LESBY'S OGLES

Whitfield Oglesby

Air force of Germany and allied powers, particularly the Luftwaffe, have been engaging in unprecedented combination of aerial photography and propaganda activity in connection with aerial operations against the enemy. It is a fact of things that seems to be going along with the fact that the last two months have seen England and Germany exchanging each other through the press, and that of nations, in a determination to see which can bring the better photographs of the other's installations.

It is probable that each side is using large numbers of aerial photographic purposes. This is being done by using numbers of reconnaissance planes equipped with cameras whose purpose is to imprint of the enemy's property on photographic emulsion. These planes are equipped with two aerial cameras for oblique work and one for vertical photography. The latter is usually auto-snapping pictures at pre-determined intervals until its 125 exposures is completed. The operator "refuels" another roll.

It is quite probable that these photographic missions originally intended, at the outset of the war, to serve purely military purposes. A plane on a bombing mission must know the exact point it wants to hit. The pilot must have time to search for the target. But a photograph can be taken from anywhere within a very wide range. The photographer does not have to be directly over his objective. With modern cameras, he can take excellent pictures from miles. Hence, the photographer can maneuver around the objective, avoiding the areas which are shot from his direction and return swiftly to his home for military purposes, the aerial photographs are enlarged to sizes and studied minutely through magnifying glasses and viewed stereoscopically to determine vital objectives are locations such as oil storage, ammunition dumps, gas storage, ships on ways, etc. are made to select targets to which will hamper the enemy's activities and will take a long time to destroy. Bombing pilots are then equipped with convenient size maps with targets clearly located. Their relationship with visible landmarks. Thus equipped, the bomber can go to the target and do real damage to the enemy and not just "burn his eggs" promiscuously. Thorough coverage, many of these photographs are taken from actual military purposes. Early in the war the ever alert propagandists envisioned great possibilities in publishing these photographs. Such pictures show their own people efficient and enterprising air forces and how and capable their pilots can blow the enemy to bits. If these planes had carried bombs instead of cameras, not only the home populace, but the enemy, would be dropped accurately and would feel more secure. The next step was to make the photographs available to publication in neutral nations, hence, to the

The Directorate Board of which Mr. Mitchell is a member, is the sole authority under the Company's By-Laws for the Declaration of Dividends. It was pointed out in the meeting held that its phenomenal growth of increased assets of 68% and Reserves of 70% over the previous year was contributed to the fact that the Board of Directors recognized this responsibility.

U. S. Workers Are Safest In World

The American workman is the safest in the world!

This, according to the National prevention division of the Association of Casualty and Surety Executives is a result of the continued improvement of safety devices installed by American industry to protect their workers against injury or death and the large extent to which safety education is carried on in plant and factory.

Edward R. Granniss, the Bureau's widely known industrial safety engineer, calls attention, however, to the fact that if the American worker is to continue in his enviable role as the world's safest, there must be no relaxation in the vigilance of management to protect him by steadily improving safety devices and safety education. Mr. Granniss does not agree altogether with those who say that "the best safeguard is a safe workman."

"While there is no doubt that properly trained men will have fewer accidents than untrained men," says Mr. Granniss, "nevertheless no man is infallible, and if constantly surrounded by an unsafe environment, sooner or later he will probably suffer an accident. In many cases safety can not be provided for the workmen by guarding the machines or correcting vehicle conditions, but must be done through education."

Early in 1939 an investigation was made of 1,000 industrial accidents. A study of the results indicated that 20 per cent exclusively to unsafe physical conditions, and the remaining 80 per cent to a combination of both.

Improper lighting has been estimated as causing from 15 per cent to 25 per cent of all industrial accidents. Workers are injured not only because they do not see objects distinctly, but because poor lighting produces fatigue from eyestrain, a further contribution cause of many accidents.

Industrial leaders are giving increased attention to air hygiene in factories, including the control of temperature, humidity, air cleanliness and air movement. They are also insisting on the improvement of tools for greater safety. Many accidents result from dull tools, broken handles, improperly annealed punches and wrongly shaped hand tools.

Easter Can Be Feast Day
for Reducer

If you are one of the thousands of persons who are trying to shed excess poundage via the reducing diet route, the mention of Easter dinner probably doesn't excite much interest. For to the average person following a strict reducing program, Easter means just another special feast day for "the other fellow," when you must sit by and watch him enjoy the proverbial roast leg of lamb with all the "fixin's."

But listen to this! The business of being a martyr gastronomically is out of date, when it comes to reducing. Science has found that the person seeking to reduce can and should eat well, not only on Easter Sunday but on every other day in the year. Research work at Rush Medical College in Chicago has proved conclusively that excellent results can be obtained by the use of a liberal well-balanced diet. In this study the meals prescribed to a large group of patients of varying ages were high in protein, and included meat, bread, butter, vegetables, salad, fruit, eggs and coffee or tea.

So don't despair. The delicious roast leg of lamb and most of the "fixin's" can be yours, without the slightest twinge of conscience, if you will only abide by a few simple rules.

