New Farm Program Probable

For the first time since 1952 there appears to be enough sentiment nationwide among leaders of both major political parties to virtually assure a rather far-reaching change of some sort in American's farm program. There is hardly anyone left who will deny that the present farm program, or at least many aspects of it, is badly out-of-tune with modern times. Knowing that agricultural policies carry far-reaching voting consequences, both Democrats and Republicans will be hard at work this year to come up with a farm program that the people will buy.

There has been much written and much said concerning the decline in the importance of the farm in America's rural sections. While it is true, statistically, speaking that there are fewer persons engaged in providing the food and fiber for the nation's population and industry, a fact that is often overlooked is that there are more and more persons directly dependent upon farming although they are not, technically speaking, actually engaged in it. Many new industries have sprung up within the past generation to serve the nation's farms. Consider the growth of chemical businesses which supply fertilizer, insecticides, innoculants and other vital farm necessities. Or, look at the army of entomologists, loan specialists, tax advisors, veterinarians and others who fill the increasing needs of the nation have grown enormously to keep pace with advanced mechanization and technological progress on the farm. All of this means more and more people who depend upon the farmer's income for their own sustenance. It is not true that the farm problem is no longer one which affects large numbers of people. It certainly does.

President Eisenhower is not, of course, a candidate for re-election this year. He has sheltered the farm program philosophies of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson ever since he made that man's appointment when first going into office. He has staunchly defended Benson from the tremendous criticism which has been directed at him, both from Democrats and Republicans. Secretary Benson's head would have rolled long ago had it not been for the mother hen attitude of the chief executive, who has backed this cabinet member to the hilt. However, we feel that Richard Nixon, who is the most likely candidate for the Republican presidential nominee, will not be able to successfully campaign for office with this inherited albatross around his neck. Even though Mr. Nixon probably will avoid an open break with the philosophies of President Eisenhower, we predict that he will successfully shake the Benson stigma and come forth instead with an all new farm program. This is probably the weakest point in the Republican political armor and therefore it could be one of their foremost campaign considerations.

Needless to say, the Democrats will not need any goading to come up with a farm program of their own. While it is still far too early to engage in accurate forecasting of what will be offered by both parties in the way of farm program this election year, it appears at this time that the Democrats, whether they are headed by Kennedy, Humphrey or even Johnson, will probably propose a direct payment compensatory type of farm subsidy program to replace the unsuccessful program now in effect. And, if they do make such a proposal, it will be the first time in history that any such kind of socialism has ever been seriously suggested as a part of farm economy. It was only a few short years ago that Secretary Brannon who was Harry Truman's appointee, proposed a plan along this line and his ideas were either booed or laughed down all across the country. It now seems entirely possible that his proposals may be taken in all seriousness by party leaders of the present day, however.

In any event, there is little likelihood that we will see a change in farm program policies before 1961. Even though the Democratic controlled Congress of 1960 may be disposed to make changes, it is not likely that they can work out anything in time to get it into effect this spring. In addition, it is also probable that if they propose a program contrary to the present administration's philosophies, that President Eisenhower would again veto the measure. Whatever the outcome, we predict that farm folks, such as we here on the High Plains, will be highly thought of once again by leaders of both political parties when the actual casting of farm program planks takes place.

RED BRICK SCHOOLHOUSE A "FEW" YEARS AGO--This scene looks sort of out of place today when you think of the old red brick school building as it stands completely surrounded by modern buildings on both sides and across the street. The chickens seem at home in this photo which was taken in 1922 when the red brick building was then brand spanking new, and recently constructed at a cost of $40,000. This picture was brought to the Star office by Ed White.

Nobody But Nobody Is Getting "Stuck"

Motor vehicle safety inspections in Parmer County have slowed to snails pace. No vehicles were inspected during January.

The total checked since September 1, when this year's sticker went on sale, is 600 or 11 per cent of the 5300 registered vehicles in this county.

Captain Alan Johnson, supervisor of the Motor Vehicle Inspection Service in this region of the Texas Department of Public Safety, has urged vehicle owners to have their vehicles inspected as early as possible to avoid delays in the last minute rush.

In past years crowds during the last few days before the deadline have lined up for several blocks waiting to get into the inspection stations.

The safety inspection sticker which must be on all registered vehicles operated over public streets, roads and high-ways by midnight, April 15 may be obtained at any of the five approved

Why?

BY LUTHER METCALF

Why in this world of supposedly civilized people, do we have such things as racial, religious, and class segregation? Take racial segregation: one example of racial segregation in the United States is a recent incident at Little Rock, Ark., where white people didn't want the negroes to go to school with them. Why does racial segregation exist, when all people--no matter what race--have only one God and were all made by God Almighty?

