BLINKER TRAFFIC SIGNAL TO BE INSTALLED SOON

The regular session of the Commissioner's Court Monday afternoon made by the State Department was accepted by the department to install a blinker type traffic signal at the intersection of Oak and Persimmon Avenue, known as the Bohlman. The county is to pay for the signal used in operation of the signal after installation. The signal will be a great help at the intersection at this place rather dangerous and has had other accidents. Other business cared for at the time was the approval of the treasurer's report as rendered by Ben F. Dawson.

Schools of Terrell County Show 100 Percent Enrollment

According to reports made by principals of the Sanderson and Dryden schools, there has been a total enrollment of 100 percent at the end of the month of the school year. The number represents exactly one hundred percent of the enrollment in Terrell County in March.

Emmett Skiles, Mrs. Wade and Mrs. Hodge Conrad of Dryden were visitors in Sanderson Wednesday.

for the Queen—and made Texas wool. Byron Wilson, secretary of the Wyoming Wool Raisers' Association, writes: "I saw the Queen's dress. She wore a sample of the type she wanted and the color is a pastel shade of blue-gray. They made the dress they are sending her a 2-ply yarn made from 80's wool—believe it or not. Julius Forstman was delighted with the fabrics from this wool, as he did believe we could get as fine a wool as that in this country."

W. Cunningham, secretary of the Texas Sheep & Goat Raisers' Association, in Washington, attempted to secure a 10 percent increase on the government loan. He has found on this capitol that much information is available on the Angora than on his trips. In preparing for the mohair sales from Texas warehouses to present government officials on his conference there he has his figures checked closely with figures they secured since last year. An agreement on the mohair sale was expected some time this year. The Angora (perhaps the biggest part of the mohair in Texas, pretty far from the capitol, and because he is unassuming) has been an unknown quantity as Washington is concerned.

Considerably more interest in mohair wool loans has been shown over the ranch country in the last ten days heretofore. It has been received as to the final mechanics of the loan, and are being worked out in Washington. A number of warehouses that did not handle government loans last year plan to do this year, according to reports.

In western wool country, Tilton made several sales of wool in California. THE MAN ON THE COVER

Sanderson Drug Stores found that the regular order of Life magazine fell far short of the demand when local citizens found that the picture of W. L. Barler adorned the front cover.

"Cap" Barler, as he is so well known to his many friends in this section of the state, has been stationed at Sanderson for many years and was formerly a captain in the Texas Rangers. He is 64 years of age and is as capable a customs officer as is found anywhere.

Interest Continues In Sermons Delivered By Guy W. Green

Interest has been growing daily in the services being conducted at the Presbyterian Church by Guy W. Green each morning and evening with good attendance at all services.

Each morning Mr. Green gives Bible recitals from memory, giving entire books of some of the shorter writings and scanning the high points of the longer ones. His evening sermons are along practical lines of every day religion and are presented in a very unique manner, by lines of poetry, by interesting biography, and sometimes by bits of humor which he uses in pressing home the truth of a text.

Mr. Green's optimism, common sense and wide experience, coupled with his knowledge of the Bible add force to his messages and a cordial invitation is extended each and everyone to a close Sunday night.

SANDERSON SCHOOL ON ACCREDITED LIST

The Sanderson High School has been returned to the list of accredited schools by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools in their annual meeting in Memphis from the 27th through the 29th of March, according to a letter recently received by Superintendent R. D. Holt. The letter was written by J. W. O'Banion, Chairman of the Texas Committee of the Southern Association, and says in part: "The action of the Membership Committee with regard to your school is significant in that not a single criticism was voiced against your high school, May I not indulge the hope that you will continue to improve the status of your high school from year to year and thus justify a continuous membership in the Southern Association."

The Sanderson High School has been a member of the Southern Association since 1930. There are only about 250 schools in Texas which hold membership in this organization due to the fact that the standards regarding the work of pupils, the qualifications and salary of teachers, and the buildings and equipment are difficult to meet.