Easter Lamb With All the "Fixin's"

Following is a menu for a suggested Easter dinner for the family, from which the person who is reducing may select his diet:

- Consommé
- Roast Leg of Lamb
- Parslief New Potatoes
- Carrot Soufflé
- Nests filled with New Peas
- Fresh Vegetable Salad

- French Dressing
- Rolls
- Butter
- Angel Food Cake
- with Crushed Strawberries
- Coffee

From this menu an overweight person whose weight should be from 135 to 145 pounds may have the following:

- Consommé As desired
- Roast Lamb (lean) 7 oz.
- Carrot Soufflé and Peas 3 1/4 oz.
- Salad (little dressing) 3 1/2 oz.
- Roll 1 oz.
- Butter 1/6 oz.
- Strawberries 3 1/4 oz.
- Coffee (black) As desired

JOHN GARNER LEADS PRESIDENTIAL RACE

Texas' distinguished favorite son—John N. Garner, the only Democrat to have announced unqualifiedly that he is a presidential candidate—is today the leading choice of his Party to succeed to the Presidency.

JOHN N. GARNER

Patriotic Texans will attend their own precinct conventions May 4 to record their support of their noted fellow Texan.

Uniformly popular in all sections of the country and among all classes of people, Vice President Garner is esteemed for his sound common sense, practical liberalism, and long experience in governmental affairs. Political observers in Washington agree that these attributes, together with the fact that his sturdy log-cabin Americanism is the nation's best safeguard against involvement in war, are responsible for his popularity among the rank and file of the people.

His name has been submitted directly to voters in a number of state primaries, in accordance with his democratic philosophy that "the people should decide." In announcing his candidacy last December, Mr. Garner said: "I will accept the nomination for President. I will make no effort to control any delegates. The people should decide. The candidate should be selected at primaries and conventions as provided by law and I sincerely trust that all Democrats will participate in them."

more clearly than he had been able to see in years."

Texas Mohair Weekly—What is said to be one of the rarest freaks of the animal world, a crossbred sheep and Angora goat, was shown in Kerrville by Joe Sid Peterson, Rocksprings rancher.

The crossbreed, a one year old ewe nanny, was raised on Peterson's Edwards County ranch. The mother of the animal was a three-quarter breed Rambouillet ewe. Fleece of the crossbred ewe nanny resembles mohair at the tip and wool underneath.

"Old Three Toes Captured"
"Old three toes," a coyote so sly he had evaded the efforts of trappers and ranchmen alike to capture him over a period of years, finally met his Waterloo. "Old three toes" left a distinctive three-toe print whenever he raided the goat and sheep flocks of Mason County and a trio of trappers failed to lure the canny old coyote into a trap. However, C. L. Parker, a federal trapper, finally outwitted "Old three toes" and added his pelt to a large collection. "Old three toes" had evidently been caught in a trap years ago and had, in loosening himself, cut off two toes from his right front foot.

Fierce Debates In Senior English Class

The Senior English Class has been studying debate for the past two weeks, and it may be said that the class consists of a few Websters and Caihouas as far as debating goes. The question is "Resolved: That Texas Should adopt a System of Complete Medical Service Available to all Citizens at Public Expense."

DEBATE TEAMS PRACTICE IN ASSEMBLY MONDAY

The debate teams for the bi-county meet practiced Monday in the auditorium before the students. Doris Cochran and Pauline upheld the affirmative on the question, "Resolved: That Texas should adopt a system of complete medical service available to all citizens at public expense." Malcolm Davis and Earl Hurst upheld the negative.

There were favorable reports on the debate, but the sponsor, Miss Sweeney, states that there is plenty of room for more improvement.

Ross Underwood seemed to be doing pretty well Sunday afternoon taking two girls riding at once.

Chiche and Robert were seen together at the show Saturday night. How these people do advance.

Woo woo from senior to seventh grader. J. D. has a crush on Maurine F.

Marjorie Morris, why do you want Ross Stavley's mother to get him a car?

Why is Bernice Harris singing "Jeepers Creepers?" What senior boy is it that haunts all the girl's dreams?

We hear that Joe Kerr is that way over Erma Lee.

Who were the boys who came to rescue Pauline when she ran out of gas? There is a guilty look in the eyes of Martin, Jimmy and Ross Stavley.

H. E. DEPARTMENT

The H. E. Department classes are working now like real housewives making garments and working on home projects. The first year class is now finishing up children's garments and will begin work on dresses for the coming in Dallas, April 25 to 28.