There is religious segregation between Jew and the Protestant. Jews have been persecuted in all countries, in some more than others. A good example of this is Hitler's persecution of the Jewish race in World War II. Even in our United States some people persecute them. Jews believe in God too, they just do it in a different way than do the Protestants.

Last, but not least, is the relationship between rich and poor. Some rich persons have to look down their nose to see their less fortunate neighbors who are poor. The poor look on their more fortunate contemporaries as snobs. This does not always apply, but it tends to follow a general course. Will true Civilization ever be reached as long as there are prejudices such as these?

Chiefs Win Last Game

BY LUTHER METCALF AND DEWAYNE HOLLAND
 The crowd was standing in the last minute or so of the Friona vs Canyon game. The score was 72 to 71 in favor of Friona, when a Chief fowled giving Canyon 2 free shots, which were sunk giving Canyon the lead 73 to 72. Friona got the ball and with seconds to go was saved by a field goal made from the corner by Jackie Hight. From the Friona stands came a roar of happiness as the final buzzer sounded, Friona defeated Canyon by a score of 74 to 73. Wood was the high pointer with 26, Jones followed with 20. Hight with 10, Bradley 9, and White, Castleberry, and Daniel all scored 3.

The Chiefs wound up the season with a fine record of 12 wins and 11 losses.

Friona Defeats Olton

Friona B Team defeated Olton in a close game Monday in the Friona High School Gymnasium by the score of 37-35.

At the end of the first quarter the Friona B Team had jumped to a 15-9 lead; this six point lead proved to be the margin that won the game. Olton outscored the B Teamers in two of the remaining quarters and tied them in the second quarter.

Gary Snead was high-point for Friona and the game with 13 points. DeBerry of Olton scored 11 points.

Then there were the two fellows who were stranded on a desert island when a bottle washed ashore. In it was a note that almost drove them crazy. It was a message from two girls stranded on a desert island.

One Act Play Cast Is Chosen

BEST OF LUCK--These four lucky people have the honor of competing in the Interscholastic League for the one act plays. They are from left to right: Gerald Daniel, Bob Sanders, Debbie Hawkins, and James Gee.

Will "Dust of the Road" be a winner? Four students have been chosen to make up the cast of the one-act play selected to be entered in the Inter-scholastic League Contest which will be held on April 4 at the new West Texas State College music building in Canyon. Honored students are Debbie Hawkins, Bob Sanders, James Gee, and Gerald Daniel.

FHS will compete with the other schools in the AA district--Dimmitt, Canyon, Tulia, and Dalhart. Good luck to the cast in their practices and in the contest in April!

Caffey Represents Local FHA

BY CLARE SAVAGE

The FHA Valentine party was one of the main topics at the FHA meeting February 9. The FFA boys had been invited to the party as special guests.

The FHA's area meeting to be held at Lubbock in March was also discussed. It was decided that all the freshmen would go to this meeting as well as the upper classmen who have the highest points. Qualifications of area and state officers were also discussed. Cynthia Ann Caffey was chosen to represent this chapter by running for an area office.

Civics Classes Stage Debates

BY VIRGINIA FULKS
 The wheels have really started rolling for the civics classes of Friona High School. They will present debates February 17 and 18. Their instructor is Jay Wilson.

The first period class consists of twelve members. It is divided into two groups. One group will talk on socialism, the other group on capitalism.

The fourth period class consists of 20 members. It is divided into four groups. The four titles will be capital punishment-pro and con and Catholicism-pro and con.

Catholicism will include the discussion of having a president of the United States who is a Catholic.

Purposes of these debates are for the students understanding of the United States system of government as well as other countries' systems of government.

These two classes consists of 32 seniors.

Scavenger Hunt Featured at Valentine Party

BY CLARE SAVAGE
 Have you ever had to read four notes and go to five places just to find a red ribbon? This was the object of the scavenger hunt Monday night, February 15, at the FFA-FHA Valentine Party held in the gym.

The people who attended the party were divided into several groups. Each group was given a note which told them where to go to get another one. After about four or five notes and forty-five minutes everyone ended up back at the gym.

Several games were played with background music furnished by Tommy Barker playing the drums, and Tommy Massey and Donald Busby playing guitars.

After the games refreshments of cookies and pops were served with much confusion and spilling.

WHAT A VALENTINE--Mr. Hodgson, elementary custodian, was presented with a valentine box of groceries Friday, Vickie Renner, representing the elementary school, gave the honors.

Hodgson Presented Valentine Box

BY JANETTE JOHNSON
 Friday, Feb. 12, was a memorable day in the life of the elementary custodian, Mr. Hodgson. Hodgson was brought to the school from the hospital, where he had been for a week, to be presented with a valentine box filled by the students of the Friona Elementary School to express their appreciation of his never-ending work for them. Contents of the box included valentines, fruit, and canned goods. Presentation of the gift was made by Vickie Renner, third grade student of Mrs. Brewer's class. Hodgson has been custodian for the school for 4 years.

