Ranchers Meet and Sign for 1938 Program; Committee Re-elected

Checks for Range Program Work to Be Distributed During December

Delegates Elected to District and State Meetings

A large group of Terrell county ranchers were in attendance at the meeting held Tuesday morning in the district court room, when the 1938 soil conservation program was discussed by county agent Ernest L. Williams. John Nichols, county commit- man, acted as chairman pro- tem, and called the meeting to order. Mr. Nichols read the let- ter to all ranchers in regard to the meeting and then asked for a permanent chairman be- lieved Ernest L. Williams was elected permanent chairman. The membership register was signed by more than 60 ranchmen declaring their intention to par- ticipate in the 1938 program. It is expected that many more will sign up before the deadline is an- nounced. The members present re-elected the 1937 committee to serve in 1938. This committee is com- posed of Joe Kerr, chairman; John Nichols, vice chairman, and W. Hardgrave, member. Hugh Brown and Joe F. Brown were elected alternate members of the committee. R. H. Martin was elected repre- sentative, and A. E. Creigh al- mate, to attend the meeting to be held in Austin Dec. 6, relative to drought relief rates. A district meeting of all county committeemen, county agents and clerks will be held in Big Spring December 10 and 11, for the pur- pose of discussing and learning the 1938 program. The members Tuesday's meeting asked the Terrell county committee to pre- sent a resolution to those present at the district meeting that pipe- lines, troughs, windmills, booster pumps, dirt tanks to be cleaned, rock and concrete reservoirs and cement headers be included in the 1938 soil conservation pro- gram. According to records in the of- fice of the county agent, around $7,218.04 has been earned by Terrell county ranchers up to the end of December in the 1937 soil conservation program. Several jobs are to be completed in December which will bring this total up to nearly $90,000.00 that has been spent. Checks to re- imburse ranchers in this program are expected early in January by Mr. Williams. All ranchmen who can be re- garded to use up their allotment for 1937 by December 31, other- wise it will revert to the govern- ment, Mr. Williams stated.

John Z. Means, 83, Pioneer of West Texas, Passes On

Funeral services were held Tuesday morning at the Bloys campmeeting grounds for John Zach Means, 83, trail blazer and pioneer cattleman of the Davis Mountains section. The Rev. George Truett, well-known Baptist pastor and evangelist, officiated at the services. Mr. Means died in an El Paso hospital Sunday morning of pneumonia. The veteran cattleman operated a large ranch near Valentine for several decades. He once owned and controlled, according to early cattlemen, 1000 square miles of country stretching from the Rio Grande to the Texas and Pacific Railroad, and also had holdings in New Mexico. He had long been identified with the Bloys campmeeting, and had part in holding the first session of the meeting. John Means was born in 1854, at old Fort McKavitt and came to the Davis Mountains 20 years later with George Evans. He is survived by four sons and three daughters. They are M. O., Sam, Huling and Cole; Mrs. E. L. Jones, Mrs. W. H. Browning and Mrs. Clyde Veltman.

Expenditures By WPA During Two Years Released

El Paso, Dec. 1.—Expenditures of $2,809,177 were made on Works Progress Administration projects in the 12 counties now adminis- tered from the El Paso office during the first two fiscal years of operation, it was disclosed to- day by J. P. Henderson, adminis- trative officer. Local political sub-divisions have expended $701,232, or 24% of the total on WPA projects. The federal government has con- tributed $2,107,944. Explaining that the amount of money ex- pended by WPA in each locality depends upon the number of the available certified workers, and upon the amount of money which can be provided by the sponsors of projects, Henderson listed ex- penditures of Terrell county, in the El Paso administrative area, as: WPA $18,228; and by the sponsors, $6,609.