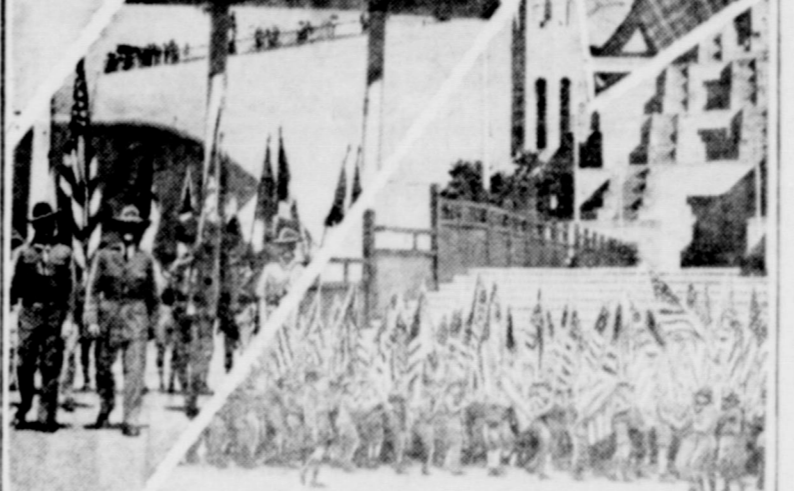

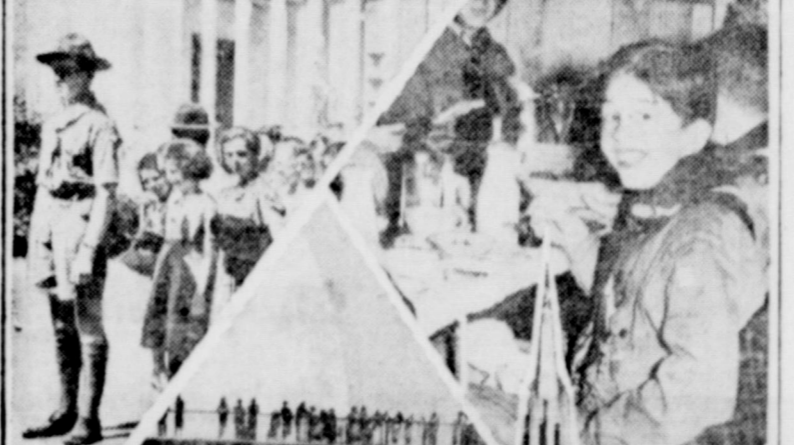

The class dresses will be of cotton and suitable for a school dress. The second year class is finishing up children's garments and working on home projects. They will soon begin work on dresses for the Dallas meet also.

They will have their choice of wool, linen, cotton and silk to make their dresses of.

Concrete work will begin soon. It is expected that they will do very commendable work on this project.

Thus each side is now engaged in a pictorial war attempting to build up the morale at home and to break down the morale of the enemy's populace.—However, it is evident from foreign dispatches that photographic emulsion will be replaced with parcels of death in the not too distant future. Things have a way of happening in the spring!

By Paul Patterson

The United States produced 331,897,000 pounds of wool last year but that ain't half of what will be pulled over the votin' public's eyes this year!

Accordin' to Republican opinion Franklin D. Roosevelt, the third termite, is tryin' to get his third degree from the electoral college. They don't care whether he gets it from the electoral college or not but they do hope he gets the third degree.

The oil people of Texas say that if they have to pay any higher taxes to finance old age pensions the old folks will have to split with them, else they perish also. In other words, if they have to pay the old folks' pension, who'll pay theirs?

Bellicose Britishers say that Hitler has got John Bull cowed! They calumniate (page 136, Webster's pocket reference) him further and infer that his umbrella don't keep him from bein' all wet as far as bein' England's fight manager is concerned! They bruit it about that some of that heavy London fog must've settled under his hat. They believe that Hitler's subs have sunk even his "statesmanSHIP." The only bit of teemtery (if we may quote Webster further?) Sir Chambermaid has shown, was the other night when somebody ordered him to shut his umbrella up. You all know what he says? "I'll be DAMPED if I do."

You all know what Hitler says when a stranger gets close to him? He hollers "Schraam". Honest that's his bodyguard's name.

You all know what the German U Boat said when the English battleship asked if it was a first-string fighter? "Naw, I'm jist a sub."

You all know what the Queen Elizabeth said to the Queen Mary as it cruised into New York harbor. Mercy, this has been a nerve-wracking trip. Call me a dock.

F. D. is gonna be the roughest Democrat of them all to beat due to the fact that he's one of W. Lee's professional politicians. In fact, he's the fellow who put the tick in politics.

Two Swedes were standin' on the Border of Russia watchin' Russia advance and one of them handed the other the spy glasses, what did one of them say? "Gee, tanks."

The latest news is to the effect that Russia, Germany, Italy and Japan may gang up wolf pack fashion on the rest of us. It's not that they are all pals but that it's because they're of the same speed and breed. The papers say that each of these countries have spies in the other one's

New Inexpensive Hats Defy Freckles

A new fad in lady's millinery is sweeping the Texas State College for Women campus. Designed with the practical idea of keeping freckles from marching across the wearer's nose when the hot Texas sun beams, the hats cost only slightly more than twenty-five cents each and were originated by Marian Gray of Little Rock, Ark., Jayne Ott of Fort Worth, and Josephine Kuykendall of Amarillo. A flexoco straw hat similar to the one worn by Mexican peons is soaked in water three or four minutes, shaped and cut to suit the wearer's personality, and then finished off with suitable decoration.