Of Interest To THE WOMEN

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1960 THE FRIONA STAR SECTION II

COMMUNITY SERVICE COMMITTEE PREPARES SCRAPBOOK--Pictured here are June Spring, Ethel Ruth Spring, Meiba Allen, Juanita Dickson, Louisa Wilson, Lilah Gaye Gee and Eufaula Ethridge as they put the finishing touches on a report to be sent to contest judges.

Ruegseggers Visit In Pearl Kinsley Home

Mr. and Mrs. Worthy Ruegsegger of Montrose, Mich., are house guests of his cousin, Mrs. Pearl Kinsley. The couple has just returned from a stay in Oaxaca, Mexico, with their son and daughter-in-law, Manis and Janz Ruegsegger, who are missionaries to the Zopateco Indians.

The couple works with Wycliffe Linquist Institute. The Ruegseggers visited their son in 1957, going by plane and their recent trip was made by car. They met many U. S. officials who were attending the missionary conference in Mexico City.

Mrs. Kinsley and Mr. Ruegsegger are closely related. Her mother and his father were brother and sister and her late husband, Ruel, and Mr. Ruegsegger's mother were brother and sister.

The Ruegseggers visited her sister, Mrs. Dorothy Phillips, in San Antonio before driving to Friona.

achievement Contest summary of the club included sending Christmas boxes to the State Hospital at Wichita Falls; making the door to door Mothers' March on Polio for six years; entries in the Maize Days parades sponsored by the Friona C. of C. and Agriculture;

Making costumes for the Lions Club's "Law West of the Pecos," after which Lions bought a $1400 portable steam table for the hospital; serving meals to Lions Club monthly with members of the other federated clubs; and telephone and card campaigns to "Get-Out-The-Vote."

Securing water for the Friona cemetery was accomplished as a community achievement project. Members of the Modern Study Club's Community Service committee worked with the American Legion, city officials, Volunteer Fire Department, Lions Club, Friona Woman's Club, and Progressive Study Club to improve the care of the neglected cemetery. After investigation and consultation with an Amarillo engineer, the problem of securing water was solved by drilling a well, buying a motor and necessary equipment. Through the united efforts of the different civic groups $4848 was raised for the cemetery project.

The organization of the Friona Cemetery Association July 6, 1959, to work in cooperation with the City of Friona makes it possible to maintain said project. Mrs. Ralph Wilson is president.

The Community Service Committee of the Modern Study Club attempted to get the road to the cemetery paved. Letters from the State Highway Engineer and the commissioners' court indicated that funds are not available at this time.

Even though the paving project is incomplete, the club feels that the extent of community cooperation and community achievement are indicative of the broad goals reached by the Modern Study Club.

Mrs. Guy Latta is president and Mrs. Weldon Dickson is chairman of the Community Achievement Contest. Other committee members are Mesdames Frank Spring, Ralph Wilson, Dan Ethridge, Paul Spring, Charles Allen and J. T. Gee.

"Whether or not we win top honors in the national contest, we feel that our community has benefited by our entering," says Mrs. Dickson. "The future implications of our long-range program are significant. In the future as well as in the past we as a club will keep the goal of the contest in mind: to improve the quality of life within the community as a whole!"

Both Miss Bragg and her fiancé are seniors at Texas Tech in Lubbock. She graduated from Brownfield High

Beavers Family Adds Baby Girl

Sherry Lavon is the name Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Beavers chose for the newest addition to their family. She was born at 5:13 a. m. Wednesday at Parmer County Community Hospital and weighed 8 lbs. 6 ozs. The couple has an older daughter, Yondale.

Mrs. Beavers and Sherry were dismissed from the hospital late last week and are at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Stowers.

Sunday afternoon callers in the Stowers home were Mr. and Mrs. Noah T. Young, Rev. and Mrs. M. Alvin Askins and Gayla, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Houston and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dickey and daughter.

School and attended North Texas State at Denton before enrolling at Tech.

The bride-elect and her parents are former Friona residents. She is the niece of Miss Loia Goodwine, Mrs. Fred White and Clyde Goodwine all of Friona.

Community Service Committee Submits Final Contest Report

The Community Service Committee of the Friona Modern Study Club is submitting its final report on the GFWC Community Achievement Contest entered Dec. 17, 1958. Competing with thousands of other clubs over the country, the local club hopes to gain recognition for Friona and a share of the $65,000 in cash prizes.

Number one project chosen by the Friona group is the Parmer County Community Hospital. Another project is the Friona Cemetery. These with miscellaneous activities will be included in the portfolio of materials submitted by the Modern Study Club.

In summarizing their accomplishments, Mrs. Weldon Dickson, chairman, states that these projects were chosen because of the specific needs of the community.