APRIL 21 IS SCHOOL HOLIDAY

April 21, San Jacinto Day, has been set aside by the Sanderson School Board this year as a holiday for school pupils and teachers, according to Superintendent R. D. Holt. In the past, five school holidays, with the teachers receiving full pay, have been observed. This makes the fifth holiday for the present school year, the bi-county Interscholastic League Meet this year counting as a regular school day. The purpose of the holiday is that the pupils and teachers may be able to complete the school work with greater enthusiasm.

Bill Lemons returned to Lubbock Monday after spending the Easter holidays here with his mother, Mrs. Luella Lemons, and other relatives.

NOTICE—

Residents of Sanderson are requested and urged to cooperate with the Community Public Service Company in their efforts to continue regular electric service to the town.

As a result of a broken crankshaft in one of the engines at the power house the load formerly carried by three engines has been thrown onto two and it is more than they can carry between 11:30 and 12 o'clock each day when housewives are preparing the noon meal. Clyde Morris, manager of the local plant, states that the load can be carried safely if all water heaters are turned off during that period and those who possibly can do their cooking either before 11:30 or after 12 o'clock do so. The management of the plant realizes that customers are justified to expect ample current at all time but in cases of unforeseen breakdowns as the present they feel that in self protection customers will not have to be discontinued permanently for several days.

It will be 10 days to two weeks before the engine can be repaired and with the cooperation of the customers Mr. Morris states that they hope to keep the others going until that time.

buy the land, and also appropriate a nominal sum of $1,000 for this same purchase. The appropriation was included to assist Stimulation was added to the Big Bend Park movement last week when the Texas Senate passed a measure sponsored by Senator H. L. Winfield of Fort Stockton, providing the machinery for the setting up of a gigantic national park in the Big Bend area.

Sen. Winfield's bill, which passed with only two dissenting votes according to the message which he sent The Pioneer Tuesday, has gone to the House for action. It is being sponsored in the House by Rep. Allie Cauthorn of Del Rio, in whose legislative district the Brewster county site for the park lies.

The Winfield bill authorizes the State Park Boards to accept donations from individuals to

AIRPLANE BURNS AFTER CRASHING IN SNOW STORM

The body of Lieut. Robert L. Grantham, killed when his Coast Guard plane crashed Thursday, was recovered from the wreckage of his plane in the rugged country southeast of Alpine Sunday about 2:30 p. m.

The wreckage was located thirteen miles southeast of Alpine, the plane having burned after it crashed in a snowstorm.

Three other members of the plane's crew, all enlisted men, escaped by taking to their parachutes. Grantham also bailed out, but his parachute fouled.

Suffering from exposure and fatigue, the survivors made their way Saturday morning to the Kate Neville ranch, thirty miles south of Alpine, where they telephoned first news of the accident.

The crewmen were Radioman James A. Dinan, 36, El Paso; Electrician's Mate Robert A. Paddon, 30, Mobile, Ala.; Clifford J. Hudder, Gloucester, Mass.

Paddon suffered internal injuries and was taken to the hospital at Fort D. A. Russell. Hudder was said by Dinan to be in bad shape from exposure.

Lieut. Col. J. H. Blackwell, in charge of the fort hospital, said a preliminary examination indicated Paddon was suffering from a bruised and sprained back and exhaustion.

Died hero's Death

That Lieutenant Grantham died a hero's death became apparent when Dinan related that the officer was the last one to jump, holding the bucking plane steady in the storm while his companions went over the side safely one by one.

When Grantham jumped his parachute became fouled in the storm-whipped plane and he was carried to earth with the plane.

The radio operator telephoned the first news of the crash to Border Patrol headquarters in El Paso where Grantham took off Thursday morning for Galveston.

Dinan said the plane ran into a snowstorm a short distance out of El Paso and became unmanageable when ice formed on the wings and struts. It crashed at 12:05 p. m. about two hours after the take-off in the mountains west of Altuda, southeast of Alpine.