Rules Governing Bird Hunters and Trappers

Sale of Christmas Seals Endorsed By the President

Washington, D. C.—Increased effort is needed to eliminate tu- berculosis from this country, President Roosevelt declared in his proclamation endorsing the Christmas Seals. Sale of seals started on Nov. 26 throughout the United States, Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico and will contin- ue until Christmas Day. More than 2000 state, county and city tuberculosis associations throu- out the country are supported by the income from the sales. The President's endorsement: "On Thanksgiving Day those well known harbingers of health, the colorful Christmas Seals, will again go on sale. For thirty years funds from the annual sale of the seals have been used in the na- tionwide campaign to cure and prevent tuberculosis. "Under the leadership of the National Tuberculosis Association state and local societies and com- mittees in all parts of the United States conduct organized health programs in all the communities in which the seals are sold. Free clinics, nursing service, tubercu- lin testing, X-raying, rehabilita- tion, medical and social research are among the health protection measures that Christmas Seals help to support. This splendid service must be continued with- out curtailment. We must wage with increased vigor our fight to eliminate this plague as one of the greatest foes to health. We must not in any way abate the fight against so appalling a scourge which claims a very large number of its vic- tims from our young people be- tween the ages of 15 and 30. A renewed and intensified program must be put into effect. Attention must be focused to protect the health of our young men and women whether in high schools and colleges or among skilled or unskilled industrial workers. We must guard with the utmost vigilance the health of all. "The aid of every American is needed in this cause. Tubercu- losis is everybody's problem. I therefore urge all to do their part generously in supporting the 31st annual Christmas Seal sale, to be carried on between Thanksgiving and Christmas."

Rifles, Regardless Of Caliber Barred In Duck Hunting

Duck and quail hunters are now afield, the duck season open- ed on November 27 and quail season was ushered in Wednes- day, December 1. Duck season will last through December 26, under both federal and state regulations. The quail season will last thru January 16. Duck hunters have a multitude of rules and regulations to re- member as a result of stringent federal supervision of the hunt- ing of migratory waterfowl.

Duck Rules

Among things to be remember- ed by duck hunters are these: Hours for shooting are 7 a. m. to 4 p. m. Bag limit is 10 ducks, five for geese and brandt. No gun larger than a No. 10 gauge shotgun may be used. If repeating shotguns are used they must be permanently plugged to a three-shell capacity. No rifle, regardless of caliber, may be used in hunting birds or waterfowl. Seven kinds of waterfowl may not be killed in Texas, according to federal regulations. They are Wood ducks, canvasbacks, ruddy ducks, redheads, buffleheads, swans, and Ross' geese. All ducks must be disposed of 10 days after the season closes. All hunters over 16 years of age must buy a federal duck stamp before hunting, and must carry the stamp with them. The stamps may be purchased at the post office.

State License
Hunters must also buy a $2.00 state hunting license if they go outside the county of residence. In 22 counties they must buy a license anyway because of the universal hunting and fishing li- cense law. In these counties they are exempt if they hunt on their own property or the property on which they reside. Dogs may be used to hunt ducks, but no sink-box, power- boat, sailboat, automobile or air- plane may be used. Live duck or goose decoys are prohibited, as is the attraction of waterfowl by scattering grain, produce, salt or other feed. Game department officials pre- dict the largest supply of water- fowl in many years, especially of the Black duck, teal, sprig and Mallard types.

Quail Rules

Quail hunters likewise have a multitude of things to remember, such as a bag limit of 12 per day and 36 per week, a three-shell limit for repeating shotguns, and the prohibition of the use of a gun larger than a 10-gauge.

Trapping Season

The general trapping season likewise opened on December 1, except for muskrats. Fur-bearers such as badger, civet cat, Mink, Fox, Opossum, polecat, raccoon, beaver and ring-tailed cat may be trapped during December and January in most counties. Trappers must buy an annual license at a cost of $1, while retail fur dealers and wholesale dealers must pay a $25 license fee. A dealer will be held responsi- ble if he purchases pelts or furs from any person not in possession of a trapper's license.