For the fourth year, Christmas Card Project was sponsored by Modern Study Club. The 1959 total was $1057.02 to be used for the hospital. Individuals who contribute used this method to extend Seasons Greetings to friends by donating an amount equivalent to stamps and cards. Then at Christmas their names were carried in a huge Christmas card published in the Friona Star without charge.

The Community Service Committee has planned, prepared, and served four "kick-off" breakfasts, three of which were for the United Fund of Friona and Area Drives Dec. 10, 1957; Nov. 19, 1958; Nov. 17, 1959. This last one was served with the help of a committee from the Progressive Study Club to 62 workers. The fourth "kick-off" feed Nov. 19, 1958, was for the workers who were raising money for the hospital building fund.

In cooperation with the Parmer

County Community Hospital Auxiliary, members of the Modern Study Club's Community Service Committee have landscaped the hospital grounds at a cost of $1114.

Another jointly sponsored project was the purchase and installation of three TV sets. The club made both a cash donation and a loan to initiate the TV project. Operation and rentals are handled by individual members. Proceeds go to the hospital fund.

The instigation of the Memorial Fund for the hospital for memorial gifts of money honoring deceased persons is a source of added help.

The annual hospital auxiliary rummage sale netted $1000.10 last fall. This is to be used for needed equipment.

Organization of the Friona Future Nurse's Club has been supported by the Modern Study Club. The most recent help was the serving of refreshments at the tea where 12 Future Nurses received their pins Sunday, January 31.

Miscellaneous activities reported in the Community

Convention Delegates Elected

During the business session of the Tuesday evening meeting of the Progressive Study Club Sarah Barber was elected convention delegate to the district convention to be held in Lubbock March 21, 22 and 23. Beegie Ginsburg was elected alternate delegate.

After a review of Edith Dean's book "All The Women Of The Bible" by Pat Nichols, Beegie Ginsburg sang "The Lord's Prayer" accompanied by Jane Benge at the piano.

Hostesses, Virginia Martinez and Betty Jarboe, served refreshments to three guests, Mamie Lou Welch, Theina Johnson and Glenna Bainum, and 18 members.

A Mardi Gras dinner will be served at the February 23 meeting. Hostesses will be members of the program committee. Ann Osborn, chairman, urges all members and their husbands to attend in costume.

Mr. and Mrs. Truett Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. M. B. McKinney spent several days the first of this week at Houston.

Farm Outlook Remains the Same for 1960

THE HIGH PLAINS FARM AND HOME

PARMER COUNTY AREA FARMERS joined thousands of others all over the High Plains last week in emergency tillage to arrest soil blowing. Following Tuesday's strong winds, every available rig was placed into service to control blowing. Agriculture officials estimate that between Wednesday morning and Saturday evening of last week, between three and four million acres of land were plowed.

Brucellosis Theme Of Special Meeting

There will be a meeting for all owners of cattle and other interested persons of Parmer, Castro, Deaf Smith and Bailey Counties on Monday night, February 22, at 7:30 in the Hub Community Center. Dr. C. M. Patterson, extension veterinarian from Texas A&M College, will be present to discuss the law recently passed by the state legislature to allow counties to control and eradicate brucellosis. Dr. Patterson will discuss "Brucellosis Control Areas" how these areas are formed, who can cause such areas to be established, type "I" and type "II" brucellosis control areas, advantages and disadvantages of brucellosis control areas, and many other items of interest in regard to eradication of brucellosis and the Texas Brucellosis Law. "I feel this is a real opportunity for cattlemen of these 4 counties to meet and discuss together their mutual problems concerning brucellosis and its eradication," says County Agent Joe Jones.

Wife (at 1 a. m.): "A fine time to come in. I want an explanation and I want the truth." Husband: "Make up your mind, dear. You can't have both."

Sesame Meetings Booked Next Week

Texas Sesame Growers, Inc., will hold two special meetings in Parmer County February 23 and 24 to help farmers of the area plan their 1960 sesame crops, Robert L. Parker, executive vice president of the organization, announced today. The first meeting will be at 7:30 Tuesday night, February 23, in Friona at the community room of Friona State Bank, with County Agent Joe Jones in charge. The meeting is sponsored by Cummings Farm Store, sesame dealer in Friona. Parker will be on hand to discuss crop and market prospects for 1960.

He will be accompanied by Bill Wimberly, manager of Texas Sesame Growers, Inc., High Plains plant of Muleshoe, and Roy Hodges, sesame field man.

The second meeting will be held Wednesday night, February 24, at 7:30 at Farwell in the Legion Hall. County Agent Joe Jones will be in charge. Sponsor of the meeting will be Henderson Grain & Seed Company, sesame dealer in Farwell. Parker and his associates will be on hand for this meeting also.

