have begun their first aid school on Monday night.

Well, Vernon Johnson was to have been the instructor and Tasty Cream Williams was the one who was to have phoned all the firemen informing them of the time and place of meeting. Come Monday morning and Tasty had the flu so he told his spouse to phone Fire Chief Ruben Taylor and have him phone all the firemen.

Anyhow Mickey phoned and talked to L. D. Taylor and gave him the message.

But somewhere in the "I told you so's" the message got garbled and ended up with all the firemen being told that the school had been postponed because Vernon had the flu. Vernon went to the bank at

In a mammoth meeting Monday night members of the council of Friona approved a budget for the new year totalling $124,889 to carry out the city's business during 1960.

Complicating the business of "guessing" at how much money it will take to carry each of the city's varied departments through the year is the fact that this year the city will change their fiscal year from a calendar year to a tax year.

This means the city will close their books for the year October 1 of each year in place of the old way of closing the books at the end of the year.

Following the budget discussion the council voted to ask for bids for a new garbage truck. The present vehicle is a 1946 model dodge that is "pretty well on its last legs." The council felt that after hearing prices quoted for overhauling the old truck the city would be better off purchasing a new chassis rather than spend from $600 to $1,000 on the old vehicle.

The council also discussed at length the first reading of Ordinance No. 330 which relates to the setting of costs in the city's Corporation Court.

At the present time there is no charge for court costs in the city's courts in case a defendant calls for a jury trial or pleads not guilty to a charge.

The council, feeling that with the new insurance laws now in effect, thought that this year there will be an increase in the calling for jury trials and as in the past there had been no need for such ordinance the city should think about such a procedure.

The new schedule will not affect a person if they plead guilty as has been the case before. The fine is left up to the judge to decide. But, if the defendant pleads not guilty and asks for a jury trial the fine is up to the jury and a jury costs the city money therefore this ordinance is being drawn up.

The ordinance provides for costs not to exceed $18.50 to accompany any jury trial and costs of $15.50 to cover costs of a trial where a jury isn't used.

The total cost to the defendant, if found guilty, would be the fine plus the appropriate court cost. If the jury finds the defendant not guilty there is no charge at all.

In other business the council accepted the recommendations of the city's Planning & Zoning Commission concerning a petition for the rezoning of certain blocks in the south part of town. (This story is carried in detail elsewhere in the paper.)

Also the council instructed City Manager Albert Field to ask the highway department about the possibilities of erecting a reflectorized sign on the east end of Highway 60 where the four lane division begins. Several wrecks have happened at this spot, mainly due to the driver not seeing the divided lanes in time to miss the median in the middle of the road.

Those present at the meeting included Mayor R. L. Fleming, Aldermen Bill Nichols, Deon Awtrey, Danny Bainum, Glenn Reeve Sr and Albert Field, city manager and Richard Collard, city attorney.

Religious Week Slated

A week of religious emphasis has been slated by the members of the Ministerial Alliance in Friona with all participating churches holding joint revivals, and preaching services during this week.

The entire community is asked to cooperate during this particular week and many of local businessmen have told the Alliance that they will close their business during the hours of the morning services.

The Alliance members felt that the scheduled revivals and special religious programs would have more impact on the residents of this area if they were all held simultaneously. Details concerning the participating churches and their schedule of services will be announced as soon as possible. All members of the community are asked to keep the dates March 13 to March 20 inclusive in mind and to participate in this special Religious Emphasis Week in Friona.

Poll Tax Sales High In County

Poll tax sales reached a new high mark this year in Farmer County--not altogether unexpected, but nonetheless significant as these figures represent a high interest in elections coming up in 1960.

Tabulations aren't all in at Lee Thompson's assessor-collector office in the courthouse, but it looks like the total is going to hit around 2655. That is a huge increase from the 1813 who paid their $1.75 last year, and a substantial jump from the 2483 that armed themselves with ballot privileges in 1956--the last presidential election year.

There was the usual rush at the tax office Saturday, as citizens lined up on the last day to qualify themselves for the important voting privileges that lie ahead.

Employees stayed on the job in the Farwell office until 5 p. m. Saturday, and Thompson himself stayed on after that to make it possible for late-comers to still get in under the wire.

