As we came of age, we began to notice things and one of the indelible quotes which we still hear today became imprinted on our minds . . . the "Roaring Twenties" for instance.

As we leave the 50's and move on to the space filled 60's perhaps the era between 1950 and 1960 may best be recalled as the Age of the Quick Buck.

Yes, this is the age which spawned the era of the Washington Mink Coats which covered the Democrats and Vicuna Coats which heralded the beginning of the end for the Republican era in power . . . yes, and the age of the TV Quiz Scandals. Teapot Dome had its day, and so did the $64,000 Question.

Is our nation really so far gone as to muck under to some quick advertising scheme?

It would seem that we are pretty far down the road. But, as an individual who makes his living peddling advertising the gimmicks and shoddy dealing of today's "space seller" (and we aren't referring to any Cape Canaveral caper) is at an all-time high.

It has gotten to be that you can't believe anything you hear, read or half you see these days where advertising is concerned. Back in the early days of newspapering the patent medicine ads heaped in the era of modern day advertising . . . but they too got too big for their britches and Grandpa revolted. They disappeared from the pages of the newspapers and as newspapers went into the crawling stage and advanced into early adolescence the "so called modern" advertising came into being.

Through the 20's, 30's and the bustling post World War II days advertising hit its stride. But then, with all the time-worn gimmicks and jimcracks exhausted, the shoddy, fool-the-public type of advertising was born.

Some people say it was born, personally we think at times perhaps it was found under a rock.

But it has progressed until today, you wonder if you can believe anything at all.

As we step from 1959 to 1960 we hope that all the folks that are responsible for this clutter will shed their skins and turn over a new leaf and return advertising to the rightful owners -- the reading and buying public.

We believe that the term "moral decay" is just a dodge, and that deep down most folks still take these highly flying ads for what they are -- a bunch of crap!

We are besieged every week with letters and insertion orders for ads which in our minds tend to mislead our readers.

We aren't saying we are perfect, but still we try to maintain the idea that our pages are reserved for the legitimate advertiser, and that our readers

Ground Covered To Depth Of 8 Inches In Friona

Weather forecasters blew out their brains Tuesday morning when they woke up and found that their "just a few flakes" predictions had turned into, well as we go to press we don't know what it may turn into, what may be quite a snowstorm before it is spent.

The white flakes began falling about midnight Monday night in Friona and when the first early risers got up Tuesday morning the ground was completely covered with the drifting dry snow still coming down strong.

At this time Buddy Lloyd, manager of the Friona Consumers and our local weather recorder said he took a reading in their rain gauge which showed .56 moisture at that time which was about 7:30 a. m. Tuesday.

This moisture total when transferred to dry snow the like of which fell during the night reflects an estimated 5 inches of snow.

The Star tried to get reports from all over this area as to weather conditions late Tuesday night, but due to telephone lines still down in many rural areas the report is sketchy.

However, Tuesday morning Ira Holt, who works for Friona Consumers says he delivered butane in the area of the Sachs farm in the Rhea Community and according to the snow on the ground at that time that area was not as deep, nor receiving the heavy snows which were falling in the area surrounding Friona when he left.

W. D. Buske, who drove to his cattle north of Bootleg near the Walcott School in Deaf Smith county reported that snows in that area weren't as bad as around town either.

Hap Fairchild, who farms south and east of Friona said the snows in his area were lighter than in town also.

C. W. Tannahill, who farms 8 miles east of Friona reported that the snow at his place was about like town with drifts in the yard and around the barns and equipment. He reported that his utilities were still in service and his phone has been working since last Thursday and the stock were weathering the storm in fine shape.

Most of the service stations in Friona spent the morning dragging customers from their driveways and replacing spent batteries.

No serious damage from the heavy snow has been reported to the Friona Police Department according to Ben Moorman, chief of police, although his department had been busy aiding motorists on Highway 60 throughout the day.

In other reports south of Friona, Homer Lindeman, who farms east of the Hub three miles says that the snow in his general area is about the same as town with "about seven or eight inches" on the ground on the fields.

"This will probably stop all field work for another three weeks, to a month," he estimated.

Coin Boxes Out For MOD

Parmer County's 1960 March of Dimes campaign is underway. Distribution of coin collectors throughout the county has been completed, announces Cary Joe Magness, county chairman of the drive.

This is part of the National Foundation's appeal to raise funds to prevent crippling polio, birth defects, and arthritis.

More than 200 coin collectors were placed in businesses in the county by community chairman, Magness says. The March of Dimes drives, as usual, will last throughout January.

The brightly-covered coin collectors consist of a cylinder and an attached card which carries a photograph of a girl which symbolizes a victim of crippling.

"These coin collectors give all of us a personal way to participate in The National Foundation's program against birth defects, arthritis and polio," Magness points out.

Funds collected during the drive will support a program of medical research, patient aid and professional education aimed at eliminating the tragedy and heartbreak that result from these three major crippers.

The National Foundation realizes the job is a big one, but points to the case of Salk vaccine as proof that success is possible with liberal public support.

Parmer County has always contributed more money than has been needed here. "However, that's the way we want the situation to be and that money will always be available to us when and if we do need it."

Pheasant Talks Slated

Interest in stocking Parmer County with pheasants continues to increase, reports Al Derby of Bovina who is helping to push the proposed program. A meeting of people interested in the idea will be Thursday night in American Legion Hall in Bovina. Meeting time is 7:30.

"The purpose of the meeting will be to tell facts about the program," Kerby says, "not to push it. We don't want pheasants here if a majority of the people don't."

There's a possibility that pheasants won't stay in Parmer County because of a lack of cover. However, backers of the plan think the chance is worth taking.

E. G. Phipps Asks For Re-election

Magness points out. Community activities across the county are increasing under the direction of community chairman.

E. G. Phipps of Friona has announced his candidacy for re-election of county commissioner, Precinct 1, of Parmer County this week.

Phipps, who has served in this office since his election in 1956 has authorized Parmer county newspapers to make the following announcement subject to the Democratic Primary Election slated for May 7.

"In making my announcement I want to thank the citizens of Precinct 1, and of Parmer county, for their cooperation during my term of office as commissioner.

"If elected I will continue to carry out the duties of county commissioner to the best of my ability and pledge the continuance of unselfish service and fair treatment to all.

"Your support and influence will be greatly appreciated."

Friona Youth Speeds, Flips New Years

A 20-year-old Friona man, Billy Wayne Dennis, pled guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated, in County Judge Loyde A. Brewer's court Monday, and was fined $100 and costs.

His arrest was the aftermath of a chase with Friona police, during which he turned his car over. The episode occurred early New Year's Day about 6 a. m. west of Friona on Highway 60. Bill Morgan of the Friona police department was pursuing the car when Dennis lost control and turned over.

The car came to rest on its wheels, however, and was able to continue on its own power.

No injuries resulted from the wreck, although three other young persons were in the car with Dennis at the time. The Highway Patrol investigated the accident.

The DWI charge was in addition to a charge of speeding, to which Dennis also pled guilty. He appeared in Friona JP court to face this offense, and was fined $50.

Squaws Fall To Claude

Dropping the championship game by only four points to the Claude-Girls, the Friona Squaws took second place honors in the North Plains Invitational tournament held in Claude Thursday, Friday and Saturday. This was the first loss in tournament play for the Squaws in the past three seasons.

The Squaws started tournament play against Gruver and came out on top in that contest by a score of 52 to 42, but the 10 point margin doesn't indicate the close game it was. The score at the end of the first quarter was 11 for the Squaws and nine for Gruver.

During the second quarter of play the Squaws managed to maintain their slim lead as the score at halftime was 25 for Friona and 19 for Gruver.

In the third quarter, the Gruver girls tied the Squaws as each team scored 14 points to allow the Friona team to hold on to their six point lead. In the fourth the Squaws once again outscored Gruver as the final margin of victory was 10 points.

The final was 52 for Friona and 42 for Gruver.

High scorer for the Squaws was Jacquelyn Magness who had 22 points followed by Charlotte Bock who had 17 points.

Pits, Bonds, Petitions Keep Council Busy

Opening the 1960's with a four-hour-long session, members of the Friona city council met in the city hall Monday night and discussed various problems facing the city for the new year.