"Market prospects for the sesame which will be produced this year are the best in several years," Parker said. He pointed out that two factors combine to make the market bright this year. The first is that sesame seed consumption in this county is increasing, and the second is that the 1959 crops, both in the U. S. and in the South and Central America, were shorter than expected last year. "These conditions combine to put us in a very good market condition next year," Parker said. "New products are using an ever-increasing amount of sesame seed, and more new uses are being found all the time. Any way we figure it, it is going to take more sesame to supply the demand in 1960."

on the open market and redeemed out of the loan. Dale has 95 head of hogs. He raises and feeds the animals.

Connie O'Brien, who farms the Rea farm south of Bovina, is another farmer who will have about the same crops and acreage. He has about 450 acres in cultivation.

Included in this acreage is 100 of wheat, a little cotton and over 300 acres of milo. O'Brien farms three miles south of Bovina and does no stock feeding. "I imagine sesame, cotton, maize, barley, wheat and sudan," Deon Awtry says will be his crops. He farms three miles west of Hub.

Awtry has about 500 acres of wheat, 40 of barley and plans to have from 400 to 600 acres of sesame, 200 of A Plan cotton, from 400 to 600 acres of maize and 200 acres of sudan.

"I don't look for it," Awtry says he does not think the maize crop production will be as good this year as it was in 1959. "I think that was unusual; we hope to make more on cotton and sesame."

"I think the legislation Congress pushes through this year will be against the farmer," he says about the present session of Congress.

"I think there will be more and more milo on the market, the support is going to be lower," Awtry does no stock feeding.

"I imagine he is going to have 39 acres of cotton, 400 wheat, and between 390 and 400 acres of maize," Evert Bales employee of Fern Harnett of Black says.

Bales says Harnett will farm about the same as last year. The Black Community farmer does no stock feeding.

The sale features a good list of farm machinery.

Feed Grain Supplies On the Rise

The total supply of feed grains and other concentrates for 1959-60, (October 1, 1959-September 30, 1960), has increased to a record high of 265 million tons, seven per cent larger than in 1958-59 and more than a third larger than the 1953-57 average.

Supplies have set new records for each of the past six years, according to John McHaney, extension economist. The supply this year (1959-60) will total about 18 million tons more than last year, making the seventh year of steadily increasing supplies. A major reason for the increase was the 1959 record feed crop of nearly 10 million tons larger than the 1958 crop and 38 million tons larger than the 1953-57 average. The increased yields per acre also added to the supply.

Oats supply is expected to be 1,459 million bushels, 17 per cent below that of last year and the smallest supply since 1947. Barley is expected to total 622 million bushels, he said, down five per cent from last year, but a fourth larger than the 1953-57 average. The record high corn crop of 1959 is expected to increase corn supplies to a record six billion bushels, 37 per cent above the 1953-57 average.

The total supply of sorghum grain for 1959-60 is estimated at about 1,074 million bushels, 16 per cent above last year and more than three times the 1953-57 average. The 1959 crop of 573 million bushels was 7 per cent smaller than that of 1958, but more than double the 1953-57 average. McHaney said total utilization is expected to be substantially larger in 1959-60 than the 423 million bushels used domestically and exported in 1958-59.

Feed grain prices are expected to average a little lower in 1959-60 due to the record 1959 crop and the large supplies. Expected lower livestock prices in 1960 and lower supports, especially for sorghum grain, will have a tendency to cause feed grain prices to be lower.

McHaney added that a further increase in feed grain utilization is expected because livestock numbers continue to increase, causing heavy feeding of grain and other concentrates. However, total utilization has not kept pace with production and supplies continue to mount.

THE HAPPY HOMEMAKER

BY JUNE FLOYD

Just about any homemaker on the High Plains would probably appreciate a list of rules for keeping her house clean during days such as we had last Tuesday. Probably the best rule to follow on such days would be, "Just get a good book, select the least dusty place in the house, read the book and forget the wind is blowing."

There's almost sure to be a beautiful day following the dusty one. By conserving your energy on the bad days, you will be full of energy to make the most of the "clean-up" day.

Are damp soap trays a problem at your house? If so, just buy a sponge and cut it into the proper size and shape to fit each dish and place it in the bottom to serve as a "dryer-upper."

If there's a "do-it-yourself" enthusiast at your house who enjoys working with wood, suggest that he try using shoe polish to finish small wooden articles.

Wax type shoe polish makes an excellent finish for wooden items and by using various shades different effects can be obtained. Oxblood polish gives rosewood and mahogany effects depending upon the number of coats used.

For oak or walnut effects dark brown polish is good. Finish with pastewax furniture polish.

An electric hair dryer can be used for several things besides drying hair. It will help you defrost your refrigerator, dry your wet rain boots, hose, lingerie or nail polish.

Next time you want to make a pretty congealed vegetable salad, try this recipe.