The crash was the second fatal accident in the El Paso Coast Guard headquarters in the last four months.

In December, Grantham's predecessor, Lieut. Perry Lyons, and Ensign Clyde Teague Jr. were killed in a crash near Boerne.

Grantham was a graduate of the Coast Guard Academy at New London, Conn., in 1932, and the naval air school of Pensacola, Fla. in 1937. Prior to assignment in El Paso he was attached to the Coast Guard air base at San Diego.

He is survived by his bride of a year, Mrs. Helen Grantham of Lawrence, Kan. Grantham's home was in Mobile, Ala.—Del Rio Evening News.

The State board would be empowered to buy the land at a price not exceeding two dollars an acre, and would also have authority to condemn such land as could not be bought. Thousands of dollars already have been subscribed by Texas citizens, and negotiations have been carried on successfully with a national philanthropic foundation to subscribe a million dollars to the land fund because of the valuable scientific information which the park area contains.

Winfield said 132,000 acres now owned by the public school permanent fund would be transferred to the parks board by this bill. It would be necessary for the state to purchase privately owned acreage. The entire area would be transferred, including mineral rights to the Federal Government for park development.

The school fund would receive $1 an acre plus 50c an acre for mineral rights on land transferred to the park board.

Winfield estimated private areas within the proposed park enclosure would be purchased for an average of $2 an acre, except where improvements had been made.

Passage of the bill in the House is regarded as a certainty, and with Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel already committed to the project there appears little likelihood of any upset in the current plans for the creation of the needed park.

THANKS FOR EVERYTHING

By preview test this is a highly effective comedy, in which Jack Haley turns in another of his too infrequent portrayals of the not quite stupid young man while Jack Oakie, Adolphe Menjou, Binnie Barnes, Arleen Whelan, Tony Martin and assorted reliable troupers unwind a complex series of smartly plotted situations growing out of a radio contest that succeeded beyond expectations.

A number of difficult narrative feats are accomplished. Among the contests enumerated in a dash of dialogue is the Movie Quiz. At another point the name of Shirley Temple creeps into the dialogue. Toward the end there is a closeup of the cover of Time Magazine, and earlier there are closeups of pages from a magazine printed accurately in the Fortune format. The finish of the picture provides, without deserting the comedy field for a moment, an evidently audience-satisfying answer to the question of how the average American feels about war.

Harry Tugend's screen play, from a story by Gilbert Wright, is a snugly integrated series of extremely laughable incidents some dependent on smart dialogue, most on situations and associate producer Harry Joe Brown can point to the total enterprise as a considerable demonstration of the merriment-maker's art.

Not to become enmeshed in plot convolutions of extraordinary diversity and number, the thing goes like this. "Henry Smith," small town youth, wins out over 3,000,000 competitors in a radio contest designed to dredge up the "average American" the individual whose personal tastes most completely jibe with the coffee, toothpaste, breakfast food and general merchandise surveys determining the best sellers in 100 market divisions. "Harcourt," head of the advertising agency running the contest, sees in "Henry's" 100 per cent correct score an opporting the 7th year of the Dryden Missionary Society. Mrs. Wyatt gave the history of the organization and read a poem "It Can't Be Done." Mrs. Hill read "The Country Church" after which a "handwork sale" was held. The money from the sale starts the Building Fund for remodeling the church. Refreshments of punch and a white birthday cake, with candles arranged in the shape of seven, were served to the following: Mesdames Hill, Smith, Wyatt, Rose, Roy Mason, and Eva Billings of Dryden; Mesdames Lee Grigsby, Bustin Cannon, Kern, Watts, Gates, Higgins, White, and Freeman of Sanderson.

Miss Betty Bassett returned to her home in Pecos Sunday, after spending the Easter holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bassett.