One interesting aspect of poll tax sales this year is that Farmer County has a chance to outvote their Bailey County neighbors--probably for the first time. Sales at Muleshoe are 2512 this year.

This year Farmer County issued 75 exemption certificates on poll taxes. Most persons are familiar with the fact that a citizen otherwise qualified and just turning 21 can get a "free" vote his or her first year.

Those who receive exemptions for disabilities and those who obtain them upon moving here from other states are less well known classifications, however. A person 60 or over does not have to pay the tax, but in Farmer County no exemptions are issued in this category.

Why I Am A Democrat

With this year looming somewhere out in the future as being a national election year, and there is a "something" that in our opinions will mark this election year as one of the turning points in the history of our mighty nation we feel that something along the line we are going to outline here is needed.

As we ponder over this editorial we glanced through a recent issue of The Tulsa Herald and came across an editorial written by H. M. Baggary which pretty well covered our feelings along political lines.

This year is going to be a year for the Democrats, at least we think so... but it isn't with this thought in mind that we write this but rather to define just what is a "Democrat."

A few years ago we made a mistake when it came to voting, and like a lot of other folks, we are paying for that mistake. Well... we'll own up to making it, but right here and now we'll vow that such a mistake will never be made again by this person.

But--back to our definition.
Mr. Baggary uses part of a speech made by Senator Jennings Randolph of West Virginia for his definition and we shall do the same.

Said Senator Randolph, "First, I am a Democrat because I am young... even though the years are magnified, I will be young with the Democratic Party."

"The Democratic Party, though the oldest political party in existence, is still the youngest in this country measured by vitality. Ours is the party of youth, for it sees the world in terms of its tomorrows while not relying entirely upon its yesterdays. Ours is the party with eyes in its forehead--not in its hindhead.

"In this respect I have sometimes thought, that, rather than the elephant, a more appropriate symbol for the other party would be the vain and strutting peacock, with a thousand eyes in its tail--all looking backward. However, the elephant, with much memory but little imagination, will do...

"The valid concepts of the New Deal and the Fair Deal--and most of them were valid--have become an enduring part of our national, political, and economic life, and have prevented the recurrence of the tragedies of the era of the thirties. Just as the great depression tested the assumptions of the philosophy of 'let nature take its course'--and found those assumptions insufficient, so has the period since World War II tested the basic principles of the New Deal--and found them valid."

Space prevents other comments of Senator Randolph on his first point.

"There is a second reason why I am a Democrat," continued the Senator. "The Democratic Party is not afraid to dare. Our party, since its founding by Thomas Jefferson in 1794, has been willing to experiment in the public interest. And it is no accident of history that throughout our national life the significant surges of growth toward the realization of the American dream have been associated with the Democratic Party... It was Jefferson's Democratic-Republican Party which routed the narrow mercantile philosophy of the Federalists (I might add, parenthetically, that although Jefferson's party dropped the Republican suffix in 1828, one still finds a Democrat here and there who has not heard of that simplification)..."

"Before continuing with a discussion of the present challenge to the creativity of the Democratic party, there is a third reason why I am Democrat. It is the party which embraces the broadest interest of the American people. And I say, with all respect--and some sympathy for members of the minority party--ours is the only really national party... During the dynamic 19th century industrial expansion the concept of private property became identified with the ownership of factories, mines, and railroads. Thus, after the Civil War it was the powerful industrial and railroad barons who captured the Republican Party and defeated the hopes of Abraham Lincoln... Finally, during the 20th century, the concept of private property has again shifted under the development of the corporation as the major economic institution. And in this century we have found that the representatives of the major corporations have gained ascendancy in the councils of the Republican Party. The farmer, the small businessman, the worker, the aged and the unemployed may advance their claims only if the budget is balanced to the satisfaction of the dominant business executives

"The property interests of the corporation are only a segment of the total area of the meaning of property rights. Without fair price for his commodities, the farmer's property rights become an ironic jest--and a poor one..."