FIESTA BEET SALAD
2 cups diced canned beets
1 box lemon flavor gelatin
1 cup hot water
1 tablespoon sugar
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon minced onion
1/4 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup beet liquid
Add 1 cup hot water to gelatin in a mixing bowl and stir until dissolved, then add remaining ingredients and stir together. Pour into individual molds or a square pan and chill until firm.

Serve on green lettuce leaves topped with a little salad dressing and a sprinkle of paprika. Garnish with sliced stuffed olives.

In the very near future strawberries will be plentiful. Of course, there's hardly anything that tastes better than strawberry short cake made with fresh strawberries, but then a person can't serve strawberry short cake constantly.

For a variation you will probably like the following recipe:

STRAWBERRY JAM CUPCAKES
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, beaten
2 cups sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 cup sour milk
1 cup strawberry jam
Cream sugar with shortening until fluffy, add eggs and blend. Sift flour, salt, spices and soda together and add alternately with milk to creamed mixture. Fold in jam and bake in greased muffin pans in 375 degree oven 25 to 30 minutes. Remove from pans and frost with any favorite frosting. Makes 20 cup cakes.

Mrs. Lloyd Prewett of the Black Home Demonstration Club submitted the following recipe as a contribution to "What's Cooking In Farmer County." It would fit in very nicely as a one dish meal any noon or evening.

TUNA PIE
1 1/4 cups diced potatoes
1/4 cup diced celery
1 tablespoon chopped onion
3/4 cup canned peas
1 pimento cut in strips
1 can flaked tuna
3/4 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup vegetable liquor
1 recipe cheese swirls
Cook potatoes, celery and onion in small amount of salted

I was among the home economists from all parts of the state who attended the Texas Home Economics Association meeting in Fort Worth Friday and Saturday.

I attended a workshop on clothing at which a fashion co-ordinator from Dallas spoke to us. She stated that the big news in fashion for the coming season is the "S." Costume, sleek; fabric, smooth and sheer; and color, shimmered down. Dresses and suits have an easier fit but no bagginess and sleeves and collars are big but not used together she told us.

Outstanding speakers and panel moderators included Dr. Ralph Green, Director of the Commission on Higher Education; Dr. Bernice Moore, consultant for the Hogg Foundation; Imogene Bentley, Dean of Women at North Texas State College; and Dr. R. EAT WELL FOR LESS--Extension foods and nutrition specialists of Texas A&M College say that careful meal planning, food shopping and preparation will help families eat well for less.

Suggestions on how to do this are given in the extension bulletin entitled, "Eat Well For Less." Included are menus for thrifty meals, recipes for penny-saving main dishes, and tips on buying and storing food.

Copies of the bulletin are available from your local county home demonstration agent, or from the Agricultural Information Office.

CONCERNED ABOUT OVERWEIGHT?--Check with your doctor before starting any plan to lose extra pounds. Extension foods and nutrition specialists reminds us. Avoid weird diets and miracle pills. Eat less, but balance your diet daily.

A safe diet plan is suggested in the article by Miss Louise Mason in Texas Agriculture Progress, "To Lose Weight, Eat Less." For a reprint of the article, call or write your county home demonstration agent.

GETTING YOUNGSTERS DRESSED FOR SCHOOL--is a hurry-up affair in many families. Time is important, says Mrs. Eloise Johnson, extension family life specialist, but so is training

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

BY RAYMOND EULER

We were privileged to attend the Rhea Community Farm Bureau Meeting last Friday night, for the first time in many months. The meeting was well attended and well conducted by President Billy Sifford. They discussed formation of a game improvement program aimed at populating the area with quail. We have a few of the forms in the office if you are interested in signing up.

the child to become independent, responsible and neat in dressing himself and caring for his clothes.

Here are some tips that will help: (1) Help children arrange their school clothes separately from party, church and miscellaneous clothes in their own closet; (2) Encourage them to arrange matching socks, ribbons and ties on hangers with dresses or shirts; and (3) Encourage them to plan what they will wear each day the night before, to make sure everything is ready to go in the morning.

CHECK LABELS ON SPRING FABRICS... Have you ever bought a lovely garment or piece of fabric that looked "sad" after the first laundering?

Much of the success or failure in laundering synthetic fibers lies in following directions given by manufacturers, extension clothing specialists of Texas A&M remind us. Read your label carefully before buying if you want to be sure you can launder the fabric at home. Follow directions given.

Labels should tell you what the fabric is, how to handle it, and what you can expect from it in the way of service. Look for a good descriptive label when you buy.

Bruce Parr, Black community farmer, showed a roll of motion pictures he took on a trip to and from Alaska last September. Although he spent quite a bit of time explaining that the pictures were very amateurish, we thought they were very good and, certainly interesting and informative. His commentary was unusually good. The pictures were taken from a four place plane, and all photographers know that this type of photography is difficult. He also showed a picture of the 1958 Maize Days, in which our LAST Farm Bureau Queen, Mary Ann Stacy rode the F1 float.