PARK DONATIONS TOTAL $90

After some delay a committee of Sanderson citizens finally got busy and, on Monday of this week, in a short time $90 was raised by J. W. Downum of the Kerr Hotel, toward the Big Bend National Park fund for this county. Other members of the committee who will solicit funds for the park include C. V. McKnight, W. J. Ferguson, Joe Nance and Clyde Griffith. The following business firms and citizens made contributions to the fund Monday afternoon: J. W. Downum $5, S. L. Stumberg $1, D. L. Duke $1, G. J. Henshaw

$1, Sanderson State Bank, $10, Hal J. Rowlett $1, Joe Kerr $25, Buster's Place $2, James Kerr $10, Kerr Mercantile Co. $10, F. M. Weigand $5, J. D. Nichols $5, Clyde Griffith $1, Lynn Harrell $1, Calvert Curry $1, Odus Wickliffe $5, B. H. Gifford $5, A. L. Boling $1. All citizens are urged to make a contribution to this fund, and even though they are not solicited they are asked to make a volun- tary contribution, which may be left with Clyde Griffith at the post office or with any of the other members of the committee.

It is to be hoped that Sanderson citizens will contribute to the fund and that we may be able to send in a good sum of money as a representative, for the Big Bend Park will benefit Sanderson in many ways, as this is the gateway to the park, and will certainly get its share of the tourist trade that will come through to visit the park. Mr. Downum and the other members of the committee are to be congratulated on the start they have made, and it is hoped that before another week a much larger sum will be contributed.

WEEKLY Health Letter

AVOID INFLUENZA

Austin.—Reports from widely separated parts of Texas to the state health department indicate that influenza is on the increase. Recent snows and colder weather account for the increase, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer.

Colds, grippe, influenza, or whatever we may call them, are believed to be spread from person to person through discharges from the nose and throat. To protect yourself and others from the discharges here are precautions to be followed:

Influenza is highly infectious, practically everyone is susceptible to it. No matter how many times you may have had the disease, you may contract it again. Therefore keep away from people who are sneezing, coughing, or sniffing, or who are actively ill with colds, influenza or pneumonia.

Keep away from crowded places. Have your own towel and individual drinking cup, and always wash your hand before eating.

Keep yourself as fit as possible. Drink plenty of water, eat simple nourishing food, exercise out of doors every day, dress according to the weather, and get plenty of sleep in a well ventilated room.

If you feel an attack of flu, or even what you may think is an ordinary cold, coming on, go to bed, send for your doctor and follow his directions. A cold can too easily develop into a fatal mistake.

"HUMAN CONDUIT"

By FLOYD GIBBONS Famous Headline Hunter

HELLO EVERYBODY! Philip J. Cavanagh of New York City is today's Distinguished Adventurer, and Phil says that adventuring taught him something that he had never even thought of before. "Life," he says, "is always hanging on a thread."

But life hanging on a thread has no terrors for Phil. He remembers the time when Death hung in the air, without any thread or anything else to keep it from coming down on himself and the crew of swell fellows he worked with. That was on the 23rd of December, 1908, when Phil, a foreman of pipe layers for the United Gas Improvement Co. was in Bay Shore, N. Y., helping to install additional plant equipment in the local gas works.

There were five other men in his crew, and their job was almost completed. The only thing left to be done was to break open the main gas line and cut in the conduits that they had laid during the past weeks. Before the job started Phil made an inspection of the valves to see that they were properly closed and that no gas was going through the main conduit where his men were getting ready to "open up."

He was Sure All the Valves Were Closed The valves were all shut tight. Phil would have been ready to swear to that. He gave the signal to his men to go to work, and he went out in the plant's yard to see to the hot lead that they'd be using to close up with. As he went back to the sub-cellar where the main line was located, he smelled gas coming up from below. That wasn't unusual. There was always some smell of gas around newly opened line. But at the same time Phil noticed that the color was ominously quiet. Something had gone wrong!

In two seconds Phil was through the trap door, and in another two seconds he was down in the sub-cellar. His fears were confirmed. On the ground around the newly made opening lay his crew, draped in all sorts of positions—and out cold. Somehow or other Phil got those men out of there. The engineer helped him, and so did a couple of men who were pulled by the plant. They dragged them out onto the snow-covered ground and there Phil left them in the care of the engineer. He would have liked to stay out there in the fresh, clean air himself, but for the adventure was just beginning. Somewhere in the plant, gas was still escaping. He had to find the leak before it welled up out of the sub-cellar and got into the rest of the plant.