"In thus recognizing a broader definition of property rights the Democratic Party has sought to extend the fruits of democracy to an ever widening number of people. For this reason the Democratic Party continues to attract, in ever increasing numbers, the farmer, laborer, the small businessman, the intellectual--and all those who look to the future, rather than to the past."

This is one man's reason for being a Democrat.

in and around FRIONA

WITH JUNE

Several months ago many Frionans were concerned about the parking situation on downtown streets. Apparently the snow, ice and sloppy condition of the streets brought this interest to a standstill.

Monday morning there was some evidence of renewed interest in the project of getting cars off the street. On the surface getting cars off the street so that more cars can park on the street doesn't make very much sense.

However, when you take into consideration the ownership of the cars, the situation takes on a new light. Cars belonging to business men and their employees should never take up parking space needed by persons who desire to shop in Friona.

Those of us who spend most of each day in town should be very careful to park our cars off the street. Parking lots have been constructed in several places and the 'space east and south of the Plains Publisher-Friona Star building is being improved.

Maybe it wouldn't be out of order for a lot of us to make a resolution to park off the street every time it is possible so that visitors to our city will be able to find parking spaces within walking distance of stores.

In our present day manner of living most of us are constantly hurrying from one place to another. It seems that our biggest problem is trying to find time for all the things we want to do.

One philosopher said, "Each man has just 24 hours a day. What he does with the hours is the important thing."

Anyone who has ever wondered how someone else has time to do so many things will probably enjoy reading the following paragraphs.

"It is a source of deep wonder to many how someone find time to do so much. It is worth remembering that great men have but a few hours a day to be "great." Like the rest of us, they must give up at least seven hours a day to sleep.

They must dress, bathe, shave, eat and attend to other matters of a personal nature--visits to the dentist, physician, manicurist, barber and conferences with their wives about domestic and family matters.

This leaves them not much more than eight hours a day to pursue their greatness. Some of these hours must be given to the job of keeping informed.

They must read newspapers, reports, listen to their associates, review plans, sign papers and get to and from their different meeting places, which often are hundreds of miles apart. Hence, they have less time to be "great" men than might be supposed. They actually have just a couple of hours a day for their greatness.

What makes them great is their ability to decide what is important and then focus their attention on it. Another factor is their energy and determination, and this accounts for their ability to do so much more than ordinary mortals."

If we would follow the advice given by another philosopher, we might have more time, energy, enthusiasm and thought to put into whatever project we are working on or deed we wish to accomplish.

"Junk something every day," suggests the philosopher.

Junk your fears, junk your worries, junk your anxieties, junk your little jealousies, envies and hatreds. Whatever interferes with your getting up and getting on in the world--junk it.

Every night before you go to sleep, put upon the junk heap all your disappointments, all your grudges, your revengeful feelings, your malice. Junk everything that is hindering you from becoming a big, strong vibrant character.

The trouble with most of us is that we have no junk heap of this sort. We pull all our mental enemies, all our handicaps, our discouragements, our losses, our troubles and worries and trials along with us. That consumes more than fifty per cent of our vitality and energy, so that we have only the smaller amount left for the great task of making life a success."

Some of our readers might be interested in knowing that we have a variety of bird, butterfly and flower stickers in stock at the Star office. These can be used on attendance charts for classes of smaller children or for many other purposes.

If you need something depicting spring and summer, come by and see what we have.

Think the standard greeting up and down the street the past few days has been, "Who's sick at the Star office?" Seems there have been more illnesses than usual. There's hardly a family that hasn't had one or more cases of something.

Perhaps we've all caught what B. M. Nelson, editor of the Castro County News thought had overtaken him a few weeks ago. He felt sure he had a case of "pneumonia." It isn't likely that any doctor diagnosed his case, but we thought it was a pretty apt description of whatever "ails" a lot of Frionans.

Reports indicate that the turn out at the Hub Community Sale was better than residents of the community expected. These people are certainly to be commended for the manner in which they have cooperated in the building and maintenance of their nice Community Build-

Dr. Floyd Golden To Be Guest Speaker

Eastern New Mexico University President Floyd D. Golden will be the guest speaker when Friona O. E. S. Chapter 990 observes its annual friendship night at the Masonic hall Monday Feb. 8.