Although Mr. Ellender says it has small chance of passage, we believe the Farm Bureau wheat program suggestion is a good one. It would eliminate acreage allotments and tie the support price to that of corn, with the support for the 1961 crop being not less than 120 per cent of the price support of corn.

Greatest opposition to this program, says Ellender, would come from the corn producers who he thinks would not like wheat to become competitive with corn for feed purposes. Regardless of that element, it seems to us that the program would be an equitable one, and pleasing to wheat producers who depend on wheat for a major part of their income. It would also eliminate the minimum 15-acre man who has been the cause of so much of the surplus accumulation under the present program.

With all the talk, writing and showing of solutions to problems of the world, America and the local area, we hope that all of the Christian people everywhere will remember that the only real solution to these problems will come through a dedicated Christian population. Our faith in God, in every phase of life, can open the door to opportunity for everyone everywhere. Let us be very careful to keep our faith founded where it belongs.

District Board Makes Report

With increasing demands on efficiency of production in High Plains farming, soil conservation has become an important facet of agriculture.

In its annual report, the board of supervisors of the Parmer county soil conservation district indicated progress in the seven programs it carried on during 1959. Need for educating the farmers about conservation and more financial support were the two main problems included in the report.

Sending conservation newsletters to about 1500 county landowners was done to help develop and maintain contact between supervisors and co-operators in the district program. Essay contests was conducted in conjunction with naming the farmer of the year and the annual district banquet, which was held in Farwell. Lester Norton was named outstanding farmer.

The essay contests were encouraged by county school teachers and sponsored by the district supervisors for all county residents under 21 years of age. Essay title was "Conservation and Citizenship." Winners were Margret Ann Eggers, Don Crume, Pat Cranfill and Patsy Hart.

In an attempt to get outside help for the program, businessmen were asked to judge the essay contests. Various clubs worked on farmstead windbreaks and beautification programs.

News releases and news letters were used by the supervisor board for general publicity and information programs on conservation.

After a program to secure new cooperators, the board reports that there are 1050 farms or other organizations practicing conservation in conjunction with the district program.

Equipment was purchased by the district to assist farmers in accomplishing the more difficult problems of conservation. Among the equipment bought for direct help of the farmers is three weed poison spreaders, two grass seeders, three interplanting legume seeders, a spangling water meter and an engler scraper.

Heavy equipment purchased made possible by a grant from the soil conservation service includes a D-7 Caterpillar with dozer, a 8 yard carryall, one maintainer and a truck and low-boy trailer.

The board also furnished farmers in the district with Arizona Cypress trees for farmstead and livestock windbreaks at a reduction in cost. About 700 trees were planted, the report says.

During the year, the conservation district received and spent funds totaling more than $9,600.

Members of the board of supervisors are A. L. Black, chairman, T. O. Lesley, secretary-treasurer, Robert Calaway, vice-chairman, Bruce Parr and Dean McCalliam.

THE PARMER FARMER

By W. H. Graham, Jr.

we would get into in a hurry here on the Plains if we did not have the skill, knowledge and equipment to "nail down" our top soil with modern cultivation practices.

It is an odd quirk of economics to note how that once a definite trend has been established it can be just as quickly reversed as it may have been originated.

It was very apparent to note the diminishing size of farming units in the early 1950s when dryland farms were being broken up into quarter and half section blocks and placed under irrigation. Where the average size of an area farm was once well over 1000 acres, that size diminished to around 500 acres in just a few short years. Smaller units and more farm families appear to be the "coming thing" with the development of irrigation.

Already we have seen evidence of a reversal of this trend. Although we are still drilling additional irrigation wells, the shrinking of the average farm unit is no longer taking place. This practice of fewer acres but more concentrated production has run head on into the farmer's increasing need for efficiency of production and his realization that lower per unit production costs appear to be one of the soundest farm practices that he can initiate.

Equipment manufacturers are right in tune with this idea and are yearly marketing tractors, combines and other major items that work more and more acres in less and less time. Although the farmer is, at first, often appalled at the cost of these super size machines, he soon discovers that if he puts a pencil to work he can prove that a big machine can perform a job cheaper than a small machine provided that enough work is available. That last part is the clincher.

Therefore, farmers are and will continue to be looking for ways that they can farm more and more land and do it always more efficiently by utilizing equipment that is particularly suited to larger sized operations.

This gives rise to wonder as to just where production efficiency may leave off and strictly practical matters come in. In other words, what is the practical limit of the land a farmer can get either by buying it or renting it and putting it to its most efficient use?

It may be found before too many years that farmers have already obtained all of the land that they can for themselves from a standpoint of money they have available to buy the land and also from a standpoint of the land that is available for renting which they can take over. When and if that point is reached, they may well wonder how they can continue to benefit by the larger and more efficient equipment which is constantly being manufactured and marketed.