Ed Franklin, of Dittmar & Company, spoke briefly to the council after having been in town Monday setting up the closing proceedings of the bond issue which should be closed sometime this week.

Franklin outlined the plans for the bond's retirement and told of the progress made in getting the money for the city as a result of last year's bond issue.

"All we are waiting on is the Attorney General and that is normally only a routine matter," Franklin told the council.

Following Franklin's report the council opened bids on the two new pits to be dug at the dump ground.

Three bids were received, but following a long discussion of the problems at the dump ground the council asked the Lewellen Bros. of Friona if they would accept the job on their low bid which was given back in December but rejected in order to study the problem in another way.

The Lewellen Bros. had originally bid $1,800 for two 250x20x50 pits to be dug at the dump ground.

Telling the council that if the services of the county maintainer could be had, according to a report by Commissioner E. G. Phipps, they would accept the job.

In addition to the Lewellen Bros., bids were received from R. Jacobs of Hereford and A. L. Logan of Friona.

The Lewellen Bros. reported that they would begin work on the pit as quickly as weather permits.

Clifford Crow of Friona presented a petition to the council concerning the rezoning of blocks 84 and 85 in the original township of Friona. Crow's petition, which was signed by seven property owners interested in the rezoning of the property in question, read as follows:

If the wind doesn't get up, much benefit will be derived from moisture being received. One of the new magazines carried an article about a gadget that we sure want when one is available. Think the concern developing this particular gadget hasn't decided on a name for it yet, but it turns noise into electric power which can be used for heating purposes. Reportedly the noise in any household will be sufficient to generate heat enough to keep the house warm. All the bugs haven't been worked out yet, but our guess is that one of the biggest problems will be taking care of the excess noise. At our house at times we'd have to open all the doors and windows when the outside temperature was below freezing. On the surface, though getting warm should be simple enough. The Hansford Plainsman is one of the newest weekly newspapers in the Panhandle. Burl McClellan, formerly a member of Cotton John's staff, is the editor, and is putting out a paper the residents of Spearman and Hansford County can be proud of. Apparently Ricky Johnson, young son of the Truett Johnsons, has been excluded from several things he felt were important since Tony, newest addition to the family, was born. One day last week Mrs. Johnson mentioned that the following day it would be necessary to take Tony back to the hospital for a check-up since he would be six weeks old. Ricky inquired whether Tony was having a birthday. His mother tried to explain the situation to him, but he was sure Tony would be having a birthday, so rather than argue the point she agreed with him. After firmly establishing the fact that Tony would have a birthday, Ricky said, "Well, can I come?" Many Friona residents will remember Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Cummings of Panhandle, who formerly lived here. This

The recent death of Federal Judge James V. Allred removed from the stage of public affairs the most colorful figure of his generation in Texas. The former district attorney, attorney general and governor was a marvelous campaigner, man-to-man and, in his era, was without a peer on the stump. It was my privilege to hear him many times and he was always eloquent and clever--equal to any situation.

When he was running for governor in 1934, I traveled in his campaign party for more than two weeks as a newspaper correspondent and none of the writers ever wearied of his speeches. Even though they covered largely the same ground each time, he was able to impart a sparkle and a freshness. An audience to him was an inspiration and it was a joy to hear him.

Judge Allred had a keen sense of humor and a spirit of fun. While he was governor, he was on the program of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention in Plainview. A group of newspapermen called on him in his suite and he asked, "What would you suggest I talk about?" Each of us in turn offered suggestions. He listened attentively, thanked us, and when he made his speech, never touched on a single subject we had mentioned! (He already had his address in mind of course when he asked for suggestions.)

In 1942, Judge Allred ran for the United States Senate and this columnist was a candidate for lieutenant governor. Each of us closed our campaign in Marine Park in Fort Worth. I was to speak until he arrived. When he got there I was in the middle of my remarks and he told the chairman, "Let him go on." The audience of 5,000 was proving very responsive--(after all, this was my home town). After six minutes more, my vigorous speechifying closed to cheer and a great honking of car horns. Allred strode across the platform, the first to shake my hand.

Some years later, when I spoke to the Houston Central Lions Club, Judge Allred conferred great honor by introducing me. Not long afterward, he and Mrs. Allred entertained the members of the couples Bible class which he was the teacher with. In the yard of their beautiful home in Houston, he had invited me to speak and, as the Lions Club speech had closed with a poem on Merriam cemetery, "the cemetery that was not for sale," I use a different selection in order to spare the judge a second hearing.

At the conclusion, he expressed thanks, then added "But I'm disappointed." No doubt, I looked dismayed. After a pause, he said, "Yes I'm disappointed because our visitor didn't tell us the story about the cemetery during the Ranger boom. Won't you give us that one, too?" (Of course it was done.) For all his dramatic fervor when addressing a crowd, Judge Allred was modest. Only a few weeks after he had been nominated for governor, I saw him in Fort Worth, seated alone at the counter of the Texas Hotel coffee shop. And shortly before the date of his inauguration, I saw him one night strolling alone, looking in Fort Worth store windows. When I stopped to chat, he spoke, half-rueful of the host of office-seekers he had been encountering. As time passes, men we tell and re-tell stories about him: how, because of principle he gave up a lifetime position as federal judge to make a run for the United States Senate. How, in one campaign, he realized, after the first primary that his choice for governor had no chance but he refused to leave the sinking ship a campaigner even more valiant for a hopeless cause; how, governor, he challenged me

Some years later, when I spoke to the Houston Central Lions Club, Judge Allred conferred a great honor by introducing me. Not long afterward, he and Mrs. Allred entertained the members of the couples Bible class of which he was the teacher with a barbecue in the yard of their beautiful home in Houston. He had invited me to speak and, as the Lions Club speech had closed with a poem on Merriman cemetery, "the cemetery that was not for sale." I used a different selection in order to spare the judge a second hearing.

At the conclusion, he expressed thanks, then added, "But I'm disappointed." No doubt, I looked dismayed. When I stopped to chat, he spoke, half-ruefully, of the host of office-seekers he had been encountering.

As time passes, men will tell and re-tell stories about him: how, because of principle, he gave up a lifetime position as federal judge to make a race for the United States Senate; how, in one campaign, he realized, after the first primary, that his choice for governor had no chance but he refused to leave the sinking ship and campaigned even more valiantly for a hopeless cause; how, as governor, he challenged millions of dollars in his fight for the repeal of racehorse betting. And in time, too, legend will interweave with fact and there will be such incidents told as the occasion when the young candidate, seeing a cemetery working in progress, stopped and introduced himself. Invited to speak, he knew that anything political would be inappropriate and so he gave an extemporaneous address upon Texas and its pioneers, their courage, their sacrifices and the eternal happiness which now was theirs, and the tears flowed down the faces of the stalwart farmers and of their sun-bonneted wives.

Each person who knew him has individual memories of the brave, silver speech, crusading spirit and the winning personality of James V. Allred.

We've known for a long time most farmers didn't know one hour what they'd be doing the next, but think James Procter carries the idea farther than anyone we know.

On a Monday recently we ran onto James in the post office and inquired about his forthcoming move. Very emphatically we were informed, "I'm not about to move until after the first of the year."

After explaining to him we'd be most anxious to move into a new house if we had one, we went on our way.

About noon Tuesday the Procter's car passed right in front of us near the highway. It was mud-spattered until it was hardly recognizable. A little while later someone said, "Did you know James and Sue are moving today in spite of the sloppy weather?"

Maybe James decided it would be simpler to move than to try to get along during a spell of bad weather without any electricity or water.

As one farmer put it, "We may not know what we're going to do from one day to the next, but there's never a dull moment."

THE FRIONA STAR

SECTION II

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES HOUGH

Luann Hardesty Becomes Bride Of Charles Hough

Miss Luann Hardesty daughter of Wesley Hardesty of Friona, became the bride of Charles David Hough in a formal ceremony Sunday afternoon December 27 at the First Baptist Church. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Hough, also of Friona.

The double ring ceremony was read by Rev. Jim Reid, student pastor of Wayland Baptist College at Plainview. He was assisted by Rev. A. L. Sartain, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Friona.

Two superb arrangements of white chrysanthemums, mums, and greenery tied with white satin bows were placed against a background of two candelabras holding fourteen white cathedral tapers at the altar.