One Spark and All Would Be Off Inside the plant Phil headed for that row of valves again. The trouble must be there. It couldn't be anywhere else. "I tried one of those valves," he said, "but they were all turned as far as they would go. In desperation I tried them again and again. I believe I tried them at least a hundred times, and as far as I could see one of them was closed tight.

"Yet the gas was pouring out so fast that I could see the gauge of the storage tank dropping lower and lower. I prayed fervently that the firemen who were attending to the boilers would not have occasion to open the fire doors. For by that time the gas was up in the main part of the plant, and if one spark of flame got to it we would all be blown to atoms."

And in the meantime, Phil was swallowing a lot of gas. He was groggy, and getting groggy with every minute as he moved from one valve to another trying to find which one was letting loose the flow that was poisoning the air he breathed.

He could have saved himself by leaving his job and getting out in the air—but no such thought ever entered his head. Other men were in danger, and any minute now the gas might get into the boilers and let loose a terrible blast of flame. He stuck to his post still trying one valve after another, until finally he dropped.

Desperate Battle to Remain Conscious As Phil fell he reached one hand out instinctively and curled it around a valve stem. Phil doesn't know why he did that, except that it was comforting to have something to cling to and it gave him some small sense of protection. The hand slid down the valve to the floor, and as it did, one finger struck on something—the head of a nail! Dazed as he was, Phil's mind told him that the nail shouldn't be there. With a struggle he opened his eyes—and what was causing all the trouble. The nail-head lay between the floor and the bottom of the valve-stem, keeping it from going all the way down—making the valve seemed closed when it was really part way open.

The next few minutes saw a strange battle—the battle of mind to keep consciousness while faltering hands opened the valve, brushed away the nail-head and closed the valve again. Phil did that—and then he passed out. The cutting in job was finished when Phil finally came to. The men, brought back to consciousness, had gone right to work and completed the job, for gas lines have to be kept in service no matter what happens. But there might have been no gas at all in the town of Bay Shore that day if Phil hadn't given the world a fine example of good, old-fashioned sticking to the job.

O. K. Road Show, 'The Last Gangster' Princess Tonight—Premier Attraction

You've seen so many pictures that told of the crime that led to the arrest and punishment of a criminal. You've had many pictures that had to do with mobs, gangs and rackets.

take the trail, Big Shot becomes the hunted, and his every minute is filled with a just fear—for when a man is really wanted, the agencies of the federal government never quit the trail—they get their man!

It is entirely different from any other gang picture you've ever seen. In their own territory the big shot gangster has things his own way. With his money and the influence he has over ten of thousands of people—through fear—he is a power in politics.

They get him in "The Last Gangster," a role superbly portrayed by Edward G. Robinson, the screen's peer in portraying big shot gangsters. The picture takes you to the department of justice, where the G-men, for the moment baffled, plan a campaign and finally emesh the king pin in a series of federal offenses, and he finds he cannot "dodge the rap," either by bribery and thru sheer bravado.

Still farther back, in 1921, the disheartening tabulation had reached between 100 and 200 a month. Pattie Jo Robertson brought a new plant for the room. Joe Neil Brown was absent on Monday.

Second Grade News
Clyde Frost made a trip to San Antonio.

Lowell Jessup has been bringing his football to school. Mrs. Courtney visited our room last Tuesday.

Emma Lee Ware is beginning to like our class.

Jeanette Cobb and Avis McDonald cleaned our blackboard.

Mrs. Chastain and Mrs. Stirman brought Edward's birthday cake to school.

Edward blew out the candles on his cake and then passed napkins, cake and punch to all his classmates. Of course, the class sang "Happy Birthday." Mary Agnes led the song.

Sixth Grade Items
The sixth grade presented the assembly program on November 24. It consisted of two poems, three piano solos, and a short Thanksgiving play.

The poems were read by Janice White and James O'Connor; those playing piano solos were Margaret Pierson, Edna Mae McAdams and Kathryn Nell Nance. The cast of the play included James House, Joe Bean, W. T. Frazier, Bill Davis, James Blackwelder, Mary Corder, Carolyn Bodkin, Betty Hurst, Margaret Yeates, M. G. Northcut and Bill Cochran. Don Allen was announcer.