Chester Smith returned Sunday night from San Antonio where he visited with his mother.

medicine and other daily purchases. The commission is a non-political organization of women combatting through local study groups "unnecessary taxes that penalize consumers by increasing the cost of living." Groups are active in more than 400 communities in the Texas drive, led by Mrs. Kenneth C. Frazier, of Dallas, NCTC president, and Mrs. Volney W. Taylor, of Brownsville, national committee member. "Every-day shoppers, whether they know it or not, carry a major share of local, state and national tax burden," Mrs. Frazier said in the report. "Hidden taxes, increasing the cost of even the necessities of life, produce 63 per cent of all tax revenue. The taxes are levied first on producer, manufacturer, wholesaler and distributor and then on to consumers." The report, which said study groups in 3,900 communities have added their force to the crusade, pointed out the local hidden tax figures concern retail sales only and not include many other hidden and direct taxes that here have to pay. The analysis, directed by the NCTC headquarters in Chicago, was based on total sales in the county of 1934 reported by the U. S. Bureau of the Census.

ZEKE SEZ

(Editor's note—This column represents the views of an Austin newspaperman who is making a close study of the situation there and will report developments from week to week.)

(By Nugent Ezekiel Brown)

Austin (Special)—While still making no definite predictions at week-end, it looked more like this session will turn out a pension tax amendment than it has for weeks. The Senate, by a vote of 21 to 4, engrossed a constitutional resolution submitting to the people the question of levying a combination sales-service-natural resource tax to finance social security. While the House rested for several days on the pension problem, a movement was under way at week-end to force a statutory tax to a vote early next week—not a constitutional amendment matter. On the other hand, the House state affairs committee unanimously recommends Senate bill liberalizing old age pensions. The Senate passed the bill earlier.

At least two busy nights were spent last week, one each by the two houses. On Wednesday night, the Senate passed out 55 local and uncontested bills, while the House on Thursday night passed 63 bills. Veterans point out that some of the most dangerous legislation sometimes gets by during the fast consideration of local and uncontested bills. Such a bill got by Thursday night when a measure cutting out tailor shops from the boiler inspection law got by almost unanimously. Members interested in keeping the boiler inspection law intact got busy Friday and will attempt to get reconsideration of this bill authored by Roy Tennant and Ed Hamilton. It will prove to be a very controversial bill and a public hearing likely will result. Harris County also is attempting to get by a bill that would exempt Houston from the state boiler inspection law, despite the known fact that tailor shop boilers are known to be very dangerous to human life.

It is interesting to note that the two outstanding critics of Governor O'Daniel of the week, Representatives Galbreath of Wharton and Abe Mays of Cass County, voted consistently last week for the measure that would raise the salary of legislators to $3,000 per annum! The final vote on that bill was 70 to 60. It is in the form of a constitutional resolution and would have to be voted on by the people.

The race horse bill is evidently dead for this session, having failed to muster enough votes to keep it from being tabled. The matter of a change of the present administration of the old age set-up is being held in abeyance, pending action on the tax measures. Appropriation bills are starting toward the house floor now. It will be a busy five weeks—the balance of this session. So the great majority of the members went home for Easter to find out what the folks are thinking. Many already are thinking about races in 1940. And the very thought worries them not a little, believe it or not.

Attorney General Gerald C. Mann has entered the lists against the loan sharks of Texas—the biggest piece of news of the week in the combined legislative-enforcement fight to rid the State of these nefarious money lenders. Representative Mason Harrell of Bastrop, one of the leaders in the House for a rigid law against the loan sharks, hopes to get action this coming week along this line. Attorney General Mann, through Assistant Ben Woodul, filed a motion in district court at Austin asking permission to join County Attorney Paul Holt in the latter's injunction against Austin loan sharks. At the same time, the attorney general announced plans to start a similar war on Dallas loan sharks along the same lines. The money lenders are charged with failure to comply with the state's loan broker's statute, disregarded by these money lenders all over Texas.