Mrs. Roy Miller, organist and Miss Neida Douglas, pianist, played traditional wedding selections. Suzanne Taylor sang "I Love You Truly," "Because," and "The Wedding Prayer."

Mrs. James Smith of Fluvanna, Texas, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Her sheath dress was of azure blue velvet featuring the boat neckline. Her velvet headress and tulle nose veil were of matching blue. She carried a mum nosegay. Misses Elaine Holcomb, Mary Ann Stacy, and Winette Beaton were bridesmaids. They wore identical ensembles to the one worn by the matron of honor.

Misses Patsy Hough, sister of the groom, and Donna Baker, the candle lighters, wore blue silk organza dresses with fitted bodices, balloon sleeves and bouffant skirts with white mum corsages. Miss Janice Baldwin, flower girl who wore a matching dress of silk organza was escorted down the aisle by Master David Sanders the ring bearer.

Gary Sherrieb was best man and groomsmen were Dan Kelly III of Tucumcari, New Mexico, Larry Jo Moyer, and Jimmy White.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length traditional bridal gown of chantilly lace and tulle net, designed with fitted lace bodice and lace overskirt dramatizing the full-gathered tulle skirt. The long sleeves tapered to points over her hands. The

V neckline was dotted with iridescent sequins. Her finger tip veil of illusion was offset by a tiara cascade of white mums atop a white Bible. In keeping with the tradition of something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue the bride wore pearls, a gift from the groom, a watch which belonged to her mother, blue garters, a wedding gift, and tiara borrowed from Mrs. Judy Watson.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlor. The table was laid with a hand crocheted table cloth belonging to the maternal grandmother. Mrs. Leon Coffey of Snyder, Texas sister of the bride served the wedding cake, and Mrs. Joe Pattie of Amarillo presided at the punch bowl. Miss Jacquelyn Magness registered the guests.

Mrs. Hardesty wore a royal blue silk nylon dress with satin trim. Mrs. Hough, mother of the groom, wore a blue nylon lace over taffeta cinched at the waistline by a two-tone blue cummerbund of satin. Each wore a corsage of white carnations.

The bride chose for her traveling costume a blue fitted suit with black accessories, and a white mum corsage. After a wedding trip to South Texas the couple will be at home in Friona.

Coffee Fetes Recent Bride

A combination coffee and kitchen shower in the George Taylor home Saturday morning of last week honored Luann Hardesty, who became the bride of Charles Hough Sunday evening.

Hostesses were Suzanne Taylor and Winette Beaton. Following the presentation of kitchen gadgets, refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Those present were Mrs. Wesley Hardesty, mother of the honoree; Mrs. Spencer Hough, mother-in-law of the honoree; Mrs. C. R. Powell of Walters, Okla., grandmother of the groom;

Also Mrs. Leon Coffey of Snyder, sister of the bride; Mrs. Estes Beaton, Mrs. George Taylor, Patsy Hough, Donna Baker, Jacquelyn Magness, Neida Douglas and the honor guest.

Relatives Visit In Douglas Home

Weekend guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe B. Douglas, Neida and Royce, were Mr. and Mrs. Dean Collins and children of Eastland; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Helmer of Portales and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Watson of Hitchcock, S. Dak. Mrs. Collins, Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Douglas are sisters. Mrs. Watson is a niece of Mrs. Douglas.

Life would be more sensible if people were more sensible.

Jones-Day Families Have Annual Gathering

Mr. and Mrs. Cayson Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Jones and Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Day Sr. were hosts at the annual Jones-Day family get together at the Friona club house Saturday evening.

Barbecue beef, potato salad, brown beans, hot rolls, pie and fruit salad were served by the host couples. Alvis Day of Clovis and Sam Jones of Friona presented violin and guitar music. After a group singing session, games were played.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cantrell of White Deer; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Brown and Howard Wayne and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Langford of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Emmett R. Day Jr., Debbie and

Dannie and Mr. and Mrs. Jess F. Jones of Lubbock; Also Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Wall, Vicky and Woody of Roswell; Mr. and Mrs. Alvis Day and Mr. and Mrs. Scott Day of Clovis;

Also the following Frionans: Mr. and Mrs. David C. Hester, Terry and Tony; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Day, Myra Sue, Dianne and Teena Galt; Mr. and Mrs. Jack London and Rhonda; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Bandy, Clay and Johnny;

Also Mr. and Mrs. John Terry, Mitch and Randy; Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Hughes, Pauletta and Renee; Mrs. T. B. Armstrong; Mrs. Lucy Jones, Mrs. P. W. Hughes; and Mrs. Vera Day and Jerry.

Karl Benders Visit Relatives

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Bender spent several days during the holidays visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Weis at Crescenta, Calif. They also visited their daughter, Denise, who is in nursing training at Glendale.

The Benders were accompanied to the West Coast by Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Weis of Cleburne. The group returned to Friona late last week.

Small fry chit-chat overheard in the schoolyard after the holidays:

"Didja go out of town for Christmas vacation?"
"Nope, I stayed home. I had a job, though."
"A job? Doin' what?"
"I got 50 cents a week from Mommy, not to play my new drums."

Former Frionans Have Babies

Births of three baby girls to former residents of Friona recently have been reported to the Star office.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Johnson of Pampa became parents of a baby girl November 22. She was named Susan Beth and is the first child for the couple.

Grandparents of Susan Beth are Mr. and Mrs. Dan Johnson of Lefors and the late Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Moody. Mrs. Johnson is the former Jo Moody and is a niece of Mr. and Mrs. David Moseley.

Tammy Kay is the name Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Mings of Happy chose for the baby girl born to them at the Deaf Smith County Hospital in Hereford at 7:49 a. m. Tuesday of last week.

She weighed 6 lbs. 10 1/2 ozs. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Dement and Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Mings all of Friona. She is the first child for the couple.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Buske of Abernathy became parents of a baby girl born December 24. She weighed 7 lbs. 2 ozs. and was named Debra Kay. Mrs. Florence Buske of Friona is the paternal grandmother. Debra Kay is the second child for the Buskes.

Renners Return From California

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Renner Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Renner returned Sunday night after visiting relatives in California. The Rudolph Renners accompanied their son, Delmar, and his wife and son to the West Coast early in December.

During their stay they visited in the homes of Mrs. Renner's sisters, Mrs. Larry Holiday and Mrs. Mike Jorox of Ontario and Mrs. L. C. Ainsworth of Banning.

The Lee Renners visited Mrs. Renner's sister and other relatives then the entire group returned together. Delmar Renner, who has been stationed at Pensacola, Fla. is currently stationed at San Diego and lives at La Mesa.

A robust matron dressed in a gaudy purple dress asked a fashion expert, "What colors do you think I should wear?" The expert looked at her. Then he diplomatically looked away.

"Madam," he said, "when God created butterflies, He made them with brilliant colors. But when He made the elephant, in His wisdom, He made it gray."

Frionans Go Skiing

Four carloads of Frionans and their guests left early last Monday for a skiing trip to Tres Ritos, N. M.

Included were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Clements, Jim and Don Clements, Mary Jane Grubbs, Sally Osborn, Doug Whitley from Groom, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Stacy, Mary Ann and Bomar Stacy, Don King of Lubbock and Sue Cook from Leveland.

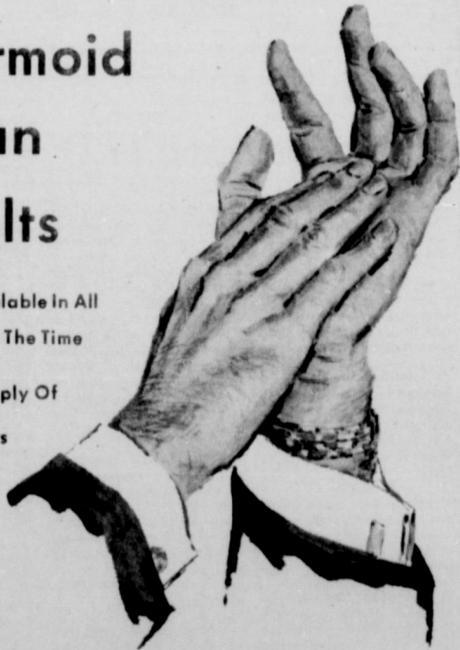

They were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Joe A. Osborn, now living in Austin, and their guests, Miss Mary Bess Whidden of San Angelo and Fred Weyrick from Eagle Pass.