Dr. Golden recently toured the Soviet Union in a group of 30 American educational administrators. He will be speaking on his 20,000 mile tour of Russian schools, churches and the sprawling cradle of communism. Included on the itinerary were visits and conferences with educators, professional and business people and people on the street. Some public meetings which the group attended were church services, opera, ballet and soccer games. Dr. and Mrs. Golden began their teaching careers in Friona nearly 40 years ago. He served in the capacity of principal first and later was superintendent. Mrs. Golden taught home economics.

A salad supper will precede the lecture. Claude Miller, worthy patron and Joe Buchanan, worthy matron report that sixteen neighboring chapters have been invited to be guests of the local chapter.

In The Courts

The following cases were tried between January 1, 1960 and February 1, 1960 in the Corporation Court of the city of Friona by Judge Thelma Jones:

1-1-60 Paul Keith Hughes, drunk in public place.

1-1-60 Charles M. Kirk, drunk in public place.

1-1-60 Jay Don Burket, drunk in public place.

1-4-60 Chester Varner, driving wrong way on divided highway.

1-15-60 Alvin K. Gaines, illegal starting from a parked position.

1-15-60 Alvin K. Gaines, minor in possession of alcoholic ing.

In addition to serving the needs of several community organizations, this building is used often for private gatherings and county-wide functions. We're hoping that one of these years residents of this wide awake community decide to enter the Rural Neighborhood Progress Contest.

If and when they do, our prediction is that other communities in the state will have to get on the ball and keep on the ball to match what our neighbors on the south will do.

The following cases were tried between January 1, 1960 and February 1, 1960 in the Justice of Peace Court in Friona by Justice of Peace Thelma Jones:

1-5-60 Gene Bryan, driving vehicle without license.

1-29-60 John R. Frerich, permitting minor to operate vehicle without license.

1-29-60 Anthony J. Frerich, failure to stop after being involved in an accident.

Wrong Number Is Right Number

A misplaced telephone call resulted in the arrest of a man under indictment by the Parmer County grand jury in a strange turn of events that stretched across the state line Sunday evening.

Sheriff Charles Lovelace, who was in his office that night catching up on some work, answered his ringing telephone. It was a strange voice, but the person asked for somebody the sheriff happened to know—and also happened to be looking for.

The voice was asking to speak with L. V. Harris. It happened that Harris was a man the sheriff's department was seeking, and it puzzled the officer that someone would be looking for Harris—of all places—in the sheriff's office. The jigsaw puzzle did get put together in time though.

After some conversation, Sheriff Lovelace determined that the man on the telephone, Gene Matthews of Petersburg, had been called by Harris who had requested money to pay a traffic fine. Matthews thought he was calling "Farwell, New Mexico."

"Hold the line a minute," suggested the sheriff. He then stepped to another phone and called Les Means, Texico justice of the peace. "You know where I could find L. V. Harris?" asked Lovelace. "Sitting right here beside me," answered the New Mexico J.P. Things began to add up then. It turned out that Harris, a 29-year-old man from Petersburg, was on his way back from Clovis when he was picked up by the New Mexico highway patrol for speeding. He was hailed into Means' court and fined $32. Since he couldn't pay the fine, he decided to call his employer to see if the money could be advanced. That's where the mixup came in. When Matthews returned the call, he ended up talking with Sheriff Lovelace rather than J.P. Means. Harris got his fine paid off, but was promptly escorted across town to Farwell and jailed. He waived extradition proceedings.

The way people look at life determines the number of weights they attempt to carry through life.

The Gaines family was in the process of moving, and had been taking their personal property out on the porch before loading it for the move. They were not in the house when the theft occurred.

SQUAWS IN DISTRICT LEAD--

Chiefs, Squaws Massacre Wolves

Friona's Chiefs exploded for 25 points in the initial quarter of play Friday night while allowing only 12 for the visiting Dalhart Wolves to go on and win by a final margin of 77 to 56. Moving fast and furious from the opening whistle the Chiefs were never in hot water as they outscored the visitors in all but the final period of play when the Chief's second unit was in the ball game.

Scoring 18 points in the second period while the Wolves scored 14, the halftime saw the Chiefs with a comfortable 17 point advantage with the score 43 to 26.