One of the finest and most able editors in Texas, a real pioneer of the old school who has edited his own paper continuously for more than half a century, the Honorable J. E. Cooper of Georgetown, publisher of the Williamson County Sun, has the following pointed remarks regarding State politics in his paper this past week:

"The members of the Legislature were elected in 1938 to enact a pension law, and provide means for meeting the expenses of the State government. They were not elected to pass on a democratic presidential nominee to be selected in 1940. The friends of Mr. Garner are doing him an injustice by putting him forward as a democratic presidential nominee in 1940. They have no hopes of securing the nomination for him, but they want Texas to instruct for him so they can withdraw his name in the national convention at a convenient time and barter the 40 votes of Texas for some anti-New Deal candidate.

"The politicians are trying to use him as a stake in convention manipulations and they think the people are so dumb that they can't see through the scheme.

"Last Tuesday a few members of the Legislature took up about $600 worth of time abusing the Governor for his Sunday morning speech. The time of the Legislature could be better utilized in trying to solve state problems than in listening to harangues from members who have more tongues than brains."

Editor Cooper then goes on to add this refreshing comment:

"The best speech Gov. O'Daniel has made since commencing his Sunday broadcasts was delivered last Sunday morning. It was dignified, straight-forward plain statement of his position. He was not dogmatic nor was he unreasonably critical of the legislature or those who oppose him. He did state, in polite language, where he thought the opposition had failed to meet the issues fairly. The governor of the state is entitled to respectful treatment and every citizen, whether agreeing with him or not, should insist that he gets it. Many other editors over Texas are becoming more like Editor Cooper, expressing themselves as weary of the howling of a few legislators who so far have done little more than vote to increase their own salaries!

It is most interesting to note from various records that the big chain stores with headquarters in New York and other eastern points loom in the background in the fight against the fair-trade and anti-discrimination bills, which have passed the House and are now pending business in the Senate. So much has been printed and published tending to show that big manufacturers are behind the two bills that it is most interesting, we repeat, to find the great A.&P. Company one of those which also fights for repeal of the Texas chain store tax. The Dallas unit of this great chain on March 25th sent out letters to various wholesale firms over the state calling attention to the five members of a sub-committee which has the Pope repeal bill in its hands now, with the idea these wholesalers might help the big chain bring pressure on the committeemen. And these consumers leagues! The South-wide Association of Consumers, headquarters in Dallas, has enlisted leading clubwomen to work for them gratis but many of these women disliked aspects of the organization and have resigned. Such a league in Houston is headed by a group of clubwomen, some of whom are connected indirectly with a big drug chain. And these consumers leagues make the big howl against allowing a fair-trade law to be enacted to protect the independent druggist and retailer in our small towns all over Texas. Yours, Zeke.

Texas Cities Are Dependent On Oil

Thirty-eight out of every 100 persons living in leading Texas cities are dependent on the oil industry's payrolls for their livelihood, according to a survey recently completed by The Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association.

Figures on oil industry employment, obtained from chambers of commerce and other authoritative sources, show that out of a combined total city population of 1,312,000 the number of persons depending upon oil industry payrolls aggregates 492,100, or 38 per cent of the population.

Among the larger cities of the State including Houston, Dallas, San Antonio and Fort Worth, comprising approximately one million population, 385,000 persons obtain their livelihood solely from payrolls of the Texas oil industry and its allied branches.

In Houston, 180,000 persons, comprising 51 per cent of the city's population, are dependent upon the oil industry's payrolls. Sixty per cent of the population of both Beaumont and Breckenridge obtain their livelihood from the oil industry. In many cities of East Texas, such as Tyler, Kilgore, Longview and Henderson a majority of the population is dependent upon employment afforded by the oil industry.

Practically every section of the State shares in the distribution of wealth created by widespread employment in the Texas oil industry and its allied branches. Payrolls of this industry in Texas last year aggregated about 230 million dollars through the employment of 215,000 persons. This means that nearly one million Texas people obtain their income solely through payrolls of the State's petroleum industry and its affiliated branches.