The answer may lie in joint ownership of large pieces of equipment. A crawler type tractor, for example, capable of pulling twice as many bottoms as the biggest wheel type tractor now available, might be purchased by four to ten farmers who would spread the cost and the use of the equipment among themselves.

Of course, this poses problems in human relations and probably the practical aspects of successfully operating in this shall we say pseudo-co-operative would be the limiting factor.

However, as farmers run into

Cotton Growers Urged To Study Legislation Changes

Agricultural legislation passed by Congress last year has real significance for cotton producers in 1960, and future seasons. The law establishes new provisions which cotton producers must follow if they are to maintain their allotments.

First, according to C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist, if a farm allotment is under a Soil Bank contract or the Great Plains Conservation Program the allotment will be preserved.

The next provision is likely to affect many cotton growers. Operators of farms not under Soil Bank contract or the Great Plains Program have two choices. They must plant at least 75 per cent of the allotted cotton acreage or, release sufficient acreage to meet this 75 per cent requirement to the county ASC committee for re-appointment to other growers in the county. For example, a farmer with a 50-acre allotment may decide to plant only 38 acres since this is over 75 per cent, or he may plant 30 acres and release as few as 8 acres to be distributed to others.

No Sharp Break in Cattle Prices Likely in 1960

A sharp break in cattle prices is not likely in 1960 but we are entering a period which calls for wariness, is the latest word from John McHaney, extension economist. The small increase in cattle slaughter expected for 1960, together with a large hog slaughter, will take the bloom off cattle prices.

cattle will likely show greater declines than fed cattle, said McHaney. Seasonal price changes will likely be evident in these lower grades and a major part of the year's expected decline will probably be felt during the late summer and fall. Fed cattle prices in the spring of 1960 may average a little below a year ago with little prospect for price advances before summer.

On January 1, 1959 there were 96.8 million head of cattle in the United States and during 1959 cattle producers probably added over five million head to this number—setting a new record on January 1, 1960. McHaney said some economists have estimated the January 1960 figure at somewhere between 101 and 103 million head. This expansion in numbers will result in an increase in slaughter and a decrease in prices; however, the increase in slaughter and the decrease in prices is expected to be moderate in 1960 unless a drought should occur causing heavier marketings.

If cattle numbers expand at a fast pace, there is a possibility numbers will reach 115 million head by 1964—making available 94 1/2 pounds of beef per person. McHaney emphasized that an output of this size would demoralize beef prices.

Imports also added much to the large beef supplies. Net imports in 1959 probably reached the billion pounds mark (carcass weight equivalent). This was enough meat to provide 5 1/2 pounds more per person in our civilian population. Imports of live animals and meat accounted for about nine per cent of our meat supply in 1959. However, McHaney said imports are not expected to be quite as large in 1960.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

The quail, pheasant, doves, rabbits and other wildlife grown on the farms and ranches provide most of our hunting in this area. In other places, much of the big game such as deer, antelope, and wild turkey comes from privately owned lands.

Most of our wildlife crop is grown and harvested on land used mainly for cultivated crops and for livestock. This means that farmers and ranchers are the key to abundant wildlife. Much of our fishing is also affected by the way farmers and ranchers manage their land.

Farms and ranches make up 60 per cent of the land in the United States. Most of this land is in soil conservation districts. Altogether more than 84 per cent of our hunting is privately controlled. Therefore the land use decisions of farmers and ranchers can cause an abundance or a scarcity of wildlife.

This past week there has been several meetings held, throughout the county to organize and promote the Parmer County Wildlife Management Association. This association is to interest the land owners and operators to increase wildlife in this county by providing food and cover for their survival.

Most every farm in the county has an odd area that would be suitable for wildlife. These areas, with old vine, fencepost, tree limbs and trees or shrubs, make excellent wildlife areas.

The Soil Conservation Service, as part of its assistance to the soil conservation districts, helps individual land owners and operators apply many practices that increase wildlife.

A traveler asked the porter for a drink of water. "I always get sick when I ride backwards on a train," he said.

"Why didn't you ask the passenger riding opposite you to trade places?" asked the porter.

"I thought of that, but there wasn't anyone there."

Clerk: "Too short? Why ma'am, they're all right. They reach clear to the floor."

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

It is well known that most mammals, including dogs, cats, horses and cows, are totally color blind, that they see everything as we see a black-and-white photo; so until quite recently many argued that fish, much more primitive than mammals, must also be color blind. However, it has been definitely proved, by many scientific experiments in this country and England, that at least our common game fish very definitely do recognize colors, reports Jason Lucas, Angling Editor of Sports Afield Magazine. Further—though it seems odd—they see colors in exactly the same range of the spectrum that we do.