Once again in the third quarter the Chiefs found the mark for 22 points as the Wolves scored 16 to move into the fourth and final period of play with the score 65 for the local round-ballers and 42 for the visitors.

With the second unit of the Chiefs commanding the fourth quarter the locals found the basket for 12 additional points as Dalhart hit for 15 to make the final margin of victory 77 for the Chiefs and 56 for the Wolves from Dalhart.

Bobcats downed the Chiefs by a score of 81 to 55. This win gives Dimmitt a tie for first place district championship with Tulia while the Chiefs are no longer in contention as far as the district titleholder is concerned.

High scorer for Friona was Glendel Jones with 11 points followed by Jackie Hight and Bobby Daniel with seven points each. Hal Ratcliff had 29 for Dimmitt.

Next cage action is Thursday night (tonight) when the local fish boys and girls play host to Tulia and the Squaws playing hostesses to the Wayland College Queen Bees in the local high school gymnasium. Game time is slated for 5 p. m. with the freshmen girls starting the night's action.

Mr. and Mrs. John Allen returned Thursday from Phoenix where they had spent ten days visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Allen and family.

This contest was the beginning of the second round of loopplay for the Chiefs who now have a two won and three loss district record.

In the femme contest the Squaws had an easy time of it dumping the girls from Dalhart by a wide margin of 70 to 34.

This win gives the Squaws a five won record against no losses in district play.

Both the Chiefs and Squaws have three more district contests ahead of them against Dimmitt, Tulia and Canyon, in that order with Dimmitt coming up Tuesday at Dimmitt.

In Tuesday night's action, the two teams traveled to Dimmitt to resume district play.

Scoring only nine points for a cool first quarter of play but warming up as the game progressed the Friona Squaws maintained their lead in district contention as they defeated the Dimmitt Bobbies by a score of 57 to 45 Tuesday night in the Dimmitt High School gymnasium. The win gives the Squaws a six win and no loss record in the district race.

In the boy's game that followed immediately the Dimmitt

Commission Turns Down Changes

Members of the Planning & Zoning Commission formally turned down a request from residents in the south part of Friona to change the zoning of Block 84 from business to residential property.

The request had been made about a month ago in the form of a petition signed by seven residents who live near the property in question to members of the city council. The council referred the question to the P&Z commission for their recommendations.

The request asked that the west half of block 84 be changed from business property to residential property as far as zoning is concerned.

The request came following rumors that a concrete batching plant will be constructed on the northwest corner of block 84 in the near future.

The commission felt that in the best interest of the most residents of the city that the property would be worth more to the city as business property rather than residential property and as several years ago it was petitioned to be changed from residential to business to let it remain business property.

In other business the council discussed a proposed platte of the Farmer County Community Hospital property between the highway and the north end of the hospital.

This discussion arose after engineering error in the original platte had been discovered. The commission voted to allow the redrawing of the platte to include a 50 foot right of way street on the proposed 13th Street in place of the presently proposed 60 foot right of way street to take up the 10 foot error in the drawing.

Sophs Plan 'Blast' In Amarillo

BY LARRY ANTHONY

Vacation at last? No, the sophomores are going to have a party Saturday night at 6 p. m. at Amarillo. After some dispute about taking cars, they are going on the Rainbow bus. The girls battled for the bus, but the boys put up a fight for taking cars. Mrs. Rowlett informed the sophomores that they had to have an adult in each car because it will be a school sponsored party. There was some discussion about this, but they are going in cars.

Plans are to go to a nice, quiet, charming, non-expensive place to eat and then on to the show, which will be decided on after arrival in Amarillo.

BY JANETTE JOHNSON
 Congratulations are due the Friona Public Schools for their efforts in making the March of Dimes fund drive a huge success.

To begin the drive with a bang on January 22, the school faculty played a strenuous basketball game against the senior boys who do not regularly play the game. Although the faculty was evidently a "little out of practice" they once again out-foxed the seniors. Raising money from this project was brought about through the donations for admission by the students of the elementary schools.