THE HIGH PLAINS FARM AND HOME

Plan Program On Management

Continued emphasis on management and its special phases such as tax planning and record keeping have resulted in an educational program on these subjects for farmers.

Locally, the outgrowth has been a special income tax and record clinic to be held Wednesday, January 13, at the Hub Community Building.

In addition, there will be nine half-day sessions held during the year, at which time farmers will sit down and go over their actual operating problems one by one to decide on the wisest course for management.

The tax and record clinic next Wednesday will start at 1:30, and be under the direction of County Agent Joe Jones. James Murphree, specialist in farm management, will talk on both income taxes and record-keeping. He is from the Extension Service.

Jimmie Lou Wainscott, county HD agent, will report on record keeping from the woman's angle, and Joe Jones will tell what income should be reported by farmers, and also touch on social security. An accountant will discuss business expenses.

H. B. Hamill, administrator from the Internal Revenue office in Amarillo, will help explain the mysteries of depreciation, depletion, capital gains and losses, casualty losses, trades, condemnations, and diseased livestock. The session will be capped off by a question and answer period at 4 o'clock.

Helping plan this, as well as clinics to come, has been the county Farm and Home

Use Records To Plan Ahead

Were profits made from your farming or ranching operations in 1959? If improvement is needed, consider carefully your plans for the new year.

When good farm records are summarized they may reflect vital points of slack in the business, points out C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist. Some operators are using their financial records primarily for income tax reporting. Others are getting an "extra" dividend of stabilizing their future plans by study of all records. Records may be used somewhat as a mariner's compass to direct the future course of operations.

How may cost reductions be made? One example may be by study of the major item of operating costs -- that of machinery and equipment, says the specialist. As mechanization and labor-saving practices are extended to more operations, ownership of some equipment items may become prohibitive for smaller farms.

management committee, headed by Jack Patterson. He will explain the record keeping clinics to those who attend.

Farmer Union Meet Slated Monday Night

Farmer County Farmers Union will have a taped recording of the Fort Worth speech which Sen. Hubert Humphreys gave to the state convention of the Farmers Union at their meeting to be held Monday night at 7:30 p. m. at the Hub.

The meeting, to be held in the Hub Community Building, will also feature Larry Trelder and his boys on the entertainment part of the program and in addition refreshments will be served.

All interested members, and the general public is invited to attend.

This year's membership goal is a total of 450 for Farmer County, says Wylie Bullock, Farmer county FU official. The state goal has been set at 10,000 members for 1960 headed.

Mr. and Mrs. Dee Chitwood and Mr. and Mrs. James Mabry. Those working on the project say about 20 families will be involved in the half-day clinics, and actual problems will be scrutinized.

Plains Cotton Crop Slightly Under '58

Cotton production on the Texas High Plains topped the 1,800,000-bale mark prior to 1960 in the number of bales ginned and classed, according to W. K. Palmer, head of the U. S. Department of Agriculture cotton classing office in Lubbock. Exact totals as of Dec. 29 were 1,800,237 bales.

Thus the 1959 cotton year becomes the second largest cotton crop ever produced on the High Plains, second only to 1958 when more than two million bales were produced.

Earlier estimates of the 1959 crop, as made by the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. and the Lubbock Cotton Exchange for the 23-county area placed production at 1,828,000 bales.

Geo. W. Pfeiffenberger, executive vice president of the PCG, in commenting on the 1959 crop said: "Cotton quality this year is somewhat below that of 1958 but there is a wider range of quality cotton in this 1959 crop."

where grain sorghum was being grown as a substitute. The nation's total grain sorghum crop was 579,178,000 bushels. That was down from 610,376,000 in 1958. The Texas production was up from 273,066,000 to 277,666,000 in the same period -- and most of this increase came from High Plains counties such as Parmer.

The Lone Star State produces almost half of the nation's grain sorghum crop, as can be seen, and is miles ahead of Kansas, the next biggest state, which produced 137,082,000 bushels last year. In fact, Texas and Kansas just about divvy up the grain sorghum pie. The next biggest state is Nebraska with 59,423,000 bushels.

To show where the drop in 1959 grain sorghum production came from, take a peek at corn growing states. Iowa produced 13,695,000 bushels last year. As was pointed out, most of this acreage went into corn after allotments were dropped.

If you're a bug on statistics, you might like to note that Parmer County farmers produced, all by themselves, about three per cent of the nation's grain sorghum crop in 1959. No other county can make that statement.

The cranberry merchants aren't the only ones who had a hard time with sudden, unexpected, and adverse publicity from the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare this year.

Broiler producers were flabbergasted when Secretary Flemming hit the news with an announcement that poultry might be "contaminated" with stillbestrol. Overnight, the public, -- already put on edge with cranberry jitters -- was "off" poultry like the plague.

The market tumbled from 19 to 15 cents in four days in East Texas, heart of the broiler industry, and the big auction at Springdale, Ark., failed to move a single bird the day after the nightmare hit the headlines.

What the public didn't know (because Flemming didn't tell them) is that only an infinitesimal fraction of poultry receive stillbestrol. That means that, even if his claims about harm to humans were authentic (and there's reason to doubt that), fewer than one-tenth of one per cent of the birds on the market had any chance of contamination.

This incident has interesting implications. A woman has two chances to a man's one of being successful. If she can't get what she wants by being smart, she can usually get it by being dumb!

Water Election Next Tuesday

Polls will open Tuesday morning, January 12, for the annual elections of the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District.

One Committeeman will be elected in each county within the District. Also, one man will be elected from each of two director's precincts to serve on the District's board of directors.

Those elected to serve on the county committees will be elected for three-year terms of office, while the two directors elected will serve two-year terms.

All qualified voters are urged to cast a ballot in this election. Poll tax receipts used for voting in 1959 elections will be used. Any person who resides within the bounds of the High Plains Water District, whether he be urban and rural resident, will be eligible.

Nominated in Parmer County are Lee Jones and Walter Kaltwasser, both of Farwell. Voters will cast their ballots at the county courthouse.

Sooter Sale This Friday

The machinery auction Joe Sooter of Muleshoe will Friday, January 8, starting at 10 o'clock a. m. It will be 3 1/2 miles south of Lark or 4 1/4 miles west of the Progress Gin.

This is an all-machinery sale and is one of the biggest lists of the season. Sooter has sold his farm and reports that he now wants to put in his future complaining of being "Benzonized, Mitchellized, socialized, liberalized, and federalized."

Dick Doshier of Texico-Farwell will cry the sale, and Willie Doshier will clerk. Terms are cash. Lunch will be served by the Progress HD Club.

A hired man had been puny all winter, so when he was unable to do spring work, the farmer told him:
"You take a vacation -- take the first month at full pay, and if you don't feel good after that, then take another month at full pay, and if you don't feel good after that, then take another month on your own."
"No," the hired man said, "I can't do that."
"Why?" asked the farmer.
"Two reasons. First, you might miss me and second, you might not."

Differential lock controls slippage and spinning on soft ground, slick grass, ice or snow. Standard on the MF 65 Diesel, it saves time, tires and tractor wear where traction is poor.

When you step down on the differential lock lever the two rear axles turn together... engine power then can be applied to the wheel that has traction. Lever is conveniently operated by your right foot.

With power applied to both wheels, tractor rolls out of slick spots. To disengage, release pedal, then (1) stop the tractor, or (2) declutch momentarily, or (3) turn to the right or (4) lightly touch the right brake pedal.

Spears said the program, sponsored by the Texas Certified Seed Producers, Inc., in cooperation with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, was originated to prove the value of Texas developed hybrid grain sorghums, and sound production practices such as the use of fertilizer.

Area winners will receive cash awards of $50, $35, $25, $10, and $5. The overall state winner will receive in addition to the area award $50 and a plaque. The dryland winner in addition to the area award will receive a plaque. All participants were required to plant a minimum of one acre to one of the Texas developed hybrid grain sorghums.