May First Proclaimed As Child Health Day By President Roosevelt

May first has been proclaimed May Day—Child Health Day nationally by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, and State-wide by Governor W. Lee O'Daniel. The State Department of Health has been designate as the official agency to head the activities in Texas.

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, has stated that May Day is in reality an entire week's activity centered on the health and welfare of children. Every group in Texas interested in children will hold special meetings, clinics, and other projects to promote public consciousness of the development needs of childhood so that everyone will realize that "In the Health of its Children lies the Future of Texas".

Activities will vary in each community according to the existing problems and facilities. Many towns make this their chief activity of the year and schools, churches, luncheon clubs and women's clubs will have special programs. Merchants will use special window displays of children's clothes, toys and health aids, and carry special newspaper advertising.

This is a splendid time for parents to have their babies and children immunized against diphtheria, smallpox and typhoid fever. A thorough physical check-up is in order and should be followed by having corrections made of any physical defects. May Day gives you an opportunity to see that your child has a proper start along life's path and that proper safeguards are furnished him.

Rattles Do Not Designate Age Of Rattlesnake

"You can count a rattler's rattles till you're black in the face," Texas Memorial Museum curators contend, "and you still can't tell its exact age."

"For every three rattles, add a year to the reptile's age," argues Texas tradition.

The issue came when the recently-opened museum, on The University of Texas campus, launched its first exhibit in a projected "wild-life" display, placing a live four-foot, diamondback rattlesnake in a museum display case.

"Shortly after the snake's birth," Carl Cheif, anthropology curator, explained, "a horny button appears on the tip of its tail. That's followed by approximately three rattles each year. But the rattles and even the button itself are often knocked off in life's violent agitation—which produces the rattling."

If you find the button missing, as you often do, Cheif contended, then you have no gauge of the snake's age at all.

Humble existence with good health is wealth.

Children Know How To Best Parents Says Specialist

Most children understand their parents better than their parents understand them, says Cosca Hale, specialist in child development and parent education with the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service.

They soon learn the way to break down parental firmness, often by "throwing tantrums," and their methods vary with the parent. For instance, a child who knows that mother is worried about his health may, when balked, refuse food or sleep, hold his breath or knock his head against the floor. Another, who knows that noise is father's weakness, may yell, scream, kick, pound or slam doors to get results.

Prevention is better than cure for tantrums of children. "Remove the causes before tempers and tantrums become a habit and a hindrance both to children and grown-ups," Miss Hale points out.

In early childhood, hunger and fatigue are the two main causes, and parents should establish regular times for eating, for naps, and for bedtimes, so that youngsters do not have a chance to become too tired or too hungry.

Tight clothing, or clothing that hampers small children may also call forth temper; the remedy is clothes that are simple and easy to manage. Play clothes should allow free movement and activity.

The best way to prevent future outbursts is for parents to understand what causes them, and to help their child meet the difficulty, Miss Hale says. While they help him to learn, they must make sure that his temper tricks do not succeed.

FAMILY AND MUSIC SUBJECT OF APRIL P. T. A. MEETING

The P. T. A. met Thursday, April 5 at 4:15 p. m. in the high school auditorium with Mrs. John Nichols leader of the program. Guy W. Green opened the meeting with prayer. The business session, conducted by Mrs. Clyde Higgins, was followed by a clarinet duet played by Ross Underwood and Wilton Murray, members of the high school band.

Miss Garrison also gave an interesting talk on Creative Music in the school. She stressed the fact that music in the school should lead children to love good music and appreciate the many qualities of beauty represented, and that students should absorb during school life an amount of music sufficient to act in later experiences as an emotional stabilizer.

Margaret Gregory, a pupil of Mrs. May Wilson played "In a Gondola" by Bendel, and Mrs. D. E. Smith directed the Community Choral Singers in a group of Scotch and Irish songs.