Following the game, a Chinese cake auction was held between the four classes in high school. This was accomplished by throwing dimes into a container --one person from each class-- until a shot was fired. At that time the last one who had thrown a dime into the container secured the cake being auctioned for his class. At the final gun, the junior class had "bought" the largest number of cakes.

The elementary schools continued their drive throughout last week. Each student was asked to fill as many cards as possible with dimes for this worthy cause.

When the final results of this drive were tallied, it was found that the Friona Public Schools had raised $348.21 for the March of Dimes. Chairman of the drive would like to express his thanks to the students of Friona for splendid efforts to help those who need help so desperately.

To Be Or Not To Be-- Devotionals

"The thought for today is . . .", and the address system's voice faded. Morning devotional was over, but who noticed. Some students were visiting, others were looking over the text for today's lesson, some were copying their homework at the last minute. Scattered here and there throughout the classroom sat a few disgusted, disgruntled students. Disgusted? Why? Let's take Sam over in the last seat of the third row.

"What's wrong Sam? You look pretty burned up."

"I am pretty burned up! For nearly a month each morning I've tried to catch a few of the devotionals, but it seems there are a few loud mouths in the room, who think that's the only time they have to gab, so once again I've heard nothing, but a rumble from the inter-com beneath the roar of the students."

"Say, that's too bad. Don't the students like the devotionals, what's the trouble? Just plain rudeness?"

"It's rudeness all right, but more than that, they don't know whether they themselves like them or not. They've been too busy 'discussing.' I really think they'd enjoy them if they took the time to listen. Take Bob over there. He's a good fellow, but he likes to impress the girls, so he uses this few minutes for his 'impressment' service."

"I hear they are considering discontinuing the devotionals if the students don't want them. Is this true?"

"Yes, that's true. I hate to see them go, but I guess I'd get more out of class than our present devotionals. Speaking of class, here's Mr. Jeffers. Guess I'd better get busy. Say Ted, when you write the story about devotionals for your paper, would you ask the students to give them a chance. You know, they might just like them!"

"Will do, Sam. See you around. And thanks."

I sat down to write the story and something came to mind. Will Shakespeare said it, I believe. To be or not to be, that is the question. What's the answer to this question of devotionals? Do the students REALLY want them?

Squaws Take Dalhart For A Second Time

BY LUTHER METCALF

They've done it again! Jan. 29, the Squaws beat Dalhart for a second time in district play, the final score being 70 to 34. Friona guards held Dalhart down to 11 points in the first half and 23 in the second half. Duggin's sophomore guards played nearly all the second half and part of the first.

High scorer for the Squaws was Jacquelyn Magness with 23 points, followed by Charlotte Bock with 21, Richardson and Thompson were high for Dalhart with 16 points each. Three of the Squaws got 7 points each, they were Tommy Lewellen, Levada Hand, and Pam Roden.

The Friona Squaws also shot over Canyon, winning their fourth conference game. The Squaws beat Canyon on Canyon's home court, by a score of 59 to 36. The leading scorer was Charlotte Bock with 29 points, followed by Winn of Canyon with 16 points.

Friona's defense was working very well as they held Canyon down to 17 points in the first half and 19 in the second half. The second string got to play the fourth quarter, while the "A" team warmed the bench.

Sanders, Gee Hold Thespian Honors

BY DONNA FIELDS

Bob Sanders and James Gee, outstanding members of FHS, were honored by being elected first and second term All-Around Thespians, respectively. They were elected January 26, when the Thespians had their meeting.

After the business meeting was held, Mr. Cook took pictures of the group, officers, and Mrs. McClain, Bob, and James. Pictures were taken out in front of the building.

Seniors To Cast For Their 'Onions In The Stew'

BY CAROLYN WINES

After much debate and very good reviews by three prominent students of the senior class a play was finally selected. Chosen was "Onions in the Stew," a comedy in three acts. Playbooks arrived Monday and try-outs will be held in the near future. The class will present this play on two dates, March 3 and 4 have been selected as those presentation dates.