Next time you plan a party and want a pretty ice ring for the punch bowl, try the following method: Fill bottom of a ring mold with a thin layer of water and freeze solid. Then arrange colorful holly sprigs over the ice, add another thin layer of water and freeze again. When frozen solid, fill mold almost to the top with water and freeze again. Unmold the ice ring at party time and float it in the punch bowl.

Not too many years ago parents discouraged children from eating pickles with this admonition: "They will make you sick." A recent report from the United States Health Department will make a lot of children happy if parents read and heed it.

It reports that pickles are good appetizers and also contain vitamins A, C, and D, calcium and other minerals. Surveys show that children are the most avid pickle eaters.

The report further states that by serving pickles as appetizers, mothers will be adding good flavor as well as added nutritive value to meals.

In recent months there have been so many deaths of infants reported due to the improper use of plastic bags, that many of us have arrived at the conclusion that the best way to use these bags is to destroy them.

This is not necessarily true. There are number of practical uses for them and like a lot of other things precautions must be taken so that they will not be used unwisely.

If you keep a supply of these plastic bags near your baking center, out of reach of small children, of course, they often come in handy. When the telephone rings and you are in the middle of a cookie rolling job, you can just slip your hand inside a bag, go answer the telephone and not get flour all over the instrument.

To do a neat and easy job of flouring chicken, place flour and seasonings inside plastic bag and shake each piece of chicken separately until it is well floured.

These bags can also be used as emergency overshoes to keep feet dry and mud outside the house. By slipping them over your shoes and securing the tops with a string or rubber band, you can get to the clothes line and back to do other outside chores before the make-shift overshoes wear out.

If you are planning to get your soil tested before planting next year's crops, now is a good time to get the tests made, according to Extension Soil Chemist, W. F. Bennett. Soil laboratories are usually not rushed at this time and recommended grades of fertilizer are readily available.

About two-thirds of all hunting accidents can be traced to three causes, according to Ed Cooper, extension wildlife specialist. They are: humans in the line of fire, mistaking humans for game, and careless handling of firearms, which includes hunting with the safety catch off.

The 1960 wheat crop may exceed the 1959 crop, even with the minimum allotment in effect, says John G. McHaney, extension economist. It has been estimated that 53 million acres may be harvested, he adds. If yields based upon the 1956-59 average are obtained, a crop of about 1.2 billion bushels would be produced, 8 per cent larger than the 1959 crop.

Local market and home gardeners frequently are misled by advertisements of vegetable varieties. Varieties adapted to other areas of the United States may not be suitable in Texas. Hence, only varieties adapted to Texas conditions should be planted. "Local Market and Home Garden Vegetable Varieties," is a new extension leaflet prepared by vegetable workers of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and Extension Service. It lists recommended varieties, with those suitable for freezing and canning noted. Decisions on which are suitable are based on recent research results and field observations.

Farm Gross Still Climbs Though Profit's Squeezed

Parmer County area farmers don't feel exactly plucky as they step out into the 1960's, but statistics show that things could be -- and have been -- lots worse.

Gross farm income for Parmer County tillers of the soil continued its upward push in 1959, and this was in the face of a mediocre to poor year for most cotton farmers. The thing that enabled farm income to hold up as well as it did was the gargantuan grain sorghum crop, which choked the elevators and made combines and trucks groan under its weight.

County Agent Joe Jones, in filing his annual report on crops, estimates that grain sorghum, cotton, and wheat produced $28,700,000 income for Parmer County in 1959. This is exclusive of other less important crops, and also does not figure in receipts from livestock sales. Over-all, the farm income was about $30 million, he estimates.

That does not necessarily mean that there's more money to be spent this year than last, although the 1958 gross farm income was about a million dollars lower. Costs of production have continued to rise, forcing tighter and tighter margins of profits for everything farmers take to market.

Probably the big difference in "spending" money is the cotton crop. In 1958, cotton put about $9 million into the jeans of county growers, and this past year, the total ducked to about $6 million. There is more net profit in cotton in a good year than in grain sorghum in a good year, so the net spendable income that can be expected from the 1959 farming year is about the same as it was (perhaps a little less, even) than in 1958, believes the county agent.

The county's one thousand farm families got their biggest share of gross income from the milo crop. The tremendous production record came as a result of favorable weather and greatly improved farming methods, and the result was almost unbelievable yields. About 20 million bushels were produced in Parmer County in 1959.

For cotton, the number of bales produced was only about two-thirds of the larger crop the year before, with 60,000 in 1958 and 41,000 for the latter crop.

Wheat was a surprise to many farmers, since it suffered from the same effects of hail that ruined much of the cotton. A total of over three million bushels of wheat made a gross income of $5,277,200 for the county. The 1958 crop made $3,600,000 on two million bushels. About 95,000 acres of the golden grain was planted in 1959.

Jones gave no figures on vegetable farming, but his report indicated another poor year such as farmers experienced the previous year. In 1958 income from vegetables was about one-half million dollars, then a decline from the 1957 income.

Sesame, usually the county's most stable minor crop, experienced a poor year. Price of the ancient oilseed crop dropped a cent and a half from last year and yields were only about two thirds as large. In 1958 the crop grossed $200,000, having a good year then.

As usual, when record years occur, the success of the farmer in making money is reflected in the farm economy of this highly agricultural county. When the farmer makes money, other businesses are making it too.

In a lightly populated county of 9200, irrigated agriculture has become the predominant factor in the economy, Jones reports. About 400,000 of the county's 450,000 cultivated acres are irrigated. Total number of acres available for cultivation or grazing is 540,000. The number of irrigation wells being drilled on land that has never been irrigated is small, and most drilling companies are serving in a service and repair rather than a drilling capacity.

Other important figures the agricultural agent included in his annual report were the number of farms in the county, which is 1300 or 300 more than the number of farm families, the school enrollment, 2459, the number of farm tractors, 3700, farm trucks, 3000, irrigation motors, 2550 and combines, 700.

The only slightly larger number of farms than farm families indicates the great degree of specialization that has developed in the county's agriculture. Many of the other 300 live in area communities because of the closeness to their farms.

Although fewer figures were given than have previously been available, Jones' report shows the increasing success of Parmer farmers.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU BY RAYMOND EULER

Our American economic cow started sucking herself about twenty-five years ago. Dr. Uncle Sam gave her a shot of inflation opium every time she complained of economic pain. Now the high cost of living has us all sick. This paragraph was the first in a New Year's Editorial by Dr. George D. Scarseth, Director of Research, American Farm Research Association, West Lafayette, Indiana. The balance of it is interesting and enlightening, too. It's entitled, "Quit Needling Us."

As we begin the new year, let us hope that individual citizens will take a more active interest in their welfare as Americans. Be sure your poll tax is paid. When an election is coming up, be sure you study, decide, and vote the way you believe you should on the candidate or proposition that seems nearest right to you.

Then, we also hope that, if you are a farmer, you will become an active member of the farm organization of your choice; the one that seems to you to be most interested in your future as an American citizen and farmer. Attend meetings of your organization, and when you get there, say what you think that organization should do on the many subjects that will affect your future, and the future of your children. Be responsible for giving them a vestige of the heritage that has been yours and mine up to now. Start putting a stop to the encroachments upon the liberty that your forefathers gave their lives and means for. Don't be afraid of the politician, or other men who may think you have no right to say under what conditions your operation should be carried on.

Don't leave it up to the leaders in your organization, because they probably don't know what you think unless you tell them. And that's what they're for, to do what you, the member who is supporting the organization, tell them to do.

If you are inclined to doubt

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

The big American family keeps growing -- and growing! A few days ago the Census Bureau reported the total national population now stands at 179,000,000. By next spring it is expected to reach 180,000,000.

Since the 1950 census our population has increased by almost 29,000,000. That's a growth of more than 8,000 a day. Some experts are estimating we will have a population of 245,000,000 by 1975. By the end of this century, we face the prospect of supporting from our land twice as many Americans as we do today.

These figures speak for themselves in underlining the ever-increasing urgency for effective conservation and wise development of the nation's land and water resources. They emphasize the utter importance of the work now being done -- and yet to be done -- in America's Soil Conservation Districts.