Several parents of sixth grade children attended the program.

Morgan Attended State Convention

Bernie Morgan, principal of the Sanderson grammar school, accompanied by Mrs. Morgan, visited friends in Houston last week and while there attended the annual session of the Texas State Teachers Association. He reported that thousands of teachers were in attendance and that some of the meetings were especially interesting. Superintendent R. H. Brister of the Waco public schools was elected president of the association for the ensuing year, and Dallas was chosen as the place of meeting in 1938.

While in Houston Mr. and Mrs. Morgan also attended the Baylor-Rice football game. They returned home Sunday.

ATTENDANCE AVERAGE 97 PER CENT IN HIGH SCHOOL

According to figures on record in the office of Principal Duane Smith the attendance of pupils in S. H. S. is 97% for the first three months of this term which ended on Thanksgiving Day. This is a high attendance record.

The attendance records show that the aggregate absence of pupils in high school has been only 154 days.

The total number of students enrolled in high school this year is 104, with 94 now in attendance. The total enrollment in the high school last year was 94.

EX-STUDENTS

The following were freshman in 1930: Beas McAdams, Marybelle O'Bryant, Maybelle Schuppach, Viola Keene, Dolores Gonzales, Carl Keene, Edwin Jones, M. A. Perry, Robert Allen Owen, Earl Lee Hardgrave, Fayette Shelton, James Haley, Frank Robey, and Jerry White.

Terrell county has 718 scholastics enumerated on the county record for 1937-38.

Basketball Will Open Tonight Double-Header

The Sanderson high school boys open the 1937-38 basketball season tonight in the high school gym when they meet Marathon at 7 o'clock and Fort Stockton at 8 o'clock. Coach Caraway has been working with the boys since November 11, and reports that there are some twenty boys now reporting for practice.

Admission prices for the games will be 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for school pupils.

The probable starting lineup against Marathon will be Campbell Kerr, W. C. Davis, J. Glenn, Angel Coronado and Manuel Ochoa.

The probable starting lineup in the game with Fort Stockton will be Weigand, Druse, Fierro, Robert Lochausen, and H. Lewellen or K. Litton.

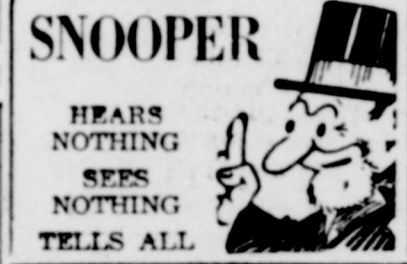

Other boys who will probably see service on the court tonight are Roger Bassett, Allen Hardgrave, D. Allen, J. O'Bryant, M. Bodkin, E. Hurst, Len Haynes, Bill Cargile and M. Davis.

Students Hit and Miss Their Deer

Many of the high school students have been out this year in search of the wary deer. But the deer need not have much fear, because out of the whole mob of high school hunters who went there has been only 4 killed, and whether this was due to the scarcity of deer or the inability of the lads to send their pellets true to the nirod is not known.

Here is a final checking of those who "did" and those who "did not".

Hicks Canon 1, Gene McSparran 1, Wilton Dishman 1, David Allen 1, Lee McSparran 0, Prince Dishman 0, Dick Mussey 0, Robert Lochausen 0.

Harry Lewellen took Elizabeth Brown to a dance at Wesley Lochausen's Saturday night. The point is: Where was Troy Druse?

Robt. Lochausen has been giving Miss Halley a big rush. Be careful, Robert.

Mary Beth Banner seemed to have a good time with a boy who came home from college during the holidays.

We wonder why Ethel Laura called off a date with Bud Black.

Have you noticed Helen Turner's (should I say "Black Eye")? From the looks of it you would think something was very complicating, but really it was nothing but a little knock in volleyball.

From a very dependable source we hear that Lorene Ross is going to get married in a short time. What do you say, Miss Ross?

DRYDEN SCHOOL NEWS

Edith Washburn, Charles Hill, Edward Tuffy and Jimmy Merritt have not been absent during the first three months of school.