The stew begins as Betty MacDonald has talked her two attractive teen-age daughters and somewhat doubtful husband into sinking every cent they have in a home on an island in Puget Sound. As the unusual, and often uproarious, complications of island life begin to present themselves, the family murmurs, "C'est la guerre," and stares wistfully across the bay toward the lights of the big, comfortable city. On their first day, the tide comes in unexpectedly, finding half of their possessions on the beach. They catch a last glimpse of their washing machine bobbing out to sea. The two girls see their entire future--boy friends and all--drifting away like the washing machine. Everything Betty does to make this venture a success backfires on her. The results will have you in stitches, but they're no joke to Betty, now aghast at the difficulties of the project.

switching from hair curlers to hair straighteners, and always coming up with mysterious ailments to avoid homework--such as non-focusing eyes or aching toenails.

The problems of "dates" when you live on an island are so difficult that the girls decide that if they could live in the city again, they'd never come back--"not even if you slashed our wrists, beat us with steel cables and cut off our allowance." But these are not the only problems. Betty lists the things you have to accept: 1. Dinner guests are often still with you days later. 2. Sleeping in the lawn swing is fun if you remember the raccoons are just trying to be friends. 3. Any definite appointment automatically signals the ferry boats to stop running. 4. A telephone call from a relative beginning "Hello, dear, we've been thinking of you"--means you are going to get someone's children.

The complications develop, and the girls are now certain they are doomed to be spinsters and that their lives are ruined beyond repair. Betty is sunk--miserable at having brought this apparent disaster on them all. Yet in the midst of the humorous difficulties and despair, the family finds a special value in the life they are creating--a value they wouldn't trade for anything in the world. Come watch the seniors cast "Onions" in their stew.

Effort Successful For Friona MOD

Frionans dug down for a total of $608.61 for this year's March of Dimes campaign effort, announced Richard Collard, local chairman for the MOD.

Leading the field for contributions to the March of Dimes was the contributions collected at the Friona schools who placed over half of the total in the campaign.

The schools turned in a total of $348.71. This total includes the annual basketball game between the senior boys and the faculty; Chinese cake auction and the cards which were carried home by students in the elementary and grade schools.

The dimes contributed during the half day Coffee campaign accounted for a total of $59.91 and the Mother's March which was carried out by members of Boy Scout Troop 56 of Friona accounted for $107.34.

The Black community contributed $36.19 and the remainder of the money came from the Brownie Troop 358, MOD cannisters placed around town and the benefit basketball game.

"On behalf of the March of Dimes I want to extend my sincere thanks for all the help and the response made by the local campaign," says Chairman Collard.

Obituary

Arthur Owen (A. O.) Drake was born December 12, 1880, in Blockton, Iowa. He departed this life January 31, 1960, at his home in Friona, Texas, at the age of 79 years, one month and nineteen days. He was the second child and the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Drake of Blockton, Iowa.

He was married to Bessie Miller, of Mt. Ayr, Iowa, September 30, 1903. To this union six children were born: Mrs. Frances Howard of Aberrath, Texas, Mrs. Treva Reese of Canyon, Texas, Owen Miller Drake who gave his life for his country in France in 1944, Arthur Miller Drake of Friona, Texas, Pearl Alice Drake who died in June of 1929, and Earl Wesley Drake of Friona, Texas.

Mr. Drake moved, with his family, to Friona, Texas in February of 1909. He moved, with his family, to Black, Texas, in 1911, and resided there until 1919, when the family moved back to Friona. It was while the family was living in the Black community that both Mr. and Mrs. Drake confessed faith in the Lord Jesus Christ and united with the Methodist church.

Mr. Drake was a farmer and stockman for almost all of his life. In addition to these activities, he was a skilled craftsman. He was equally skillful as a carpenter, bricklayer, and interior decorator. He owned and operated first combine in Parmer county.

In addition to his wife and the children who survive him, Mr. Drake leaves to mourn his passing: one sister, Mrs. Florence Hughes of New Market, Iowa; one brother, Mr. Elbert Drake of Blockton, Iowa, ten grandchildren and three great grandchildren, together with an added host of relatives and friends. Two sisters and one brother preceded Mr. Drake in death.

Pallbearers were his six grandsons, Bailey Reece, Jimmy Reece, Josh Howard, Owen Wesley Drake, Larry Drake and Ted Reece.