Our present surpluses of a relatively few crops will not always be with us. Between our soaring population and the annually-increasing diversion of line farmland to housing developments, roads, airports, industrial sites, etc., we can expect increased consumption and diminished agricultural productive capacity. It is also reasonable to expect, of course, that we'll increase our production efficiency in the years ahead. This will come from research, better crop varieties, improved machinery, new chemical aids, and other factors adding to production per-acre on our remaining Class I, Class II and Class III lands. We're not faced with imminent shortages of food.

We need to recognize, however, that as we push production more intensively on less productive acres -- on steeper, drier, less fertile lands with thin or eroded soil -- the cost of production per-acre, per pound, and per-bushel will be more expensive. We'll also be reducing our margin of safety against drought and bad weather.

What could become most critical, of course, is our water supply.

Future Calf Crop Depends On Present Management

Your 1960-61 beef calf crop may be affected by the management practices being used now, according to Uel D. Thompson, extension animal husbandman. Very few winter weeds, grasses and legumes had started growth prior to the early freezes this year. The husbandman said this created a situation not experienced every year.

The old grasses killed by the freezes left cattle with little to graze except roughage. This caused cattle to lose weight rapidly due to a lack of proper nutrients not obtainable in the roughage.

Overcoming this situation and getting the most from dry pasture roughage means additional feed. Cattle need protein supplement now to keep them in good breeding and calving condition. Thompson pointed out that cows should be fed about two pounds of a protein supplement daily based on a 41 per cent crude protein analysis.

In addition to the protein supplement, cattle should be allowed access to steamed bone-meal and salt at all times. He added that supplying minerals and protein supplement will take care of your animals' needs.

Seeing is believing -- if you see it in print.

Farm Facts

We have never been so well fed for so little despite more people in the U.S. and fewer farmers to feed them.

Seeing is believing -- if you see it in print.

HD Club Work Continues To Progress In County

The Home Demonstration annual report filed by Jimmie Waincott showed an increase in the improvements being made in homes in Farmer County through Home Demonstration Club work.

The report dealt mainly with furnishings and equipment, clothing, foods and nutrition, house and surroundings, home management, family economics, health and community development and public affairs.

Ten demonstrations on furnishings and equipment during the year resulted in the following improvements being made in area homes. Nine new draperies made, 10 pieces of furniture renovated with a saving of $178, 8 kitchens arranged into 3 work centers, 4 new kitchen storage closets added, 6 kitchens with lighting improved, 10 new kitchen cabinets added, 15 kitchens redecorated, 3 new sinks added, 28 new pieces of furniture added, 16 new draperies added, 10 floors refinished, 16 living room lights improved, and 16 lamps renovated.

Other improvements were 4 new rugs bought, 21 walls refinished, 64-H members provided better sleeping, 5 new 4-H dressing centers improved, 1 new 4-H study center added, 10 4-H bedrooms improved in appearance and comfort, 32 new articles made by 4-H members for their bedrooms, 3 pieces of furniture refinished by 4-H members, 8 bedrooms improved by adults, 3 new homes built, and 15 families helped in remodeling and redecorating by agent.

Since clothing is always a problem, objectives set up by the program building committee were to train 60 4-H girls in clothing construction, and to provide more consumer education material for the public. In order to carry out the objectives, 5 sewing workshops were held and as a result 35 girls participated in the County 4-H dress review.

A great deal of emphasis was placed on foods and nutrition in order to give 4-H girls a working knowledge of them, and help them to learn to enjoy doing it.

Thirteen demonstrations on various phases of food and nutrition were given during the year with a large attendance at each meeting. As a result of the intensive foods study, 4-H girls put up an exhibit during National 4-H week on Foods and Nutrition, and women in the county canned over 18,058 pints of food stuffs, put up 38, 000 pounds of meat, fish and poultry, 6,000 pounds of frozen vegetables, 1500 pounds of dried beans and peas, 200 pounds of nuts and 58 pounds of dried fruit.

Assistance was given by the agent to help persons improve food preservation methods and to improve table service.

The agent worked and planned with 7 demonstrators in order to have more homes in Farmer County landscaped to provide convenience, comfort and attractive surroundings for family living.

As a result of this work 5 new windbreaks were added, 10 yards rearranged, 1 outdoor living room made, 6 recreation pieces added, 9 barbecues added, 3 home grounds made safer, 2 water wells tested, 2 stagnant areas eliminated, 22 lawns sodded, 2 driveways made, 95 shade trees planted and living, 80 shrubs planted and living, 46 shrubs and trees started and living from cuttings.

A more intensified program in landscaping has been planned for the coming year due to the interest shown in the program during 1959.

With interest being given to time, energy and equipment, a work simplification program was held during 1959. The agent stressed preparing frozen meats in various sizes before freezing in order to select the right size for each dish. The use of electric skillets in preparing meals proved to be a time saver since temperature could be set and the dish could cook without constant watching. Another program carried out in HD Work during the year was that of family economics. Three demonstrations on Managing Your Bank Account, You and Your Money, and Social Security helped county families to plan for the best use of their money.

One of the most active committees during 1959 was the Health committee. Their objectives were to have every farm and city use good mosquito control practices, and to have first aid courses offered to anyone who wishes to take them.

Each club acted as a community leader to stress mosquito control with many communities having a spraying schedule and others using various methods of control. A first aid course was scheduled for December but since one in the county was available to teach the course an instructor was hard to obtain.

An emergency health situation in 1959 was handled efficiently by county residents. The problem of rats in the county affected both health and crops, but poison was ordered and each community received enough to rid the county of the problem.

Since several of the county schools have consolidated during past years community interest seemed to have died until community centers brought the residents together and revived community interest and spirit. Three communities had been organized for several years, and the fourth one, Oklahoma Lane, organized in 1959. The local home demonstration club sponsored the first organizational meeting for the community center, which is now nearing completion.

The recreation phase of community development is also progressing slowly in the county, and three leaders attended district recreation training courses in 1959. Plans are being made to again conduct courses in the county to help train recreation leaders.

Prospects for the passage of a Federal Fair Trade Act during the next session of Congress are regarded in various quarters as ranging from "poor" to "good."

The enactment of such legislation would largely affect prices of housewares and small electrical appliances which are currently being sold far below manufacturer's list prices.

The trend to "upgrade" items, that is, shift them gradually up the quality scale, may continue. This means that yesterday's deluxe or luxury item is today's standard model, but by tomorrow it may be obsolete. Manufacturers and distributors now provide a great deal of information on furnishings and equipment. Information to guide consumers is also available from county home demonstration agents' offices.

In the retail meat market, you will find best beef values in stew meat, ground beef, round bone shoulder roast, and round steak. Pork "specials" include fresh picnics, loin roast, fresh and cured hams, bacon and sausage. Fryers remain good budget stretchers and turkeys are available at reasonable prices. Grade A Large eggs are an excellent value, too.

.....

Most vegetable counters you will find collard, mustard and turnips and greens of much improved quality over past weeks. Good weather of recent days resulted in a strong comeback for these leafy greens. Radishes, sweet potatoes, yellow onions, carrots and potatoes are economical items. Bananas, grapefruit, apples, tangerines, oranges and avocados are good choices at fruit counters.

of family costs are totaled and considered, practical planning can be done. Changes can be made where necessary to stretch the pay check to meet everyday expenses.

Even in very tight budgets, some flexibilities can be found in the food, household expenses, family allowances and recreation. Some plan for regular savings can usually be worked out even though this may be small.

The family spending plan is one of the best tools for improvement management. No one plan is best. Helps for developing a flexible plan are given in the bulletin, "Money Family Style." Copies are available from your county home demonstration agent.

OUTLOOK FOR HOUSEHOLD EQUIPMENT . . . The general picture is for a continuation of rises in production, sales and retail prices of major household appliances and furniture in 1960. The picture is still clouded by the effects of the steel strike. No radical changes or improvements in equipment design or function are expected in the next year.

Little known facts about Texas boundaries.

(This is the first in a series of articles outlining the numerous boundary conflicts dating back to 1716, pointing up little known facts which shaped the Texas of today.)

The following is released as a public information service by the Attorney General's Department.)

The Texas boundary line stretches over some 4,000 miles and a sizeable portion of it has been forged and tempered in the fiery heat of conflict.