Merlin Neatherlin has been absent because his uncle has been ill.

Iraan Wins Title In District 8B

Iraan high school last week defeated Marfa by a score of 25 to 6, to decide the championship of District 8B in football. Iraan was declared winner in the north zone after McCamey was removed from the race by the district committee. This win over Marfa gives Iraan the right to meet the Wink team in a bi-district game this week.

THE GRIDIRON OF LIFE

First Down—100 Years to Go

Everybody knows what a football gridiron looks like. It is 100 yards from goal line to goal line and 160 feet wide, with white lines running across the field, 10 yards apart. Suppose this field should fade out, as scenes do in the cinema, and in its place there appeared a field representing 100 years of human existence with white cross lines 10 feet apart. On one goal line picture 100,000 white males born at approximately the same time whose destiny it is to travel down this field toward the goal line a century away. How many of them will reach it?

Many will drop out right at the start, 5,821 during the first year of life; 89,980 will reach the 20-year line—or rather the 20-year line. 83,259 will reach the 40-year line—a goodly number. But now they will start to drop out faster, 76,277 will gain the center of the field. 63,812 will still be in the game at the 60-year line, and 17,722 at the 80. At the 80-year line 2,344 heroes will still be carrying on, heading for the mark ten years away. But when that 100-year line is reached only 22 will answer "Here."

What has happened as these men have been battling their way down this field? We note the great numbers that dropped out between the 40 and 70-year line; 6,982 between the 40 and 50; 12,465 between 50 and 60; and 20,656 between the 60 and 70—a total of 40,103 between the ages of 40 and 70. This part of the field represents the most productive, useful and worthwhile years of life when a man's business and family responsibilities are greatest and when his loss means so much to others. It is in this section of the field, perhaps that periodic health examinations could show the most valuable returns, if these men would only take time out once a year and get examined. At present only a surprisingly small percentage of them do.—How to Live.

To Conduct Ten-Day School For Peace Officers

Austin.—Ten days of schooling in the modern methods of crime detection will be opened to Texas peace officers on December 6th, when the department of public safety inaugurates its first invitational training school at Camp Mabry, near Austin.

Col. H. H. Carmichael, public safety director, announced plans for the school in invitations sent to every enforcement agency in the state, urging them to register delegates for the varied courses of study.

The state police director named Capt. Homer Garrison, Jr., assistant safety director and veteran police training instructor, as supervisor of the school. Twenty-six outstanding crime detection specialists from Texas, other states, and federal bureaus have been chosen as instructors.

"We have obtained the services of the best instructors available to give peace officers of Texas an opportunity to become versed in scientific and modern methods of enforcement," Col. Carmichael said. "Science is playing an important part in the apprehension and conviction of modern criminals."

The studies will include criminal investigations, identification, police communication, criminal evidence and procedure, firearms, automobile theft, first aid, control of strikes and mobs, public relations, co-ordination of law enforcement, extradition of criminals, and instruction in the operations of federal and state enforcement agencies.

Actual crime scenes will be reenacted and studied, Capt. Garrison stated.

Expense Checks In Soil Program Are About Due

College Station.—The Texas Agricultural Conservation Committee expects payments under the 1937 Agricultural Conservation program to start after the first of December, according to Geo. Slaughter, Wharton, chairman of the group.

The committee, in the course of its monthly meeting at Texas A. & M. college, indicated that most of the payments would be made in December, January and February.

"The State AAA office at College Station is equipped to check applications and to pass them on to the general accounting office at the rate of some 3000 a day," Slaughter said. "This means that the limiting factor in paying the farmers and ranchmen is the number of applications which we receive from the counties."

No payments can be made to any county until it has sent in at least 75 per cent of its total applications, according to Slaughter. This minimum has been set as the lowest figure from which the county expenses of administering the program can be calculated. The county expenses are deducted from the payments.

The committee took steps to urge counties to send in their applications for payments as soon as possible. Meanwhile the committee pointed out that ranchers had until December 31 to earn payments under the 1937 program by carrying out any of the range-building practices.