Attorney General Will Wilson is in one of these battles now with the Texas tidelands issue before the U. S. Supreme Court.

Since 1716 to this good day its location has been fought over.

The Attorney General, a dedicated Texas historian, looks at the overall picture.

"The cold facts are, regardless of motive, that down through the years there has been bite after bite attempted on our territory," Wilson says. "The worst and most tenacious of these land biters has been the federal government."

The first conflict arose along the East Texas-Louisiana line between the kingdoms of Spain and France in 1716.

Both nations claimed the Texas area. Each had military forces ready to take action.

While the diplomats wrangled overseas, the French and Spanish on the spot settled the dispute. They agreed on the Arroyo Hondo, a tributary of the Red River between the Sabine and Kinsmen of these neutral ground settlers "bordered" a cannon from the Mexicans. When they demanded its return, the Texans loaded it with powder and the undisputed authority of horseshoes, raised the flag with the dare "Come and Take It," and fought the battle of Gonzales.

In 1819 diplomats finally signed a treaty settling the boundary between the United States and Spain -- the western banks of the Sabine to its intersection with the 32nd parallel and then due north to the Red River.

Congress in 1848 moved the line from the river bank eastward to the Sabine River's middle channel where it lies to this day.

However, Wilson observes: "Before this line was moved to the middle of the river it ran along the western bank of the Sabine to a point near South-east of Carthage, went north overland until it reached the Red River."

"Congress moved the river running portions of the line eastward to mid-stream with no provision as to what course it would take northward from the Carthage area overland to Red River."

"Consequently there is a strip of land about 150 feet wide and some 70 miles long between Texas and Louisiana that the turn of events has left shadowed with doubt," Wilson points out.

The first Texas-New Mexico boundary fight came close to going down in history as a shooting war between Texas and the United States.

"Texans were so mad they threatened secession and war," Attorney General Will Wilson said.

Wilson is right now fighting another battle for Texas boundaries--the tidelands suit before the Supreme Court of the United States.

Background for the Texas-New Mexico fight began with the 1819 treaty which settled the western limits of the United States, establishing the eastern boundary of Texas at the Sabine River.

Many people at the time, including Thomas Jefferson, thought this a bad bargain.

They believed the boundary should be the Rio Grande.

As it turned out the treaty featured built-in headaches brought out later in an Oklahoma-Texas dispute.

In 1821, Mexico revolted from Spain, falling heir to the Spanish lands south and west of the United States. This included Texas up until 1836 when Texans won their independence at San Jacinto.

One of the first acts of the new Republic of Texas was to draw up a declaration of its boundaries, fixing three leagues in the Gulf of Mexico, which is now being fought out in the tidelands case, and claiming the Rio Grande to its source in present day Colorado.

This gave Texas the eastern half of present New Mexico and a large part of southern Colorado.

U. S. Senator Thomas Hart Benton of Missouri voiced Mexico's complaint by saying the Texas boundary was "an act of unparalleled outrage on Mexico."

"It is a seizure of 2,000 miles of her territory without a word of explanation to her," he raged.

Kingpin of Missouri politics, Benton used his rugged strength to fight Texas to the end--his chunk of territory not occupied by settlers or patrolled by militia."

In the northwestern reaches of the Texas' claim was old Santa Fe.

"Lamar, President of the Republic of Texas, figured that if these people would consent to becoming Texans it would go a long way toward solving the problem of actual occupation," Wilson says.

The Attorney General is an authority on Texas history.

Out of Lamar's idea sprang the disastrous Santa Fe Expedition. The real purpose was to persuade the New Mexicans peacefully to accept and recognize the jurisdiction of the Republic of Texas.

Over 300 men, including traders and soldiers, left Brushy Creek near Austin.

"I have a goat ranch on Brushy Creek and I cherish the old camp site which is on the site of Kinney's Fort about two miles east of present Round Rock," Wilson observes. The site is recorded by a marker erected by the school children of Williamson County.

They thought Santa Fe was only 500 miles away. It turned out to be 1300 miles in the long way the expedition traveled.

Three months on the trail, Indian attacks, starvation, and poor leadership put Texans in New Mexico in no condition to defend themselves from the sudden appearance of the Mexican militia.

As captives they were marched 2,000 miles to Mexico City under the order "If one of them pretends to be sick or tired on the road, shoot him down and bring me his ears."

Forty Texans died on the march. Those who lived were put in the dark dungeon of Castle Perote and in other Mexican prisons with lepers and criminals.

News of the Texans' fate reached the United States in January, 1847. Enraged, the Texas Congress resolved to annex all of Chihuahua, Sonora, New Mexico, Baja and Alta California and parts of Tamaulipas, Coahuila, Durango and Sinaloa.

"They believed that if Texas was going to war with Mexico they might as well make it worth their while," Wilson explains.

"Instead of fighting over half of New Mexico they would scrap over the whole hog. It is interesting to note that President Sam Houston vetoed the measure because he feared it would be taken as a bit of legislative horseplay."

Congress, however, immediately passed it over his veto.

Texans wanted war but had no money, troops, or equipment.

ONE OF FOUR BANKERS --

Spring Completes Seven Years On State Finance Commission

BY DONALD WATKINS

Frank A. Spring has recently completed seven years as a member of the Finance Commission of Texas. He received his appointment to the commission in 1952 from the then, governor of Texas, Allan Shivers.

Actually, each member is appointed for a six-year term but Spring served an extra year while waiting for a new member to be selected.

Being a member of the commission is a select honor. There are only six members -- four bankers and two business men. The commission is set up in such a manner that all banks in the state, regardless of their size, will have equal representation. Members of the commission meet twice a year, usually in the offices of the State Banking Department in Austin.

The purposes of the commission are many. Some of the more important ones, for example, are to set out a yearly budget for the State Banking Department; to approve the salaries for all employees of this particular organization from the state banking commissioner to clerks, and to make recommendations to the legislature for any changes they deem necessary in the banking department.

Also, the finance commission would select a new state banking commissioner if the present one would retire or otherwise leave office.

The over all purpose of the state banking department is to work for the best interests of all the banks in the state and for the public in general.

The banking commissioner is responsible for the operation of this department and he, in turn, is responsible directly to the members of the finance commission.

The department of banking sends out bank examiners all over the state to examine the individual records. For this service they charge each bank a fee. Also, when a new bank is being chartered in the state, there is a fee for granting the charter and also a yearly fee for renewals. In this manner, the state banking department draws its own revenue and is an independent organization.

ONE OF FOUR -- This is the position in which Frank A. Spring has been placed for the past seven years. Spring is one of the four bankers in the entire state to be a member of the Finance Commission of Texas.

rather than a tax supported one.

Because of this system, the banking department and the individual banks throughout the state are in excellent shape. With competent bankers and business men on the finance commission to see that the best of policies are promoted this will undoubtedly hold true for a long time to come.

During an interview with the Star, Spring said, "It has been very pleasant working with the other members of the commission."

"I believe we have a very capable banking commissioner and the state banking department is constantly improving."

This is the kind of report one likes to hear about the state banking department which is the same as hearing a good report about local banks.

Furthermore, it is nice to know that the governor of our state respected and had faith in the ability of our own banker, Frank Spring, to appoint him one of the four bankers in the entire state to be a member of a most important state commission.

Squaws Fall

In the second game, the Squaws were pitted against Happy and it was the Squaws game from the opening whistle. Scoring 16 points in both the second and first quarters and holding their opponents to only eight, the halftime score was 32 for Friona and eight for Happy.

During the third quarter the Squaws scored nine points while Happy scored seven to make the score at the end of three quarters of play 41 for Friona and 15 for Happy.

In the final period, the Squaws scored an additional 10 points while holding Happy to five making the final score of the game 51 points for Friona and 20 for Happy.

High scorer in this contest for Friona was Tommy Lewellen who had 19 points followed by Bock with 17 points.

In the third game of the tournament the Squaws were matched with Clarendon and had an easy time winning by a wide margin of 72 to 47.

Scoring just about every time they had possession of the ball, the Squaws had a first quarter lead of 22 to nine. During the second quarter there was no change as the squaws scored 15 points while allowing 13 to make a halftime score of 37 to 22.

In the third quarter of the contest, the Squaws scored 20 points and gave up only eight to go into the fourth quarter of play with a 57 to 28 lead.

In the fourth period, the Squaws scored 15 points while Clarendon scored 19 to make the final score for Friona and 47 for their opponents.

High scorer for this contest was Bock with 23 points followed by Lewellen with 17 points.

In the championship game held Saturday night in the Claude gym, the Squaws met a big and tough Claude girls' team for the final game of the tournament.

The Squaws jumped into an early lead as the score at the end of the first quarter of play was 20 for Friona nine for Claude.

However, the second quarter saw the Claude girls come alive as they scored 21 points while Friona was scoring 16 to make the halftime score 36 for the Squaws and 30 for Claude.

The third quarter of the contest was the straw that broke the camel's back as far as the Squaws were concerned as they scored only four points while Claude was scoring 14 to make the score at the end of the third quarter 40 for Friona and 44 for Claude.

In the fourth quarter, each team scored eight points and the third quarter lead picked up by Claude was enough as they defeated the Friona Squaws by a score of 52 to 48.

High scorer for the Friona girls in the final game was Bock who had 22 points followed by Magness who had 15 points.

In the boys bracket of the North Plains Tournament the Friona Chiefs began tournament play against the Gruber Greyhounds and were defeated in this contest by a score 54 to 45. Gruber went on to win first place in the tournament.

The score at the first quarter of play was seven for the Chiefs

City Council

After rezoning all of Block 85 and also the west half of Block 84 back to residential district instead of commercial use of any kind.

"We understand that the west side of Block 84 on Cleveland Ave. is to be used as a cement construction project which all property owners are against.

"We, to protect the insurance on our houses demand that you have all anhydrous ammonia tanks, situated on Block 84 removed outside the city limits as all other ammonia dealers were required to do."

This was signed by Nannie McAdams, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jackson, T. J. Crawford, Jim Guinn, Mrs. Carrie Lillard, L. M. Crow and Irene Wiley.

After a short discussion which brought to light that Block 85 is already a residential zone and that the ammonia tanks of "all other dealers" were not forced to move out of town the council turned the petition over to City Manager Albert Field to hand to the Zoning and Planning Board of the city.

If that body rules to rezone the lots in question then the council will pass their verdict.

Field reported that the Santa Fe RR has answered city's query concerning the purchasing of land east of town for the new sewer plant and has offered to swap some land with the city. Field was instructed to notify the railroad that the city is interested in their proposition and is ready to meet with them on that problem. In other business the council voted an ordinance pertaining to court costs of the Corporation Court of the city.

These costs will be added onto the fine when a jury trial is demanded by the defendant.

The costs approved by the council include trial fee-$5.50; jury fee-$3.00 and city attorney fee-$10.00 which totals $18.50.

City Attorney Richard Colard explained to the council that these costs would only be added to a fine if the defendant has a jury trial in corporation court. If no jury trial is held, no court costs are paid.

This was a result of the new insurance laws in the state and local authorities anticipate an increase in corporation court jury trials. (The first was held during December '59.)

Dr. George Anderson was appointed city health officer to fill the spot vacated by Dr. Paul Sprind who is county health officer and cannot hold both positions.

Those present at the meeting included Mayor R. L. Fleming, Aldermen Danny Bainum, Ed Meil, Bill Nichols, Deon Awtrey, Glenn Reeve Sr. and Albert Field, city manager; Colard, the Lewellen Bros., Franklin and Raymond Jacobs.

Pheasants

at the Thursday night session will be Pat L. Donnelly, state game warden from Littlefield; C. N. Gunn of Gunn Bros. Game Farm of Amarillo; Joe Jones, county agricultural agent; and A. S. Jackson, state biologists of Canadian.

All property owners and others interested in having the county stocked with pheasants are urged to attend, Kerby says.

This will be the first meeting in connection with the plan. It has been discussed for several weeks.

Covered Ground
Hub Gin says that his immediate area was about like town also. He says that so far no serious trouble has developed out of the snowfall although "if it doesn't stop tonight things will be rough for a couple of days."

In checking back with the weather gauge at Friona Consumers at 5 p. m. Tuesday Sam Williams reported that moisture at that time had climbed to .70 which he estimated to be about seven inches of snow.

Most Frionans, huddled over their coffee cups Tuesday, spoke of the "big storm in '57" but most agreed that this one could get bad if the wind didn't die down.

No serious drifting was reported in our immediate area Tuesday, but one report said that the wind around Hovina and southern Parmer county did get up during the day causing some serious drifting problems.

Trees, utility lines, clothes lines, and fences were a sight Tuesday as the slow falling snow covered them in places to a depth of seven inches on a horizontal.

In the rear of The Star building snow on the trash box was stacked up nine inches deep on a 2x4 on the side of the structure.

With the thoughts of the '57 storm most stores in Friona sold out of staple items such as milk, bread and fruits Tuesday night as housewives prepared for the worst.

With sundown most country residents left town and as we went to press all that could be heard Tuesday night was the slapping of a few straggling chains on vehicles heading out into the still, cold night.

The hillbilly gal felt strongly attracted to a handsome young tourist from the city. She strode up to him finally and stated, "My paw is the best shot in these parts."

"What does that make me?" he said.

"My fiance," she answered with a sheepish grin.

These costs will be added onto the fine when a jury trial is demanded by the defendant.

The costs approved by the council include trial fee-$5.50; jury fee-$3.00 and city attorney fee-$10.00 which totals $18.50.

Darrell Schwab Recuperating

Darrell Schwab, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Schwab, was dismissed from Parmer County Community Hospital Monday after receiving treatment for a head injury.

The youngster suffered severe lacerations of the scalp and a slight brain concussion last Friday when he fell from a car driven by his older sister. The vehicle was moving slowly on Fifth Street when the back door came open and Darrell was pulled out by the wind.

Onlookers administered first aid and called the ambulance.

The nurse ushered into the psychiatrist's office a man who was wearing earrings with strips of bacon dangling from them. A fried egg rested on top of his head.

The doctor offered the man a chair and softly asked, "Now, what is bothering you?"

"Oh, I'm alright, doctor -- I came to see you about my brother."

Jarrell's 5 & 10
- Friona -

Well, things are settling down to a dull roar again as usual as we began the year by placing both of our feet in our mouth... but that's the way it goes.

Speaking of folks who put their feet in the wrong places, have you seen Danny Mac "Chester" Bainum lately?

Last year Danny, Paul Hall, Deon Awtrey and their families spent part of the holidays skiing, and last year Paul broke his ankle.

Well, this year it was Danny Mac's turn I reckon.

He didn't break any bones, but did succeed in getting a bunch of ligaments pulled loose in his leg and is now sporting a cast from his ankle to hip.

From the past it looks like the smart thing for Deon to do is stay home by the fire next year.

We are going to try sumpin' new this year and that is to carry a moisture report each week on the front page of The Star. We will obtain this information from Buddy Lloyd down at Consumers each week.

Buddy keeps the official record for the Weather Bureau there and although his rain gauge never agrees with ours, we figure perhaps his is the most accurate.

So, anyhow we will try to keep up with the moisture each week for our readers' information.

If any of y'all have any excess moisture along during the year we will appreciate having you call us and report it so we can include it along during the year.

Also, we have tried to figure out a way to get the maximum and minimum temperatures, but B's page on "Sugar" do this for Uncle Sugar, so we have come up against a blank in this department so far.

But -- we'll keep on trying.

Our eyes almost popped out the other morning as Tom Lewellen pulled up in front of the Star office in a new auto.

As y'all that know Tom are familiar with his long legs, can you imagine him all propped up in one of those new foreign cars?

Well, that is exactly what we saw.

After we had regained our composure, the gas mileage and other statistics which Tom told us about aren't funny, and perhaps even worth the view.

Seriously, perhaps the little "grasshoppers" are here to stay.

One of our readers handed us the following items which were gleaned from Coronet magazine.

The articles were entitled "Why Editors Leave Town."

(At first we thought she was hinting at something else, but we hope not -- anyhow we figured these jokes worth mentioning.)

WHY EDITORS LEAVE TOWN

A veteran salesman retired, married again and settled down in his home town. The local newspaper had a nice story about the wedding on the society page, but the headline over the story obviously belonged somewhere else. It read: "OLD
